Committee Suggests Plan to Insure Board Representation From all Areas of New District

Details Pointed Out in Adopted Resolution

Plan Would Divide District Into Five Voting Zones

In order that all areas in the new Tawas School District may have the opportunity of being represented on the first school board, the Reorganization Committee adopted a resolution on Friday evening suggesting a procedure for the election of trustees.

The resolution suggesting the "gentlemen's agreement" is as follows:

Resolution Adopted
1st That in the election of a school board for the new school district, zones be set up by "Gentlemen's Agreement".

2nd That these zones be set up as follows; one zone to be Baldwin 2 and Wilber 4 rd; a second zone to be East Tawas; a third Tawas City; a fourth Grant and Tawas Townships and the fifth Alabaster Twp and Whitney No. 6.

3rd That school board members be selected, one from each zone; each zone to try to select only one candidate.

4th That the one year, two and three year terms be set up by lot (This lot resulted as follows; Alabaster, Whitney, one year; Tawas City, two years; East Tawas, two years; Grant and Tawas Twp, three years; Wilber Baldwin, three years).

5th That it be their intent to maintain these zones in elections to follow.

6th That it be recommended to the elected board that they adopt this pattern as a board policy.

Respectfully submitted, Reorganization Committee

Candidates for the office of trustee must file their petitions with County School Superintendent on or before October 20. Petition forms may be secured from the county school superintendent or A. E. Registration In Iosco Hits New High

6,000 People are Now on Registration Lists of County

"More than 6,000 people are registered in Iosco for the November 4th election," stated County Clerk George A. Prescott today. This was revealed in a check up with township and city clerks made by Prescott on the last day for registration. These figures represent an increase in registration in all the voting precincts of the county, especially in Oscoda, Plainfield and East Tawas, where unusually large numbers registered during the last days for registration.

"More ballots must be printed to take care of the increased number of eligible voters," Prescott said. "Earlier estimates, based on previous voting records in the county, indicated that 5,000 ballots would be sufficient. The figures revealed in the checkup changed the situation, and I have ordered the printers to prepare about a thousand more ballots. These will be delivered to townships and cities where registration figures indicate that more ballots may be required to take care of the voters."

"Everyone predicts that the November election will exceed all previous records. If Michigan voters don't break all records it won't be for lack of wooing. Both sides of the fence are making a most concentrated onslaught on the electorate. Michigan is a key state and both presidential candidates have made major speeches in the state. The crucial issues brought out by both parties in this campaign, and the popularity of both, the candidates for president and those for governor of Michigan, would indicate that Michigan would cast an unprecedented vote in November.

"Iosco voters are very interested in the outcome as any other section of the state. We shall be prepared so that no one will be deprived of a vote because of a lack of ballots."

Christians Differ

Lesson for October 12, 1952

"I WILL GIVE YOU the secret of true happiness." If a man starts talking in that vein he will have listeners at once. Jesus began his famous sermon on the mount with that magic word "happy." It is unfortunate that most of our English translations use the word "blessed" because for most people "blessed" is a church-word. They don't know whether they want to be blessed or not; they have no doubt about wanting to be happy. It is twice unfortunate that Jesus' meaning has been hidden under an even more forbidding word, "Beatitudes." What we have here is a series of one-sentence pictures of truly happy persons.

What Christians Are

In these sentences Jesus sketches the kind of person who "has," that is to say, belongs to, the Kingdom of Heaven. If God were forced to throw away some of the human race and keep others, these are the people he would keep. Jesus in these short sentences is picturing the Christ-like. He is not talking about what they believe but about what they are. There is all the difference in the world between Jesus' idea of a Christian and some of the popular ideas today. For example, many persons think of a Christian as a person who keeps a certain number of rules, or believes a certain number of things, or belongs to a peculiar kind of club called the church. But a club member may be exactly like the people on the outside except that he has paid his dues and they haven't; and some church members are just like non-church members except that they have paid their dues (or at least owe them) while the outsiders have not.

Finding True Happiness

Let us venture to put the meaning of Jesus into simple words of today. The following sentences are meant to suggest only some of the means wrapped in these truths-for-life. Do you want to know the secret of happiness? Jesus asks. I will tell you. The happy are those who know how little they know and how far from good they are. These are the real people, God's people. The happy are not always the gay; the happy are the serious, those who feel a sincere sorrow for their sins and shortcomings, sorry enough to turn away from them. The happy are those who do not insist on their own rights, who carry no chip on their shoulders, who are more interested in justice for others than for themselves. After the proud have destroyed the proud, these are the people to whom the earth belongs. The happy people are those who want to be good more than anything else in the world. This is the one desire that God always fulfills. Happy people are those that find their happiness in helping others; these are the people who will find helpers in their own time of need. Happy people are those who are pure, not in act alone but in inner thoughts and desires. They are the ones who have any eyes for God. Happy people are not only peaceable themselves but help others to live in peace as well. These are the people who are really God-like. Happy people are not always free from trouble; but their troubles have been caused chiefly not by their sins but by the fact that they are good. They have their heaven in their hearts.

Christians Are Different

You are happy yourselves (Jesus concludes) when the hard things said about you are lies. You are happy when you suffer as I suffer, on behalf of others. God will reward you; you belong to the glorious company of the best men of all time, for there never was a good friend of God who was not misunderstood and slandered. Jesus never explained all he meant. ("He who has ears, let him hear," he used to say.) But whatever may be puzzling, one thing is clear: Christians are different. If a man fits these descriptions ever part-way, he is noticeably different from the run-of-mine human being. We cannot water down Jesus' ideas, for they are really radical. We should not try to make it sound easy; he did not. But let us be as frank as he was: If you want to find real happiness, if you want to belong to God's people, if you want to be a real Christian, this is it.

4-H CLUB NOTES

by MARVIN DAVENPORT

The Prescott Award winners—want to know who they are? Keep your eyes peeled for their picture and story coming next week.

Without question the problem of the week is the discussion on how to organize a 4-H Club. A 4-H Club that has done one of the outstanding community services, this year is following a plan of organizing that might be well to follow. All parents and adults who are willing to lead project activities get together as a group and find out who is going to lead what. After this meeting 4-H members and their parents (no parent-no membership) have a meeting and tell them the projects being offered. I will be very glad to meet with those adults at that meeting to discuss 4-H Club projects, what is expected of a leader and how to do the job as a 4-H Club leader. Again, it is parent's cooperation that spells success or failure. For this reason we find the Tawas City and East Tawas leaders getting together to plan what 4-H Club activities will be offered in their 1952-53 program. We are expecting Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burt of East Tawas, Mrs. Fred Temple of East Tawas and a big invitation to Don Phillips and Charles Nash so they can discuss the 4-H Club program with us. Those from Tawas City, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bergeron, former 4-Her's from Saginaw county, Mrs. Charles Mercer, Mrs. Davenport, Mrs. Carl Libka, Mrs. Fred Woiseschke and Charles Wilson should be on hand. What started out to be a few has grown to be quite a few! Slides and materials will be used to explain what this 4-H Club program is all about.

This year finds our program on a once a year enrollment basis. This procedure will omit any summer enrollment next May and June. 4-H Club members wanting to get into the program will do well to get started this fall.

I just received word that Robert Douglass, vegetable garden member from Hale, will be going to New York City in December to judge vegetables again at the National Jr. Vegetable Growers Convention. He will be joined by Chet Czuber and Tom Cook of Alcona county. They will be part of 30 member delegates attending this convention from Michigan.

Calendar of events:
Thursday, Oct. 9—Hale Community Club organization, 8:00 P. M. Community Building.
Monday, Oct. 13—Tawas City Community Club organization.
Thursday, Oct. 16—Get X-ray for T. B., free of charge for those 15 years and older—unit will be in East Tawas.

ARCHERS' HOLIDAY

An estimated 25,000 bow and arrow hunters will be roaming the Michigan woods this fall. Their quarry: a white-tailed deer—buck, doe or fawn, it doesn't matter except in Menominee or Chippewa county where only an antlered deer is legal.

The Robin Hoods enjoy a long season—October 1st to November 5th, yet their kill of deer is not likely to exceed the 2000 mark. Simple arithmetic proves that their chance of filling their license is pretty slim. Nevertheless it's hard to find an unhappy archer! The joy of the sport for them is the chase. Virtually all of them will see plenty of deer because Michigan's herd is large and well scattered. At least half of them will have one or more shots at deer, BUT there's many a slip!

The beginner—and many a veteran—is almost sure to suffer the shakes as he, or she, draws on the first deer. Getting buck fever, or in this case deer fever, is even worse with a bow and arrow than it is with a gun. Accuracy is impossible. Your muscles refuse to obey. Most of the time under such circumstances one just eases back the bow string and watches the deer wander off into the woods!

Best Approach

The best approach to the problem of getting your deer with bow and arrow is to let the deer approach you! Undeniably, stalking thru the forest Indian style is lots of fun. You may be able to sneak up on a deer, but these animals do not have big ears for nothing! Furthermore their sense of smell is astoundingly keen. So the best technique is to study the terrain carefully, find yourself a well-used deer run, get down wind from it and in a position from which you can get a commanding view for some distance. Then arrange a few branches on the ground, built up about waist high. This will be your blind. Get a box or camp stool, sit down, and wait. It's always a good idea to get into a spot like this before daylight, sit there until about 9 o'clock, and if you haven't had a shot by then go back to camp for some shuteye. Deer won't move much except in early morning and late afternoon. Get back in the blind by 4 o'clock and wait it out until dark. You'll see the deer—you can bet on that—and if they don't see you, hear you, or scent you chances are you'll get a shot or get the shakes. Either way it's another chapter in your book of adventure in Michigan Outdoors!

TILE DRAINAGE DEMONSTRATION

60 farmers attended the tile drainage demonstration at the Charles Timreck farm Tuesday. Willard Cutler drainage specialist of Michigan State College supervised the demonstration and by means of a public address system explained the procedures required in obtaining dependable drainage while Rudolph Schmidt of Standish operated the trencher and Charles Timreck, Sr. and Jr., back filled with top soil first, which was followed by filling with the remaining soil.

A short program preceded the demonstration. Charles, Jr., explained how the wet spots on the field made it impossible to work the field early in the spring and after rains, causing considerable delay in field work. Gordon Hatch, farm planner for the Iosco Soil Conservation District, another speaker, explained that drainage was not a soil conservation practice but a means of utilizing more land with greater efficiency and obtaining greater yields. He emphasized the importance of good crop rotations with legumes in the rotation to keep the soil porous and allow efficient drainage. James P. Mielock, chairman of the Iosco County Soil Conservation District board of directors, which sponsored the demonstration, said the survey the district made showed that drainage was a major problem in Iosco county. Representing the County Road Commission he said the primary responsibility was to drain road beds, however, the commission realized that through cooperation with the farmer, road ditches can be made to benefit adjacent farm land without great additional cost.

Robert Alpers and Leslie Gould, representatives of the Michigan Vitriified Tile Company, said the demand for tile was greater than the tile manufacturers could meet. Mr. Schmidt, said he was booked many months ahead and it would be a year or more before he could service new orders. He added that he would operate only in areas where a group of farmers wanted their tiling done at one time, and advised that local farmers make their request in groups.

Mr. Cutler explained the problems encountered on this field and emphasized the importance of accurate surveying, trenching and laying of tile. He explained that covering the tile with the porous top dirt allowed rapid seepage into the tile which is especially important in clay soils.

EMTA Reports Good Fall Tourist Season in Michigan

The term, "off season", is heard less frequently in mention of Michigan's tourist business, says Robert J. Furlong, Executive Secretary of the Michigan Tourist Council. Evidence of this is found in reports which indicate a highly successful autumn business in the state's recreational areas.

The beauty of her forests, invigorating weather, good fishing, upland bird and duck seasons have combined to fill a gap in Michigan's vacation calendar that once was very evident after Labor Day.

"With this upswing in autumn business, the state's tourist industry is enjoying a very successful year," said Furlong. "Reports from the summer season are most encouraging," he added.

The Tourist Council executive mentioned certain "measuring sticks" which indicate that tourists came to Michigan in increasing numbers during the 1952 summer. Traffic across the Straits of Mackinaw by the middle of September was 17 per cent above traffic for the same period in 1951, an all time high was recorded in Straits traffic.

General highway traffic throughout the state showed a nine per cent increase over the 1951 figure for the period ending September 15.

Political Pressure

TO UNDERSTAND the inside on the Taft-Eisenhower breakfast you have to know something about the pressures brought on both men by friends and advisers.

Among Eisenhower's friends, some considered the statement issued by Taft after the breakfast to be a surrender by the victor at Chicago to the man he defeated at Chicago. That was why Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon immediately scratched his name off the Ike list.

Some of these friends feel that never before has a candidate been so humiliated in public as when Taft told newsmen he had written the "joint" 7-page statement in Cincinnati before he came to the breakfast. At least, they say, he might have preserved the fiction that the two had worked it out together.

Just a few weeks ago, they point out, Eisenhower walked out of the Chicago convention the biggest man in America, considered a sure bet to win. Today, two months after Chicago, he has to accept policy dictated by the man he defeated.

However, others of Ike's friends point to the terrific pressures he was under. In Massachusetts, he knew that Taft supporters were so bitter that Senator Lodge hadn't dared feature in his campaign literature the fact that he was once Ike's campaign manager. In Indiana, state GOP chairman Cale Holder, strong Taft supporter, reported that many of his cohorts were dragging their feet.

Cleveland, Ike personally found how tough it was to dent the Taft forces when he spoke at a private dinner to try to pry open Taft pocketbooks. Taft money-men say that Wall Street nominated Eisenhower, so Wall Street can now finance him.

And what made things worse was when Congressman George Bender, a Taft supporter, was barred from the dining room by State Chairman Ray Bliss. Seething mad, Bender walked out.

Speakers' Sabotage

In Washington, two Taft men—Sen. Karl Mundt of South Dakota and Congressman Charley Halleck of Indiana—are in charge of the speakers bureau. And when Ike-supporter Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts offered to make some speeches in his home state, Massachusetts, nothing happened.

For four weeks he wasn't called on. Finally, when he complained at the inactivity, Taftite Halleck assigned Saltonstall to speak in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio—three bedrock Taft states where a man of Saltonstall's political background would be valueless.

Again, when Ikeman Sen. George Aiken of Vermont volunteered to speak, he wasn't given a single engagement in New England where he would be most effective.

Thus, with the GOP split even worse than generally suspected, Eisenhower yielded to midroad advisers who said he had to heal the Taft breach.

Two of these advisers—Sens. Frank Carlson of Kansas and Alex Smith of New Jersey—arranged the breakfast preliminaries. Smith, vacationing in Canada, spent part of a month urging Taft to get wholeheartedly into the campaign, argued that Taft and Ike would be an unbeatable team: Ike on foreign policy, Taft on domestic issues.

Taft, at first, balked, said his wing of the party was opposed to Dewey control, would be flatly opposed to having Dewey in the cabinet.

Taft's Statement

When Taft got to New York the night before the breakfast, he handed Senator Carlson a copy of the now-famous "joint" statement. In a corner was written in green ink: "For Senator Carlson. To be given only to General Eisenhower."

However, Carlson did not give the statement to Eisenhower the night before, as Taft intended. He kept it—presumably because he feared Ike might get sore, and that it was better for the two men to get acquainted personally before haggling over legal and political phraseology.

Next morning, at breakfast, Taft broke the ice with: "I want to congratulate you for taking off the gloves."

He added that it would be fatal to try to "coast through this campaign" as Dewey did in 1948. Then, as the conversation progressed, Taft diagnosed the "heartbeat" of the Republican party as "west of the Alleghenies," and predicted:

"If that section is properly handled, we will win in November."

Regarding the eastern states, Taft said that, if Ike continued a fighting campaign, hitting the issues and naming names, "You won't do any worse than Dewey did in 1948, with the possible exception of New York which will be very tough to carry."

NATIONWIDE surveys have shown that the crocheters' vote for the item they most like to make goes to the table doily. As an active campaigner for the doily, I would like to join the country's crocheters in saying that it is the best candidate to choose when leisure time is at a minimum.

getters that will give your rooms the look of refinement which is a reflection of your careful housekeeping.

HOP ON THE BANDWAGON WITH HOOK AND THREAD
If you have not done doily crocheting as yet, equip yourself with thread and hook to assure yourself of the pleasure it can give you. To insure the proper texture of the item you are crocheting, use threads and hooks which correspond with each other. When crocheting with a size 10 thread, use hook No. 8; for thread size 20, a No. 9 hook. Size 30 thread takes a No. 10 hook; size 40, hook No. 11. If you are using a 50 or 60 thread size, use a No. 12 hook, or for thread sizes 70 and 80, a No. 13 hook. Do you like crocheting with the very fine Size 100 thread?—use hook No. 14.

CROCHETED DOILY EXTRAORDINAIRE
Could be that you are one of the crocheters who is looking forward to a change. Here's just the doily design for you. It's pretty, it's colorful, it's unusual. The clusters and mesh are done in light green and are encircled by shaded yellow and cream-colored roses. A bright touch of emerald green is given to the leaves. Does it get your vote? The directions for crocheting this 15-inch ROSE CIRCLE DOILY will be mailed to you when you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and request Leaflet No. 51-3.

Elevator Equipment Feature of Farm Show This Year

The proper use of seed cleaning equipment for elevators and farms will be a special feature of this year's seed section of the Northern Potato, Apple and Seed Show, says Harold R. Clark, County Agricultural Agent.

A large commercial manufacturer of seed cleaning equipment has agreed to set up elevator size equipment and farm size equipment at the show. Throughout each day at the show, periodic demonstrations of the use of the equipment will be made. It is a known fact that equipment now in the area is capable of doing a much better job of cleaning, if properly used. There are so many little adjustments with such equipment, that effect the job being done. A special day for elevator operators is being planned. The cooperation of elevators and farmers in securing seed samples for the show is being solicited.

This year's show will be held in the new 4-H Community Center on the Emmet County Fair Grounds in Petosky, November 4th to 7th.

The seed section of this year's show has been expanded to include cereal grains; oats, wheat, barley, rye and corn; field beans; red kidney, yellow eye and white peas and field peas, in addition to the legume seeds such as alfalfa, the clovers; red, mammoth, alsike, ladino and sweet and also vetch. An eight pound sample of a particular exhibit is needed for an entry. The exhibit can be certified or uncertified seed.

A lot of people care more about who writes their songs than who writes their laws.

HOME EC NOTES

by Dorothy Scott, Home Demonstration Agent

District Home Demonstration Rally, Hale Community Building, Wednesday, Oct. 15, 11 A. M. Christmas Gifts, leader training school, Tuesday, Oct. 21, Hale Community Building, 10 A. M.

Kathryn Stencil, Michigan's IFYE delegate last year, will be our feature speaker at the district home demonstration rally on October 15 at Hale. Her topic is "My Summer in Austria" and she has slides to illustrate her talk.

IFYE stands for International Farm Youth Exchange, a program that sends some of our young people to other countries and in turn brings young people from other countries to us. It is proved most effective for people of different countries to learn to know and understand one another better.

The experience of our Michigan delegate is shared with audiences throughout the state at events such as district home demonstration rally. This occasion will give Miss Stencil, who is a student at Michigan State College, an opportunity to share her IFYE experience with women from seven counties comprising this district. They include Isosco, Arenac, Ogemaw, Clare, Gladwin, Alcona and Oscoda.

Miss Stencil has made a good many talks on her stay abroad and each time there are loud praises of her talents as an interesting public speaker. Isosco county home demonstration group women and their friends who stay at home on October 15 will miss a real treat.

Other plans for the rally program include get acquainted games, with Alcona county women in charge; identification tags planned by Ogemaw county women; an eleven o'clock arrival for a potluck together and an afternoon program which includes several numbers in addition to the talk, "My Summer in Austria."

Other guests from Michigan State College will include Mrs. Leona MacLeod, state home demonstration leader; Beatrice Frangquist, assistant state leader and Lorabeth Moore of the public relations staff.

Entertainment is being arranged by two Alcona county groups. Isosco county women will be on hand as hostesses to be sure everyone has a good time and the activities move along smoothly.

If for some reason you cannot come for the whole day, come for the afternoon program which will begin at one o'clock.

Mrs. Atkinson Hostess to Home Ec Group

Mrs. George Atkinson was hostess on September 23 to women at the Rollways who are working to organize a home demonstration group in their own community. Present were Mesdames Charles Bielby, James Sabin, George Dodge, Frank Abbinante, Charles Attwell and Mrs. Atkinson.

If any other of you women living in that neighborhood would like to join these ladies, talk with any of them about it. They would like to increase the membership to twelve or fifteen.

And perhaps there are women in other communities who would like to participate in the county home demonstration program, but do not know how to go about

The rug making class at Hale, sponsored by the home demonstration group there, is coming along nicely. Mrs. Charles Attwell tells us. These women have ideas for other activities, too, as soon as they have mastered this one.

Whittemore, Hale, Tawas City, Reno and Laidlaw groups sent leaders for the training meeting, "Bring Your Furniture Up-To-Date" held on September 20 at the Federal Building in East Tawas. The discussion was planned to point out needs in keeping our furniture in good order by remodeling, refinishing, recovering, replacing or adding new pieces, many of which can be made ourselves or obtained in kits and assembled by us. The leaders learned about the kinds of workshop meetings that can be arranged for group members in the community where you live. They also found out how to go about doing it.

We are hoping there will be a number of furniture-improving workshops during the coming year. Maybe you've been putting off a job in your home, now is a good time to get at it. It won't be half so hard with company in the same boat as it is all by yourself.

Leaders include Mesdames Frank Abbinante, Donald Stilts, A. W. Miller, John Earhart, Harold Clack, A. T. Vary, Carl Libka, Leo Burch, Donald MacDonald and Donald Huey.

Conservation Department To Check Deer Hunters

Tentative locations of checking stations to collect data on deer brought back by hunters were announced this week by the state conservation department.

Department personnel will ask hunters who voluntarily stop to permit them to determine the age, sex and general physical condition of the deer.

The stations will also keep track of the number of hunters and the percentage of those successful.

Primary stations will be set up at Muskegon on US-31, south of Brothman on M-37, south of Morley on US-131, north of Remus on M-66, south of Mt. Pelasant on US-27, at Sanford on US-10 and south of Standish on US-23.

EIGHTH NATIONAL TRAFFIC SAFETY POSTER CONTEST

October means footballs bouncing in streets, shortcuts home from schools and what appears to be a time-saver: the dash between parked cars. But motorists cannot see youngsters if they dash into the streets. Children cannot judge traffic from between parked cars, and the "parked" cars may suddenly move.
