5-County Republican Group Hears Lincoln Day Address

Calling on Republicans to get out and work harder this year than ever before in a presidential election campaign, Congressman Elford A. Cederberg described the Eisenhower administration as being Lincoln-like in his address to some 225 members and workers of the GOP at a Lincoln Day dinner at the Barnes Hotel Monday night.

Members of the GOP from Isosco, Alcona, Ogemaw, Arenac and Bay Counties heard addresses by Congressman Cederberg, State Representative James Mielock of Whittemore and Mrs. Rae Hooker, national committee woman. Toastmaster for the event, the first Lincoln Day dinner in Isosco County in 10 years, was Mayor Elmer Werth of East Tawas, chairman of the Isosco County Republican Committee.

Quoting President Eisenhower, Congressman Cederberg said, "this administration is committed to a program of progressive moderation, liberal in its human concerns, conservative in its economic proposals, constructively dynamic and optimistic in its appraisal of the future. For our national economy, we seek a dependable stability in our present assets, a vigorous expansion in our future growth. These can be best achieved, we believe, by giving the private citizen the greatest possible opportunity—consistent with the rights of others—to contribute to the development of the economy and to share in its abundance.

"The Republican party," declared the congressman, "has always been the true liberal party for it has conserved all that is good in our nation. It has conserved the constitution, the freedom and initiative which have made our country great. It has done all these things while at the same time leading our nation forward under our representative form of government to an even greater future and glory."

Congressman Cederberg said, "I've preserved the union, freed the slaves and declared equality, rights and privileges under law of all citizens, by the 13th amendment to the constitution which abolished slavery; by the 14th amendment guaranteeing due process of law, and by the 15th amendment prohibiting a race or color bar as a condition to voting."

He cited several other accomplishments of the party, namely: "Establishment of the right of women to vote by the 19th amendment; the Homestead Program in 1862; the development of American industry and agriculture by a series of tariff acts; created the department of agriculture in 1862 to promote the welfare of the farmer; the department of commerce in 1903 to expand the nation's industry and trade; and the department of commerce in 1922."

Tawas Mothers March in Polio Fund Drive Tonight

Two leaders of Tawas women's organizations will push electrical switch buttons to start fire sirens blowing in the Tawas Thursday night (tonight) to announce the start of the Mothers' March on Polio. This fund-raising drive will be held for one hour, from 7 to 8 o'clock.

In conjunction with the annual polio fund campaign in Isosco County, under the sponsorship of the Tawas Kiwanis Club, this special drive will mark the second year in succession which it has been held in the Tawas.

Volunteer workers from the various women's social and church organizations will canvass the two towns during the hour-long drive, stopping at homes of residents who turn on porch lights to signify that they will make a contribution to the campaign.

Funds collected in this manner will not only help to stamp out the dread disease throughout the nation, but will help to finance the great medical strides which have been made during the past for the rehabilitation of those who have already been stricken.

Last week, Mayors George W. Myles of Tawas City and Elmer Werth of East Tawas proclaimed the night of February 16 as "March of Dimes Night" in the Tawas and requested that all residents of the community cooperate fully with the solicitors in making this campaign a success.

The March of Dimes campaign to date has not resulted in a response sufficient to meet last year's collections. Nathan Barkman, co-chairman of the county campaign committee, advised Wednesday that about $2,189 had been collected. He said that the drive would officially close the first of next week with the collection of canisters and money from the schools.

No quota was set for the county this year. However, last year more than $5,000 was collected.

Overall supervision of tonight's special drive will be by Mayor Myles and Russell A. Rollin in Tawas City and Mayor Werth, Gordon Huck and Sgt. Frank Roti in East Tawas.

Retail sales in 1954 of 247 stores in Isosco County totaled $15,359,000, according to preliminary 1954 census of business figures announced this week by the United States Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce. The 1954 census of business, along with the 1954 censuses of manufactures and mineral industries, was authorized by law under Title 13, United States Code. These 1954 censuses covered business operated in the continental United States, Alaska and Hawaii. Separate censuses of business and manufactures for 1954 were also conducted in Puerto Rico.

The report from Secretary Sinclair Weeks' office provides preliminary findings for that portion of the 1954 census of business which relates to retail trade. The preliminary figures are subject to revision in subsequent publication of the 1954 census of business.

Army Service to Interrupt Canoe Partnership of Kolonich and Kindell

Two Isosco County men who have made a name for themselves throughout Michigan during past years as champion canoeists, Steve Kolonich of Tawas City and Larry Kindell of National City, broke up their canoe racing partnership this year when Kindell left February 1 for two years service in the army.

During the three years in which they raced together, the two men have been consistent winners. Last year they won six out of seven races entered, including the annual Thunder Bay race. The only race in which they saw another team paddle across the finish line ahead of them was the annual AuSable River Marathon, Michigan's canoe racing championship. In this race they were second place winners.

The two men plan to continue their canoe racing when Larry returns to civilian life. Meanwhile, Kolonich plans to enter several short-run races with his son, Gary, age 14.

A party for Kindell was held at the Snack Shack at Sand Lake last month. He told friends that he hoped to participate in at least one race this year.

Arraigned; LaFave Awaits Court Sentence

James W. LaFave, who with Harold W. Doran, was charged with robbing the Huron Drug Store at Oscoda last August, entered a plea of nolo contendere when arraigned Friday before Judge Herman Dehne. Sentence will follow an investigation by Probation Officer J. W. Wells.

In a nolo contendere plea the defendant is unwilling to contest guilt, but does not wish to go to trial and declines to contest the charge.

Doran was found guilty at a jury trial before Judge Dehne last October. He is now serving a five to 15 year sentence at Southern Michigan Prison.

The two men had been identified with the robbery in which about $300 was taken from the cash register of the store. An attempt was being made to break open a safe when the men became alarmed and fled.

A year ago the school had been placed on the university's tentative list for accreditation. The school will be visited once every two years for accreditation purposes by the university.

Supt. Reynold Mick announced this week that the school received approval from the Michigan Department of Public Instruction for the collection of tuition for non-resident pupils enrolled in grades nine through 12 for the year ending June 30, 1957.

This decision was made as a result of available data on total school program, stated Edgar L. Grimm, of the department of public instruction, in his letter to Superintendent Mick.

Legislative News Letter ...

From the Desk of James P. Mielock, House of Representatives, Lansing, Michigan.

The first important deadline of this current session was met this week. Because of the log jam in the drafting department, it was necessary if members' pet bills requested were to be drafted and dropped into the legislative hopper for introduction in time to permit printing, to suspend a portion of the rule setting a deadline for introduction so that any bills which had been requested drafted prior to 6:00 p. m. on Tuesday, February 7, would be accepted and printed. With a total of 369 bills to date having been handed in for introduction, some 168 came in this week. It is doubtful that anyone not familiar with the clerical work involved in introducing a bill has any conception of the work load this usage of bills meant to all of the clerical staff. It would not be surprising if the rules are changed before another session following our experience this year.

Right now there is some talk of possibly relieving the situation and being sure that no member is left out in the cold by being caught in the 11th hour rush, of having say a cut-off date for requesting the drafting of a bill about two weeks or so in advance of the date set for the deadline on introductions. How this would work out is uncertain, but it would seem to improve the situation both for the members and the staff.

Twice during the past week the legislature halted its work long enough to listen to addresses by two distinguished gentlemen. On Tuesday, February 7, the house and senate in joint convention listened to Governor Goodwin S. Knight of California. California has many similar problems to those which plague Michigan. At a time when the Michigan Legislature is highly concerned over getting adequate roads as speedily as possible to meet the traffic needs, and there is such a difference of opinion existing on toll roads and freeways, it was of more than passing interest to hear the governor's statement that it is the experience of the State of California that freeways are the best answer to highway safety. He claimed that in California they have had so many accidents on their freeways and expressways that on any other type of roadway.

On Wednesday, February 8, we listened in joint convention, to an address by Dr. Louis A. Warren, one of the nation's outstanding Lincoln scholars. The occasion of the talk was in commemoration of the 147th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln.

By a 91 to 0 vote, the house passed HB 68 amending the General Property Tax to permit board of supervisors to employ independent appraisal firms to make county-wide appraisals.

HB 19 amending the county retirement act, also received the unanimous approval of the house. This bill would prohibit the board of supervisors requiring county officials elected by the county to retire at age of 65 years.

Township boards are given authority to appropriate money for the purpose of collecting, publishing, hiring or displaying historical material in HB No. 29, which the house passed and sent to the senate.

HB 3, a codification of the drainage laws, after kicking around on the calendar for several days, was finally passed with a unanimous vote and transmitted to the senate, where it is hoped it will receive favorable consideration and action.

In HB 2, also passed by the house, a uniform October 20 date is set as the opening date for hunting small game in the Lower Peninsula.

The Michigan Vehicle Code was amended in HB 20, and passed the house after considerable discussion. This bill provides that a magistrate shall notify the secretary of state upon the failure of any person to appear before him in answer to a summons when the charge is for a moving violation, and the secretary of state shall not issue a new license to such person during his default to appear and answer such charge.

Among the bills debated and considered on general orders and advanced to the order of third reading, are such measures as: HB 89, the roadside hunting bill; HB 62, making sauger a game fish and setting a catch limit; HB 77, permitting boards of supervisors to establish departments to survey assessments and assist in matters of equalization of assessment; HB 79, permitting banks to consolidate with national banking association without securing approval of the banking commission, and prohibit conversions for defeating or defrauding creditors, and the converting or consolidation of trust companies with national banks; HB 161, amendment to the school employees' retirement act.

Returned to committee after being considered on general orders, was HB No. 61, abolishing the office of drain commissioner and transferring its duties to the county road commissioners in counties of less than 20,000 population.

The house taxation committee has called a public hearing for 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, February 22, in the house chamber, on two bills, HB 105 and HB 104, the gift tax and inheritance tax acts.

Christmas Seal Troubadour to Entertain Iosco County Children

Rancher Glen, a guitar-playing health educator from the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, is bringing a special brand of health messages this week to the children of Iosco County.

The health troubadour is entertaining the children with his songs and tales of western life while stressing the importance of cleanliness, good food, sleep, outdoor play and correct posture.

The following schedule has been set up: February 4, Whittemore, Tawas Area; February 15, Oscoda.

The state TB association sponsors Rancher Glen as part of its school health program. Tuberculosis will often infect children of school age and then lie dormant for years to reactivate in later life. Good general health helps protect a child against TB as well as other diseases.

Rancher Glen has been interested in guitar playing and western singing for more than 20 years. He was a farmer until he turned professional entertainer two years ago. Since then he has performed frequently throughout Michigan.

Now that he is employed for the state Christmas Seal organization, Rancher Glen is traveling the state giving 45-minute programs promoting good health among children. He tells cowboy stories and sings songs with a health angle.

Youngsters hearing him will have a chance to join the Rancher, Glen Health Club. They can write to him at the Michigan Tuberculosis Association promising to observe his five health rules and in return receive a special membership card with Rancher Glen's autographed picture.

Shortage of Soil Conservation Personnel

Dean Gordon, area conservationist for the United States Soil Conservation Service, points out today that there is a definite shortage of professional and sub-professional personnel within that organization in Michigan, and as a result some difficulty will no doubt be experienced in filling vacancies in his area.

At the present time, vacancies are at Petoskey and Cheboygan. State-wide there are 12 vacancies for GS-7 soil conservationists, three for agricultural engineers and nine for conservation aides.

Anyone interested in employment with the soil conservation service under Federal Civil Service should contact Mr. Gordon at the court house, Cheboygan, or Mr. Hatch, local soil conservationist, Federal Building, East Tawas.

College Enrollment May Reach New Heights in 1956

For the first time in history, college enrollment this year is expected to pass the 3,000,000 mark. Fall enrollment surveys showed 2,721,000 students in institutions of higher learning, including junior colleges. Expected additional enrollment during the academic year would raise the number by another quarter million or so. The total this year is 2.8 percent more than the previous high of 2,500,000 in the fall of 1954.

The strength of the nation is no greater than the strength of families within it.

Farm Events

By MARVIN DAVENPORT County Agent

Thursday, February 16—Fair board meeting, Plainfield Township Hall.

Saturday, February 25—MSU Alumni Banquet, Barnes Hotel.

Friday, March 23—Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative, annual meeting, East Lansing.

The Michigan Livestock Exchange regional meeting was attended by 27 folks of which 19 were Iosco farmers. These folks present had a chance to hear a farmer's comments on how more of the consumer's dollar can be received by the farmers. Gerald Bellen was the man who said, "In order for the farmer to get a bigger share of the consumer's dollar he must perform more of the services the consumer demands. Grading a farm product is one a farmer can do for himself on many things. Our lamb pool has pointed that out. The sheepmen selling a graded product are getting the top dollar for their graded lambs."

Dr. Orion Ulrey, professor in agricultural economics at Michigan State University, pointed out the seasonal trends for livestock producers. He also indicated that he had just returned from Sweden where he learned that 90 percent of the farmers produce is sold through co-operatives owned and operated by Sweden's farmers.

Dr. Ulrey said that last year the amount of beef, lamb and pork eaten by each person in the United States averaged 161 pounds. It was a startling figure Dr. Ulrey quoted when he said 8,000,000 families in the United States have gross incomes of less than $2,000 per year. He also stated that recent census data pointed out that 25 percent of the United States families have incomes of less than $4,000 a year.

Mr. Gardner, Michigan Livestock Exchange representative, gave a progress report of the co-operative business. He indicated that the exchange handled 1,000,000 more head but netted less net income for the year.

Gordon McDougall of Glennie, president, conducted the business portion of the meeting. Officers for 1956 included: Martin Siegrist, president; Keith McLean, vice president, and Gerald Bellen, secretary. Directors and delegates who plan to attend the state annual meeting, Saturday, March 17, include the officers: Gordon McDougall of Glennie, James Sturtevant, Ronald Lombard, John Cobb, Lyle Robinson, Norman Chipps and Maynard Garte of Aiyon County.

Mrs. Martin Siegrist, Mrs. Harold Siegrist and Mrs. Gerald Bellen served the refreshments with the compliments of the Michigan Livestock Exchange.

Others attending the meeting were: Charles Frown, Grant Township; Max Voss, George Waters and Howard Mott of Reno Township; Mrs. Norman Chipps of Burleigh Township and Matt Loffman of East Tawas.

Most folks know that Miss Scott and I have been well occupied with helping folks with income tax and social security interpretations. I have heard a lot of comment on social security. Have any of our readers figured out how much they could pay in and what they would get out of it? First, and of major importance is the fact that every farmer coming under social security has his family protected against total loss of income in the event of his untimely death. Secondly, here is the total amount "us young farmers" 35 years old would pay in by the age of 65. If we were prosperous enough to have a net farm profit each year for the next 30 years of $4,200, we would pay in the following amounts:

1960 through 1964 887.50
1965 through 1969 945.00
1970 through 1974 1,102.50
1975 through 1984 2,520.00
$6,085.00

Any man and wife receiving the $62.80 per month maximum, they would receive back their total 30-year payments into social security, in a matter of three years, one month and eight days. Is it worth it?

The following is a list of office callers this week:

Howard Mott, Thomas Nelkie, Mrs. Gus Powlius, Mrs. Leonard Furst, Harold Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Rempert, Mrs. Helen Hertzler, Mr. and Mrs. William Herriman, John Jordan, Reuben Kaarree and Melvin Krumm.

Forecast of Traffic Toll Proves Right

According to provisional figures, a prediction made last May by Orrin M. Lucas, state police traffic analyst, that Michigan would have 2,000 traffic deaths in 1955 fell short by just one.

Lucas made his forecast on the basis of a trend that had then set in and the experience of previous years.

The newly compiled figures show 2,001 deaths. In addition, last October Lucas estimated that there would be 60,000 persons injured; the figure stands at 60,465. He said there would be 193,000 reported accidents; there were 193,927.

During 1955, Iosco County had an increase of five traffic accident fatalities over 1954. The figures for last year was six deaths compared with only one the previous year.

Provisional figures are subject to change as delayed reports are received, but Lucas' prediction that Michigan would have one of its worst traffic years was accurately borne out. Injuries and accidents reached new highs, while deaths were the third highest.

The highest death toll was in 1937 with 2,175, and the second high in 1941 with 2,133. The 1955 figure was an increase of 12 percent over 1,793 in 1954.

Injuries increased nine percent over the previous high of 55,300 in 1954, and accidents gained six percent over 182,850, also the previous high.

Rural areas accounted for more than three out of four of the 1955 traffic deaths, which increased 17 percent over 1954. Urban deaths decreased six percent.

Of the total deaths, 44.8 percent occurred on rural trunk lines and 30.6 percent on county roads.

Increases in deaths were reported in 44 counties, decreases in 33 and six had no change.

Reaching a new high also was mileage traveled. Latest figures available show that for the first 11 months of 1955 it exceeded 26.5 billion, an increase of two billion, or eight percent, over the same period in 1954. The death rate of 6.8 per 100 million miles of travel was up five percent.

The cost of traffic accidents in Michigan in 1955 approximated $240,000,000, according to National Safety Council estimates.

The 1955 figures were compiled following a tabulation of reports for December. During this month deaths numbered 184, a decrease of 16 below the total for the same month in 1954, but injuries increased to 5,917, a gain of 457. There were 20,973 reported accidents, an increase of 1,112.

The treasury department has reported that Americans purchased $5,368,000,000 of United States government bonds in 1955. This was a peacetime record.

Land Holdings Important to Future Timber

Farms and small private land holdings are becoming increasingly important as a source of Michigan's future timber supplies, according to the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Small land holdings, 100 acres or less, make up about 28 percent of the state's total forest land and are key potential timber producers. Many of these small tracts produce little timber because they lack proper management.

However, many landowners are improving their forest plots under a long range management program for sustained timber yield and continuous production.

Approximately 1,100 landowners took part in the program last year, assisted by conservation department foresters. Forestry workers investigate the existing situation and make recommendations to landowners for the best management of their timber.

If cutting is advisable, state foresters help select timber to be cut and sold. Cutting is considered one of the best tools available in managing timber and usually is profitable.

Forestry experts point out that small landholdings throughout the country must be utilized for timber production if the nation is to meet its future timber demands. Most below-normal forest land can be brought into profitable production with improved management techniques.

Lincoln Day

(Continued from page 1.) labor in 1913 when the interest of the worker required protection and advancement. In the present Republican administration has been in power, and following the principles of Lincoln," stated the congressman, "we have made many key policy changes." He briefly named a few: "In place of a stalemated war in Korea we secured a truce; in place of reaction in foreign affairs we have action; in place of softness toward communism we have firmness; in place of planned deficits in finance we plan a balanced budget; in place of shrinking buying power of the dollar we have stability; in place of misguided favoritism in labor we have fairness; in place of antagonism to business we have encouragement, and in place of corruption we restored integrity." He concluded his address by stating, "Today there are more than 65 million persons at work at the highest wages in history. Construction has set a record of 42 billion dollars in 1955. Inflation has been halted. Government spending has been reduced, taxes cut, and we are approaching a balanced budget. "These accomplishments are but a prelude of those to come in the dynamic program which the Republican party has presented to the American people," he stated. Prior to the congressman's address, the group was warned by State Representative Mielock to be aware of the impending battle this year over the reapportionment in the legislature. He also stated that it was his belief that no political party or farm organization would solve the farm problem. The only way it could be accomplished, he stated, would be by the combined efforts of everyone. County officers and guests at the dinner were introduced by Toastmaster Werth. Several vocal selections were presented by Mrs. Lee Cater, accompanied by Mrs. T. M. O'Loughlin.

Students pay five cents for the milk and the United States Dairy Administration contributes an additional three cents per eight ounce unit, enabling the student to have milk, either as a part of his or her lunch, or as a between meal snack. The machine, first of its kind in the county, is owned, maintained and filled by the Nelkie Dairy of Tawas City.
