Serves D. & M. 42 Years; To be Honored With Banquet

Carl R. Henry, attorney for the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company for the past 42 years, will be honored by his associates and officers of the railway company with a banquet Wednesday evening for his long service. The event will be held at Groves Tavern, Alpena.

Mr. Henry became associated with the Detroit and Mackinac through his father, Charles R. Henry, who became affiliated with the railroad in 1900. Carl R. Henry entered the service of the Detroit and Mackinac in 1911. On the occasion of his recent retirement from services for the railroad, a reporter for the "D. & M. Times" visited Mr. Henry. During the interview, he gave many interesting facts in the history of the railroad, and reminisced about the many legal problems which had confronted the company during the long period in which he had been in the legal department.

"I might tell you that over the years there have been hundreds of matters of litigation," stated Mr. Henry. "Some extremely interesting, which have passed through my father's and my hands, and we have had between 45 and 50 cases which have gone to the Supreme Court. The types of litigation have been extremely varied. At the time I went into my father's office, the Metz fire cases were being wound up. These cases resulted from the death of 13 persons who were in the relief train being brought out of the burning village of Metz on that fateful day of October 15, 1908, which train caught fire while endeavoring to pull to safety. Of course law suits were brought against the D. & M. Before these cases, my father had handled the law suits resulting from the Black River passenger train wreck in 1901.

"My first legal work for the D. & M. was the 'Linwood Drowning Cases' covering the drowning of four young students from the Pincorning High School, who had rented a boat at Linwood Beach, then operated by the D. & M. as a resort. Contending lawyers claimed that the boat which they rented was not in a safe condition as its air compartment came out, resulting in the four deaths by drowning. I spent weeks on that case getting facts together. Then came drain cases, one of which being the 'Budd Drain Case' where it was sought to have the railroad pay the entire construction costs of this drain, which was located near the White Feather in Arenac county; the Sioux City Seed Company Case, covering the closing of Saginaw Street in order to build our new Alpena depot, and what was called the 'Open Shipper's Case,' which covered years of litigation as to the freight rates which should be charged on logs brought into and shipped out of Alpena.

"Of course, personal injury suits took much of my time, and there were many, many of them. In the early days there were a large number of employee's accident cases, which, of course, was before Workmen's Compensation Act had come into being, and the injured workmen would sue in State Courts. I have defended personal injury cases in every county on the D. & M., including many at Standish as that was a fertile jury field.

"Following the big ice storm in 1922, we had considerable litigation with the Western Union Telegraph Company covering the pole lines. Then there were the frozen potato cases, where we were sued but got out of it because freezing was an Act of God and resulted through no negligence on the part of the railroad company. Another rather interesting case concerned the burning of the Union Ice Company plant which was located north of Bay City between North Bay City and Linwood, it being claimed that the fire started from a spark from one of our locomotives. Ice at that time was a very important item of freight traffic.

"Business from all departments of the D. & M. has passed through my office, from the Audit Office, corporation work, tax matters handled for 35 years, the State Tax Commission, legal matters from the Traffic Department, Claim Department, Engineering Department, concerning titles, deeds, etc., and all departments, to say nothing of the general manager's office."

A Flame In Chains
Lesson for May 10, 1953

YOU can keep a dog on a leash but not a flame. Passing a hand-cuff over a fire is no way to keep it where you want it. Now the man Paul was more like a flame than most men are. Some men are like lumps of clay. They stay where they are put and they never give trouble—and never amount to anything. Others are like fire. They have a life of their own, they can be terribly dangerous or wonderfully helpful. Paul was like this; he had been a kind of devil when he was persecuting good Christians. Now he was a missionary, an extremely successful one; but still a man of fire. He had got into trouble with the authorities; had been through a series of trials; had appealed to the Imperial court, highest in the Empire; and had been sent as a prisoner to Rome. For at least two years (some say for the rest of his life) he never was a free man in Rome. And still all the time he was preaching, testifying, just winning friends for Jesus. You can't chain a living flame.

Dr. Foreman

Strange Answers
The story of Paul and how he got to Rome has at least three messages for us today. One is this: God sometimes answers our prayers in strange ways. As we know from Paul's letters, he had had a visit to Rome in mind for a long time (Romans 15:23). It was the capital of the great Empire; the church founded there was destined to have great influence. Paul sent the Christians there the most careful and complete letter he ever wrote. God answered Paul's prayers and hopes, and so Paul in time reached Rome; but not at all as he had hoped. He was a prisoner; the outcome of his trial in Rome was uncertain; and if he lost his case it meant death. You would have thought Paul's mind would have been shadowed by foreboding; but it was not. He realized that his prayers had been answered, and he did not grumble that they had not been answered as he might have expected. So when we think our prayers have not even been heard, we might look around us; perhaps they are already answered in some way altogether a surprise.

No Prison for the Word
Tradition says that Paul was acquitted at his Roman trial but was arrested again some years later. At any rate, from a Roman prison he wrote his young friend Timothy (as Moffatt translates it) "there is no prison for the Word of God" (II Tim. 2:9). That is the second message from Paul's experiences as a prisoner. Men can be imprisoned, tortured, killed; but the Word of God goes on and on. If the Christian religion had been no more than a set of notions, it would have died a natural death centuries ago. That Christianity has lived, is one of the evidences that it is true. It is a comfort to remember this today. People get discouraged about the church in China, in Poland, in Hungary and Bulgaria and Russia. It is certainly a fact that Christians have a hard time in those places; but it is also a fact that there are Christians there and some of them will not give up their faith.

Nothing Need Shut Our Mouths
When Martin Niemöller was a prisoner, absolutely not allowed to walk in the yard even, nor to associate with other prisoners, because as a Christian minister he had dared to say "No!" to Hitler, he used to sit at his cell window which was near the yard, and listen to the men as they went by. One of these used to repeat a verse of Scripture aloud every day and Niemöller would hear it and take it as a message from his friends, and from God. There is another story about a Japanese guard in charge of American prisoners, some of whom sang Christian hymns. He knew one English word: Jesus. Whispering this name, he used to bring the men medicines and things they needed even at risk to his own life. If it is impossible for a prisoner or for a guard in a war-prison, surely the most unlikely of all places, to let himself be known as a Christian, is it likely that anything need shut our mouths? To speak a good word for Jesus is not always easy; but it is never impossible.

Elks Continue Winners

Defeat AuGres High In 7-0 Shutout

The Tawas City Elks continued in the win column this week, extending their winning streak to four straight games by virtue of their 7 to 0 shutout over AuGres Tuesday. Sparked by the two-hit pitching of Revord and an 11 hit attack by his mates, Tawas City left little in doubt of the outcome of the game after the first inning when they pushed four runs over the plate. Tawas City's 11 hit attack was paced by Revord, who picked up three hits in three trips to the plate. Humphrey, who is hitting the ball at a 500 percentage clip, had two hits while DeLosh added another two hits.

Tawas City scored in the first inning on a single by Davis. Gackstetter drew a free ticket to first on a walk. Anschuetz was safe on an error by second baseman, Hoffman, loading the sacks. Three consecutive doubles by Humphrey, Rapp and DeLosh scored four runs.

In the second frame Tawas City scored one run on singles by Revord and Gackstetter.

In the fifth Anschuetz reached first on an error, advanced to third on Humphrey's single and then stole home before the AuGres pitcher could deliver the ball to the plate.

The final run of the game came in the sixth inning when DeLosh doubled and Revord drove him home with his straight hit.

HDA NOTES

By DOROTHY SCOTT

"Oven and Broiler Meals" was the topic for the leader-training meeting held at the home of Mrs. Marvin Davenport last week. Discussion reveals that some women do use their broilers, at least for cooking meats, but others have not been using this method of cooking, mostly because they do not have confidence to do so.

After the demonstration broiler meal and good "tastes" that follow, we are quite certain that home demonstration families throughout the county who have a range with a broiler will be experimenting with this new way to fix foods differently. The families will relish the results, too.

A bit later on these families will likely try out new ideas for complete meals cooked in the oven. This lesson is long enough to divide into two parts for the group meetings, which are of a shorter time than the leader-training school.

For special pointers on broiler and oven cookery, make it a must to talk with those attending the schol. Present were Mesdames Frank Abbinante, Donald Stills, O. J. Westcott, Marvin Davenport, Donald MacDonald, Edward Robinson, Neil Ranger and Helen Schmalz.

Last week I visited the Carl Libka's home where they are remodeling their kitchen. They are using ideas in their kitchen plans recommended by Michigan State College and USDA housing specialists—half shelves for more cupboard storage space, vertical storage for certain kinds of baking equipment, compartments for silver cutlery, and baking aids, and work heights to suit the homemaker.

Much the same kind of thinking and figuring has gone into the remodeled kitchen plans being translated from a paper version to the construction of cupboards at the Victor Herriman's. Mr. Herriman is doing the work. Mrs. Herriman and I took turns washing dishes one day to be sure about the height planned for her new sink and counter before it was too late to make an adjustment.

It really does make a difference about these heights. What is right for the woman five feet tall will not be right for another who measures five and a half feet.

The Reno community women who have been doing upholstery and making slip covers during the past month have much for which to be proud—good looking, good sitting, new chairs, a better appreciation of furniture selection and prices, some "know how" which they can use to improve other pieces of furniture, and, in addition—sore fingers, but they don't mind that.

We extension agents certainly have been pleased with the interest and cooperation shown by this group of women. They worked hard and long, and were determined to do each part of the process so that it would turn out just right. Those of you who will see the results of their project at the Guest Day event will agree that they have accomplished their goal.

Mrs. Will Waters reconditioned a spring unit cushion and chair seat, after which she made a slip cover for her chair. Mrs. George Waters has made a more comfortable and more attractive day bed by reconditioning the cushion and slipcovering the entire piece.

The slipcover made by Mrs. Howard Mott will look almost like an upholstery job, it fits so well.

Chairs belonging to Mrs. James Mielock, Mrs. James Sturtevant and Mrs. Arthur Aulerich were torn completely down and rebuilt, the outer covering was put on to stay, which means they're upholstering jobs. The chairs had similarities but also had different problems which were solved bit by bit as the work progressed.

Thompson-Brunet Rites Read Last Saturday

A lovely wedding took place at St. Joseph's Catholic Church last Saturday morning when Miss Mary Denise Brunet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brunet of East Tawas, became the bride of Milo Earl Thompson, son of Mrs. Druscilla Thompson of Midland. Rev. Fr. Robert Neuman performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with yellow and white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace and net. Her illusion veil was secured with a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with baby pink rose buds and white hyacinths with streamers of ivy and white satin ribbons.

The bride's sister, Miss Jean Brunet of East Tawas, acted as matron of honor. Her gown was of yellow net and lace styled similarly to the brides. Her headdress was fashioned of yellow daffodils.

Mrs. Harry Wood of Sanford, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid. She wore a gown of Nile green net and lace with a headdress of yellow daffodils and carried a bouquet of daffodils.

The best man was Delbert Curley of Oscoda and serving as ushers were Harry Wood of Sanford and Thomas Hopp of Detroit.

The bride's mother wore a gown of pearl gray nylon with pink and black accessories and a corsage of pink gladioli and white hyacinths.

Mrs. Thompson chose a navy blue gown with red accessories and her corsage was of red and white carnations.

After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the home of the brides parents for the relatives and bridal party. A reception was held at three o'clock at the Brunet home for friends and relatives. The brides table was decorated with a centerpiece of white snapdragons and hyacinths and the traditional tiered wedding cake.

The couple left on a wedding trip to Canada for a week when Rocker chairs were reconditioned, refinished and reupholstered by Mrs. Earl Daugharty and Mrs. Charles Harsh. Mrs. Harsh has refinished her oak wood with a penetrating seal. Preparation for that took a lot of sanding and Mr. Harsh was on hand to help her get it down more easily and quickly.

Other husbands who lent a hand with the tack hammer were Arthur Aulerich, James Sturtevant and James Mielock. Howard Mott joined in, too. We were glad to have their help and interest.

Everyone appreciated the extra help they shared from Mrs. Harold Black, who came each day to help whoever needed it. Mrs. Alden Pagel and Mrs. Carl Wrigglesworth also came to help out part of the time.

GOVERNOR'S CONFERENCE INAUGURATED

The first annual Governor's Tourist and Resort Conference in Lansing proved itself a springboard for a lot of new thinking on outdoor problems. Our natural resources were put under a kind of microscope for study, carefully appraised, then considered in the light of long range planning.

Dr. Justin W. Leonard, Research Chief of our Conservation Department, explained the "new look" at wildlife management—an approach that has been widely discussed and discussed by sportsmen everywhere in Michigan.

By most of our old standards when a species of fish or game began to disappear there was only one logical move: The State must restock in a hurry. This called for game farms and fish hatcheries operating full blast at a cost that put a terrific price tag on every planted fish or game bird brought home as a trophy of the chase. Pheasants were worth about $3.50 each . . . legal sized trout in the creel about $1.20 per. It was costing the sportsmen and taxpayer a lot of money—some of it still on the books.

Science Steps In
But gradually more and more straight thinking is taking place among the sportsmen of Michigan who are finally beginning to believe the research biologists. They've been telling us for the last ten years that money used for stocking and planting would be far better spent in habitat improvement.

They've been preaching that a given amount of land or water endowed with definite food and cover limitations can harbor just so much fish or game and no more. And more often than not the encroachments of civilization are doing more harm than good to game and fish living quarters. So the combination of more fishermen and hunters plus the degeneration of habitat has resulted in a steady reduction of the "take" per customer.

Will planting or restocking help in such a case? Definitely not, say the experts, except on a "put and take" basis. By that they mean plant today and kill tomorrow by rod or gun before natural limitations step in and kill the fish or game by starvation.

Trout Planting Persists
About a million legal-sized trout are planted each year for "put and take" purposes. Most of them are caught in a hurry. It costs plenty—and our research experts say this money, too, would be far better spent in stream improvement, enabling more wild trout to live and to reproduce naturally. There are hundreds of miles of trout streams in Michigan in dire need of improvement. Here's hoping the day will come—and soon—when the cost of planting trout will be diverted to the cost of opening up long miles of new trout fishing spread over a lot more area in Michigan Outdoors!

International Announces Truck Price Reductions

Gordon Everett of the Ottawa Equipment Company, local International motor truck dealer, has just returned from a meeting at the International Harvester Company's Saginaw district offices at which the company announced a substantial reduction in the retail prices of its new R-Line light, medium and light-heavy duty truck models.

The price reductions, according to Everett, cover the company's R-110, 120, 130, 150, 160, 170 and 180 model series, ranging from its smallest pickup trucks through those of the 19,500 pound rated capacity.

The downward price adjustments range from 3.5% on the R-180 series to 10.6% on the R-120 pickup models. They range from a minimum of $87.00 to a maximum of $152.00 on former list prices. The overall price reduction in these weight categories amounts to about 6.7 percent.

In a statement accompanying the price reduction announcement, John L. McCaffrey, the company's president, said:

"Since the end of World War II we have centered an increasing share of our engineering and production efforts on the job of building the kind of high performance, high-efficiency vehicles which this market demands. We have been increasing our share of participation in the light through light-heavy duty truck markets in 1953, but we still want more."

"In appraising our truck manufacturing operations for the remainder of this year, and even farther into the future, our considerations led us to the natural economic advantages for our customers and our truck plant employees to be gained from possible price reductions in those categories of trucks. We decided to take the bold step of planning increased production at our Springfield, Ohio, plant and other Harvester plants, where these lighter trucks and components are built."

"This will have the beneficial effect of helping our customers with a better price on a better quality truck and our employees with better employment opportunities."

McCaffrey pointed out that Harvester had long been the nation's number one producer of heavy duty motor trucks. Harvester presently ranks third in the sale of all categories of motor trucks in the United States.

4-H CLUB NOTES

By MARVIN DAVENPORT

District Agent
Miss Scott and I attended the Alabaster Rowers 4-H Club Open House and were simply amazed at the accomplishments of the 4-H Club members, leaders, parents and their friends. To Mrs. Ruth Donatti and Mrs. Donald Grear, we must say you have contributed much to our thinking in the division of community leader responsibilities. Your young folks show the result of planning and training.

The results of project work was demonstrated by Pete Bolen and Jack Fuerst of "Tiny" Wagner's Radio Club. Judy Brown, Carolyn Rose and Ruth Ellen Donatti showed us through their demonstrations what they have learned in 4-H Club work. When it comes to talent numbers, the Alabaster group has something of which to be very proud. The entire club sang songs and they were really good. Talent acts were presented by Darlene Dinard, accordionist, Andrew Duquette sang "The Stars Spangled Banner," a flute duet by Lois Vane and Judy Brown, and an accordion solo by Ronald McCormick.

Following its regular meeting the Burleigh Wizards held Open House with each member participating in the program. After the singing of the club song, the band members, under the direction of Mr. Smith, played "Over the Waves." Mickey Chipps recited the 4-H Club pledge, DeLores Runyan played a piano solo and Marvin Davenport tap danced accompanied by Marie Chipps at the piano. Paul Edie and Ernest Provoast presented a short skit on extension. Kathleen Provoast gave a demonstration on the dress she made and gave the 4-H Creed. A poem was recited by Harold Provoast.

A lunch was served and a movie on health was shown by Mr. Davenport. Miss Scott pointed out things which the girls could do to improve their garments.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

By Frances Dell

If your house is beginning to look old, shabby and drab, it is time to paint it. Whether or not you give it a full basement-to-roof job or just touch-up work, you will find you can give your home a complete new personality.

Knowing what paint and equipment to buy is half the battle. The first, and most important step is preparation of the surface to take and hold the paint. For this you will need rough sandpaper, steel wool, or a wire brush or a scraper. You'll want ladders and cross planking for the upper reaches of the house.

In addition to the paint you will need extra cans for mixing, paddles for stirring, strainers for removing lumps and cloths for wiping up spatters. If possible, have some dry cloths for protecting your shrubbery and porch roof.

Buy only good brushes. A four and one-half to five inches across is best for painting large areas. A sash brush is needed for narrow strips and a brush one and one-half to two inches wide is best for the trim.

You will need some paint thinner to clean your brushes and some linseed oil to break them in. Surfaces to be painted must be absolutely dry.

Check to see if any wood replacements are needed under the eaves, around window heads and sills on posts or steps, etc.

Preliminary Returns In Iosco Cancer Study

Preliminary returns in a study to learn there is a connection between smoking and lung cancer show that only about 24 percent of the men questioned in Iosco county have never smoked.

In Iosco county 203 men were questioned and are being followed during the course of the project. This represents 17.7 percent of the male population in the 50-69 year age bracket in this area.

The study so far has shown the ratio of smokers to non-smokers and the types and amount of smoking, but it is too early yet to determine whether or not any significant relationship exists between smoking and lung cancer.

The data for Iosco county show that 60 percent of the men smoke and another 16 percent smoke cigars. The remaining 24 percent are listed as never having smoked.

Cigarette smokers are in the majority compared with pipe and cigar smokers. In Iosco county, 36 percent of the men smoke cigars, 31 percent smoke pipes and 33 percent are pipe smokers. The total exceeds 60 percent because some men smoke more than one form of tobacco.

The study is being conducted by 27,000 volunteer researchers in the nine states of New York, Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Ohio and California.

If you have not already contributed to the Cancer Drive we urge you to do so promptly. The response from all groups has been gratifying. Your committee is vitally interested in as wide spread coverage as possible to make up our quota.

Industries in the county are contributing 100 percent.

You can remit directly to Mrs. Edward Rolls at Tawas City or Nathan Barkman in East Tawas and your district will be credited with same.

PLEASE GIVE NOW to assist in the fight against this dread disease.

Garden Club Holds Exchange Day

Exchange Day was observed at the Tawas City Garden Club meeting Tuesday afternoon. Members brought bulbs, plants, slips and shrubs to exchange with other members.

May baskets or flowers were distributed to 32 shut-ins in the city. This has become an annual feature of the Garden Club in remembering the shut-ins at this time of year.

The new president, Mrs. O. J. Westcott, appointed her standing committees for the year, with the following chairmen:

Mrs. Walter Schumacher, publicity; Mrs. Harry Goodale, telephone; Mrs. Paul Koepke, special committee; Mrs. Charles Quick, cemetery; Mrs. Lewis Braden, sunshine; and Mrs. George Myles, civic.

A letter to the club from Mrs. Chester B. Moore from Farmland, Indiana, was read. Mrs. Moore, the former Ferne Rollin, gave an interesting account of her garden.
