Braves Make Clean Sweep of District Class B Honors

Win From Pinconning and Gladwin

Team Went to Cadillac Thursday Night For Regional Tourney

Tawas Area High made it a "clean sweep" of District Class B honors last Saturday night by defeating Gladwin, 64-58, in the finals. The Braves won their first game in the West Branch district toumey when they defeated Pinconning, 58-47, Thursday night.

Coach Mark Defibaugh's team now moves on to stiffer competition Thursday night. The Defibaughmen have their work cut out for them as Ludington reached the semi-finals last year and has been rated in the top 10 teams in the state all year.

The second quarter was the only period in which Tawas did not out point Gladwin. After taking a 20-14 lead in the first quarter, Gladwin erased it with 16 points against 'Tawas' seven to take a 30-27 lead. In the third quarter Tawas outpointed Gladwin 17 to 13 points, to take a 44-43 lead. In the final stanza, 20 points put the game on ice for Tawas. Gladwin made 15 points.

Ed Davison took scoring honors for Tawas Area, sinking 18 points, followed by Morley with 16, Anschutz with 15 and Hertzler, nine. Schultz was high point man for Gladwin with 20. He was followed by Schwager with 15.

4-Year Old Boy Drowns in Rifle River at Omer

Richard Gehman, four year old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Gehman of Omer, was drowned in Rifle river Monday morning.

The accident occurred a short distance below the US-23 bridge at Omer. Richard and his brother, Robert, age 6, had crossed the ice on the river. Robert fell in first and his little brother came to help him. In the attempt, Richard slipped under the ice.

Eldina Edringer, who was at her grandmother's home nearby, heard the boys scream. She ran down to the river. Seeing Robert, she called to him to "hang on" and then ran for help. Robert was rescued, but a two day search had failed in finding his little brother.

Committee May Question Legal Status of District

"The Citizens Committee for Better Schools, represented by Elmer Werth and Deloise Durant, verbally served notice upon the County Board of Education, that it is considering a review of the school district reorganization petitions," reported County Superintendent Russell Rolin, to members of the Tawas Area Board of Education, Tuesday night during the regular meeting at the Tawas Chamber of Commerce Building, in an apparent attempt to contest the legal status of the district."

Rollin, appearing as an official representative of the county board, intimated that if the citizens could find anything out-of-order, the very existence of the Tawas Area School District may be challenged.

One of the largest citizens groups in attendance at an Area meeting in recent weeks heard the county official explain that while the objectives of the so-called Citizens Committee for Better Schools were not entirely clear, the committee evidently is interested in reviewing old photostats of the petitions circulated in East Tawas. "Chairman Deloise Durant and Elmer Werth of the C. B. S. group informed me that Arthur Kinane, Bay City Attorney, had been retained as counsel," Rolin said.

"We school people were aware of vagueness in the school law at the time of circulation of petitions during the summer of 1952," Rolin commented, "but the thoroughness and accuracy of the organizers and workers who performed the field work should prove difficult to contest." If legal action should evolve from the citizen's committee research, it would have to be directed against the County Board of Education.

Rollin's announcement surprised those monitoring the Area board's meeting and touched off lively discussion when the meeting was thrown open by President Harold L. Gould. Many questioned wonder as to why the C. B. S. group apparently want to try to break up the district when the majority of the electorate favored reorganization and such strong minority support favored the board's school program in the recent bonding election.

Allan Herriman, of Grant Township, gave an unqualified endorsement to the board's school program and remarked that he thought it would be a mistake to cut or curtail building plans in anyway. "I'm in favor of bonding for $775,000,"

Ron Korhals of Wilber Township, stated that he felt the board should continue "positive action." He questioned the absence of C. B. S. representatives. "I thought they were supposed to show up tonight with facts and data supporting their proposals. Apparently, their information is difficult to substantiate since they didn't show up."

Discussion was varied and covered a wide range before Gould called for a return to regular order of business. Gerald Herriman, East Tawas resident, suggested that "the board carry information to the people on a more complete scale in the future."

Charles Kobs, Tawas Township farmer, raised questions concerning registration and the ability to clarify taxpayer-non-taxpayer situations. Glenn Long, Tawas township supervisor, volunteered the opinion that the board of supervisors would cooperate in furnishing registration lists for verifying and identifying taxpayers at any future election.

Tawas Cityan Art Wegner asked whether it could be arranged to hold future school elections in precincts or districts. The board explained that steps were being taken to effect a registered school district and that possibly five precincts could be set up.

Another suggestion to keep citizens of the district better informed on school program developments came from Lawrence Ball of Grant township. He asked the board to consider publishing letters from other communities dealing with their experiences in improving school systems so that Tawas Area could profit from them.

Consideration of teacher's contracts and plans to purchase a replacement bus, together with routine business were other matters on the board's agenda. All members were present.

Signed:
Walter Niles, Secretary,
Tawas Area Board of Education

3,882 License Plates Sold up to March 10

"Sales of 1954 passenger car license plates from December until the morning of March 10 totaled 3,882," states County Clerk George A. Prescott, manager of the Isoco county branch of the secretary of state's office. This is 356 more than during the corresponding period of the 1953 license plate sales. Last year 3,468 had been sold by March 10, Prescott said.

"Last year topped all previous sales of license plates in Isoco county. At the end of the 1953 season, $100,824.41 had been received in this office for all plates for all types of vehicles, in the three adjoining counties, Arenac sales amounted to $74,048.63; Ogemaw, $74,918.08, and Alcona, $37,869.51. The total for the state in license plates was $55,144,482.19."

Last year 6,158 vehicles were registered in the county. There were 4,294 passenger cars, 613 commercial vehicles, two hearses and ambulances, 332 farm trucks, 702 trailers, 89 housecars, 27 motorcycles and 99 municipal plates.

The tremendous change in means of transportation during the past 38 years is shown by state registration figures. In 1916 passenger cars licensed totaled 148,493, the year 2,414,946 cars were licensed.

Human Reared by Animals

From faraway India comes another story of a "wolf-boy." Medical authorities in Lucknow have recently been carefully observing a growling, nine-year-old, who walks on all fours and who likes only raw meat.

He was found in January, and doctors have diagnosed him as definitely human, although they believe he was apparently reared by animals. He is being given cooked meat, and other prepared food, although he still prefers raw meat and is reportedly not doing well in a heated room, on cooked food. Occasionally, he tries to bite attendants.

It is pretty well established that the boy was reared by animals of some kind, since he has developed a double set of upper jaw incisors, which are used to gnaw bones. A wire report from India says that there have been perhaps as many as forty such cases or similar cases, throughout the history of India. This is not the first case, by any means, but is the latest.

The effort to rehabilitate this youth, or sell him the civilized way of life, will be interesting to watch. No doubt this wolf-boy may become as well known as any of the famous freaks of recent decades. While we hope that Indian doctors succeed in teaching this youngster to walk, and to accept our civilization, perhaps the wolf-boy knows more than his so-called civilization friends.

Knowing both modes of life perhaps he prefers the animal world. That may be his reason for biting attendants, and he might be right in his diagnosis. Having seen only one side of the question, our modern civilization, we are inclined to believe that the youth may have some points on his side of the contest.

CHURCH ACTIVITIES . . .

- "The Street"—Skid Row Film Scheduled by Baptist Church
- Authentic scenes from Chicago's Skid Row are featured in "The Street," new color documentary film which will be shown at the Tawas City Baptist Church on Sunday, March 14, at 8:00 p. m. The film audience will see how Skid Row alcoholics drink wood alcohol by squeezing the liquid through stale bread to strain out the poison. They will see scenes of the "bottle gang," whose members rendezvous in an alley to share a bottle of cheap wine and spin tall tales.
- "The Street" is based on an actual case history from the files of the Pacific Mission, who are sponsoring the new film, directed by Supt. Harry Saulnier. It tells the story of a youthful alcoholic who turns to God out of the depths of spiritual and physical need.
- Cavalcade Productions, who previously filmed "Out of the Night" for the mission, produced the new picture, with Dale McCulley handling script and Henry Ushijima in charge of direction and cinematography. The leading role was taken by James Hues.
- The mission also sponsors the "Unshackled" radio network program, a half-hour dramatic show which is also built on case histories from the mission. The public is cordially invited to attend. An offering will be taken.
- Bible Comment:
- Heritage of Liberty Given to World By Jewish People
- THE story is well known how Jacob and his great company went down to Egypt and flourished under the power and patronage of his illustrious brother, Joseph.
- But it is a story that cannot be too well known.
- Trouble began for these people in that foreign land when there arose "a pharaoh, who knew not Joseph." Racial and religious prejudice, still rife in our own supposedly enlightened environment, soon wreaked its havoc on the Jews.
- Great works of ancient times soon became symbols of injustice and oppression. Forced to make bricks without straw, the remnants of those who had come to Egypt seeking food were cast into bondage, suffering cruelly.
- Later, a man, foster son of the palace, renounced his foster mother and his prospect of ease and power to share the affliction of his people. He led them out of bondage toward freedom.
- But it was, as we know, by no means as simple as that. Hardships, discouragements, rebellious spirits and yearning to turn back marked the way until the freedom of Canaan was won.
- Out of that unpleasant march came what shines with special glory—the conception of liberty enshrined in the ancient Jewish Scriptures.
- In a world marked with slavery, it is remarkable how the Jews designed laws and regulations to protect the community against slavery and the individual in his rights.
- One cannot go into this fully here, but one can point to the land's laws designed to prevent serfdom. There was the law which protected debtors from becoming permanent slaves to their creditor. There were the Cities of Refuge where one who had inadvertently injured another could go for safety.
- The heritage of liberty that the world owes to the Jews is immense. Unfortunately, the world has never fully appreciated it.

Do You Remember This?

An early Super Market—This is where some early Tawasites bought their groceries and meats. If you will notice, most everything is in the bulk, no refrigeration for meats, and not many canned goods, a sign of home canning. The above scene was taken before the turn of the century at the Emil Buch Grocery. The two boys in the picture are Emil and Fred, with their father, Albert Buch brought the picture in to be copied and placed in the Centennial picture exhibit.

No Water Trouble There?

No water source problem at Rose City. A new well, recently drilled, nearly flooded the town. Unable to cap the well, it became necessary for a clockwork crew of men to keep nearby basements from being filled with water.

"Are They Big Crows?"

This was William Borosch's thought as he looked out on the ice Friday morning and saw three big birds. Training field glasses on them, he discovered they were eagles. Eagles are not unknown in this area, but are rarely seen except in early spring when they travel up and down the shore.

All-Purpose Glassware Is Popular

BY EDNA MILES

If yours is to be a June wedding, it's none too soon to start thinking about what you want in tableware and glassware. It may be that your ideas will be changed completely when you start to look around.

Perhaps you still entertain the notion that you should have one set of tableware and glassware for "best," another for practical, everyday use. This is an idea that's becoming outmoded.

Living today is less formal than it used to be, and this means that brides frequently pick one pattern in tableware, one in glassware and one in silver or stainless steel to serve for all occasions.

According to industrial designer Freda Diamond, the new shorter-stemmed, well-balanced glasses have been designed especially so they will not topple easily nor break readily. It's this designer's opinion that lovely glassware should require a minimum of care.

Most of all today's glassware serves more than one purpose. A sherbet glass may also be used for fruit cup, shrimp or oyster cocktail or even for champagne. The low-stemmed wine glass will double for breakfast juice, and the tall pilsener glasses are often used to hold paraffin.

In keeping with today's trend toward informal but gracious living, this bride has chosen simple, silver-banded glassware and combined it with silver-rimmed china plates.

In short, if a glass suits the purpose for which you need it, then it's the correct glass.

One of the newest designs created especially for the bride by Freda Diamond is a low-stemmed, platinum-banded pattern called "satum." It's classically simple and medium priced. And there's a complete line of stemware as well as tumblers in various heights.

Lloyd Springsteen and Delois Allen were home for the weekend.

Mrs. William White and Mrs. William Rahl of Turner spent Tuesday with Mrs. Dale Johnson.

The Dorcas Society met on Thursday, March 4, for its regular meeting. Pot luck dinner was served at noon to the public. They also have woven rugs and fancy work for sale. You are welcome to attend the next meeting on Thursday, March 18.

The Reverend Hill of the Prescott Baptist Church and the Rev. Jack Richards of the Hale Baptist Church exchanged pulpits last Sunday morning.

The Past Matrons Club entertained their husbands at a 6:30 chicken dinner on Friday evening in the dining room of the Masonic Temple. The table was beautifully decorated in St. Patrick's Day colors and motif. The club's business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Thurman Scofield. Games and a social hour followed.

'SMALL DOSES'

You do not hasten recovery when you take prescribed medicine in larger quantities or at more frequent intervals than those specified by your doctor and stated on the label of the medicine. In fact, "over-dosing" can be injurious—particularly with certain potent drugs that are prescribed and dispensed in small quantities. Always read the directions on the label—and follow them to the letter. Take your medicine exactly how, when, and in the amount your doctor has determined as best for you. These instructions, precisely as given by your doctor, are neatly typed on the label when you have your prescriptions compounded here.

Half-ton beauty with a two-ton punch

GMC HYDRA-MATIC TRUCKS

THIS new '54 GMC light-duty wasn't born just to win beauty contests.

Sure, its sleek lines, full-width grille and panoramic windshield are handsomely un-trucklike.

There's the same dashing air about the inside, too. Two-tone color scheme. Harmonizing, supple-as-leather upholstery. Smart instrument panel, with dials clustered for instant reading.

But mister—take another look!

A burly, brawny brute of an engine—a real truck engine—makes you think of a Miss America who also can bend horseshoes. 125 horsepower says that this beauty can heft a top load with ease and dash.

That's more power than some makers pack into their two-ton models. That's more usable power than in any other 6-cylinder engine in its class!

And its wide, deep box holds at least 8 cubic feet more than the roomy '53 model. That tail gate is grain-tight—and sand-tight.

Finally, it offers Truck Hydra-Matic Drive* that saves you, saves your cash, saves your time.

(Note to the luxury-minded: there's a DE LUXE model at extra cost, with chrome grille and trim, two-tone paint, curved rear corner windows—the works!)

Come in and drive this great GMC. It will do all its own selling!

*Truck Hydra-Matic Drive standard on some models, optional at extra cost on others.

Calendar:

March 16, Tuesday—District Advisory Board Meeting.
March 17, Wednesday—Poultry Marketing Meeting, Federal Building, East Tawas, 8:00 p. m.

Those poultry raisers who are growing early (December-January hatched) chicks this year are already thinking about selling. To help us better understand and meet the marketing problem a meeting for discussing it is being arranged. The date will be March 17, Wednesday, J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State College, is coming to give us benefit of his experience and information on a state-wide basis. We have local problems with which it is desirable for us to acquaint Mr. Moore, and fully understand ourselves. A panel discussion will help, poultry raisers, retailers and feed men are to be invited to assist with it. You, too, will have an opportunity to express your opinion and experience. If everyone cooperates by attending the March 17 meeting and participating in discussions. It should be possible to improve our situation.

"Let's test, not guess!" invites Edward Longnecker, Michigan State College extension soil scientist.

Medical science uses the x-ray, metabolism tests, blood counts, and many other tests, checks and devices in diagnosing disease in the human body. The soil scientist now uses sensitive scientific equipment to gain basic knowledge of the soil. Tests tell us about the quantity of plant food elements in the soil, the balance between the elements in toxic poisonous quantities. Furthermore, testing enables one to use fertilizer economically, possibly less fertilizer or a less expensive one.

The average commercial dairyman in Michigan can cut costs of producing milk by 20 to 25 percent. He can do it by producing better quality roughage, then feeding less protein and grain.

These are conclusions of C. R. Hoglund, Michigan State College agricultural economist, after a two-year study of 34 dairy farms in southern Michigan. Learn how it is done by requesting your copy of "High Quality Roughage Reduces Dairy Costs" at the county extension service office.

Egg prices are down and heavy hen prices up. This is one of the best times to cull, says MSC poultryman, J. M. Moore. He further asserts that every farm flock could have 10 percent of the birds removed without lowering production.

Emergency crops for forage are more expensive than forages grown in rotations but cheaper than buying feed. Rye gives the earliest of pasture, but it is too late now to seed last fall's rye. So, maybe some spring oats for five or six weeks of summer grazing when other pasture is short would be a good plan, suggests D. L. Clanahan, Michigan State College farm cropsman. If rye went in last fall with 300 pounds per acre of a fertilizer like 3-12-12, a spring top-dressing of 150 to 200 pounds of ammonia sulfate will pay, notes Clanahan.

Oats going in this spring should have 400 pounds of 10-10-10 or 10-6-4 fertilizer per acre at planting time if they are intended for hay or pasture. Field peas sown with the oats will boost the yield per acre and the forage quality.

Have Michigan farmers lost the art of working together in neighborhood bees? Not when it comes to doing large soil conservation jobs, according to E. C. Sackrider, state conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

There is a great opportunity for farmers in Isosco county to take advantage of Mr. Sackrider's following suggestions, involving two or more farms, states Gordon Hatch, local soil conservationist. "We are so accustomed to helping farmer cooperators of the Soil Conservation Districts plan and apply conservation practices on their individual farms that we overlook a very significant trend of district operators to group up for the larger inter-farm conservation jobs," said Mr. Sackrider.

"District cooperators have formed 111 group enterprises in Michigan and many more are in process of development," Mr. Sackrider reported. "Ninety three of these groups have completed work totaling 124 miles of drainage ditch and nine miles of tile construction. These groups range in size from three to 12 farms, with an average membership of eight," he said.

Conservationists are happy over this trend because it points to the increasing recognition by farmers that their soil and water conservation problems, to a large degree, extend beyond line fences, and therefore require the mutual effort of neighbors for correction.

On a somewhat different scale both farmers and city people are pooling their efforts toward watershed planning and treatment," according to Mr. Sackrider.

The small watershed approach, according to Mr. Sackrider, is by far the soundest way yet devised for soil conservation districts, farmers and urban people to join forces in doing necessary soil and water conservation work.

"The problem of the AuGres watershed is one that would be adapted to the 'small watershed approach' about which Mr. Sackrider speaks," explained Hatch.

"Soil, water and people are all part and parcel of the problems of good conservation. They are all part of the landscape of wa-

Well finished beef cattle will pay bigger profits this year than unfinished animals. George Braman of Michigan State College animal husbandry department points out a big price differential between these animals, even in the same grade.

To assure well finished beef means feeding plenty of protein supplement. Shop around for the best protein supplement buy, cottonseed oil meal is at an attractive price now compared with some others.

In general, market men are predicting a strong spring market for beef cattle.

The 1954 tourist season has excellent prospects of being a good one. But all tourist service businesses such as motels, cabins, cottage resorts food establishments must learn to cut costs and give more service. These views are based upon the advice from Michigan State College Tourist and Resort Extension and Research program.

Tips on more efficient business management are given in Circular R-601, "A Business Management Guide for Resorts and Motor Courts." Guest hospitality, making the tourist and his family feel welcome, is also stressed.

In addition, many suggestions are to be found in a series of four circulars describing games and entertainment activities suitable for motels and resorts. These are designated as R-701, "Outdoor Games," R-702, "Children's Games," R-703, "Nature Trails," and R-704, "Evening Programs." These circulars are available from your Extension Service Office in the Federal Building, East Tawas.

From Peterborough, New Hampshire, comes news of another registered Guernsey cow, "Thum Cold Cassie," owned by Alfred and Muriel Graves and Henry and Karl Luitje of Hale, which put 13,534 pounds of milk and 647 pounds of butterfat into the country's breadbasket. This is according to the official Advanced Registry record released by the American Guernsey Cattle Club. "Cassie," a junior four year old, was milked two times daily for 365 days.

Guernsey cows on official test have steadily increased production over the years. The average cow in the United States produces only about half as much as the average Guernsey on official test.

The sire of "Cassie" is Sander of Royalton. One son and seven daughters of this bull are listed in the Performance Register of the American Guernsey Cattle Club. This record was supervised by Michigan State College.

COUNTRY PLATTERS by LES CARROLL

WITH Gospel music proving increasingly popular on artists' personal-appearance tours, many sacred recordings are being made.

Some excellent releases are George Beverly Shea's "Prayer" (Victor); Martina Carson's "Lazarus" (Capitol); and Mac Wiseman's "Reveille in Heaven" (Dot).

Good sacred quartet numbers include the Sunshine Boys' "I Believe"; Revelaires' "In That Hour" (both Bilibtona); and Southern Harmony Boys' "Honey in the Rock" (Dixiana).

Love ballads are always popular, and especially pleasing are "The Curtain Never Falls" (Freddie Hart, Capitol); "Slowly" (Webb Pierce, Decca); and "My Heart Keeps On Beatin'" (Harry Rodacy, Imperial).

In the novelty vein are "Oh My Pappy" (Homer & Jethro, Victor); "My Guitar's Out of Tune" (Chuck Reed, Mercury); and "Left-Over Kisses" (Ernie Lee, MGM).

Although Hank Williams passed on over a year ago his records are still being re-released from MGM's backlog. His latest is "Low-Down Blues."

Other good releases are "I'm in Heaven" (Ginny Wright and Tom Beard, Faber); "Honky-Tonk Heart" (Ernest Tubbs, Decca); "Empty Feeling in My Heart" (Fred Crawford, Starday); "Lord's Last Supper" (Bobby Dick, Hickory); "I Need a Little Help" (Carlisle Mercury); "Waitin' for My Baby" (Hawshaw Hawkins, Victor).

Also good are "Somewhere" (Rex Allen, Decca); "Too Proud to Wear My Name" (Tibby Edwards, Mercury); "Knew I Had Lost" (Sheb Wooley, MGM); "Turn Around, Boy" (Roy Sneed, Valley); "Lovely Little Darling" (Boots Woollall, Capitol); "I'll Do the Dishes" (Joe Carson, Mercury); "A Man on the Loose" (Carolyn Bradshaw, Abbott); "Idaho Red" (Wade Ray, Victor); "Wild Fire" (Tex Proffit, Decca); "Hugga My Pity" (PeeWee King, Victor).

WITH Iosco 4-H Clubs

They Learn Four-Square
 by Norman Othello Sibley

There was a squealing, crunching sound of rubber tires on frosty snow as Seth Drayton drove into the Darrow yard one Saturday afternoon. Bobby Darrow, age 12, was hurrying to gather his carpenter tools—a hammer, saw, plane, square and coping saw. He was going to take them with him. He and Mr. Drayton, his 4-H Club leader, would soon join the other boys in a nearby garage where weekly handicraft project meetings were held.

"Don't forget your handicraft bulletin, Bobby," called his mother from the kitchen. Bobby was getting into his coat and hat. "Do you need those paints and brushes you bought yesterday?" she asked.

"No, mother," answered Bobby in a hurried voice. "I'm still doing construction work and sanding. Might be able to paint tomorrow."

All this while Bobby's younger sister and brother watched, wide-eyed with excitement. June and Jack were twins, nine years-old, and could not yet join the 4-H Club. But they listened attentively to Bobby's tales about making "square stock," his very first article.

The "square stock" was a block of wood three inches wide by five and a half inches long and three-fourths of an inch thick. It had to be true with the square on all edges and surfaces. Mr. Drayton had asked him to make three before one could pass inspection.

Jack and June had enjoyed hearing about his milk-stool, broom holder and wren house—the trouble and fun he had making a match box from plywood.

The frosty door hinges squealed as Mr. Drayton walked in through the back wood shed. "Hello, June; hello, Jack," called Mr. Drayton, as he spied the twins.

"What do you youngsters busy yourselves at on a cold day like this?"

"Not much of anything," ventured Jack. "Can we go with you?"

"Better not today, Jack," replied Mr. Drayton. "Another year or two and you'll be 10

4-H CLUB NOTES
 By DOROTHY SCOTT

Iosco county 4-H Club members are joined each week with more than 15 million boys and girls across the nation in observance of National 4-H Club Week.

Club members will note the week with exhibits at: Hennigar's East Tawas—clothing and knitting by Alabaster-Whitney 4-H Club; Mershel Hardware, East Tawas—Gun Safety by Alabaster-Whitney 4-H Club; Fox Hardware, Tawas City—Electrical by Alabaster-Whitney 4-H Club; Monarch's Men's Wear, Tawas City—Radio exhibit by Alabaster-Whitney 4-H Club; Herriman's Grocery, Sand Lake corners, Electrical, Beef and Conservation by Friendship 4-H Club; Posters at Sand Lake and McArdle's Grocery by Friendship 4-H Club.

The West and North Hale Clubs will have an exhibit at the Hale school and the Tawas City club will have an exhibit at Brugger's Market.

On a state-wide basis, Michigan's nearly 60,000 4-H Club members between the ages of 10 and 21 are pausing to review their accomplishments and to tell other boys and girls about the benefits of their 4-H Club program. These accomplishments include the completion of nearly 91,000 projects, about 4,000 more than a year ago.

One hundred forty-seven Iosco county boys and girls completed 233 projects in the past year. They met together often to work, to learn and to play. They completed for honors in competitive contests. These young people are well aware that their accomplishments are "due in a large part to the more than 60 local leaders who unselfishly devote much time to the guidance of their program.

Iosco county 4-H Clubs, members and leaders are most appreciative of the interest shown in them by local business people, through subscriptions to their 4-H Club magazine, 4-H calendars, trips and awards, recognition for the leaders, editorials, and expressions of encouragement in advertisements.

Calendar:

March 16, Thursday—District Advisory Board Meeting.

March 17, Wednesday—Poultry Marketing Meeting at the Federal Building, East Tawas, 8:00 p. m.

March 19, Friday—Adult Recreation School, Standish, 10:00 a. m.

Is it true that in Iosco county women do most of the poultry raising work? If it is, and you are one of those women, you will not want to miss out on a poultry marketing meeting planned for Wednesday, March 17, J. M. Moore, MSC extension poultryman, is going to be here to help us with the problem. Also planned is a panel discussion. Poultry growers, retailers and feed men are to share their experiences and ideas about what causes the problems we have and what can be done to improve the situation. You will have an opportunity to express your opinion, and that is what it takes to make a meeting good enough to result in action and improvements. Come and help.

Home demonstration group recreation chairmen are asked to let us know if they plan to attend the recreation school. In that way cooperative transportation can be arranged.
