Tawas City Has Two Tickets in Monday's Spring Election

No Races Seen in Two Other Iosco Cities

Only contests appearing in next Monday's annual spring elections in Iosco County are in Tawas City where a two-way race will take place between Republican and Democratic candidates. Candidates for city offices at East Tawas and Whittemore are unopposed.

It is expected that the spring election in Tawas City will see one of the largest turn-outs of voters in recent years. Nearly all offices important to the operation of city government are being contested in the election, which normally sees only a light vote.

Up for re-election to fill his own vacancy is Mayor George W. Myles, incumbent, on the Republican ticket. He will be opposed on the Democratic slate by Donald Watson, Third Ward resort owner.

In the race for three seats on the Iosco County Board of Supervisors, Clarence Everett, (Rep.) incumbent, opposes Richard Lanski, (Dem.), in the Third Ward; Second Ward, Fred L. Brabant, (Rep.) incumbent, against Thorald Curry, (Dem.), and Clement Stephan, (Rep.) incumbent, will oppose Charles W. Roniller, (Dem.), in the First Ward.

A like number of candidates will vie for seats on the Tawas City Council. In the First Ward, Walter Schuhmacher, only Democratic incumbent, will oppose John N. Brugger, (Rep.); Second Ward, Clyde M. Eyril, (Rep.) incumbent, opposes Arnold Hoshbach, (Dem.), and Third Ward, George E. Tuttle, (Rep.) incumbent, goes against Clarence J. King, (Dem.)

Only positions unopposed on the ballot are for city clerk and city treasurer, the former position presently served by Albert H. Buch and the latter by John Hoshbach, both Republicans.

At Whittemore, Democratic candidates for city offices will be unopposed. This is the first time in many years that Whittemore, usually Iosco County's "hottest" (See Election, page 8.)

Cards Lose in Semi-Finals to End Win Streak

The Whittemore Cardinals 25-game winning streak, compiled during regular season play and in post-season Michigan high school tournaments, came to an end last Friday in the state semi-finals at Lansing. The Cards were sidelined by an accurate shooting Chassell quintet, 83-65, who went on to win the state Class D championship the following night.

Completely outclassed from start to finish by Upper Peninsula team, the Cards fell behind in the first quarter and were never able to head off the winners. Chassell's zone defense proved to be effective throughout the game.

Chassell opened its scoring attack in the first quarter with a 20-12 lead over the Cards. In the second stanza they came back with 28 points to Whittemore's 19. The Cards were able to hold their own in the second half but fell short of the necessary points needed to overcome the big lead.

Scoring in the second half found the winners meshing 19 points to Whittemore's 17 in the third quarter. The Cards outscored their opponents, 17-16, in the final stanza.

Big Francis Pagel, high scoring center of the Cards, led his mates with 37 points, followed by Frel with 11. During five regional, quarter-final and semi-final games, Pagel, six-foot, seven-inch all state center, scored 144 points, or an average of about 28 points per game.

However, in the last game Chassell came up with four players who scored in double figures. Leading the way was Jaakola with 23 points. Closely followed (See Cards, page 8.)

Tawas Hospital Listed in Fully Approved Group

In Iosco County the Tawas Hospital, Tawas City, is among 238 in the state which is fully licensed to provide maternity care, the Michigan Department of Health reported today.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, released the list of fully-approved hospitals as a sign of the "significant strides forward toward giving the very best medical care to our new babies and their mothers."

Three years ago, he said, only 143 Michigan hospitals were on the fully approved list; a year later, 185 had qualified, and the number fully licensed now stands at 237.

The commissioner gave high praise to hospital personnel, and said that "for the most part, the hospitals have been the first to give wholehearted and enthusiastic support to the licensing program."

The commissioner's report showed that 237 Michigan hospitals now holding full licenses have a total of 3,921 maternity beds.

Today, he said qualifications for full maternity license include 93 regulations as "musts" and 44 provisions which the hospitals must at least include in "immediate future plans."

Included under the standards, the report concluded, are equipment for care of mothers and new-born infants, formula preparation, record-keeping, control of anesthetics, nursing techniques, baby identification and even the hospital plumbing system.

Work Progressing Well on Tawas Area School Building

"A good warm thunder shower right about now would help to get this construction underway," states Olaf Rose of Davison-Rose Builders, general contractors for construction of the new 625-student Tawas Area Junior and Senior High School.

Checking on progress of construction at the M-55 school site Monday, Rose said that there was still too much frost in the ground for good working conditions. A warm rain would remedy this, he stated.

With weather conditions changing each day, Rose said that it probably would be about two more weeks before construction could be started in full swing.

Meantime, Davison-Rose crews are finishing work on footings and preparing for the arrival of construction materials. Three carloads of bricks, which arrived by rail last week, are being stockpiled. About six more carloads will be used in the construction before the school is completed.

Several loads of steel have already arrived and are being piled at the site in readiness for the start of major construction. (See New School, page 8.)

Easter Monday Luncheon Scheduled Next Week

Plans for the Easter Monday luncheon, sponsored by the Tawas Hospital Auxiliary, have been completed. This is an annual affair held on the Monday following Easter and will be at the Holland Hotel at 12:30 p. m.

Various card games will be played and table prizes and door prizes will be awarded. Late reservations can be accepted. Call Mrs. Arthur Wendt or Mrs. Edward Nelkie.

Island Lake Man Killed in Freak Accident

A 60-year-old Little Island Lake man, Albert M. Brutell, was killed in a freak accident Monday when a car toppled over on him. Coroner E. D. Jacques ruled death due to a crushed skull.

Deputy Charles Kurtzrock, investigating officer from the Iosco County Sheriff's Department, said that apparently Brutell had jacked up the front end of a car using a cinder block. After he crawled under the front end of the car the block crumbled and the left front axle dropped on his head.

The body was found at 1:30 p. m. by Elmer Stensrud of Guiley Pond, who went to the victim's house to get him to do some work for him. He found Brutell's body pinned under the car.

The body was removed to the home of the deceased by Deputy Roy Lenczewski of Sand Lake, John Skroki, owner of the car, and Chester Davis.

It is thought by police that the accident occurred sometime between 10:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. Brutell is survived by his wife, an invalid; one son, and one daughter.

Construction Work Starts on City Sewer Extensions

Water Board Recommends Water Meters

Extension of sewer mains across US-23 from the Bay Drive pumping station started last Wednesday. This is the first sewer project started this spring by the department of public works.

When completed it will serve the expanding Third Ward area.

After cutting through concrete in US-23, the sewer main will be extended about 1,200 feet north and 3,000 feet south. The main will service several motels which have been constructed in that area during the past few years.

Altogether about 4,910 feet of sewer mains will be completed this year. Included in the 1956 project are: Fifth Avenue, from First Street to North Street; Harris Avenue down Ninth Avenue to First Street. Plans for an additional 1,400 feet of mains are being prepared.

It was reported at Monday night's water board meeting that all easements for construction of a sanitary sewer to service the new bathhouse in the city park have been received. This main will start in back of the Rainbow Service station and proceed north to the park.

A report from City Engineer Clifford Spicer stated that engineering on the new well at the baseball diamond is being completed. A new pump has been ordered and the well is expected to be put into service this summer.

The water board authorized the hiring of additional men to work on sewer and water main construction this summer.

Members heard one possible solution to the city's water problem. A representative of the Badger Meter Company stated that by installing meters in every residence and business place in this city, water consumption would be lowered.

He cited several examples where nearby communities installed meters and explained that meters would show any leaks in the consumers water line. At the same time meters would help to prevent the needless waste of water and would also cut sewage disposal problems, he stated.

The city now has about 100 meters on hand, 40 of which are installed in business places and homes. Purchase of 500 additional meters was recommended to the city council by the water board.

CITIES EXCHANGE MAYORS DURING "MICHIGAN WEEK"

Michigan's mayors and village presidents will be doing some long distance traveling—many several hundred miles—around May 21 when they all swap cities as part of the Michigan Week Exchange of Mayors.

In Iosco County, Tawas City will exchange mayors with Stephenson in the Upper Peninsula, located in Menominee County near the Wisconsin border; East Tawas will exchange with Howard City in Newaygo County; and Whittemore will exchange with Hubbardston in Gratiot County.

The exchange proved unique in that no Upper Peninsula town was paired with another. All are exchanging with cities or villages in the lower peninsula.

The long distance jaunts include: Ontonagon (Ontonagon County) and Ferndale (Wayne County) and Ironwood (Gogebic County) and Carsonville (Sanilac County), both approximately 575 miles apart. Two others, over 550 miles distant, are Bessemer (Gogebic County) and Sebawaing (Huron County); Wakefield (Gogebic County) and Kingston (Tuscola County); Birmingham in Wayne County and L'Anse in Baraga County, is another exchange with nearly 500 miles between them.

For the first time in the history of the exchange, Detroit's Mayor Albert E. Cobo drew a fair sized city, East Lansing, with a population of over 20,000. To date he has only exchanged with small villages, Britton, with a population under 600, and Algonac, which has almost 3,000 population.

The pairings were determined at the annual mayors exchange drawing held in Lansing Tuesday. G. Mennen Williams, chairman of Michigan Week, drew the first two cities to be paired, Harper Woods and Fairgrove. Lieutenant Governor Phillip Hart and House Speaker Wade Van Valkenburg, honorary co-chairmen, and Miss Margaret Devereaux of Howell, "Miss Michigan of 1955," assisted in the drawings. Donald O'Keefe, mayor of East Grand Rapids and chairman of the mayors exchange committee, presided.

Mr. and Mrs. William Groff of Saginaw were Monday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Hoshbach. They visited his sister, Mrs. William Look, before returning to Saginaw on Tuesday.

POST BUYS WHEELCHAIR AS SERVICE PROJECT

A new collapsible wheel chair, to be placed out on a loan basis in this community, was put into service this week by Jesse C. Hodder Post, American Legion.

In addition to this piece of equipment, the post owns two hospital beds which have been in constant use since 1951.

At Monday night's regular meeting, the post's annual beaver supper was postponed until April 9. Tickets are sold to Legion members and guests. Serving for the stag supper starts at 6:30. Clyde Eyril will be in charge of preparation.

The wheel chair is equipped with adjustable legs with leg rests, wheel brakes and has many other new and improved features.

In addition to this piece of equipment, the post owns two hospital beds which have been in constant use since 1951.

At Monday night's regular meeting, the post's annual beaver supper was postponed until April 9. Tickets are sold to Legion members and guests. Serving for the stag supper starts at 6:30. Clyde Eyril will be in charge of preparation.

Popular Game During Michigan's Early Days

"Soldiers-and-Indians" was a popular game with Michigan's small fry way back in the 1830s when Black Hawk was on the war path, according to some reminiscences in the University of Michigan historical collections.

The Rev. Barton Taylor as a child pioneered with his parents as settlers on land now in Plymouth. He describes how he and the boys he played with were impressed by reports that Black Hawk and his Indian warriors were coming to destroy all the white people.

He writes: "The governor issued a proclamation ordering the militia of the territory to assemble in their respective townships to be drilled and trained and the United States government would furnish arms.

"Witnessing these military preparations, of course, the boys in every neighborhood had to form themselves into military companies, too."

He continues: "After drilling us till we were quite efficient, our captain, who was a boy of about three years older than the rest of us, told us that Indians were encamped in a certain piece of woods and we must surround and capture them. We signified our readiness to obey orders. We were armed with wooden swords, and sticks for guns, a tin pan for a drum, and a piece of calico tied to a stick for a flag."

Mr. Taylor recalls: "We marched up to a large hollow oak tree and formed in a semi-circle around it. Stepping up to the tree, he thrust his sword into the hollow and twisted it around furiously.

"Well, something did come out.

They were all dressed in yellow coats striped in black, had wings, and were armed with sharp lances which they knew well how to use.

"When the boys saw the yellow jackets pouring out, most of them broke ranks and ran in a panic. The captain turned to run but seeing one little boy standing squarely in front of the hole vigorously whipping with a handful of brush, he thought it would not do for him to run so he turned and stood beside the little boy and fought it out."

He concludes: "What the wasps' theory of war is I cannot tell. But it is a fact that the little boy who did not stir out of his tracks till the wasps had settled down to repair their torn nest was the only one of the company who was not stung."

Former Provisional President Eduardo A. Lonardi, who led the movement that overthrew ex-dictator Juan D. Peron, died in Buenos Aires Central military hospital, Lonardi, who recently had been treated in the United States, has been in ill health since his ouster in another military coup that put Maj. Gen. Pedro Armaburu in the presidential post.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE—

The significance for all mankind of Christ Jesus' victory over disease and death will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural passages regarding Jesus' crucifixion, resurrection and ascension will be among the Bible selections to be read from the gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. "Unreality" is the lesson-sermon topic.

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following: "The resurrection of the great demonstrator of God's power was the proof of his final triumph over body and matter, and gave full evidence of divine Science, evidence so important to mortals. The belief that man has existence or mind separate from God is a dying error. This error Jesus met with divine Science and proved its nothingness" (42:15-21).

National Gypsum Co. Reveals Plans for New Research Center

National Gypsum Company disclosed plans last Thursday for doubling the size of its million-dollar research center at 1650 Military Road, Town of Tonawanda, New York.

The company also revealed it will build a new plant costing between nine and 15 million dollars if tests of a hardwood product are successful as expected.

Board Chairman Melvin H. Baker, said the site of the manufacturing plant will be selected after tests on the hardwood product are finished "about mid-year."

The new plant, which would be National Gypsum's 40th, would employ about 500. Mr. Baker said Western New York would be considered among other sites for location of the plant.

The research center, built in 1953, no longer is big enough for present use, Mr. Baker said.

"If certain products are developed as expected," he said, "we will inevitably have to expand our research facilities here."

He indicated the expansion of the research center would cost about $1,500,000.

National Gypsum last week finished centralizing its research facilities in the Town of Tonawanda. The company previously maintained several research laboratories in different cities.

Dean D. Crandell, National Gypsum's vice president for research, said the first phase of the expansion may be started next year. The research center now contains 45,500 square feet in a two-story brick and concrete block building. The present payroll of 80 will be doubled when the expansion is completed.

Long range plans, Crandell said call for further expansion of the center into a U-shaped building.

"Two years ago," he said, "we were wondering what we would do with all the space here. Now we are uncomfortably overcrowded."

A temporary pilot plant at Carteret, New Jersey, will be moved to the Town of Tonawanda center early next spring. Tests on the hardwood product are being conducted at the New Jersey plant.

The hardwood is made from wood chips treated under high pressure steam. The chips are blown into a storage tank and converted into fibres which are suspended in water. Coarse fibres are removed by screening and the wet mats transferred to a hot press which makes the hardwood.

About 1,500,000,000 square feet of hardwood is produced annually. National Gypsum's plant, Crandell said, would produce less than 10 percent of this. He said demand for the product is expected to increase.

The hardwood is used for automobile panels, furniture manufacturing, for exterior siding in homes, in underflooring for linoleum laying and other commercial purposes.

Chairman Baker revealed last Friday that development work will begin soon on a new multi-million dollar asbestos mine and plant at Theford Mines, 75 miles southwest of Quebec.

The announcement said, "The new mine and plant will supply asbestos fibre to National Gypsum Company's three asbestos-cement plants at Millington, New Jersey; St. Louis, Missouri; and New Orleans, Louisiana."

Legislative News Letter . . .

From the Desk of James P. Mielock, House of Representatives, Lansing, Michigan.

As we approach the home stretch in this so-called "short session," there is yet much to be done, and some of it is the most important and the most controversial of the session. Working against the March 21 deadline for house committees to take action on, and report out senate bills, other than tax and appropriation bills, that have a chance of passage in this session, the committees have worked long and diligently, with the result that our calendars have become very large again with the flood of bills pouring out. Despite the prolonged committee work daily, our sessions have been held as usual and scores of bills have been acted upon in the past week. Some of the bills are their final passage, others on both preliminary and final passage, and still others only on preliminary passage and ready for final action in the next few days.

The appropriation bills are now beginning to roll. We have already passed House Bill 432, carrying an appropriation of over $2 1/2 million dollars for public welfare; House Bill 435, appropriating over nine and one-half million dollars for conservation, recreation, agriculture and advertising activities; up for consideration in the next few days is House Bill 437, the restricted fund bill with an appropriation of 213 3/4 million dollars; House Bill 438, appropriating around 20 1/4 million dollars for general government, and House Bill 439 carrying an appropriation of over 19 1/2 million dollars for public safety and defense.

The education committee reported out the School Aid Bill, with the recommendation that it go to ways and means committee for action. The committee, and their recommendations before coming back to the floor for action by the entire house. This procedure is necessary since the ways and means must be referred to it for their consideration, all bills calling for an expenditure of money.

Among some of the bills on which the house has taken favorable action, are:

(1) SB 1310, authorizing county boards of supervisors and local government bodies to appropriate moneys to child guidance clinics and community mental health clinics providing services for children and adults, established by state authority. This bill received unanimous house approval.

(2) SB 1006 which authorizes the attorney general to deputize state employees of other states as officers of this state to expedite returning parole violators, besides permitting the attorney general, subject to the approval of the control of the department of administration, to enter into contracts with similar officers of other states for sharing an equitable portion of the cost of effecting the return of parole violators. There were no dissenting votes on this measure.

(3) SB 1194 increasing state paid funeral expenses for recipients of old age assistance from $100 to $165 maximum. Here again there were no dissenting votes.

(4) SB 1204 amending the prison industries act to permit the use of prison labor on agricultural lands rented or leased by the corrections department.

(5) SB 1294 which adds a new section to the township rural zoning act received a 93 to 0 vote, and was given immediate effect. This bill would permit the zoning board to engage, with the consent of the board, the services of a township planning expert, with payment for his services to come from appropriations made by the board.

The house also passed SB 1070 which expands the membership of the state fair board and places in the fair board the sole responsibility for the fairgrounds throughout the entire year, thus doing away with the dual control of the state fair grounds. This bill, I might state, has been before the legislature many times in the past, but until this session, lacked sufficient support to effect its passage.

Justice court jurors will receive increased compensation if the governor signs SB 1245, which the house approved.

HB 127, amending the regional planning commission act to permit expansion in activities to include water front and port developments, and also permitting cooperation with local governmental communities as well as industry, commerce and development groups, was another bill to receive the unanimous approval of the house.

HB 413 increasing the per diem salary of the members of the State Tenure Commission from $5 to $15 a day, passed without a dissenting vote.

In passing SB 1089, the house approved allowing members of the Tourist Council necessary travel expenses in the performance of their official duties, with a limitation of 15 days in any fiscal year. The bill also increased the appropriation from $25,000 to $30,000 for advertising the state.

Following a heated debate, the house passed SJR "C" proposing an amendment to the constitution to disqualify for legislative service any person who has been convicted of either subversion, or a breach of public trust while in office.

Also receiving favorable action by the house was HCR 8, seeking to simplify initiation by the states of amendments to the Federal Constitution. This is in line with action already taken by several of the states.

The person who always wants the "best buy" will go through life getting second choices.

Plant expansion in 1956 will take an investment of $35,000,000,000, or 22 percent more than was spent in 1955, according to a joint report by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

This pert miss in her Easter finery makes it clear that she's prepared for the special day, come rain or shine.

Snap a Picture Story of Your Family's Easter

Easter is a happy holiday, heralding a new season of fresh beginnings, bright hopes and brand-new spring finery—and it's a time for pictures, too. Notice we said a "time" not a "day"—because your picture-taking can well include the week's preliminary preparations as well as the final events of Easter Sunday itself. It wouldn't be Easter without shopping, clothes-fitting sessions, basket-filling, arranging flowers and decorations, batches of cookies, and the magic of multi-colored eggs. And we think all these activities deserve the eye of your camera just as much as the traditional egg-hunt and the Easter parade.

There are so many wonderful picture-taking opportunities attendant upon Easter that it's difficult to tell you just where to begin—except at the beginning! Be sure to catch the children as they color eggs and make little baskets for their friends. Don't miss recording the youngsters' excitement when they see the cake baked in the shape of an Easter bunny or lamb take its honored place in the center of the table. And by all means snap a preview of the family in their Easter outfits, too.

By the time the "great day" dawns, you'll have made a good start on your picture record of how your family ushered in Easter, 1956. Naturally, you will want to highlight Sunday's "special features"—the morning Easter-egg hunt, the after-church parade of all the new spring bonnets and sashes, and the whole family around the festive dinner table.

A simple flash attachment will make all your indoor shooting as dependable as your outdoor snapshots. And don't forget Easter is a colorful season that just begs for color-film in your camera to do it full justice.

Cypriot extremists planted a time bomb in the bedroom of British Governor John Harding, the former commander-in-chief of the British Army who exiled Greek Orthodox Bishop Makarios. The bomb was found and carried away from the City of Nicosia by ordnance experts who exploded it harmlessly. Authorities said the bomb could have blown up half of Government House. The British have continued to increase their activities to prevent further outbreaks of rioting.

Senator Prescott Reviews Legislation in Senate

The Tawas Herald, Tawas City, Michigan. I thought you would be interested in a review of the work accomplished by the senate up to this point in the legislative session, so I have prepared the following summary. At this stage the senate has passed the bills which originated in the senate and now is considering legislation approved by the house. Still to be determined are the appropriations to operate the state for the next fiscal year. For appropriations always are one of the most important pieces of our work. I will report to you on them as we proceed. These are some of the highlights of legislation passed by the senate up to this time: Workmen's Compensation: Major improvement was made in this law to protect workingmen and workingwomen. A new benefit scale increases compensation to a maximum of $57 a week for a man with five dependents, a $15 increase. The amount paid to single workers and those with fewer than five dependents were raised from $1 to $11 a week. The bill sets up a new category in the permanent and total disability class, and brings under the law employers of three or more persons. Previously, it was limited to employers of four or more. Mental Health: Approaching the problem on the theory of "brains, not bricks," the senate provided for a new mental health training committee which would bring the resources of our medical schools into the field to train psychiatrists for our state mental health system. This program will expedite treatment and returning patients to society. Further impetus was given to this program by the request of a group of experts which studied our mental health system. They reported that California had a discharge rate from mental hospitals much higher than Michigan's despite the fact that Michigan spent more money per patient. Traffic Safety: A drunkometer bill providing for chemical tests to ascertain drunkenness in a driver was passed. Training schools for bad drivers of supervisory and commercial under local supervision and a requirement that drivers take tests to renew their licenses were adopted by the senate. Government Operations: Cities or villages were permitted to adopt traffic codes by reference to existing codes instead of printing their own. Firemen's and policemen's retirement acts were improved. The state fair commission was reorganized to provide better state fair management. More money was made available for advertising by the state tourist council. Sponsors of political advertising were required to identify themselves in the advertising. Vacancies in the office of United States senator would be filled by special election after nominations at special party conventions. Cities were authorized to establish wholesale farm market authorities. Two or more municipalities may petition for the establishment of special sewage disposal and water supply authorities. Two or more counties may combine for the construction and operation of regional child custody facilities to help combat juvenile delinquency. Limits on appropriations by boards of supervisors to regional libraries were removed and local library millage was placed on a state equalized basis. Authorization was given boards of supervisors to appropriate money for mental health clinics. General and Social: Old age assistance maximum payments were increased by $10 to $80 a month plus $10 for hospitalized patients. Payments for funeral expenses for those receiving old age assistance were increased to $165 (from $100). The lien on property inheritance law was modified to prevent filing of fraudulent claims from Iron Curtain countries. A commission within the department of labor was provided to promulgate a safety code for construction and building activity. The principle of political freedom was protected by a prohibition against compulsory membership in or compulsory contributions to a political party or organization. A proposed constitutional amendment would prohibit felons convicted of subversion of a breach of public trust from sitting in the legislature. I must emphasize that this legislation has passed the senate only and that house action is pending. One bill among others passed by both chambers appropriated $500,000 to expedite construction of two new custodial buildings at the Coldwater State Home and Training School. I hope this review is of some value to you and will help keep you informed of what is going on in the senate. If you have any questions, I would be most happy to answer them for you. Sincerely, Charles P. Prescott, State Senator.

CALENDAR— April 4-6—Tourist and resort workshop, East Lansing. Wednesday, April 11—Flower gardening meeting, County Building, Tawas City, 8:00 p. m. Monday, April 16—Curtains and draperies leader-training meeting, Federal Building, East Tawas, 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, April 18—Craft appreciation meeting, everyone invited, place to be announced. Friday, April 20—Recreation training school, Plainfield Township School, 8:00 p. m. Monday, April 24—County-wide Home Demonstration event. April 30-May 5—National Home Demonstration Week.

This will be the fourth tourist and resort operators workshop at Michigan State University. Programs are in the form of demonstrations, displays and talks with time for talking "shop" with the new friends made. There will be ideas for operators of hotels, motels, cottages, restaurants and lunchrooms.

Have you already marked the dates for flower gardening, craft appreciation and recreation school on the calendar? Tawas City Garden Club will host the first of these at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City, and everyone interested in growing and admiring flowers is invited. Craft appreciation is for you who dream about working up a hobby, preferably one which could earn some pin-money. Take time to examine the possibilities and limitations of crafts by coming to this meeting. Everyone is welcome.

Recreation training is planned for those who have a responsibility for directing the fun activities of a club or organization, one section for adults, another for young people. Instructors will be the eight women who attended the district training school last month.

Save April 30. It is the fifth Monday, so that should not be too difficult. Home demonstration groups will have their spring county-wide meeting. Committees supervised by Mrs. Marvin Daventport, council vice chairman, are to make the arrangements which will soon be ready for announcement.

"Use your telephone and save a postcard to request your Michigan State University bulletins," advises Mrs. LaFave as she explained that a bulletin she requested from WJEM-TV (following a show featuring an extension service guest) came to her from the Iosco County home demonstration agent. She is right. The Iosco Cooperative Extension Service office keeps a supply of most all bulletins available through Michigan State University. That is because each county office can really be considered as one of the university's offices. It just happens to be located off-campus instead of on-campus. So, save time, save postage, try your local Cooperative Extension Service office first by dialing F0RESt 2-3751.

By using dry milk solids, many homemakers and commercial food operators have reduced their milk bills as much as 25 percent. Question: Does food stored in open tin cans spoil more quickly than if removed from the can another dish? Answer: No. Spoilage is caused by bacteria growing in a food under the right conditions of temperature.

CALENDAR—
April 4—Laidlawville 4-H Club Open House.
April 5—Hale Happy Hustlers 4-H Club Open House.
April 9—4-H Club Leaders Council.
April 23—Friendship 4-H Club Open House.

April promises to be a very busy month for 4-H Club members and 4-H Club open house meetings where displays are made of project work completed or being done and a time when parents and friends make a special effort to attend them, a time to be with their young people on a special occasion.

April's 4-H Club Council meeting is an important one for leaders because much will be done to arrange for 4-H Club events; such as, dress revue, talent show, county contests, and exhibiting at the fair.

All 4-H Club leaders and junior leaders are reminded that council meetings come only four times a year, making the April meeting all the more important a date to mark on your calendar of "meetings to be attended."

4-H Club reporters and project reporters please note we have two meeting reports to share with 4-H Club members this week. Nine 4-H Clubs and an even larger number of projects having meetings regularly—somebody must be forgetting to let us know about what is happening in your meetings.

We want this to be your 4-H Club news column. The only news we can report is that which we receive and we are counting on the help of reporters.

Aiming a gun was subject for discussion at the Ottawas gun safety project meeting on March 21. Members also learned about shooting on a range and are looking forward to their visit at Wurtsmith Air Base range on Friday, March 30. At that time safety project members from other 4-H Clubs will also be there and a rifle shoot is to be staged.

A review of the "ten commandments" and other information of previous meetings completed the meeting.

Manicures and posture were subjects for demonstration by Barbara Schaaf and Geraldine Redfield at the 4-H Club Girl project meeting on March 19. Present were: Patricia Davenport, Kathy Dodson, Sheila Dodson, Eloise Engle, Marilyn Engle, Rosemary Engle, Sherry Gardner, Katherine Kolonich, Faye Rice, Barbara Schaaf, Beverly Cadorette, Esther Wajohn, Geraldine Redfield.

PLANT EARLY VARIETIES NOW

If home gardeners want to get the most out of their garden plot they will be wise to sow some seeds early, plan succession crops and then sow some seeds later in July, August and September. Early means as soon as ground can be worked.

Be sure there is an abundance of organic matter in the soil (you cannot have too much.) Barnyard manure is the best source of organic matter, but if not available, leaf mold and rotted sawdust with fertilizer are good substitutes.

There are many varieties that can be planted early and some do the best under cool conditions. They are asparagus, beets, broccoli, early cabbage, carrots, chives, early celery, endive, lettuce, onions, (seeds, sets or transplants), parsley, peas, radishes, rhubarb, salsify and early spinach. Seeds to be sown in late June and July for fall crops are: Snap beans, beets, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, late cabbage, chinese cabbage, late carrots, late cauliflower, cucumbers, endive, kohlrabi, lettuce, summer peas (Wando), winter radish, rutabaga, late spinach and turnips. Crops suitable for succession plantings are: Beets, late snap beans, carrots, corn, endive, kohlrabi, leeks, lettuce, summer peas (Wando), spinach and winter radishes.

Clark Farm Store of East Tawas carries an extensive line of Fery's and Burpee garden seeds (nearly 400 varieties). Ask for a free garden guide. (Next week, "How to Make a Good Lawn.")—Adv.

Plans for the tourist and resort institute to be held April 4, 5 and 6 at Kellogg Center, Michigan State University, are now being completed.

This institute will be of interest to all serving the touring and vacationing public, operators of resorts, small resort restaurants and food establishments, motels and housekeeping cottages.

The program of this three-day campus meeting will consist of timely and current topics of interest to all operators in this important industry. It will include sessions of employee-employer relationships, legal problems and building year around business in addition to special interest programs.

The special interests sessions for operators for resorts and motels will include remodeling and upgrading, increasing business, guest room furnishing and guest entertainment. The food operators will have the opportunity of seeing demonstrations of turkey boning, dessert making, meat selection and cooking. Food buying tips for the coming year will be included in another session.

Those interested in receiving a program, when completed, or other information regarding this institute, contact my office or write to the Tourist and Resort Service, 409 Agricultural Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan.

Changes in making payments for lambs marketed with their wool still on will go into effect April 1. The payments are made under the wool incentive program.

Under the new method, each producer who sells unshorn lambs will be eligible for payment. The producer must have owned these lambs for 30 days or more. The method now in operation provides for payments only on lambs sold for slaughter.

Payments will be based on the weight or weight increase of the lambs that occurs during the period each owner has possession. The original producer, then, will be eligible for a payment based on the full live weight of the lambs at the time he sells them. After that, each owner could receive payment only on the portion of the weight produced during his ownership. This applies only to unshorn lambs. (The present method of supporting shorn wool will be continued.) Under the new method, each owner who applies for a payment must make a report of the number of head and pounds of animals bought and sold.

Did you know our Huron Forest Ranger Carlson has a brother teaching at Michigan State University? He is one of our weed control specialists and I receive information from him on occasions that I pass along to the residents of the county.

He recently called my attention to the fact that spring is a good time for home gardeners to take steps for controlling weeds in small fruits.

Getting rid of the weeds when they are small or even before they emerge will save much time and material. They are easier to kill then.

Early spring applications of Craig herbicide for weed control in both new and established strawberry plantings is recommended. Time to apply is just when the weeds just start to emerge.

If quackgrass is taking over in the raspberries, spray with Dalapon at the base of the canes. Time to do this job is when the grass is green-up in the spring. For control of broad-leaved weeds, a spray of 2, 4-D before new suckers appear is the best bet.

Even though there is alfalfa or red clover with small grain, the crop can be sprayed to control annual weeds like wild mustard, lamb'squarter, pigweed and ragweed.

A quarter-pound of acid equivalent 2, 4-D amine per acre will control mustard and will cost only about 50 cents for the chemical.

Where the nurse crop is oats, MCP amine could be used instead of 2, 4-D amine. Other chemicals are available for certain uses.

Small grains should be sprayed in early spring even though they are seeded in fall.

There will be the least injury if the grain can be sprayed when it has fully tillered, but before heading. This would be when the grains are six to 10 inches high.

But, be sure your sprayer is applying the right amount of chemical per acre. Calibrate the sprayer along the driveway before using in the field.

Perennial weeds are too tough for the rates of chemical that are safe to use on small grains. Such applications may hold back some perennials like Canadian and sow thistles. Wheat and barley can stand more 2, 4-D than oats.

It is a good idea to spot spray particularly weedy acres with stronger solutions, although it will kill the small grain or legume in that area.

Home gardeners and truck crop growers get a lot of help from chemicals this year in their annual battle against quackgrass. B. H. Grigsby, a weed researcher at Michigan State University, says that quackgrass chemicals are still too expensive for field crops. For vegetables planted the latter part of May or first part of June, the chemicals can save lots of labor.

Dalapon as a spray treatment on the basis of last year's tests, comes well recommended. Dalapon is just as effective, if not more so, than maleic hydrazide. The former is a bit cheaper.

Quackgrass should have six to eight inches of new growth before spraying it with the chemical. It can be plowed down four or five days later.

In about four weeks the seed can be planted. That will settle the quackgrass problems for this season.

Last year's tests showed that cucumbers, corn and both field and snap beans were not affected at all by the quackgrass chemicals. And beans are about the most sensitive crop on which Dalapon could be tested.

Growers should wait four weeks after the spray is applied before the seed goes in the soil.

Office callers this week were: John Cobb, Wayne Travis, Mrs. Alton Durant, Arthur Semann, Stanley Peterson, Ben Gabler, Mrs. Sailors, Earl Lackie, Norman Howarth.
