last week, however, when a distress call was received from a United States Coast Guard tug. Thirty-five men on board the craft had weathered out 48 sleepless hours in a Lake Huron storm and docked there last Friday night.

AS OF WEDNESDAY, the tentative arrival of the first lake carrier at United States Gypsum Company's loading installation at Alabaster is scheduled for April 11 at 9:00 p. m. The first ship to be loaded there will be the Boland and Cornelius lake carrier,

"Schellkopf," and will be bound for Detroit. This date of loading is dependent upon the ice conditions in Lake Huron. The picture above shows USG's shore bin and trampoline installation, the latter extending 1 1/4 miles out into Saginaw Bay.—Herald Photos.

MILLER WINS JUDGE RACE MONDAY

Saw Last Indian Uprising in 1906

You have to go back a long way to recall the "old army" as Fred Marsh remembers it. While looking through a collection of old pictures and souvenirs Monday, the 77-year-old Tawas City man recalled that it was 55 years ago when he started his first four-year hitch in the army.

Marsh, son of a pioneer Iosco County family, enlisted in the United States Army when he reached the age of 21. Military service is something of a tradition with the Marsh family. His ancestors served in the War for Independence and his grandfather, who served with the Michigan volunteer infantry during the Civil War, is buried in Huntsville Heights, Alabama, where he died during the war.

His father, William H. Marsh, came to Tawas City in 1877 and homesteaded a farm on the Meadow Road. Fred, born November 4, 1882, left home in 1899 to make his mark at the age of 16 years in the lumber woods of Northern Minnesota.

Later, he returned to Michigan where he worked in the lumber woods and then went to work as a pipe fitter during construction of sugar beet plants in various cities in the state.

On June 3, 1904, he enlisted in the United States Army and, as a recruit, was sent to Jefferson Barracks on the Mississippi River near St. Louis, Missouri. On completion of intensive three months training, he joined K Troop of the Sixth Cavalry, then one of several units assigned to Fort Meade, South Dakota, to maintain peace among the Indian tribes in the Black Hills.

During his training, Marsh said that the recruits did not associate with the regular army men until they completed their 90-day training period. "We drilled riding bareback and did not receive saddles until the last month of training," he said.

He recalls many experiences during his nearly four years in South Dakota. Among the most vivid of his recollections was his participation in the last Indian uprising in the United States.

The Sixth Cavalry, a unit steeped in tradition which dated back to the War for Independence, was composed of battle-hardened veterans of the Boxer Rebellion and the Spanish American War. A number of its officers were Civil War veterans.

This hard disciplined outfit was sent into the field in 1906 to bring in a large number of Ute Indians who ran away from their reservation in Utah because of the lack of water. After wandering around all summer, the Indians finally were "corralled" in Montana near the Little Powder River.

"As it happened, the Utes didn't make a fight of it and surrendered after three days of talks," said Marsh. "Our

Dems Sweep Election at Whittemore

Whittemore, long a Democratic stronghold in otherwise Republican Iosco County, elected a full slate of Democratic candidates to local offices in Monday's election. Otherwise, the only other change in Iosco politics came in AuSable Township, where Sticker Candidate Burdge Ashton defeated Charles Monroe, veteran supervisor.

Republican incumbent mayor, John O'Farrell, was defeated in his bid for re-election to a second term at Whittemore by Democrat George Blust. Blust had 137 votes to 77 for O'Farrell.

A complete Democratic slate was elected in the Western Iosco County community. J. C. Munroe was re-elected treasurer over Mrs. Ida Dorsey (R) 139 to 75. Edward Graham (R) was re-elected assessor over Edward Dickey (R), 134 to 82.

The First Ward elected L. C. Hatfield over Charles Fortune (R), 39-25, and David Mills defeated Ezra Wice for constable, 55-19.

Charles Bailey, Second Ward alderman, won over Horace Dillon, 86-54. Harold Hess (D) and Robert Dorsey (R) tied at 69 votes each.

George Webb, the only unopposed candidate in Plainfield Township led the entire slate of Republican candidates to victory with 302 votes.

In AuSable Township, Munroe, who had won out in a three-way primary contest, was defeated by Ashton, 179-119. Ashton was one of the unsuccessful candidates in the primary.

Returned to office without opposition were Supervisors Edward Burgeson, Baldwin, Henry Oates, Alabaster, Lloyd Little, Grant, Charles Smith, Oscoda, Glenn Long, Tawas; Merlin Jordan, Sherman, Theodore Belleville, Burleigh, and William White, Reno.

Supervisors returned from Tawas City are Clement Stephan, First Ward; Fred Brabant, Second Ward, and Clarence Everette, Third Ward. Senior aldermen act as supervisors from East Tawas.

Re-elected without opposition were Mayors George Tuttle of Tawas City and Elmer R. Werth of East Tawas, along with the entire slate of Republican candidates for the two cities.

In the write-in vote for justice of the peace in Tawas City, William McCready was top vote getter with 25. Others who received votes were William Murray, five; Albert Buch, one; H. E. Friedman, three; Bruce Myles, two; and Wilbur Roach, one.

No candidate was named for this office by the Republican caucus. Justice Friedman still has two years to go on his term.

Tuttle was top vote-getter in the uncontested city election, receiving 532 ballots. Clerk Walter Nelson received 530 votes and Treasurer Ruth Albertson totaled 527 votes. Aldermen re-elected were John N. Brugger, Earl B. Davis and Cecil Cabble.

Miller defeated 51-year-old J. Russell Hughes, Harrisville attorney, by a 1,029 vote majority. Total ballot cast for Miller was 3,638 in the tri-county circuit, while Hughes had 2,609 votes.

Miller piled up a big majority of votes in his home county, held his own in Oscoda County and made a surprisingly good showing in Alcona County, the bailiwick of his opponent.

Iosco County voters gave Miller a 2,591 to 1,138 margin in the non-partisan contest, gaining high percentages of votes cast in his favor in Tawas City, East Tawas, Baldwin and Wilber Townships. Highest percentage of votes cast for Miller in a single precinct was in Wilber Township where he received 77 of 85 votes for 95 percent. Next was Tawas City Second Ward with a percentage of 91, on 152 votes out of a possible 167.

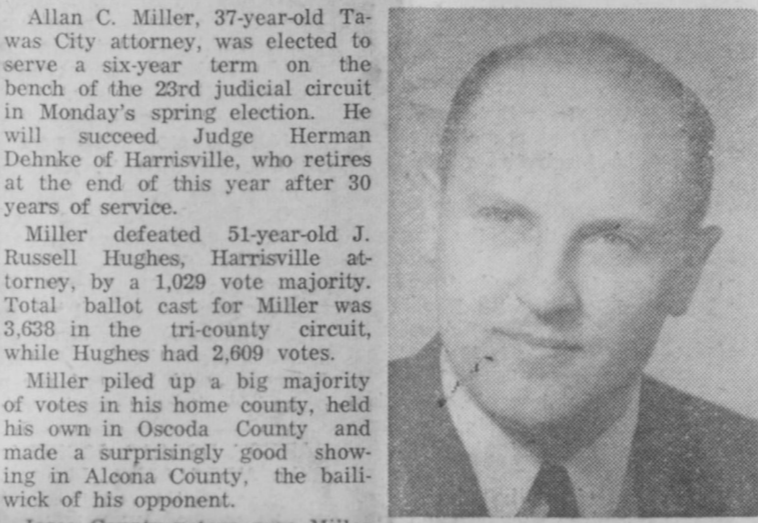

Hughes led Miller 1,168 to 763, in his home county and held a slight margin of 303 to 285 in Oscoda County, but Miller's big Iosco County plurality gave him the winning position.

Miller polled the greatest number of votes in the five-man primary race last February with 1,822 votes, followed by Hughes with 1,185 votes. Candidates eliminated from the running were J. Richard Newman of East Tawas, F. Duane Ross of East Tawas and Norman Randall of Mio.

Next January 1, Miller will take over Judge Dehnke's bench. One of Michigan's foremost circuit judges, Judge Dehnke will have reached mandatory retirement age at that time.

Miller, born in Tawas City and a graduate of East Tawas High School, returned to his home County of Iosco last year after practicing 12 years in Detroit. He, his wife and four sons live in East Tawas. His mother, Mrs. Grace Miller, has served as county treasurer of Iosco for more than 20 years.

Hughes, presently city attorney

Watson Completes Modernization of Photographic Studio

Harvey Watson, East Tawas commercial photographer, this week announced the completion of his enlarged new studio at 705 East Bay Street.

Included in Mr. Watson's modernization program was the installation of new lighting facilities and new camera equipment.

Watson, who came to East Tawas a number of years ago after considerable experience in the photographic department of a Detroit automobile corporation, is well known here for his work in portraiture and wedding photography.

Some other examples of his outstanding work include the copying and restoration of portraits of circuit judges now hanging in the Iosco County Building.

"Our enlarged and modernly equipped studio will enhance the portraits of wedding and family groups, and, of course, to better serve the public," Mr. Watson states.

Dynamite Blast Injures Three Men on AuGres River

Three men were seriously injured Saturday when a stick of dynamite exploded in their 16-foot boat on the AuGres River near the Santiago settlement in Arenac County. The men were illegally taking fish.

Most seriously injured was Arnold Dewald of Turner. The dynamite exploded as he prepared to toss it into the river. His right arm had to be amputated just below the elbow. He also lost his sight and hearing, although authorities do not know if these injuries are permanent.

Also injured were Raymond Farver, 20, of Turner, and 36-year-old Patrick Soper of AuGres. Wallace Dewald, 19, Arnold's brother, and Floyd Sessler, 20, of Turner escaped with minor injuries.

According to state police and Arenac County sheriff's officers, the men had purchased the dynamite at a Turner hardware and had successfully exploded two sticks in the river. The net result of these two blasts was one fish, a sucker.

Apparently Dewald thought that the waterproof fuse went out after lighting it and it exploded as he attempted to light it again while holding it in his hand. Soper was thrown from the boat by the blast and he was pulled in by Sessler.

Flood Control Survey to be Made Soon on Tawas River

A survey is to be made of the Tawas River sometime this month to determine if it would be eligible for federal flood control funds, it was announced at Monday night's meeting of the Tawas City Council.

City Attorney Allan C. Miller stated that pictures had been taken showing flood conditions near the M-53 bridge over the river and would be submitted to the government agency which makes the survey.

Miller said that the survey team would study the effect of a proposed dam on Tawas Lake to control spring flooding.

In other business, a request to open 12th Avenue was turned over to the council's street committee.

The council approved an SDM liquor license from the state liquor commission for Brugger's Market.

Treasurer Ruth Albertson presented her quarterly and annual reports to the council for study.

The May 18 meeting of the council is to be changed to Tuesday, May 19, because of mayor's exchange day during the Michigan Week. Cecil Cabble and Earl Davis were appointed as a committee to work out details for observance here.

One building application was approved by the department of public works since the last council meeting. This was an application by John Coyle for a 16 by 22 temporary office building for Lakeside Motor Sales. Estimated cost was $1,500.

Explain Services During National Library Week

From April 12 to April 18, thousands of communities throughout the United States will observe the second National Library Week. This event is sponsored by the National Book Committee in cooperation with the American Library Association. It is devoted to the importance of libraries of all kinds—public, school and university libraries and the libraries maintained by individuals in their own homes.

In this area, Iosco-Arenac Regional Library was organized in April 1955 after a successful one year demonstration of regional library services. The demonstration was financed by Michigan State Library development funds.

The library's book collection has grown from 20,000 volumes to 52,000 volumes in the four years since its organization. Books, information and service is the motto of the regional library.

"If we do not have the material we will obtain it for our patrons," said Miss Leonora Hass, director.

Iosco-Arenac Regional Library Board is composed of four members from each county, appointed by the supervisors. The board formulates the policies of the library and secures the finances necessary to operate this library.

The regional library is equipped to serve all ages and all interests through its seven branches and eight community stops. Branches are located in AuGres, East Tawas, Standish, Oscoda, Plainfield, Tawas City and Whittemore. Community bookmobile stops are made in Alabaster, Singing Bridge, Omer, Maple Ridge, Turner, Twinning, AuSable and Sterling.

Total circulation for 1958 at the regional library was 156,701 books; a gain of 30,000 over the 1957 total of 128,000 books.

There are 48 bookmobiles on the road in Michigan today. Costing $7,000 each, they carry over 1,600 books and audio-visual material.

Dock May Have Looked Like Bridge to Motorist

A tipsy Windsor, Ontario, motorist who got his directions mixed early last Saturday morning, paid fines and cost in justice court and spent a night in the county jail.

Police said that the man apparently mistook the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock at East Tawas for the Ambassador Bridge between Detroit and Windsor. The dock is located at the foot of Newman Street.

Police spotted headlights of an auto on the dock about 1:15 a. m. and went out to investigate. They found that the motorist had driven out on the dock, then attempted to back his car to shore. The right rear wheel fell off the dock and the car was immobile. A wrecker pulled the auto to safety.

Baseball Team Again Planned in Tawas City

At a reorganization meeting of the Tawas City Independent Baseball Club last Friday night, Russell Anschutz was named manager for the 1959 season. Other officers named were Bernard Lorenz, treasurer, and Herbert Look, director.

With a fair turn-out of prospective players at last week's meeting, indications are that Tawas will again have an amateur baseball team. No team was organized last year, the first time in more than 50 years.

Anschutz said that the organization has uniforms and is financially able to start the season. There will be no charge for admission to the games this year and the team will be financed through score card advertising.

"Our next meeting will be held later this month and we hope to see many more new faces at that time," Anschutz stated.

The Tawas City team hopes to again participate in the Northeastern Michigan Baseball League this year, perhaps the oldest association of its type in Michigan.

President Vern Seltz announced this week that the league would organize for the 1959 season at a meeting to be held Thursday (tonight) at the courthouse in Standish.

"Every club in the league last year is urged to send a representative," said Seltz, "and, naturally, those clubs will receive first consideration for membership for 1959, if they so desire."

Seltz said that Bentley had already made application and other teams are considering application, "so it looks as if there continues to be interest in baseball in the area served by NEM."

Last year the circuit, divided into two sections, consisted of the following clubs:

American Division—Crump, East Tawas, Pinconning, Hale, Sterling, West Branch, Wooden Shoe; National Division—AuGres, Beaverton, Estey, Melita, Prescott, Turner, Worth.

In addition to Seltz as president, Fred Jones of Prescott was vice president last year and F. E. Perilberg, Standish, secretary-treasurer.

Korthals Hired as Electrical Inspector

Ronald E. Korthals of National City was hired by the City of East Tawas as its electrical inspector at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

The council recently passed a new electrical ordinance and the code is to be enforced by the new inspector.

Therefore the only reality of sin, sickness, or death is the awful fact that unrealities seem real to human, erring belief, until God strips off their disguise. They are not true, because they are not of God."

Okay, it's settled. You've thought about it and talked about it and now you've decided: A new car—and soon. Now for the jackpot question, Which '59 car will it be?

Unless you happen to be a Mr. Gotrocks, you'll probably think pretty carefully before you finally make the move. You'll do more shopping and compare more closely. And you'll ask yourself some basic questions. How much will a new car cost me to buy? How much will it cost me to drive? What do I get for my money?

There is no mystery about new car prices. Until this year, it was hard to compare different makes of cars to find which offered the most value for the money. It was like comparing apples and bananas. But not any more. Not since all new cars are required to carry price labels. Now, for the first time, you can compare various makes and models and see exactly what you're getting for your money. It's like exposing the hole cards in a game of stud poker: You know exactly where you stand.

Why should you buy a Dodge? No one has to tell you that there are a number of cars on the market that sell for less than a Dodge. No cigar on that count. You know it and we know it. But there are things you get in a Dodge that you simply can't get in these other smaller cars. And this is important. Dodge gives you all of these things—the bigness and roominess, the comfort and ride, the luxury and prestige—far less than other cars in its field.

It's not just a few dollars less, either; in many cases it's literally hundreds of dollars less. Some Dodge models are even priced lower than the so-called "low-priced cars." (We'll be happy to show you the actual suggested retail prices.)

All cars cost money to run—but how much? It would be nice if you just bought a new car and that was that. It didn't burn gas. Didn't use oil. Never needed service. But that's wishful thinking. Cars do use gas and oil. They do need service occasionally. But that doesn't mean that all cars cost the same to drive and maintain. Not by a jugful. There's a big difference.

Dodge is designed to run for less Dodge has always had a reputation for economical operation. People who have owned them have found it costs less to run a Dodge, and that a Dodge needs service less often. Take gasoline economy. The new Dodge 326 cu. in. Red Ram V-8 engine, because of its design and efficiency, will take you miles farther on a gallon of gas than any other V-8 in the Dodge field. You save money every mile you drive.

But that's only part of the story. The way Dodge is engineered and built saves you money on such things as engine wear, brake relining, tune-ups, spark plug replacement. When you add them all up, they represent quite a saving. Another reason why it pays to own a Dodge.

What do you get for what you pay? According to Manufacturer's Suggested Retail Prices, Dodge generally costs less, model for model, than other cars in its field. Fine and dandy. But while price is important, it isn't the only consideration. The real standard of value—whether you're buying a new car or a can of beans—is what you get for what you pay. It's the "extras" you get at no extra cost that really determine which car is the best buy.

Dodge gives you more for less Talk is cheap. Anyone can make claims. So let's be specific about the extras you get in Dodge at no extra cost. Torsion-Aire Ride—conceded the finest suspension in the industry—standard equipment on all Dodge models. Total-Contact Brakes, Safety-Rim Wheels, Electric Windshield Wipers, Independent Parking Brake—all standard on Dodge. Of course, you can also choose from such Dodge options as Push-Button Driving, Full-Time Power Steering and Swing-Out Swivel Seats.

There's a big difference in comfort, too Goodness knows, we certainly don't want to knock competition. But we feel obligated to point out the comfort and convenience of the '59 Dodge. If you've tried getting into some of the other '59 cars you know just what we mean. To say it is difficult would honestly be an understatement. That's why we hope you'll come in and compare the difference in Dodge. How much easier it is to get in and out of a Dodge. How much more comfortable it is to sit in a Dodge. How much more room you have to stretch out. Really, it pays to own a Dodge.

It doesn't cost a penny to get the facts We don't expect you to rush in and plunk down your money for a new Dodge just on the basis of what you've read. But if what you've read seems to make sense, we do hope you'll stop in to see, to drive and to price a Dodge. We think it's a waste of a buy, but then maybe we're prejudiced. Why not drop in and judge for yourself. We'll be more than happy to give you all the facts. No obligation, of course.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield Offer More-Flexible, Lower-Cost Coverages

Variety of hospital-surgical plans helps a group tailor protection to its needs. Throughout Michigan, employers are now offered a broad range of new Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans, remarkably flexible in benefits and cost.

Now companies can select a "package" of hospital and medical care geared to the coverage and cost the specific group desires.

To go with the new basic Blue Shield M-75 medical-surgical coverage, which provides realistic benefits for surgery, obstetrics, doctor's hospital visits and other medical services, the group can choose ANY of the following Blue Cross hospital care plans:

COMPREHENSIVE CONTRACT. This, the most extensive of Blue Cross plans, will pay the full cost of semi-private or ward accommodations, meals, general nursing, and virtually all other costly hospital services for 120 days.

$50 DEDUCTIBLE CONTRACT. This is a lower-cost Blue Cross plan which provides exactly the same benefits as the Comprehensive Contract, except the patient agrees to pay the first $50 for each hospital visit.

ECONOMY CONTRACT. This costs the least of any Blue Cross plan offered. It pays $14 a day for 30 days toward room, meals, and general nursing care, plus coverage of virtually all other costly hospital services without dollar limit.

SPECIAL FEATURES ALSO AVAILABLE

1. You can increase days of care from 120 to 365 for as little as 10 cents a month extra.
2. Employees may continue coverage under direct-payment contracts after retirement. Moreover, if the firm has a formal retirement program, and agrees to make deductions from retirement checks, the employee can continue group benefits at group rates.
3. Once a year, individuals can join Blue Cross-Blue Shield without belonging to a group. Non-group contracts pay for 30 days of care and up to $14 a day, plus "extra" services without dollar limit.
4. Any child who reaches his 19th birthday while his family is covered by a Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan may convert to his own contract immediately. No examination. No delay.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield offer flexible, realistic health care plans designed to meet the needs of the constantly changing practices of medical science. Remember, no health care plan in Michigan returns more money in the form of hospital-medical services to its members than Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

Industry Needs Good Community Attitude

"What is needed to make a city a good place for present industry to continue to operate? And what is needed to make a city attractive for new industry?"

These two questions were asked in an editorial entitled "What Does Industry Need?" that appeared in the Cadillac Evening News recently.

The editorial appeared several days after the Northern Michigan community learned one of its largest industries, a B. F. Goodrich Company plant, was closing down.

"Above all, industry needs a good community attitude . . . an attitude that is friendly and one that is based on the realization that each of us has our vital part to play," the editorial said.

"Each individual's attitude toward his community and his fellow citizens is important if any community is to prosper.

"Does each individual employee cooperate in a friendly way with his fellow worker to provide reasonable high production or does he make it difficult for everyone to be happy and productive in his job?"

"Does every citizen put in an enthusiastic word for his community so that local people and visitors know that the community is a good one? A non-cooperative, back-biting pessimist never helps his community or himself."

The second and third most important factors considered by an industry considering sites for a new plant are quality of the "physical community" and its future, the Evening News editorial said.

"Does the community have good streets, good police, good fire protection, good water, good schools, good recreational facilities, good churches, good hospital and other assets? These are important to all citizens and of particular value to industry for their own use as well as assuring their personnel a pleasant place in which to live.

"Happy people are good employees," the editorial added.

Regarding the future, the Evening News said an industrial prospect might ask these questions:

"Does the city have good planning and zoning that will not only result in a more livable community but also provide for proper industrial sections where plant expansion may take place and where industry will not be hemmed in?"

"Is there planning that will permit proper community growth and development without wasteful taxes to provide unnecessary services?"

"Do all people in the community actively participate in civic affairs so as to make proper development possible?"

Location of the community . . . nearness to raw materials and markets . . . and many other factors are necessary to make a community a good place for industry, the editorial added.

But community attitude; present school, church, hospital, shopping and other facilities, and a program for the future are high on industry's check list when it is looking for a place to locate a new plant.

"How does your town measure up?" is the theme of an advertisement, sponsored by the Michigan Press Association and Michigan Economic Development Department, appearing today in The Tawas Herald.

Lincoln Death Chair

Abraham Lincoln sat in this chair in a Washington theater box the night of April 14, 1865, when he was shot and fatally wounded by John Wilkes Booth, an actor who sympathized with the south. Made of walnut, the old-fashioned rocking chair was brought from the theater owner's home to the box so that the six-foot-four Civil War President might be more comfortable. The damask-covered chair may be seen today in the Logan County Courthouse in Greenfield Village, Dearborn, Mich. Other Lincolniana is displayed at the Logan Courthouse where Lincoln practiced law as a young man. Above, Betty Dul, of the Henry Ford Museum staff, holds a playbill used by Lincoln at the fateful performance while the heavy plaid shawl he wore that night rests over the arm of the chair.

Mary makes things grow. A full generation ago she planted love in a young man's heart . . . nourished it . . . watched it bloom through shrill and quiet years alike. And Alec knows—a love like this deserves security. Blue Cross-Blue Shield health care helps provide it—even after retirement—and it'll never be canceled because of old age or long illness. What's more, Alec and Mary are protected against unexpected hospital or medical expenses. But then, perhaps you and your family are protected by Blue Cross-Blue Shield, too.

If not, better call us soon.

BLUE CROSS PAYS YOUR HOSPITAL . . . BLUE SHIELD PAYS YOUR DOCTOR

Cotton dress class members have discovered one easy shortcut. That is to use the same pattern for several different dresses.

Once a pattern is altered to fit, and once you have made a dress from it, you will find the second dress goes together quickly. You have already figured out the directions and the step-by-step procedure.

Of course, no one wants each dress to look alike. And they do not have to. Secret of "individual" creations depends upon your choices of fabrics and trimmings. It also depends upon the accessories you wear with each dress.

For instance, one dress might be of a gaily printed cotton. You can make a matching belt, and then choose one in a solid color for a change. Let one of the colors in the print guide your selection.

Your second dress—from the same pattern—might be in a cotton or blend. But make it in a solid color with an interesting texture. This dress will be a nice background for pretty jewelry—perhaps a pin or necklace. Or maybe you would like to try a matching braid trim.

Once you start, you will begin to see many possibilities. You might even decide on a third variation.

So select a pattern with care—and with this shortcut idea in mind.

Because pork is most likely to be a good buy this month, many families will want to make the most of it by good cooking methods. Here are a few reminders: Pork is the meat to cook thoroughly and slowly. Low or moderate heat helps conserve the nutritive value and also helps keep the meat from shrinking during cooking. An oven temperature of 325 degrees Fahrenheit is recommended for roasting fresh pork.

Whether you are looking for a green vegetable or salad greens for April meals, new cabbage is a buy. When you are shopping, compare prices and nutritive values. Cabbage rates high among vegetables for both vitamin C and calcium. New green cabbage deserves a place in tossed green salads because of its color, crisp tenderness and flavor. If you cook it, cook in small amount of water until just tender and serve at once. Avoid overcooking because it gives cabbage a strong flavor, mushy texture and poor color, also causes loss of food value.

We are busy. Busy describes the way most of us live, rushing around the house and the job. Busy also describes the houses in which some of us live. Or rather, we make them busy, by overpowering our rooms with too much color and design.

For instance, we look at a rug which has a fancy design and our eyes trace the outline from one leaf to the next. Then our attention goes to the draperies, where many flowers are blooming in brilliant colors. Pattern on the sofa may have us looking in circles, while the wallpaper offers flowers, rectangles or trees for us to count.

Each item in this type of room calls for attention. The combination keeps us busy because there is so much action in color and design.

This kind of room needs calm areas. Calm comes with large plain areas and soft colors. It is not necessary to eliminate all bright color and design, but if the room has too much going on, here are some points to consider.

If you have a rug with a prominent design, surround it with plain areas in walls, draperies and upholstery. Let that rug be the main interest rather than making it compete with fancy wallpaper, draperies or sofa.

It is well to remember that any sharp contrast, like dark woodwork or a dark fireplace against a light wall, calls for your attention. Ask yourself if you really want these things to stand out.

Woodwork, fireplaces or even a heavy sofa will be less conspicuous if it matches or blends with the color of the wall.

More contrast and action is added with shelves, knickknacks and books.

Every home is different. Take a look at yours as though you had never seen it before. Maybe a few more plain areas, as a result of your spring redecorating work would refresh the appearance of the room and make many of your furnishings look more attractive.

Systemic insecticides can control the two species of grubs that attack Michigan cattle, according to a report from the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station.

In a test, scientists, David Clark and William Magee, checked the material on steers and heifers. Of the treated groups, only one steer and one heifer had any larvae and each had only one.

Untreated steers had an average of 13 larvae with one steer having 29. Untreated heifers had an average of nearly 12 larvae.

The scientists treated the 400-500 pound animals each with 1½ boluses cost about 75 cents each.

The two species of grubs found in Michigan are the common or southern and the northern. This means that Michigan livestock is bothered all summer. Flies of the common kind are around in June while the more prevalent northern type is around from July into September.

Flies lay eggs on hind legs. Eggs migrate on their own power between muscle and skin to the neck where they spend most of the winter. Then they migrate to the back where they cut the hide and start growing. They eventually work themselves through the skin and fall to the ground. The systemic material is carried in the blood stream and kills the larvae.

Grubs cost the livestock industry about 100 million dollars a year in slowed growth, meat trimming and reduced hide value.

Many of us have wondered if milk quality is affected when warm milk is added to cold milk in a bulk tank. Donald Murray of the Michigan State Dairy Department says this question is frequently asked since for years it has been recommended that warm milk not be added to cooled milk. This recommendation was or is correct for milk stored in cans, but it is a different story with bulk milk tanks. It does not hurt to add warm milk to cool milk in a bulk tank.

Ralph Barner of Michigan State University Veterinary Pathology Department says that treatment for iron anemia in little pigs is well worth while. Iron anemia can set a young pig back as much as 10 pounds at weaning time.

One injection of iron dextran at seven to 14 days should do the trick. No benefits have been found from double treatment. Be sure to disinfect the injected area to prevent infection. Also, do not use a needle that is too big. If the material is injected deep in the muscle, you should not have any trouble.

Anemia is more common than ever in hog lots. It chokes off hog profits by virtually suffocating the little pigs. An iron shortage in blood means that it cannot carry enough oxygen.

When pasture farrowing and fattening were in style, anemia did not have much of a foothold. But today's assembly line produc-

Marriage Vows Solemnized at Candlelight Service

LT. AND MRS. GARY S. HUMPHREY

Floral white stock and palms decorated the altar of Evangelical Lutheran Church of Atonement, Dearborn, for the marriage of Miss Gail Gay Ponte of Dearborn and Lt. Gary S. Humphrey of East Tawas Sunday, March 29.

Miss Nancy Puelher of Eastern Michigan College, Ypsilanti, sorority sister of the bride, sang "The Wedding Prayer" and the "Lord's Prayer." Miss Ardella Aldinger of Dearborn was organist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Ponte of Dearborn and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Humphrey of East Tawas. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose an embroidered gown of imported silk organza, styled with a silk satin trimmed neckline, shirred sleeves and princess lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Johnson and family, and the Ross Williams family of Whittemore were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Williams of Reno Township.

Mrs. Bernard Saue and daughter of Bay City were weekend guests of Mrs. Saue's mother, Mrs. Frank Klingler.

Men of Wurtsmith AFB 'Adopt' 2 Orphans

CHO KYU CHOON

TRAN THI KIEN

Members of the 445th FIS, Wurtsmith Air Force Base, have financially "adopted" Tran Thi Kien, an 8 1/2-year-old Vietnamese girl, and Cho Kyu Choon, an eight-year-old Korean boy through Foster Parents' Plan, Incorporated, New York City.

Kien's father died of a liver ailment in June of 1954, leaving his wife and children in abject poverty. In order to provide for the children, Mrs. Tran works as a hod-carrier, for a building contractor earning 35 piers (60 cents) per day.

Kyu Choon was born in the midst of the Korean war and is the younger of two little boys. The father was a factory worker and able to support his wife and children.

As the war progressed, however, more and more men were drafted into the ROK army and Kyu Choon's father was one of them. He was sent to the front and a short time later was killed in action.

To the burden of the widow's grief was added the struggle for survival for herself and her two babies in a war torn country where work, food and shelter were at a premium and terror reigned. From day to day the mother did whatever work she could find and somehow managed to survive.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ponte chose a mauve pink sheath dress of embroidered silk with black accessories and pink cymbidium orchids. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a navy blue silk jacket sheath, complemented by navy and white accessories and white cymbidium orchids.

Following a two-week wedding trip to Florida, Lieutenant Humphrey will return to Trenton, New Jersey, preparatory for scheduled United States Army occupation force in Germany this month. His bride will return to Eastern Michigan College for graduation. She will fly to Germany in July.

Kien is a lovely girl who has become well acquainted with poverty and hunger. Her father was a widower with two daughters.

National Realtor Week---April 12-18

NORTHEASTERN BOARD OF REALTORS—Seated: Harold P. Reinke, Alpena, treasurer; Marion D. Huston, Lewiston, president; Lou Kramer, secretary, Hubbard Lake. Standing: Lester J. Ball, Oscoda; William Borosch, Tawas City; A. Don Anderson, East Tawas; Ira Scofield, Hale. Earl Bielby of Hale is missing.

A realtor is not just any real estate broker. The term is a registered trademark which can be used only by an active member of the local real estate board who thus is pledged to abide by a strict code of ethics.

Realtor Week is a time in which all realtors re-dedicate themselves to the observance of their professional standards and ethics. Realtor Week is a time in which members of local real estate boards and the National Association of Real Estate Boards proudly set these qualifications before the public so that, as George Washington once said, "We may have a standard to which the wise and honest may repair."

Realtors offer the public assurance of treatment in accordance with a code of ethics based on the Golden Rule. Through a constantly-growing membership, local real estate boards offer an ever-growing protection to the public in the field of real estate transactions. By precept and example, realtors are raising a standard to which all brokers may voluntarily repair; by ceaselessly working for better license laws and their more rigorous enforcement, realtors are seeking to elevate the caliber of the whole calling; by constant training through their national association and its affiliated professional institutes in special branches of real estate, realtors are seeking to improve their ability to serve. In essence, therefore, Realtor Week is the observance of the growth of a professional service in an area of vital concern to everyone.

HEALTH COUNCIL TELLS USE OF EASTER SEAL FUNDS

Hale Chapter of the Michigan Health Council released information on how the money from the sale of Easter seals is used. The local chapter gets one-half of the money turned in and the rest goes to the National Chapter.

Already this year, one-third of the local share of the Easter seal receipts has been used. Some much-needed surgery was performed to prevent a child from suffering rheumatic fever. X-rays were taken care of so an afflicted young man could find help to regain his health and braces were bought so a child could walk. The public helped to make this possible. The local group urges individuals who have not contributed to do so.

The health council also stated that a therapist is available for training crippled children and adults in occupational therapy.

To sum it all up, the health council and Easter seal funds are the helping hand in time of need. For further information, either call Hale Randolph 2-2534 or write to Mrs. Ruth Guest, Hale.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Spencer and daughters of Twining were callers at the Lloyd Guest home Sunday.

On patrol through streets, Bismarck keeps a wary eye peeled for possible canines to be snared by his wiles. A whiz at decoying dogs, Bismarck is death on cats.

JUDAS DOG

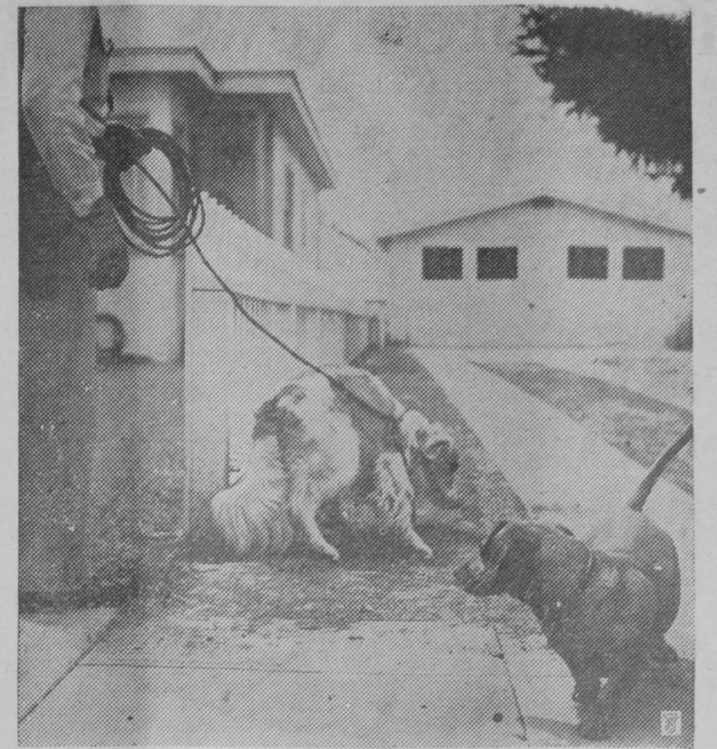

Traitor Decoys Doggies Into the Pound

In every city but one stool pigeons, informers and traitors are looked upon with loathing and disgust. The exception to this rule is Albany, California, where a local traitor is a leading character. This traitor is an underslung dachshund named Bismarck, and his job is to decoy unsuspecting stray dogs into the embrace of his owner, poundmaster George Asher.

Asher doesn't need a net when Bismarck's on the job. If it's a female the Judas Dog entices it within reach with a bark that, in dog language, means, "I'm available, sister." Result is that unsuspecting female follows Bismarck right up to the doors of the pound truck.

For males Bismarck has a different approach. Stiffening his stubby legs and arching his neck, Bismarck ferociously barks his defiance. Stray dogs invariably accept the challenge and take off after the decoy, who calmly runs underneath the pound truck. Poundmaster Asher intercepts and bags the pursuer before Bismarck gets a roughing up.

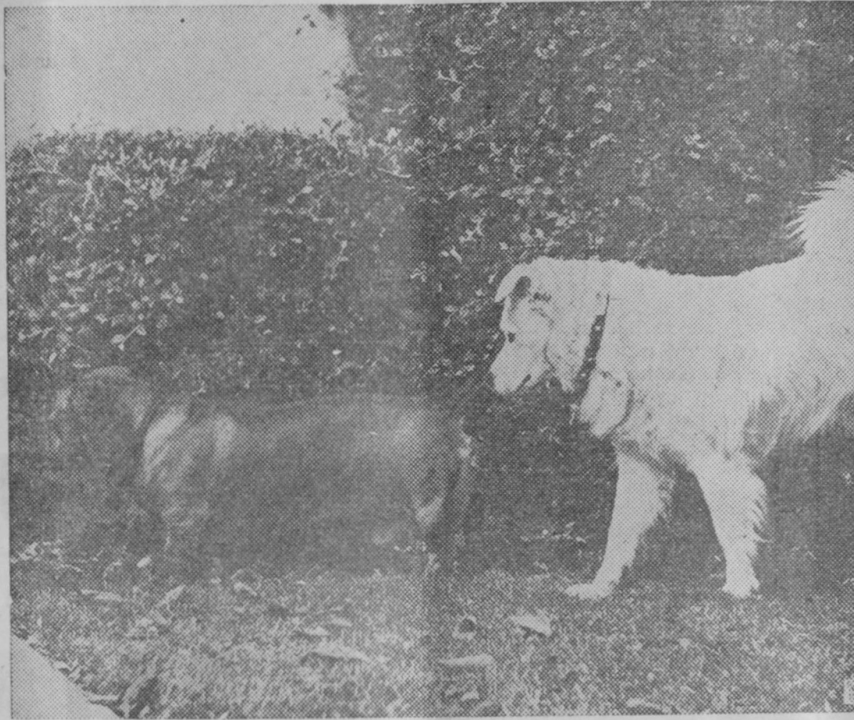

Bismarck is great when it comes to decoying dogs, but he's a problem as far as the feline population is concerned. Certain that it's his prerogative to rid the world of cats, Bismarck is relegated to the truck when Asher sets off after a kitty lest he chase it to the top of a phone pole.

Authorities say Bismarck has helped catch five dogs later proved to have had rabies, a contribution to health of the city.

As poundmaster Asher puts a wayward pup into truck Bismarck waddles at his feet grinning evilly at the unfortunate victim.

After two years as a decoy Bismarck has system down pat. Here he ignores male dog which is getting curious. Then Bismarck will turn on victim and bark.

When Bismarck and his victim reach Asher, decoy dog walks on while unhappy stray is secured on a leash.

HOW DOES YOUR TOWN MEASURE UP?

An industry always takes the measure of a town before thinking seriously of locating a plant there.

Make your own check list and measure your town for yourself.

You might start by marking yes or no on each of the following questions: Does our town have good industrial sites? _____; Financing available for plant construction? _____; Modern and adequate schools? _____; Attractive shopping facilities? _____; Pleasant residential sections? _____; Well supported churches? _____; Good streets and highways? _____;

Progressive municipal government? _____; Adequate public services? _____; Widespread community spirit? _____; Strong civic leadership? _____; Wise zoning provisions? _____; Good community planning? _____.

If your check list shows much room for improvement, it indicates the job to be done.

Join hands with your local industrial development organization and the Michigan Economic Development Department to help your community prosper.

Marsh

FRED MARSH—A dapper captain during World War I

biggest trouble was that we spent a month in the saddle and it rained continuously. The mud was a fright and our wagon trains could not keep up with us, causing a shortage of supplies.
 "The Indians had about 1,500 ponies with them and this was what caused trouble with the ranchers," he said. "The horses were eating everything in sight, and the Indians were hunting and shooting all the game, including some stock owned by the ranchers."
 The wandering Indians were taken back to Fort Meade where they remained for the winter. Because of the lack of hay, a large percentage of the Indian pony herd did not survive the winter.
 In 1907, Marsh completed his four years of service and was discharged with the rank of private. He explains, "I got up as far as sergeant at one time, but lost that rank one night when me and the boys were doing a little celebrating. Our captain, a stern old veteran, called me in for a reprimand. I was kind of gruff myself when I talked to him. I removed my stripes as soon as I returned to the barracks—knowing what was coming," he chuckled.

After his four years of military service, Marsh returned to Minnesota where he worked for several different lumber operators. In late 1916, the United States government issued a call for lumbermen to form several forestry regiments in the army corps of engineers, then hastily being organized as the United States was being drawn into the European conflict. Marsh applied for a commission and received orders to report to Washington, D. C., as a first lieutenant.

At an age when most men do not consider resuming a military career, Marsh, at 35, reported for duty and was on his way to France in early 1917. Units of the corps of engineers were some of the first American troops to land in France and they were turned over to the French government to take out timber for the war operation. Much lumber was needed for trench warfare and for railroad ties which had been destroyed.

Marsh was assigned to the 20th Engineer Regiment and later became a company commander with some 250 men under him in a forestry outfit. "Our unit conducted logging operations for a solid year in Central France," he relates. "As I remember, among the enlisted men were some 40 volunteers from Alaska. Almost all of them were up in years and only joined up to see the war after working a long time in the woods. As it turned out, their services were desperately needed in our operation."
 While in Europe, Marsh met his future wife, Florence L. Johnston. Born in Scotland, Miss Johnston's family moved to France when she was a child. He met her while on assignment in Paris.

Marsh, promoted to captain, returned to the United States in 1919 at the close of the war. Shortly after his release from active duty, Miss Johnston came to this country and the couple was married in New York City.
 Marsh worked one year for the Dodge Motor Company and then he and his wife moved to Glennie where they farmed until 1937. They came to Tawas City that year to take over the old Marsh homestead on Meadow Road.

After retiring from farming, Marsh was joined by two World War II veterans, Earl Davis and Wilbur C. Roach, in turning the old farm into an airport and flying school. After operating the airport for a number of years, the property was sold to Davison and Son Builders, Incorporated.
 Today, Mr. Marsh takes an active part in Methodist Church affairs in Tawas City. He enjoys watching television and is particularly anxious to see the start of the baseball season.
 Perhaps his greatest pleasure comes in recounting his military experiences in the Black Hills and World War I, and the old time lumbering days in this area and Northern Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Duclos of Saginaw visited her mother, Mrs. Ernest Ross, Sunday.
