Pilot Model Cruiser Now Under Construction by Tawas Boat Builder

"We hope to get local citizens more boat minded—to take advantage of beautiful Tawas Bay and Lake Huron which is so close at hand," stated Gordon Clute, local boat builder and sheet metal fabrication shop owner, this week. "The new facilities constructed this fall providing docking space will help us to do just that," he said.

Nearing completion at his plant near the Tawas River mouth, Clute's new 22½ foot cabin cruiser has all the appearance of being a very seaworthy craft and one which should provide pleasure for any family.

The all-steel cruiser is a pilot model which the Tawas boat builder hopes to put into production this winter. He stated Tuesday that if present production plans proved to be successful and the public accepts the craft, his shop could build one model a week.

"This 'mass' production would put the price of such a craft within the reach of the average citizen's 'pocketbook,'" stated Clute.

The pilot model will be equipped with either a 90 or a 100 horsepower Chrysler marine engine. The 90 is capable of a cruising speed of around 18 to 20 miles per hour while the 100 will travel at approximately 20 to 22 miles per hour.

The cruiser features a flying bridge, which can be seen in the accompanying photo. The cabin will sleep two persons and will be equipped with a galley. The total weight of the completed craft will be 3,500 pounds.

If the prospectively boat buyer wishes, he can paint the craft himself or build his own galley, bunks and install the trim, Clute said. This "do-it-yourself" plan would result in a substantial savings.

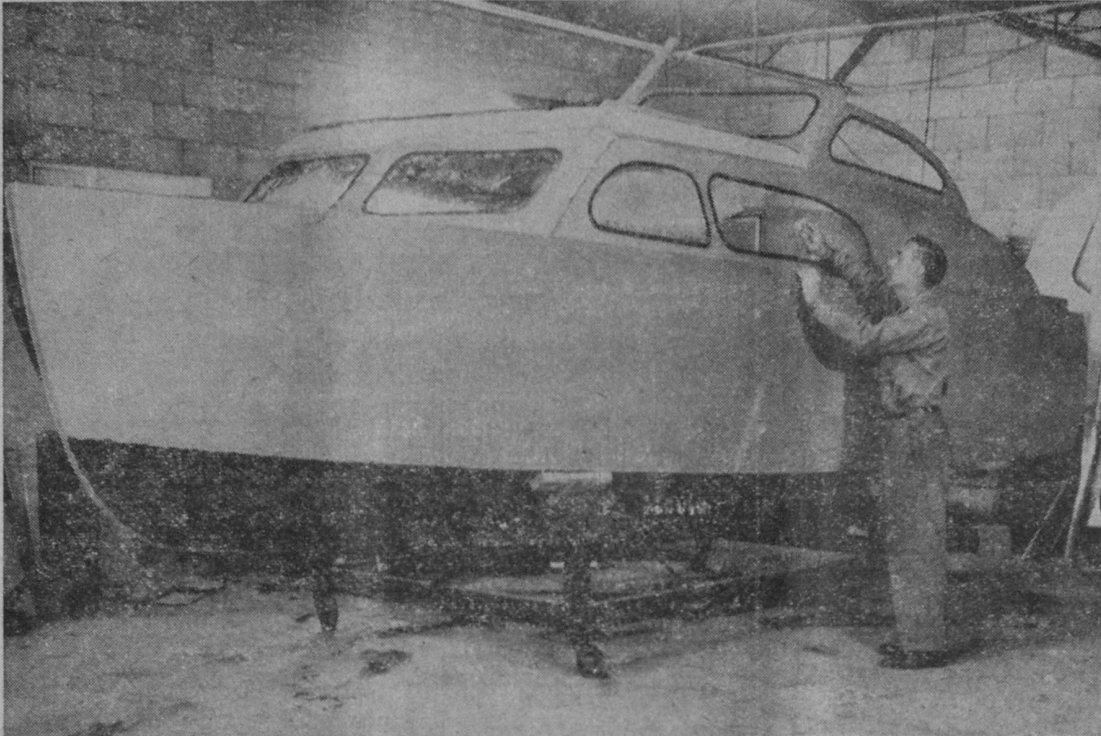

Within the next few weeks construction will start on a 42-foot cruiser which will be used for party fishing trips at the Tawas City Park dock next summer.

The craft will be constructed for the Tawas Boat Company of which Clute is in partnership with William Boroch of Tawas City. The company was recently awarded the boat and bait concession in the park.

This twin-screw craft will be capable of carrying 40 to 50 fishermen and will have a 14-foot beam. Blueprints received this week call for a snack bar and rest room facilities aboard the craft.

Building pleasure cruisers during the winter months has been a part-time occupation of Clute for several years. Winter dry-dock facilities were constructed at the sheet metal shop this year, while docking facilities during the summer months are provided several local boat owners in the Tawas River, directly across from the shop.

Every year the number of pleasure cruisers operating in the Tawas harbor area increases, Clute said this week. "We hope this new model will result in even a larger increase in the boat population next spring."

R. J. Barnett Honored With Luncheon

County officers gave a "farewell" luncheon in honor of Reginald J. Barnett Thursday noon at the Barnes Hotel, Barnett, who has been prosecuting attorney for the past six years, is being succeeded by William R. Barber who takes office January 1.

Mr. Barnett will establish a law office at the Holland Hotel in East Tawas. Mr. Barber will reside at East Tawas where he has purchased a home. For the past eight years he has had an apartment and his office in the Case Building in this city.

Nearing the final stages of construction is this 22½ foot pilot model pleasure cruiser being built at the Clute Sheet Metal Shop in Tawas City. In the bottom photo Gordon Clute checks over blueprints for a new 42-foot fishing party cruiser which he will begin building within the next few weeks—Herald Photos.

Perchville Will be Opened for Ice Fishing January 8

With weather conditions permitting, the Tawas Chamber of Commerce will open "Perchville" to the public on January 8, it was announced this week by Mrs. Clyde Montgomery, chamber secretary.

The nationally famous fishing village springs up on the ice of Tawas Bay each year following good freezing weather. The shanties are owned by Tawas businessmen and are placed in the right of the bay for the convenience of down-state fishermen.

Many of the shanties have been repainted this year and repaired where necessary. A caretaker will be in charge of the facilities.

The ice fishing village received nationwide publicity several years ago when it was featured in Life magazine, Ford Times, daily newspapers and other publications.

The original idea for the village was conceived by Harold Gould, a Tawas businessman. Since that time it has gained in popularity each year.

Services for Frederick Kohn Held Tuesday

Before coming to Tawas City six years ago, he had owned and operated one of the county's successful and well equipped farms. In a statement to law enforcement officers, Webb said that they had a flat tire in Bay City and had stolen the wheel and tire from the trunk of another car.

Our READERS Say

December 27, 1954

The Tawas Herald, Tawas City, Mich.
To the Editor:

The wording of your editorial of December 24 implies that those who voted "No" on both proposals do not want a good high school system. If that was your intention then, I believe, you are very much in error. We want schools too, want them very much, in fact. However, we do not intend to be railroaded into a school plan such as was proposed last week. Thanks to the untiring effort of the Citizens Committee for Better Schools and the voters for up-setting that fast little scheme.

The people of the district will continue to be at "loggerheads," as you put it, just as long as certain members of the Area School Board allow themselves to be guided solely by the concentrated efforts of a very few conscientious busybodies who are so blinded by their own selfish greed that they cannot see the school being built anywhere but willy nilly and entirely within the city limits of Tawas City or in such location as can be acquired by the method of annexation. This is not guess-work. It has been so stated by one of that group, not once, but many times.

If the Area School Board is sincere in wanting to make progress toward high school facilities, as your paper states, let them try it for the site which was specified in the reorganization literature sent out in 1952 and on the basis of which the voters of East Tawas and surrounding area voted for reorganization—the Fairgrounds-Beal Nursery site. Let them word the resolution so that it is binding for that site and other. Let them revise the millage proposal to conform with the State Equalization figures, which is required by law. Let the bright of day reveal some honest effort. Let there be no more hidden phraseology. Let there be no further continuation of options on properties twice defeated by those who will have to foot the bill. Let the School Board do all this and they, and you, may find that many of the obstacles will have disappeared. You ask what has happened to many of the individuals who were instrumental in promoting the reorganization of the district? They're still here, and, realizing, as they have been betrayed, are making every effort to see that justice and fair play prevail. With our help they will succeed.

Personally, I feel it would be far better to have the district broken up. At least, we had an accredited school.

Paul C. Roper
East Tawas, Mich.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The editorial to which you refer does not imply, it clearly states, "The people of the district who want schools and the area school board have been unable to put a bond issue across against the usual 25-30 percent 'NO' vote because of taxes and a group voting 'NO' on the site question."

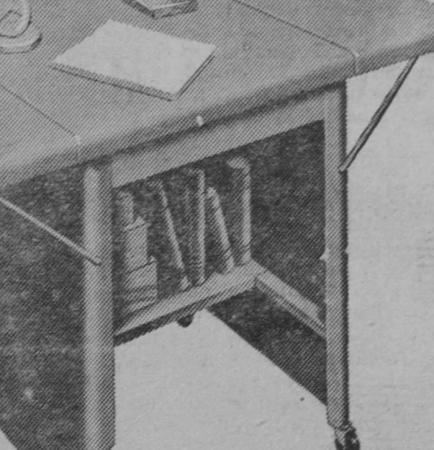

In the reorganization election more than two years ago, the electors voted 1,353 yes to 396 no to form the Tawas Area School District to achieve school facilities superior to those which could be supplied separately. The voting was done on ballots clearly worded, approved by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction and bearing NO stipulation as to when, where or how these facilities would be provided. Since that time three bonding elections to provide these facilities have failed and the school situation has not improved. Enrollment figures released by the board of education indicate that the need is more urgent than ever.

It seems difficult to believe that here in the United States of America the formation of this school district with representatives from every section of the district on its board of education has created a situation which calls for the use of such words as "railroaded," "conscientious busybodies," "selfish greed" and "betrayed."

Would it not be wise, as suggested in the December 24 editorial, to seek the aid of individuals who understand the original school needs? Perhaps they could guide us toward a solution and promote the conservation of our area's most valuable natural resources—ITS YOUTH!

The fact that no disability or discord is beyond the healing power of God will be stressed at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the lesson-sermon entitled "God" will include the account, as given in the seventh chapter of Luke's Gospel, of Christ Jesus' healing of the centurion's servant who was "sick, and ready to die."

The following will be among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible" (180-25-27).

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy (6:4): "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord."

Recently a Richmond, Virginia, pharmaceutical manufacturer closed his plant one afternoon and four hours later, he boarded a train headed for Miami, Florida. The unusual thing about this was the fact that exactly 99 of his employees were on board the same train, enroute to the same place—destined for a four-day vacation—with the boss, E. Claiborne Robbins footing the bills. Each employee carried a check for $100 to be used as spending money, courtesy the boss. This is Robbins' third all-expense-paid vacation for his employees. He took them to New York City in 1949 and 1951.

Others who have been ready to profess their leadership have had such we want in nature or in grace, but assumed a place for which they were not qualified, or betrayed a trust that calls for high standards of character and achievement.

No call is more urgent in our time than the call for leaders and leadership. The insistence and persistence of the call seems to suggest that there are more who are ready to respond than there are who meet the demand.

Jesus challenged the religious leadership of His day. He did not challenge the fact and idea of authority. The Scribes and Pharisees, He said, sat in Moses' seat. What He criticized so vigorously, charging them with hypocrisy, was their failure to exercise their authority for righteousness and truth.

Leaders of religion and the religious community in general have not adequately met their obligations today, or conditions would not be what they are. The fault does not lie in any lack of honor and integrity on the part of religious leaders or of religious people in general.

And the great mass of church members are, beyond doubt, honest and sincere. The trouble is that many good people fail to face evil for what it is.

Friends and neighbors were saddened with the news of the death of Fred Kohn. The community wishes to extend its sympathy to his wife, brothers and sisters.

The fact that no disability or discord is beyond the healing power of God will be stressed at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the lesson-sermon entitled "God" will include the account, as given in the seventh chapter of Luke's Gospel, of Christ Jesus' healing of the centurion's servant who was "sick, and ready to die."

The following will be among the correlative passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When man is governed by God, the ever-present Mind who understands all things, man knows that with God all things are possible" (180-25-27).

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy (6:4): "Hear, O Israel: The Lord our God is one Lord."

Recently a Richmond, Virginia, pharmaceutical manufacturer closed his plant one afternoon and four hours later, he boarded a train headed for Miami, Florida. The unusual thing about this was the fact that exactly 99 of his employees were on board the same train, enroute to the same place—destined for a four-day vacation—with the boss, E. Claiborne Robbins footing the bills. Each employee carried a check for $100 to be used as spending money, courtesy the boss. This is Robbins' third all-expense-paid vacation for his employees. He took them to New York City in 1949 and 1951.

Others who have been ready to profess their leadership have had such we want in nature or in grace, but assumed a place for which they were not qualified, or betrayed a trust that calls for high standards of character and achievement.

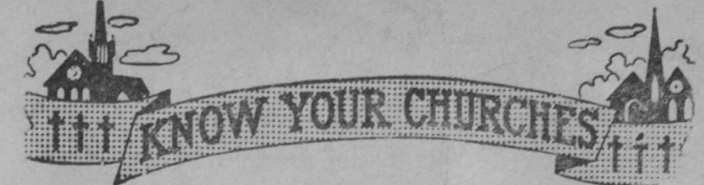

No call is more urgent in our time than the call for leaders and leadership. The insistence and persistence of the call seems to suggest that there are more who are ready to respond than there are who meet the demand.

Jesus challenged the religious leadership of His day. He did not challenge the fact and idea of authority. The Scribes and Pharisees, He said, sat in Moses' seat. What He criticized so vigorously, charging them with hypocrisy, was their failure to exercise their authority for righteousness and truth.

Leaders of religion and the religious community in general have not adequately met their obligations today, or conditions would not be what they are. The fault does not lie in any lack of honor and integrity on the part of religious leaders or of religious people in general.

And the great mass of church members are, beyond doubt, honest and sincere. The trouble is that many good people fail to face evil for what it is.

The failure is chiefly in the lack of capacity for indignation and action. We need to take seriously the Jesus told by Matthew, as well as the gentle Christ who took the children into His arms and blessed them.

Korean war veterans studying under the G.I. bill reached a record 451,000 in November—about twice that of a year ago—and still increasing, according to a veterans administration announcement. The number of World War II veterans receiving G.I. training has dwindled to 168,000 this year, a drop of 178,000 from the total a year ago.

NORTHERN PLUMBING

New Year's resolution that pays off in thrills . . .

"I'm going to drive that 1955 BUICK!"

We've seen some high peaks of interest in our new cars over the years—but never anything like this.

Since the day we unveiled these glamorous new Buicks, people have been coming in—not only to see and study and sit in these great cars—but, very definitely, to drive them.

They want, it seems, a firsthand taste of the thrills that Buick engineers have conjured up for this new year.

And who can blame them?

For the word's around that Buick has what no other car has—a new kind of performance from a new kind of transmission.

It's called Variable Pitch Dynaflo Drive.* It uses the principle of the modern airplane's variable pitch propeller. And it does in oil what that aeronautical marvel does in a—

At one pitch of the blades inside the Dynaflo unit, you get more fuel efficiency in normal cruising and driving—which means better gas mileage, pure and simple.

But push the gas pedal beyond the full throttle position and you switch the pitch. Instantly, you get electrifying response—a sudden safety-surge of accelerating power to get you quickly out of a tight spot—and with the absolute smoothness that is constant in Dynaflo Drive.

Maybe you, too, have made a mental resolution to drive a '55 Buick—but why wait?

We're ready, willing and eager to let you try one—feel the spectacular new power that gives life to this bounteous beauty—and see for yourself that here is a performance thrill too exciting to miss. Drop in on us this week, won't you?

*Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Milk Still Popular Beverage

In the face of multi-million dollar promotion campaigns of other beverages, milk is holding its own as a popular beverage according to Cornell University research workers. Beer, wine, whiskey and fruit juices interests have been spending millions in promotional campaigns, but the consumption of milk has been upped 25 percent since 1945.

Kills Coyote With Truck

Frank Bissonette, while driving a road commission truck on the Cedar Lake Road north of Oscoda one day last week, met a coyote on the highway. Bissonette threw a wrench at the animal but missed it. Following the coyote with the truck he finally ran it down. The coyote weighed 31 pounds.

St. James Home Strikingly Decorated

For a number of years John St. James has had his lawn and home resplendent with bright colored lights and Christmas decorations. Featured this season is Santa's reindeer, headed by Rudolph of red nose fame, climbing through the air to the roof top. It is one of the most striking among the many excellent Christmas home decorations displays in the city.

Iosco County Dairy Milk Clinic to be Held at Hale Next Thursday

DONALD L. MURRAY

Dairy farmers who produce high-quality milk put good chore routines in place of extra time and labor, stresses D. L. Murray, extension dairyman at Michigan State College. They apply good herd management to maintain a profitable herd and at the same time get high-quality milk.

The points good dairymen stress are a clean, healthy herd, milking that produces under health and top milk production, and clean equipment. They know that dairy profit lies in a herd with normal reproduction and high milk output. They need healthy animals. Vaccination and test-and-slaughter programs control tuberculosis and Bang's disease, notes Murray, and sanitation and clean, well-lighted and ventilated barns keep herd resistance high.

Proper milking, to promote udder health, is a must in avoiding financial losses from mastitis. These practices include wiping udders to stimulate the "let-down" of the milk, use of strip cups to detect abnormal milk, cleaning and proper operation of milking machines to avoid udder injuries and dipping teat cups between cows to avoid disease spread. These practices will bring milk that is free of sediment and low in bacteria—a high quality milk as a result of good herd management.

Good udder health is perhaps the biggest problem for Michigan dairymen today. Mastitis is estimated to be present in four out of five herds and in one out of five cows. The losses from less milk, treatment costs and slaughter run into millions of dollars a year. Mastitis provides low-quality milk.

Newest information on good herd management and mastitis control will be provided to dairymen who attend a better milking clinic for Iosco County at 10:00 a. m. Thursday, January 6, at Hale. The clinic will be put on by Michigan State College and county extension service personnel in cooperation with representatives of milking machine companies.

New Telephone Almanacs Ready

Telephone Almanacs for 1955 are ready—the 33rd issue since publication began in 1922.

Now available in the local business office of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, the new edition deals with the development of home arts and the part the telephone plays as an increasingly superior tool for living.

A picture series deals with such subjects as primitive cooking, the earliest method of spinning thread, fashioning of Grecian gowns, and daily living in Saxon times and in American frontier cabins.

The last drawing pictures a home of today where nationwide communications and entertainment by radio and television are made possible through the magic of the telephone system.

The Telephone Almanac also reports on progress toward continent-wide dialing of long distance calls, on the projected Atlantic telephone cable, the Bell solar battery, color television and a variety of other subjects of general interest.

No Charges in $1,200 Crash Although the automobile he was driving sped down a steep hill, leaped the curb, crossed three lawns and did $800 damage to a nearby store, no charges were placed against the driver, Jerome White. Jerome, only three years old, suffered only a few superficial scratches, but there was $400 damage to his father's car. Jerome started playing with the gear shift when his father left him in the car while he delivered a paper.

GLEN W. REED

The chronic case of mastitis is one of your worst enemies according to Dr. Glen Reed, Michigan State College extension veterinarian. This form of mastitis seldom has any painful swelling of the udder or unusual condition of the milk which might warn you to be on the lookout for trouble. The chronic case is spreading disease through your herd unless you are careful about your sanitation procedures. A sudden bruise, chilling, or other injuries are the most common for chronic cases to flare up.

The Better Milking Clinic held January 6, at Hale, will include discussions on "Detection and Control of Mastitis." Doors open at 9:30 a. m. and close at 4:00 p. m.

Nothing less than unconditional surrender is acceptable to farmers in their new war on mastitis, according to D. L. Murray, extension dairyman at Michigan State College. This disease is one of the greatest thieves the dairyman has to contend with, he adds.

Dairymen will find the forces of education linked arm-in-arm with industry to help him fight mastitis. Extension specialists from the dairy and animal pathology departments of Michigan State College are working with the representatives of the major milking machine companies.

They will tell and show farmers about the kind of enemy they are fighting and what can be done.

Many of the things farmers can do to help check mastitis will be presented at a Better Milking Clinic at 10:00 a. m. Thursday, January 6, at Hale.

Indignant

Little George came home in a sad state. He had a black eye, many scratches, and his clothes were a sight. His mother was horrified and, with tears in her eyes, said rebukingly:

"Oh, George, George! How often have I told you not to play with that naughty Brown boy?" "Play!" answered little George, looking at his mother in deep disgust. "Do I look as if I've been playing with somebody?"

This young Oakland, California couple received a rare gift—sight. Tony Russo, 33, had been blind since he was 14. A corneal transplant has restored his sight and he sees his youngest child, John, 6-months-old. He also saw his three daughters for the first time. Tony has already made plans to the San Francisco Eye Bank so that on his death, his rare gift may be passed on.

Mr. Barnum is quite ill. The community wishes her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bellville are spending the Christmas holidays in Detroit with relatives.

Carl Look and Herbert Oates were in the office last week taking about the hay market. They have clover hay and alfalfa hay they would like to see some Iosco County livestock farmers get. It's a good reminder that it might be worth your while to check your hay and silage supply to see if you'll be short.

Needless to say if it looks like you will run short, now is the time to buy it.

Will Waters, Andy and Ray Matthews were office callers last week. We talked about getting some of those ABA heifer calves from our dairymen in other parts of the state and raising them for replacement.

James Sturtevant is way ahead of us for he is already waiting word from the college as to the source of these calves.

Andrew Matthews sure is wearing a pleased smile these days. He figures this last lamb operation has really put North-eastern Michigan on the proverbial map with another "first".

Andy predicts that next year's lambs patterned after this last operation will double and even triple the lambs sold in 1954.

Andrew and I figured it out that our sheep raisers, who sold lambs at the December 15 pool, received $1.45 more per head over the previous pools. He made several observations at the pools and one of them is causing him to change his mind about the type of ram he expects to have for 1955.

Whittemore Grangers Stage Enjoyable Christmas Party

Clarence Bellville, master, presided over the business meeting. A representative of the Blue Cross insurance will attend the January 3 meeting to explain the new insurance rates and plan. Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Matthews of Hale will also give their reports of the 1954 Michigan State Grange convention.

The Christmas program opened with the group singing of "Silent Night" with Mrs. Marguerite Aulerich at the piano. Mrs. Edith Cataline read "Christ the Lowly Child". Arlene Harsch, a juvenile member, sang "The First Noel". The poems, "The Night Before Christmas," "Hello Again" and "White Christmas," were read by Mr. and Mrs. Seth Thompson and Mrs. Marie Bellville respectively. The songs, "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem" and "White Christmas" were also sung.

Gifts were exchanged at the close of the program. Pot-luck lunch completed the evening.

WHAT'S COOKIN'?—A short order of big-city rivalry is simmering on this giant range built originally for the Chicago World's Fair of 1893, by a Detroit, Mich., stove manufacturer.

City fathers heard of the 19-foot, seven-inch plastic-and-steel bull recently placed atop a 90-foot pylon in Kansas City, Mo., by the American Hereford Association. They want everyone to know that their gigantic reproduction, 30x20x25 feet, is big enough to roast a crater of such Bonyanque proportions, with plenty of room left over to cook huge potsful of Michigan farm products.

Acting Mayor Louis C. Miriana and Councilwoman Blanche Parent were atop the ash pit. Council members Eugene Van Antwerp and Marv V. Beck are on the ground.

HE CAN'T SAY SOME WORDS

By Dr. Charles Pedrey
Speech and Hearing Clinic
Michigan State College

Parents make that complaint every day. What they really mean is that their child has difficulty making some of the sounds of our language, and that consequently, some of the words in which these sounds appear are unintelligible.

Speech is defective whenever the listener pays more attention to how the speaker speaks than to what the speaker is saying. If, for instance, the speaker is putting a "w" sound in place of the "r" sound and says "wabbits can run wapidly" he is defective in his speech because it is difficult for some people to understand what he is saying. Or he may make a "th" sound for the "s" sound and say "Thutly liketh to play in my thand boks" (Susy likes to play in my sand box). Speech correctivists call this kind of speech a defect of articulation.

There are, of course, other kinds of speech defects. Everyone can identify stuttering. Many people recognize cleft palate speech, the speech of the hard-of-hearing, the speech of the child with cerebral palsy. These are the common kinds of defective speech found in children.

We know about many of the reasons why a child may develop faulty articulation. We know what causes cleft palate speech, hard-of-hearing speech, and cerebral palsy speech. We don't know too much about what causes stuttering.

Speech is something we learn, and all things being equal, most children can be taught acceptable speech if the child can be given proper instruction. The chief cause of poor articulation is probably faulty learning. If the cause is faulty learning, it means that the child's speech can be made normal if he is properly taught by a person who understands the problems and the techniques. It will take time and patience, but it can be done. It is possible that the child is incapable of learning, or that his speech mechanism will not work as it should. If poor speech is caused by either of these two reasons the case may be hopeless. Fortunately, the vast majority of children can be helped because the cause for their poor speech is improper learning.

The first place that the parent can turn for help is the public schools. If the schools employ a trained speech therapist the parent can get expert advice and help for a child. If there is no such person in the town, the parent should contact the nearest university speech clinic. All of the state supported colleges and universities maintain such clinics and the services of the clinic are available to residents of the state.

A word of advice to parents: The sooner you can get help for your child's speech the better it is for the child. That doesn't mean that you're to worry if your one-year-old doesn't yet talk. Even if your child is four or five years of age and doesn't talk plainly, the speech therapist may advise you to wait a year or so before giving him speech therapy because your child may not have matured enough yet. But even if you're advised to wait you'll know that you have done your bit and that if the child doesn't correct his own speech you will know where you can get help.

A campaign against "right-to-work" laws, already in effect in 17 states, was announced by the American Federation of Labor. It views such statutes as "anti-labor."

Your photo dealer will be glad to explain anything you don't understand about your camera's operation.

Cameras Respond to Good Treatment

TODAY'S column is one of advice—to new camera owners. But one we feel will also be of value to owners of not-so-new cameras.

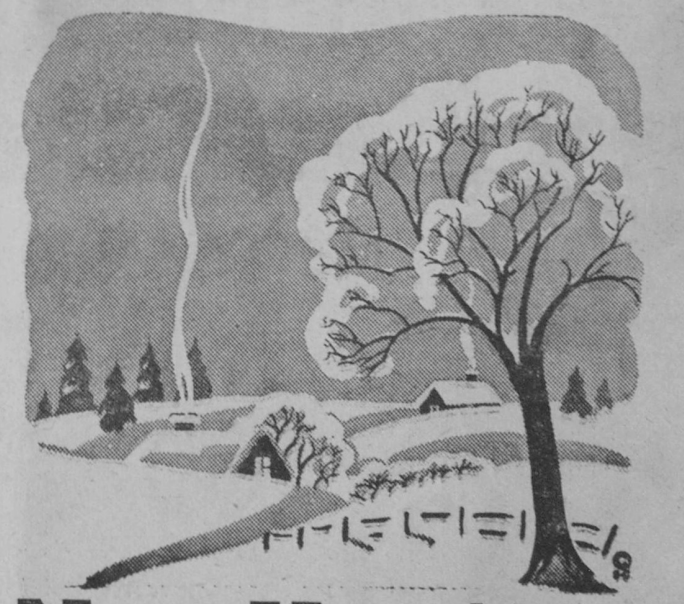

When you took that new camera out of the box, there was an instruction book with it, we're sure. It tells you in detail how to operate your camera—and under varying circumstances. It's designed to help you get the best possible pictures. But, of course, it can't do a thing for you if you don't read it carefully. Do that before you take your first pictures. They'll be better pictures. Knowing how your camera operates—and what its limitations are—is a good way to avoid disappointment.

Since all new cameras are carefully inspected before packing, yours should work fine. However, if it is the exception to the rule and shows any inclination to stick, don't force it. Take it to your photo dealer, find out what is wrong and the proper remedy from someone who understands the mechanism involved.

These days cameras travel far and wide. Inevitably, they are going to suffer a certain number of bumps and shocks. On the whole they are rugged, and will take an amazing amount of punishment. However, it seems foolish to risk damaging a camera when a field case will protect it and are so low in price.

When traveling by car, you face the unfortunate problem of the most convenient places for carrying camera being the very places that aren't good for it—the glove compartment and the back window ledge. In both spots you find heat and dust, the worst enemies of cameras and film. You don't want to pack it away in a suitcase. So, the best idea is to put the camera in a field case and keep it on the seat beside you—ready for picture taking at all times.

New Hams Keep You From Being a 'Ham' in the Kitchen

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

THE new skinless and shankless hams make festive entertaining easier. The meat is no effort to prepare and carving is a joy.

For a dinner with a holiday air, start by serving glasses of chilled fruit juice in the living room, with crackers and a choice of cheese or Braunschweiger sausage spreads.

Keep the ham platter simple, with only a garnish of green parsley. That makes carving easy. Have a side serving dish of pears tinted red or green. Fill with cream cheese, or apples poached in red cinnamon-candy syrup, until they're a brilliant hue. Ham and sweet potatoes are a natural twosome. Follow tradition and serve the sweet potatoes mashed, in a fluffy, golden mound, topped with melted butter.

A green vegetable such as broccoli or Brussels sprouts is a fine-flavored accompaniment. For salad, serve individual jellied fruit molds in red or green hue. Top with a wreath of creamy salad dressing. Hot rolls and butter complete this easily prepared main course.

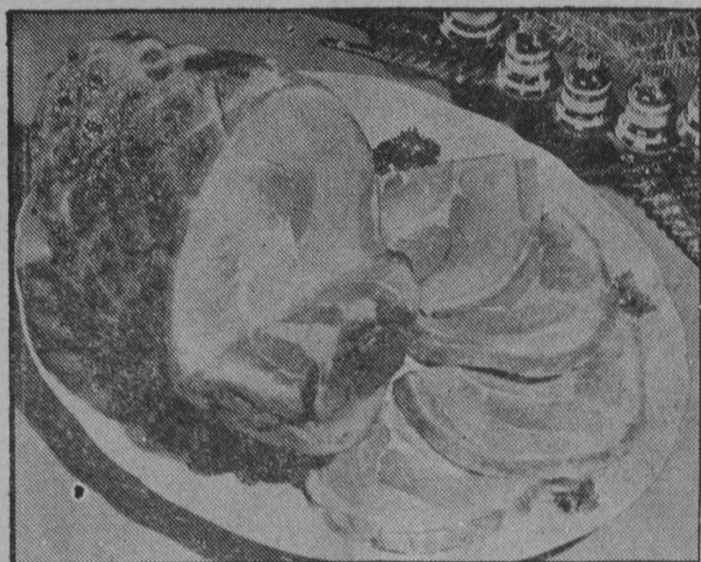

Dessert probably is traditional at your house. If the family does not demand heavy pumpkin or mince pie or plum pudding, make dessert a handsome fruit-and-cheese tray, with thin slices of fruit-cake for those who still have room for nibbling. Pass salted nuts and coffee.

Lime Celery-Apple Molds

Dissolve 1 package lime-flavored gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Add 1 cup cold water. Cool until partially set. Add 1 cup chopped, pared apple, 1 cup chopped celery and ½ cup chopped walnuts. Pour into 6 molds. Chill until firm.

Cranberry-and-Orange Relish Molds

Dissolve 1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Add 1 cup cold water. Cool until partially set. Grind together 2 cups cranberries and the pulp and peel of 1 large orange with the white membrane and seeds removed. Mix in ¼ cup sugar. Add the sweetened cranberry-orange relish to the gelatin. Pour into 6 molds. Chill until firm.

Squeals of delight from the guests and no grunts of effort on your part will greet meals with the new hams served as the main course.

The defense department unveiled a new military manpower program called the "National Reserve Plan," designed to hold the active armed forces down to a "reasonable size" and to build-up a minute-man reserve force of 3,000,000 men. The program was announced at a Pentagon news conference by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson (left) and Carter L. Burgess (right), assistant secretary of Defense for Manpower, who are shown at a chart which they exhibited at the conference.

With the losco 4-H Clubs

By DOROTHY SCOTT

Ronnie Deering tells in his 4-H Club report about the electrical project work done last year. He says he spliced broken cords, took parts of old lamps and made lamps, repaired sockets, and learned to keep his hands away from uninsulated wires or broken splices. Also, there were problems of kilowatt hours, watts, amperes, hot and cold wires.

This year Ronnie is applying his know-how and learning even more about electricity.

Jack Furst made an alarm clock time switch to use at home. Ronnie McCormick expressed for all project members appreciation to Albert Duquette for the spending of his time with them and for arranging the tour through the waterworks plant.

Kenneth Herriman, a first year beef project member, says he learned many things in his first project. Two of the most important of them are the need for a calf halter and calf blanket. He also learned to clip and groom his calf, how to measure grain and teach the calf to lead. He picked up pointers on showmanship from the fair judge, William Engle.

A cow, heifer and calf last year comprised the dairy project activities of Harry Herriman who has completed his fifth year as a dairy member. Harry is doing some figuring ahead to see what the score is for more profitable dairying. He says, "I am thinking of asking Mr. Hammond if he will put a meter on our new bulk tank cooler to learn what the operating cost is."

Further comments about the cooler are, "I think handling milk with the new cooler saves much labor because there are no heavy milk cans to lift. There may also be a little time saved as the milk is poured directly into the cooler rather than into the milk cans.

"We are very well satisfied with our new cooler. We receive a premium price for our milk which is a little above the regular price. We also have less bacteria count as the milk is cooled faster than by the old method. We also have six cents less handling charge."

"The Alabaster-Whitney electrical club held two more meetings at the home of the leader, Albert Duquette. Some members are finished with their final project, other worked on theirs.

"We had our meter readings for the month so we figured out what our bills would be. We also discussed what we would make for our second project," Ronald McCormick, reporter.

"Lynn Waters, Jean Sugden and Judy Kay Robinson, first year knitters of the Reno Topnotchers, met Thursday, December 9, at the home of Mrs. Lyle Robinson, leader in the first year knitting. We have learned to cast on stitches and are now making hot dish holders." Judy Kay Robinson, reporter.

"Members of the Burleigh Wizards 4-H Club, guests and leaders had a grand Christmas party at the Whittemore Grange Hall on December 8.

"It was our regular 4-H Club meeting night and we all enjoyed discussing our openhouse for the January 12 meeting.

"Arlene Harsch and Rosanne Siegrist are the welcoming committee with Auierich and Mrs. Black to arrange 4-H exhibits. Demonstrations and plays will be given for the program and pot-luck lunch will be served with coffee and Kool Aid for refreshments.

"A special invitation is being sent Miss Scott and Mr. Davenport. All parents and friends are urged to come.

"Our 4-H Club will purchase an emblem with the 4-H motto on it.

"We will send Daniel Currie a basket of fruit. He is home in bed with rheumatic fever and is unable to attend meetings. We all send him our best wishes.

"We hope to see all at our openhouse on January 12." Carol Runyan, reporter.

"Project reports were given at the meeting on December 8 by Lorna Mott and Debora Nichols.

"A pie and coffee sale swelled Reno Topnotchers' treasury about $9. It was held during the auction sale at the hall." Faye Pagel, reporter.

HDA NOTES

By DOROTHY SCOTT

Calendar—
Wednesday, January 5—View "Effect of Trade on Michigan Farmers" on WNEB-TV, Channel 5, 1:00 p. m.

Eggs are on the plentiful food list right now, and because they are so plentiful, let's serve them in as many ways as possible, alone or combined with other foods.

And, just because the question came up at a recent meeting, let's consider the value of eggs as a food in our diet. A look at a chart showing comparisons of protein, calcium, iron, thiamine, niacin, riboflavin and calories with a three ounce serving of lean beef, pork or chicken. A pint of milk differs mostly in the larger amount of calcium available. So, take your pencil and do a little figuring as to what comparable amounts of protein foods do to your food budget.

How else to use eggs besides to fry, poach, or cook in the shell? Eggs act as a thickening agent in custards and puddings. They leaven when beaten to incorporate air as in cakes. Color and flavor are added to foods when eggs are used. Breaded meats use them as a coating agent. They are colorful garnishes in salads and canapes. They bind food as in meat loaves and croquettes, emulsify in salad dressings, clarify as in "boiled" coffee, and hinder crystallization as in candy making.

With all these accomplishments, we admit the egg plays an important part in our success as a good cook, and that means being careful to give them good storage in the refrigerator. Eggs should be brought to room temperature about 45 minutes before using. They will then be easier to separate and beat up faster to a bigger volume.

Left-over egg whites can be stored a week to 10 days when covered tightly and refrigerated. Egg yolks may be stored under water in a covered jar for two or three days in the refrigerator. Always serve eggs on warm plates.

Pop corn that doesn't pop? It may not be the fault of the corn, it may be the way it was stored. The amount of moisture in the kernel is important to good popping. Pop corn pops by explosion; when heated steam forms in the kernel and explodes it. Too little moisture means too little steam and no pop.

Loss of moisture often happens in homes where the air has a low relative humidity. Here is a way to store popcorn to assure proper humidity (13 to 15 percent). Make a saturated salt solution by adding more salt to about a cup of water than will dissolve. Cut several strips of blotter about an inch wide and about a foot long. Soak the strips in the salt solution.

Roll each strip like a jelly roll and tie with a string. Put two or three of these rolls in a tight container with the popcorn. This will keep the moisture content right. The blotter rolls should stay moist unless the corn is very dry and if that should be the case, re-soak the blotter.

Corn should pop all at once and about 98 percent of the kernels should explode, and one cup of popcorn should give a popped volume of 30 cups.

No Tax Cuts Expected

The Eisenhower administration is expected to be strongly against any new tax reduction next year unless business falters. This not only applies to cuts in individual income taxes, but also the scheduling reductions in corporate income and excise tax rates which are due to drop from 52 to 47 percent April 1, under present law.

The fabrics used to decorate the home of today are interesting in texture and design. Some boast textures that are thick or nubby, others are light and airy. All are fun to live with because they are easy to care for. No more heavy plush that shows every scuff or spatter mark.

CUSTOM-MADE DECORATOR FABRICS

The most wonderful thing about this modern trend in fabrics is that it lends itself, most conveniently, to the crochet hook. You can easily crochet many of these interesting decorator fabrics for your home. Pillow covers, chair seats, lamp shades, throw rugs, curtains and draperies custom-made of a sturdy, crochet cotton will give your rooms an up-to-date look. Stop tiring your feet by shopping all over town for a fitting fabric. Relax, take your crochet hook and thread in hand, put your feet up on a hassock and crochet your own. Choose the colors you desire, and make just the right patterns and textures that fit in with your decor.

PROMINENT PILLOWS

Comfort and attractiveness—that's what these toss pillows are made of. Crochet them in a variety of colors and fill them with kapok, foam rubber or any suitable material. Their ingenious designs and appealing textures will add charm to your living room or recreation area. Make any or all of them in the simple, single crochet stitch. As a suggestion, use gray crochet cotton as background and work the designs in brilliant colors of blue, green, yellow, red, and black. The instructions for making all three pillows are included on one direction leaflet. For your copy, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper for Leaflet No. 108.1.
