THE EDITOR'S VIEWPOINT—

Tawas City Scouts Need Help-

Tawas City may be without a boy scout troop soon if a new scoutmaster for the organization is not located. The troop has not met since the first week in October and has been without a leader for nearly five months, due to the resignation of Frank Mark. Mr. Mark carried most of the load for some time and, because of his own work, was unable to devote any more time to the organization.

Mr. Mark and members of the Jesse C. Hodder American Legion Post, who have devoted much time to this organization, deserve a vote of thanks from parents and other adults of this community for their work with the troop. In this time of crisis for the organization, more adults should be willing to shoulder their share of the responsibility to the community's youth.

A meeting will be held Thursday night, January 7, at the Legion Hall to select a new scoutmaster. As of this date, all attempts to secure a replacement have been to no avail and the organization faces the prospect of disbanding. All parents and anyone interested in the scout movement are urged to attend this meeting.

Everyone realizes the need for such an organization. The boys and the scout movement are deserving of everyone's attention and wholehearted support.

A compass was standard equipthe ice on Tawas Bay Christmas week-end to fish for perch and northern pike. The fog was thick and the days were overcast with scattered showers to make the fishing a little uncomfortable.

The fishing was spotty with a Calendar of events: few "yellow perch" being taken on minnows or Russian hooks and the Settlements, Reno Township Hall, pike were caught using tip-ups 8:00 p. m. with large minnows or chubs for Many fishermen were trying out their Christmas gifts, ice augers, tip-ups, portable shanties, hand warmers, insulated boots and ice fishing sleds.

Resident fishing license sales dropped from 878,668 in 1954 to an estimated 750,000 in 1959. Trout stamp sales were also on the decline and have skidded from 234,-000 in 1956 to 190,000 during 1959.

A reminder if you are planning to fish for rainbow trout after January 1 in the specially designated waters in Michigan you will need a 1960 fishing license and a new trout stamp.

At this time of the year, it would be a real good idea if we all made a few extra New Year's resolutions for the coming year. One of the best resolutions any sportsman could make would be "to promote the conservation of our resources, wildlife and whether you are hunt-true sportsman." As it was once quoted by an outdoorsman and we believe it has lots of merit, "Take a boy fishing and you will never have to hunt for

Michigan's snowshoe hare, a victim of population "ups" and "downs," is bouncing back from his cyclic low of recent years. Conservation Department field men report northern Michigan's snowshoe population is above last winter when hunters killed 313,000 hares. This was the highest kill figure since the winter of 1954-55. Now that many hunters have swung their attention his way, the satchel-footed hare will take full advantage of his winter-white coat to evade these pursuers. His seasonal camou-flage also helps the snowshoe to hide from many swampland ho gets the most attention in any family? No question about it—the "littlest" one of all. For who can resist a baby, cute and cuddly and completely dependent on us for care and affection. Perhaps that's why baby things have long been favorites with needleworkers. For these talented ladies who knit and crochet realize that one of the easiest ways to express their love for the little ones in their families is with beautiful hand-

BABY AFGHAN

That's why I'm sure so many of you mothers, grandmothers and aunts will enjoy fashioning the lovely knitted crib and carriage afghan we're featuring today. Although baby's still bound to receive the lion's share of the compliments when you take him walking, we're willing to bet that this truly handsome cover will attract some attention on its own. For the pattern's really unique—a reversible cable with moss stitch border. Knit of nylon and wool yarn, using large needles for extra speed, this is a fast and simple pattern for even the inexperienced knitter. Yet the result is a cover with the distinctive handmade look that a special baby-and what baby isn't special-

SHOWER SUGGESTION

Even if there are no babies in your family, you might want to make this afghan and save it for the inevitable day when a baby shower invitation arrives. Any mother-to-be would be thrilled to receive such a lovely and practical gift and you'd be spared the last minute hustle and bustle that invitations sometimes involve.
