The winners and still champions of the Michigan Canoe Championship, Bernie Fowler and Don Feldhauser, are pictured above as they crossed the finish line at Oscoda last Sunday. For their exhausting 17 hours and 38 1/2 minutes of paddling, the men were rewarded by receiving the $1,000 cash first prize and permanent possession of the Tom Marston trophy. Several thousand spectators jammed the banks of the river in Oscoda to watch the canoeists cross the finish line.—Herald Photos. (See page two.)

Grayling Canoeists Again Win AuSable Marathon Honors

The Grayling duo of Bernie Fowler and Donald Feldhauser were crowned champions of the Michigan Canoe Championship Sunday after they crossed the finish line first at Oscoda. This was Grayling team's third consecutive win in the championship race and earned them permanent possession of the Tom Marston trophy and a $1,000 cash first prize.

Drawing first position in a field of 25 entries, Fowler and Feldhauser completed the 240-mile grind down the famed AuSable from Grayling to Oscoda in 17 hours and 38 1/2 minutes. This year's winning time was five minutes slower than the Grayling team's record of 17 hours and 33 minutes set during the past two years.

Second to cross the finish line was the team of Steve Kolonich of Tawas City and Larry Kindell of National City. A cash award of $500 went to the second place winners, who, prior to this race, had won every other race they had entered this year.

Handicapped by drawing 16th place at the start of the race at Grayling, Kolonich and Kindell were unable to overtake the winners after passing 14 other canoes which started before them.

John Stephan of Grayling and Jack Kent of Atlanta won third place while Tom Gildersleeve and Ralph Sawyer of Oscoda won fourth place.

On hand to greet the canoeists at the finish line, the old US-23 crowd of several thousand persons, many of whom had followed the contestants down the entire course.

A particularly enthusiastic welcome was given to Fowler and Feldhauser at the finish line by their wives, who were cheering the winning of the Tom Marston trophy "meant more than the $1,000 cash prize."

This year's race was nearly a repeat performance of the 1954 contest, with Fowler and Feldhauser starting first and Kolonich and Kindell taking second both times. Last year John Stephan and Henry Feldhauser won third place and Merle Klein and Jack Kent won fourth.

Stephan and Kent teamed in this year's race to take third. Ralph Sawyer, a member of the fourth place team this year, teamed with Stewart McNeil last year to take the fifth place spot.

First team to leave the race was Richard Brohl and Thomas Halero of Oscoda who were headed to quit before reaching the Stephan bride with a hole in their boat. Three more canoes dropped out at Stephan Bridge, five at Wakely and a total of 10 boats had dropped out before reaching the headwaters of the Mio pond.

Fred A. Huber Jr. of the Detroit Red Wings and Chuck Davey, Michigan lightweight boxer who makes his summer home at Oscoda, made the presentation of prizes at the Oscoda athletic field Sunday night.

Mort Neff, well-known Michigan outdoor cameraman-reporter, covered the entire race from start to finish for his weekly "Michigan Outdoors" program which is televised locally over WJEM-TV, Bay City, Thursday nights.

Other teams to win the first place prize more than once during the nine-year history of the AuSable marathon was the Oscoda duo of Frank and Hugh Bissonette, who won in 1948 and 1949, and Ted Engle and Jay Stephan, who won in 1950, 1951 and 1952.

Winners of the junior canoe race Sunday were: First, Stewart Covey and Bob Beck, Oscoda; second, Bob Sharkey, Detroit; and Charles Furtaw of Oscoda; third, Larry Beck and Ron Hohman, Oscoda.

Gets William and Mary College Appointment

The degree of doctor of education was conferred on Thomas B. Metcalf at commencement exercises held August 15 at Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tennessee. He has since received the appointment of professor of education at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Virginia.

A graduate of Tawas City High School, Metcalf is the son of Mrs. Frank Metcalf of this city. He entered Central Michigan College of Education at Mt. Pleasant where he received the bachelor of science degree. After spending some time as a teacher, he served in the armed forces overseas during World War II.

Returning after the war to his profession as teacher, he later entered Peabody College for Teachers and received the master of science degree and this year received the degree of doctor of education. His dissertation was "Legislative Control of Tax-Supported Colleges for the Education of Teachers."

Immediately following commencement he had received offers of positions in two colleges in Illinois and William and Mary College. He said that it was not difficult to decide because William and Mary College is the second oldest college in the United States and has a great deal of prestige in the fields of law, taxation and education.

He and his wife went to Williamsburg last Thursday. His many friends here extend their congratulations.

'Young Old Timers' Show Spirit in 9-8 Game Monday

The Tawas City "young old-timers" proved to baseball fans here Monday that they were not quite ready for the wheelchair or that they should confine their baseball activities to the winter hot-stove league, losing to Tawas City Indies 9-8 in nine action packed innings. However, it was a different story Tuesday morning when several of the former Tawas City players, who nursed sore muscles after the Labor Day game, said that it was a good thing the game is held only once a year.

In the bottom half of the ninth inning it took the Indies only a couple of good wishes at the plate to settle the issue, the big blow, a double over the center-fielder's head clouted by Art Anschutz, scored Gary Humphrey with the winning run.

Prior to that the old timers had tied the score earlier in the ninth 8-8, scoring five runs on four hits, two walks and an error. The starting pitcher for the Indies, Casey Cavell, who has seen action at just about every infield position this summer, was relieved with the bases loaded and two men out in the ninth inning by Harold Wegner, who was credited with the win.

Pitching for the oldsters was the not-so-old Larry Frank, who was conscripted to strengthen the weak-armed old timers pitching staff.

The Indies scored five times in the bottom half of the eighth inning in what looked to be a complete rout. Frank allowed only four hits and three runs during the first seven innings in a fine pitching performance. In the eighth inning he was relieved by Reginald Bubla after allowing five hits. A fielding error, the part of the old timers figured in the scoring.

The Indies took an early one-run lead in the first inning when C. Lorenz reached first on an error. R. Anschutz fled out to centerfield, E. Long doubled, Humphrey walked, Warner was safe on a fielder's choice and Lorenz scored. Wegner fled out to right field.

The old timers tied up the game in the third inning after two men had singled to lead off the inning. E. Long singled, and scored on Katterman's single.

The Indies added a single run in the fourth inning when Warner reached first base on a fielder's choice, Humphrey out at the plate. Two errors in the old timers' infield allowed Warner to reach third base and he scored later on a ground ball hit by Wegner.

The old timers tied the game in the seventh inning when Prescott scored from third on an infield out after he had singled to lead off the inning.

The Indies took the lead in the seventh inning when Heriman and Lorenz both doubled. The score was knotted in the eighth inning when Groff was safe on a fielder's choice and scored on Nelson Thornton's.

Christian Science--

The vital importance of understanding God as the source of all true substance will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Readings in the lesson-sermon entitled "Substance" will include the following passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (335:12): "Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God. Things spiritual and eternal are substantial. Things material and temporal are insubstantial."

The indestructible nature of spiritual substance is also stressed in selections to be read from the Bible, including the following: "I know that, whatsoever God doeth, it shall be for ever: nothing can be put to it, nor any thing taken from it" (Ecc. 3:14 to 24).

The Golden Text is from John (6:27): "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for him hath God the Father sealed."

Two of the greatest performers ever to come to this country from the Orient, Chai and So-may, contortionists, will be one of many features in the "Harvest of Stars Revue" at the Saginaw Fair, September 11 through 17.

SAGINAW FAIR TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 11

The 1955 Saginaw Fair, "Harvest Holiday" opening Sunday, September 11, will mark the 42nd staging of this annual event. This year's Saginaw Fair will also add seven more days to the 262 already written into the record book since the first fair in 1914. That is the equivalent of 52 five-day weeks, with two days left over, or approximately one year of continuous education, entertainment and enjoyment for the people of Saginaw and eastern Michigan.

This "Harvest Holiday" edition of the second largest county fair in America, has more than 32,000 exhibits already entered for this year's judging and award competition, largest number of exhibits in the entire history of this blue ribbon agricultural event. Competitors will be vying for more than $28,000 in premiums, and awards won at the Saginaw Fair are considered a major step on the road to state, national and international championships.

A major change in programming at this year's Saginaw Fair will see different events and attractions being staged for the matinee grandstand patrons. On different days of the week, the spectators can watch such outstanding events as the famous Trans-World Auto Daredevil in their spectacular Thrill Show, the National Championship Heavyweight Horse-pulling Contest, Blue Ribbon stock judging, exhibitions of Square Dancing on Horseback, demonstrations of six and eight horse and pony Hitch Driving, Border Collie Dogs exhibiting their skill with wild ducks and sheep, plus the traditional afternoon variety circus show and entertainment. A spectacular evening show, the "1955 Harvest of Stars," will be featured nightly for grandstand patrons.

Sunday, September 11, has been dubbed "Thrill Day" for this year's fair, highlighted by the first grandstand appearance of the Trans-World Daredevil troupe. Monday, September 12, is traditionally "Kid's Day" at the fair, with a free gate admission to all children and reduced prices on rides and games throughout the 73 acre fairground. Tuesday, September 13, sees the revival of the popular "Thumb of Michigan Day" dedicated to the residents of the Thumb area and highlighted by the National Heavyweight Horse-pulling Championship contest. Wednesday, September 14, is "Merchant's Day," with special demonstrations and "Harvest Holiday" attractions featured in all buildings and exhibits. Thursday, September 15, is "Farmer's Day," featuring scores of special features and attractions of agricultural interests including the Million Dollar Farm Machinery Parade and top judging in draft horses. Friday, September 16, is "Industrial Day," and Saturday, September 17, is "Family Day."

Clarence Harnden, secretary manager of the fair, stated that commercial exhibitor interest in this year's event is the greatest he has ever seen. All display space in the commercial exhibit building has been spoken for since last year, and scores of new exhibits and displays, never before shown in this area, will be seen for the first time this year.

SNAKES IN PAIRS

Proving the saying that rattlesnakes come "in pairs," Mrs. Ario Sweppenheiser of Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania, killed a 35-inch rattlesnake in her backyard with a shovel. Still somewhat shaken by her experience, she started out her back door to find a bigger rattler coiled on the back doorstep. Carl Hunsinger, a neighbor, shot it. This one measured 40 inches.

Have you ever noticed that the average person listens to the man who talks loudest, not to the one who knows anything about the subject?

One thing for which 1955 will be remembered is the widespread usage of Bermuda shorts for the first time in the United States.

A picture like this tells its story at first glance and will provoke nostalgic memories for years to come.

It's School Time!

For the past few days we've been hearing bells ringing in our ears—and you know what kind, don't you? That's right—school bells! Practically everywhere across the country summer vacation is drawing to a close, and very soon now hoards of youngsters will be reluctantly setting forth for their annual battle with the 3R's.

School is a word that covers many activities and people. At your house, school days may mean a well-scrubbed, neatly combed six-year-old who's entering Class 1-A. Or it may refer to a daughter who's on her way back to high school or a son setting off to college. And to a teacher—if there's one in your family—it will mean readying the classroom for a new group of youngsters.

But no matter what new activities school days bring to your home, one thing is certain: It's no time to put away your camera just because vacation has ended. The school year brings with it many moments when you'll be awfully glad you had a camera handy. And remember, something as simple as a shot of the children prying over their homework projects or perhaps dressing up for the school pageant may turn out to be the most cherished picture of your collection in years to come.

The opening of school spells "camera" in another important way, too. It marks a time when junior members of the family especially appreciate having a camera of their own. Friends and classmates, school activities and events belong in any youngster's pictorial record—and he'll enjoy taking those snapshots himself, recording his own impressions just as he wants to remember them.

It won't require expensive equipment, either, for a simple box-type camera is all that's necessary. With a flash attachment and a supply of flash bulbs, Junior can take pictures under almost any conditions—indoors, day or night, in clear weather or cloudy, in early morning or after the sun goes down. In fact, don't be surprised if he's named official photographer for his class in school as well as for his Scout troop!

DOCUMENTARY FILM OF WAR IN EUROPE BEING SHOWN ON WNEM-TV

"Crusade in Europe," the epic television documentary of World War II taken from President Eisenhower's book of the same name, completed the first week of its concentrated five-week schedule on WNEM-TV, Channel 5, Bay City, Friday evening, September 2.

The dramatic series, produced from more than 165 million feet of official United States Signal Corp and captured German and Japanese film, follows the course of World War II from its beginning, before America entered the conflict through our eventual victory and its aftermath. During this first week's schedule, the special nightly half-hour series has taken the television audience through the dark period which preceded America's de-laration of war on Germany and Japan; our general state of unpreparedness; the accelerated pace of industry which geared up to meet our defense needs; our invasion plans and armies and the problems they met as they poured into England; the story of Africa, our first offensive in the war, and the beginning of the African campaign itself. This week, on the series 6:30-7:00 p. m., nightly schedule "Crusade in Europe" viewers will see the rout of Rommel; Operation Husky, in Sicily; our assault on Italy; the rise and fall of Benito Mussolini; and the rigors of the Italian campaign.

During this initial week of "Crusade," Jack Parker, former war correspondent serving as host and commentator for the series, interviewed several local area veterans whose own personal experience stories paralleled the action and events of the filmed documentary. Kenneth Anderson, Midland, former member of the British Navy from 1939 to 1945, appeared on the first program in the series. Other veterans who tied their stories in with the series were Burton E. Gilstad, Midland; Robert H. Moulton, Bay City; Joseph Closs, Midland; Edward R. Donakowski, Bay City; William Poulos, Midland.

Local veteran guests scheduled to appear during this week's series of five programs are Donn W. Pendleton, Beaver-ton; Donald Mead, Midland; Frank Robison, Bay City; Richard Sizemore, Midland, and George Momany, Midland. All veterans appearing on the program are employed by the Dow Corning Corporation, Midland, who is presenting this distinguished historical television series in observance of the 10th anniversary of the ending of World War II.

Moscow recently announced that some foreign correspondents in the Soviet capital would be allowed henceforth to file their dispatches without submitting them to censorship.

Former Lt. Aldo Icardi was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of perjury. The charges grew out of the mysterious slaying of Major William Holchan while on a "Cloak and Dagger" mission in Italy during World War II. The indictment charges that Icardi, now an attorney in Pittsburgh, perjured himself in testimony before the house investigators. Icardi stated that Holchan was killed by an enemy band.

Carrying slogans with such sentiments as "We Want Peron" and "Peron and No Other," crowds gather in the Plaza Mayo in Buenos Aires, Argentina, to demonstrate after Argentine President Juan Peron offered to resign. fielding ability and desire to win. That's a large order, of course, and that's why there aren't too many good pitchers around today. Most hurlers have one or more shortcomings.

A live arm means one that responds a few days after use and is ready for another nine innings. As pitchers age, their arms fail to respond for longer periods.

Fielding Important

A strong physique is necessary to stand up under the punishment of a full game of pitching. Concentration is mind over muscle, which helps make control, and also keeps the pitcher from becoming flustered in tense situations.

A pitcher's fielding is more important than most fans realize. He must be able to hustle on a bunt, throw well to second base to start a double play (the ball must be timed to reach the onrushing fielder just as he hits the bag) and cover first on a ball hit to the second or first baseman.

Control means getting ahead of the batters. If you can't get strikes across the plate, you have to come in with a fat pitch to avoid walking the batter, and then watch out.

The two types of control pitchers are spot pitchers and strike pitchers. The former tries to catch the corners, the latter seeks to get the ball anywhere over the plate with a lot of stuff on it.

Ed Lopat and Ned Garver are spot pitchers, Steve Gromek and Harry Dorrish strike pitchers. Ol' Diz was a strike pitcher until I started to lose some of my stuff, and then this Hickory and Horsehide reporter became a control pitcher in a hurry.

Cpl. Frank Roti Points Out New State Law Changes

Several important changes affecting law enforcement in Michigan were pointed out by Cpl. Frank Roti of the Michigan State Police, East Tawas. He said that they are among 40 amendments enacted during the 1955 session of the state legislature.

1. Minors—Malicious or willful destruction of property.

Effective October 14, 1955: The act is broadened to include those entitled to recovery of damages from parents for the malicious or willful destruction of property by minors a partnership, corporation or association, in addition to those previously named, any municipal corporation, county, township, village, school district and any department of the State of Michigan or any person. The amendment clarified the use of the term "person."

2. Yielding right of way.

Effective June 13, 1955: Local authorities may designate intersections at which vehicular traffic shall be required to yield the right-of-way at one or more entrances to such intersections. Where signs bearing the message "Yield right-of-way" are erected upon the approach to an intersection, a driver approaching such sign shall slow to a reasonable speed for existing conditions of traffic and visibility, yielding the right-of-way to all traffic on the intersecting street which is so close as to constitute an immediate hazard.

3. Windshield defrosters—Windshield washers.

Effective October 14, 1955: On and after October 1, 1955, no commercial vehicle licensed as such, shall be operated on the highways at any time between December 15 and March 15, both dates inclusive, unless it is equipped with a hot air windshield defroster or an electrically heated windshield or such other scientific method that may be devised so long as same is heated and maintained in operable condition at all times.

No motor vehicle licensed as such, and manufactured after January 1, 1956, shall be operated on the highways unless it is equipped with a windshield washer maintained in operable condition at all times and capable of cleaning the windshield in such a fashion as to leave the driver with a clear view of the highway or any intersecting highway.

4. Height of vehicles—Farm tractors and trailers.

Effective June 17, 1955: The height of vehicles hauling hay or straw or outdoor motor and row boats shall not exceed 13 feet, six inches when loaded.

A farm tractor may haul two wagons and or trailers, not exceeding in any combination a total of 55 feet, at a speed of not to exceed 15 miles per hour.

5. License plates—call letters, amateur radio licenses.

Effective October 14, 1955. A qualified applicant for special call letter amateur radio motor vehicle license plates must register the vehicle and obtain regular license plates. He may then file application for the special plates and pay a fee of $2. When special plates are received the

MICHIGAN OUTDOORS

INEQUITY OF HUNTING LAWS In the first of a series of meetings between sportsmen and Michigan farmers preceding the 1955 gunning season considerable complaining was heard from both factions relative to that highly controversial subject, Sunday hunting. One might expect to hear this sort of talk from hunters whose week end planning during the season must be fashioned around wide-spread differences in county hunting regulations. But loud wails came from the farmer contingent, too! The hard working members of the "backbone-of-our-nation" clan asserted that they, too, were mighty fond of hunting, but that farm chores kept them busy from dawn 'til dark most days except Sunday. Came a day off and the law says "NO HUNTING," even on their own lands, on Sunday. And so they were forced to hie themselves many miles away, into the next county, to enjoy a sport which they might have found right in their own back yard!

not urging universal Sunday hunting, nor were they suggesting a general ban on gunning on the Sabbath. They are pleading for ONE law covering all counties, assuring an even spread of hunters, and equal shooting rights for all. Difficult to Realize This may be a difficult concept to write into our regulations. Strong lobbies pro and con are active in many counties. If the state ever adopts a single law covering Sunday hunting this writer believes it will BAN all hunting, simply because the minority group in favor is so strongly entrenched. While organized sportsmen battle in favor of Sunday hunting, they represent only one out of every six hunters. Williamson Plan Scanned The State's Williamson plan calling for a union of adjoining farmers and subsequent issuing of numbered hunting permits on a per-acre allocation seems to be gaining favor. Conservation department supervision of the plan makes it still more attractive—but the problem of agreement between all farm owners involved remains the big stumbling block. One thing remains sure: The number of hunters is skyrocketing every year. The amount of available hunting land is actually decreasing. Borrowing from the lyrics of a popular song, "Something's gotta give!"

The soil testing program is an important part of the Cooperative Extension Service in Michigan. According to Paul Rood, Michigan State University's soil science department, some 65,000 soil samples were tested last year. This number represents an increase of 50 percent over the previous year, and a 100 percent increase over 1950.

Rood says that the university laboratory tested about 9,000 of these samples, and the rest were done by the laboratories in the various counties. These county laboratories are under the direct supervision of the county agricultural agent and are checked twice each year by the university to make sure their equipment and techniques are correct. In addition, the county laboratory receives a check sample from the central laboratory about once each month, on which the county's results are compared with those of the university.

In testing soil samples, the laboratories are able to determine the amounts of lime, potassium and potash needed to give the soil a good fertility level. The recommendations take into account the type and texture of the soil tested, since soils differ in their response to chemicals needed to correct the same condition.

 The acidity of the soil, used in measuring the amount of lime needed, is found in the pH number. This is really the number of hydrogen-ions, which are responsible for soil acidity, in the soil. A pH range close to 7.0, which is slightly acid, seems to be the best for most crops, especially alfalfa.

The element phosphorous is needed for cell division. If this important element is lacking, the growth of plants is stunted. Potassium is used in quantities second only to nitrate, and the supply should always be large enough for good vegetable growth.

In order that our farm folks know how to take accurate soil samples, we are setting up two demonstrations on Friday, September 9. One of these will be at Donald Daniels farm in Burlingame Township on Prescott Road from 10:00 a. m. until 11:00 a. m. The other will be at the Edward Burgeson farm in Baldwin Township from 2:00 p. m. until 3:00 p. m. Each session will not last more than an hour. Plan to come, it's informal, and we will answer your questions about soil and water conservation and cropping problems.

Here is a crop recommendation our farm folks should practice to get the greatest yields of legumes.
 This advise is to help you fatten up your legumes before you send them into winter hibernation. Lean and hungry roots have trouble with winter injuries, spring heaving and getting a fast start in the spring. Farmers who used 400 pounds of adapted fertilizer on each acre at seeding time can hold off top-dressing until the second harvest year. Others should put on a top-dressing after the first harvest year, according to our soil scientists, James Porter and John Rood at Michigan State University.

Soil testing is the best way to tell whether to use 0-20-20 for sandy loam and high clay content soils, 0-10-20 for sandy soils, or some other analysis. Fields should get 200 pounds per acre each year until they are plowed down. This will help alfalfa especially.
 Straight grass pasture that receives 40 pounds of nitrogen element in early September will give a full growth and high-quality forage. Nitrogen can be put on in the late fall in an ammonia form with little loss of nitrogen through the winter, but it must be put on before the freeze-up. This 40 pounds of nitrogen can come from 125 pounds of ammonium nitrate, 200 pounds of ammonium sulfate, 90 pounds of synthetic urea or 50 pounds of anhydrous ammonia.

Keeping good alfalfa stands with top-dressing requires a properly limed soil and a good alfalfa stand to start.

Dutch Elm disease was first detected in Michigan in the Detroit area in 1930. Since then it has spread to Saginaw, Flint, Coldwater, Berrien Springs and just recently to Grand Rapids.

Richard Fox of the entomology department at Michigan State University says Dutch Elm disease is a fungus disease originally imported from Europe. It was first detected in New Jersey in 1930. This disease attacks all species of elm in the United States, but it is especially dangerous to the American Elm which is the most widely used of our shade and ornamental trees. It spreads rapidly and kills smaller trees within a year.

The disease spores are transmitted by two species of bark beetles. These are the native elm bark beetles, and the smaller European elm bark beetle. When the beetles emerge from an infected tree, they carry the fungus spores to other trees. As the beetles feed in the crotches of small twigs and under the bark, the new tree becomes infected. Once the tree is attacked, it never recovers.

At the present time, the best control method known is two applications of DDT spray. The first of these should come just before the leaves come out in the spring and the second in mid-July. These sprays are intended to kill the emerging beetles before they can spread the fungus spores. Michigan law also requires the prompt removal and destruction of diseased trees. The law allows 10 days for this retroactive recovery line of attack is the attempt to clean up the beetle breeding area.

Calendar:
 Thursday, September 8—Cooperative Extension Service Advisory Board, 8:00 p. m., Grant Township Hall.

The Cooperative Extension Service Advisory Board is comprised of the Cooperative Extension Service Committee of the board of supervisors together with four representatives from each Home Demonstration and 4-H Club Councils.

This board meets occasionally to discuss together and with the county extension agents projects and programs being planned and carried on by men, women and young people. Each group being better informed about the the other is better able to work toward development of a unified family approach which will result in a truly "cooperative" extension service program in Iosco County.

Iosco home demonstration groups have expressed an interest in developing a home industries program, partly for the pleasure of accomplishment and partly as a means of additional income. About a year ago Michigan State University employed a home industries specialist who will be working with Iosco County women this next year.

How much have our home demonstration members, and women not members of a group, thought about this idea of home industries and crafts? What do the terms mean to you? We should begin to think seriously about this. To help you start, here are some ideas expressed by Miss Pauline McSparran, our Michigan State home industries specialist.

She says there seems to be a popular misconception as to what a craft really is and a lack of understanding of the real importance and value in doing craftwork.

One authority has defined a craft as a useful piece of art. Another has said it is "all those things which people make with their hands either for their own use or for the use of others." He further qualifies that statement by saying, "the article may be fashioned entirely by hand or it may be made in part by machine, such as the machine spinning of yarns to be woven on the handloom." But he says, "if the final product, the character of the thing is shaped by hand it is an object of handicraft."

Still another authority has defined a craftsman as "one who creates a basic material from his own design, by his own skill and the best techniques of his craft, an object which fulfills its useful purposes to the satisfaction of the user and beholder."

"A useful piece of art, the final shaping of which has been fashioned by hand using the producers' original design. It has been conditioned by the inherent character of the materials used and the best techniques of the craft."

In other words, a craft is useful as well as a piece of art. It is a table, a salad bowl, a pitcher, a length of material. This differs from painting and sculpture which are produced to please and inform us. A craft is made to please and inform us, but also to meet our needs. A craft is made by hand. It is made from the craftsman's original design and the character of the piece has its design in the materials and techniques used.

STRICTLY BUSINESS

by McFeathers

"Bad week at the plant—four weddings, six birthdays, three retirements..."

For example, making a leather wallet and tooling a design on it can be a perfectly good craft, but only if the producer has designed the article, cut it from the leather himself and planned and executed his own material with which he is working. He has used his hands, his head and his heart to shape the material. Busy work is not only what is done but the way it is done.

Largest Horse Show Ever at Saginaw Fair

For lovers of fine horseflesh, the 1955 harvest holiday edition of the Saginaw Fair, opening Sunday, September 11, holds promise of rich rewards for both spectators and breeders alike. John Day, president of the Saginaw County Agricultural Society, sponsoring body for the annual fair, stated today that the 1955 light horse show, based on advance entries received, will be the largest ever staged at the Saginaw Fairgrounds.

More than 25 trophy-winning pure bred Palominos will participate in the first State Association Palomino Show to be held at the Saginaw Fair. Miss Pat McBride of Bad Axe, secretary of the state association, indicated that the advance registrations in the Palomino class point to the largest Palomino show ever held in Michigan. Miss McBride, daughter of M. R. McBride, County sheriff, will share honors with her father in showing four blue-ribbon winners from the McBride Palomino Stables. The McBrides have entered their two Palomino mares in their famous Palomino stables. Golden Perfecto and Golden Stimulus, winners of more than 100 trophies and awards at Palomino shows throughout the Midwest.

Mr. Day, who serves as superintendent of the light horse department at the Saginaw Fair, also stated that this year's registration in the extremely popular quarter horse class is the highest ever recorded. To date, more than 75 entries have been received in this class, and more are expected prior to the opening date of the fair, Sunday, September 11. Morgan horses, another class with its firm fans and followers, are already represented by 20 entries, and Arabians, a new class opened this year for the first time at the Saginaw Fair, also has an advance entry registration of 20.

Approximately $3,200 in premiums is being offered in the light horse department at the 1955 Saginaw Fair, special judging of performance classes will be held Wednesday afternoon, September 14, beginning at 2:00 in front of the grandstand. The national heavyweight horse pulling contest, held under the auspices of the Michigan Dynamometer Association, will be held Tuesday, September 13, at 12:30 in front of the grandstand. More than $1,400 in premiums is being offered for the championship contest with teams entered from 17 states.

 2 quarts chopped green peppers
 1/2 teaspoon Cayenne pepper
 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves

 2 cups sugar
 4 tablespoons salt
 1 quart vinegar

Granny Fanny's Corn Pickle

 4 cups chopped cabbage
 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
 1 tablespoon mustard seed
 1 tablespoon celery seed
 1 tablespoon salt
 1 tablespoon turmeric
 1 tablespoon curry powder
 4 cups vinegar
 1 to 2 cups sugar
 1 cup water

Mix all ingredients. Simmer 20 minutes. Boil 3 minutes. Pour, boiling hot, into hot jars; seal at once.

Aunt Lula's Spiced Grapes
 8 cups grapes
 4 to 6 cups sugar
 1 teaspoon allspice
 1 teaspoon cloves
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
