Michigan Week to be Observed May 20-26

Advantages of State to be Emphasized

Michigan's advantages as a state in which to live, work and play will be emphasized for the third consecutive year with the observance of Michigan Week, May 20-26. The event, with "It's Great to Live in Michigan" as the slogan, is sponsored by Greater Michigan Incorporated in cooperation with the Michigan Department of Economic Development and other state agencies.

Gaining greater momentum with each consecutive year, this year's Michigan Week observance is expected to generate more enthusiasm, more participation and more events than ever before.

Program for the week is based upon the designation of seven special days starting with Sunday, May 20, as Spiritual Foundations Day. Churches and religious leaders of all denominations are being asked to point up, for this day, the spiritual values of life in Michigan and to examine the Michigan history of their faiths.

First scheduled state-wide event is the exchange of mayors, Monday, May 21, when nearly 400 Michigan executives swap towns for the day. Purpose of the day is to help towns and communities become better acquainted with one another. Citizens are paired by lottery with no attempt being made to match towns of similar size or close geographic location.

Other days during the Michigan Week observance are as follows: Tuesday, Hospitality; Wednesday, Livelihood; Thursday, Education; Friday, Heritage; Saturday, New Frontiers.

New Frontiers Day, the last day of Michigan Week, will spark another event. Highlight of that day will be the presentation of the Wolverine Frontiersman Award to five notables for distinguished attainment in opening new horizons. The award winners are selected by a committee composed of the presidents of the state's four universities. Winners are selected for their promotion and success in the frontiers of science, art, literature, industry, business, labor and other fields.

The awards will be presented at a special ceremony at the Mackinac bridge now under construction. The significance of the bridge, as a new frontier in the state's economic development, will also be pointed up when press, radio and television reporters converge at St. Ignace for a special press conference on New Frontiers Day.

Michigan Week, which attracts wide-scale participation, from Governor G. Mennen Williams down to the first graders, is essentially a volunteer effort. More than 450 Michigan citizens are serving on many state-wide committees. Together, with the county and local organizations, the total number of volunteers is approximately 3,000.

National attention will be focused on the state during Michigan Week with the expected coverage of the various events by newspaper, magazine, radio and television.

RFD Replaces Star Route at East Tawas

Effective Saturday, May 19, a rural free delivery will be established at East Tawas, replacing the two star routes which have served rural patrons for many years.

Official confirmation of the change was received this week by Postmaster Richard Price. Mr. Price said Wednesday that Lloyd Bowman will be temporary carrier until the permanent appointment is made.

The new route, to be known as Rural Route No. One, will replace the two star routes, A and B, which served Baldwin and Wilber Townships as well as Tawas Lake. The new route, 61 miles in length, will have about 400 permanent patrons and during the summer months it is expected to exceed 600 patrons.

The change was brought about through the efforts of Sen. Charles E. Potter, Rep. Elford A. Cederberg and the local county committee. Work on the project has been carried on for several years.

The 10th district meeting of the American Legion and Auxiliary will be held at Grayling next Sunday afternoon.

IRWIN RUPPERT

Official confirmation was received this week of the transfer of Irwin Ruppert to rural carrier on Route No. 1, Tawas City. Postmaster Martin Kasischke said that Ruppert's new position would become effective Saturday, May 19.

Wurtsmith Extends Welcome During Armed Forces Day

The addition of two CF-100 Canadian jet fighter interceptors will give added significance to this Saturday's open house at Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

The twin-jet, two-place, all-weather fighter interceptors will arrive at Wurtsmith Friday afternoon. Base officials noted yesterday that the Canadian CF-100s are similar to the F-89.

Both are twin-jet fighter interceptors and both carry a pilot and radar observer. Events and displays planned for the afternoon when Wurtsmith opens its doors for all visitors will include, for the first time, the new Falcon air-to-air guided missile now carried on the Wurtsmith-assigned F-89H Scorpion.

A number of planes and equipment will be on standing display.

A Lockheed T-33 trainer, a F-86D Sabre Jet, a Sikorsky H-19 helicopter, a H-13 Bell helicopter, a F-89D and H, a B-25, C-47 and C-119, plus survival equipment, will be displayed on the flight line.

Fly-overs of F-89Ds, T-33s, a helicopter rescue demonstration, and a C-119 parachute drop will comprise the flying demonstrations.

The base crash fire trucks will circle the flight line area with some of the many chickens expected at the open house.

As part of the current combined charity drive at the base, all proceeds from food and soft drinks to be sold during the afternoon will go into the drive funds. Drive proceeds help Wurtsmith add to Iosco County's quotas for cancer, Red Cross, polio and Michigan United Fund.

Base commander, Col. Ralph G. Taylor Jr., said yesterday that Wurtsmith is making every effort through Saturday's open house to afford local civilians their best opportunity to learn about the air force and Wurtsmith.

WURTSMITH TO HOST AIR DIVISION ROCKETRY MEET

Wurtsmith Air Force Base will be host to the 30th Air Division rocketry meet which will bring five fighter squadrons to the base next week, May 21 through 26.

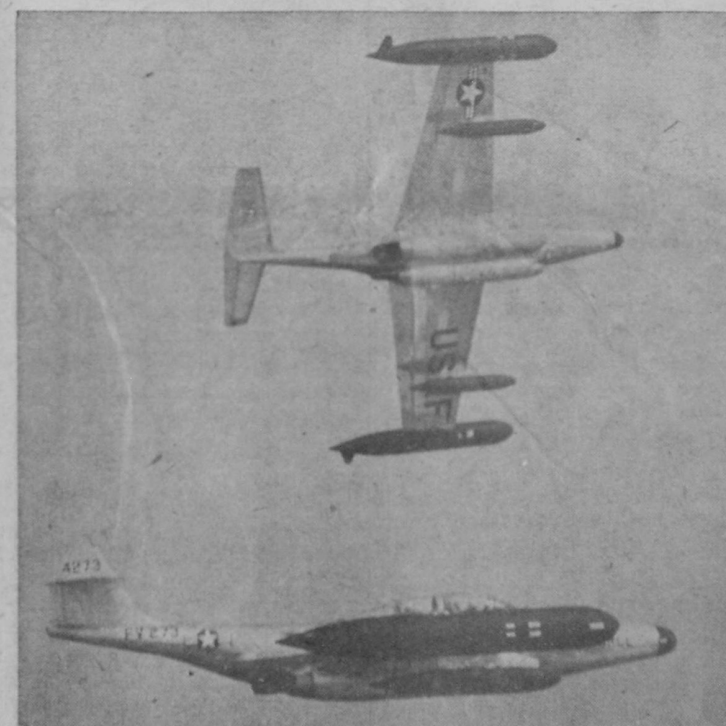

Fighter squadrons from Detroit; Pittsburgh; Youngstown, Ohio; Niagara Falls, New York, and Wurtsmith's 445th will vie for the coveted division trophy which will be presented to the high scoring squadron.

The meet is a prelude to the Air Force Week rocketry meet which will be held later in the summer at Yuma, Arizona.

Wurtsmith, which now is equipped with a weapons training center (rocketry training base, with a tow target section) will grow in planes and personnel as the five fighter squadrons begin arriving Sunday.

Additional base facilities will be provided for an increase of 80 officers, 225 airmen and some 45 jet aircraft.

Project officer for the meet is Wurtsmith operations staff officer, Lt. Col. John Patton. He said that only the 445th will use the F-89 Scorpion. The five visiting squadrons will fly the F-86D Sabre Jet.

Visitors at Wurtsmith Air Force Base this Saturday will see spectacular maneuvers of the F-89 Scorpion. (Air Force Photo.)

TA Loses 1-0 in Extra Inning Game

One streak of wildness by Larry Franks, Tawas Area Braves slender right handed pitcher, allowing the batter to reach first on a base on balls, then two consecutive singles by Standish batters scoring an unearned run, resulted in the local high school team's fourth loss of the season in four starts.

The lone tally by Standish was the only one scored all afternoon by either club, the score ending 1-0.

Playing against the Standish Arrows Monday afternoon at the East Tawas diamond, Franks pitched air tight ball until the eighth inning when he was nicked for two big hits to produce the winning run. He allowed one more hit in the ninth on a single to singled to put runners on first and second base. Pestruie then settled down to retire the side.

This was the Braves second extra inning game of the season. Last week they lost 14-13 to Arc-enac Eastern.

Word of Advice

Women's club speaks: "And, ladies, don't turn away the wanderer seeking food at your door. It's only then that wives will know what a relief it is to see a man eat a meal without finding fault with the food."

And Height?

An irate chief engineer was inspecting a stretch of newly built road, accompanied by the foreman in charge of the gang. He pointed out to the bewildered foreman that the shoulder beds were off, the curves banked wrong, the foundation not right, the leveling was far from perfect.

Finally, after the avalanche of criticism, the old foreman spat on the ground, gave his superior a bland look and asked, "Well, how is it for length?"

And Height?

An irate chief engineer was inspecting a stretch of newly built road, accompanied by the foreman in charge of the gang. He pointed out to the bewildered foreman that the shoulder beds were off, the curves banked wrong, the foundation not right, the leveling was far from perfect.

Finally, after the avalanche of criticism, the old foreman spat on the ground, gave his superior a bland look and asked, "Well, how is it for length?"

A Coelacanth, a prehistoric "fish with arms," was recently caught off the Comoro Island, between Madagascar and the African mainland. It was six feet, six inches long and is believed to be a female. A military plane was sent to bring the fish back to local scientific laboratories before it decomposes. Scientists hope the Coelacanth will reveal secrets of prehistoric life as they are believed to date back 300,000,000 years.

Right now we have a special suggestion for all you young graduates. This time we'd like to remind you about ordering small prints of your yearbook or official graduation picture.

These small-sized prints have come to be known by various names. "Wallet prints" is one which appropriately defines them since they're exactly the right size for carrying in wallets. Another popular name is "friendship prints"—which is also an excellent description of one of their main functions.

The studio photographer who took your graduation picture can make up these small prints for you. They're quite inexpensive if ordered in quantity, and they're especially attractive when printed on matte-finished paper. We feel that you graduates will find these prints the perfect way to exchange pictures with your classmates. And you'll discover that small prints make wonderful enclosures when you're writing thank-you notes to friends and relatives for the graduation gifts they've sent you.

We suggest that you make a list of the people you know who'd appreciate having prints of your graduation picture—and order the requisite number promptly. Whether you call them "wallet" or "friendship" prints won't matter. A small print, by any name, is always welcome!

140 Attend Annual Mother-Daughter Banquet Thursday

The annual mother-daughter banquet sponsored by Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid was held at the church last Thursday evening, May 10. The tables were beautiful in a pink color scheme with pink flowering plants, pink crepe paper and pink candles. About 140 attended.

Mrs. Robert Nelson was toastmaster and gave the invocation and the welcome to mothers and daughters. Christine Moehring gave the toast to mothers and Mrs. William Stonehouse responded with a toast to the daughters.

A piano duet was given by Barbara Hester and Jeanette Werth.

Presentation of plants was made to Mrs. Lena Bass and Mrs. Emma Lomas, the oldest mothers; Mrs. Geraldine Robey and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, the youngest mothers, and to Mrs. Oscar Alstrom, mother of the most daughters. The presentation was made by Mrs. Nelson. Group singing of "Mother" followed the presentations.

Mrs. James F. Mark Jr. of Saginaw was introduced as the guest speaker of the evening and was presented with a corsage of pink roses and carnations. Mrs. Mark is director of Christian education at Saginaw Congregational Church and state chairman of Family Life. Her talk comprised problems of family life and adjustments and understanding of these problems in getting along together in a family.

She used examples of child life from "When We Were Young" and "Now We Are Six" by A. A. Milne. She closed with the thought, "Faith and Love Brings God in Our Home and Peace in the World."

The nine weeks of "Boot Camp" includes drill and instruction in seamanship, gunnery, life saving, and survival boat handling and the use of small arms.

Following two weeks leave, graduates will be assigned to shipboard duties or service schools depending on the qualifications each has demonstrated.

Pvt. Neil Abbott and Pvt. Charles Wellna are home on a 14-day furlough from Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri. They expect to leave Thursday for the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland for further training.

HEAVY RAINS CURTAIL CROP PLANTING IN IOSCO

Heavy rains the past week put a stop to farmers field work in Iosco County. Farmers were already two or three weeks behind in their work. Less than half of the oats are planted; a job that is usually finished the first week in May. It will be possibly a week before farmers will be able to resume work.

Corn planting should be started this week but it will have to wait until it is possible to warm up considerably before it can germinate if it could be planted. Pastures are also slow in starting with most dairy cattle still being barn fed. Usually they are turned out to pasture by the first week in May.

Possibly the only bright spot in the situation is that with most of the tractor work yet to be done, gasoline dealers admit the possibility of a drop in gas prices, reports Dornace Bellville, Whittemore farmer. He said a price war in the Flint area had spread to Linwood by last Thursday, dropping the retail price about 4 1/2 cents.

Friday, May 18—"Getting Your Calorie Worth" leaders meeting. May 22-25—Hard of Hearing Testing program.

Are you one of the huge army of calorie counters? Do you expect the family meal planner to prepare a separate meal for each person at your table?

Adjusting calorie needs for folks of varying ages and activities, and all from the same basic protective menus, will be discussed at the leader-training meeting on Friday, May 18.

Meeting place is the Federal Building, East Tawas, and 7:30 p. m. is the time.

The leaders will relay the safe and sane calorie controlled menu suggestions to members of their group.

A majority of home demonstration groups will use this foods plan in spring while several groups have planned to postpone it until fall.

Approximately 15,000,000 Americans have hearing defects ranging from slight to total deafness. To say it another way, one person in 10 has a hearing loss, many of whom are not aware of it or fail to do anything about it until the loss reaches a handicapping degree.

Members of the Iosco County Quota Club (whose international project is hard of hearing) want you to know that this need not be the case.

Modern testing equipment makes it possible to detect a loss of hearing in its early stages and allows preventive measures to be taken. Until recently most of this equipment has been found in the larger cities. Northern Michigan residents are very fortunate that a mobile unit brings this testing equipment and opportunity into every county, periodically.

Quotarians have arranged for the mobile unit to be in Iosco County this month, May 22-25, and to be located in five different places for the greatest possible convenience to everyone.

The mobile unit is property of the Michigan Association for Better Hearing and is financed through the Michigan United Fund.

There is no charge for the test which takes only two minutes to detect even very slight losses of hearing, nor for the later hour-long testing and counseling appointment that will be made for those with a detected hearing loss.

Waffled toast for breakfast and your family will surely agree that "Mom is on the ball." Here is how it is done. Butter both sides of slices of slightly dry bread. Dip bread in regular French toast batter, bake slices in your hot waffle iron until brown and crisp. Serve with maple syrup, jelly or honey. One very good way to get more economical, nutritious eggs into your meals!

"chicken-feed." That is literally true, for prices are several cents a pound below this time a year ago. A quality bird is clean, has a good shape, is meaty and has a small amount of fat under the skin. Choose one with an absence of bruises, tears, discoloration and pin feathers.

Human Brucellosis (undulant fever) is an occupational disease. It occurs most frequently among people handling diseased livestock and consuming diseased animal products. When Brucellosis is eradicated in cattle, undulant fever will be eradicated in humans.

Something new with nylon, it happens most every day, and people wearing work gloves will be particularly interested in this "hit."

Work gloves of heavy-duty Canton flannel made with a blend of cotton and nylon are it. Such gloves are reinforced with 50 percent nylon in the fabric warp have proved, in wear tests, to outlast regular cotton gloves by better than two to one. Cost savings range from 23 percent to 38 percent, depending on glove construction.

Be sure to get gloves that fit well. Tests show that if the gloves have extra long fingers, the tips wear excessively.

Fresh pineapple season is here again. This is a tropical fruit, so named because of the resemblance to a pine cone in shape and appearance. Most of our supply comes from Cuba, Puerto Rico and Mexico.

When you buy a pineapple, you buy not one fruit, but many. Actually each "eye" of the pineapple is a separate fruitlet, having come from an individual flower.

When ready for eating, pineapple develops a characteristic odor. Wrap a ripe pineapple before refrigerating so other foods will not absorb flavors from it.

In buying, look for fruit that is fresh, clean and heavy for size. Square shouldered ones have a minimum of waste. Yellow to yellow-orange and bronze color, with fragrant odor, assures ripeness. Hollow eyes assures a sweet flavor.

If pineapple is a favorite with your family, perhaps you would appreciate suggestions for serving it fresh, for preserving and for preparing it to serve or preserve.

Such suggestions are yours for the asking.

Another new gadget to save time and temper for the home sewer is known as a "Hembob." A hembob is a ready wound bobbin of nylon sewing thread. All you do is place it in your bobbin case and begin to sew. Available in black or white, the thread size is a little finer than mercerized cotton thread. Yes, you can place a hembob on the spool pin and use it for top sewing thread, too.

Certainly this simplifies handling nylon thread which has been a little difficult to remove from the spool to bobbin.

More than 100 people were present to witness the ceremony and listen to M. L. Harcourt, coach of Alpena Community College. Mr. Harcourt spoke briefly on the "Game of Life" and reminded all present that, "the final score was tabulated not on who won or lost, but how you played the game."

Nelson Shellenbarger, star center on the basketball team, was presented the most valuable player award. Mrs. Frederick, girls coach, awarded letters and chevrons to members of the girls team who have gone undefeated for the past three years.

Carl T. Bergstrom, principal of the school, acted as master of ceremonies.

MAY 30 IS DEADLINE FOR STATE POLICE APPLICANTS

Sgt. Frank A. Roti, commanding officer of the East Tawas Post of the Michigan State Police, has issued a reminder that young men desiring to become state police officers have only until midnight of May 30 to file applications for the next training school.

Recruits are being sought to fill 168 new positions authorized at the 1956 session of the state legislature.

"A career in the Michigan State Police is now especially attractive because of higher pay and other benefits as well as occupation," Sergeant Roti said. "Recruits begin earning a good salary right from the time they enter training school and increases follow regularly thereafter, with a high in the trooper rank alone of $5,600 a year. In addition, troopers receive $900 a year in subsistence pay, longevity pay, their uniforms, paid vacations and sick leave."

"Promotions carry substantial increases in pay and at the end of 25 years of service an officer is eligible for a pension of half his pay which goes to his widow in event of his death. She also receives the pension should he die because of a duty incurred illness or accident before he completes his 25 years."

"If you should beat this proposition, for it solves the security problem."

Applicants should go to the nearest state police post, or talk to any state police officer. They may also write to the State Civil Service Commission or the Michigan State Police in Lansing.

Vegetable gardeners should be out in full force now. Controlling weeds is bad enough, but when rabbits nibble off the tender growing peas and bean plants that is real discouraging.

Here is a tip. Spray with nicotine sulfate (Black Leaf 40) on the young plants in the late afternoon or evening. A light application every two days to cover the new growth, will give moderate to good protection.

Are you going to be bothered with moles this year? Feed "nuts to the moles." raw peanuts that is treated with thallium sulfate. Make a small hole in the active growing peas and bean plants. Be sure to cover the holes well after placing the treated peanuts in the holes.

You will have to buy the treated peanuts because thallium sulfate is odorless and tasteless and a deadly poison. I would use the whole package and not leave it stored around for junior to feed to his not so friendly friends. I am grateful to the United States Fish and Wildlife Service for this latest information.

Want to control spittlebugs in your alfalfa? Now is the time to think about it. Use one pint of 20 percent emulsion in 25 gallons of water per acre. That is the minimum amount of water. Follow the manufacturers directions. This should be applied at least 14 days ahead of harvest. Use only once a year. Heptachlor, Toxaphene and methoxychlor are other materials that can be used, but read the label.

Undulant fever is a hard disease to pin down. Doctors say its symptoms may resemble those of typhoid fever, malaria, influenza or even tuberculosis.

The disease seldom causes death, but it may hang on for a long time. The sooner it is identified by a physician, the better, according to the Michigan Department of Health.

In cattle, the disease is known as Bang's disease or Brucellosis. A program aimed at eradication of the disease in Isos County dairy herds by 1960 is now under way, according to George Parsons, a Michigan State University extension dairyman.

Brucellosis is an occupational disease of those who handle infected cattle. Eradication of Brucellosis in cattle will nearly end undulant fever among humans.

Pasteurization, which is required of all milk sold in Michigan, completely protects consumers. Health authorities also urge farmers to use pasteurized milk. Symptoms of undulant fever include: dizziness, nervousness, headaches, aching joints and muscles, chills and loss of appetite. A fever is common, often varying between 100 and 104 degrees in the acute stage of the disease.

If you should get undulant fever, get right to bed and stay there, advised the department of health. Doctors say bed rest with good care is the best treatment.

Good grass silage is good feed, and can fill a definite need in most dairy programs. That is the feeling of Woody Snyder, extension dairy specialist at Michigan State University, too.

More farmers could benefit by making grass silage. In northern areas of the state where the growing season is too short for corn, the grass would provide a silage crop. In other areas of the state, both corn and grass silage could be used, with grass silage bridging the pasture gap in the hot months of late summer.

Grass silage also gives you a forage hay crop without running the risk of the June rains.

There is danger of loss from spoilage. This is one of the reasons why more farmers are not using hay crop silage. If the silage is not put in properly, a lot of it can be lost through spoilage.

The two important things to watch in making grass silage are the moisture content and the pack. The moisture needs to be kept between 60 and 70 percent to prevent spoilage. The silage must be packed tight to keep air out. Of course, it is a new method of making silage, and takes some getting used to.

For instance, preservatives can be used, which may help cut down spoilage. Molasses, ground cereals and commercial preparations are all used to good advantage. These are especially useful in silage with high moisture content.

You can make good grass silage with or without preservatives, and it can help you operate a more efficient dairy program.

Clarence Carpenter informs us of the progress leading dairymen are making.

5. The Zoning Administrator shall have the power to revoke or cancel any Certificate of Approval in case of failure or neglect to comply with the provisions of this Ordinance, or in the case of false statements or misrepresentation made in the application. The owner shall be notified of such revocation in writing.

6. Within five (5) days after receiving written notification of compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance, the Zoning Administrator shall inspect the premises and issue the owner a Certificate of Compliance if the building, structure and use are in conformity with the Ordinance, before undertaking any such work, to determine that proper Certificate has been granted therefor; and all such persons performing any work in violation of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be deemed guilty

Each and every day during which an illegal erection, alteration, maintenance or use continues shall be deemed a separate offense. The imposition of any sentence shall not exempt the offender from compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance.

(b) The Township Board, the Board of Appeals, the Prosecuting Attorney of the County, or any owner or owners of real estate within the Zoning District in which such building, structure or premises is situated may institute injunction, mandamus, writ of prohibition, or other appropriate action, or proceedings to prevent, enjoin, abate, or remove any said unlawful erection, alteration, maintenance or use. The rights and remedies provided herein are cumulative and in addition to all other remedies provided by law.

Pontiac Man is Tawas 'Booster'
After Gift of Smelt

The Tawas have a new booster and learned of a possible contender for the title of "champion smelt eater" recently when the chamber of commerce sent a Pontiac man a package of smelt in exchange for several items of local historical interest.

In his first letter to the chamber, Herbert Justman, of 174 South Edith Street, described himself as "past 65, a double amputee and in best of spirits." He also mentioned how much he enjoyed smelt and the chamber sent him some several weeks ago.

Enclosed in his letter was a picture of the Tawas River, snapped in 1873, at what is today the Mathews Street Bridge; a copy of a 1901 concert program, autographed by local members of the cast, and a 1906 copy of The Tawas Herald. Mr. Justman said he found the articles in an old trunk and thought the chamber of commerce might like to have them.

In his letter received here last week, Justman said "Received the package of smelt. Thanks a lot, and did I enjoy them. Last night at supper I had the pleasure of eating 31 at one time; had 'em in my lunch and also tonight (Friday). So you can see how I like smelt and believe me I will plug your city at every chance."

Justman continued, "So again, you sure pleased an old man at a time when I could sit down and stuff and stuff with fresh smelt."

Annual Mother-Daughter
Banquet Well Attended

The annual mother-daughter banquet sponsored by the East Tawas Methodist WSCS was held Tuesday evening. About 100 people attended.

Table decorations were pink and green. May poles with streamers, paper doll dancers, lace baskets holding candies and bottles of assorted perfumes.

The banquet was served by the men's class.

Invocation was given by Mrs. Kate Evans. Mrs. Morris Turner, president of the WSCS, gave the welcome address and acted as toastmaster.

Corsages were presented to Mrs. Alfred Swales, oldest mother; Mrs. Kay Phelps, youngest mother, and Mrs. G. A. Ballard, mother of the most children.

Musical numbers were a piano solo by Karen Hunter, a clarinet solo by Carolyn Evans and a vocal duet by Mrs. Earl Davis and Mrs. Russell Church.

A tribute to the mothers was given by Sandra Hunter and the response, "A Tribute to Daughters," by Mrs. Clyde Hunter.

Speaker for the occasion was Mrs. Howard Burden, wife of the district superintendent, of Saginaw. With amusing incidents and beautiful incidents as well, she gave tribute to mothers and daughters. Her talk centered around a Pied Piper parade of mothers and daughters, bringing out different types and the love and sacrifice of all mothers. Mrs. Burden was a very entertaining and interesting speaker.

The benediction was given by Mrs. Ralph Edwards.

US-23 CRASH INJURES
THREE MEN SATURDAY

Three Wurtsmith airmen escaped with minor injuries after the government truck in which they were riding left the road and rolled over north of East Tawas on US-23 last Saturday.

Injured were: Selby K. Judge, 20, driver of the vehicle, possible back injuries.

Edward Barker, 20, first aid, treated and released.

Bruce Benson, 20, first aid, treated and released.

All three of the men were taken to the Wurtsmith Air Force Base hospital by ambulance.

Judge received a summons for reckless driving and is to appear before Justice Arthur Goulet of East Tawas.

Police said that apparently the driver attempted to pass a car and was forced to turn back in the right hand lane when another vehicle approached from the opposite direction. The truck with the three airmen went off the shoulder and turned over.

The Junior Class of Tawas Area High School has chosen "Blossom Time" as the theme for its J-Hop to be held May 19, in the high school gymnasium.

Music will be furnished by Gene Mallack's band of Saginaw. The public is invited.
