Metal Plating Company Establishes Plant in City

Machines Being Installed This Week

Located in Building Purchased from Arthur Wuggazer

A new industry, The Tawas Plating Company, is being established in what formerly was Art's Cleaners building on Seventh Avenue adjacent to the West Tawas yards of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company. Installation of machinery began this week.

The owner of the new plant is Paul P. Chevis, a former General Motors chemical engineer, and until recently part owner of the Davison Plating Company of Davison, Michigan. While with General Motors, he was in the plating department of that company. The plant here will do plating and rust proofing for the automotive and other industrial trades. The field is wide as nearly every metal product requires processing either for appearance or to prevent corrosion.

The building purchased by Chevis from Arthur Wuggazer, is located in what is becoming an important industrial area of the city, with the newly constructed Bopp-Busch tool and die shop and the Clute sheet metal fabricating plant. Wuggazer constructed the building several years ago for his dry cleaning business. On the completion of his building on Mathew Street last year, all operations were transferred to the new building on Seventh Avenue which is well adapted to the new enterprise.

Chevis states that he became interested in Tawas City as a place in which to locate his plant through the Industrial Development Department of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company.

The zinc plating equipment now being installed at the plant will be capable of handling four tons of parts during each eight-hour shift. The cadmium unit will handle one ton per eight-hour shift. Early in March the chrome plating unit will be in operation. This unit will be of such a capacity as to handle parts seven feet in length. Chrome may be plated on a base metal of steel, stainless steel, copper and brass.

Facilities will be added for copper, nickel and tin plating, anodizing aluminum and immunizing stainless steel, Chevis said.

Metal plating is an important process in modern industry. In many cases zinc or cadmium plate is less costly than painting, and is a more acceptable finish.

The church altar was decorated with spring flowers and tall candelabra with gold candles. Charles Mercer gave a service on the marriage vows.

Emington-McMurray

A pretty church wedding took place at St. Joseph's Catholic Church on Saturday morning, February 13, when Miss Joan Geraldine McMurray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. McMurray of Saginaw and East Tawas, became the bride of Airman First Class James Lewis Emington of Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Emington of Erie, Pennsylvania.

The 10 o'clock nuptial mass was performed by the Rev. Fr. Edward J. Sturmwski. The service was a double ring ceremony in which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The church was decorated with white snapdragons in gold vases.

The bride wore a street length gown of white chiffon taffeta, in princess style with a V neckline trimmed with embroidered organza. The sleeves were three quarter length. Her hat was fashioned of white ribbon straw and she carried a white orchid with satin streamers on a white prayer book. A pearl necklace completed her costume.

Miss Rosanne Evans of Trenton, a sorority sister of the bride, was her attendant. Her gown was pink taffeta with pink accessories and she wore a corsage of red and pink roses.

The best man was Eugene McMurray of Saginaw, a brother of the bride. Robert Gocher and William Dudley of the Wurtsmith Air Force Base acted as the groom's best men.

After the ceremony, breakfast was served at the Barnes Hotel to the immediate families. Tables were decorated with pink and white flowers and a four tiered wedding cake.

A reception followed from 2 to 5 o'clock at the McMurray home in East Tawas. Decorations were in red, white and pink.

Guests were present from Pennsylvania, Saginaw, Detroit, Ypsilanti, Flint, Niles, St. Clair, Trenton, Oscoda and the Tawas-Isosco area.

The couple left on a week-end trip through Indiana, Kentucky and Ohio. For traveling the bride wore a blue velvet suit, blue coat and accessories. Her orchid corsage was a gift from the Southwestern Elementary School in Dearborn where she is teaching.

The bride attended Michigan State Teachers College at Ypsilanti and the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. She is a member of the Theta Lambda Sigma Sorority.

The groom was a student at the Cathedral Preparatory School of Erie, Pennsylvania.

Old Fashioned Box Social

The Box Social, March 5, will mark the first of the activities planned by the Centennial Committee for the observance of Tawas City's 100th anniversary.

In order to insure the success of the week-long celebration, June 20-27, the Committee is sponsoring this event to create interest in preparing now for the big celebration.

During the past several weeks, beads and derbys have become popular. As yet, the ladies haven't made their debut in 1854 fashions. However, the grape vine reveals that many yards of material are being made into Gay '90 creations.

Everyone is invited to come share in the fun. Since costumes will add much color, why not plan to wear your Centennial garb. Prizes are being awarded for the "best dressed" men, women and children.

Ladies of all ages, here's your opportunity to show your skill at packing and wrapping an eye-appealing box to tempt the high bidders.

Ready to Serve Humanity

When the annual Red Cross Drive opens March 1st you too, can answer the call. Let your donation by "the Good Samaritan," that helps those in need.

Iosco County's quota, in this nationwide drive, has been set at $3,500, the same amount as last year.

Whether the ringing call for help comes from a scarred battleground or from an area torn by disaster, we can, we must answer that call. Through the Red Cross we can answer humanity in distress with warm food, medical care, life saving blood, shelter—whatever our fellow American needs desperately. The Red Cross can give our answer—but only if we make its humanitarian services possible with our contribution. So let no call for help be in vain . . . Give as generously as possible to the American Red Cross Drive.

Bible Comment: Is Today's Trend Toward Unification Of Churches Good?

THE young observer of today who sees extensive movements toward church union can hardly realize how completely a generation or two ago the trend was the other way.

Sectarianism and divisiveness were not only in the air, but right on the ground, with hard practical reality.

In one Canadian town then there were two sorts of Methodism, each church representing a different organization. There were additional sorts of Methodism throughout the country.

There were, likewise, two sorts of Presbyterianism, and there may have been others as well.

Wherever some presumably prophetic soul or ambitious leader thought he had discovered a new idea, he proceeded to build a new, and sometimes a very narrow and intense, denomination around it.

That rank growth of the sects was in a sense the disgrace of Protestantism, but it also had in it a touch of Protestant glory—the emphasis on freedom.

Like all great men and good things, freedom is capable of abuse. But freedom is nevertheless great and good.

Today the trend is all the other way. Controversy has almost disappeared. The things that divided are hardly mentioned.

Yet one Scottish church leader not long ago spoke of "good controversy" as a great need of our time.

And we might well ask whether with all the undoubted gains in present trends we are not in danger of losing some of the essential values of the times when Christians laid so much stress upon their conscientious convictions and were averse toward compromise.

1953 DEER KILL REPORT
The Michigan Department of Conservation has just released a preliminary report on the over-all deer kill for the 1953 season—and if it lives up to last year's experience it will prove to be very close to the final figures.

The total kill of bucks in Michigan was very close to the figure estimated in 1952—some 52,000 male animals taken each year. However, the kill in the lower peninsula dropped off about 4000 while the hunting above the Straits was about 4000 above the 1952 count, thus bringing the grand total on a par with the 1952 harvest.

Upper Peninsula More Popular
The report shows that about 10,000 more hunters chose the "Land of Hiawatha" in the upper peninsula last fall, according to a traffic survey, which obviously helps account for the extra kill. The hunting pressure in the lower peninsula dropped off by about 6000, says the report. These figures all apply to the buck season only.

One Day, Any-Deer Kill Down
Back in 1952 when the controversial 3-day open season on any deer went into effect, hunters brought home 110,000 animals. Hunting was permitted above M-20. Last fall a one-day season was opened, and the hunt area restricted to the lower peninsula above M-55. About 250,000 hunters tried their luck during the 1952 season, when they had three days for a chance to fill their licenses. With only a single day last fall 160,000 were in the field. The total kill is now estimated at 18,000.

Hunters' Success Varies
The Department further estimates from traffic surveys, that about 27% of the hunters got a buck, doe or fawn in 1952, while only 11% were successful in the one-day special season last fall.

The kill on Drummond Island this past fall was more than twice as great as the figure for 1952. A total of 280 deer came from this area against 135 in 1952, and last fall 30% of Drummond Island hunters were successful.

Story Behind the Statistics

While all of these figures are a story in themselves—the real significance of the report is highlighted by the unusually large number of healthy yearling bucks taken in areas where winter food conditions were poor for many years. Two fairly open winters, plus the cropping of surplus animals is beginning to pay off in a more rapid growth and far less winter starvation. In other words it's beginning to look as if the Conservation Department's planning for deer herd control is perfectly logical. Some of us die-hards had better admit it!

WAGE DIFFERENTIAL

Southern textile wages average 13 cents an hour below the pay in the northern mills, despite wage cuts in the declining New England industry, according to a Labor Department survey. This differential accounts in part for the rapidly growing shift of such mills to southern areas, it is said.

Orange Marmalade Glamorizes Bread Pudding

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

HERE'S a new-fashioned way to make a better and quicker bread pudding than grandmother ever hummed a tune over. What's so good about it is that it's made with either sweet or bitter orange marmalade as the main sweetener.

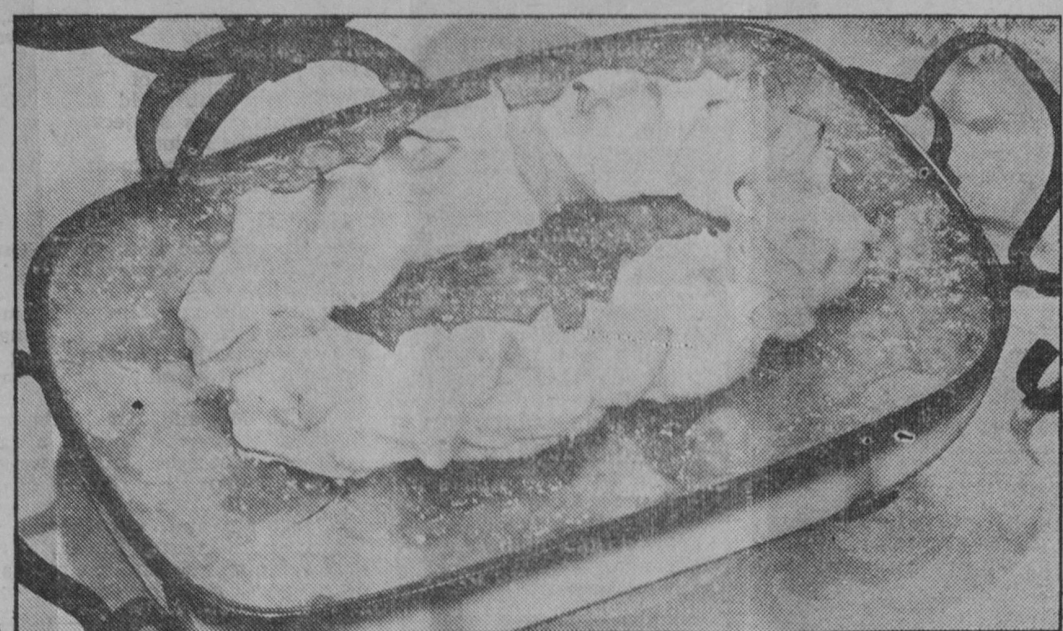

It's easy to make, and doesn't require any extra shopping if you have bought and kept a few tumbler of either sweet or bitter marmalade on your pantry shelves. The other ingredients, such as day-old bread, eggs and milk, etc., are always with you.

Topped with a frothy cloud of sweetened meringue, this pudding is handsome enough and special enough even for a party.

Orange Marmalade Bread Pudding
(Makes 6-8 servings)

Three eggs, separated; 4 cups milk, scalded; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; ¼ cup orange marmalade, sweet or bitter; ¼ cup sugar; ½ teaspoon vanilla flavoring; 5 slices day-old bread, cut in 1-inch squares; ¼ cup sugar.

In a large bowl, beat 3 egg yolks and 1 egg white. Reserve remaining 2 egg whites for meringue. Gradually stir in milk, blending well. Then stir in butter, ¼ cup of the orange marmalade, ¼ cup sugar, salt, vanilla and bread; mix lightly but thoroughly.

Pour mixture into a buttered, 1½-quart baking dish. Set baking dish in a pan of hot water. (The water should come within 1 inch of the top of baking dish.)

Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes, or until a knife inserted near one side of the pudding comes out clean.

Remove baking dish from the oven. Turn oven regulator to hot 425 degrees F. Spread top of pudding with the remaining ¼ cup of orange marmalade.

To make the meringue: In a bowl, whip two egg whites until they form soft peaks. Add ¼ cup sugar, a tablespoon at a time, whipping after each addition until the mixture is glossy and forms stiff peaks.

Spoon the meringue over the pudding in a circle or oval shape. Put baking dish in the pan of hot water and bake about 5 minutes, or until the meringue is lightly browned. Decorate meringue with additional orange marmalade. Serve warm.

Needlecraft News

by Nancy Baxter

Sweaters—long, short, sleeveless, fitted, boxy, bulky, buttoned, ribbed, plain, patterned, and so on down the list—are the most versatile articles of wearing apparel. You could go on for minutes itemizing the many varieties and their numerous uses. And sweaters know no season or time. Summer, Winter, Spring or Fall, for morning, noon or evening wear, these knitted marvels find an appropriate place in each wardrobe.

FOR ALL-TIME, YEAR-ROUND WEAR

If you were to knit a sweater for each use you could think of, you would be clicking your needles for the rest of your life working on this one project alone. Instead, it would be wise to knit one that can be worn for many occasions and spend the rest of your knitting time making a variety of articles. A classic cardigan sweater is adaptable to almost any wardrobe. You can wear this type during the cold months as a blouse or on cool Spring or Summer days over flimsy frocks to keep the chilling breeze off your shoulders. Keep it simple and tailored for casual outings, trim it with sequins, beads and pearls for fancy affairs.

KNITTED OF NYLON—A NATURAL

In heavenly blue, with pearl buttons and a tiny, rounded collar, this long-sleeved cardigan can be appropriately and prettily worn with practically everything. Nylon yarn is the magic ingredient and you, as the knitter, are the magician. You can have the knitting instructions at your fingertips, in sizes 14, 16 and 18, by just sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper for CLASSIC CARDIGAN, Leaflet No. C-104.

His two brothers, Harry Latter of Whittemore and Arthur Latter, and wife, of West Branch were present.

Refreshments were served consisting of ice cream, a three-tiered layer cake beautifully decorated with roses and bells, and coffee.

All wished Mr. Latter many more happy birthdays. He is still in good health, attends church regularly and is able to do a few chores.

Farm Notes . . .

Winter Grass Institute March 3

Ways to cut milk production costs, put cheaper gains on meat animals and make farmers more productive through grass will be outlined for area farmers on Wednesday, March 3, at a Winter Grass Institute in Arenac county.

The program, arranged by Paul R. Pennock, host agricultural agent, will be packed with profitable tips from 9:30 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. at Veterans Memorial Building at Standish.

Farmer committees and neighboring extension agents helped plan the program on which farmers as well as specialist in soil science, farm crops, agricultural engineering, dairying and animal husbandry from Michigan State College will appear.

Farmers will tell of their own experiences with grassland farming, their pasture practices, their use of equipment and how they feed forages to get the most profits.

Motion pictures and slides showing good grassland practices will be included in the program. Farmers are invited to bring in hay and silage samples which will be judged and compared during the noon hour.

It will pay farmers who use considerable pasture, raise dairy cows or other livestock, and seek greater profits from roughages to attend this entire program.

The Isoco County Extension Service Advisory Board and Agricultural Council meeting held recently were attended by Orville Strauer, Thomas Nelkie, Lloyd Little, Harold Black, Mrs. Donald Greer, Mrs. Marvin Davenport, Mrs. Reuben Edle and Harold Hammond.

District meeting delegates, Orville Strauer and Mrs. Marvin Davenport, reported to the group information about the proposed Michigan Agricultural Marketing program, the reactivation of the State Bang's Control Committee, and brought them up to date on the development of the Extension Service personnel plan.

The agricultural council considered their problem of home rules or by-laws by which its membership is to be governed.

There are many "little known beauty spots" in Michigan. Most of us will never have a chance to see them personally, unless by special planning.

First we have to know of them. An opportunity to learn is being provided by a meeting for everyone, men and women, sponsored by the Tawas City Garden Club on Tuesday evening, March 2, at the Tawas Baptist Church basement, 8:00 p. m.

Speaker for the slide-illustrated talk will be Joseph Cox, extension landscape gardener of Michigan State College. Plan now to come.

The second Resort-Motel Institute at Michigan State College is on the docket for March 3, 4 and 5. Included in the meeting plans are sessions of interest to all who serve the touring and vacationing public. This includes resorts, restaurants, lunchrooms, cabins, motels and cottages.

Cooperating to present this program will be actual operators of tourist and resort businesses.

General Sessions: Sessions care and maintenance of floors; indoor and outdoor lighting; types of insurance protection for various businesses.

Resort and Cottage Sessions: Profit making ideas on outside appearance and landscaping; special entertainment for guests.

Motel Sessions: Attracting customers through improved grounds; appearance and plant material; successful office management, bookkeeping and accounting.

Food Operator Sessions: Food purchasing; new trends in frozen foods; demonstration on turkey and fish specially serving.

Anyone who wishes may see a complete program for the three days, and perhaps better decide if they wish to go for the entire institute or one of the days. Just contact your Extension Service office.

Those planning to attend can help the persons planning the programs by registering their plans for attendance ahead of time.

Word from the farm management department at Michigan State College is that farmers wishing to participate in the farm account cooperators project may get started at the time of checking books for those already in the program. The date will be Thursday, March 4. It is further explained that beginning now, there will not be a charge for checking of account books at the end of the year. Perhaps this fact will make a difference with some farmers. We suggest that you let us know by March 1 if you do want to get into this accounting program in 1954.

Calendar:
March 2, Tuesday—Tawas City Garden Club Guest Meeting.

March 4, Thursday—Date for checking farm account cooperators books.

March 3-5—Resort and Motel Institute at Michigan State College. Mats

Speaker at Winter Grass Institute— March 3

Cast on 28 stitches on No. 5 needles with 4-ply yarn. Knit until square folds into a perfect triangle, five inches by five inches.

One hundred forty-four colorful squares make one afghan. Call Dorothy Libka, phone 240-R, and she will arrange to have your squares or yarn picked up.

WHAT'S NEXT?—Women have been "fishing" for things in their crowded purses for so long that it comes as no great surprise that someone finally came up with the above purse design. Created by British designer Elizabeth James, the sequin-scaled, feather-fin bag's displayed by model Hazel Penman in London.

MOTOR VEHICLE TOLL
The motor vehicle was the nation's number one killer again in 1953, as in the last several years, with 38,300 deaths reported as a result of traffic accidents. This was the third largest such toll in history and only about 1700 below the all-time high of 39,969 in 1941.

A visit with Jo Ann Dufco, Iosco county's contestant in the State Cherry Pie Contest at Grand Rapids on February 11-12, tells us that she had a very nice time. She says that her pie turned out well, but 60 contestants made the competition keen.

A girl from Marquette county was awarded first place and the opportunity to represent Michigan in the national contest later this month.

Jo Ann says she made the trip with contestants from Ogemaw and Roscommon counties and Mrs. Irene Baird, Ogemaw county home demonstration agent. They were housed at the Pantlind Hotel. Speakers at the banquet included Detroit's Mayor Cobo and Mrs. Cobo. Their special tour, following the baking contest, was to visit the museum at Grand Rapids.

North Hale 4-H Club members have really been "Busy Beavers" this past month since their meeting where a movie and discussion on better home lighting and bulb selection was held with Harold Hammond, Consumers Power Company farm service advisor, as speaker.

Mr. Hammond says their order for bulbs will provide $7.75 for their 4-H Club treasury. A little figuring with your pencil and paper will show that it is necessary to make $35.00 in sales to have that much profit.

"Better bulbs will make better light" in Hale community homes.

Refreshments served for the Michigan Livestock Exchange meeting at Reno Township Hall by Taft Junior Farmers 4-H Club swelled its treasury by about $15.00.

We visited the 4-H Club Open House arranged by the 4-H Club last week. The young people had on display knitting and clothing projects on which they are currently working. Girls in the food preparation project gave demonstrations about measuring ingredients and preparing fruits to serve.

4-H Club Open House events are arranged by members and leaders primarily to provide an opportunity for other young people and adults in the community to see and hear about what is being done in the 4-H Club. We would like to emphasize that all families in the community are invited to attend 4-H Club Open House meeting night. It is a local achievement event.

"Almost finished with their towels," reports Janet Nelkie of the first year clothing project members in Laidlawville 4-H Club. She goes on to tell us that she and Ruth Ann Proper have skirts started, while Dorothy Wellna is working on a blouse. Part of the girls will meet with Mrs. Roy Atkinson, their leader, on Wednesday, and part on Thursday.

"Lorene Bielby, vice president of Busy Beavers 4-H Club, called the February meeting to order. The secretary and president were not present which is why the vice president took over. We met at the home of Mrs. Jacobs. We turned in our orders and money for light bulbs so that Mrs. Abbinante, our community leader, can get them for us.

"The next meeting will be at the Charles Bielby home in March. Games and lunch followed adjournment." Clifford Bielby, reporter.

"Four rope halters for 4-H Club calves in the beef and dairy projects at Friendship 4-H Club. These were completed at the last project meeting and we have planned a tour to see our calves next meeting." Gale Durant, reporter.

Boys, you will take precautions, won't you, about where and how you walk around in the barns you visit? Being ever watchful and careful is one of the ways to combat the spread of Bang's Disease.

Four lamps and one cord completed is the report from Friendship 4-H Club electrical project. Completed except for finishing, that is, because next time they meet a finish will be applied to improve the appearance and preserve the wood. These plans were reported by Laurel Whitford.

"The Laidlawville 'Gypsy Basket' has been all over among the 4-H Club members and neighborhood families. There is $16.00 in it. Ruth Ann Proper says we have $15.98 in our treasury.

"Roll was answered with our favorite Valentine verse. Project reports were given on handicraft by Larry Frank, dairy by Sharon Frank, clothing by Janet Nelkie.

"A committee was picked to plan for Open House. They are Nancy Proper, Janet Proper, William Laidlaw and Joyce Wellna.

"Our 4-H Club is going to sell light bulbs. We are having a contest, the boys against the girls. Whichever team sells the least bulbs will have to furnish refreshments for the sliding party to be held sometime this month.

"Song leader, Ricky Laidlaw, led us in singing; Larry Frank, recreation leader, provided games for us; refreshments were served." Joyce Wellna, reporter.

"4-H Club Open House was held by Taft Junior Farmers at Reno Township Hall on February 15. Meeting was called to order by Eilert Barnes, president.

"The treasurer's report indicated a balance of $24.90. The program included food preparation demonstrations by Lorne Mott, Janice Sturtevant, Mary Alice Waters, Barbara Robinson, Shirley Smith and Shirley Greenwood.

"Our 4-H Club decided to put up posters and exhibits advertising National 4-H Club Week March 6-14.

"Miss Scott examined our clothing and knitting articles and helped us to better understand how to complete them.

"Songs were led by Mrs. Hill, followed by motion to adjourn." Faye Pagel, reporter.

HDA NOTES

Calendar:
March 1, Monday—Home Demonstration Council meeting
March 2, Tuesday—Tawas City Garden Club meeting in Landscaping, Tawas City Baptist Church basement at 8:00 p. m.

Mrs. Charles Attwell, home demonstration council member from Hale, will hostess the regular council meeting this month. Her home is just east of Hale, and the meeting time is 1:30 p. m. on March 1.

Mrs. Marvin Davenport assisted with reporting the district extension advisory board meeting at our Iosco County Extension Advisory Board meeting held recently. Mrs. Davenport is a home demonstration council representative on the county board.

What is the fashion trend in new suits this spring? This question reflects more than womanly curiosity, it reflects good consumer buying or good wardrobe planning for the non-buyer. Let's look at these statements, face to face.

Certainly, if you are in the market for a spring suit you need to know fashion trends. If you do not plan to purchase, you need to know fashion accents to enable you to add the accessory or "that touch" which will bring your suit up-to-date. Or you may be interested in new fashion in 1954 suits for another reason, you may be buying in the sales right now. If so, you certainly will be guided by changes in styles and fashions trends.

Suits with belted-shirtwaist look in the jacket, jackets with peplums giving a casual expression, and many boxy jackets! Notice that many of the boxy jackets are semi-fitted. That means more women can wear them. Vests and weskits, many of them made of white pique, will be worn with boxy jackets.

Fitted suit jackets feature softly, rounded shoulders. Fuller, flared skirts are worn with fitted jackets. Notice the new pleated skirts with pleats starting at the hip line.

It is a low-neck year for suits. Open-necked, and low-necked collars, cut well below the neckline, will be the new in 1954 suits. There will be a sizeable collar on these low-necked suits. Furs, scarves, jewelry or blouses will "fill in" here.

Silk tweed is the surprise fabric in suits. Plenty of dark gray flannels, light-weight checks, salt-and-pepper tweeds, will be shown.

HOME AT LAST—The contraption above is an ancient fire engine originally presented to Alexandria, Va., by George Washington in 1764. A museum piece for more than 100 years, it was recently returned to its home at the Friendship Veterans Fire Company in Alexandria.

Sunday Deadline for Using Old License Plates

Got your 1954 automobile license plate yet?

Midnight Sunday is the deadline for donning the new plates, and the usual last week rush is on at the office of George Prescott, branch manager. "We're ahead of last year in sales," said Prescott, "but there are still a lot to be sold."

Prescott kept the office open all day on Washington's Birthday to accommodate license plate buyers. The office will close at noon on Saturday, February 27. A full office force is working to give maximum service.

"What Goes on Here"

Features Straits Bridge

Michigan's top news story, the building of the Straits of Mackinac bridge, will be a highlight of a unique new program being offered by television station WWTW, Channel 13.

Entitled "What Goes on Here," the new show brings to northern Michigan viewers the complete stories behind the area's major activities covered in pictures and personal interviews with people who are actually making the news.

Ward Mayrand, WWTW's news commentator, is moderator of the program. Information is compiled by the station's news staff.

"What Goes on Here" was televised for the first time last Monday night, when representatives of the affected communities and a state official discussed the CAA's proposal to close its stations in the Pellston, Gladwin and Cadillac areas.

The first in a series of "What Goes on Here" features on the Straits bridge will be aired over Channel 13, Wednesday, March 3, at 9:00 p. m.

Lawrence A. Rubin, secretary of the bridge commission, will report on the history of the bridge idea, the planning and preliminary work done to date, and the schedule for the future bridge activities.

Mr. Rubin will be questioned on bridge issues during the show by citizens of northern Michigan communities who have been invited to take part in the panel discussion.

Other programs on the bridge will follow over "What Goes on Here."

High Cost of Building Gives New Trend to Homes

The high cost of building today has made us become realists about the use of space. We want our houses to be lived in, every inch of them. For most of us the formal drawing room is a thing of the past. Gone too, in many small houses, is the dining room. In its place is a more spacious living-dining room. The study-guest room is often found replacing the guest bedroom.

The furniture of today is comfortable and sturdy. The pieces are usually related but not matching. Lighter colored woods are replacing the dark-toned woods of the past because they are less prone to show marks and dust.

People are learning to make the best use of what they have. Combinations of furniture are interesting and individual and can be tied together with color.

The room without a mantel is a decorating problem. It need not be so, however. The point is to make a center of interest if you have not the ready-made note of a fireplace. There are various ways to do this. One of the best is a sofa grouping, either in connection with a group of windows or with an upright wall decoration.

There must be "uprights" in decorating. The mantel-piece is an upright. This makes the horizontal lines of a sofa or chairs form a pleasant composition. Place a picture or group of pictures above a sofa to give the upright line.

Often a large, tall piece of furniture, flanked by pictures can be made into the center of interest of a room. A secretary or a large table with a hanging mirror or group of prints, are examples.
