Our Government and Us

By John R. Rood, Recognized National Authority on the American Constitution.

To one who knows nothing of military affairs, it seems passing strange that the nation with industrial might equal to all the other nations on earth combined should feel obliged to sacrifice the lives of the flower of American manhood to enable our "allies" to make profits by trading with the enemy.

Can the rest of the world recover from laughter at our expense when they see us talking peace and begging terms from Russia, everybody else knowing full well that Russia is just fooling?

Can it be that the recall of McArthur was a political necessity to prevent collapse of the war in Korea before election and the Democrats being defeated by a slow-down in employment?

Russian thinking is sound in one respect at least. This is no United Nations war. We are furnishing most of the men and the supplies. We the fighting in defense of our own shores, on the same principle and maxim announced by David Harum: "Do unto others as they would do unto you But do it first."

No debating society can conduct military operations. Washington discovered that 175 years ago. And what is the United Nations more than a debating society?

Once upon a time in the Christmas season at Trenton, New Jersey, a certain General Cornwallis discovered to his sorrow that the open road is indispensable to successful military operation, and learned the advantage to the enemy of rapid transit and available military supplies. This was so firmly impressed on his attention that he very wisely concluded to retrace his steps faster than he came.

At another time, one Napoleon Bonaparte, generally credited with being quite a cookie in military affairs abandoned an army great in number and flushed with victory at Moscow just because he could not get needed supplies, and fled in disguise. Strange to relate, he was caught again in the same situation at the mouth of the Nile with the same result.

There is just one source of supplies to the Communists in Korea, the 4,000 mile railway across Siberia supplemented somewhat by the small Manchurian industrial centers.

For centuries the naval blockade has been recognized as a perfectly legitimate war measure. Now the air blockade is the natural heir to the naval blockade.

Why should Americans be asked to match man for man against the Chinese horde? A thousand Chinese are not worth one American boy. Why should we attempt a land conflict? We want no land in Asia.

What would happen if Eisenhower should announce definitely to Russia: "Importation of military supplies from Russia and Manchuria to the communist armies in Korea must be stopped AT ONCE or I shall send McArthur over there to finish the job, with no punches barred, and the war must stop at once or the United States Navy will close every port in China too tight to import a guinea pig."

It must appear to every reader like stealing candy from a baby to smash the railway across Siberia in a hundred places. The Recent word tells of the liquidation of his Chinese pastor friends and other developments. Mr. Gresse will be able to give churchmen up-to-date and first hand information on conditions of the church, Christian people and the nation. Mrs. Carl Schwan, chairman of the Commission of Missions, announces that during the serving of light refreshments the congregation will be able to meet and question Mr. and Mrs. Gresse and their four children all born in China.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY DR. KENNETH J. FOREMAN

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 21:1-22:14. DEVOTIONAL READING: Psalm 118:19-29.

No Favorites

NOBODY loves a "teacher's pet. No teacher should have one; just as no father or mother should have a "pet" child. We all feel that everybody should be treated alike. And yet, strange to say, when it comes to religion, many a person who wouldn't be a teacher's pet for anything, will believe and hope that he is one of God's pets. All of us have this wish at times. We like to feel that God won't deal with us strictly, that he will let down the rules for us a little. We like to think of ourselves as special cases, we like to feel we have the inside track, or the "pipeline to God." But it won't do. God has no special favorites.

Fatal Mistake

It is a fatal mistake to think that God is bound to look out for ME, no matter what. In the time of Jesus, the leaders of his people thought God was just bound to give them the front seats in his kingdom. For one thing, those Jewish leaders were proud of their ancestors. On their family tree were men like Abraham, Samuel, Moses, David and countless other good and noble people. The aristocrats of Jesus' time thought; Since we belong to the same family as those who have served God so well, surely God will show US special favors! But God does not grant special privileges merely on account of a family tree. There are people today who will tell you: "Yes, my people for three generations have belonged to this church. My grandfather helped to build it. My good old mother just about wore her Bible out—I could show you if I could find it around somewhere."

But Jesus did not hold out any hope that you can secure a seat by the Throne on Abraham's ticket, or your dear-old grandmother's, or any one else who happens to be high on your family tree. Then for another thing, those stuffed-shirt Pharisees thought God owed them something because of the positions they held. They had the front seats in the synagogues; every one got up when they came in. They seem to have got the idea that even God would get up when they arrived in heaven. But Jesus gave no encouragement to that notion either.

Promises "If—" Another reason why these prominent men thought they had a sort of first mortgage on the Kingdom of Heaven was that they misunderstood the promises of God. Many promises of blessings, wonderful blessings, had been made to the people of Israel by prophet after prophet. These promises are still to be read in the Old Testament. Where the chief priests and all that crowd made their mistake was at two points. One, they supposed that these were promises "no matter what," promises without conditions, without any strings attached. God would give Israel all these blessings, they reasoned; they belonged to Israel, therefore they would share the blessings.

Not at all; Jesus tells them straight out that the kingdom is to be taken away from them and given to a "nation producing the fruits of it." What nation? That promise is still good, but no nation, group or people or race or church can claim it absolutely and finally. The "kingdom," with God's highest blessings, can belong to England or Japan or the United States or Ethiopia—IF. They are offered and promised to any nation that will produce the fruits. Does ours?

Christ or Chaos Again these men were mistaken in supposing they could claim God's blessings and yet reject God's Son. The basic trouble with those big men of Jerusalem, and the people they influenced, was that they did not want Jesus. They did not want him, his ideas, his leadership; they had no notion at all of his sacrifice. Living or dying they had no use for him . . . and so they perished. Those who reject the living Grace of God have to suffer the consequences. Christ is still the test of community and nation. The people who welcome him, live by him, have enduring life. The kind of people who turn him away and try to destroy what he gave his life for, will themselves be destroyed. The epitaph of all wrecked nations could well be the same: Here lie the wretched remains of a people that had no use for God. To reject Christ is to choose chaos.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

WHEN the time comes to redecorate the "study" or your school-going offspring's bedroom, first thoughts should be given to durable, usable, comfortable furnishings and accessories. What articles in the room get the most wear? Consequently, what items deserve the most attention in your decorating plans?

CROCHETED SPREADS ARE DURABLE

The cover for the studio couch or bed receives the most stress and strain, for on it, many studying hours are spent. A crocheted spread is the answer to a prayer for serviceability—it dares anyone to wrinkle it. That's quite a challenge, for crocheted bedspreads are practically wrinkle-proof. And, when made with a sturdy crocheted cotton, they will survive many a washing and wearing. Crochet one yourself to be sure of its perfection.

FURNITURE FOR STUDYING

If there is a desk in the room which is beginning to show signs of wear, top it with a map or a montage of photographs and cover with a piece of glass cut to fit the surface area. Be sure to include a reading lamp on the desk to relieve eye strain. Should the room be lacking in book cases, construct your own out of painted wooden crates or wooden slats held in place by stacks of bright, red bricks on either end.

COLOR COORDINATION

Color plays an important part in the decor and mood of a room, and, should be chosen with much thought. Quiet colors, such as gray, green or beige, are best for a study and/or bedroom. Can you imagine trying to concentrate in a room with disquieting red walls or white surrounded by walls bearing a large, bold wallpaper pattern? Although you paint the large areas of the room a neutral shade, you can perk up the rest of the interior with a few bright splashes of color to relieve the sobriety. A gay couch cover or bedspread, for instance, would lend the right amount of dash.

SCALLOPED STRIPES IN CROCHET

The brilliant color harmony of this coverlet gives a touch of gaiety to a studious-looking room. This spread boasts rose, salmon and wine scalloped stripes on an ecru background of openwork pattern. Crochet this COLLEGIATE BEDSPREAD in a single size (73 x 105 inches) or double size (82 x 105 inches). If you would like the crocheting directions, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper and ask for Leaflet No. 2000-20.

Fishing Through Ice at Perchville

Perchville on Tawas Bay has received a large amount of fine publicity in nationally circulated magazines and many newspapers throughout the nation. The above pictures of activities at Perchville appeared in Sunday's edition of the Bay City Times. They were taken by Bert Stoll, out-door writer for Booth Publications.

Mrs. Mary Lynch, Chamber of Commerce secretary, reports that her office received 98 reservations for the coming week. However, no reservations for fish shanties are accepted. The facilities go to the first fishermen here. Users are to furnish their own equipment, bait and fuel.

Complete Upholstery Class in Laidlawville

The Laidlawville Home Demonstration Group completed a reupholstery class at the home of Mrs. William Schmalz.

A davenport was torn down to the wooden frame, new webbing applied, springs tied in eight way approved method, burlap tacked on and the Louisiana moss worked over cotton applied with feed sacks tacked on to hold in place until the upholstery material is put on. This will be a separate lesson.

Two spring units for cushions were completed and the third was saved for demonstration at our next meeting.

Mrs. Donald MacDonald and Mrs. Roy Atkinson were the leaders of the four work days, January 27, 29, February 2, and 5.

'Every Night is Party Night' at Red Shield Club

The Salvation Army Red Shield Club, located in the basement of the Oscoda Community Building, is a bee-hive of activity every night from six to eleven o'clock. Someone remarked that "every night is party night" at the club. The pool table and shuffle board that was acquired through the Edward F. Loud Memorial Fund is in constant use each evening. Our ping pong tables are in great demand, too, as this game seems to be a favorite with many of the servicemen. Some enjoy reading in a quiet corner, or playing the juke box or radio. Each evening finds a number of them writing letters home to Mom and of course, some are writing to the girl friend. There is never a dull moment in our club, said Major Nicholls. One of the great attractions is the snack bar where coffee and delicious home made cookies, cakes, sandwiches, donuts and pies are served each night free to all servicemen. We are grateful for the help and cooperation we received from the OAFB and the many organizations and individuals in Iosco county.

During the year of 1952 the following organizations and women's groups helped to serve and provide food for the snack bar:

Oscoda—Methodist W. S. C. S. American Legion Auxiliary, Order of Eastern Star, Community Service, Altar Society, N. C. O. St. John's Episcopal Women's Auxiliary.

The Tawas—Young Women's League, Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, VFW and American Legion Auxiliaries, Tawas Hospital Auxiliary, W. S. C. S. of the Methodist churches, Eagles Auxiliary, Laidlawville Home Demonstration Group, 20th Century Club, Women's Relief Corps.

Wilber Methodist W. S. C. S. Greenbush Ladies Aid.

The following organizations served during January: Oscoda American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. D. H. Ploughe, president; Order of Eastern Star, Mrs. Robert Dean, Worthy Matron; Tawas Young Women's League, Mrs. R. J. Barnett, president; Daughters of the Union Veterans of the Civil War, Mrs. C. County Agent News

By HAROLD R. CLARK

Carl Schmalz and Arthur Ropert insist they would not, in 1953, buy a new 1920 or 1930 model automobile if they could. The advantages of the late models which have improved conveniences and economy would render the purchase of an old model a comparatively poor buy. Neither would they build a 1930 model barn. Their inspection of the new pen barns at Michigan State College the other day convinced them that radical changes have been made in barn design and dairy cattle housing. They saw advantages in both cost of construction and convenience and these are two important factors in managing the farm business. Experiences, so far, seem to indicate better herd health with less mastitis. The cows certainly look more contented in their loose housing quarters.

Both young farmers want to expand their dairy business and are at a point where they remodel or build. Carl has a good substantial barn which lends itself for remodeling with loose housing and a milking parlor and milk house within the present walls. The feeding of hay can be inside and that of silage is outside. Art needs to build a new barn. The costs of building the old model conventional barn were too high. So he is going to build the new model pole barn which will cost him about one-half to two-thirds of the old type barn. His big saving will be in steel for stanchions, and drinking foundations, and insulation and a ventilating system are not required for loose housing.

Art is planning to have a community barn raising in the latter part of May.

New officers for the Iosco Tawas Artificial Breeders Association are:

President—Julius Anderson. Vice-President—Lyle Long. Secretary—Treasurer—Arthur Murray.

Other directors are: William Herriman, Howard Britt, James Sturtevant and William Olson.

Martin L. Mrook, added two more registered Hampshire ewes to his purebred sheep flock when he bought two ewes at the Michigan Sheep Breeders Association Annual Bred Ewe Sale held at Michigan State College during Farmers' Week. One of the ewes was consigned to the sale by Michigan State College and the other by Gerit Hamstra of Clare.

Ed Longnecker warns farmers to order fertilizer early. There will not be enough to go around. He says to store in dry place and don't stack over six sacks high. Fertilizer is a best buy and can earn $2.00 to $4.00 for each dollar spent.

It won't be long before the maple sap will be running. Lester Bell, Michigan State College extension forester, suggests that maple syrup producers should take an inventory of their equipment and supplies now and have ready for use the last week in February, in case of an early spring. The first flow is hard to anticipate but it is highest in sugar content and usually makes the highest quality syrup.

IMPORTANT IN THE LIFE OF A BOY

The two Grand Rapids telephone men demonstrating signaling here are typical of hundreds of telephone employees throughout Michigan Bell who give generously of their time and their talents working with Boy Scouts.

Several of these telephone men, including three in Grand Rapids, have been honored with the national Boy Scouts' Silver Beaver Award for "distinguished service to boyhood." Fellow townsmen recommended the awards.

Telephone scouts work with boys in countless ways—on camping trips, on committees, teaching first aid and artificial respiration, and on many community projects. Why do they do it? One man explained:

"A hundred years from now it will not matter what my bank account was, or what sort of house I lived in. But the world may be different because I was important in the life of a boy."

As good citizens and good neighbors, these telephone folks are trying to make their community a better place in which to live. This same spirit of service is reflected in the efficient, friendly and courteous telephone service they bring you every day.

It's people who make telephone service good

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

LURE OF THE BOBCAT While the duck hunter may easily take top honors in the fall as the most rugged of Michigan sportsmen, surely there's no argument for such laurels during the winter season. They go by unanimous vote to the bobcat hunters in both the upper and lower peninsulas!

Once a hounded animal in the state, the bobcat is now considered one of the most elusive of our "game" animals, pursued by a small and quite select group of hardy souls thru the heavy snows of Michigan's north country.

Successor To The Lynx Once upon a time the Canada Lynx and the bobcat both frequented Michigan forests. Today only the bobcat survives - and acutely thrives. A predator in many ways, the big 'cats eat rabbits, birds and have been known to attack and kill a deer. A bit shy by nature the bobcat avoids close contact with humans, staying deep in swamps during the daylight hours, traveling mile after mile cross-country at night in search of food.

Cat Hounds Well Trained For the hunter who elects to try his hand at bobcats, good hounds are essential - and scarce! They must be true to the trail, never diverted by any other track when on a 'cat, any long-winded. Many a hunt will begin just at sunrise with the discovery of fresh track at the edge of a swamp, and will end at dark with the 'cat, hounds and hunters, in that order, still weaving their way thru cover so thick that it almost excludes daylight!

Course Is Unpredictable A bobcat may tree in thirty minutes or less. Or he may end the chase hiding under a thick brush heap. Some will choose to challenge the dogs, backing up to a big stump and swinging a lethal, claw-packed punch at any hound foolish enough to step into range. Others will cross one swamp a mile or two wide in a bee line, cross a high popple ridge to another larger swamp maybe five miles square, and run exasperating circles all day long until dogs and hunters are totally bewildered, and more often than not, so far from the nearest road that it's long after dark before the vanquished stumble back to habitation, footsore and weary, outwitted by a Michigan bobcat! A day's rest for the hounds (and hunters), and they're back in the same big swamp hunting the same big 'cat with a tenacity to match that of the earliest, hardest pioneers in Michigan Outdoors!

Michigan Outdoors will return to the air on March 19th over WWJ-TV, Channel 4 with a thrilling full half-hour show from 7:00 p.m. till 7:30 p.m. DON'T MISS IT!

HDA NOTES

By DOROTHY SCOTT Home demonstration recreation chairmen are among those who have been invited to attend the Adult Recreation School at Hale on Friday. There they will not only have much fun, and learn how to better conduct recreation in their own groups, but also make acquaintances in six other counties which are sending representatives to this training school.

Whittemore Home Demonstration Group reports on installation of officers ceremony at their January meeting. Mrs. Sterling Cataline and Mrs. Reuben Edie arranged and directed it. These women added a little variety and interest at a recent meeting by having a house plant exchange.

Speaking of house plants reminds us to remind you that H. L. Chapman, Michigan State horticulturist, will be in the county for a meeting early in March. A popular speaker, Mr. Chapman has appeared on several Isosco county programs. Watch for further information.

Cabbage is market plentiful just now, and furthermore it is a good source of Vitamin C. To make greatest use of this nutritive value, we should plan to serve cabbage raw in salad and fresh relishes. These methods of serving capitalize on the vegetables appetizing crispness and flavor. As a hot vegetable, save vitamin content and time by cooking it quickly in a small amount of water.

There is no need for cabbage monotony because there are so many combinations with taste approval: shredded cabbage, orange sections and crushed pineapple, shredded cabbage with slivers of celery, carrots and raisins, or cabbage with onions sliced in thin rings, are a few suggestions.

Both Hale and Reno are requesting sewing machine workshops, and there are eight names on the Reno register. So far the list from Hale has not arrived. Then the Reno group members want to make slipcovers to be ready for brightening up a chair in their homes when spring housecleaning is done.

If there are women in other groups also interested in one of the workshops planned for this year, they should see to making up a list of their requests this month - if they want to have the workshop before summer or fall, that is.

Let us not fear fire, let us prevent it. Most of all, let us have a plan for meeting the emergency of fire. It can happen in your home!

4-H Club Notes

By MARVIN DAVENPORT Instead of the usual two delegates to the Jr. Leadership School at Higgins Lake this week, we were able to send four. The delegates representing our county were Charles Wilson of Tawas City, Aileen Ward of Whittemore, Patricia Williams of Hale and Eileen Barnes of Hale. After this training session at Higgins Lake, the delegates and the adult leaders attending the February 13 Jean Schaefer Recreation School will offer an opportunity to our county folks to attend a Recreation Clinic. We know you'll enjoy it.

Here is the way we want this column to be written - by you, our 4-H Club reporters!

The Ottawas Community Club meeting was opened by our president, Neil Abbot. In the absence of our secretary-treasurer we did not have a report. For our roll call we answered by naming our favorite sport.

Then we had reports given on projects. Hadidra was the first one. We have had a few meetings but to remind those who signed up and haven't come, we are giving them a chance to start. Second was our photography club. Jean Schaefer gave a report on it. They have only had one meeting. Third was our conservation report which was given by Charles Wilson. Charles said that there were a few kids that didn't come and better come to the next meeting. We planned our Valentine party and Don Ledworth, Karen Bergeron, Jean Schaaf, and Martin Ristow were named for the food committee.

Next we filled in our books. We didn't get all the programs in the books so will finish next meeting.

Community 4-H Club Betty Mercer, reporter.

The Sherman Township 4-H Club is holding a shadow social February 17. The meeting was held to decide about the social.

Let's have more news about our project club meetings as well as the Community Club affairs. Dates to Remember: March 9, 8:00 p. m. 4-H Club Council, Grant Town Hall. February 24, District Advisory Board meeting, special, called by the State Advisory Board.

Success is never an accident - it comes to the fellow who does his work a little better than it needs to be done.

Barbara Huber Benefit Show Very Successful

The Barbara Huber Benefit Show given February 3 was a great success financially and entertainingly. People from all over the vicinity came and gave contributions to the Huber family. The town of Hale came out with some very good talent to make up the show. Did anyone ever find out who the colored act was that played, sang and danced? Was it really the Clement family.

The well-known hillbilly singer in these parts, Danny Thayer, sang a few numbers. Also vocalizing were Wayne Allen, Mrs. Zilliox, the Hale Barbershop Quartet with Reg Caton giving a hilarious account of "It's in the Book" and the Girls Sextet letting out with some very hep songs and jitterbugging. That was only the beginning of the "clown" show. Then came the comedy basketball game! The Women Independents were dressed as men and the Men Independents as women. It was really a contest to see which could make the more fun of the other, and they did a good job of it. The very "sensible" referees were later found to be Miriam Atherton and Perry Shellenbarger. Never letting a dull moment pass were the cherry-nosed clowns Ernie Herzog and Dennis Chrivia. It was really one big, side-splitting show to the audience and the entertainers.

The Huber family was very grateful for the $525.00 donated to them by their friends and especially those who sponsored and helped to make up the affair. Now 15 year old Barbara will be able to have the much needed, delicate heart operation in Pennsylvania. We all wish her the best of luck and God be with her.

As this is being written, a total of $550.00 has been collected from this benefit to help Barbara. There are still other sources to be checked, and anyone who still desires to contribute to the fund may do so. In a letter received today, Mrs. Huber has asked God's blessings upon everyone who has been so kind in their hour of indecision and uncertainty.

THESE WOMEN!

"The job is yours, Miss Finn, but it'll take all your imagination, cunning and resourcefulness to keep it. If my wife ever sees you, you're through!"

A congressman is urging the setting aside of May 26 as National Hillbilly Day.

"Hot Flashes Stopped" or strikingly relieved in 63-80% of cases in doctors' tests • If you're miserable from the "hot flashes," and accompanying irritable, restless feelings of "change of life" you may be suffering unnecessarily! • For... in tests by doctors... Lydia Pinkham's Compound and Tablets brought relief from such functionally-caused suffering to 63% and 80% (respectively) of the women tested! Complete or striking relief!

Yes! Research has proved these medicines thoroughly modern in action... has shown you where to look for relief from those distressing, nervous, "out of sorts" feelings of mid-life "change"! So... get Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound - or new, improved Tablets with added iron! (Wonderful, too, for the functional pains of menstrual periods.) It acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve distress of those awful "heat waves"!
