Tawas Winter Fun

NOT A MAN FROM MARS—Tawas was invaded Sunday by a group of between 25 and 30 persons wearing headgear similar to the face mask worn by Michael Patterson of Bay City. They were not "Martians," but members of the Saginaw Bay Ice Boat Racing Association who brought their ice boats here to take advantage of the smooth ice on Tawas Bay. The felt mask which he is wearing and the heavy goggles protect his face from the biting wind when his frail craft races across the ice at high speeds. The other picture shows one DN type ice boat heading out to the racing grounds fronting US-23 between Tawas City and East Tawas.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Iceboating Was Feature of Winter Sports Last Week

It has been more than 20 years since Tawas residents have seen ice boat races like those which took place last Saturday and Sunday on Tawas Bay. In fact, it is reported that several local persons are contemplating construction of similar craft and the sport may again be popular here.

Between 25 and 30 Saginaw and Bay City iceboaters brought their craft here to take advantage of the smooth ice on Tawas Bay. Brisk breezes sent two of the larger boats across the ice at speeds estimated up to 75 miles an hour.

The frail craft were of a more streamlined design than the ones which were used here in the 1930s, but many spectators could draw from their own experiences to imagine themselves speeding along under the taut canvas. Ice near the state waterways commission dock at East Tawas, cleared of snow by city crews, was used as a landing for cars and trailers. The "racing ground" was located off shore between the Tawases.

A number of the Saginaw and Bay City sportsmen are expected to be here again this week-end and local residents will again have the opportunity to watch this thrilling sport.

The ice boat races were one of the highlights of winter sports activities in the Tawas area over the week-end. Perfect weather conditions, with plenty of snow, offered much winter sport fun for downstate fans who visited the area.

Some 29 bus loads of East Detroit Lutherans visited the Silver Valley winter sports park for their annual caravan, along with a group of 150 Northeastern Michigan Lutherans, who were here for the entire week-end.

The Silver Valley winter sports committee expects another large crowd here for activities this week-end. Included will be from 75 to 90 persons from the Standish area and another group of about the same size.

At Monday night's meeting of the committee, Carl Eklund gave a report on the various winter sports parks which he visited last Saturday and Sunday. He said that Tawas fared well in comparison with the number of visitors to the other winter sports parks.

Robert Donley was appointed to head a committee which will investigate the possibility of establishing skiing as a part of athletic programs in schools of the county and neighboring communities. Donley said that about 30 Tawas Area School students were interested in the sport.

Donley's committee is to report back with plans on the proposal for presentation to area schools, plus plans for obtaining services of an instructor and construction of a beginner's hill at Silver Valley.

National Geographic Lensman Here to Photograph Perchville

The possibility that Perchville may again achieve publicity through a national publication was revealed this week. Tom Abicrombie, photographer for National Geographic Magazine, will be here this week-end to take pictures of the ice fishing village in the heart of Tawas Bay.

Late last winter National Geographic requested information about Perchville, but because of nearing of the spring ice break-up, a picture story was postponed. It was learned here that Perchville was again scheduled for this winter, but plans were changed at the last minute.

This week Bert Stoll, Detroit Free Press outdoor writer, learned that Abicrombie would be here to take pictures of Perchville for the possible inclusion of it with an article about the winter sports festival at Minneapolis-St. Paul. Stoll has corresponded with National Geographic editors since their original query. After learning of the switch in plans to the Minnesota cities, he suggested including Perchville in the proposed picture story to show the contrast between winter activities in a large community and that of a small community.

The National Geographic cameraman is well known in photographic circles for his work with the Milwaukee Journal and his reputation as one of the country's top 35mm photographers.

Three Offices Contested in ET Primary Election

Races for three offices will be featured in the Monday, February 17, primary election in East Tawas. All candidates are running on the Republican ticket.

Opposing incumbent mayor, Elmer Werth, is John A. Mielock. Werth has served as mayor for the past five years and prior to that had been a councilman for four years.

Two contests for alderman have Edward Martin of Tawas Lake opposing incumbent Second Ward Alderman Blaine Christeson, who is finishing his first term. Joseph Fernetto, who is opposed by Edward Seifert Jr., is also completing his first term as third ward alderman.

Unopposed in the election are Clerk Fred B. Lomas and Treasurer Georgina Bergeron.

FRANK AHONEN PURCHASED RUDOLF WITZKE PLUMBING

Announcement was made recently by Frank Ahonen that he had purchased the Rudolf Witzke Plumbing and Heating business in Tawas City.

Mr. Ahonen said that the business would be at the same location, 222 Fifth Avenue, Tawas City, and will be known as Frank's Plumbing and Heating.

The new owner has been affiliated with Mr. Witzke for the past 14 years in the plumbing and heating business.

Barkmans to Expand Institutional Business

It was announced this week that Milton Barkman of Barkman Outfitting Company has purchased a business in Flint. Mr. Barkman will be dividing his time and effort between the Tawas area and Flint, where at the present time, he is reorganizing and managing the Flint business.

Barkman Outfitting Company is developing its motel and institutional division. It is a plan for the future to develop it throughout the north, as well as the metropolitan areas, which will be handled out of an office in Flint. This office will be established in the near future.

This move by Milton Barkman will not change his affiliation with Barkman Outfitting Company of which he has been a co-owner for the past several years.

He will be available in the Tawas display room every Sunday.

Barkman Outfitting Company is anticipating continued growth in the north and an improvement of its present store building in Tawas City.

Both Harris and Milton Barkman feel that their continued efforts will be necessary for the development of their retail business in the Tawas area. They will also develop the motel and institutional business throughout Michigan.

It is to be located on Lots 2 and 3, Block 10, in Wheeler's Second Addition, on the bay side of US-23.

Dr. LeClair stated that construction was expected to start as soon as weather permits.

Gypsum Co. Dock Trial Starts Next Tuesday

A petition asking that National Gypsum Company produce plans and specifications for its lake loading installation south of Tawas City was heard Tuesday by Judge Herman Dehnke. After certain information was furnished by the company, no additional order was made.

Tuesday's hearing was a preliminary to the trial which is scheduled for next Tuesday. On January 23, Judge Dehnke denied a motion for a temporary injunction which asked that National Gypsum Company be restrained from further work on Port Gypsum.

The petition Tuesday was filed by James K. Brooker, attorney for the plaintiffs, Dr. Malvern Obrecht, Arthur Johnson and Rev. Fr. Robert Neuman, property owners in the vicinity of the installation who seek the injunction.

In answer to the petition, John Watkins, attorney for National Gypsum Company, said that he had discussed this matter over the telephone with counsel and said that National Gypsum Company does not have the plans "bundled up" in such a way to produce everything at one time. "Some things are being used in one place, and others in another, and they do not have it in such shape as to publish it," he said.

Judge Dehnke said, "I think what they (National Gypsum Company) feel they will need to make the situation clear as to the general nature of the structure and plan of operation, they will probably have to bring with them in connection with their own showing and testimony, anyway.

"I hope we can center our attention on details, rather than on the general picture that we have had of what is proposed to do and how it is proposed to do it. I don't think there will be too much difficulty in getting that. So, without making a specific order, I think we can let it rest there, that what can be brought without great inconvenience will be here," he stated.

"I think that we all have to have in mind that time is of the essence here. If we can speed this case along to a final decision the better it will be for all parties concerned," said Judge Dehnke.

"It really seems to me that with the information which has now been supplied we can at least begin the trial on that basis and with the plans, specifications and outlines that were attached to the answer and this added information may possibly be enough for the time being."

Attorney Brooker said that he did not think the case could be tried in four days, indicating that the state was going to enter some testimony in the case. Nicholas Olds, assistant state attorney general, said that testimony would be "along the lines that this type of structure would be injurious to the public interest."

Judge Dehnke indicated that the case could be continued on Saturday, if necessary, in case it was not completed between Tuesday and Friday of next week.

Neighborhood Seeks Help for Family Which Lost Home in Fire

Efforts are now being made by neighbors to collect household furnishings and clothing for the S-Sgt. George James family of East Tawas, who lost nearly everything they owned when their home was destroyed by fire last Saturday night.

Louis Awaft, who is heading up a neighborhood committee, said Monday night that contributions will be taken by phoning FO 2-5379 for pick-up, or household goods and clothing may be left at his garage, located at 805 East Bay Street.

The fire, believed to have started from the furnace in the basement, destroyed the house owned by Mrs. Betty Misener and occupied by the James family.

Sergeant James, who is stationed at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, his wife and two children were away from home at the time having been called to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, by the death of Mrs. James' mother.

While on a routine patrol, Officers George Duff and Richard Wilson of the city police discovered smoke coming from the house at 9:55 o'clock. The East Tawas Fire Department was called immediately.

Thick, black smoke prevented firemen from entering the basement even though they were equipped with face masks. Water was played on the two-story building in near-zero temperature for two hours. Twice on Sunday firemen returned to put down flames which continued to burn in the blackened shell.

DETROIT FIRM LOW ON W-P SCHOOL BOND BID

Kenower-MacArthur and Associates of Detroit was low bidder for the purchase of $550,000 worth of bonds to finance construction of the new Whittemore-Prescott Area School building.

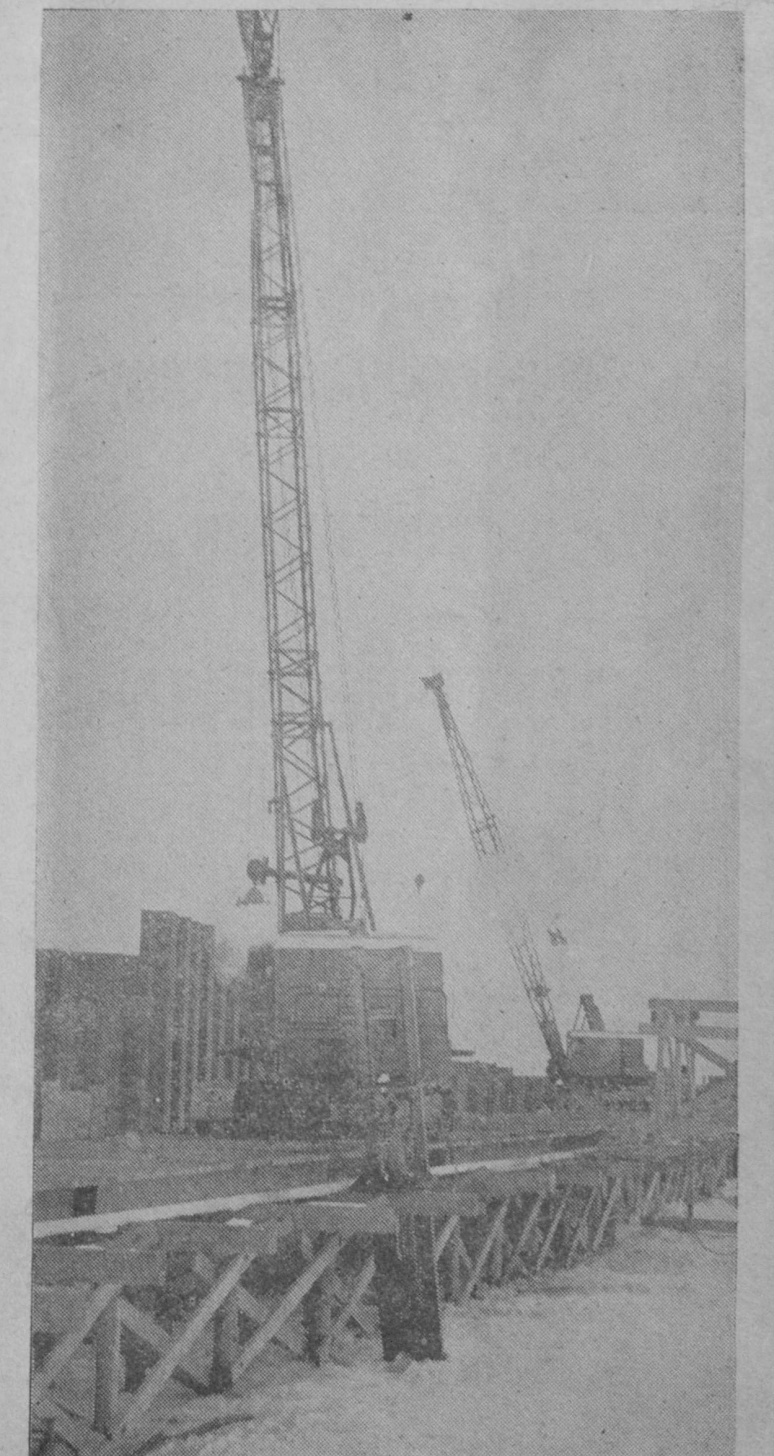

At a meeting of the board of education Monday night, the Detroit firm was successful with a bid of 3.90 percent.

Supt. John Halbert stated Tuesday that money to start construction of the school would be available in approximately six weeks.

Sorensen-Gross Has Cold Job of Building Tramway

Steel Cells Being Driven Into Bottom of Saginaw Bay

Anyone working outdoors in the Tawas area these days can tell you that it is plenty cold, to say the least. One of the coldest jobs, however, is being performed by men of Sorensen-Gross Construction Company who are working on National Gypsum's lake shore loading installation south of Tawas City.

Working in temperatures which hover around the zero mark daily, with the added discomfort of frigid winds which blow off Lake Huron, Sorensen-Gross is at present constructing steel cells in Saginaw Bay which will eventually form the base for steel towers to support an overhead conveyor system.

When completed, this conveyor system will move rock from National Gypsum's stockpile area north of US-23 to a pier to be constructed in the bay. The end of this cellular-type pier will be the location for loading lake carriers.

Sorensen-Gross is now working on two of the six steel cells which will be required for the installation. Each cell is about 50 feet square, constructed of steel in 47-foot lengths.

Each piece of the interlocking steel is driven into the lake bottom by means of two 12-ton steam pile drivers which are attached to cables on draglines. The steel is driven into the lakebed to a point below the 20-foot level at which the harbor will later be dredged.

When completed, each cell will be filled with sand and gravel and a concrete cap poured on top. This fill is now being hauled to the lake shore by Straits Aggregate Company.

As the work progresses lakeward, a temporary pier is being constructed over the water and ice to support the weight of the draglines and other heavy equipment. This will be removed once the job is completed.

A steam generating plant is located on the shore with lines running along the pier to the steam pile drivers.

Grace Lutheran Church Scene of 3rd Annual Luther League Banquet

The third annual winter retreat banquet of the Eastern Michigan Luther League was held at Grace Lutheran Church last Saturday evening. The theme of the banquet was "Treasures in the Snow," and the room was decorated with styrofoam snowmen and walls and pillars with cut out snowflakes. The Augustana colors of pale blue and yellow were carried in table decorations of crepe paper and yellow candles in birch logs. Place cards were ice boats of marshmallow with white flags. Programs were in blue with white design of a man on skis. The menu was suggestive of far north items.

Paul Clark of Detroit, past president of the district, acted as toastmaster. After a community sing, the Rev. William MacFarlane of the Assembly of God Church was introduced as speaker of the evening. His talk on "Treasures in the Snow" brought out helpful ideas of what the life of a Christian should be as the purity of snowflakes leaving imprints in the snow likened to imprints of good influence on the lives of all young people with whom individuals come in contact.

On Sunday morning four of the leaguers from Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids and Bay City gave quartet selections at the morning service. Chosen for king and queen of the winter retreat were Marjorie Norling of Detroit as queen, and Leonard Magnusson of Detroit as king.

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (120:4): "Soul, or Spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image."

Scriptural readings will include the following from Psalms (43:5): "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope in God; for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God."

World Day of Prayer to be Observed Around World

The prayers of chanting aborigines in the wilds of central Australia will be voiced in many tongues circling the globe when the 1958 World Day of Prayer dawn.

A committee of church women in Melbourne carefully collected four of these prayers from nomadic tribeswomen, who have no written language but have been taught the Christian gospel. Around them was written the service for the annual international observances on the first Friday in Lent, February 21.

The women of Melbourne noted that the supplications of these simple aborigines to their Maker are in tune with the hopes and aspirations of the United Nations and of the concept of One World. For they ask God's love for "people of all places in the earth."

Each year the service that will be said in some 60 languages and in more than 1,000 dialects, from the tropical Tonga Islands to the bleak Aleutians, comes from a different country. Last year's choice of a writer by United Church Women, a general department of the National Council of Churches and sponsors of World Day of Prayer in the United States, was prophetic. They chose a Hungarian emigre, who incorporated into lines, written a year before the uprising in her unhappy land, supplications for world unity that took on poignant meaning when the Hungarian crisis flared.

World Day of Prayer, when millions of women around the world join in a 24-hour prayer vigil, is set aside to unite all Christians in the bond of prayer and to make an offering for Christian missions at home and abroad.

A committee of Korean church women translated the service into their language last year and printed 30,000 copies—used in 25 churches—an indication of the important place World Day of Prayer holds in the life of the Korean Christian church.

The first time the day was observed by the churches in Madras, India, was last year, when services were held in Tamil and English in St. Christopher's College, high school and nursery training school and in various churches.

Oak Park, Illinois, celebrates by taking the service to hundreds of shut-ins and by observances around the clock for various ages and employment groups. Twelve churches provide an international choir—a practice carried out in many towns.

Turn Sponsorship of Youth Canteen Over to Jaycees

The Ladies Literary Club met at the club rooms in East Tawas last Wednesday, February 5, with Mrs. Terrance O'Loughlin presiding. At the business session the sponsorship of the youth canteen was voted to be turned over to the Tawas Junior Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Cecil Cabbie and her able committee were given a vote of appreciation for their work with the canteen.

The meeting scheduled for March 19 will be held at the Methodist Church instead of the club rooms at 8 o'clock. This meeting is Girl Scout's night and the program will center around their work.

Mrs. George Rose resigned as secretary. Her resignation was accepted.

Mrs. Stanley Lane was elected as a new member of the club.

It was voted at this meeting to proceed with the remodeling of the building.

The Past Presidents Club presented the club with $50 which was realized from a recent card party.

The program chairman, Mrs. Charles Pinkerton, presented Barbara Johnson and Kay Bowman, who gave piano solos and duets. She also introduced Harold Pfeiffer who talked on plant care and demonstrated with a display of corsages.

The corsages were used as prizes and were won by Mrs. Cabbie, Mrs. T. S. Dimmick and Mrs. R. G. Schreck.

A beautiful floral arrangement was won by Mrs. Luella Ford.

Human beings, for some reason, seem more interested in the mistakes that others make.

Is he curious?

The world awaits another Edison. He could be your son.

During his lifetime Thomas Alva Edison "lighted the world" with the electric light, reproduced voices and sounds with the phonograph, pioneered in developing movies and radio. Over 1100 important inventions were his because—like your boy—he simply wanted to know.

But, we are told, one Thomas Edison in a generation is no longer enough to sustain our kind of progress. The need is for thousands—educated young people, trained to harness their curiosity about the unknown.

Right now American industries are trying to encourage the natural curiosity of the young—with assistance in education and training and good-paying jobs, as well. You can be sure your electric light and power company is a part of this movement.

We owe a lot to Tom Edison. We'd like to help your boy to be like him. We salute both on February 11th, 1958—SCIENCE YOUTH DAY—and also Mr. Edison's 111th Birthday.

"EDISON EXPERIMENTS YOU CAN DO"—Help your boy prove he can be a scientist. Illustrated booklet explaining simple steps Edison took which led to his great discoveries, is available at our offices.

Dear Folks:

There are dozens of surprises in the new John Deere Day we've planned for you, your family, and your friends. More colorful, more informative, more entertaining than ever, it's entirely different from previous John Deere Day programs.

In beautiful Technicolor you'll see an interesting new "Oddities in Farming," your old friend Tom Gordon, an interesting success story on irrigation. In "What's New for '58" you'll see the latest in farm machinery. The feature picture is something new—a rib-tickling western musical comedy. And tying the program together are colorful costumed choruses and trios singing bouncy music written especially for this show. It's a program you and your family will long remember.

Here's something else—no tickets are required. You simply have to show up on the date, at the time, and at the place shown below. You'll be our guests.

We're counting on you!

of contests scheduled. On Tuesday night, Beaverton was at Tawas, Standish at Roscommon, Eastern at Sterling, Houghton Lake at Gladwin and West Branch at Pinconning. On Friday evening, Eastern plays at Beaverton, Tawas Area is at Roscommon, Sterling at Houghton Lake, Gladwin at West Branch and Pinconning at Standish.

Beaverton found the range early and took a 12-8 first quarter lead over Roscommon but the Bucks retaliated with an 18-8 second period score to take the lead at half-time, 26-20. The winners grabbed a big third stanza at 26-9 and dropped the last quarter, 14-8, to stay on the heels of the leaders.

Pradl had high scoring honors for both fives with Jim Papefus, Roscommon center, in the second slot with 14 on six and two, Top men for the losers were Center Larry Brown with 12 and Forwards Pat Kalahar and Marlin Spencer with 11 each. Roscommon also won the JV contest, 39-29, with Hilborn getting 13 for the winners and Bannan, 11, for the losers.

Houghton Lake took the scoring edge in all periods of play to take a high scoring contest from Piny. The Lakers held a close 13-14 first quarter bulge and a 31-27 intermission margin. A 20-16 third stanza count added to the lead which was increased with a 23-19 tally in the final eight minutes of play.

Both teams had three men in double figures with Lee on top with his 23. Center Keith Howe and Guard Pat Marts of the winners tied for the second spot with 17 each, the former on four and nine and the latter on seven and three. For the losers, Lee King, guard, and Gary Kinsey, center, had 15 each while Keny Guske, forward, had 14. The Lakers' JV five remained unbeaten with a 52-31 win as Carrick hit for 13 and Barnes and Wilson, 12 each for the winners.

West Branch repeated its earlier win over the Golden Arrows by taking the count in three quarters and knotting in one. The Orioles took a 13-10 first quarter nod and held an intermission bulge of 24-21, which was increased with an 18-11 third period stint and followed up with a 19-16 last stanza tally.

Oriole guard, Gary Hughey had five and six for top honors with 16. Dennis O'Keefe, Standish guard, picked up 14 on five and four which was not enough for him to hold his league scoring lead, as Laker guard, Lee, moved past him. Forward Dean Converse of Standish, had 11 and Center Joe Reiger of the winners had 10. Standish gained a split by taking the reserve contest, 48-39, with Dowler getting 16 for the winners and Steuermil and Keith, 10 each for the losers.

Gladwin built up a big first half lead and kept even with Eastern in the second half to notch their fourth win. Four men hit in double figures for the Flying G's while the Eagles could muster but two as the winners took the first quarter, 14-5, repeated in the second period, 22-6, followed with a 13-13 third stanza count and won, going away in the last period, 20-12.

Guard Larry Lennon topped the point-getters with 18 on nine field goals. Dave Robinson, forward, and Jim Biddle, center, of the losers rated next with 12 each. Also hitting for more than 10 were Forward Rod Kigar with 11 and Forward Wayne Moon with 10 which tied him with Forward Ken Heath. Gladwin also took the JV contest, 39-19, as Smith had 10 for the winners and Norton, 11, for the losers.

Cardinals Defeated by Alcona Tigers

The Alcona Tigers walloped the Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals, 71-48, at Alcona Friday night. The defeat, the worst the Cards have suffered in recent years, dropped them out of running in the Huron Shore League for the first time in many years, leaving Alcona and Osceola tied for first place. A game scheduled at Alcona will decide the championship.

Gene Gunderson, Tiger forward, put on an amazing scoring exhibition with 45 points on 20 field goals and five charity tosses. Time and again the Tiger ace drove through the entire Card team to score.

Alcona jumped off to an 18-6 lead in the first quarter with the Cards unable to stop the fast moving Alcona lads.

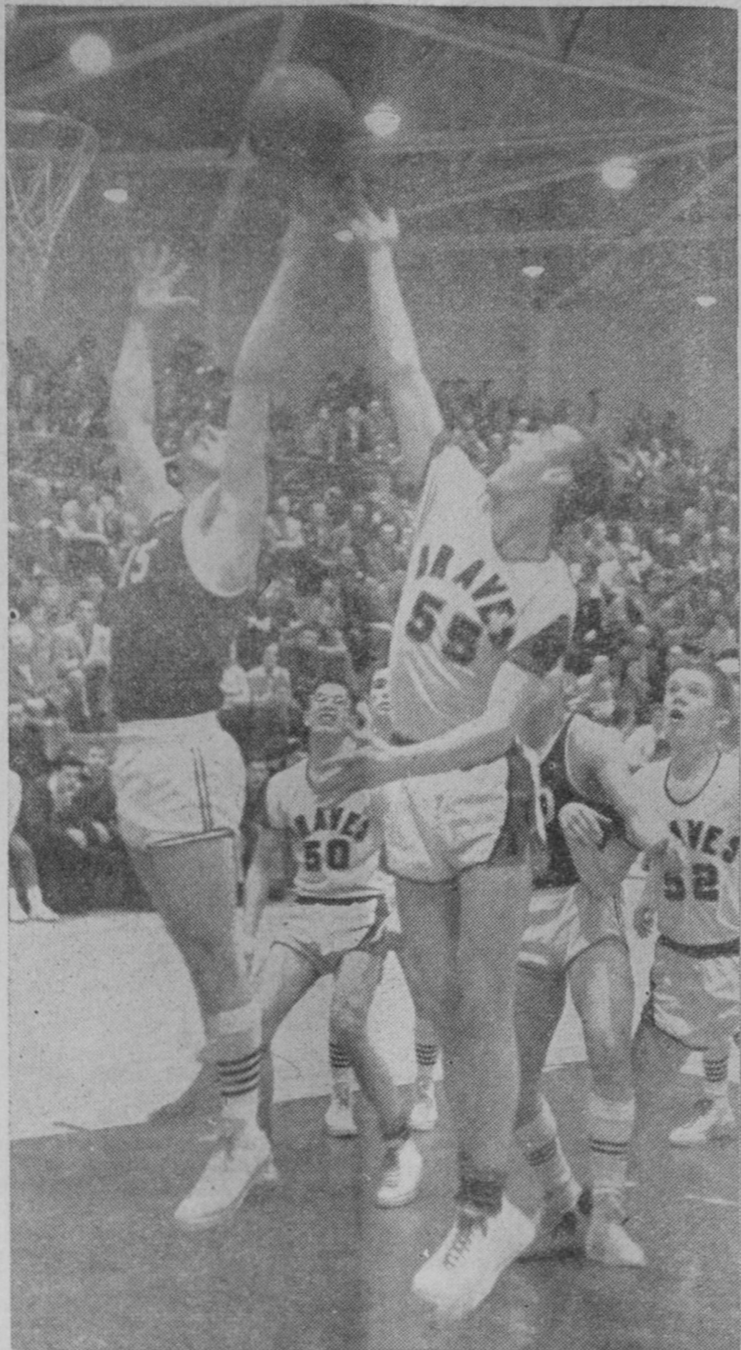

The Cards were without the services of their ace guard, Keith Charters, who was sidelined with a hand injury. Jack Graham led the Card scoring with 18 points.

Cardinal reserves salvaged the preliminary game, 37-23, with Fuerst and Gibson scoring 16 and 15 points. Buckner also scored 16 for Alcona.

All Roads Lead to Roscommon Friday Night

As far as Tawas Area basketball fans are concerned, all roads lead to Roscommon this Friday. That will be the night when the Tawas Braves, pace-setters of the North-eastern Michigan Conference, tangle with the Bucks of Roscommon, second place runners in the circuit.

Tawas Area defeated a surprisingly strong Beaverton team Tuesday night, 58-46, at the local auditorium. Scoring was well matched during the first half. Ken Bublitz led in scoring with 22 points. Tawas JVs won, 50-23.

Going into Friday night's game, the Braves will hold a one-game edge over their opponents. With only two games remaining on the schedule for the Braves, Standish and Arenac Eastern, the game may well prove to be the deciding contest in the race for the conference championship.

In the first meeting of the two teams this season, the Braves squeaked by the Bucks, 47-40, at the Tawas Area School auditorium.

Last Friday night the Braves ran roughshod over a game, but inexperienced and undermanned Sterling quintet, 75-19. By the time the smoke had settled from the big guns of Tawas attack, the Braves held a huge margin on the scoreboard.

Tawas hit on 34 out of 71 shots from the floor for a 49 percent field goal average. Every member of the team played a half with Curry being the only player who failed to get into the scoring column.

Ray Guyette, scoring leader of the Braves, had a 73 percent shooting average when he meshed 14 out of 19 attempts. His total of 32 points was his highest single night's effort for the season.

The Tawas Area Junior Varsity won its game over the Sterling reserves, 65-28, in a preview of what was to come in the game later.

Gary Brackenbury led the Junior Braves with 19 points, followed by Stump with 14. Daniels topped his Sterling mates with eight points.

Edison's New Fangled Idea-- Electric Light Invention Marks Beginning of New Era in Whole World

On the overcast afternoon of September 4, 1882, reporters banging away at their massive typewriters in New York's newspaper row were not kept in the dark very long on the major news event of that day.

At precisely 3:00 p. m. in a four-story factory building on nearby Pearl Street a man named John Lieb closed a circuit breaker and magically shattered the gloom that gathered in 400 offices of the downtown financial district.

The reporters in the old Herald and Times buildings were among those served by Thomas Edison's new fangled electric light and, as one of them wrote in his story, to men who had "battered their eyes sufficiently by years of night work," the effect seemed "almost like writing in daylight."

The official opening of Edison's Pearl Street station after four arduous years of laboratory experimentation marked the beginning of a new era in New York and in the whole world. For the first time, cheap, dependable electric service was flowing into our homes and offices from a central station of dynamos and generators.

With the closing of a circuit, Lieb, who was Edison's chief engineer, had closed the era of the flickering gas light and of the home storage battery.

From this dramatic and significant beginning, America quickly embarked on a new and rewarding era of commercial electrification that saw lights, irons, toasters, refrigerators, radios—and in a later day—air conditioners and television become as much a part of the American home as the old time fireplace and the rocking chair.

Each year, since Edison's major breakthrough on Pearl Street, has seen constant progress and development both in the delivery of more and more power to more and more consumers, and in the development of an endless array of new appliances to serve the needs of homes and industry.

The same flow of electricity that operates a massive factory also turns the blades on the tiny electric shaver, sifts the dust from a room and cooks the roast in the oven.

There is no man alive today who does not encounter the marvels of electricity in his every waking hour, whether from the lamp burning over his desk, forge or workbench, or from the furnace silently humming in his cellar, or the television providing him with news and entertainment.

And with the advent of peaceful atomic energy, already at work for the electrical industry in plants like the huge Duquesne Light Company plant at Shippenport, Pennsylvania, even greater marvels lie in wait in the not too distant future.

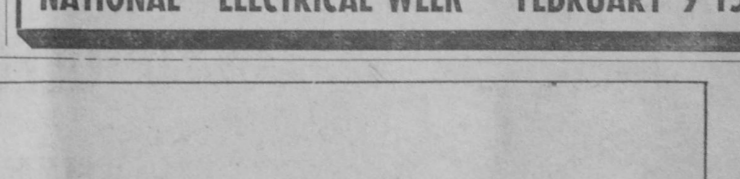

Now celebrating its 79th birthday with the festivities of National Electric Week across the country, the industry has lifted the curtain slightly to give us a glimpse of the future.

According to industry leader, Gwylm A. Price, chairman and president of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, future generations will have reason to regard the third quarter of the twentieth century as the turning point in the history of our great electrical era.

In a crystal ball glance at the United States in 1977, Price predicts a 50 percent rise in our standard of living and a world where all ships will be atomic powered and most homes will be made comfortable by appliances that even now are but gleams in the eyes of the nation's inventors and scientists.

"The house of tomorrow," he predicts, "will be equipped with heat pumps that will heat it in winter and cool it in summer with a single thermostatic control... dusting will be done by an electrostatic cleaning wand... The entertainment center will include a hi-fi set, flat screen color television in three dimensions, a tape recorder and a motion picture projector."

Other industry leaders, looking into the not too distant future, envision home laundries that will wash, dry, iron, dry clean and hang clothes that have been simply dropped into a chute into the closet. Refrigerators will be replaced with refrigerator drawers, strategically located where needed in the cooking area, and the home freezer and the oven will be one single unit. By pushing a button, the desired food will move from the freezer to the oven, shed its protective casing, emerge cooked and ready without further aid.

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL WEEK -- FEBRUARY 9-15

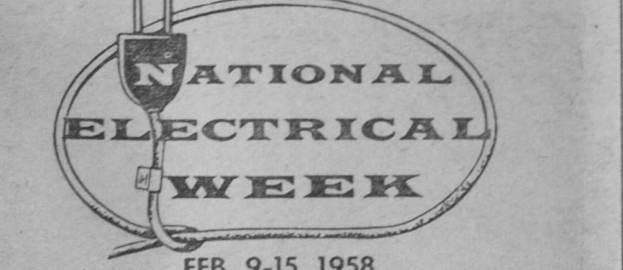

THOMAS EDISON OPENED A NEW FRONTIER

Imagine what your life would be like without electricity. Imagine a world without electric lights, radio, television, motion pictures... without electric appliances... without X-ray and electrocardiograph equipment... without whole industries that are dependent on electric power. How different a world it would be from the one we know! So different it's hard to realize that it has been only 78 years since Thomas A. Edison invented the first practical incandescent lamp and paved the way for the harnessing of electricity.

During this week people in all the various groups that make up the electrical industry unite to pay tribute to Edison and other pioneers of electrical progress and to rededicate their industry to continuing progress and service to the nation.

This week is National Electrical Week. It's a good time to ask yourself whether you are able to take full advantage of the benefits of today's wonderful electrical living. The fact is that new developments in home appliances, radios, television, lighting, heating and air conditioning that have been made in the last few years have outmoded the wiring in most homes. If old-fashioned wiring is keeping you from enjoying the convenience and comfort and safety of electrical living, make a point during National Electrical Week to have your wiring checked. Ask your wiring contractor what can be done. He'll be glad to explain how easy it is to live better... electrically with full HOUSEPOWER.

Does the kind of house bossy lives in affect the amount of milk she can produce? Several comparisons of loose and conventional Stanchion housing as affecting performance of dairy cows has been made through research studies. In some studies there was no difference in performance under either system; in others up to 19 percent more milk and 18 percent more fat were noted in favor of loose housing. Less heat injury, stiffness and lameness were attributed to the freedom of the cows in pen stables.

How does milk production compare for cows in comfort and tie-chain stalls? Some research studies at North Carolina are of interest on this point. Eight Holstein cows had an opportunity to make records in both types of stalls. The comfort stalls were 84 by 49 inches wide equipped with an adjustable crossbar, and the tie-chain stall dimensions were 66 inches in length and 42 inches in width. Analysis of the data showed an increase in production of 12 to 97.2 pounds of milk per week for those lactations in comfort stalls. Fewer injuries were sustained by the cows in comfort stalls and they spent 10.2 hours lying down as compared to 8.8 hours for the same cows in tie-stalls.

Iosco County farmers can expect to write bigger checks for Vernal alfalfa seed. Certified seed supplies are about one-third less than earlier expected.

But even with the increased cost, Leyton Nelson, farm crops specialist at Michigan State University, feels Vernal is still a good buy.

Research tests show that Vernal is a bargain even if it costs $10 a bushel more than certified Ranger. Yield tests show Vernal can out-yield Ranger by one-half ton hay per acre a year.

Vernal is a leafy, dark green, fine stemmed plant that is winter hardy and is more resistant to leaf spot than is Ranger.

Because Vernal is higher yielding and a little more expensive, Nelson recommends that farmers use it in hay fields which will be kept for at least three years.

Iosco farmers should order their seed supplies for next spring right away. Your local dealer is the best place to order them.

Termites in your new home, or any of your buildings for that matter, are certainly unwelcome guests. But even if you think you do have termites, Michigan State University Entomologist James Butcher says not to be alarmed. Termites are quite often confused with other insects, and even where they are found, it usually takes from six to eight years to build up to a serious infestation.

Most commonly confused with termites are carpenter ants. These insects are larger than termites, but the wings of termites are opaque and both sets are of equal size, whereas carpenter ants have irregular sized wings. Another difference is that carpenter ants burrow and build clean tunnels for their nests while termites leave messy, muddy trails behind. While termites are found throughout Michigan; they are more prevalent in the southeastern part of the state, and it seems they appear more frequently near lakeshores and sandy areas.

New home owners can take preventive measures against termites by cleaning up the wood debris around a newly-built home; do not bury it near the foundation. Termites enter a building by constructing mud tunnels up over foundations to the structure. So if you are building a new home with no basement, be sure to leave access space to check the foundation walls for these termite tunnels. By all means, do not build the siding in direct contact with the ground.

If you are still suspicious of insects that you think are termites, you can send a few, bottled in a small vial of alcohol or formaldehyde, to the Entomology Department, Michigan State University, East Lansing. If the problem is serious, you will need the help of a good pest control service.

County Awards Presented to Hale Happy Hustlers

County awards were presented members of Hale Happy Hustlers 4-H Club at their February meeting last week. We found every one enthusiastic and appreciative of the wonderful skating party on January 25 at the Finley's located on Floyd Lake.

Reporter Linda Shellenbarger says, "Seventeen members of our 4-H Club, accompanied by Mrs. Ira Scofield, Mrs. Orville Lyke, Mrs. Everett Douglass and Mrs. Harold Adams, attended a skating and tobogganing party at the Finley's on Floyd Lake. John Wehrman, community 4-H Club leader, and the club members helped us have a wonderful time all afternoon. They served us hot chocolate and cookies before we returned home very tired and wet. But it was worth it."

From all over Michigan 4-H Club leaders will gather at Michigan State University on March 1 and 2 for the second 4-H Leadership conference.

Iosco County is invited to have one woman and one man 4-H Club leader take part. We realize it is sometimes difficult to arrange a week-end stay away from the family, however, it will help our county to be represented if leaders who could and would go tell us. Do it soon.

Girls completing their food preparation project in Sherman Sharpies 4-H Club will serve refreshments for the February meeting. This is to be their demonstration of project information being learned. Reports are the last business to be finished.

Next meeting for Hale 4-H Club members will be March 3. At that time they plan to show the safety film, "Miracle in Paradise Valley," as a part of their first aid project work.

Verna Kay Wehrman tells us their clothing project members met with Mrs. Ethel Spafford on Tuesday and Thursday, January 28 and 30. Seams, hems, buttons and various stitches were lesson subjects. There will not be a meeting the first week of February because of other activities.

Handicraft project members met with Leader Jack Wehrman. After reading and discussing the first and second project requirements, everyone made a start on his first article.

Calendar:

Tourist - Resort Institute at MSU March 24

A 2½-day Tourist and Resort Institute will be held at Michigan State University, March 24, 25 and 26, it was announced by Marvin Davenport, county agricultural agent. The sixth annual institute provides an outstanding educational opportunity for those in the resort, food service and motel business. Assistance in many pertinent aspects of planning and managing tourist and resort businesses will be offered.

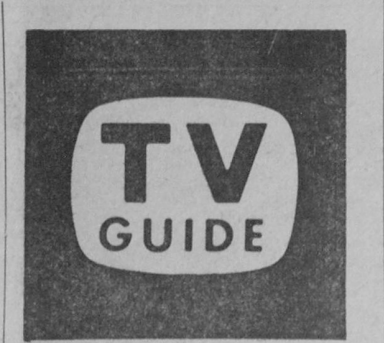

Also, operators can get together to exchange ideas and methods with others in the same business. Attendance in previous years has included operators from eastern and midwestern states as well as Canada.

Details of the program can be obtained as soon as available from the Cooperative Extension Service located in the Federal Building, East Tawas. The phone number is F0rest 2-3751.

Fox Hunting for Fun

Although many hunters and trappers kill foxes to collect the $5 bounty paid by the state, many other Michigan nimrods follow the trail of foxes simply for the sport of hunting. With or without dogs, a fox hunt can provide plenty of winter hunting enjoyment.
