Bound Over to Circuit Court on Murder Charge

Bound over to circuit court on charges of first degree murder were Josie and Jack Ellis of Hale, who stood mute Tuesday morning in a preliminary examination before Justice A. J. Goulet.

The Ellises are both charged with murder in the gun shot slaying of Buster L. Shellenbarger of Allen Park, formerly of Hale, in the Ellis cabin near Hale on September 30.

As soon as Justice Goulet files his return with the county clerk, Prosecuting Attorney William R. Barber will file an information with the court.

Mr. Barber and Irving B. Beattie, assistant state attorney general, who was called in to assist with the prosecution, said that the Ellises would be arraigned in circuit court on this information during the December term, scheduled to convene December 11.

During Tuesday's examination, testimony was taken from Alvin Whitehouse, witness to the shooting. He and Shellenbarger, both employees of the Ford Motor Company, had come to Hale for the opening of duck hunting season. They had met the Ellises at a Whittemore bar and later the party went to the Ellis cabin where Shellenbarger was fatally wounded.

Also heard during Tuesday's examination were Deputy Dennis Chrivia of Hale, one of the first officers who reached the scene of the shooting, as an identification witness, and Dr. Lawrence A. LaPorte, physician who determined the cause of death.

In Tuesday's examination, Fred Bartholomeu of Detroit, representing Mrs. Ellis, asked the court to consider a reduction in charges against his client, from first degree murder to manslaughter, saying that the prosecution had failed to prove any pre-meditation or malice aforethought.

Joseph Colombo, representing Mr. Ellis, asked for a dismissal of charges against his client.

Assistant Attorney General Beattie stated that testimony had been taken showing that the Ellises had conversed immediately prior to the shooting, that Mr. Ellis had pushed the rifle to the floor in a scuffle which ensued. He said

'MACKINAC MAC' GETS LEADING ROLE—

D and M Railway to 'Star' in Color Motion Picture Promotion

Equipment and services of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company are destined to become more widely known throughout Michigan as the result of a newly-installed public relations program now in the formative stages.

The program, created and planned by Jack Parker, president of Parker Advertising, Incorporated, Saginaw, will tell the story of the D and M, its people, equipment, services and customers through the medium of newspapers, brochures, pamphlets and a special motion picture.

The motion picture, which will be filmed in color and full sound, will take viewers from one end of the D and M line to the other. It will show equipment and personnel on the job.

The film will transport the viewer into the rich and booming north country to see new industries and old, growing side by side as this area develops into one of the most productive in the state.

Scheduled for completion some time next year, the film is being designed for showings to special club meetings, school groups, industries and on television.

A preliminary inspection trip along the line from Tawas to Bay City was made by Mr. Parker on September 24 and 25. He was accompanied by agency photographer, James Adair, joined by James Campbell and Paul Sayles. The group then proceeded to Alpena and Cheboygan.

During the trip along the D and M line, the men talked with employees and shot both still and motion pictures.

Water Facility Enlargements Under Consideration Here

Tawas City to Hear Progress on Water Plan

A joint meeting by the Tawas City Council and water board will be held sometime during November to discuss headway made on construction plans for a proposed addition to the municipal water system.

The project was discussed at a meeting of the water board Monday night and, after recent conversations with City engineer Clifford Spicer by Mayor George W. Myles and Reginald Bulbitz, superintendent of public works, the board recommended the joint meeting of the two groups.

This project has been in the planning stages for the past two years and a test well has been drilled at the athletic field. Also included in the plan is a water softening system and complete metering of water users.

Other business transacted at Monday's meeting was the authorization given to the department of public works for construction of a sanitary sewer on Ninth Avenue. The department also is to check on property owner participation in sewer construction along US-23, south to Tawas Motel and North to Sims Motel.

Braves Lose Sixth Game in Succession

Scoring three times on long runs of 43, 59 and 46 yards, the West Branch Orioles defeated the Tawas Area Braves last Friday night, 20-0. This was the Braves' sixth consecutive loss of the season and the fourth game in a row in which the local high school eleven has been held scoreless.

With two games remaining on the schedule, the Braves will go against Beaverton under the lights at the Oscoda athletic field this Friday night.

Displaying very good deception in its backfield, West Branch caught the Braves by surprise on all three touchdown runs Friday night. The winners rolled up 255 yards on the ground to Tawas Area's 23 yards, 52 by rushing and 26 passing.

Bright spots of the game for the Braves were to be found in improved punting, kick returns, passing and less fumbles committed. Quarterback Ray Guyette completed six out of 14 passes at 29.7 yards per throw, an average of 26 yards per kick.

After returning the ball to the West Branch 42-yard line on the opening kickoff, the Orioles scored after three plays from scrimmage when Oakes ran through right tackle for a touchdown. The extra point was missed.

At the quarter, Guyette intercepted a West Branch pass on the 50-yard line. A 12-yard run by Austin was good for a first down on the next play and Brackenbury ran around right end to the West Branch 34. Austin penetrated to the 29-yard line on a run over left guard but the drive stopped there and West Branch took over on downs.

West Branch took over the ball on its own 29-yard line and in three plays moved it to the 41. On first down Benjamin ran around left end and went 59 yards to hit paydirt. He also converted the point after touchdown.

Tawas capitalized on a West Branch fumble later in the quarter when Rieger recovered the ball on the Orioles 27. Attempting one running play and two passes going incomplete, Guyette was thrown for a loss on the West Branch 34 attempting to pass on fourth down.

Tawas recovered a second West Branch fumble but saw the clock run out on them just before the half.

Shortly before the end of the third quarter Oakes ran 46 yards for a touchdown and converted the point after touchdown. (See BRAVES LOSE, page 8.)

Tawas Herald Starts Series on Iosco Industry

Starting with this week's issue, The Tawas Herald presents the Iosco County series of articles pertaining to Iosco County's industries, to be run at intervals in future issues.

In presenting this series, in words and pictures, this newspaper will point out the industrial growth which has taken place in this county during the past few years, modernization of plants, coupled with historical notes of interest.

To start the series the publishers have selected the United States Gypsum Company plant at Alabaster as the target of its visit. (Turn to page 5.)

The quarry at Alabaster operated by USG is the county's oldest continuous industrial operation. Of interest to many readers will be the fact that it is the largest gypsum quarry in the United States and has the longest over-water bucket tramline in the world.

During Michigan Week last May it was pointed out in this newspaper that there are 16 industries in Iosco County which employ more than 1,151 persons.

Besides having two gypsum quarries (the other being the National Gypsum Company at National City), products from Iosco County include mobile homes, plastic gloves, pre-fabricated homes, pallets, pulpwood, lumber, railroad ties and wood preserving, oil filters, small parts plating, metal stamping and dies, aluminum doors and window sash, and concrete products.

Beware of Goblins and Witches!

Iosco County law enforcement agencies ask all drivers to be especially careful while driving on Hallowe'en night Wednesday, October 31.

On that night hundreds of small children will be out "trick-or-treating" or on their way to community-sponsored parties. Most of them will be wearing masks over their faces which might impair their vision. Watch carefully, for the children may not see your approaching vehicle.

Hallowe'en is a night of fun. Keep it that way! Beware of goblins and witches—DRIVE CAREFULLY AT ALL TIMES.

The lesson-sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" will include the following selection from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (571: 15): "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil."

Among the passages to be read from the King James Version of the Bible is the following (Isa. 35:10): "And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away."

The Golden Text is from Lamentations 3:39, 40: "Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins? Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord."

They are: Mrs. Theodore Olson, chairman; Mrs. George Roach, vice chairman; Mrs. Edwin Zaharias, secretary; Mrs. Russell Tomlinson, news reporter; Mrs. Victor Zaharias, leader. One other member will be named to attend leader-training meeting with Mrs. Zaharias each month.

Be sure to remember our own fall county get-together of home demonstration group members on the evening of October 25. Program is to include discussion sections for officers. These provide tips and an exchange of experiences and ideas to help officers guide their groups easily and well. Other features are a slide illustrated number on window treatments, recreation, time to get acquainted which will include introduction of new groups and refreshments.

Every member, new and not so new, is invited to come and meet their friends from other parts of the county, many of whom are not seen but the once or twice a year we have county home demonstration meets.

Apple—does the very sound of the word make your mouth water as you think of the sweet juicy flavor? That flavor depends upon variety and fruit condition when you get it.

If you want to bake or for pie apples, choose Jonathan, McIntosh Red, or Stayman Winesap. For applesauce select Northern Spy, Grimes Golden, McIntosh Red and Stayman Winesap.

It is no secret that people eat with their eyes. This is especially true of children.

Keep in mind colors of foods in planning the menu. Garnish plates that lack color with a bit of green pepper, a radish, carrot curl or parsley. Make plates look neat, avoid having portions of different foods run together. Have a variety of textures as well as flavors. Include something hot and something cold—each really hot or cold.

Storing away summer clothes will soon be the order of the day. First of all be sure they are clean, for the longer spots and stains remain on a fabric the more difficult they are to remove. Remove pins or metal ornaments that might leave marks on fabrics. Store summer washables "rough drier." Other garments keep their shape best when carefully placed on hangers in clothes bags.

Label all boxes and opaque bags. Old socks or bags made of scraps are handy for storing summer white shoes.

Have you thought about the condition of your septic tank lately? You know, if it has not been checked over within the past year, it would be a good idea to have it done before freezing weather sets in.

George Amundson, extension agricultural engineer at Michigan State University, says that no matter how good a tank you have, it will need attention from time to time.

The modern septic tank has a much bigger job to do than tanks used to have. Automatic washers, water softeners, garbage disposals and many other appliances all increase the load on the septic tank of the modern farm home.

All tanks probably need cleaning every three or four years. There is no powder or other chemical that will clean out the tank or increase its efficiency when it is put into the tank. The tank has to be pumped out.

Amundson says that he has received a number of letters asking him about septic tank problems. One of the frequently asked questions is whether or not detergents will slow down the action of the bacteria in the tank. The answer is no, but the detergent may increase the tile field problems, cause they carry the fats and suspension out into the tile and cause clogging.

If you are thinking of adding new appliances, such as, water softener or dishwasher, keep in mind that it increases the load on the tank. Garbage disposals are particularly heavy loads.

Common calf scours are usually caused from feeding the young animals too much milk or milk too high in fat.

But white scours are caused by infections and should be treated by a veterinarian. This type of scours is severe and usually occurs within 24 hours after the calf is born.

However, common scours can usually be corrected by feeding the right amount of milk or diluting the milk to proper fat content, according to Donald Hillman, extension dairyman at Michigan State University.

He recommends feeding one pound of milk for each 10 pounds of calf weight per day with a maximum daily feeding of 12 pounds.

Pinconning eliminated Standish from the conference race and at the same time made firmer its hold on the top rung by dropping the Arrows, 25-14; Houghton Lake kept its hopes alive by defeating Arenac Eastern, 26-14; West Branch handed Tawas Area its sixth loss of the season, 20-0; Roscommon knocked Gladwin out of any title contention, 37-14, and Sterling climbed out of the cellar by edging winless Beaverton, 6-0, in games played last Friday night in the Northeastern Michigan Conference.

Games on tap for this week-end, which will wind up the league schedule, include Gladwin at Pinconning, Eastern at Standish, West Branch at Houghton Lake, Beaverton at Tawas Area, the game to be played under the lights at Oscoda, and Roscommon at Sterling.

Houghton Lake had to make use of a second half rally to give Eastern its third defeat of the year as the losers held a slim one point advantage at half time with a 14-13 score. Arenac scored first when Bill McCormick, quarterback, went over from two yards out and helped pick up the PAT when he tossed to Frank Golnick, halfback, in the end zone.

Phil Kemp, halfback, evened the six-point count on a 15-yard run around right end. The conversion attempt failed and the Eagles held a 7-6 budge at the end of the first quarter. Both teams scored in the second period. Joe Hollenbeck, fullback, reached paydirt after a three-yard plunge through guard. McCormick again hit Golnick in the end zone for the extra point.

Kemp again brought the Lakers into the ball game with a 60-yard run around the right end and fullback Dave Lee's pass to Quarterback Pat Maris brought the score to 14-13 at the end of the first half.

The Bobcats took charge in the second half, hitting into the end zone for two counters while holding Eastern in check. Lee scored in the third quarter on a 36-yard dash and added the extra point on a pass. Jim Woods, quarterback, got the final tally for the winners in the last period, when he passed to Charles Schmidt, right end, the play covering eight yards.

Roscommon eliminated Gladwin from the title race with a great second half performance to overcome a 14-13 lead the Flying G's held early in the third quarter.

Dale Westfall, right half, scored the first counter for the Bucks after a Gladwin fumble was recovered by End Paul Martozka. Dale Mead, fullback, kicked the extra point. Stockton, Roscommon left halfback, made it 13-0 in the second period on a 26-yard dash on a pitchout.

Gladwin scored in the second quarter when Elwood Foor, halfback, went four yards on a wide end sweep and Ken Heath scored the first of his two conversions on a line plunge. The losers went ahead in the third period when Bob Switzer, quarterback, went one yard into the end zone and Heath converted.

Gladwin's lead was short lived as Roscommon took the kickoff and scored in six plays with Jim Granlund, quarterback, going the last 16 yards. In the fourth quarter, the Bucks scored three times with Stockton counting twice and Granlund once, the latter coming on the last play of the game.

Sterling climbed out of the basement with its 6-0 win over Beaverton and, marked the first win for the Hawks in two years of gridiron play. A 40-yard pass play, Leon DeLong to Scott Allen, set up the lone touchdown of the contest. With the ball on the 10 as a result of the pass, Sterling worked through the line with Larry Stanley, fullback, plunging the last two yards for the score. The touchdown came one minute before the first half ended and Sterling fought off Beaverton's threats to cash in their first ball game.

Pinconning scored in the opening quarter, repeated in the second period and then waited until the final stanza to push across the deciding TDs in its game with Standish. The victory virtually clinched the flag for the Spartans, although a loss to Gladwin Friday night, coupled with a win for Houghton Lake, would knock Gary Ballarion's aggregation into second place.

'Tornado' Army Enrolled

A "tornado army" of almost 250,000 volunteer sentries has been organized throughout the central states by the United States Weather Bureau. The army has its own GHQ and represents part of an all-out effort to beat the tornado by detecting the black, revolving cloud funnels as soon as they form, note the direction in which they are moving and immediately alert telephone exchanges, radio and television stations.

We will have better law enforcement in the United States when citizens generally are more willing to obey the law themselves.

ALABASTER and the UNITED STATES GYPSUM COMPANY---

'FROM HAND FORKS to the BIG M'

By W. N. Thornton
Tawas Herald Photos

FROM LOADING railcars with hand forks to the use of giant 600-ton Marion draglines which take a 10-ton "bite" of earth at a scoop ... this is but one example of the progress in quarrying operations made during the past 54 years by the United States Gypsum Company at Alabaster, Iosco County's oldest continuous industrial operation.

But the story of gypsum in Iosco County, with particular reference to the Alabaster area, goes as far back as the 1850s when outcroppings of the white rock were discovered along the shores of Saginaw Bay, almost coincident in time with the birth of the county.

The property was never developed, however, until it was sold a few years later to B. F. Smith, who was engaged in the gypsum industry in Ohio. By 1865, Smith was quarrying gypsum in Alabaster and shipping it by boat to Detroit for calcination and processing into plaster. Later, Smith built a grinding and calcining mill on the site and named the location Alabaster, the Biblical name for gypsum.

According to M. H. VanOrnum, present works manager, the Alabaster quarry continued operations under the name of B. F. Smith Company until 1891, when it was reorganized following a fire which destroyed the facilities at the plant. The new company name was the Western Plaster Works, which rebuilt the calcining plant in 1892, but in the meantime (1891) a new gypsum processing plant was built in South Chicago, Illinois, to meet the growing demands for gypsum plaster in the Middle West.

In the quarry's infancy there was much use of manpower. The rock was cleaned and drilled by hand and after it was loaded into small railcars with hand forks. Rock was shipped to small mills in Winona, West Bay City and Monroe for the manufacture of land plaster, or agricultural gypsum.

In 1898 the name of the company was changed from Western Plaster Works to The Alabaster Company. It retained the latter name until 1902, when United States Gypsum Company was founded, taking Alabaster into its fold as one of the most important and valuable components of the corporation.

From this coalition has risen one of the largest manufacturers of building materials in the world. It distributes more than 100 different building products through 25,000 building supply dealers. It operates plants throughout the Western Hemisphere. It owns a fleet of ocean-going ships. Its vast resources include thousands of acres of mineral land which will yield millions of tons of gypsum.

One of USG's greatest contributions to the vast pool of building materials consists of gypsum board products, which developed from the "plaster sandwich" devised by Augustine Sackett around 1865. This revolutionary, but originally crude board, was made of three layers of plaster sandwiched between four plies of wool felt paper. It was USG engineers who refined this material into the marketable product it is today. Billions of feet of gypsum board in the form of lath, sheathing and wallboard are sold annually.

The first equipment used in the manufacture of wall plaster at the Alabaster plant burned wood, but this was changed to coal when a railroad switch was built. With the crude woodburning equipment, the Alabaster Company supplied the plaster for the numerous building exteriors at the 1893 Chicago World's Fair Columbian Exposition. The manufacture of plaster was discontinued here in 1929.

Until 1898, when the railroad switch was installed, all shipments were made by sailing vessels that tied up at a 600-foot dock. In 1929 marine shipments were resumed by means of a marine tramline used to load ships destined for the company's plants at Detroit and East Chicago.

Today, this industry plays an important part in the economy of the area, just as it has since before the turn of the century. During its infancy, the United States Gypsum Company has pumped hundreds of thousands of dollars into the county through wages to workers and taxes, besides the additional revenue indirectly gained locally through the shipment of rock over the railroad.

Operations at Alabaster, described as the largest gypsum quarry in the United States, would delight any of the old timers who loaded cars by hand and then saw the trains move to the plant by means of small "dinky" steam locomotives. The deposit of gypsum is extensive. It is known to extend far out under water and some miles inland.

First step in the production of raw gypsum rock is to strip overburden (earth) from the deposit. This layer of dirt and rock, averaging about 55 feet in depth, is moved to a "spoil" area by means of huge electric walking draglines. The quarry is elliptical in shape, the overburden being cast in mountainous heaps in the center as quarrying operations proceed outward.

After the ledge of rock is stripped by means of other "smaller" electric powered shovels (one scoops about seven tons at a time) and scrapers, it is drilled and blasted to produce broken rock of suitable size to load from the quarry floor into standard gauge railcars, powered by 45-ton diesel locomotives. (Although methods of blasting have changed and the old black powder charges have given way to modern explosives, the chief blaster, Oscar Jarvela, is still on the job. He is the senior employee of USG at Alabaster and an expert in his field, working there since February 1907.)

Averaging about 110 tons per train load, the rock is then hauled to the primary crushing department at the mill, located on the shores of Saginaw Bay. After crushing and screening to various sizes in accordance with different customers' needs, the rock is then moved over an aerial tramway (longest over-water bucket tramway in the world, 6,350 feet long) to the huge marine bin for shipment by ore carrier.

Vast quantities of rock are also transported to other Mid-Western points by rail shipment beginning with the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company. Until 1949, the Erie and Michigan Railway and Navigation Company moved the rock from Alabaster to Tawas City for shipment.

Alabaster gypsum is of unusually high purity. It is white with black markings, but it may come in the pinkish tones unique here, or even with a blue cast. All crush into fine white plasters.

Gypsum rock has many uses besides being the principal raw material used in the manufacture of wallboard and other allied products supplied by USG. From dusting to the purification of glass, gypsum rock mined at Alabaster is used in some 180 different items.

A quantity of selected rock is dried and ground for special uses, such as, filler for paper and paints, or for use in the preparation of certain foods. Large quantities of a particular size rock are shipped to Portland cement plants.

The 140 USG employees at Alabaster take pride in the part in which the local plant has played in the development of the area. Many of today's workers are members of second and third generation families who have worked in the quarry and mill since the company's infancy. And employees like Mr. Jarvela, Peter Baker, Claude DeLosh, Rudolph Wegner and J. E. Erickson Sr., all 40-year men, and many other long-time employees, share their know-how, gained after long years of experience, with the younger men of the company.

United States Gypsum Company has a proud and rich heritage in Iosco County. Although the extent of the gypsum deposit here is a company secret, the part USG plays in the prosperity of the communities which have risen up around it will be assured for many years in the future.

A USG diesel locomotive tows a string of empty rock cars to the quarry. In the background is a mountainous heap of earth and rock stripped from the deposit.

TAKING ON A LOAD of crushed rock at the huge off-shore bin in Saginaw Bay is a Great Lakes Ore carrier. Rock is moved to the bin by means of the longest over-water bucket tramway in the world.

Farm Ownership Loan Service Recently Expanded

The farm ownership loan service which has enabled many Isoco County farmers to buy, enlarge or improve their farms with 40-year loans has recently been expanded to enable the Farmers Home Administration to serve the credit needs of a large number of farm families, Lowell F. Schaeffer, the agency's county supervisor, explained today.

Under recent legislation loans may now be made primarily to re-finance existing debt of owners of farms no larger than family-type. In the past the agency only re-financed loans when the re-financing was incidental to the making of real estate loans for the purchase or improvement of family-type farms.

Mr. Schaeffer said the loans for re-financing will help farmers who have adequate real estate security and who are otherwise in a sound position but who are unable to meet their present credit obligations and need credit on more favorable terms and conditions than are currently available from other lenders.

When debts are re-financed by the Farmers Home Administration under this program, the repayments will be scheduled over periods up to 40 years according to the borrower's ability to repay. Interest, or interest plus insurance charges will be 4 1/2 percent.

The regular credit services of the agency including loans for the purchase and improvement of family-type farms are continued.

Private lenders supply most of the funds for the agency's farm real estate loans under the insured loan program. The lender receives 3 1/2 percent interest and the government charges an additional one percent for insurance. The Farmers Home Administration makes, services and collects the loans.

These loans will assist farmers who own small farms and rent additional land and small farm owners who depend on off-farm employment for part of their income. The credit can be used to improve land and buildings.

The interest rates and terms are the same as those for loans made for re-financing debts. Interest, or interest plus insurance charges, will be 4 1/2 percent. The loans will be repayable over periods up to 40 years.

Like the loans that were already available, loans under the new authorities will be made only to applicants whose credit needs cannot be adequately handled by banks or other lenders.

Employment—

Employment in September stood at 66,071,000—700,000 below that of August—but still close to the record of 66,752,000 set in that month. Unemployment, according to the commerce department, decreased by some 200,000 in September. The new total of slightly below 2,000,000 jobless, was one of the lowest in the last three years.
