FURTHER DOWNSTREAM this crew is shown hooking old railroad ties and brush out of the river and piling the debris on the banks. City trucks then moved it to the dump.—Tawas Herald Photos.

River Clean-up to Continue Today

An estimated 35 tons of junk was cleaned out of the Tawas River during the first day of "Operation Tin Can," a campaign being sponsored by the Tawas City Businessmen's Association in cooperation with the Tawas City Council.

Last Thursday afternoon, a group of about 50 men and boys met at the First Street Bridge to start this long neglected project of cleaning up and beautifying the river.

Old cans, bottles, broken concrete, railroad ties, broken tree branches, rusted metal and even a set of old bed springs were picked and piled from the bottom of the river and tossed up on the river banks. The following day this junk, which has accumulated in the river over a period of many years, was trucked to the dump.

Surveying the huge piles of debris piled along the river Thursday afternoon, Chairman James Dillon remarked to Conservation Officer Arthur Leitz, "We haven't even scratched the surface yet!" "This is a big step forward, but more help will be needed to complete the project," replied Leitz.

As a result of the enthusiasm shown by residents, young and old, and a determination to carry out this project to a successful conclusion, "Operation Tin Can" will be held again today (Thursday). All those wishing to participate are requested to meet at the Mathews Street Bridge where groups will be assigned specific areas to clean.

New Swim Class Registration August 8

The new assignment for Red Cross swimming classes will begin Tuesday, August 12, at the East Tawas State Park. Registrations will be taken Friday, August 8, at the park by the qualified Red Cross swimming instructor who will have charge of the classes.

"With the river in the condition that it is, we do not expect to complete the campaign today," said Dillon. "It may take several more days to finish the job, but the results of last week show that everyone is interested."

It was noted by the committee that the Detroit and Mackinac Railway has cut a channel through the piling under the railroad trestles. These have long been a hindrance to navigation and it is expected that the same will be accomplished during the campaign at the First, Whittemore and Mathews Street Bridges. The piling is what remains of old wooden bridges.

Receding water in the river has exposed many old live boxes along the banks and these will be removed, along with other obstructions.

Dillon said this week that some areas of the river cleaned last week would probably have to be gone over again today.

Small boats are urgently needed to transport the debris to the river banks.

Fire Destroyed 25 Acres of Pine Trees

A grass fire which raged out of control in Section 16, Sherman Township, Sunday afternoon destroyed a plantation of Scotch pine trees valued at approximately $8,000. The plantation was owned by Earl Harrington.

Some 25 acres in the plantation were burned over as was some property east of the National Gypsum Company plant.

United States Forest Service trucks from East Tawas were called to assist the Whittemore Fire Department. Bulldozers from the gypsum plant assisted in putting out the fire.

Investigating state police officers said that the fire was started when a fog fire at the Harrington cottage got out of control.

Trail Left by Youth at Cabin Led to Arrest

A series of recent cabin breaking and enterings in the Tawas area were solved this week with the arrest of three juveniles by Michigan State Police. A number of firearms, including rifles and a pistol, all stolen from the cabins, were turned over to police.

The three boys, aged 14 and 15 years, implicated a 68-year-old Clio man, LoVern Neeley, and he was charged with concealing and possession of stolen property. Neeley pleaded guilty when he was arraigned before Justice A. J. Goulet Monday. He was fined $75, costs of $8.75 and a sentence of 20 days in jail.

Five hunting camps were burglarized by two of the boys, including the Kunze hunting camp, the Montgomery-Palmer camp, the Toksa camp, Harvey Smiley camp and Fritsch camp.

Three other hunting camps, Wesley Parrott, Leonard Ingalls and Harold Turner, were broken into by two of the boys.

First break in the case came when Troopers Walter Wiedbrauk and Stan Ellis found a footprint near the Frisinger cottage at the end of Bischoff Road, north of Monument Road. Wiedbrauk, along with Conservation Officer Arthur Leitz, followed the foot print trail which led to one of the boys' homes.

When the youth was confronted with evidence that his shoe prints matched those found near the Frisinger cottage, he admitted the act and involved the other boy. When the other youth was confronted he implicated the third boy in the other cases.

Police said that Neeley would drive his car out into the woods at night, accompanied by one of the boys, and pick up the stolen property. It was then brought into town and hidden at their homes. Neeley kept a stolen 22 caliber rifle which he turned over to police after he was apprehended.

The loot included several .22 caliber rifles, 410 gauge shot guns, an old army rifle, hunting knives and other items.

Sport Booster Club to Meet Friday Night

Friday night, August 8, at 7 o'clock there will be a general meeting of the Tawas Area Athletic Boosters Club in the school cafeteria.

At the meeting two new members will be elected to the board of directors. Plans will be discussed for the coming football season and placing bleachers on the new lighted field.

Everyone is urged to attend.

Only mild interest was shown by Isosco County voters in Tuesday's primary election in which candidates were named by the two major parties for the general election in November. An unofficial estimate places the total number of ballots cast at about 1,400.

Principal action in the election, locally, was the up-set of William R. Barber, incumbent candidate on the Republican ticket for prosecuting attorney, who was defeated by Alfred W. Mason.

Mason, a young newcomer to politics in this area, totaled 605 votes as against Mr. Barber's 460. There was no opposition for this post on the Democratic side of the ballot.

The successful candidate, who was recently appointed city attorney for Tawas City, drew a surprising majority in 15 out of the 20 voting precincts in the county.

Mr. Barber, who was seeking his third term, had slight majorities in AuSable, East Tawas Second Ward, the two wards in Whittemore and one of two at Oscoda.

Flint Man Drowned While Wading in Saginaw Bay Sunday

The body of William J. Smith, 39, of Flint was found in about 10 feet of water approximately 300 feet from shore at Point Lookout in Arenac County Monday afternoon.

Smith had been wading in unknown waters Sunday afternoon just off-shore from the point and apparently started to walk toward a sandbar. He stepped off into a drop off and was unable to swim to shore.

The Flint man, who was Arenac County's first drowning death of the summer, had been wading in the water with his wife, Shirley, and two daughters, Kristeen, 14, and Ellen, seven. Accompanying them were Mr. and Mrs. Horace Day, also of Flint.

When Smith was unable to make it back to shore, Day attempted to swim out to him, but he could not reach him.

Dragging operations for the body was started by a crew from the United States Coast Guard Station at Tawas Point, along with assistance from the rescue boat from the Michigan State Police Post at East Tawas. Sheriff Edward Bessinger of Arenac County conducted the investigation.

Smith's body was not found until 3:00 Monday afternoon. Clare Forshee of Twining was coroner.

To Confer Title of 'Scout Strong Heart' on Leslie E. Arndt

A special feature August 22, 23 and 24 of the Chapel Lake Indian Ceremonials, located nine miles west of Tawas on Plank Road, will be conferring of the Indian title, "Scout Strong Heart," on Leslie E. Arndt of Bay City.

Arndt, a Bay City newspaperman, is known as the original "Davey Crockett," and has traveled throughout the world appearing at fairs and exhibitions.

The Bay City version of the famous frontiersman recently returned from the World's Fair Exhibition at Brussels, Belgium. He has appeared in Canada and four European countries, as well as throughout the United States.

Arndt donned frontier garb for the Bay City Centennial parade in 1955 and since then he has been much in demand for fairs across the United States. He has appeared at the New Orleans Mardi Gras, Memphis Cotton Carnival, Oklahoma semi-centennial exposition, Miami Lions International Convention, Canada's Niagara International Grape Festival, to name but a few.

The Rev. O. James Crews, director of the Chapel Lake Indian Ceremonials, said Monday that a big program is planned for these three days.

The voting was as follows:

In other races of local interest, both State Representative James Mielock and State Senator Charles T. Prescott were successful in their bids for renomination on the Republican ticket.

Mielock defeated his opponent, G. Douglas Taipalus, 1,717 to 1,004. In Isosco County, Mielock carried by a 636 to 333 majority; in Alcona, he lost 229-269, and in Alpena he won, 802-402.

Senator Prescott piled up an estimated 3,000 to 1,000 margin over his opponent, LaVern Bowman. In Isosco County, Prescott won by a 675 to 404 margin. Other counties reporting were as follows: Mr. Prescott's vote: Gladwin, 435-487; Oscoda, 515-169; Clare, 354-158; Alcona, 198-78; Ogemaw, 273-235; Roscommon, 270-147; Arenac, 253-166. There were no reports as of Wednesday morning on the outcome in Crawford and Oscoda Counties, but it was expected that Senator Prescott would receive about the same majorities.

Largest vote-getter in Isosco County was Congressman Elford A. Cederberg, representative for the 10th District, who received 985 votes.

Totals for unopposed county officers on the Republican ticket were not available Wednesday morning, but Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell's 977 was probably the average for all.

Candidates on the Democratic slate for county officers received votes ranging between 65 and 71 in their favor.

Henry Oates, who ran on stickers for the Democratic nomination to state representative in the Alpena District, received 125 votes in Isosco County.

The overall primary vote in the state fell below 700,000 and was the lightest since 1946.

ALFRED W. MASON

Tawas City to Enforce 1888 Hawker Ordinance

At Monday night's regular meeting, the Tawas City Council instructed Chief of Police George Ruth to enforce city ordinance No. 28, which provides for the licensing of all hawkers or sellers of merchandise who are not actual or permanent residents of the city.

This ordinance has been on the books since 1888, or at the time when Tawas City was still a village. It was amended in later years to lower the license fee.

After conferring Tuesday with City Attorney Alfred W. Mason to determine if the ordinance was still in force, Chief Ruth said that the ordinance would be enforced immediately.

It requires that $10 first be paid to the city treasurer by those wishing a license and a fee of $1 a day for each individual selling.

The old ordinance states that: "No person not being an actual and permanent resident in the village or Tawas City shall travel from place to place, for the purpose of carrying to sell, or exposing for sale, any goods, wares, merchandise or other property, or solicit subscriptions or orders for the same;

"And no person not being an actual and permanent resident shall sell or expose for sale in a public manner any such goods, wares, merchandise or other property in any street, lane, alley or vacant grounds, nor on any sidewalk, dock, wharf, boat or vessel, nor in any room or building, unless he or she shall first have obtained a license from the city treasurer."

In other business Monday night, the council heard a report from James Dillon, chairman of last week's "Operation Tin Can."

On Mr. Dillon's recommendation, the council is to take appropriate action toward elimination of all suspicious looking drains running into the river, Tawas Bay or Dead Creek.

Three building permits were approved by the council. These included: Marvin Davenport, Eighth Avenue, 26 by 42 home, owned by Leroy Jones, estimated cost $10,000; Herman Fahselt, First Avenue, 26 by 38 home, estimated cost $8,000; Harold Peterson, 430 Third, replace entrance to basement, estimated cost $75.

Decision on Port Gypsum Permit May Come Today

Two sharply opposed sides of the disputed Great Lakes dredging operation of Port Gypsum near Tawas City presented their cases at a public hearing in the house of representatives chambers in the capitol building at Lansing on July 30.

About 60 persons attended the hearing, conducted by Conservation Department Director Gerald E. Eddy. Eddy called the hearing for information to help him decide whether the dredging should be permitted.

The conservation director is required by Act 94, a new law effective July 1, to authorize or deny permits for requested changes; such as fills, excavations and dredgings, in Great Lakes bottomlands.

The hearing, which lasted more than six hours, saw arguments: (1) On behalf of the National Gypsum Company, which is in process of constructing an overhead conveyor system and a dredged channel for lake freighters to facilitate gypsum ore loading, and (2) on behalf of resort property owners adjacent to the construction work.

Reports from Lansing Tuesday forecasted that Eddy might issue the permit on a "without prejudice" basis, chiefly because work has progressed so far.

A decision is expected by Thursday night when Eddy reports to the commission at Higgins Lake. "I don't know if the commission will want to act on it formally, or will decide that I heard the case so should make the decision."

The question of the construction already underway was complicated July 1, when provisions of Act 94 of 1958 took effect. Prior action on the case in Isosco County Circuit Court was read into the hearing. Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke recently dismissed a department bid which would have halted dock construction.

Director Eddy said at conclusion of the hearing that his decision would not be made immediately; that the problem "was one of the gravest importance and would require ample study by himself and his staff."

National Gypsum and its contractor, Dunbar and Sullivan Dredging Company, had 23 witnesses testify in support of the permit and another 14 were introduced.

Opponents, led by the Lake Huron Beach Property Owners Protective Association, presented six speakers.

Each side took approximately two hours and 40 minutes during the hearing which lasted into the night.

Another Milestone Reached by Hospital

Another milestone in the history of Tawas Hospital was reached last week with the admittance of the 10,000th patient since the opening of the hospital in June 1953.

Rosalie Ann Stewart of East Tawas, wife of Roy Stewart, was the honored patient. To this couple was born a baby boy last Friday morning.

Sister Rita Louise, hospital administrator, said that the hospital was furnishing free hospital care for Mrs. Stewart and the new baby in recognition of this event.

PORT GYPSUM DISPUTE IS NOT A "FARCE"

There have been many words spoken and printed for and against the Port Gypsum development of National Gypsum Company south of Tawas City. Last week's hearing before Conservation Director Gerald E. Eddy was no exception . . . thousands of more words were recorded and added to the already bulging files.

Tempers flared and there were brief clashes at the hearing . . . as was expected. Actually, this hearing was almost a "re-write" of the hearing held months ago before Governor Williams; the one before the United States Army Corps of Engineers, or the numerous trials in Iosco County Circuit Court.

We don't believe that this dispute can be put on the same level as a "two-act farce," as was the opinion of one of Michigan's out-door writers. The question is too important for that.

It was stated at the hearing that the two-year dispute has moved toward a showdown amid contentions that the outcome may play a vital role in the location of new industries in Michigan. Regardless of the pooh-poohs of the department of conservation, the publishers of this newspaper are of the opinion that this could be true.

It was also stated that the conservation department was going to great and unusual lengths to harass the National Gypsum Company and to prevent it from making a contribution to Michigan's economy. This seems to be true, also.

Nicholas V. Olds, assistant attorney general, said, according to a daily newspaper, that the company's action comes within the law's jurisdiction. "What's the use of having a law if you don't enforce it," he said.

He was referring to a new law which became effective nearly three months after National Gypsum was given the OK by Iosco County Circuit Court to proceed with the project. In our way of thinking, this is like having a building code on the books, then to have some municipality amend its ordinance after someone starts construction of a home. If the state questioned the judge's decision under the old law, it should have appealed immediately to the supreme court . . . as was expected by Circuit Court Judge Herman Dehnke and was just about everybody's foregone conclusion to the trial.

We remain firm in our conviction, however, that National Gypsum Company has every right to dredge out to navigable water; that the company has not flouted the law, being upheld by every court decision thus far; that the question of a possible nuisance to adjacent property owners has been properly delegated to the courts; that as one of Iosco's principal employers 12 months a year, we cannot afford to lose it or impair its facilities; that the dock will prove to be another very interesting tourist attraction for the area; that the State of Michigan had better take a realistic viewpoint toward navigation. With the coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway, this state is lagging far behind our neighbors to the north, east and west, in preparing for the opportunities it will bring.

Question Too Important for Closed Mouths!

There was a great to-do at last Wednesday's conservation department hearing in Lansing because A. Don Anderson, who, as president of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce, dared give his views on the Port Gypsum development of National Gypsum Company.

Apparently the clash was heightened when a Bay City Times reporter, Harris Coates, mis-quoted a statement made by Anderson at the hearing, printed in Thursday's edition.

The Times quoted Anderson as saying that "one associate member out of 280 who pay dues in our area is listed as an objector to port facilities."

Actually, what Anderson said, and he repeated his statement so that there would be no misunderstanding, was that among those objectors belonging to the property owners' association, there was only one man who was a member of the chamber of commerce . . . and he was an associate member.

There are a few people in the community who think that the chamber of commerce should not have been represented at the meeting. It would have been impossible to get a nose-count on the opinion of all dues-paying members. However, he and other members did attend the meeting and Mr. Anderson acted as spokesman for the board of directors.

It would be a sad case, indeed, if all civic organizations chose to ignore this question . . . like some would have them do. This question is most vital to the welfare of the people of the Tawas, Iosco County and State of Michigan.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE The true nature of God as infinite Spirit will be set forth at Christian Science services this Sunday. Keynoting the lesson-sermon entitled "Spirit" is the Golden Text from Zechariah: "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (4:6). Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following: (200:4) "Moses advanced a nation to the worship of God in Spirit instead of matter, and illustrated the grand human capacities of being bestowed by immortal Mind." The vital importance of understanding God is also emphasized in Bible passages to be read, including this one (John 4:24): "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." Work that is performed ahead of schedule is a pleasure when completed.

Sterling Takes Over Lead Defeating East Tawas 10-2

Sterling just about wrapped up the Northeastern Michigan League championship Sunday by defeating East Tawas, 10-2, on the loser's home field. The two teams had been tied for top rung in the league standings, each with a 7-2 record.

In spite of the wide margin of runs, the game was much closer than the score indicates. East Tawas scored both of its runs in the first inning and held that lead until the third inning, when Sterling scored three times. Sterling held this one-run margin until the seventh when it came up with a single tally and then put the game on ice in the ninth with six runs.

Things looked bright for Manager Harold Rollin's charges as they put two runs across the plate in the initial inning. Jordan started off with a walk. Erickson was safe when the center fielder dropped his fly ball. Jordan was out at third on Graick's ground ball. Lepard hit a long triple into right field, scoring Erickson and Graick. K. Rollin struck out and McMurray ended the inning by hitting a sharp line-drive to third.

Gerald Potts started on the mound for East Tawas and got by the first two innings with the help of two fast double plays by his mates. Both came on line drives, one to Greenwood, who doubled the runner off first in the first inning, and the second came on a great play by Graick, first sacker, whose leaping catch of a line drive doubled a runner at first.

The third inning found Sterling crossing the plate three times and enough runs to win the game. Fagan walked. Doyle was hit by a pitched ball. Potts then settled down to strike out Harry Koelsch and Bob Proulx, probably the two most dangerous hitters in Sterling's line-up. K. Koelsch was given an intentional pass, after the runners advanced on a wild pitch. Cousins lined a single into right field to score Fagan and Doyle, and K. Koelsch scored all the way from first when the ball went through Greenwood. Wolfgang walked. Pionoziek walked. Lepard was called in at this point and struck out DeLong with the bases loaded.

East Tawas had a couple of mild scoring threats during the rest of the game, but these were erased by some great fielding plays turned in by Sterling's infield, two being fast double plays.

"Chummy" Lorenz, hard-hitting shortstop for East Tawas, gave partisan fans something to cheer about in the sixth inning when his line drive, hit against the wind, bounced off the top of the left field fence. Missing a game-tying home run by inches, Lorenz was held to a double and he "died" there as his mates were unable to come up with anything off Fagan.

The hard-throwing Sterling pitcher had no trouble with East Tawas batters after that inning. Sterling scored one run off Lepard in the seventh inning and he was relieved by young Herman Rollin in the top of the eighth. Rollin got past the Sterling batters in that inning with no trouble.

In the ninth Sterling scored six times. Fagan was safe at first on an error. Doyle was safe on a fielder's choice, the force play at second base being too late. H. Koelsch hit a ground ball back to Rollin, who whirled and threw to second for one out and Erickson nipped Koelsch at first with a good stretch by Graick. Bob Proulx then hit a pop single into right field to score Fagan. K. Koelsch followed with a drive off the left field fence, good for a double. Cousins was intentionally passed. Scannell popped one into left field to score Proulx and Koelsch. Wolfgang walked. Bootz doubled to score Cousins and Wolfgang. Bootz scored later on a wild pitch. Lepard came in to strike out DeLong.

Lepard and Lorenz were the only two East Tawas players to come up with hits off Fagan. Lepard had a triple and a single and Lorenz, a double and a single.

Flint Blossoms for GM's 50th Birthday

A NEW HIGH in Flint civic pride is symbolized by Sophia Branoff — "Miss Golden Milestone" — as the city where General Motors was born in 1908 celebrates GM's 50th Anniversary. The geraniums she's watering at an altitude of 20 feet (a tower truck got her up there) are among the hundreds of colorful decorations on downtown streets where a giant night parade and other events on August 15 will climax the Golden Milestone celebration. Pat Boone, Phil Silvers and other celebrities will be present. In the background is the city hall, part of Flint's new Municipal Center which will be dedicated on the same date.

With Iosco County 4-H Clubs

By DOROTHY SCOTT, Home Demonstration Agent

4-H Club leaders will have a meeting this week to discuss plans to improve 4-H Club projects and activities in the coming year. They will talk about this year's fair exhibits and how they, too, might be improved.

You can learn from your leader about the changes we shall have beginning this fall. Talk with her or with him.

The Friday night 4-H program at the fair had several highlights; demonstrations presented by 4-H Club members who were practicing for the district eliminations contests on July 31, a dress revue and a sheep shearing demonstration done by a former 4-H Club member from Virginia.

In the dress revue were: Candace Thornton, Kathryn Schuster, Linda Wice, Sheila Dodson, Patricia Davenport, Kathleen Kolonich, Faye Rice, Kathy Dodson, Joan Brindley, Sharon Brindley, Jean Sugden, Lorna Mott, Mary Alice Waters, Janice Sturtevant, Verna Kay Wehrman, Lynn Waters, Debora Nichols, Diane VanAllen and Martha Smith.

Selected at the fair were the following exhibits to be shown at the State 4-H Club Show in East Lansing August 26-29: Photos:

"Our meetings began in January. In our group we had four girls. Our first lesson was on safety of the kitchen. We were all happy for having this lesson. Later when one of the girls had an accident in the kitchen of her home, it reminded us of the things we have to remember always while in the kitchen.

Everyone likes fruit jams. Those you freeze taste like fresh fruit, hold their bright color, yes, even the aroma. You will really like them. Here is a quick reference chart for proportions. The method of combining ingredients is the same for all the fruits.

Tuesday and Wednesday, August 12 and 13—District Homemakers' Camp.

Reservations are being received for the fourth annual District Homemakers' Camp to be held next week at Hardwood Lake, approximately 32 miles from the Tawasess.

You are invited to go camping with 50 to 75 other women from seven counties in this part of the state. Come for the full time to enjoy it most, but come for one day if that is all you can manage.

The program has been planned by and for you homemakers. It will include craft activities, swimming, folk dancing, visiting and our special chicken barbecue supper out-of-doors.

Do tell me that you want to be counted among those present. Actually I hope you have already done so because chicken and other food have to be ordered days ahead of the camp time.

Mildew is mean. It happens on hot, humid summer days. Speed is important in removing mildew spots from furniture and other household items. Certain conditions make mildew stains permanent in just a few hours.

Mildew is a fungus. It grows from spores. Sun and air are two natural enemies. A damaged article should be taken outdoors for cleaning. Brush with a whisk-broom and vacuum if you can. Spots may be sponged lightly with thick soapsuds, wetting fabric as little as possible. Wipe with a clean dry cloth or a cloth wrung out of dilute alcohol (one cup water and one cup denatured alcohol).

There are mildew resistant paints, if painted surfaces are a problem.

unit—among the conveniences are frozen vegetables. Do you know the rules to be observed so these vegetables will have the tasteful flavor, color and texture you want?

All vegetables must be scalded (blanched) and cooled before freezing. That is a cardinal principle. Scalding destroys enzymes which cause off-flavors and unnatural colors. It also reduces the number of bacteria and makes packing the product easier.

Boiling water, at least four quarts of it in a large kettle, is used for the scalding of vegetables. Preparing about one pound of vegetable at a time means the water temperature is not lowered too much and the scalding takes place quickly. Follow immediately with a cooling period in ice water, if possible.

How long to scald? A reliable timetable is needed because the amount of time depends upon the size, age and variety of the vegetable.

Such a timetable is to be found in our Michigan State University bulletin, "Home Freezing of Michigan Foods." A copy is yours for the asking.

Another tip, be sure the vegetable is heated to the center in the scalding process. Place it in a wire basket, colander or cheesecloth. Immerse into the water which has reached a rolling boil. Count time from immersion. Stir occasionally to assure uniform heating. Be sure the water boils vigorously between each batch that is scalded.

In addition to turning the weedy and diseased topsoil under, the plow can also allow farmers to put fertilizer, lime and organic materials at the bottom of furrow where they might be of greater use than on top of the ground or at the bottom of the conventional eight to 12-inch deep furrow.

Last year's research with the plow, first year of tests, indicated that deep plowing be worthwhile in some instances. Deep plowing itself improved the yields of corn. With sugar beets, deep plowing, itself, did not improve yields but the fertilizer placed at the bottom of the 24-inch furrow did increase yields over conventional nine-inch plowing.

The king-sized plow takes a lot of power to pull it. In muck soils, it takes 50 to 70 horsepower to pull all four disks on the plow 2.64 miles per hour at a depth of 22 inches.

Calendar:

Thursday, August 7—ABA board of directors meeting, Federal Building, East Tawas.

Thursday, August 14—Farm policy report to Sherman Farm Bureau Group, Sherman School, 8:00 p. m.

Monday, August 18—Farm policy report to Old Mill Farm Bureau Group at Louis Alverson's home.

A giant-sized plow with disks nearly as big as a tractor wheel is being used in tests by agricultural engineers and soil scientists at Michigan State University.

This big plow can turn nearly two feet of soil upside down. Its four 38-inch diameter disks can put weed and disease infested top soil at the bottom of the furrow and leave virgin soil on top.

The researchers are using the plow in tests in Washtenaw, Huron, Ingham and Calhoun Counties to learn whether this deep plowing would be profitable for farmers.

In addition to turning the weedy and diseased topsoil under, the plow can also allow farmers to put fertilizer, lime and organic materials at the bottom of furrow where they might be of greater use than on top of the ground or at the bottom of the conventional eight to 12-inch deep furrow.

Last year's research with the plow, first year of tests, indicated that deep plowing be worthwhile in some instances. Deep plowing itself improved the yields of corn. With sugar beets, deep plowing, itself, did not improve yields but the fertilizer placed at the bottom of the 24-inch furrow did increase yields over conventional nine-inch plowing.

The king-sized plow takes a lot of power to pull it. In muck soils, it takes 50 to 70 horsepower to pull all four disks on the plow 2.64 miles per hour at a depth of 22 inches.

"The income problem of farmers can not be solved or the surplus eliminated by merely encouraging people to move out of agriculture," thinks James T. Bonnen, agricultural economist at Michigan State University.

"If every one of the 1,500,000 non-commercial farmers left agriculture, total farm production would not be reduced more than about two percent."

"The effect would probably be even less since some of the land and equipment of farmers leaving agriculture would probably be absorbed into larger units and operated by better farmers."

Two million commercial farmers produce 90 percent of all agricultural output. Generally speaking, about eight percent of the agricultural production is surplus.

In order to lower annual output enough to eliminate surplus production, about 2,500,000 farmers, their families, their land and equipment would have to be moved out of agriculture.

This figure represents over half of all farmers in agriculture today. Add their families and more than 10 million people would be involved.

Bonnen agrees that there are too many people in agriculture for everyone to earn a good living. "Millions of farm families, particularly those on small farms, will have to turn to other occupations if they are to earn better incomes," he says.

Cleaning up around grain bins and corn cribs will help keep the grain that is put in them clean.

Weeds, boards and other rubbish around and under grain storage units provide excellent hiding places for rodents and other pests that contaminate and eat grain.

Rodents cannot move about so easily when they have nothing to hide behind.

Several new herbicides are available which can be used to spray the area around the bins and cribs. The chemicals will keep all vegetation down for a year or more.

A clean area around the grain storage units not only makes working easier but a fire hazard is eliminated because no weeds are present.

Attends Three-Day 'Chewing Match' at Higgins Lake

Ernest Jordan, principal of Tawas Area Junior and Senior High School, attended the Principals' "Chewing Match" August 2-3-4 at Higgins Lake. This meeting, sponsored by the Michigan Secondary School Association, a department of the Michigan Education Association, is held each year at the Conservation Training School. This meeting, in the setting of an informal atmosphere is designed for an easy exchange of ideas on school matters so one can learn what is being done in other schools of the state.

The popularity of this type of meeting during the last several years has increased to the extent that two such meetings were held this year, the other being at Camp Shaw near Chatham in the Upper Peninsula which was well attended by high school principals from the Lower Peninsula as well as the Upper Peninsula.

Dr. Fred Fischback of the University of Michigan High Altitude Engineering Laboratory, who has just returned from Cape Canaveral Launching Base, Florida, was the "kick-off" speaker. A representative of the conservation department presented a special program on various phases of conservation and conducted a field trip showing methods of conservation.

Harold Logan, principal of Slauson Junior High School, Ann Arbor, was the director of this year's meeting. Cecil Elmore of the Michigan Education Association, Lansing, serves as executive secretary of the Michigan Secondary School Association.

FOUR ATTEND INSTITUTE FOR EDUCATIONAL SECRETARIES

Four persons from Isoco County attended the annual institute for educational secretaries July 21-25 at Michigan State University, East Lansing. The meeting was sponsored by the Michigan and National Associations of Educational Secretaries and Michigan State Business Women's Club, in cooperation with the Department of Business Education and Secretarial Studies, Michigan State University.

Attending from Isoco County were: Dorothy Blood, Hale Area School; Mrs. Lee Cater and Mrs. Lillian Lansky, both of Tawas Area School, and Mrs. Phyllis Ballinger, county superintendent's office.

Time during the institute was divided between general classes and technical courses. The curriculum was designed to be of value to educational secretaries and clerks employed in elementary, junior and senior high schools; county superintendent's offices; colleges and universities; state departments of education; other city, state and national educational institutions.

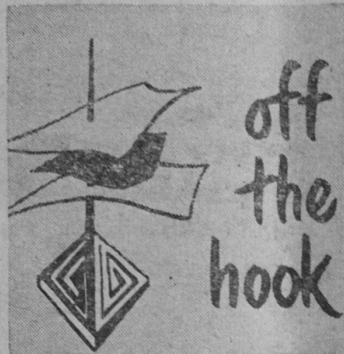

A knowledge of the past helps us to understand the probable course of the future, if that will do you any good.

JOINS FATHER AND BROTHERS IN INSURANCE BUSINESS

The fourth member of the George W. Myles family became a licensed general insurance agent last week when he successfully passed the state department of insurance examination.

Kenneth, 17, youngest of the Myles' boys, all associated with their father in the Myles Insurance Agency, Tawas City, was a 1958 graduate of Tawas Area High School.

35 TONS OF JUNK TAKEN FROM RIVER

Who would have guessed during high water years that the Tawas River would yield 35 tons of accumulated junk during the one day of "Operation Tin Can"? But that was the figure estimated by Reginald Bublitz, superintendent of public works, when his crews trucked the junk to the Tawas City dump.

This campaign will be continued today and anyone who can spare a few hours to assist in this project is urged to participate.

The results of last week can be readily seen, but the job is only started. Many more volunteers will be needed to carry it out to completion.

Some of the youngsters had a good excuse when their mothers found out that they had been wading in the river, along with their elders. The committee suggests, however, that anyone wishing to help to be sure and come dressed in old clothes.
