Silver Valley winter sports carnival which will start Friday, February 1, in the Tawases. A program for the three-day snow festival was outlined Monday night by the winter sports committee and plans were made for entertaining guests.

Chairman John Pinter remarked this week it looked as though the weatherman would cooperate for the annual winter event in this area, even though conditions had been disappointing so far this season. A snow fall Monday night and Tuesday saw the ground covered with about five or six inches of snow at the winter sports area.

After last week-end it began to look doubtful if there would be enough snow for favorable conditions. Robert LaVoy, who has charge of the ski area, said that tows were shut down early because hills were getting bare. Three tons of crushed ice was used to patch up one of the toboggan runs after last week's near disastrous rain storm.

"We could use more snow, but we will be happy if we can only keep what we have," commented Chairman Pinter. That the area needs a good covering of snow is emphasized by the fact that one of the highlights of the big week-end is a demonstration of winter survival techniques and combat tactics by ski instructors from the United States Army's Mountain and Cold Weather Command at Camp Hale, Colorado.

Michigan was invaded by these ski troopers last week and, after presenting similar programs at other winter sports areas in Northern Michigan, they will wind up their tour here in the Tawases. by convoy at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. They will be greeted by civic officials and committee members at the Holland Hotel.

Another feature of the three-day carnival will be the announcement of the Silver Valley queen selection, scheduled to take place Saturday night at the Tawas Area School gymnasium in Tawas City. The new queen will take over the throne now occupied by Miss Judy Stanton of Bay City, 1956 winter sports queen, during coronation ceremonies.

Awaiting the queen as grand prize is a 10-day expense paid trip to Mexico City and Acapulco. The queen and her court will be awarded various merchandise prizes.

Queen's contest chairman, Elwood Bronson, reports that there are 10 girls eligible for the finals. Selection of the queen will be made by a popularity-personality contest which is determined by the number of tickets each girls sells.

Students Prepare for Spring Forensic Meets

Preparations are being made for the spring forensic meets with approximately 60 students getting ready to participate. There are five divisions to forensics.

One: Original oration. The student writes his own speech of about 1,000 words on some topic of current and controversial interest. Two: Declamations. The participant here is given only one hour to prepare for his speech. He draws three topics of current news interest and is given one hour to choose one of the three topics and organize a 10-minute speech on it. This is probably the most difficult division Four: Humorous. The student chooses a humorous reading of between four and eight minutes. memorizes it and gives it as well as he is able.
