MUCH WORK has already been completed at the shore loading site. Pictured here is a huge conveyor which transports raw gypsum rock to the underground conveyor belt leading to shore.

WORK ON deepening the mooring basin and channel is being performed by this huge dredge owned by Dunbar and Sullivan Dredging Company. It is moved about by use of tugs. In the background is a scow which is used to move the material from the lake bottom to deeper water.

State Says National Violates New Submerged Land Law

Judge Dehnke Denies Injunction; Hearing July 21

A new move was started last week by the Michigan Department of Conservation in its many-times-attempted maneuver to stop National Gypsum Company from constructing its lake loading facilities at Port Gypsum, located 1 1/4 miles south of Tawas City.

With a new law in hand, House Bill No. 203 signed April 14 by Governor Williams, Assistant Attorney General Nicholas V. Olds petitioned Circuit Court Judge Herman Dehnke July 3 asking that a temporary injunction be issued by the court stopping further work on the project.

The temporary injunction was denied by Judge Dehnke. The defendants in this cause, National Gypsum Company and Dunbar and Sullivan Dredging Company, have been ordered to appear July 21 in Iosco County Circuit Court to show cause why an injunction should not be issued.

The conservation department, represented by Attorney General Paul L. Adams and his assistants, Mr. Olds and Fredric S. Abood, contends that National Gypsum is constructing its aerial tramway and performing its dredging operations in violation of the new law which went into effect the first day of July.

Numerous attempts have been made by the conservation department toward preventing National Gypsum Company from constructing its gypsum loading facilities here. During the past two years several hearings have been held in Judge Dehnke's court, plus one before Governor Williams and another before the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

National Gypsum Company, in December 1957, let firm contracts to various contractors for a total approximate cost of six to eight million dollars for construction of the port facilities here. Since that time progress is well under way on construction of an aerial tramway, dredging of a mooring and turning basin, construction of its lake shore facilities, new rail spurs, rock storage and rail shipping points and its new quarry some miles inland. National Gypsum Company has operated a plant and quarry in Iosco County since 1927.

The new, little-publicized conservation department-drafted act, was introduced into the state legislature during the 1958 session by Representatives Louis C. Cramton (R), Lapeer; Homer Arnett (R), Kalamazoo; Albert R. Horrigan (D), Flint; Lloyd L. Anderson (R), Pontiac. It was passed by both the house and senate.

In his bill of complaint, the conservation department quoted section 10 of the law which stated: "Any person who excavates or fills, or in any manner alters or modifies any of the land subject to the provision of this act without the approval of the department (conservation) should be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisonment not more than one year, or both. Lands, the use of which are so changed, shall not be sold to any person convicted under this section at less than fair cash market value."

The conservation department asks that National Gypsum and its contractors be permanently restrained and enjoined from further work until they receive approval from the conservation department. That they be further ordered and required by mandatory injunction by the court to take such actions and to do all things that may be necessary to restore the lake bottom lands to the same condition as they were on July 1, 1958, until they receive approval from the conservation department.

This month's hearing is the first action taken by the conservation department since April 8 when Judge Dehnke ruled that the state was not entitled to an injunction on an earlier petition. He ruled that as littoral owner, National Gypsum Company had the right to construct the pier and to dredge, under the conditions prescribed by the federal authority; that inasmuch as the state has chosen not to adopt any statutory requirements for approval or authorization, the same is not necessary; that in any event, by passage of Act 176, PA 1957 (directing the conservation department to sell title to the submerged land in question to National Gypsum Company), state approval was given.

In his opinion last April, Judge Dehnke said: "So far as this case is concerned, the defendant does not question that the state has the right to pass laws to regulate and control the construction and operation of navigational facilities by owners of uplands bordering on navigable waters, and to require submission of plans therefor for state approval, at least within these limitations—that established and recognized riparian rights are not thereby invaded, and the authority of the federal government in the field of interstate and foreign commerce is respected."

According to the new law, the lands covered and affected by this act are "all of the unpatented lake bottom lands and unpatented made lands in the Great Lakes, including the bays and harbors, belonging to the State of Michigan or held in trust by it, including those lands which have heretofore been artificially filled in."

Unique 'Thank You' Note Extended to City Fathers

The city council of Tawas City received a unique thank you note last week-end from an out-of-town family which spent the July 4 holiday here. Apparently during Friday's rainstorm, the family used the bandstand for shelter.

Found in the mail box in front of the Tawas City post office Saturday morning was this message, scribbled on a paper picnic plate: "To the city fathers of Tawas City, who had the foresight to provide shelter for rained out picnickers—many thanks. In the past 18 years we have picnicked in this area, we have used the pavilion three or four times on July 4."

State to Make Scientific Study of Sewage Plants

A scientific evaluation of the operation efficiency of the sewage treatment plants at Tawas City and East Tawas will be made between July 14 and 23 by a mobile laboratory from the Michigan Department of Health.

State health department engineers and chemists will take samples and make other observations at the plants July 14 through the morning of July 18. From then until July 23 the trailer crew will complete analysis of the samples.

A report of the findings will be made to Tawas City and East Tawas municipal officials early in August.

The trailer is operated by the state health department in cooperation with the Michigan Water Resources Commission and has two purposes.

One purpose is to evaluate plant performances by helpful local operators to detect and investigate causes of reduced efficiency in the plants. Second purpose is to train plant operators to perform chemical and physical tests.

The 32-foot trailer was built to specifications of the state health department and was purchased with federal funds allocated to Michigan for stream pollution abatement.

Health department officials said the trailer was assigned to Tawas City and East Tawas to determine how well these plants are protecting the bay waters, particularly in the areas used extensively for swimming such as at the state park.

Tawas City is now planning to enlarge its plant to provide improved control of an expanding population.

Officials added that bay pollution could also be caused by pleasure craft that anchor off the beach in the summertime.

July is Big Month for Sailors on Tawas Bay

July is a big month for sailboat racing enthusiasts in the Tawas area. During the next three week-ends, sailors from all parts of the state will be here to participate in three different racing events, the hot club being the Tawas Bay Yacht Club.

This week-end, July 11, 12 and 13, the race course on Tawas Bay will be the scene of the Great Lakes District Championship for the National One Design boats. This meet will draw boats from Milwaukee, Chicago, Eagle Lake, Leland, as well as other areas in Michigan. Some of these winners will compete in the international championship meet which is to be held later in the season.

There will be five races in all, two on Friday, two on Saturday and one Sunday. The Tawas Bay Yacht Club will hold its annual Tawas Bay Regatta July 19-20. Many clubs in Michigan will be represented at this meet. There will be five classes of boats, Nationals, Lightnings, Ravens, 110s and L-class. The first three places in all classes will receive trophies.

Tawas Bay has again been selected as the site for the Michigan Lightning District which is scheduled to be held here July 25, 26 and 27. There will be five racing series, two on Friday, two Saturday and one Sunday.

Racing schedule in this meet averages 40 boats. Trophies will be awarded for the first five places in each series.

Editorial Assn. to Stop Here on Tour

The National Editorial Association will hold its 73rd annual convention at Detroit Wednesday through Saturday with the convention followed by a seven-day and 10-day tours of Michigan.

Some 150 persons in two groups will take bus tours of Michigan. The tour routes will include Midland, Alpena, the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Mackinac Island, Soo Locks, Tahquamenon Falls, Leelanau Peninsula, Traverse City, Tawas, Escanaba, Marquette, Copper Harbor, Pictured Rocks at Munising, Flint, and the Mackinac Bridge.

The NEA, a trade association of non-metropolitan weekly and daily newspapers, has some 5,600 members in 48 states.

Last Tribute Paid Monday to Mr. Giddings

Funeral services for Arthur E. Giddings, retired educator and for more than 25 years superintendent of Tawas City Public Schools, were held Monday afternoon at the Tawas City Methodist Church where a large number of his friends, and former pupils and associates gathered to pay their last tribute. The Rev. Ralph Edwards officiated.

Mr. Giddings was found dead in his garage at the rear of his home at the Bay View Apartments at about midnight Friday, July 4. Coroner E. D. Jacques determined that death was due to asphyxiation.

Born February 13, 1891, at Walkerville, Michigan, he married the former Miss Lois Velte at Woodland on June 30, 1923. Mr. and Mrs. Giddings came to Tawas City in 1927 where for the next 13 years he was superintendent of Tawas City Public Schools. In 1940 he went to Alpena where he taught adult education for three years. He was superintendent of the Unionville school for the next year and then returned to Tawas City where he headed the school system for the next 12 years. He was very active in the reorganization of the school district out of which grew the present Tawas Area Schools. His efforts were very instrumental in the successful outcome of the project.

Mr. Giddings was a graduate of the Michigan State Normal, Ypsilanti, and Michigan State University, East Lansing, and he received a master's degree at the University of Michigan.

He was a member of the Methodist Church, Tawas City Lodge, F and AM, Tawas City Chapter OES, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias. A veteran of World War I, he was a member of the American Legion.

In January of this year he received the Michigan Association of School Administrators' award for his 45 years of distinguished service in the schools of Michigan.

Surviving are the widow; a daughter, Mrs. Ray Naslund; a granddaughter, and two brothers, Jesse Giddings of Jerome and Nelson Giddings of Grand Rapids. Interment was in the Tawas City Cemetery with last rites by Tawas City Lodge, F and AM.

ROBERT PENMAN IS NEW IOSCO DEPUTY SHERIFF

Robert G. Penman, 22, has been named water enforcement officer for Iosco County by Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell. Deputy Penman will patrol waters of the county with the department's outboard boat enforcing state water craft regulations.

The new deputy, who will also assist in the jail office during the week, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Penman of Tawas City. He served in the United States Army three years, spending 27 months in Japan with the army security agency.

Out-of-Stater Was Second Water Victim

Charles Banks, 59 years old of Bridgeville, Pennsylvania, became the second drowning victim of the year in Iosco County when he fell into Lake Huron south of Oscoda last Thursday.

The accident occurred about 300 feet off shore in 10 feet of water. Banks, who was fishing with his 13-year-old son, Robert, apparently stood up in the boat and was lifting the anchor when the boat tipped over. Both were thrown into the water.

Two Oscoda men, James MacFarland, 34, and Douglas Woodward, 24, swam out into the lake and rescued the boy but the father had already gone under. His body was recovered about 15 minutes later by the Oscoda Township Fire Department.

The Banks family was vacationing at the El Mirado Motel. The father and his son had gone out fishing in a 14-foot aluminum boat. Robert Belusa, owner of the boat, told police he was on shore watching through a pair of field glasses. When the boat overturned, he attempted to wade out but was unable to reach the boat.

Assisting the fire department in the recovery were state police, sheriff's department and township police officers and the United States Coast Guard.

VETERAN EDUCATOR DEAD

E. E. Fell, 84, former East Tawas school superintendent, died last week at his home in Holland. A past president of the Michigan Education Association, Mr. Fell had been superintendent at East Tawas in 1908. He retired from the teaching profession about 10 years ago.

School Voters Go to Polls to Name Trustees

Electors of Iosco County schools will go to the polls Monday, July 14, to select trustees for boards of education and, in two districts, will decide on proposals to sell school property.

The two incumbents for the Tawas Area Board of Education, Stuart White and Waldo J. Curry, are the only persons qualifying as candidates for positions on the board of education at the July 14 election.

These positions will be for three years, 1958 to 1961. Mr. White is now president of the board and Mr. Curry has served as treasurer since the new district was formed.

A proposition giving the board permission to sell a portion of the East Tawas Unit site will also be voted upon at this annual election.

This area is the north 16 feet of lots three and four, and the east 38 feet of lot two. Sale of this area will even out the south boundary of the school land. This area extends east in the bus parking lot and onto Newman Street. The area involved is that portion south of the survey stakes placed on the grounds. It still leaves ample space for the parking of buses at the school.

Three candidates are on Hale Area School's ballot to fill two trustee vacancies. Candidates are Clarence Brindley, Benjamin D. Clayton and Ernest S. Herzog.

Hale Area voters will also receive a second ballot which, if approved, would give the board of education authority to sell a school building and out buildings known as the Green school located in Section 14, Hill Township, Ogemaw County.

FORMER EAST TAWAS JEWELER DIED IN DETROIT

Willard B. Murray, former East Tawas jeweler, died July 5 at his home in Detroit. Services were held Tuesday from the Ross B. Northrop and Son Funeral Home in Detroit.

Mr. Murray is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Schuyler B. Elliott, Mrs. S. P. Burridge and Mrs. Joseph H. McKeon; six grandchildren, and five great grandchildren.

Wet July 4 Week-End Canceled Most Programs

It was a wet week-end for the thousands of tourists who jammed Iosco County for the long Independence Day holiday. Numerous programs which had been planned for July 4 were rained out.

Rain caused the cancellation of the first annual horse show and parade which was to have been held at the old fair grounds property in East Tawas July 4. This event has been re-scheduled to be held at the same location July 27.

The Tawas Chamber of Commerce reports that the annual fireworks display was completed the night of July 4 just before the rains came. A baseball game scheduled between Pinconning and East Tawas in the afternoon was rained out, as were most of the boxing bouts scheduled to be held at the Chapel Lake Indian Ceremonials Stadium.

About the only successful program of the day in Iosco County was at Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda. More than 30,000 persons, estimated as the largest crowd ever to be on base, flooded through the main gates where some of the principal events of the two-day homecoming celebration sponsored jointly by air base personnel and the Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce were held.

Although much of the program was rained out, helicopter rescue demonstrations were staged and the water show at VanEtan Lake was run off as scheduled. Visitors enjoyed displays of aircraft and equipment, a sentry dog demonstration, carnival and square dance.

Miss Sheila Ronk, 20, was crowned homecoming queen at the air base hangar Saturday night. Ron Gamble, Greenbush resort operator, was master of ceremonies.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

To gain the blessings promised by Christ Jesus, man must be willing to follow his example in daily life. This is the theme to be stressed in the lesson-sermon entitled "Sacrament" which will be heard at Christian Science Churches on Sunday.

From Galatians will be read the Golden Text (3:26,27): "Ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus. For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ."

The lesson-sermon also includes this quotation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (25:26-31): "Implicit faith in the Teacher and all the emotional love we can bestow on him, will never alone make us imitators of him. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered Hillsdale last Sunday. They also to bestow upon us."

Do not expect everybody to agree with you, variety of opinion is what makes the world interesting.

$140,000 Listed in Michigan State Fair Premiums

Thousands of premium books have been mailed announcing a record $140,000 in agriculture and livestock prizes at the 1958 Michigan State Fair, August 29 through September 7.

The deadline for entries this year is Friday, August 8, Donald L. Swanson, state fair general manager, announced.

Swanson urged farmers to make their entries as early as possible to avoid the last minute rush and to keep from being shut out of the state fair because of lack of space. In recent years, practically all categories have been filled to capacity, many long before the deadline for entries.

The 1958 premium book has been mailed to a permanent list of farmers including those exhibitors in last year's state fair. Anyone not on the mailing list, or anyone desiring a free copy, should write to the Director of Agricultural Exhibits, Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3, Michigan.

Improved Fire Protection

The Michigan fire finder, a novel instrument developed at the Conservation Department's forest fire experiment station at Roscommon, plays an important part in speeding fire control. The fire finder, pictured above, allows the fire tower lookout to pinpoint the exact location of a forest fire so that mobile equipment can be dispatched quickly to the site of the blaze.

Contract awards for future construction set a new national record in May and pointed to reversal of recession.

July 22-25—Homemakers' Conference, Michigan State University.
July 23-26—Iosco County Fair, Hale.

July has rolled around again and with it comes Homemakers' Conference at Michigan State University July 22-25. You can attend this event if you are a homemaker. It is not necessary to be an enrolled member of a home demonstration or other group.

The theme is "The Changing Role of the Homemaker." Have you given much thought to the changes which have come about gradually to affect you and your homemaking job?

There are to be speakers on Homemakers' Conference programs who have observed and studied the changes in the home-making role over the years. No doubt you will come back to see your home and your job in a new light.

It is expected that some 1,200 homemakers from all over Michigan will attend this educational conference. What a wonderful opportunity to socialize, listen and relax!

Dr. Carl Winters, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Oak Park, Illinois, will make you laugh and he will make you think as he tells of the modern woman in a miracle world.

And who does not know and read the Ann Landers column? Her talk is to be called, "American Homemaker-Champion Number One."

Guidedposts in a world of change will be offered by Dr. Irma Gross, head of Michigan State University's home management and child development department.

Besides these general assembly speeches, there will be many avenues of study open to you—classes on good design in crafts, photography, savings and investments, flower arrangement, inflation and 17 other topics.

In between there are entertainment features, among them an international tea.

Window screens can keep your home cooler in summer, warmer in winter. They affect the amounts of light, heat and air that pass through.

The United States Department of Agriculture recently tested three screening materials, aluminum wire, galvanized metal wire and a punched louvered aluminum material. The results might help you if you are in the market for new screening.

Aluminum wire allowed the most heat to come into the house. It also let the most light through, 66 percent as much as came through an unscreened window. It wears well, does not rust and is in the medium price range.

Galvanized metal wire ran a close second in the amount of heat and light it let in. It is least expensive of the three, but does rust.

The louvered aluminum material allowed only 16.5 percent of the sun's heat into the house and only half as much light as did the other two screenings. It would keep your home cooler, which is fine in summer, but what about warding off old man winter?

The report suggests that louvered aluminum screens could be made so they reversed in winter. They reflect so much of the sun's heat that the home owner should be able to reverse the screening to help warm his house on a cold day.

Privacy is one of the advantages of louvered aluminum screens—you can see out, but it is hard for the neighbors to look in. It needs more care than the other two screenings, however, because it tends to tear. It is the most expensive of the three tested.

Aluminum wire, galvanized metal wire and the louvered aluminum material rated about equal when it came to the air movement they allowed. The louvered aluminum tended to direct the air upward.

NOW! WONDERFULLY NEW, THRIFTIER WAY TO BUY GASOLINE!

America's six finest gasoline grades (OCTANE RATINGS) custom-blended to fit any car today

-from this one spectacular new blending pump!

© 1958, SUN OIL COMPANY

This you can have! Today's big difference—in gas costs, and performance—something 3 out of every 5 car-owners have never been able to get, up to now!

- EXACT OCTANE-STRENGTH YOUR ENGINE NEEDS
- HIGHEST-OCTANE "REGULAR" PRICE GAS ON THE MARKET
- SAVINGS UP TO $1.00 A TANKFUL OVER OTHER "PREMIUMS"
- MOST MILES PER DOLLAR...SMOOTHER, KNOCK-FREE POWER

It's the big difference, all right. You'll feel and hear it from your engine... count it in what you save on gas.

Cars are not unlike men—in what they need to do their stuff. Few men can eat, or thrive on identical food.

Two cars of the same make, model, age and even the same mileage can vary as much as 8-10 octane points in what they need to perform best! It's hopeless to expect that all the cars running today can be correctly powered on 2 or 3 "ready made" gasoline grades. That's what Sunoco's brilliant new blending pump corrects... by custom-blending on the spot the right fuel, for every car it fills. Ready and waiting, today! Come see for yourself!

In money, performance, mileage... TODAY'S GREATEST GASOLINE VALUES...FOR YOUR CAR!

THIS IS WHAT HAPPENS: Dial (A) is set for any one of six "custom blends" desired. This precisely controls proportions drawn from each of two tanks. In one, premium quality straight BlueSunoco '200', higher octane than any gasoline at "regular" price; in the other tank, Sunoco Octane Concentrate higher than any car needs. Meters and control valve accurately deliver exact octane called for by selector-dial setting.

SOME EXAMPLES: CARS AND THEIR CUSTOM-BLEND NUMBERS:

'55 Chevrolet — 6, V-8... 200	'57 Plymouth—V-8 Deluxe... 210
'57 Chevrolet V-8 Deluxe... 210	'55 Oldsmobile... 210
'55 Ford — 6, V-8... 200	'56 Pontiac... 210
'58 Ford V-8 Deluxe Models 240	'58 Edsel — Ranger, Power... 240
'56 Dodge V-8 Power Pack... 210	'58 Cadillac... 240
'56 Buick Special... 220	'58 Mercury — Power Pack... 260
'56 Buick — All Others... 220	'58 Rambler... 260
'57 Plymouth — 6, V-8... 200	'58 Imperial... 200

Get complete pocket chart at any Sunoco station... showing all cars, new and old, with their Custom-Blend grades. It's simple... your right Sunoco grade is easy to remember by these convenient numbers: '200'—'210'—etc.

Special Note: With the right Custom-Blend, your car may need less octane than you've been buying! Start with blend chart shows; next time, try next lower Custom-Blend. Many cars do perform smoothly on a lower Custom-Blend.

In making silhouette snapshots your range of subject matter is as broad as your interests and imagination.

Silhouette Snapshots

Do you remember how much fun you used to have snapping silhouettes out of black paper and decorating the old schoolroom with your masterpieces? It seems to us we devoted a good part of February every year specializing in profiles of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington to be tucked up on the wall.

Ever since those days, we've somehow had a nostalgic fondness for silhouettes—a feeling that carries over into picture-taking, too. That's why we thought we'd spend a few minutes today talking about silhouette snapshots—a very special kind of black-and-white picture you might enjoy snapping for a change.

Like any other snapshot, a silhouette picture may be shot indoors or out, in the daytime or at night. But unlike the usual type of picture, this time you want the subject black and the background white. Therefore, you have to change the normal position of your light to accomplish this "reverse" effect. And that, in brief, is the basic principle underlying all silhouette shots. Contrary to the usual rule of having the light fall on the subject from over your shoulder, the light must be behind the subject and coming toward your camera.

For a daytime silhouette shot to be taken indoors, stretch a sheet over a doorway or window, opening to a bright outdoor scene. Pose your subject in profile against this luminous white background, darken the room, and make a short time exposure. That's all there is to it—except check to see that the sheet is smooth and uncrinkled, remember to set your camera on a tripod or some other firm support, and be sure your subject holds still during the entire length of the time exposure.

To get the same effect at night, stretch the sheet over an interior doorway and put a flood lamp behind it. Post your subject—again in profile—in front of the sheet, turn off all the lights except the flood, and make a time exposure.

If you'd like to try an outdoor silhouette, the best time to shoot it is around sunset. Your subject should be directly between your camera and the setting sun. That way, his body will conceal the sun. (If this doesn't give you the angle you want, aim so that a tree or building will block out the sun instead.) You'll probably find it best to cut down on your exposure time a bit to keep foreground details from coming through. —John Van Gulder

Farm Events

BY MARVIN DAVENPORT
Iosco Agricultural Agent

Calendar:

Friday, July 18—Iosco Tree Growers Association board meeting at Grant Township Hall.

Wednesday, July 23, through Saturday, July 26—Iosco County Fair, Hale.

Thursday, July 24—State Farm Management Tour, Kalkaska.

If you are planning to exhibit cattle at the Iosco County Fair, here are a few things you should know. These are the latest health requirements published by the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

All cattle for exhibition must be free from infectious and contagious disease and free from exposure to contagion or infection.

All cattle must have a certificate of record for exhibition (Form 170). You may get these certificates of record by writing to the State Veterinarian, Michigan Department of Agriculture, Lewis Cass Building, Lansing 13, Michigan.

This is how you may qualify for the certificate of record for exhibition:

For TB—All counties in Michigan are tuberculosis accredited. If your herd is not under quarantine for a TB infection you may take your cattle to any show in Michigan without getting a tuberculin test.

For Bang's, you must meet one of the following requirements:

1. A negative blood test for Bang's disease on individual animals conducted within 90 days of the show, or,
2. Cattle identified from a herd with a record of two complete approved negative blood tests for Bang's disease conducted within one year of date of show at no less than six months intervals, such individual certificates are valid for 90 days, or,
3. Official calfhood vaccinates under 30 months of age from herd not under quarantine, such individual certificates valid for 90 days or until the animal becomes of age, whichever comes earlier, or,
4. Cattle properly identified from herds tested within one year and which are officially recorded as accredited or certified herds, such individual certificates are valid for 90 days, or,
5. Cattle originating from herds not under quarantine and blood tested for brucellosis within one year of the opening day of the fair and located in a modified certified brucellosis free area, such individual certificates valid for 90 days, or,
6. Cattle that originate immediately from a herd of which all members over one year of age, except steers, spayed heifers and official vaccinates under 30 months of age, have passed an official test for brucellosis conducted within 90 days prior to the opening day of the fair or show, such certificates valid for 90 days.

Steers, free martins and spayed heifers are exempted from the Bang's test requirement, and may be exhibited from a brucellosis quarantined herd, but in all cases must be accompanied by a certificate of record for exhibition (Form 170).

Two farmers who are farming Michigan's lighter, sandy soils with success are hosts for the 1958 State Farm Management Tour July 24.

Victor Woodhams, Kalkaska County, and Orville Walker, Antrim County, will explain the operation of their farms to visitors during the tour.

The 280-acre farm of Woodhams, south of Kalkaska, is the starting point of the tour at 9:30 a. m. Woodhams, who is aware of the problems in establishing and operating a farm on these light soils, is making progress toward a successful operation, according to Charles Beer, extension farm management specialist at Michigan State University.

The determination of Woodhams and his wife to succeed coupled with his application of modern farming methods and quick use of up-to-date information, are important characteristics of this farm's operation, says Beer. Good dairy herd management, sound heifer raising practices and a good roughage production are important points the tour visitors will hear about at the Woodhams.

For a noon program and chicken barbecue, the tour will move to the second farm, that of Orville Walker at Alba. Featured speaker at the noon program is to be Dr. John A. Hammah, president of Michigan State University.

On the 1,000-acre Walker farm tour visitors will hear how he has been successful in building up organic matter in the sandy soil. On land that was "too poor to grow trees 20 years ago," Walker now gets potato yields of 400-800 bushels per acre without use of irrigation.

This farm is entirely a cropping operation with extensive mechanization. Weed control through the use of chemicals has eliminated crop cultivation from the Walker farming program.

At both the Woodhams and Walker farms, tour visitors will hear detailed reports on all phases of the farming operations. Time will be available for questions from the audience.

The government has confirmed what many businessmen have believed all along—people saved more of their cash in the first quarter of this year than even in the war-time peak reached in 1944.

Oldest Surviving Tent Circus Will Be Here Next Monday

Circus day in the Tawas will be Monday, July 14, with the arrival of the Beers-Barnes Circus, oldest tented circus in America today, and one of the surviving dozen big top trained animal shows on the road.

The circus will locate on city property adjacent to the Tawas City school for a one-day engagement with performances at 2:00 and 8:00 p. m.

Presented this season under a new, white circus tent, the big top show from Florida offers a program of 25 trained animal and circus acts, including two acts formerly with the late Ringling Brothers Circus and the Tom Pack Shrine Circus.

They are, "Harold," world's finest backward somersaulting wire artist, and Don Maurice and Julie, the famous Chilian jugglers.

The largest of the Beers-Barnes Circus elephants is four-ton Congo Alice, the largest performing elephant in America who obliges with her interpretation of the "Rock 'N Roll."

MUCC WILL NOT HOLD CONVENTION HERE

"The Michigan United Conservation Clubs will not be in the Tawas next year," reports Donald E. Watson, who attended the 21st annual convention at Sault Ste. Marie June 26 through 29.

The Tawas Chamber of Commerce had planned to invite the MUCC to hold its 1959 convention here but did not present a bid. It will be held at Manistee next year.

"I talked with several persons from Manistee and they informed me they put on an all-out drive weeks before the convention, because people could see how much it would mean in dollars and cents to the City of Manistee," states Watson. "Everyone in that town who would benefit from the MUCC being there was asked for a donation."

Watson said that the money was used to entertain the delegates at Sault Ste. Marie. "Naturally, after being treated so nicely, the members could not help but to vote for that city," he stated.

"Tawas will have to do an even better job than that if we expect to have the group here. All the areas bidding for next year's convention passed out some beautiful and costly literature, except the Tawas," he said.

THREE B AND E'S AND ONE THEFT MARS WEEK-END

Two breakings and enterings and one larceny of a tire were reported this week by local law enforcement agencies.

Donald Lloyd of Detroit reported to sheriff's department officers Saturday that his house trailer parked at Old Orchard Park on the AuSable River was burglarized sometime recently. He said that he had been there June 20 and everything was in order.

Reported stolen was a large quantity of fishing equipment. The burglars made their entry by forcing open a door. This was the third breaking and entering of the trailer.

The Paul Rondo cottage, located near the county line in Whitney Township, was vandalized sometime recently. Mr. Rondo of Owosso told police that windows were broken and other damage was done. Nothing was taken.

Glenn Bessey reported Monday that a tire and wheel had been stolen from his truck while it was parked south of the Tawas City business district. A rear tire had also been slashed.

Dillon Retires as Superintendent of ET Public Works

Arthur Dillon, public works superintendent at East Tawas for the past 20 years, retired from that position last week. He is succeeded by Paul Ropert.

A life-time resident of East Tawas, Dillon will continue to work for the city until September. After that he plans to visit his brother, Willard, who lives in Denver, Colorado, for a short time.

Going to work for the city on November 1, 1958, he has served as superintendent of the water works, sewer and street departments, along with assuming duties of chief of police at various times.

Dillon, 67, is still remembered as a star of amateur baseball teams in East Tawas during earlier days. He has also coached and managed high school, independent and American Legion junior baseball teams for many years.

A veteran of World War I, he served in France in the coast artillery and earlier had seen service along the Mexican border.

He was first commander of the Audie Johnson American Legion Post in East Tawas in 1920-22 and later served as commander in 1928 and 1939. At one time he was postmaster.

Arthur Dillon, public works superintendent at East Tawas for the past 20 years, retired from that position last week. He is succeeded by Paul Ropert.
