Many New Faces at City Hall After Election

Tawas City's common council had a "face-lifting" at last Thursday's statutory meeting called to canvass the vote cast in last week's spring election and to swear in the newly elected officers.

As his last official action as mayor of the city, George W. Myles congratulated the successful candidates and thanked members of the council for their cooperation during his tenure, before handing the reins over to Officers who took over their new duties effective Thursday night were: Mayor Tuttle, Clerk Walter Nelson, Treasurer Ruth Albertson and Councilman John N. Brugger.

Also on hand were Councilman Cecil Cable and Councilman Earl Davis, who were reelected last week.

The extent of the change in Tawas City's administration was the most extensive in past local history. Mayor Myles declined renomination to the post, as did Councilman Roy Wright, who was replaced by Brugger.

Former clerk, Albert H. Buch, extended his congratulations to the new officers. He had served the city in that capacity since August 1943. He is also the register of deeds for Isoco County. John Hosbach, former treasurer, had held that position since April 1953.

Joint Boards of Education Approve Transfer of Property in Arenac County

At a special hearing Thursday night, boards of education of three counties approved the transfer of property in two Arenac County townships from the newly organized Whittemore-Prescott Area School District.

Property of each person requesting transfer was approved wherever the property was found to be contiguous with the districts where the owner wished to be transferred.

The board did not allow any non-resident property to be transferred, except in the case where it had to be taken to allow another petitioner to be transferred, whose land was blocked by such property.

All of the property in question was located in the original Township and Berry Township districts.

Russell A. Rollin, Isoco County superintendent of schools, stated that 41 40-acre parcels went to Arenac Eastern School District, Twining, and 26 40s were returned to Berry School District.

John Pinter, owner of the Holland Hotel, East Tawas, was presented one of the United States Army's highest awards to civilians—a certificate of appointment as honorary recruiter.

The certificate, signed by secretary of the army, Wilber M. Brucker, was presented to Pinter Monday night by Captain Oren S. Gordon, executive officer of the Detroit Recruiting Main Station.

In part, the citation accompanying the award read as follows: "John Pinter, owner of the Holland Hotel, has been generous in furnishing free facilities for the army recruiter area meetings and parties as well as securing financial sponsorship for various publicity projects sponsored by the recruiting services.

"Pinter gave free lodging to a team of ski troops from the United States Army cold weather and mountain training command during the 1957 tour of Northern Michigan. He was directly responsible for securing cooperation of other civic leaders to underwrite the financial cost of ski troop demonstrations in this community."

In accepting the award, Pinter said that the entire Silver Valley Winter Sports Committee shared in this high honor, inasmuch as it was through the combined efforts of the group that the ski troops were so royally entertained here in February.

Members of the winter sports committee attended the ceremony, held at the chamber of commerce building.

Kenneth Barnes of Clare, former Tawas City hotel owner, received a similar certificate.

Supervisors Make 'Beard Proclamation'---

Tentative Program Set for Isoco's Centennial

With a tweak of beardless chins, the Isoco County Board of Supervisors proclaimed Monday that "all male citizens of the county shall commence the growing of a beard" in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of Isoco.

According to the proclamation, signed by Chairman Clarence S. Everett and all members of the board, male citizens have only one alternative unless they are in the "peach-fuzz stage"—they may receive special permission to shave, "by reason of wearing the badge of approval by the centennial committee."

Entering into the spirit of the centennial observance, supervisors heard a complete report of the progress of the proposed program as presented by Miss Edna Otis, committee chairman.

Centennial week will be observed June 23 through 29. Programs and celebrations will be held in each community of the county.

According to a tentative schedule, the celebration will start with sunrise services at Lumbermen's Monument on the banks of the AuSable River Sunday, June 23. The program is being arranged by E. H. "Bert" Stickney of Oscoda. James F. Mark of Tawas City will be in charge of special music.

On Monday the program shifts to Tawas City where events being planned include an Indian pageant and parade, with square dances in the afternoon.

Tuesday's program will be at Hale with horse racing in the afternoon at the Isoco County Fairgrounds and varied events between races.

A parade and athletic events will highlight Wednesday's program at Oscoda, along with open house at Wurtsmith Air Force Base. A night baseball game will be played under the lights.

Stock car races, athletic events and square dances in costume will be a feature of Thursday's program at Whittemore. Also planned is a program for children.

Friday's events listed for East Tawas include an old timers' baseball game and street dances. Highlight and conclusion to the week-long festivities will be the centennial parade through the Tawas area on Saturday. Walter Champion of Tawas City is parade chairman.

Also taking place on Saturday will be an award presentation to the oldest native-born person present for the observance. Presentation of a $100 United States savings bond will be made to Isoco's centennial baby, Janis Harley, who was born at Tawas Hospital on February 15, exact date of the birthday anniversary of the county.

During the weeks preceding the actual celebration, Isoco County citizens will have the opportunity to get into the swing of festivities as other events are staged. Clubs and organizations are urged to help the celebration along by staging centennial dinners and other such events.

New Order to Affect Postal Service Here

Starting this Saturday, April 13, many curtailments will be placed on normal postal service as announced late last week by Postmaster General Arthur Sumnerfield. Lack of sufficient funds for the final quarter of the fiscal year ending June 30, was blamed for the action.

In a special order received by Tawas City postmaster, Martin Kasichke, the following are curtailments affecting the mail in the local post office, unless sufficient fund become available.

1. Commencing April 13, the Tawas City post office will be closed to the public on all Saturdays and Sundays.
2. Effective April 13, rural delivery service will be discontinued on Saturdays.
3. Effective April 15, window service will be limited to 8½ hours, from 8:30 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.
4. Effective April 29, no third class mail, except certain medical items, will be accepted.
5. Also effective April 29, the issuance of money orders will be suspended.

Kasichke said with curtailment of window service to 8½ hours, all mail must be deposited at the (See CURTAIL, page 8.)

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE How sickness as well as sin can be overcome through spiritual understanding of God, divine Principle, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the lesson-sermon entitled "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the Golden Text from Psalms (103:24): "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction."

In addition to passages from the King James Version of the Bible, selections will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scripture" by Mary Baker Eddy including the following (406:1-6): "The Bible contains the recipe for healing. The leaves of the tree were for the healing of the nations. Sin and sickness are both healed by the same Principle. The tree is typical of man's divine Principle, which is equal to every emergency, offering full salvation from sin, sickness, and death."

LEGISLATIVE

From the Desk of JAMES P. MIELOCK State House of Representatives

The majority members of the house labor committee, desirous of maintaining the most progressive labor laws possible, compatible with the preservation of Michigan's Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund, as well as the preservation in Michigan of a healthy climate for continued industrial growth and for the development of additional job opportunities, introduced house bill No. 543.

This bill provides moderate increases in the maximum weekly benefits for family men, to keep pace with the rising cost of living. It also provides a reduction of unjustified unemployment burdens on small and steady employers.

Too much of the burden of maintaining the unemployment fund is now falling on the very small employers with from four to seven employees, who were brought under the act in 1956. Currently more than 20,000 of these small businessmen must pay higher-than-average tax rates until 1960. House bill No. 543 will make these employers eligible for reduced tax rates in 1958.

The burden of maintaining the fund is falling unfairly on employers who give year-round employment. Most of these employers are our small businessmen, some of whom have never had a single employee draw benefits under the act. The new bill will reduce the minimum tax rate from one-half percent to one-tenth percent, so that these employers can pay a rate more in line with their own experience.

A few employers with especially irregular employment cost the fund substantially more than their required tax payments to the fund. These employers are receiving an unemployment compensation subsidy. Every employer is being required to pay an extra tax of one-half percent on his payroll to make good the "red balances" in the unemployment compensation accounts of these employers.

The knowledge that Michigan employers are required to subsidize the unemployment compensation costs of unstable industry could become a serious obstacle to attracting the most desirable kind of employers to our state.

There were nearly $35,000,000 in red balances built up in about 2,900 employer accounts in the 12 months ended June 30, 1956. These red balances were one-third of all the benefits paid during that year, although only one-seventh of the employers were involved. Three employers caused over half of these red balances.

Because it is neither practical nor desirable at this time to make these "red balance" employers pay their own way 100 percent, the bill will increase their maximum tax rate by one-fourth percent per year, starting in 1960, so that it can reach five percent in 1963.

These increases will apply only to employers who consistently overdraw their accounts in the unemployment fund, and not to those who have a single bad year. This will help reduce the amount of red balances which must be subsidized by other employers.

The Democrats in the house of representatives earlier introduced a bill which would increase taxes on employers up to 40 percent. This would be done by taxing the first $4,200 of wages earned by each employee in a year, where the present law taxes only the first $3,000.

Because the employers who operate only part of the year would get off scot-free since their employees do not put in enough time in a year to earn $3,000, this Democratic scheme would penalize the employer who pays good wages for year-around work. Therefore, the Democrats would require the steady employer to bear even more of the cost of supporting the unemployment fund, while the majority members are seeking to reduce that unfair burden.

Enrico Fermi atomic power plant is under way near Detroit through the joint efforts of 18 electric companies. A group of equipment manufacturers and the Atomic Energy Commission are also associated in the project.

Dresden, Illinois, plant is being developed by 7 electric light and power companies, their equipment manufacturers, with AEC co-operation.

Yankee atomic power plant, being developed by 12 New England electric companies. Equipment manufacturers and AEC are participating.

What will atomic-electric power plants look like?

Among the atomic-electric power plants now under way, three will look like the drawings above. Although they appear somewhat alike, each involves different methods, different materials, a different type of atomic reactor or "furnace." That's because the electric companies, the equipment manufacturers and the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission—who are all participating in atomic development—are searching for the best ways to produce electricity, using atomic energy as fuel.

The development of atomic-powered electric plants is the latest stage in bringing plentiful electricity to America. You can be sure that electric company skills and experience, acquired in 75 years of service, are being applied to this great new job.

Memorial Service for Mrs. Barkman Held at OES Meeting

A memorial ceremony for the late Mrs. Clara L. Barkman was held preceding the business session of Isoco Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at the Masonic Temple last Friday.

The Star point of Adah was honored in a ceremony in which Worthy Matron Marie Hennigar, Marshal Vergil Butler and Conductress LeAra Carlson took part. The new sword was presented to Isoco Chapter by Pine Tree Chapter, Oscoda. Mrs. Butler gave the acceptance and dedication speech.

Past Adahs of the participating chapters were welcomed and Dorothy Harmon, Adah of Isoco Chapter, was presented with a gift and bouquet of blue carnations. She wore a pale blue formal.

A class in proficiency was presented by Worthy Patron Robert Harmon, who gave the test. The class consisted of Conrad Carlson, Clarabelle Eckman, Nina May, Virginia Immers and Irene Smith. A gift was presented to the worthy patron by the class.

Mrs. Laura McKenzie, Tri-County Association president, announced the AIA meeting to be held at Standish May 7 at 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. Dinner will be served by the Episcopal Church.

Hostesses for the evening serving refreshments were Emma McCall, chairman; Carrie Swales, Jean Blake, Clarabelle Eckman, Irene Smith and Helen Hertzler. The table was decorated in Easter motif.

FINALE TO THE PROGRAM presented last Friday night by the Tawas Area School's music department is pictured above. The junior and senior bands, high school chorus and junior high chorus were joined as a group in three selections as the 2 1/2-hour program concluded. The band was led by Director Edward Rima and the vocal groups by Director Richard Ferguson. The above picture was snapped from the balcony using the existing light of the auditorium during the height of the performance. Silhouetted in the foreground are spectators.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Girl Scouts Discuss Cookie Sales at Meeting

Cookie sales was the conversation at the meeting of the Girl Scout Troop held at the East Tawas Methodist Church last week.

Chief R. J. Peters, officer in charge of the United States Coast Guard Station, Tawas Point, was guest speaker at the meeting Tuesday. He displayed the weather flags and demonstrated the positions of the flags to warn ships of coming storms and pleasant weather.

The girls will use the information gained in Chief Peters' talk in second class requirements.

Mrs. William Peters will represent the sponsoring organization, Tawas Women's League, on the troop committee instead of Mrs. Staebler, as was incorrectly reported in a previous article.

Drapes Hung at IOOF Hall by Past Noble Grands

Last Thursday afternoon the Past Noble Grands met at IOOF Temple for a 1 o'clock pot-luck luncheon. In spite of the storm, 11 members were present and a fine luncheon served.

During the afternoon the ladies who had purchased seven pairs of colorful drapes for the dining hall and lobby, hung the drapes in the newly decorated dining hall. Kitchen drapes were also put up. This was a project of the club this year.

Tea and home-made cookies were served in the late afternoon.

ARMY PIGEONS

The army's carrier pigeons are going the way of the army mules—out. The last 1,000 of the birds remaining will be sold, since the army believes the birds are out-moded by electronic communications. The army began using the carrier pigeon in 1878 and had a peak of 56,000 in service during World War II.

WITH THE IOSCO—4-H Clubs

By Dorothy Scott Home Demonstration Agent

What is the best way to measure a cup of flour? How do you go about adjusting the hem length of a dress?

Answers for these questions were given Hale Happy Hustlers 4-H Club members, leaders and parents at their open house meeting on Thursday evening, April 4, in the Hale Area School home economics room.

Demonstrations were presented by Linda Wyatt and Chris Helmbold, who explained the mysteries of flour measurement, and by Linda Shellenbarger and Darlene Brinkman, who made hem problems easier.

Exhibits in food preparation, baking and freezing completed projects were by Karen Helmbold, Darlene Scofield, Charlotte Webb, Linda Wyatt, Chris Helmbold, Deanna Holzheuer, Phyllis Holzheuer, Bethany Jacobs, Jacqueline Loveliss, Linda Chrvia, Gloria Reilly, Darlene Brinkman, Linda Shellenbarger and David Jacobs.

These 4-H Club members have now finished the project lessons, written their report and displayed articles they learned to make. These are the requirements for completing a project.

Other projects are under way and some of them were on display so parents and extension agents could see what is being done and offer suggestions about doing more work on them. Entomology, handicraft, clothing and photography are among the projects yet to be completed.

A business meeting was conducted very capably by the 4-H Club officers, after which we discussed together the various projects on display.

Mrs. Gordon Helmbold, Mrs. Ira Scofield and Mrs. Fred Holzheuer have assisted the young people as leaders for foods and freezing projects. More parents are helping with leadership of the projects being continued through the spring and summer.

Oscoda's gun safety project met at the school on Tuesday, April 2, for a special program of films to help them learn more about safety with firearms. Most of the more than 30 boys and girls enrolled were there.

Capture Easter Joys on Color Film

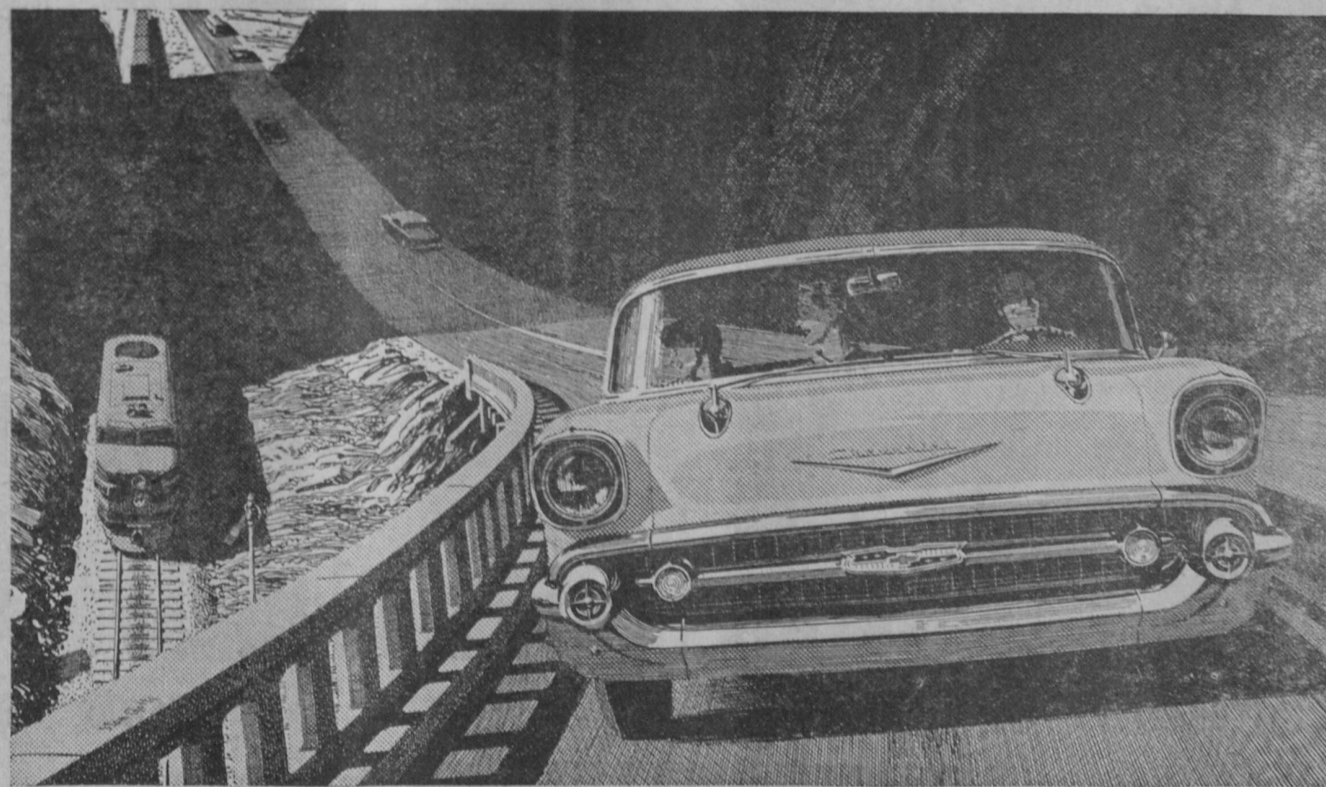

Every season has its day—its big holiday, that is. Summer sparkles with the Fourth of July and fireworks; fall boasts festive Thanksgiving, Christmas, of course, is the star in the crown of winter, and Easter is spring's bright promise to the earth of joy and fulfillment in the months ahead.

With the approach of Easter, almost everyone gets a "lift". The world takes on a new young look—soft greens and pinks and yellows in the shop windows match those on the flower-vendor's cart. Baby chicks and lambs and cottontails—new puppies and kittens—new spring bonnets—bright new slipcovers—shiny screen doors—fresh paint and polish.

The happy, busy tempo of the season—the wonderful day of Easter itself—just naturally call for camera and film. No one who can click a shutter would want to let such perfect picture opportunities slip by. There's not only the highlight of the Easter Parade—there's the bounty of the Easter Bunny, egg hunts and parties for the children home from school, visitors on spring vacation trips, newly acquired pets and plants, the whole family together for Easter dinner.

These—and many more—expected and unexpected situations will be waiting for your camera this weekend. So be prepared with a good supply of film—especially color film—to do full justice to the colorful symbols of the Easter season. Today's color film is really a pleasure to use because you don't have to worry about whether you're going to snap pictures indoors or out, with flash or without. It works equally well in daylight or with flash without the addition of filters or blue flash bulbs to compensate for the different light.

Fine Attendance at Garden Club Meeting

The East Tawas Garden Club met at the Methodist Church parlors Monday evening. There was a fine attendance of approximately 100 women. Guests were members of the Tawas City, Au Gres and Alabaster Garden Clubs, and several guests of the local garden club. Mrs. L. G. McKay Sr., president of the club, welcomed guests and presided over a short business session.

Mrs. Elmer Kunze introduced the speaker of the evening with appropriate remarks. The program consisted of a demonstration of proper floral arrangements by Mrs. Edwin R. Crosby of the Flint Yard and Garden Club. Mrs. Crosby is a member of the state board of directors of Federated Garden Clubs and a national accredited judge of floral arrangements.

Mrs. Crosby told of the history of flower arrangements which dates back to 600 B. C. She gave a thorough lesson on the use of materials, the use of commonplace things to make unusual arrangements and the transition of color. She arranged several centerpieces of gladioli, carnations, daffodils and greens used with figurines. Her talk was instructive as well as entertaining.

After the program refreshments were served by the following hostesses, Mrs. Frank Wilkusi, chairman; Mrs. Earl Wight, Mrs. Gordon Huck and Mrs. Kunze. The table arrangement was in pink and white with a centerpiece of violets and pussy willows. Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. McKay and Mrs. Herbert Hertzler.

HOLDING THIS PAIR OF FOX PUPS are Billy and Danny Myles, age two and five, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Myles of Tawas City. The pups were taken from their den by Junior Anschuetz and Robert James at the Art Thorne dude ranch Sunday afternoon. Although the pups are "cuddly looking" at this age, after they mature they are one of Michigan's worst predators. Anschuetz said the den from which these pups were taken contained a litter of seven.—Tawas Herald Photo.

BY DOROTHY SCOTT
Home Demonstration Agent
April 16 and 23—Heart of the Home classes at Hale Area School, 10:00-12:00 a. m.
Thursday, April 17—Making Curtains, leaders meeting.

Work simplification, Mrs. Ruth Kettunen, Michigan State University home management specialist, explained at the first Heart of the Home class on April 2, involves three steps: 1. Learning to improve body mechanics; 2. Learning how to select better tools and equipment and better ways to use them; and 3. Learning how to go about making good plans for simplifying work in our own homes and how to make them work for us.

Sometimes unlearning is more difficult than the learning. To let the ideas for work simplification help us, it is first necessary to be willing to learn and practice the changes. For a time, while we unlearn over again, it may seem as if the new way takes longer or is more difficult than the way which has become a habit.

Do you know—walking upstairs takes seven to 15 times more energy than walking on the level?
Do you know—walking downstairs takes two to five times more energy than walking on the level?
Do you know—a moderate pace uses less energy than fast movements?
Do you know—standing uses eight to 30 percent more energy than sitting?
Do you know that the more you reach, or bend, the more you work?
It is true, according to studies made. Heart of the Home class members will learn ways to save trips up and down stairs, to work at a moderate pace, to do as many things as possible sitting rather than standing.
Most of the time is spent in the kitchen. Kitchen work simplification was the subject for study at the April 9 meeting. On April 16 emphasis will be to simplify cleaning methods and on April 23 the laundry will have a going over.
As you can see, each meeting is a separate unit for study, so you can come for one or all the meetings, as is convenient for you.

Curtain making is to be subject of study by home demonstration leaders and groups during April and May. It is the second construction methods lesson this year. In February draperies were studied. Curtains in use today include panel, ruffled and the currently popular cafe style. Each will be considered in this month's lesson.
Planned to be timely, these lessons will help homemakers who plan to re-do window treatments this spring as a part of that annual housecleaning project.
First the home demonstration groups studied the selection of curtains and draperies and materials, now we are considering construction methods which is a help whether you make or choose ready-mades. A third possible window treatment project is the matter of valance boards and cornices. How to choose for style and size, how to decorate and even how to make your own can be included in such a lesson.
Trying to please everyone pleases no one.

Michigan Week Chairman Urges Forums to be Held on 'Our Livelihood Day,' May 22

Elmer Werth, mayor of East Tawas, Michigan Week chairman for Iosco County, has received word from K. T. Keller, Detroit, Michigan Week general chairman, urging communities to hold forums on "Our Livelihood Day" on what Michigan and their own regions need in order to assure a better livelihood for the people of the state 10 years hence.

Our Livelihood Day will be observed Wednesday, May 22, of Michigan Week and it is hoped that a forum will be held in each community of the county. Each day of the week has a special designation starting with Sunday, May 19, which is Spiritual Foundations Day, and closing on Saturday, May 25, which is New Frontiers Day.

Announcement of the forum is made by K. T. Keller, general chairman of Michigan Week, who urges each county committee to start making arrangements for Our Livelihood Day discussions to be held in all communities of its county.

The plan was developed by and will be carried out under the direction of the state committee on Our Livelihood Day, chairman of which is Donald Carlson of Moroni, president of the Michigan Independent Telephone Association.

1967, the state committee points out. Findings of the forum in all communities are to be combined by the county Michigan Week committee and reported to the state committee on Our Livelihood Day. Findings of all the forums held May 22 will be digested and turned over to the sponsors of Michigan Week, the board of directors of Greater Michigan Incorporated and the Michigan Economic Development Commission for their study in the month following the observance.

Traffic Deaths in March Less Than a Year Ago

On the basis of provisional figures, traffic deaths in Michigan in March were 21 fewer than in the same month last year.

According to Michigan State Police reports, there were 112 persons killed as compared with 133 in March of the previous year. For the first two months of the year 84 lives were saved as compared with the same period in 1956. This added to the March saving is a total of 105. The figure will be readjusted downward somewhat with the receipt of delayed reports.

The state police monthly statistical report reveals that for the first time in five years Michigan traffic deaths fell below the 100 mark for any one month with 93 fatalities being recorded in February.

The previous low was in April 1952, with 94 deaths. There were 4,037 persons injured and 15,940 reported accidents.

Death were 32 percent, or 60, below the number killed in February last year. Injuries were down 287, or seven percent, and reported accidents dropped 1,574, or nine percent.

Figures on accidents and injuries for March will not be available until later this month.

Estimated vehicle mileage for January, the latest figure reported, was 2.4 billion, a nine percent increase over the same month a year ago.

MORTGAGE AID

Congress has passed and President Eisenhower has signed a bill making half a billion dollars in additional government loan fund available to relieve the tight market for housing mortgages. The $500,000,000 goes to the Federal National Mortgage Association, known as "Fannie Mae," which buys government-backed housing mortgages from builders and lenders when private funds are not available.

Iosco County Centennial---1857-1957

Farm Events

By Marvin Davenport
County Agricultural Agent

Thursday, April 11—Poultry tour, 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. Starts at Ernest Ortlieb's farm in Reno Township. Conducted by "Mac" Moore, poultry specialist at Michigan State University.

Dollard, a new red clover, recommended for the northern one-third of Michigan's Lower Peninsula, offers much promise for Iosco County farmers.

In tests at Michigan State University's Lake City Experiment Station, Dollard yielded three tons of hay each year in a four-year test. Ordinary red clover yielded 2.6 tons in the same tests.

Dollard's increase in yield of 16 percent or two-fifths ton was due to its resistance to northern anthracnose, a disease which causes leaves to turn brown and drop off before harvest.

Dollard was the best variety tested in the northern third of Lower Michigan where anthracnose reduces yields, especially in cool moist years. Dollard's resistance to this disease and blossoming about a week later than ordinary red clover should help in making better quality hay.

Resistance to disease also makes Dollard twice as productive the second harvest year as ordinary red clover. Second-year yields are not high enough to justify keeping it for two years when grown alone or with timothy. However, yields should make it superior to common red clover when grown in a mixture with alfalfa.

Only a limited amount of Dollard is available for spring planting. Seed is about 30 cents a pound higher than ordinary red clover because of its scarcity. Iosco County farmers may be interested in buying a 10-pound bag for trial planting on their farms. Seed should be much more plentiful and lower in price in 1958 as seed supplies increase.

Farmers who grow red clover for seed should find a better market for Dollard than common clover which is generally low in price because of the large supply.

Iosco County farmers should consider making alfalfa seedings in August using the band seeding method rather than attempt to seed in wheat this spring.

Getting good stands of alfalfa in wheat has always been a problem. Alfalfa does not like the heavy shading of the wheat which has a head start in the spring. The heavy application of nitrogen that is usually needed to get good wheat yields makes the shading even heavier. The competition is then too much for alfalfa, especially on the lighter soils.

A good solution to the alfalfa seeding problem may be to plow immediately after combining and prepare the soil for the August seeding, suggests M. B. Tesar, soils specialist at Michigan State University. With band seeding, alfalfa seedings made up to August 31 will usually be better than seedings made in wheat in the spring. If the August seeding idea does not fit in with your farming system, make the alfalfa seedings in oats or barley in the spring.

On the other hand, red clover does not seem to mind the heavy shading from heavily-fertilized wheat. Good stands can usually be obtained with red clover under conditions making alfalfa a failure or near failure.

If your red clover stands are fair but not good enough, here are two easy changes you can make in seeding. First, try drilling in early April at an angle to the wheat rows rather than broadcasting. The seed should fall in the drill disk

ASSURES DEMOCRATIC SENATE CONTROL—Ralph Yarborough, new senator from Texas, makes a final check with campaign headquarters from his home in Austin, Texas, as newsmen interview him. Yarborough, a Democrat, assured the 49-47 Democratic majority in the United States Senate. Yarborough won the position out of a field of 20 candidates.

Farmers Must Sign Contracts by April 15

Iosco County farmers are advised that contracts for starting in the conservation reserve program this year must be signed on or before April 15. After that date, no more contracts involving annual payments for 1957 will be accepted, according to Earl M. Parto, chairman of the Iosco County ASC Committee.

Since land placed in the conservation reserve may not be used for the production of crops for a period of years, the fewer acres available for cropping may require some adjustment in the crops usually produced on the farm or in the fields used for their production.

The conservation reserve is the long-range program of the soil bank. Under it, farmers may sign contracts to divert general cropland from the production of crops to soil and water-conservation uses, tree plantings and wild life protection for periods of three, five or 10 years. Under the five and 10-year contracts, farmers may earn payments of 90 percent of the cost of establishing a conservation practice; all farmers who take part in the program will receive annual per-acre payments for land in the reserve for the periods of their contracts when they remain in compliance with the program. The three-year contracts apply to land already in approved protective cover, for which annual maintenance payments will be made.

Farmers who are interested in placing cropland on their farm in the conservation reserve program of the soil bank may call at the county ASC office in the Federal Building, East Tawas, for further information and assistance.

Conservation reserve contracts which farmers sign to begin in 1957 will become fully effective not later than April 15, 1957. The time when the contract goes into effect is important, because compliance with the contract requires that the designated conservation reserve not be grazed or cropped. Therefore, unless the conservation practice has been started earlier, any livestock grazing on the designated conservation reserve must be removed from the acreage by April 15.

On farms where the application of an approved conservation practice has been started on the designated conservation reserve before April 15, the contract goes into effect when the practice is started.

Consumers Does Best Job Serving Farmers

Consumers Power Company was named last week as the American electric company that did the best job of serving its farm customers in 1956.

The Thomas W. Martin Rural Electrification Award, an electric industry "Oscar," was presented to the outstate Michigan company at a meeting of the Edison Electric Institute in Chicago. The award is given annually to the electric company which, in the opinion of the award committee has made "the greatest contribution to rural electrification and agricultural advancement in the area served." It was accepted by Percy R. Schepers, general farm service supervisor for Consumers.

It was the second time the award has come to Consumers. The first time was for the year 1937. In picking Consumers for the 1956 award the committee gave consideration to the day-to-day activities of the company's farm service organization, which includes 22 farm service advisors distributed among the 61 counties of the Consumers' electric service area.

The committee also took note of Consumers' cooperation with Michigan State University, county agricultural agents, county home demonstration agents, county 4-H Club agents, vocational agriculture teachers, electricians, electrical equipment distributors and dealers, the Farm Bureau, the State Grange, the Michigan Department of Agriculture and other organizations concerned with the advancement of various forms of agriculture and the conservation of soil and water.

Newsman Relates Career Experiences

Local Kiwanians heard the interesting experiences of local newsman, Bert Stoll, at the Tuesday noon luncheon of the Tawas Kiwanis Club. Stoll, who has lived in East Tawas since 1937, drew on his 33-year career as a reporter for the daily press of Michigan to give club members a word picture description of special assignments which have taken him to the wilds of Northern Canada and to far off Korea and Japan.

He began his career as a newsman with the Detroit News in 1924. With two years away from the field as a public relations man for an airline, Stoll came here 20 years ago to cover outdoor activities in Northern Michigan.

After 16 years with Booth Newspapers as an outdoor editor, he resigned in June of 1955 to set up his own Northern Trails Features services and made a tie-up with the Detroit Free Press.

Stoll's first trip to Northern Canada came in the 1920s when he made movies for the News-Record in Ontario of gold mining big game. In the early 1930s he made two more trips to Northern Canada.

With son, Peter, he returned there in 1955 to film uranium mining. This was a combined assignment with the Free Press and the Free Press and a color-sound documentary movie for Gunbar Uranium Mines of Toronto, Canada.

Before leaving Booth Newspapers, he drew the choice assignment of covering a Michigan USO troupe on its tour of United States military installations in Japan and Korea.

Stoll told Kiwanians he hopes to make another trip to the far north again this summer.

The body was taken to the Moffat Funeral Home, East Tawas, and funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the funeral home with the Rev. Ralph Edwards of the Methodist Church officiating. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery.

Earl Parsons was born in Detroit, Michigan, January 18, 1927, and was 30 years old. He resided in Detroit until four years ago when he came to East Tawas with his mother.

Hours on Stormy Bay
After spending five hours on stormy Tawas Bay, Bay Otto Grack finally was able to tie the power launch at the East Tawas park dock last Thursday morning after high winds prevented him from landing at the company dock at Alabaster.

Grack had taken the craft out into the bay Wednesday evening but because of rough water could not tie up at the off-shore crib Michigan State Police at East Tawas and the United States Coast Guard station at Tawas Point were alerted after Grack was unable to tie up at the Michigan Waterways Commission dock at East Tawas because of floating ice.

He returned to Alabaster with the craft but ice still prevented him from tying up. Two workmen at the crib jumped on board as it passed and joined Grack.

Tawas City Church
Buckfiring of an oil furnace caused extensive damage to the Tawas City Methodist Church and memorial hall last Thursday afternoon.

Discovered by Mrs. Inez Conklin, smoke and soot filled the entire building. No estimate on the damage as yet has been determined.

The church was recently redecorated and the memorial hall was completed last year. New choir robes, only worn once, were smoke damaged.

The Rev. Ralph Edwards, pastor, said Monday that the church is being cleaned this week and that services are to be held there Sunday.

The damage was covered by insurance.
