Thomas Hill, well-known resident of this city and at one time sheriff of Isoco county, died at his home here Saturday afternoon, following a heart seizure. Mr. Hill was 79 years old.

In 1917 he was elected sheriff of Isoco county and served one term. He was the only democrat to serve in that office since the early 1880's.

Born in Canada, December 31, 1873, he was married to Sarah Kinsey July 3, 1893, who died in 1925. He later was married to Mrs. Mae R. Moore, who survives him.

Will Tell 'Behind Iron Curtain' Experiences

"How the Average Russian Suffers Under Communism," is the subject of a lecture which will be given by John Shirar, to the upper six grades of the Tawas City Public Schools during the morning of March 3.

Mr. Shirar has made three trips behind the Iron Curtain since the war. He is a newspaper man, a former GI, teacher, lecturer, specialist in foreign affairs and at one time writer for the Detroit Times. He speaks Russian and seven Slavic languages.

He has traveled through the 48 states as a lecturer, and visited Canada, New Guinea, Sweden, Belgium, Switzerland, Mexico, France, Italy, Finland, England, Poland and Germany.

This is Mr. Shirar's second lecture before students of the Tawas City Public Schools. During his appearance here at that time, which was 22 years ago, he danced with Miss America Bell in a Russian folk dance, a part of the program. Miss Bell, now Mrs. Mark Sedgeman, was a high school student here. Tuesday, Mr. Shirar was introduced to Mrs. Sedgeman's daughter, Marlane, who is a student in the Tawas City High School.

The public is invited to this lecture at the public school building which will start at nine o'clock in the morning.

Many Attend Elks Home Coming Game

Shirley Ferguson Crowned Queen by Mayor George Myles

The Tawas City High School Elks boosted their season win total over the past week with two victories, over Rose City, 75-50, and AuGres, 39-22. The Elk Reserves split in their contests winning from Rose City, 47-26, and losing to AuGres, 31-30.

With only three remaining games on the schedule, the Tawas City team's record stands at 14 wins and one loss. They have scored 952 points in 15 games for a 63 average. Their opponents have gained 627 points for a 43 point average. All five Tawas City starters have good scoring averages with Gary Humphrey averaging 17 points a game and Art Anschutz, 16.5.

The three remaining games before tournament play are: Friday, February 20 (tonight), East Tawas here; February 24, Mio, here; February 27, Hale, there.

Tuesday night the Elks won 39-22 at AuGres in a slow-down game by the AuGres team. About all the AuGres "stall" accomplished was keeping the score down. In the first half AuGres scored two points and the Elks, 16. Tawas City did not press them and AuGres spent the greater part of the half just playing at mid-court and under their own basket.

The second half found both teams opening up more, and Tawas scored 23 points, AuGres, 20. Gary Humphrey paced the local team in scoring with 18 points, while Hoffman led the losers with nine.

AuGres Reserves handed the Tawas City Reserves their second loss of the season in a 31-30 squeaker. Darwin Lepard was high point man with 13 markers and Roberts, with nine, led AuGres.

Before a large Home-coming crowd last Friday night the Elks defeated Rose City, 75-50. A good many "old grads" and townspeople were out to witness the game and festivities held throughout the evening.

Coronation ceremonies were held at half time with Mayor George Myles doing the honors. Participating in the coronation were her Royal Highness Shirley Ferguson; retiring queen, Arlene Rakestraw; Princesses Marlane Sedgeman and Joelynn Migrants; attendants, Billy Philpot and Tommy Ferguson, and flower girl, Pamela Keiser.

At the quarter a skit, "How Tawas Got Its Name," was presented by Chief Ottawas, Ronald Chaney, and hunter, Art Anschutz.

Our Government and Us

By John R. Rood, Recognized National Authority on the American Constitution.

MORE ON CONTROLS
The collapse of the price and wage control body, provokes another look at arbitrary controls and wage fixing. We said before that only supply and demand can control either prices or wages over any considerable period. Now suppose an arbitrary order set wages up for a certain class. What happens? Is the supply of desired goods thereby increased? Clearly not. Is the demand affected? Manifestly. Those whose wages have been raised think they can buy more and work less. They out bid those whose wages have not been raised, and who therefore are not so able to bid. The result is that the raising of the wages of some reduces the buying power of the rest.

But suppose the wages of everybody were doubled at the same time, what would happen? Would the supply of goods be affected. Manifestly. Everybody would think he could buy more and work less. Less goods would be produced. More would be demanded. Everybody would have a proportionate raise. Prices would be MORE than doubled. Everybody would be WORSE off. Less goods would be available.

But let us suppose that only the special class got the raise. Soon those whose wages were not raised would be quitting their jobs to get the big wages; just as the farmers have been quitting their jobs to get the city wages. Eventually most of them come back worse off than ever, despite the big wages. They can be shut out of a sacred circle by a closed union; but a closed union costs money, which the members of the union must pay. Means while, the public has less with which to buy the product of the union members, and old man ingenuity starts putting a substitute product on the market to compete with the product of the union members.

Illustrations are the oil burners introduced to compete with the union miners' product, coal, and the railroad installed diesel engines to displace the coal burning locomotives and the coal they used to burn. The factories threw out their power plants, and put in electric motors twice as efficient as the old power plants requiring less than half the coal and destroying the jobs of the men who fired those plants, and the men who drew the coal to them.

Meanwhile scarcity of farmers, has doubled the cost to the union members of the butter, milk and other food the union members have to buy to live. And so it goes around the circle. When the dust has settled the hand-spiking schemes and attendant costs have left everybody worse off than they ever were before.

The pep talk given to the wage earners to induce them to accept the union, pay dues, and strike, is that the strike is against the employer; and there is no denying that it hits him plenty. But the first fellow hit by the strike is the striker himself. And the main cost has to be paid by the general public in upset business, scarce and more-costly supplies. In the end all strikes are mostly against and paid for by the general public, by higher prices scarce supply, welfare payments to those out of work, etc.

SCRIPTURE: Matthew 22:15-46. READING: 11 Corinthians 2:14-21.

On February 22 we celebrate the birthday of a man who (it is said) claimed he could not tell a lie. That is an exaggeration. Almost any man can tell a lie if he tries hard enough. But even if this were such a wonderful world that literally nobody could tell a lie, it might still not be the ideal world. For what is most important and is not choking back the falsehoods anybody, tell the truth. And it is even harder to tell the truth and tell it right, than to keep from lying. Truth can be told in a dull way so that no one listens to it. If truth is worth telling it ought to be pointed,—and when we say "pointed" we mean that three ways.

Pointed At—
For one thing, truth may as well not be told at all if it is not pointed at somebody. There's no use telling your deaf old grandmother about the circus; she's not going. There is no use telling a small baby to keep his face clean. There's no use giving a lecture on space-heating to an audience of Hottentots; they're not enough already. You're talking to the wrong people.

Truth ought to be fitted for, and pointed toward, the people who need it. The Master-Teacher himself showed how this is done. Much of Jesus' most vital teaching was directed to what we would call "hecklers." Sometimes their questions were meant to trip him up (like the three recorded in Matthew 22). Sometimes they were asked from mere curiosity, sometimes they were desperate gropings for light. But whatever the motive, Jesus always gave them answers—plus. He would take advantage of the moment to push in a pointed truth. If only preachers and Sunday School teachers—politicians too—would spend more time answering the questions people do ask instead of questions they don't ask!

Sharp Enough To Stick
There is another sense in which truth, to be effective must be pointed. It has to be the opposite of dull. Now there are situations where truth can be dull, and welcome. If you are looking up in the encyclopaedia the population of North Dakota, or trying to find out what niacin is, you don't want to be amused, startled or entertained. You just want plain fact, plainly stated. Professors and other studious people are trained to absorb truth no matter how dull it is presented. It's a poor student who can't learn as much from a dry professor as from a witty one.

But most human situations are not in classrooms. Truth that is not dry, ought not to sound dry. Truth that's worth remembering ought to be told in such a way that it can't be forgotten. Again, our Lord's teaching was of this sort. He never told a dull truth, and he never told his bright truth in a dull way. His sayings are all pointed; They have a way of sticking in the mind. What he says flashes in the eye like sunlight on steel. There was no one around taking notes when Jesus spoke. His sayings are remembered, not because somebody had a good notebook but because what He said, stuck.

"To The Point"
What do we mean by a point-less joke or a pointless remark? We mean, of course, that the thing was not worth saying, however true it may have been. We want people to speak to the point. If we are going to listen to them we want them to be saying something that is worth saying, something we'll be worse off for not knowing. Now again Jesus' teaching was pointed truth in this sense. It was relevant truth. It was truth dealing with specific situations. He came "down to brass tacks" as we say. His teachings did not float away up in the clouds, they came down to earth and walked there. They had to do with people's real problems. And what we shall find out, if we study Jesus' teachings faithfully, is they deal with our problems today, too. The problems of the demands—sometimes seeming to conflict—of church and state, of country and conscience; the problems of death and of the life beyond; the problem of how best to serve and obey God; these concerned the men of ancient Judea. They concern us no less. Jesus' words are just as pointed today as they were nineteen centuries ago.

Prefer American Jail To Russian Utopia
 Communist leaders recently convicted in New York preferred going to jail in the United States to being sent back to Russia, reveals the true state of thought among all Communists.
 They claim that Communism is a great idea, that it is the ideal state of society, that everyone will be happy and emancipated, yet they would rather go to jail here than go where it is in operation.

By DOROTHY SCOTT

Textile painting as taught by Mrs. Frank Abbinante for Hale Home Demonstration Group on February 11, proved so interesting the women want to plan for another evening together to work on it. A silk headscarf and luncheon set are two items which were started on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Charles Attwell, group reporter, tells us their meeting was opened with the women's extension creed. Business included a report of the health committee about the blood-typing program for adults and children over age 14, discussions about bake and rummage sales and card parties.

The secretary reported $1.17 in the fund for a group trip, perhaps to the Holland Tulip Festival or the Dow Gardens.

Two visitors were welcomed, Mesdames Harold Funk and Walter Holzheuer. Mrs. Holzheuer will be a group member beginning this month.

Of the original Valentine verses written for the roll call, the one by Mrs. Melvin Dorsey won favor with all.

"I just can't write anything worthwhile 'Cause writing just isn't my style. But I'm at your beck and call Home Demonstration members, one and all. Be My Valentine."

Present were Mesdames Orville Lyke, Amos Hendrickson, George Bissonette, Frank Abbinante, Melvin Dorsey, Roderick Heilman, David Runyan, Stanley Schellenberger, Charles Attwell, Lu Hatfield and Neva Caton.

Tawas City group members, too, have plans for additional workshop meetings to do textile painting. We're sure they will tell us more about them soon.

Yes, dry cleaning is a "must" for most clothing, but washing is practical and even preferable for many knit wool garments, light weight flannels, and challis. First check the labels on these garments or yard-goods you buy.

Research experiments show that for best conservation of wool which is washed an unbleached detergent should be used. Unbleached detergents are the kind manufacturers put out for washing fine fabrics, and though they may not be quite so efficient at removing soil they are less harmful to the fiber than other types and will do a satisfactory cleaning job if the wool has not become grimy.

Wash gently in lukewarm suds with the least amount of agitation possible, preferably a soak-wash of not longer than ten minutes. Rinse quickly but gently and dry carefully at room temperature.

For the family on the move and the newly marrieds, furniture is more than just a word.

Inexpensive, easy to store, easy to move and dual-purpose are the requirements in the minds of these people.

Have you heard about the bookshelves made of boards and bricks? You can do many things with a few easily portable boards and bricks, make bookshelves, ledges, telephone stands and even storage space.

Which need is yours? Measure off sizes to meet that need and the space you have, then order boards of the needed lengths. The lumber may be sanded and painted, or given a natural finish and wax to show the grain of the wood. Couples who work have little time for housekeeping, and they like to paint the boards gray so they do not show the dust.

Cottage cheese is a bargain because of its high food value, but right now it is a double bargain because supplies are heavy and retail prices reasonable.

Cottage cheese finds favor with homemakers because of its milk flavor and the variety it adds to the menu. Cottage cheese combines well with vegetables, fruit or egg dishes to add needed protein and minerals for a substantial meal.

Good quality cottage cheese is firm, with a rather creamy consistency, the color is creamy white. Kept refrigerated in a tightly covered dish, this cheese remains moist for a reasonable time. At room temperature it develops off flavors and odors.

Health Council Sets Date for Blood-Type Plan

The Health Council, a service organization serving Isco and surrounding counties and contributed to by 13 different community organizations is moving forward in its plan to blood-type any individual who wishes it on March 26. The blood-typing will be done by a technician from Tolfree Memorial Hospital, West Branch.

Fr. Castenier Speaks at St. Joseph P-T-O Meeting

The St. Joseph's Parent-Teachers Organization met at the school Tuesday evening, February 10. President C. Busch introduced Father Castenier of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, who reminded members that the parents attendance at P. T. O. meetings means a lot to the children and is a good way to show your child you are interested in what he is doing.

Mrs. Tuttle asked if the organization would sponsor the refreshments for one of the youth canteen dances that are sponsored by the Young Women's League. Members agreed.

Entertainment in the form of a panel discussion was presented by Arlene Wells, chairman, Dorothy Woizeschke, Helen Klinger, Janet Lansky and Virginia Haglund. Their subject was "Good and Bad Literature." The panel pointed out that literature is an expression of life, in truth and beauty; however, there are many obscene and crime publications on the open market that are bought by teenagers which have proved to have a regrettable influence on our youth.

All Farmers and Their Families Invited

If there is one key Buster Keaton owns, it's the key to an audience's sense of humor. This is a scene from "Paradise for Buster," John Deere Day feature picture.

Fred Holzheuer, local John Deere dealer, has announced WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 25 as the date for this year's John Deere Day program. Free to farmers and their families, the program will be held at the COMMUNITY BUILDING, Hale and is scheduled to begin at 10:30 A. M.

The feature picture, "Paradise for Buster," is a comedy and stars Buster Keaton, popular clown of stage and screen. The story is that of a small bookkeeper in a large firm who suddenly comes to the notice of the firm's head in a most uncomplimentary manner. His rare knack for getting in trouble dogs Buster in and out of every scene and furnishes some exciting moments for him and his audience.

Other films included on the program are "Tom Gordon Goes Modern," the story of the new John Deere Models "50" and "60" Tractors; "Costly Bargains," a picture showing how the quality of John Deere parts is maintained; "Oddities in Farming," consisting of scenes of rare farming practices; and "What's New for 1953," unveiling the complete lineup of John Deere equipment for the coming year, showing this equipment at work in the field and demonstrating briefly all outstanding features.

Wide Travelers

To a trapper an otter represents a valuable and highly prized pel—and a real trapping achievement, for the otter is an extremely wary and intelligent animal. To the hunter an otter is a rare sight indeed. While he may come upon the animal while hunting upland game along a river bank, the sportsman's chance of watching the otter for more than a fleeting moment is one in a thousand. To the wildlife photographer, the picture of a family of otter playing in the water, or enjoying a slide down a steep river bank is a long-cherished dream—and one which rarely materializes.

Other Native to Michigan

The fact that few people ever see an otter in the wild does not mean the animal is nearing extinction in Michigan. Its population is still probably just about as high as ever, for this interesting mammal has few enemies other than man—and man's trapping activities have a very slight effect on population figures. Biologists say that no known North American animal found in other territory is capable of killing them in the water, from which they rarely stray but a few yards. When surprised they are fierce and dangerous fighters, and in England where otter-hunting with dogs is an ancient sport, many a valued hound has been killed in the fight to the finish which is often a result of a meeting.

Restless and always active, winter and summer, the otter rarely stays in one place for any length of time. Trappers say the animals have average "beat" of 20 miles or more, making the rounds of their territory about every two weeks. Normally this otter is along a stream or river, where fish are always available—a food which is on the otter menu practically every meal! While some fishermen and woodsmen say they have actually watched otter chase and overtake trout under water, it is more common to find the animal eating slower-swimming rough fish such as suckers and carp.

Most Playful Animal

With an intelligence far ahead of most other Michigan mammals, otter constantly invent new playthings, and build suitable playgrounds. As jugglers they are second only to the seal. And as tobogganists (with a "built-in" toboggan) they have no peer! In snow, ice and mud, they construct slides from the tops of the steepest riverbanks, straight down into a deep pool. Whole families will play for hours, and it is the ambition of this writer to film such an episode here in Michigan. If any readers discover such an otter "playground," a note to me in care of this paper will bring immediate action, and with your help we'll try to bring this highlight of Michigan Outdoors to thousands of fellow sportsmen via the modern miracle of television.

Michigan Outdoors will return to the air on March 19th over WWJ-TV, Channel 4 with a thrilling full half-hour show from 7:00 p. m. till 7:30 p. m. DON'T MISS IT!

4-H Club Notes

By MARVIN DAVENPORT

And was it fun? Ask Charles Wilson, Eliert Barnes, Patricia Williams or Aileen Ward. The Jr. Leadership School at Higgins Lake gave them all kinds of material and ideas for their 4-H Clubs back home.

Arden Peterson, Michigan State College recreation specialist, certainly did a fine job of teaching the 45 Jr. Leaders how to teach games, songs and folk dances. That along with the wonderful meals and those "sleeping sacks" made this one of the best Jr. Leadership Schools ever. The crowning climax was the fact that this was the first such event that no discipline action of any minor consequence was necessary. The young men and women sent had grown out of the stage of pillow fights and paper wad antics. We were very proud of our delegates.

We were sorry to have had to cancel the Awards Party, but the weather just wasn't in our favor. Monday, March 16, has been set aside and we do hope the "Ideas of March" aren't upon us.

enjoy many things they have in store, and incidentally Mrs. Donatti, we are going to steal your "4-H Open House." That is an excellent idea!

When Mrs. Charles Mercer was in the office the other day, I failed to give her some of the clothing judging suggestions for her girls. Any of our other clothing leaders who may want such information, drop me a postcard. Some were given out at the Leaders meeting and still more by mail.

WHEN WILL MEAT PRICES BE SATISFACTORY

It seems only a short time ago when the government farm program required the destruction of pigs and cattle to sustain or increase the market price of meat.

This week we find the state buyer of food for Michigan institutions elated because he was able to purchase 12 carloads of New Zealand beef at 18 cents a pound. Domestic beef would have cost 25 cents per pound. He says he saved Michigan taxpayers $21,000.00.

Just what is going to be a satisfactory price for meat?

The record was supervised by the Michigan State College and was reported to The American Guernsey Cattle Club, Peterborough, New Hampshire, for approval and publication.
