Cable Resigns as C. of C. President

Cecil Cable, 1959 president of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce, handed in his resignation at a meeting of the board of directors last night (Wednesday).

In a written statement to the board, Cable said, "I am writing this letter in order that my views of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce will be clearly explained.

"For the past 12 years that I have lived in this community (and I have enjoyed them all), I have been an ardent supporter and contributor every year to this organization. I feel that there has been a lot accomplished in this organization that would not have been without an active chamber of commerce and I have always tried to work in harmony with all factions.

"I was elected, by a majority vote of the directors, to act as president for the year of 1959. This office was not solicited in any way.

"There has arisen a condition now in the organization that I have tried to avoid, and I feel that the welfare of our chamber is very important if we are going to promote the Tawas.

"I would like to make it clear that I am going along with the program that is now underway for the new, dynamic Tawas Chamber of Commerce, however, I do not believe this plan will work out successfully.

"I have given a lot of thought to this decision that I have made and hope that it will help to protect the future of this organization."

In making his decision, Cable said Wednesday that, "as a representative for the entire group, I could not go along with the program because I did not think it

Western States Goes Up in Spectacular Blaze

The old Great Lakes passenger cruise ship, Western States, suffered her coup de grace here last Saturday night as she met a fiery death. Once known as the nation's first "flotel," the 350-foot-long ship was destroyed in a flash fire.

Undergoing scrapping operations at her berth at the Tawas City Park dock, the huge ship burst into flames about 5:45 o'clock and raged out of control in a few minutes. Four workmen on board at the time reached safety on the dock.

Carol Mono, son of owner, Abraham Mono, told police officers that workmen had cut off two large masts on the ship earlier in the afternoon and it was believed that a spark from a burning torch may have started the blaze.

During the past four months, the Western States had been undergoing scrapping operations. In November, most of the ship's usable equipment and furnishings had been salvaged. Boilers, engines and other metal work were blasted apart with explosives and removed from the ship.

By last Saturday, nearly all of the metal had been removed, leaving only the steel hull and wooden superstructure intact.

The younger Mono stated that he and three workmen were in the ship's office getting ready to quit work for the day. They smelled smoke and made a quick exit.

A strong off-shore wind of gale force swept through openings in the stern of the ship, left during scrapping operations, and the Western States was turned into a "chimney" as the flames quickly burst through her bow. The Tawas City Fire Department quickly set up hose lines, but turned its attention to removing a trailer parked on the end of the dock as the entire ship was in flames.

Flames from the burning vessel shot hundreds of feet into the air and a heavy cloud of smoke hung over Tawas Bay. Thousands of spectators were attracted to the lakeside to watch the end of the old luxury liner. It was estimated that the crowd was nearly as large as the one which greeted the old ship when it was first towed here.

There was no damage to the steel, sand-filled pier. Loss aboard the ship included some furnishings, bedding, dishes, an old truck and some tools of the wrecking crew.

The Tawas City Fire Department answered several calls at the ship last week when the superstructure caught fire during scrapping operations. The last run by the department, before Saturday's final blaze, came Friday afternoon. Firemen battled a fire in the stern for about 20 minutes before bringing it under control.

The old ship burned late into the night and was still smoking Sunday morning. By that time, the ship was leveled to its steel hull and contained a mass of twisted steel beams, cables, pipes and other metal. Workmen were on the job Monday morning and removed the few pieces of charred wood which remained from the superstructure.

With Saturday's spectacular blaze, the six-ship sidewheel paddle fleet of the old Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Company is dead. The Western States now joins Great Lakes history with her sister ships: The Greater Buffalo, the City of Cleveland III, the City of Detroit III, the Greater Detroit and Eastern States.

Actually, the old Western States would have joined her sister ships on the scrap heap a number of years ago had she not been towed here in the spring of 1955 and turned into a floating resort. After the first owners were unable to turn the idea into a paving proposition, the Western States was sold to Robert Rosen, president of Lake Shore Steel, Incorporated, of Detroit.

Thousands of dollars were poured into refurbishing the ship as a resort and it operated for several months. By September 1957, however, operating losses piled up and the Western States Hotel Corporation went into receivership. The last days of the old ship were numbered when it was purchased last November by the Bay City Scrap Company.

Biennial Spring Election Now Only 11 Days Away

Another important election is close at hand for Iosco County voters. The biennial spring election will be held Monday, April 6—just 11 days away.

Voters will be handed four ballots before entering the polling booths—the state ballot, city or township ballot, non-partisan ballot and a state referendum ballot.

At this election, city and township voters will name officers to handle local government matters for the next year.

One of the most important elections, in the light of the recent primary, is the race for circuit court judge in the 23rd judicial circuit. This contest is listed at the bottom of the non-partisan ballot.

Candidates for the bench are Allan C. Miller of Iosco County and J. Russell Hughes of Alcona County. These two men emerged as top vote-getters in the recent February primary election, which narrowed the field down from five candidates.

The successful candidate in the April 6 election will succeed Judge Herman Dehnke, who will retire at the end of the year.

Also listed on the non-partisan ballot are candidates for justice of the supreme court.

On the state ballot are listed the candidates for offices of regents of the University of Michigan, superintendent of public instruction, member of state board of education, members of the governing board of Michigan State University, members of the board of governors of Wayne State University.

On the referendum ballot are listed three proposed amendments to the state constitution.

HALE AREA NAMES HONOR STUDENTS

Charlotte Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Webb of Hale, is valedictorian of the senior class at Hale Area High School, Principal Arnold Loomis announced this week.

Charlotte has maintained a 4.0 or "A" average throughout her high school years and has been active in extra curricular activities. She was president of the student council and treasurer of the senior class. She has also participated in both the junior and senior class plays and has been a member of the high school band since the seventh grade. Charlotte plans to attend Michigan State University in the fall, majoring in secondary education.

Tied for the position of salutatorian with a 3.2 average are Sherrill Scofield and Leland Dane.

Sherrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scofield of Hale, is associate editor of the yearbook. She has been a member of the band for three years and has served as a student council representative. She plans to attend the North-eastern School of Commerce, Bay City.

Leland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dane of Long Lake, is president of both the senior class and varsity club this year. For the past four years he has been a member of the band, the Eagles baseball and basketball teams. He was also president of his freshman class. Leland plans to attend Michigan State University next fall.

Water Board Sets April 27 for Taking Bids

Tawas City Water Board set April 27 as the date for receiving bids for the new municipal sewage treatment plant. Bids are to be valid for 60 days after opening to allow time for bonds to be sold.

The water board met Monday night with Clifford Spicer, city engineer, to open bids received on replacing pumps in the Second Avenue lift station. Low bidder for the two pumps was Fairbanks-Morse, Incorporated, of Saginaw. The bid was $2,325. One other bid was received from William A. Daltee Company, Detroit, which was for $2,781.

These four-inch pumps will replace the present equipment in the station. The old lift pumps are to be incorporated in the proposed new lift station to serve the Burrell and Zaharias Subdivisions.

Spicer recommended that the new pumps not be installed in the Second Avenue station until the additions to the present sewage treatment plant are completed.

Estimated cost for extending sewer mains to serve the two new subdivisions, plus service to property owned by Herman Fahselt, was presented by Spicer. Total length of mains on this project is 5,998 feet. An estimated cost breakdown was as follows: The city's share would be $1,403 for 328 feet; Zaharias, $2,396.15 for 559 feet; Fahselt, $1,742.47 for 975 feet; and Burrell, $17,648.48 for 4,124 feet.

A discussion was held on methods of repayment of the $130,000 bond issue which voters approved in February. Further information on this is to be received from the city's bonding attorneys and will be presented at a special meeting of the board.

An analysis on the annual cost of the bond issue was presented by Spicer. A special meeting is to be called to determine the amount of millage necessary to finance the project, or if the project can be financed by increasing both millage and sewer charges.

Spring is Here—Lights Turned on for Shipping

Despite the frigid winds which blasted the area last Saturday and the cold weather Wednesday, here is a partial list of indications that spring is here:

The Tawas Point Coast Guard Station reports that its navigation lights on Tawas Bay and Sturgeon Point are now in operation.

The ice is leaving Tawas Bay, except in the bight, where large catches of perch have been reported in past days.

The heavy snow fall of the past winter is fast disappearing. In the wake of the melting ice and snow are "Chuck" holes left in roads caused by frost.

Dead Creek has come back to life, along with the Tawas River, and all streams are filled with the spring run-off of the past winter's storms.

Everything is in readiness at Port Alabaster and Port Gypsum for the start of the gypsum shipping season. April 15 is the tentative date for the arrival of the first ships, depending on ice flow conditions in Lake Huron.

Numerous sightings have been made of "first" robins to return, although some of the birds probably suffered through the winter with the "natives."

Judge Donald E. Holbrook of Clare called the court calendar for Iosco County Tuesday morning in the absence of Judge Herman Dehnke. Judge Dehnke was called to Washington, D. C., due to the illness of his daughter.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Christ Jesus' mission to reveal the true nature of God and man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Highlighting the lesson-sermon entitled "Reality" is the Golden Text from Mark (1:14,15): "Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, and saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand." Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (208:20): "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven, —the reign and rule of universal harmony, which cannot be lost nor remain forever unseen." From the Bible will be read the following (II Corinthians 4:6): "For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ."

THESE TWO Sherman Township hunters bagged a Michigan brush wolf, or coyote, about six miles west of Tawas City. At left is Austin Allen and at right is Edward Slavinski with his dog, "Pat." The two men trailed the coyote for about six hours and finally bagged the 23-pound predator after shooting at it five or six times.—Tawas Herald Photo.

What happens when the design of a printed fabric does not run true with the crosswise threads? Mrs. Nelson Provoost is one of the cotton dress workshop members who has been wrestling with this problem.

One of the things she has learned about off-grain printed fabrics is that they are not an unusual thing. Furthermore, price does not guarantee a fabric to be printed straight.

It is really quite easy to detect the fault, however, if you just take the time and trouble to examine the torn end of the fabric. Look to see if the design runs true with the crosswise threads.

How much does it matter? Well, a garment will never drape or "hang" properly unless it is cut with the straight grain of the material. If it is not printed straight, then the design will not be uniform on all parts of the garment.

If it is a small, all over design, the fact that it is not printed correctly will be quite inconspicuous. But, if the design is a large one, or a stripe, or plaid effect, then it will be conspicuous.

So, look to this when you are selecting a fabric.

Children enjoy lively dance records, like polkas and jigs. Such records stimulate their rhythmic expressions. Children enjoy folk songs, short melodic and rhythmic orchestral pieces or short selections performed on a solo instrument.

Good equipment for the child to use is important, too—the instruments, phonograph records and phonograph should have a clear, pleasant tone. Equipment that produces fuzzy, inaccurate, unpleasant sounding tones will not give the child a chance to appreciate tonal differences.

Take care when you put together the colors for your Easter ensemble. You will not want to create a spotty effect such as would result if a plain suit, maybe a black one, were accessorized with light avocado green hat, gloves, shoes, earrings and purse. A more pleasing effect would be to select the avocado green hat, earrings and gloves; then let the shoes and purse be black.

Be careful that equal or near amounts of colors are not a result. This can happen in the case of a skirt and overblouse which divide the figure almost in half. Better would be skirt and overblouse of the same color and touches of contrast in collar and cuffs.

Some like it mild, some like it nippy. Some like it cooked, some like it "as is." But American cheddar cheese pleases most folks.

When we talk gardening we are thinking close to home. I am going to stay close to home in my column this week. It is true that all kinds of records have fallen with the winter of 1956-59. The record breaking snow and ice have piled up a lot of work for many of us this spring.

James Tyson, extension turf-grass specialist at Michigan State University, shares these views with me. He says it is likely that every lawn in Michigan will suffer from the effects of the hard winter. He says we might as well get ready to begin salvage work on lawns because a lot of brownish-gray dead spots will appear when the snow and ice melts away.

Three things may have caused these dead spots—snowmold, smothering under ice sheets or salt injury. Snowmolds and smothering injuries are fairly easy to take care of but renovating a salt-damaged lawn is slow and complex.

It is not hard to tell the difference between salt-damaged areas and those where snowmolds or smothering have caused the injury. Salt-damaged areas are usually along walks and driveways where large quantities of salt were applied. There will be smothering and snowmold damage there, too, because the biggest piles of snow were at these spots. But snowmold injuries have a definite circular pattern. Salt injury is more streaked since the salt goes into solution in the melting snow and flows with it along a drainage pattern.

Smothering, a common lawn injury every year in Northern Michigan, is expected to cause severe damage all over the state this year. Heavy formation of ice causes smothering. The grass in these smothered areas may either be completely killed or only superficially killed with damage to leaves but not roots.

Snowmold is caused by fungi that grow under the snow in winter. You can see the traces of these fungi when the snow first melts. They look very much like molds that grow on bread.

By the time you see the snowmold, the damage has been done. Fungicides that control the mold need to be applied in the fall before snow falls, or at least before permanent winter snow falls. But the early, lasting snows of this past winter kept many of us from getting the fungicides applied.

If the snowmold is only superficial and the leaves are the only parts of the plant that are killed, then recovery will come fairly soon. But if the roots are killed, then reseeding will be needed. Reseed as early as possible. It might be a good idea to reseed all the brown spots rather than wait to see if they will recover. Weeds can take hold fast in uncovered spots.

Where grasses have been injured by snowmold or by smothering, here is the recommendation:

Scuff up the mat of dead material with a steel garden rake, vertical cutting mower or spiker. Mow with the lawnmower set to cut a height of one-half inch and remove all the clippings and loosened dead material. Raking, sweeping with a lawn-sweeper or attaching a catcher to the mower will take care of this job satisfactorily.

Salt damage to lawns and shrubs is not easy to handle as smothering or snowmold. Tons of it have been on sidewalks, driveways and streets this winter. This salt is dissolved in the water from melting snow and ice and in rain water and moves with this water as it runs over the surface and drains into the soil. Most of it will run into catch basins and be carried away.

But there will be lawn areas and shrubs and flower beds where excess salt will accumulate and when the concentration gets too high it will severely injure the plants. In some cases, plants may be killed.

The only way to remedy the damage from the excess salt in the soil is to leach it out. It may seem that putting enough water on the soil would wash away the salt. This is partly true. But part of the salt is absorbed by the clay particles in the soil. The result is a puddled soil that prevents the free movement of water down through it.

To overcome this condition, you can mix a soluble calcium material in the soil. Gypsum is the best material for this purpose. It will flocculate the clay particles and produce a well granulated soil that will allow water to move through it and wash away the salt.

Mix the gypsum into the top four to six inches of soil in the salt-affected areas. Use about two pounds per 10 square feet of area. Allow the soil to dry and then apply water with a fine mist sprinkler until the soil is saturated and water begins to stand where ground is level or run off where it is sloping. Repeat drying and watering six to 10 times depending on how severe the salt injury is.

After you have done this, make trial plantings in the lawn and of annuals in the flower and shrub beds. If a perennial has been killed by the salt in the soil, do not risk replanting until trials with annuals have shown the soil to be safe.

Manure, sawdust or peat worked into the soil will help to overcome the detrimental effects of salt in the soil when the salt concentration is not too high. Mix a layer of two to three inches of the organic material with the upper six inches of soil.

Sometimes the injury to the shrubs near the street may be due to the salt solution splashing on the branches or foliage and not to an accumulation in the soil. If this is the case, then all that is needed is to prune out the dead branches.

Participates in Annual Convention of Broadcasters

Donald E. Watson, manager of WIOS-Radio, was among the leaders of the American broadcasting industry participating in the 37th annual convention of the National Association of Broadcasters held in Chicago March 15-18. He participated in meetings that featured addresses and discussions by Chairman John C. Doerfer of the Federal Communications Commission and other FCC commissioners; Robert W. Sarnoff, chairman of the board, National Broadcasting Company; Lt. Gen. Arthur Trudeau, chief of research and development, United States Army, and Harold E. Fellows, president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Together with other broadcasters all across the country, Mr. Watson considered opportunities for broadcasting industry leadership in tackling vital national and community needs, the present state of the economy and space developments in communications. Other topics discussed included editorializing on the air, trends in programming and the outlook for continued development of radio and television broadcasting.

Entertainers appearing at the convention were Roberta Peters, Dennis Day and Peewee Hunt.

by CHET MAHER, Manager

MICHIGAN GETS A GOING OVER these days! We bulldoze away its hills, dig trenches through its meadows and bore deep down into it. Doesn't seem to mind at all either, but not so our phone conversations and TV programs. Sometimes these come to a complete halt. And all because the underground cables that carry them have been accidentally cut by the excavations. There's an easy way to prevent this from happening and it saves a great deal of inconvenience. If you have some big digging to do, call us first—at our cost. We'll make sure that our cables won't get in your way.

ON THE DIXIE highway, just north of Pontiac, there's an experimental phone booth. It's a test tryout of a new concept in phoning—drive-in or, more exactly, drive-up-to phoning. You drive up to the little booth, stop your car and simply reach out for the telephone. Then you phone away to your heart's content. (Provided you have the dimes, of course.) When the design is perfected, these booths will become general.

HOW WILL YOU spend Easter Sunday? Whatever you decide on, you'll probably do it with your loved ones, for Easter belongs to the family. But perhaps one or two of your family will be out of town—never mind—you can still be with them, by Long Distance. The bargain evening rates expect to have Miss Amalie Vassold here from Michigan State University to share with you her ideas and experience in working on demonstrations with 4-H Club members all over Michigan.

Why not start right now to think through the kind of demonstration you will do and begin to collect information and illustrative material for it. The more ideas you have ready in April the more help you will have as a result of the workshop meeting. Let me know if I can help you begin your planning.

From Kathy Dodson we learn that their handicraft (weaving) project has held three meetings. At the second meeting, sanding the wood parts of stools was finished off by gluing them together. At the third meeting the stools were "warped" ready for the weaving process. One member, Ronald Wright, is caning a chair.

These young people will be among those with projects completed and reports sent to the extension office well ahead of June 1.

We suggest every project aim to be completed and reports prepared by this same June 1 date. If this happens, no one will be dashing around like mad trying to finish up before the achievement day exhibits are made on June 3 and 4.

Have you circled your 4-H calendar to show that these dates of June 3 and 4 are for our county 4-H achievement event?

Ways to raise money were discussed at the March meeting of Peaceful Valley 4-H Club. Suggestions included a square dance and cake walk.

Games and refreshments concluded the meeting held at the John Wehrman residence on March 3.

All of us are wondering what has happened to the 4-H reporters in Reno Topnotchers, Sherman Sharpies and Hale Happy Hustlers 4-H Clubs.

According to an announcement by Alice R. Dimmick, clerk, Michigan Local Board No. 36, Selective Service System, the March 9 induction call for Isosco County was filled by Gerald J. Thomas, who volunteered.

The March 24 preinduction physical examination call is for one man, and another volunteer, Fredrick E. Caverly, is being sent to Detroit.

Calls for April are for one to be inducted and two to receive their physical examination. Names will be released later.

Plain talk to the man who thinks "all cars are built alike today"

The one thing we know car buyers want above all in an automobile is quality. Yet many people assume that all cars today are pretty much the same in this respect.

This is far from being the case. I can name at least 30 basic differences in the design of our '59 Mercury. Naturally, we feel these differences make Mercury a better car. For example:

EXTRA STRENGTH STARTS WITH THE FRAME
The backbone of every Mercury is the frame. We use a heavy box-type construction—the heaviest in the industry. Competitors use frames that are up to 125 pounds lighter.

WE BUILD QUALITY YOU CAN SEE
Compare the way Mercury builds engine hoods. Most competitive cars use what is known as a single-panel construction. This type of hood can be twisted and turned with the slightest pressure—often flutters and vibrates when the car is in motion. At Mercury, on the other hand, we use a double-panel construction—two layers of steel with the insulation sandwiched in between. Not only is Mercury's hood more rigid, but it looks better.

YOU FEEL THE QUALITY WITH EVERY STOP...
Mercury brakes are the largest in the field—with up to 22% more brake lining than competitive cars. And only Mercury in its field has brakes that adjust themselves mechanically. You save money by eliminating periodic adjustments. And you are safer because Mercury brakes stay properly adjusted for the life of the linings.

...AND EVERY TIME YOU TAKE THE WHEEL
All 1959 Mercurys have a flexible coupling installed in the steering system.

This acts as an insulator—absorbs road shocks that would otherwise travel up to the steering wheel. Mercury, unlike some cars, gives you this with either manual or power steering.

WE HAVE PLENTY OF PROOF THAT THIS IS THE BEST-BUILT CAR IN AMERICA TODAY
We know it is the greatest Mercury ever designed and built. Never in Mercury's 20-year history have we had so much value in the product itself. Mercury has advantages everywhere over competition. The four described on this page are only typical. In future messages I'll tell you about dozens more—in styling, comfort, in everything you want in a car.
