SATURDAY BIG DAY FOR N. E. M. KIDS

To be Guests at Wurtsmith Air Force Base

Saturday will be a big day for children of Northeastern Michigan communities. Starting at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, more than 700 children will be guests at the Wurtsmith Air Force Base during the annual observance of Kids' Day. Later in the afternoon the children will have the opportunity to compete in a fishing derby at the East Tawas State Park dock.

This year Kids' Day is sponsored by Kiwanis International and clubs from Alpena, Oscoda, West Branch, Standish and Tawas will co-sponsor the program at the air base. The fishing derby is being co-sponsored by the Tawas Kiwanis Club and the Isosco Sportsmen's Club.

Plenty of action and thrills awaits the visiting children at the air base. Starting at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, the children will be taken on a tour of the base and later will witness a demonstration of jet aircraft flying formations, a static display of jet aircraft and a C-47 transport plane. A helicopter demonstration and fire-fighting tactics will fill out the program.

Two hundred school children from Tawas Area public and parochial schools will be included in the day-long program. Eighth grade students will be given first choice to attend the program at the air base, with students from the seventh, sixth and fifth grades next in line to attend.

Tawas Area superintendent of schools, Reynold Mick, said earlier this week that school buses would pick up the children at the East Tawas and Tawas City school buildings at 8:30 a. m. for transportation to the air base.

Many prizes donated by local merchants will be awarded to winners of the Kids' Day fishing derby at the park dock. Grand prize in the Senior Boys Division for catching the most fish is a week vacation at Camp Mahn-go-tah-see, located at Loon Lake near Hale.

The fishing derby, which will be held from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m., will be open to children from six to 15 years of age.

Pontiac Couple Buy Shoreline Diner

The Shoreline Diner, located on south US-23 in Tawas City, was sold this week to Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Bingham of Pontiac. The new owners took over the business this week.

The restaurant was formerly owned by the late Bernard C. Brooks, who passed away last week. Mrs. Brooks and family are moving back to their former home at Bay City.

The new owners of the restaurant have several years of experience in the business. The sale was handled by Nellie I. Brooks, real estate broker, of Tawas City.

In those days, Mr. Conklin recalls, there were four passenger trains daily as well as local and through freights, and special trains to Prescott, Rose City and Lincoln branches. He said that in the old days the agent drew $75 a month while his three helpers received around $40 a month.

Mr. Conklin moved to the general offices to become ticket accountant in August of 1937. Later the duties of the position were changed and incorporated into the present title of accountant-general office.

The various farm locations will be forth coming in future announcements.

Braves to Play St. Stanislaus Saturday Night

High school football will take over the limelight on the athletic stage in the Tawas Saturday night, when the Tawas Area Braves meet St. Stanislaus in the season opener at Bay City. The game will be played under the lights at the St. Joseph athletic field.

Coach Fred Hickman said Wednesday that several starting positions in the Braves' line-up were still in doubt for the Saturday night opener, but added that in the Braves' backfield he would probably have Bob Hester calling the plays at quarterback, Gary Stephan and Don Harmon as the backs and Ken Rollin at full back.

"It's kind of a toss-up right now on who will start in the game," said the Braves coach, "but before Saturday's tilt the line-up will be firming up."

The Tawas mentor said that in his forward wall he would have Dave Featheringill and either Bill DeLosh or Bill Button at ends, Alan Prescott and Darwood Lepard at the tackle positions, Fred Rieger and Milton Waldie as guards and either Don Phillips or Jutty Austin in the center position.

Coach Hickman singled out tackle Darwood Lepard as one of the most improved players in his line-up. The 235-pound tackle is expected to tighten up the Tawas defensive line.

Charles Conklin Retires From D. & M. Service After 47 Years

Veteran Detroit and Mackinac general office employee, C. H. "Charlie" Conklin, retired last week Wednesday and brought to a close 47 years of railroad service.

Beginning his railroad career at the age of 20, Mr. Conklin became assistant warehouseman at the old East Tawas depot across from the Holland Hotel in September of 1907. In August of 1916, he advanced to the position of station agent.

In those days, Mr. Conklin recalls, there were four passenger trains daily as well as local and through freights, and special trains to Prescott, Rose City and Lincoln branches. He said that in the old days the agent drew $75 a month while his three helpers received around $40 a month.

Herman Heierman Purchases Collins Store in Whittemore

Herman Heierman, formerly of Morley, has purchased the Joseph Collins Store at Whittemore from Mrs. Collins. The transaction was made through Ira Scofield, real estate broker, at Hale.

The Collins Store was one of the important business enterprises of the area. Operated by the late Joseph Collins for many years, it had been originally established as a hardware. During Mr. Collin's ownership its scope had been widened to carry many varied lines of merchandise. Some were unusual in this gasoline age, in that you could still purchase a harness or cradle at the Collins Store, as well as modern farm and home equipment.

Mr. Heierman, the new owner, was born at Turner and resided there until 1922 when he went to Detroit to work in a factory. In 1946, he and Mrs. Heierman returned to Turner where they built and operated a service station and grocery store. They sold the business in 1950 and went to Morley, but liking Northeastern Michigan, they have returned to this area.

To Regulate House Trailer Parking in City

House trailers parked and used for residential purposes within the city limits will be licensed and placed under uniform regulations when a new ordinance, adopted by the Tawas City Council last Monday night, goes into effect. It is similar to trailer parking ordinances adopted in other communities, states Mayor George W. Myles.

Because of the increasing use of house trailers as more or less permanent homes, a set of rules governing their use was found necessary. The ordinance adopted is a result of several months of discussion and study by the council.

The license fee and permit was set by the council at $15.00. The permit has a 30-day limit and each renewal will cost $10.00.

Application for a permit must be made with the chief of police. If the applicant is not the owner of the property on which the trailer is to be parked, the property owner's written consent must accompany the application.

One of the principal objects of the ordinance is to govern sanitation. No house trailer may be parked on a vacant lot without provision for sewer and water facilities. These must conform to the city building code.

When parked on lots where dwellings exist, sewer and water connections approved under the ordinance must be used. The ordinance provides for investigation and inspection by the police department.

Must File by October 10 for 'Any Deer' Season

The Michigan Department of Conservation reminded deer hunters this week that in order to become eligible to hunt during the special one-day "any deer season" on December 1, the hunter must fill out the special permit and have it in the mail not later than October 10.

Application cards and full details about the special deer hunting season are available from local license dealers and the Department of Conservation, Lansing 26, Michigan.

Isosco county is included in Area D during the one-day special season. Other counties in this area include the counties of Leelanau, Benzie and portions of Alcona, Oscoda, Crawford, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse, Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Roscommon and Ogemaw.

The southern boundary line of Area D in Isosco county follows along M-55 and ends at the junction with US-23 in Tawas City.

D. & M. Doing Its Part in Transportation

"The recent action of the AuGres Chamber of Commerce in sending a representative to the Tawas body in an effort to enlist assistance to allegedly secure 'improved freight service for the Lake Huron shore,' has had apparent aspersive reflections against the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company," stated Charles A. Pinkerton, president and general manager of the company this week.

In a letter to A. Don Anderson, president of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Pinkerton said that through libelous interpretation of both verbal and written reports, some members of the public have been misguided into believing that the company, as a common carrier serving Northeastern Michigan, is not doing its part adequately serve the transportation needs of the region.

Mr. Pinkerton expressed his appreciation to the body for its non-committal and passive policy towards the AuGres proposal. No signatures from the Tawas area had been placed on the petitions and the chamber plans to return them to the AuGres group. "Such action is gratifying and constitutes a rebuttal of the all encompassing AuGres indictment, said the Detroit and Mackinac president.

The matter of an "efficient means of transportation in Northeastern Michigan" was brought up at the last meeting of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce on September 8 by George Conklin of the AuGres Chamber of Commerce.

According to the AuGres spokesman, a large industry is expected to locate at AuGres, but the company needed the assurance of adequate transportation of freight.

"A railroad has one thing to offer to justify its economic existence and this is service," said Mr. Pinkerton. "This item of service responds to its own law of supply and demand; the supply will meet the demand."

"Our present transportation plant is capable of handling much greater demand than it is called up to do," said Mr. Pinkerton. "Our average trains handle approximately 4,500 tons. They can handle 9,000 tons of payload on 120 cars in a single train. We presently have one train north and one south daily between Cheboygan and Bay City. This number could be increased infinitely if demand warranted," he said.

"Incidentally," Mr. Pinkerton added, "we provide AuGres with daily truck service. That community receives rail service whenever they have a single car to move. Were the demand to exist, we could easily provide daily and even hourly service."

During the past two years the Detroit and Mackinac Railway has served in a positive economic way by fostering the industrial development of this area, being instrumental in its growth. Three of these located in the Tawas area and substantially augment the community purchasing power.

Another important local firm, the Anderson Coach Company, has been maligned by the reports that adequate transportation service in our region is wanting, we also feel that the enumerated facts should help defend the D. and M. and possibly correct any misunderstanding.

He continued, "I would like to reiterate: This company has a substantial record of service to the area—in more ways than transportation alone. Our plant is modern and efficient. We have interstate service that is equal to that provided by motor transport carriers and in many cases, at lower rates."

Adequate Transportation Facilities

In another column of the Herald this week, Charles Pinkerton, president and general manager of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company, defends the railway against what he termed, "apparent aspersive reflections against the D. & M."

This defense of the railway was brought about after an attempt by the AuGres Chamber of Commerce to circulate a petition in the Tawas to the effect "that our present transportation facilities are inadequate" in Northeastern Michigan.

There is reasonable evidence that a downstate industry wishes to locate in the AuGres area. The mere fact, however, that one new plant is to be developed certainly would not justify another motor common carrier.

The D. & M.'s present transportation plant, which includes its subsidiary the Mackinac Truck Lines, is capable of handling much greater demand than it is called upon to do. Were the demand to exist, the railroad could easily provide daily and even hourly service to AuGres or other communities in Northeastern Michigan.

Besides providing dependable, year 'round freight service, the Detroit and Mackinac Railway is helping to build and develop the Northeastern Michigan area. Five new industries have been located in this area by the company and they are working on additional prospects all the time.

Still another factor which is important to Northeastern Michigan communities is the federal, state and local taxes which the railroad pays. Some of the tax money, it is pointed out, helps to support area schools.

The investment for the railway's transportation plant in the area is currently being increased beyond limits which can be justified by present user requirements. At present the company is spending thousands of dollars in an intensified program which will completely rebuild and rehabilitate its road bed. This is being done without the benefit of any subsidies from governmental agencies—supplied by citizens' tax dollars.

The Herald would like to point out, too, that we already have an efficient motor transport system which serves the Northeastern Michigan area—Molvana Truck Lines, Incorporated, of Alpena. According to a report from the Chamber of Commerce, representatives from this truck line made a survey of the area this week to investigate any trucking problems which may have arisen and to question the need of further trucking services.

The Herald urges all Northeastern Michigan communities who are investigating the possibilities of promoting new industrial plants in its area, to first sit down and talk any transportation problems over with Northeastern Michigan's two present-day transportation means—the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company and the Molvana Truck Lines. Both of these organizations will welcome the opportunity and will strive to give wholehearted cooperation in affecting solutions.

Christian Science Lecture Given Here Sunday Afternoon by E. Howard Hooper of St. Louis

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:
Who, in his present experience, does not earnestly yearn for the actual realization of the glorious promise contained in the opening verse of the ninety-first Psalm, "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty"? Who does not yearn for the reward which comes from dwelling in that "secret place," as stated in the tenth verse, "There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling?"

True Knowledge of God Essential

Down through the ages mankind has sought and continues to seek safety and security, health, harmony and strength through faith in God. Too often this faith has been little more than belief in a Supreme Being existing afar off in a place called heaven, beyond and above the realm in which men dwell. Such a belief, however, is not in accord with enlightened understanding of the Scriptures. Since a true knowledge of God close at hand is essential to our well-being and is humanity's means of salvation, the purpose of this lecture is to help us realize a greater awareness of the power and presence of God, here and now. Christian Science, based on the Bible, makes this practical, so that we can apply it to our present, everyday problems, thus proving that God is not afar off but is "a very present help in trouble," as stated in the forty-sixth Psalm.

God Defined

Through the spiritual interpretation of the Bible we learn that God is not a magnified human, physical person, as has been generally believed, but is, as Christ Jesus declared, "a Spirit," meaning one Spirit, "and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24). God was revealed to Job as Mind for he declared (Job 23:13), "He is in one mind." The Apostle John wrote (1 John 4:16), "God is love; and he that dwelleth in love, dwelleth in God, and God in him." The Scriptures also imply that God is All-in-all; that is, all-inclusive, boundless, limitless, exhaustless.

In the light of these Scriptural verses concerning the nature and character of God, let us consider the definition of God given on page 463 of Science and Health, in these words: "God is infinite, divine, supreme, infinite Mind, Spirit, Soul, Principle, Life, Truth, Love." Mrs. Eddy then asks, "Are these terms synonymous?" and answers: "They are. They refer to an absolute God. They are also intended to express the nature, essence, and wholeness of Deity." Thus we see that these seven synonymous terms for God actually define one another, so that we can say the divine Principle is Love, Love is Life, and so on. Each of the terms conveys to us and enlarges for us, the meaning associated with the others, and yet all are necessary to gain a broad and comprehensive knowledge of the creative power, a complete understanding of the profound significance of the word "God."

When one accepts this definition as a basis of thought (and this is the real key to the Scriptures which Mrs. Eddy has fitted to the willing hand), then there follows a logical and inevitably a correct idea of the

AUTUMN WEDDINGS

Earp-Johnson

Miss Maryverle Johnson became the bride of Robert H. Earp of Flint on Saturday at the St. Joseph Church. The Rev. Fr. Robert Neuman officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Arthur Johnson of Tawas City, chose a ballerina length gown of imported lace and nylon tulle over slipper satin. The strapless heart-shaped bodice had a petal pointed waistline, and the full skirt was of nylon tulle with lace panels. The all lace jacket buttoned down the back and featured a Mandarin tab collar and long sleeves. Her hand-rolled silk illusion fingertip veil was held by a crown of seed pearls, iridescent sequins and rhinestones. She carried a crescent bouquet of white and pink roses, tied with white ribbon streamers.

The bride's sister, Joanne Johnson, as maid of honor wore a light blue ballerina length gown of Magisheen taffeta and nylon tulle. The bodice was fashioned with a high empire waistline and halter tying at the neck. A short cut-away bolero covered the shoulders and gathered nylon tulle taffeta made up the bouffant skirt. She wore a band of yellow baby mums in her hair and carried a bouquet of yellow mums and roses.

The bridesmaids, Sally Gardner, Jean Hertzler and Mary Lynn Lambert, wore gowns styled identically to the maid of honor's in shades of aqua, pink and yellow, respectively. Their headpieces were of yellow and bronze baby mums and carried matching bouquets.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Earp of Flint, chose Thomas L. Gaola of Flint as best man. Frank Dasse, Neil Booth, Everett Robinson and William Turner, all of Flint, seated the guests.

The groom's niece, Mary Dean Myers, was flower girl and wore a pale green taffeta knee length dress with nylon tulle overskirt. She carried a small basket of yellow baby mums and wore the same in her hair. James Cherneski, cousin of the bride, carried the double rings on a square satin pillow.

Mrs. Earp chose a gray taffeta dress with full skirt and high empire waistline for her son's wedding. Her accessories were rose and her corsage pink roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride, where a five-tiered wedding cake, ice cream and punch were served to 90 guests. Out-of-town guests were from Flint, Grand Rapids and Fremont.

The couple left for a short trip in Michigan and will settle at Houghton where the groom attends Michigan College of Mining and Technology.

County Agent News

By MARVIN DAVENPORT

Rain or no rain, George Lake of Plainfield township and G. L. Clary of Reno township brought in some of their fat lambs to the lamb marketing pool. Both farmers had some prime and choice lambs graded.

Sheep raisers in Isosco county will get another chance to select a top quality ram from Michigan's leading flocks by attending the Ram Truck stop in their area. The Michigan Sheep Breeders' Association in cooperation with the county agricultural agents and the Animal Husbandry Department of Michigan State College will again sponsor this project.

Flock owners who need a ram this fall should contact me, letting me know what you want. You should also indicate the age of ram you prefer, the number of ewes in the flock, whether grade or purebred, and the price you wish to pay. A ram will be carefully selected for you and delivered to the Herford Club Association Yards in West Branch on Wednesday, October 6.

This method will make it possible for you to get a carefully selected ram, and the sponsoring organizations in planning to have sufficient rams of the breeds wanted on the truck. In case the ram does not suit you, you may select one of your own choosing.

Extra rams of the Oxford, Shropshire, Hampshire, Corriedale and Suffolk breeds will be carried on the truck in addition to those ordered. Those desiring rams of the other breeds should place their order as soon as possible so that a ram can be selected from them.

Even with a somewhat stronger slaughter lamb market than a year ago, prices on top quality rams have not advanced over last year. Good rams will be available priced between $45 and $75. This makes a good "buy" this fall.

Do you want some forest tree seedlings and small transplants? They are now available from the conservation nursery at Michigan State College.

A new feature this year is a windbreak package. For farm windbreak planting, it includes 100 red pine, 100 white spruce and 100 Norway spruce transplants. Only one package is available per person, for use as farm windbreaks only.

In addition to the common planting species, red, jack, white and Scots pine and white spruce, the following also are available now: Austrian and ponderosa pine, Norway spruce, black locust, tulip poplar and sugar maple.

A limited supply of black spruce transplants is available for Upper Peninsula plantings. This species is not well-adapted to lower Michigan, explains W. I. Bull, superintendent of the conservation nursery at Michigan State College.

Order blanks for stock are obtainable at the Cooperative Extension Service Office in the postoffice building in East Tawas.

Here's a bit of news for our farm folks using the services of the A. B. A.

New records have been made for conception rates with dairy cow artificial insemination.

Latest figures at the Michigan Artificial Breeders' Cooperative in East Lansing show a cow setting rate of almost 71 percent. That's compared to the previous 66 percent.

A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State College extension dairymen and manager of the MABC, points out that cows serviced by artificial breeding will conceive as often or more than those bred through natural service.

Further boosting the percentages of cows setting, hinges on how well dairymen cooperate in calling the inseminator at the right time, how efficient the inseminator is and how good a job the laboratory does in preparing the semen for shipment.

The MABC, he says, is using the latest advancements in semen preparation. The organization uses milk to dilute the semen, a technique believed to be better than the previous use of egg yolks.

The MABC supplies 140 affiliated organizations with semen five days a week. And the distance from East Lansing seems to make little difference on the results, according to A. Baltzer of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Co-op.

One of the big advantages of artificial insemination, adds Baltzer, is that it cuts down on disease dangers that are common in natural service.

Just received a bit of good advice from Dr. C. F. Huffman of the Dairy Department of Michigan State College. He says, "Steer clear of fancies in dairying." He further explains that dairy cows don't need a long list of high-priced feed supplements that are supposed to do everything but the chores on the farm.

Huffman names "big three" of dairy feeds, hay, silage and pasture, as the best sources of cheap energy. Now is the time to discontinue the purchasing of fancy feeds which tickle the imagination of the feeder, but do nothing for the health or production of the cow.

The "Unidentified grain factor" is also listed by the nutritionist as an important consideration. It shows up in large amounts in immature pasture and grain as well as in corn silage. Alfalfa cut in less than one-half bloom and immature timothy, bromes and quack grasses can be fed with much less grain than full bloom hay requires.

Huffman points out that in Michigan State College experiments corn in corn silage showed up as a potent milk producer. When feeding corn silage, allow for the grain in the silage. Grain fed in the manger should be reduced at least one pound for each 10 pounds of corn silage fed.

Clarence Carpenter sent us his August report on our D.H.I. A. herds. He indicated that 10 herds were tested with a total of 162 cows included in the test. The 10 herds averaged 769 pounds of milk per cow and 23 pounds of butterfat. Here is how the herds ranked:

Fifteen high cows regardless of age—butterfat basis:

Breed Name	Owner	Lbs. Milk	Pct. Fat	Lbs. Fat
1338	Arthur Povish, H. Mable	2090	3.8	79.4
1219	Arthur Povish, H. Burke	1640	4.3	70.5

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Here's a picture to be kept for sure. Not only is it good photographically, but the subject matter would make it a prize in any family album.

Some to Keep, Some to Throw Away

The other day, a friend and I were calling on a mutual friend—and we looked at his picture album. We exclaimed over how good his snapshots were, every one of them.

Now we know that snapshotting is easy and that most of the time we get excellent results, but every so often we slip a little somewhere. Yet, this album looked as though our friend must do everything absolutely right 100 per cent of the time.

When we made a remark to that effect he laughingly replied, "Oh, I think there are pictures to be kept, and pictures to be thrown away." He went on to say that he always takes more than one shot in any special situation—varying the point of view, the distance, or the composition. When he's using an adjustable camera, he sometimes tries different exposures. Anyway, then he puts the best pictures from each set in the album. That way he achieves the effect of always being right.

Being sentimental about picture subject material, I asked him about the times when he has only one picture of a subject that is dear to him and the snapshot just isn't quite up to snuff photographically speaking. "Do you throw those away?" I asked. His reply was in the negative—indeed not. Those he keeps for his personal enjoyment, or for sharing with some one who is equally interested in the subject. "I just don't wish them off on people who have only a general interest in my pictures."

I think he's got a pretty good point there—one that can apply just as well—or even better—to the color slides and home movies we project for our friends.

HDA NOTES

By Dorothy Scott
September 27—Cooperative Extension Service Advisory Board, Federal Building.

The Home Demonstration Council held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Black on September 13.

Fourteen were present at the Taft Junior Farmers 4-H Club meeting on September 6, where the election of officers for 1955 was held.

Laidlawville 4-H Club wishes to thank all of their leaders of last year who gave so generously of their time and help.

September 9 meeting found an election of officers on the agenda. Officers for 1955 included: Fred Frank, president; Joyce Wellna, vice president; Ruth Ann Proper, secretary.

Hale group had scheduled a meeting on an especially rainy night and not many were able to come, but those who did enjoyed textile painting, and two more women in that community have obtained paints of their own for use this fall and winter.

Last week we gave you a story about laundry detergents, soap, syndets, and water softening. Possibly we left you wondering about the amount of softener to use for laundering.

Mrs. Walter Laidlaw was selected community leader. Two projects will begin work right away. Handicraft with Franklin Bischoff as leader and junior leaders assisting him will be Larry Frank, Bill Laidlaw and Wayne Bischoff.
