Redcoats Invade Deerland; Deer Favored by Rains

The great army of redcoats started their invasion of deer territory Saturday, but after the first day heavy rainy weather favored the deer. The great surge of out county hunters was reflected in the large sale of licenses by Iosco county license writers.

Mrs. Mary Lynch, Tawas Chamber of Commerce secretary, states that her office was busy all week furnishing maps to hopeful hunters, and directing them to deer territory. She said that out state hunters had been apparently quite successful, however, many hunters seem to be waiting for the last days of the season to get their venison.

The first hunter to report success at the Tawas Herald office was Ralph VanPatten, of Tawas City, who got his buck at 7:15 Saturday morning. Probably the oldest deer hunter in Michigan, and perhaps the

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 11. DEVOTIONAL READING: Isaiah 35:1-10

Thanking God

Lesson for November 23, 1952

IT IS hard to imagine Jesus observing exactly one day in the year, no more, as a Thanksgiving day. This is not to say that the idea of a Thanksgiving Day is a bad one. The Jews of ancient times, whose religious observances Jesus closely kept, had a whole week of celebrations in the fall, corresponding somewhat to our Thanksgiving day. But Jesus' heart of gratitude was not to be limited by the calendar.

Mistakes About Thanksgiving

There are at least three mistakes which are commonly made with reference to Thanksgiving day. We Christian people make the mistake of limiting our thoughts of gratitude to one day. We count our blessings on this one day of all the year; we go on a kind of "binge" of gratitude.

Another sort of mistake, made by a great many, even of those who are called Christians, is to use the day for purposes that have nothing at all to do with it. Instead of worshipful gratitude to God for his blessings of the year past, the day is commonly used by many for eating too much or for getting drunk at football games.

Retail stores use the day to usher in the Christmas season. In fact, not so many years ago the commercial interests of the country were successful in pushing the day back a whole week just in order to have a longer season in which to sell "Christmas" merchandise.

But the purpose of the day is not to make money or to win football games or to get stuffed with turkey.

Grace Before Shakespeare

A third mistake is to be thankful for only one kind of thing: namely, material blessings such as food, security, good crops and good business. Now our Lord was grateful for such things. More than once we read of his taking bread and giving thanks for it. But as he knew that man does not live by bread alone, so man should not give thanks for bread alone. Most of Jesus' prayers of thanksgiving are for other and higher blessings.

Some well-known writer once commented on our custom of saying "Grace before meat"—the old expression for what is now often called "asking the blessing" at the table. Has God no other blessings for us?

When a person sits down with a great play (say by Shakespeare) in his hand, why not a "Grace before Shakespeare?" How many of us have a little prayer of thanksgiving before reading a book of poetry or going out to look up at the starry sky on a clear night, or before opening a letter from an old friend or before going to the hospital or the dentist? (Yes, indeed; the dentist may not seem like a blessing, but try to stand a toothache all by yourself, or try to imagine going to his office, or to the hospital, before the days of modern medicine, surgery, X-rays, anesthetics and sanitation!)

Blessings of the Spirit

Jesus' prayer of thanksgiving, which our lesson Scripture records, however, is on a higher plane still. The particular blessing for which he thanks the Lord of heaven and earth is in the first place a spiritual one, and in the second place it is not something that came to him but to some one else. He thanks God that a spiritual light has been seen by his most humble friends.

Can we say that many of our prayers are on this high level? Many of us never get beyond the "Gimme" stage. And even among those who do rise to the level of real thanksgiving, it is rare enough to find those who are grateful not only for their own blessings but for those received by others; and how seldom does God hear any note of praise for blessings of the spirit!

This is a high plane, to be reached only by high souls, those who have been intimate enough with Christ to absorb his spirit and attitude. Stupid people, who do not have very good minds, cannot be expected to appreciate blessings of the mind; and people with small and wizened souls cannot feel blessings of the spirit. And only those who practice the Golden Rule every day, so as to put themselves into others' places, and who cultivate the gift of sympathy so as to "rejoice with those that rejoice and weep with those that weep," can have the heart to be thankful when others receive the highest blessings of heaven.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

THE good condition of the floors in your home is the first indication of careful housekeeping. People invariably look to the floor when entering a house, and when the house is yours, you'll want to be pleased with what they see. The formula for floor-appl is just this: soap, water, wax, elbow grease and a few pretty rugs.

SHINE 'EM UP

To keep wood floors looking their level best between washings, simply use a dry mop to remove dust particles. Be sure that the mop is oil-free if your floors are waxed, for oil softens wax. When the woodwork is ready for a washing, use cold water and dry immediately. An occasional light waxing adds to the floor's appearance. If you're doing a large scale beautifying job, however, you may want to apply an oil finish instead. An equal mixture of raw linseed oil and turpentine, when rubbed into the wood, brings out the beauty of open grained woods such as oak or chestnut. If you have light, close grained wood floors, use lemon or cedar oil to prevent darkening. As for painted floors, keep them in good condition by washing with a mild soap and water. Add a few drops of ammonia to the water if the woodwork is greasy. A light waxing, or a light application of linseed or furniture oil will give a nice shine.

PRETTY 'EM UP

After all your washing and waxing, you'll want your floors to be enhanced by attractive rugs. Cotton throw rugs are pretty and most practical and you can make them yourself. They can be laundered easily with a mild soap and lukewarm water. If hot water and strong soap are used, the rug is apt to become fuzzy. Be sure to dry your rugs flat.

MAKE YOUR OWN RUG

The floors of your home will be your pride and joy especially when you crochet your own rugs. Here's a simple and lovely crocheted rug design which you will enjoy making. The daisy motifs are made separately and sewn together, on the wrong side, when you've finished crocheting. This rug is attractive in white daisies on a bright red background, or in yellow daisies on a brown field. Directions for DAISIES, the crocheted rug, can be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper requesting Leaflet No. 9459.

Inspection Stations Established

The Michigan Department of Agriculture has established inspection stations at several places on the highways leading from the Christmas tree producing areas of the state. State inspectors at the stations will check on Christmas trees and boughs being transported to determine if they are accompanied by a bill of sale as required by state law. Other inspectors will free lance in the tree and bough cutting area and in metropolitan centers to see if the provisions of the state law are complied with.

State laws require that Christmas trees be accompanied by a bill of sale signed by the property owner from whom the trees originated. The bill of sale is proof that the trees have been legally acquired by the person who has them in his possession.

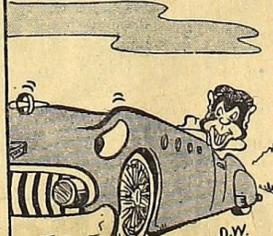

The bill of sale forms are furnished by the Michigan Department of Agriculture free of charge. They are available at the offices of the County Agricultural Agents, County Sheriff, the State Police barracks and Conservation headquarters in all counties of the state. Land owners who desire to transport Christmas trees or evergreen boughs taken from their own property may carry the property deed or a tax receipt in lieu of a legal bill of sale.

The Department of Conservation and State Police cooperate with the Department of Agriculture in the enforcement of the Christmas tree law.

The provisions of the Christmas tree law do not apply to the transportation of trees with roots attached. Such trees are classed as nursery stock and an inspection certificate is required when such trees are transported.

Anyone desiring to move rooted trees or shrubs from one property to another should apply to the Department of Agriculture for inspection before the trees shrubs are moved. Requests for further information and bill of sale forms may be obtained from C. A. Boyer, Chief, Bureau of Plant Industry, Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Blaze Extinguished By Rain Sunday

Rain, which started falling shortly after seven o'clock Sunday night, is credited with putting out what promised to be a huge forest fire in the Isosco county area Sunday.

The fire, apparently started by hunters to chase deer out of a swamp, in the opinion of John E. Franson, Tawas district ranger, was reported shortly after six o'clock Sunday evening. It was growing rapidly and could be seen for several miles when the first rain fell. It was in Section 22, Wilber township.

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

WITH MORT NEFF

THAT DEER PROBLEM

Several months will go by before we get any definite figures on the deer kill in Michigan this year under our liberalized regulations. These months are sure to be filled with arguments pro and con, and there are bound to be many diehards who will believe that our deer herd is just about exterminated. Experienced game management men know better.

The Wisconsin Story

Our neighboring state of Wisconsin, with a smaller herd than our own, has been battling public opinion for 15 years in an effort to control the welfare of their deer, and the Conservation Commission of that State is finally getting a nod of approval from the people. They began broad control in 1949 with a 5 day season on antlerless deer in addition to their regular buck season. A harvest of 160,000 deer resulted. In 1950 and again in 1951 the state had a seven day any-deer season. Despite predictions that the deer herd in Wisconsin was "all but exterminated," 168,000 were killed in 1950, and another 150,000 in 1951. The 3 year take of more than 450,000 deer is actually as many as would have been taken in 10 years with a buck law!

Effect On Herd

A better balance has been established between the range and the herd in Wisconsin—a balance which will result in a healthier, more productive herd, and a larger one, too, in the long run. Meanwhile the range has a chance at a comeback, so that it can eventually supply more food. A lot of improvement has already been noted in some sections. This year the herd gets a "breather," and hunters may take only one forked-antlered buck, largely because of public opinion. Game biologists, aware of the enormous reproductive capacity of the herd, are frankly worried over this regulation, believing that much of the good of the last three years may be undone.

The Michigan Picture

Michigan buck hunters will probably kill the usual 100,000 antlered deer in the first 13 days of the season this year . . . 30,000 of which will come from the upper peninsula. Another 100,000 may be taken in the final 3 day any-deer period. The experts say we can easily afford it. There are an estimated 600,000 deer in the northern part of the lower peninsula—55% does, 15% bucks and 30% fawns. Our liberalized 3-day any-deer season will cut down the herd considerably as they go into the hard winter months. At least 200,000 does will survive to reproduce about 300,000 fawns next spring, and thus the 1952 kill will more than be replaced. Meanwhile there'll be more food to go around during the long Michigan winter. That's the theory—agree with it or not! Precedent has been set in other states—so it should work out for the best in our own Michigan Outdoors.

Now—the car of the year — the deal of the year!

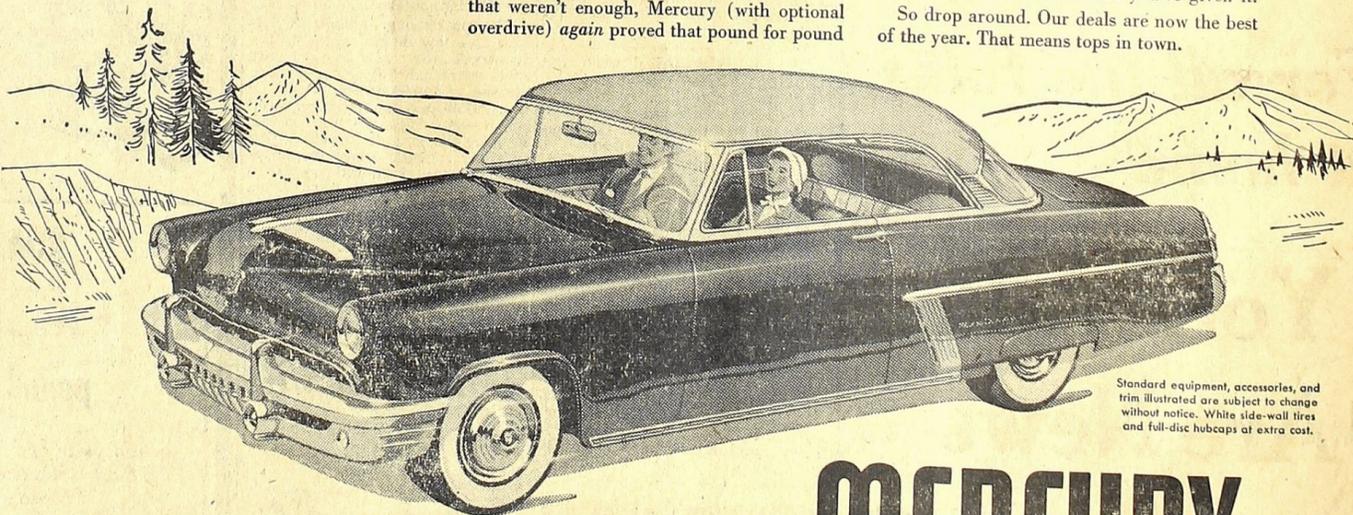

And we're ready to back up that headline with appetizing facts and generous figures. For example, "the car of the year" is more than a glib phrase, it's a title that Mercury has earned by doing—by making news.

Mercury is the one car in its class that came up with something really new for 1952—styling so new it left other cars far behind. And, if that weren't enough, Mercury (with optional overdrive) again proved that pound for pound it could beat all comers for economy in the Mobilgas Economy Run.

But, we know, you're equally interested in "how much" for your present car. We can give you some idea if you just pick up the phone and call us. But we can do even better if you give us a chance to appraise it firsthand—so we can allow for extras and care you've given it.

So drop around. Our deals are now the best of the year. That means tops in town.

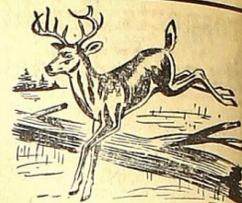

Standard equipment, accessories, and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice. White side-wall tires and full-disc hubcaps at extra cost.

THE WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round
BY DREW PEARSON

WHILE President Truman was escorting his new-found friend, John L. Lewis, on a personal tour of the White House before the election, he let drop the following:

"Did you realize, John, that if the Republicans should be elected and Taft should die, Eisenhower would be president?"

Harry Moses, representing the coal operators, who was with the two men, did not join in the ensuing laughter.

Mr. Truman's wisecrack followed a relatively brief but extremely important conference, the results of which are the subject of further negotiations probably resulting in an increase in the eventual cost of coal.

Those who attended the White House meeting insist that there was no deal between Truman and Lewis to increase wages. Harry Moses of the operators was with them throughout. As far as can be ascertained, here is a play-by-play account of what happened.

David Cole, the federal mediator, opened the meeting with a plea that the Wage Stabilization board, which ruled against the $1.90 wage increase, had overlooked certain facts and had been unfair to the miners.

Dwells on Mining Hazards

Cole also dwelt upon the hazards of mining and the heavy accident rate in the mines.

The President then turned to Harry Moses. "Let's hear from the operators," he said.

Moses, who represents H. C. Frick and Company and some of the biggest mines in the nation, said that the miners and mine operators had been working for several months to draw up a contract and that their agreement was an excellent example of free and open bargaining. He said they had dismissed fringe benefits because Lewis didn't want them. He preferred cash, instead.

The steelworkers and other labor groups, he argued, had received fringe benefits which were the equivalent of the 40c the wage board had denied the miners.

John L. was then called upon. He gave a brief sermon of economic production, pointing out that the U. S. is the greatest coal producer in the world and the American miner the most efficient. He produces 7½ tons per man daily compared with the British production of one ton per man per day.

Coal Wage Flare-Up

Previously, pent-up feelings over the wage increase almost exploded into fistcuffs between two prominent members of the Wage Stabilization board—Elmer E. Walker, an AFL member, and Robert C. Bassett, a Chicago attorney serving as an industry member.

The altercation occurred at a closed-door session shortly before the WSB approved the compromise mine pay boost of $1.50 a day instead of the $1.90 raise agreed to by Lewis and the mine operators.

Labor members, led by Walker, vigorously opposed the compromise, but were outvoted by industry and public members.

"We on the labor side feel that the $1.90 increase is equitable, justified by higher living costs and not out of line with the stabilization program," declared Walker. "In fact, we could approve as much as $1.25, using the standards the board itself has set in the aluminum, tungsten and north-west lumber cases."

Industry members, led by Bassett, hotly dissented, contending that Walker was making irresponsible statements and that he was trying to force a vote without sufficient discussion. The AFL official replied that he was acting within "sound parliamentary procedure" and added:

"Every time the working man asks for a wage increase to meet higher living costs, he is accused of encouraging inflation and socialism. But the same people who make this charge say nothing about inflation and socialism when business gets government hand-outs through rapid amortization and other tax benefits."

"It seems to me that you are taking a cavalier attitude toward a very serious problem—that of maintaining a stabilized economy," snapped Bassett.

"I am not any more carefree about this than you are," shot back Walker, bristling. "I'll give you an opportunity to repeat your accusation outside after this meeting is over."

The two men, both hefty red-heads—though Bassett is taller and about 10 years younger than Walker—were all set to slug it out in the corridor as the conference broke up. Bassett repeated his "cavalier" charge, and Walker, laying down some papers, started to take off his glasses.

Board colleagues immediately intervened, however, and both men later agreed to forget about the flare-up.

4-H Club Notes

By Marvin Davenport

It's all set! There will be a Cherry Pie Baking Contest in Iosco county with a queen named and sent to Grand Rapids in February to compete in the state contest. Our 4-H Club Council appointed a committee to plan the local and county contests with our home economics instructors. Mrs. O. J. Westcott, Mrs. Reuben Edie and Mrs. Fred Teeple were the committee members named.

At our 4-H Club Leaders meeting last week, the nominating committee headed by Mrs. Fred Pfahl, outgoing president, presented a slate of officers for 1953. The slate approved by the 17 leaders present elected Norman O. Sibley, president; George Strauer, vice-president; Mrs. DeWayne Hall, secretary and Mrs. Herbert Wendt, treasurer. Norman Sibley and George Strauer will represent Iosco county at the district council meeting in Sterling on December 9.

On Friday, February 13, our 4-H Club Leaders will be represented at a seven county district adult Recreation Leader's Training Clinic at Hale. This all-day affair will load those attending with ideas on how to entertain their clubs back home. Our 4-H Club Council President Mrs. Fred Pfahl appointed a committee to plan a noon meal for the 50 delegates attending this affair. Miss Scott, our home demonstration agent, Mrs. Blanche Douglass, Mrs. O. J. Westcott and Mrs. Herman Huber will give a report at the next council meeting Monday, January 12, at the Grant Town Hall on this luncheon program.

The council approved the recommendation of having a Jr. and Sr. camp session at Hardwood Lake next June. This recommendation will be sent to the District Council in December. Each of the counties represented, Alcona, Oscoda, Arenac, Ogemaw, Clare and Gladwin, will then approve or disapprove sending their senior 4-H Club members to such a camp.

Mrs. O. J. Westcott suggested our 4-H Club members put forth an effort to conduct a contest for the best 4-H Club family lawn Christmas exhibit. If such is to be a part of our Christmas program each club will decide.

Other leaders that attended our 4-H Club Council included some new folks, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bergeron, Mrs. Fred Teeple and Mrs. Joseph Fernetto. Other leaders attending included Ross Williams and Pavo Bloomquist, Jr. Leaders. Harold Hammond, farm advisor of Consumers Power Company, recently filled the vacancy left by Walter Martens. We were happy to have him with us as our guest.

East Tawas Club members, leaders and parents met last week and completed the organization of their Community Club. The nominating committee reported and officers elected included President, Ruth Meyers; Vice-President, Barbara Burt; Secretary, Dawn BeMent; and Treasurer, Jean Charters. The reporters duties will be divided among Frank Clark, Sally Ostrander, Peggy White and Karen Fernetto. Ginger Price will be the Recreation Leader.

The East Tawas members will be meeting the first Thursday of each month. The place of their next meeting will be announced later. The officers and community leader, Mrs. Joseph Fernetto, planned the program for 1953. It will be presented to the club at its next meeting. Also, the next meeting should find a name for the club. Every member will have something to suggest.

The project leaders for the East Tawas Club will include Mrs. Binder and Vida Burt, 1st year clothing; 2nd year clothing, Mrs. Ralph Burt; 3rd & 4th year clothing; Mrs. Ted Kysler. ## If You Get Your Venison Here's How to Cook It

By DOROTHY SCOTT

The hunting season is on in Michigan. Much of the game shot will never reach the family table. One reason for the waste of meat taken by hunters is lack of care after the shooting. Wild meat can be given to the home-maker for cooking in an attractive and edible condition. Temperature is so important. Game should be dressed and allowed to cool soon after killing. Chilling and aging at least 24 hours before cooking is the best way to a good start in game cookery.

Game meat tends to be less tender and more dry than domestic meat. Do not expect wild game meat to taste like domestic varieties. Each has a distinctive flavor that is its own right. To offset the lack of fat in game some fat is added during the cooking period, and the flavor of game is enhanced by the addition of celery, onion, sage or savory.

Venison roasts from the round, loin and shoulder are best cooked by dry heat. Simply season the meat, place on a wire rack in an uncovered pan, fat side (or added fat) up. Do not add water, and do not cover. Extra fat is added such as bacon strips or suet.

A slow oven is the secret of a perfect roast whether the meat is wild game or tame. Set your temperature control at 300 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit, and allow 20 to 25 minutes per pound for roasting time. Turning the roast aids in uniform roasting.

Little Change in 1953

The October issue of the Michigan Farm Economics reports that there will be little change in the farm business outlook for 1953.

This issue predicts that: (1) 1953 will be a good year with very little change from 1952; (2) most price indexes will continue to rise by two or three percent before leveling off; (3) if a downturn does come in 1953 it will be milk and barely offset the two and three percent rise; (4) downward adjustment is more likely to occur in 1954; and (5) even then it will not be a major recession.
