Power for Need Lesson for November 2, 1952

THERE are various kinds of power, and this lesson is not about most of them. For example there is mechanical power, and atomic power, and electrical power. There is armed force exerted by a nation, and there are all the forces of nature. We are not concerned directly with any of these. We will think not of one particular kind of power, but of any kind which is personally controlled and used, the power that every one has. Practically all human beings exert some kind of power. It may be the power of influence; it may be based on money; it may be political or social; it may be power to command, such as is held by seacaptains and labor bosses and office managers. The reader is invited to reflect on his own situation and concentrate his mind on whatever power, be it ever so small, which he himself exercises or can exercise when he pleases Very few persons are complete

Purposes of Prayer

Is it wrong, that is to say, un-Christian, to wish to be strong? Of course not. There is surely no virtue in weakness. To wish to be weak, or to be content with weakness, is no sign of a Christian. It depends on the motive behind the desire. Now power an be had, or wished for, for various reasons, bad and good. Some people like to be strong just to show off. A boy goes around bending his arm and showing the other boys what big muscles he has, just bragging. That may be all right for a boy (though the boaster is pretty sure to be thrown sooner or later). But when a grown man does the same thing he is just being childish. However, this is harmless compared with another common misuse of power; that is, using it to build up more power We can see it in politicians who hold on to important positions even though they could be more useful in private life and though a dozen other men could do their job quite well as they can. We can see it even in the church, where some men like to get on and stay on important committees because then they can "crack the vhip" over their I all mis-uses of power is using it to hurt and crush others. We can see examples of this on the national scale, all through history. It scales all the way do n to the blackmailer, who uses some bit of scandal that he knows about to ruin the lives of perhaps much better men

Jesus and His Power

Now Christians have always before them an example of tremendous power, gently and generously used Readers of this column will be divided into two classes. Some will take the stories of Jesus' miracles quite litterally. Others will suppose that some of these stories may have been exaggerations of loyal memory. Let those who are skeptical about the miracle-stories give a thought to this: Even granting, for the sake of the argument, that every one of these miraclestories is a "made-up" one; they surely would never have been invented about a weak man; and they never would have been told about a selfish one. The historians who are most full of doubts about Jesus agree and admit that he was a man of extraordinary power. And even if you thought (as this writer does not) that most of the tales of Jesus were wonder-tales and no more, the fact remains that these tales, every one of them, shows a Jesus who never uses power to show off, never uses it 'just because," and seven times never uses it to hurt any one.

Power for Need

Jesus gives us the right Christian line. "As he is, so are we in this world," said one of his friends. Power is given us, as all the gifts of life are, for use in the name of God and the help of man. Whatever power we have, we possess as stewards. It makes no difference how obscure we may be, every one of us has some degree of power, of some kind. It may be a mother with her children, a teacher with his pupils, an older child with younger children, a business man with many employees, a judge on the bench or an officer in a 4-H club-if our decisions affect the life of even one other person, then God will ask us: Did your power hurt others, or help?

As a three-term member of the United States House of Representatives he has fought for Michigan and America. In World War II he fought nazism and fascism for four years, won seven awards for valor and lost both legs in combat.

His fellow Congressmen put him on the vital House Un-American Activities Committee, where he helped expose Reds in industry and government. The United States Chamber of Commerce named fighting Congressman Potter, "One of the ten outstanding young men in the United States."

If ever there was a time to call a halt to wasteful. heedless government spending, that time is now. Every dollar wasted in Washington or Lansing means higher taxes for you, higher costs of food and clothing, less "buying-power" in your pay envelope.

Here is why we are mad-and why you should be too. In just five short years the cost of food . . . clothing ... all the things you buy have gone up over 47%! The dollars you earn have dropped in value to where they buy only what 53c would buy in 1939. There were fifteen members present. The roll was answered with favorite sport. Most of the favorites were baseball and football. There was one tennis. What happened to the winter sports, kids?

It was also necessary to choose our projects to keep us busy for the whole year. We have (we know for sure) two project leaders and hope to have three more.. Friendship Reporter, Barbara Wisniewski

She makes you feel as though you were at the meeting, doesn't she? Well done, Barbara. Now let's hear from the reporters of the other community clubs.

We might suggest the friends of Jim, Bill and Rickey Laidlaw drop in on them sometime and see their new 4-H Club calves. I don't know how the two younger boys matched wits with Jim, but one calf had a dam whose 2 year old butterfat record for 312 days totalled 448 pounds butterfat. As a three year old she is going to better that record according to the D. H. I. A figures. Nice start for a young boy, isn't it, dad?

Michigan Life Lines! FROM THE VERY BEGINNING, roads were built to further commerce and trade, and down through the centuries the first requirement whenever a new territory was to be settled has been to build roads. Michigan has over 100,000 miles of roads and streets, most of which are surfaced and in good condition. These are Michigan's life lines, without which the State could not exist.

For over these highways farm produce goes to market, raw materials and parts get to factories, finished products reach the consumer. Yes, over these roads children get to school, fire-fighting equipment responds to emergencies, the moving of household furnishings takes place.
