Brothers Win Top Scouting Award

Three brothers were awarded one of scouting's highest awards, the God and Country Medal, during impressive ceremonies Sunday morning at the First Methodist Church, East Tawas.

Receiving the award were Leigh H., Donald W. and Douglas A. Evans, sons of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Evans, 500 West Bay Street. The boys were presented to the pastor, the Rev. Ralph Edwards, by Robert Marx, scoutmaster of Troop 111, and John Hosbach, former explorer post advisor.

Assisting in the presentation of the award were Judge Allan C. Miller, chairman, and Wesley Quandt, scout executive of the Timberland District of the Paul Bunyan Company.

Other distinguished guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Serge Thomsson of Hale and John Austin, scoutmaster of the Tawas City troop.

Christian and American flags were carried in the processional by Scouts Ben and Terry Schanbeck. Scouts of both East Tawas and Tawas City troops took part.

Others taking part in the service were Mrs. Alden Phelps, choir director; Mrs. Harold Wiley, organist; Debbie DeRosia and Cheryl Marsh, candle lighters. Ushers were James and Herbert Boldt, Timothy Lappin, Charles Miller and Patrick Mulholland.

Representatives of the five class B schools stated they intended to form a new class B league, with Oscoda Area School mentioned as a possible member in a six-team loop. At present, Oscoda is a member of the Huron Straits League.

Reorganization of the NEM Conference had been proposed by the larger schools for several years, but the complete withdrawal of class B members came as a complete surprise to the other members.

The five class B schools were represented by the following superintendents: Reynold Mick, Tawas Area; P. A. Wickstrom, Pinconning; Eugene Spencer, Standish-Sterling; Chester Surline, West Branch; and Robert Gravelle, Gladwin.

It was stated that the new B loop would probably remain at six teams as originally planned. This would allow three non-conference football games and eight non-conference basketball games between "natural rivals."

It has been suggested that a two-thirds vote of the schools be required to allow additional members in the new league and the same majority vote to change the new constitution.

With Oscoda mentioned as a possible sixth member of the new league, it may mean that sports competition between Oscoda and Tawas will again be resumed. Tawas Area was forced to drop Oscoda from its schedule last season because of its commitment in the 10-team NEM loop.

Tawas, Four Other 'B' Schools, Leave NEM

The five class B schools of the Northeastern Michigan Conference have withdrawn from the 10-school loop effective at the end of the 1961-62 schedule.

This surprise announcement was made at a meeting of conference superintendents Tuesday afternoon at West Branch.

A prepared statement of withdrawal from the NEM was presented by representatives of Tawas, Pinconning, Gladwin, Standish-Sterling and West Branch schools.

The two schools had participated in sports on a home-and-home basis for many years, but when Tawas was admitted to the NEM, it could no longer schedule "outside" games. The only exception was in 1959 when the two schools met on the gridiron.

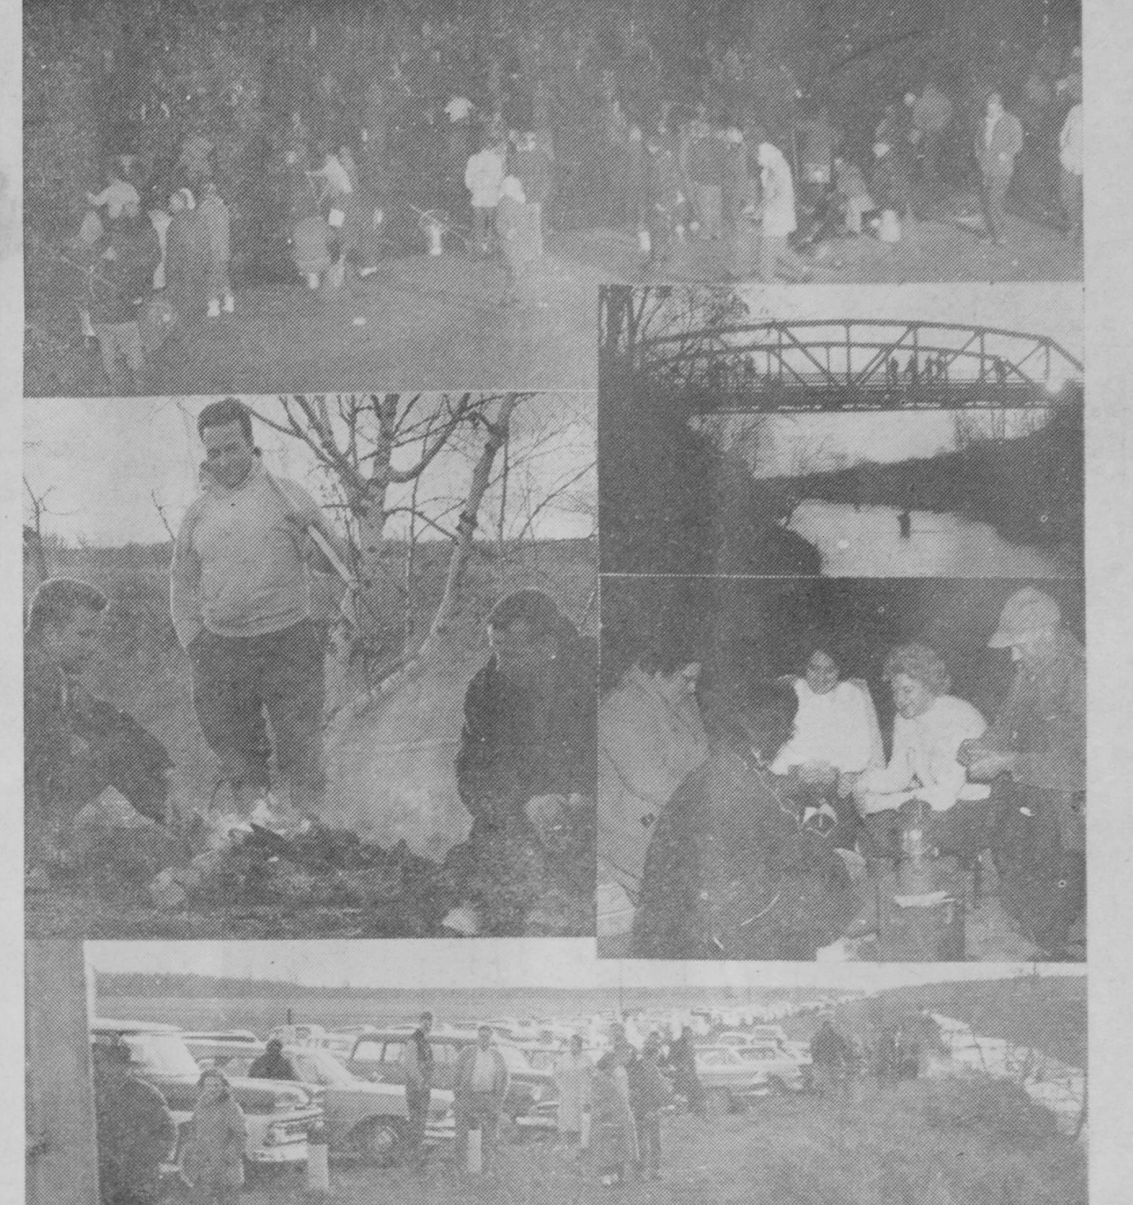

Tawas also hopes to retain its schedule with Whittemore-Prescott Area School.

Omer, an employee of Jefferson Trucking Company, discovered the accident.

He was rushed to Standish hospital and later transferred to Mercy Hospital where he died at 11:00 a. m. Monday.

Born at his family's home on Plank Road, Tawas City, May 5, 1937, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wellna. Mrs. Wellna is deceased.

A 1956 graduate of Tawas Area High School, Wellna served in the United States Army for three years.

THOUSANDS of persons jammed the banks of the Whitney Drain and Tawas River mouth Friday and Saturday nights in the quest for smelt, as pictured at top, but most returned home bleary-eyed and empty-handed. The setting sun Saturday saw a few fishermen trying their luck by wading in the stream, while others watched from atop the "Singing Bridge," pictured at right. After waiting long hours, standing around smoking bonfires, as pictured at center left, or engaging in a friendly game of euchre, pictured at center right, most fishermen called it quits and returned home. The view at bottom looks down Turner Road as hundreds of cars jammed that area. Parking lots, at 50-cents-a-car, did a landoffice business for three nights near the drain. As for a tub or bushel basket filled with smelt, traditional sign that the "run is on," the photographer, like the fishermen, never found one.—Herald Photos.

Whittemore Man Dies of Auto Crash Injuries

A 23-year-old Whittemore man died Monday morning at Mercy Hospital, Bay City, as the result of injuries received in an auto accident Tuesday evening on M-65 south of Whittemore.

Dead is Charles Leo Wellna, married and the father of an 18-month-old daughter. He was employed as a welder by Jackson and Church Steel Company, Au Gres.

Wellna received fatal injuries when his car dropped off the pavement on the left side of a curve, swerved to the right and then rolled over.

Sheriff Edward Bessinger of Standish, whose department investigated the accident, said that Wellna was thrown from the car by its rolling impact.

His body was found lodged on a limb of a tree, about 12-15 feet above ground level. A passing truck driver, Percy Poole of

AuSable Marathon Shorter by 80 Miles; Still Grueling

"Michigan's AuSable River Canoe Marathon may be 80 miles shorter this year, but it will still separate the men from the boys."

This was the word today from Sy Goebel, Oscoda building contractor, who heads up the committee in charge of the annual race to decide the world's championship team in canoe racing.

It was also decided to select a new date and, instead of the usual Labor Day week-end race, the marathon will start at 8:30 a. m. Saturday, August 19, at Mio.

Prizes will remain the same as last year, $3,050 in all, and officials hope that the marathon will be "sweetened" with a larger field of competitors than in recent past years.

"With the same prize money on tap and a much shorter, less-grueling course, there should be a lot more interest this year," said Goebel.

One Way to 'Warn' Traspassers

A property owner along one side of Whitney Drain, who apparently dislikes trespassers, was cautioned by state police to refrain from using his unique method of "property protection."

After receiving several complaints from smelt fishermen Friday night, investigating officers found a 220-volt electrical power line hooked up to the property owner's wire fence. Police ordered immediate removal.

The officers said that wet boots and clothing worn by the "smelters," coupled with the rain-soaked ground, could have proven to be a fatal warning to some unsuspecting fisherman.

In fact, said officers, it is a wonder that any of the fishermen were still around to make a complaint after touching the "hot" fence.

SCHOOL SAYS IT DOES NOT SPONSOR 'MAY BREAKFAST'

That Tawas Area High School does not sponsor, approve or furnish chaperones for a "May morning breakfast" was emphasized today by Principal Ernest Jordan.

Jordan said that any so-called "breakfast" has no connection with school activities and will be treated as such. He said he was making the announcement beforehand, in order that parents might be prepared.

Daffy Doings When Smelt Decide to 'Run'

It is that time of year again when people go a little daffy over a slippery little fish called smelt.

When "Dame Mother Nature" deems it is time to repopulate her waters, countless millions of smelt answer the call with a spawning migration which defies imagination.

Hordes of the little fish turn tail on the Great Lakes and head for spawning beds of every stream river or navigable ditch which empties into the lakes.

This migration has a profound effect on countless thousands of Michiganians, who turn out to impede the progress of the smelt.

Armed with dip nets of every size and shape—and outfitted in a multitude of costumes which defy description—these fishermen brave cold and rain in their quest for smelt.

Streams—large and small—are guarded by net-toting fishermen. They stand long hours in vigilance (sometimes boisterous), interrupted on occasion by a false start of "the run's on."

Millions of gallons of water are "strained" each year by the fishermen, much to no avail, as the smelt do not announce the day or hour when they are going to head upstream.

It was that way last week-end at the Whitney Drain south of the Iosco-Arenac County line and at the Tawas River mouth in Tawas City.

Fishermen nearly outnumbered the number of smelt which were netted.

Judge Issues Decree in Tawas Golf Club Suit

Action of Iosco County Circuit Court has paved the way for reopening of the Tawas Golf Club on Monument Road, but ownership of the property may not be firmly established until May or June.

Ownership of this property has been in question since late last summer.

A decree was entered Saturday by Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller in which Howard C. Dietzel was ordered to assign and transfer to Alvin Zaharias the class C and SDM liquor license at Tawas Golf Club, subject to approval of the state liquor control commission.

Mr. Dietzel may redeem the premises, including liquor licenses, by paying $62,188.66 to Zaharias before May 2. This amount represents the balance of the principal and interest owed.

Upon failure to pay, Judge Miller ordered that the golf club property, along with liquor licenses, be sold at public sale in open court here June 12. All

Iosco County Equalized Valuation Hits New High

Iosco County's valuation was equalized at $54,118,020 as the board of supervisors concluded its seven-day April session last Wednesday.

Individual supervisors had brought in a total assessed valuation for the county of $24,518,860. An average of 45 percent was added to this in order to equalize at 100 percent of the state figure.

The board adopted a budget of $229,570.65 for county operation during fiscal 1961. This was an increase of $63,238.65 over last year's budget.

This year's budget saw an increased allocation for every department in the county except prosecuting attorney, which receives $8,480.

The treasurer's budget was increased from $13,317 to $15,968.50; clerk's from $12,700 to $13,211; probate judge from $9,440 to $12,000; regional library from $6,000 to $9,000.

partment saw a slight increase from $43,140 to $43,588. Actual expenditure of the sheriff's department during 1960 was $32,000.

In other business, the board authorized a proposed lease with an option to purchase the Robert Short residence located adjacent to the county building. The building and property would be used to house a county library, offices and storage space and to provide off-street parking space.

The board passed a resolution pertaining gill net fishing at the outer rim of Tawas Bay. It stated that type of commercial fishing is a detriment to rod and reel fishing as well as presenting a hazard to boat navigation. Copies of the resolution were sent to State Senator Charles T. Prescott and State Representative James P. Mielock.

The board approved a motion by Clarence Everett to proceed with securing an option on the proposed site selection for a county medical care facility.

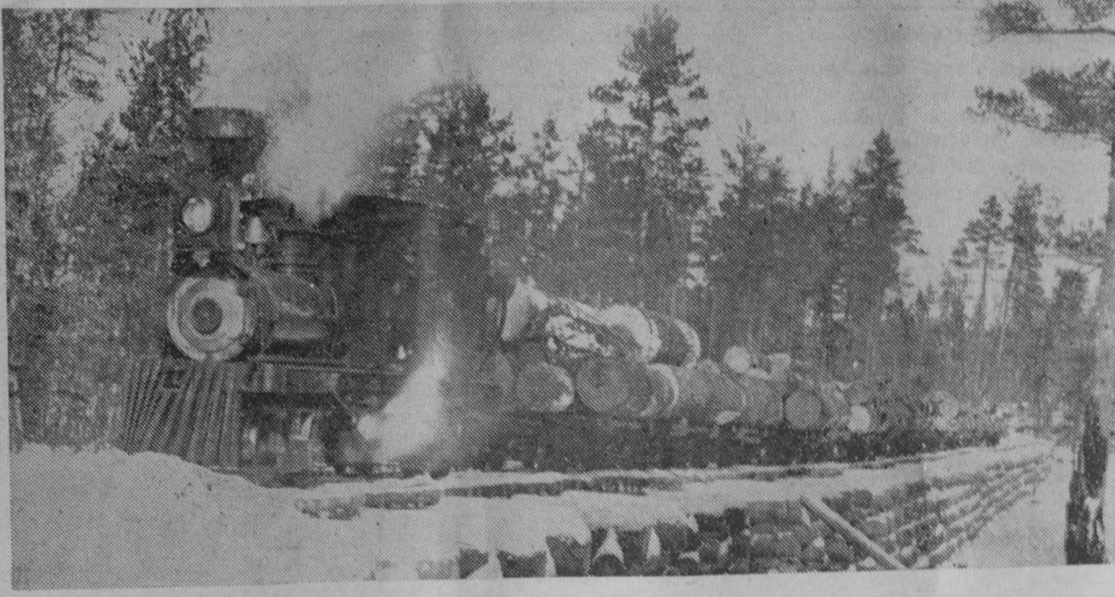

Fred Brabant and Nelson E. Thornton were named to succeed themselves as this county's representatives on the Iosco-Arenac Regional Library Board.

IOSCO COUNTY has secured a lease, with option to purchase, the Robert Short property located adjacent to the county jail in Tawas City. The building, pictured above, will be used for office and storage space and may possibly be used as quarters for the Iosco-Arenac Regional Library. The property will also be used for off-street parking. A special fund for financing the transaction was established last week by the board of supervisors. Money for this purchase is being transferred from receipts from Old Orchard Park, operated by the county, and sale of the county airport, which was sold last week to Ralph Meyers of East Tawas. The house is one of this community's landmarks. It was constructed by the late Frank Whittemore, a member of this county's founding family.—Tawas Herald Photo.

The baseball game which was scheduled for Tuesday afternoon between Tawas Area and Pinconning was postponed due to wet grounds at the latter's home field. This game is to be rescheduled sometime next month.

THIS LOGGING ROAD was part of the Potts Logging Railway Company and originally ran from the North Branch of the AuSable River to Oscoda County. It was organized in 1887 and later was extended from AuSable to McKinley. In 1891, it became part of the AuSable and Northwestern Railroad and eventually part of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway. The narrow gauge train in the picture ran to one of the AuSable River banking grounds.—Joseph Barkman Collection.

responsible there for 201 deaths in the five days prior to July 6.

This was a good time to escape the city heat and Burt Dwyer, a Detroit policeman, took a fishing vacation in Oscoda with his brother-in-law, Peter MacPhail.

Pete worked as lumber inspector and scaler for the Loud Company. He planned his vacation (his first in years) to coincide with Burt's, but Tuesday, the steamship, Niko, arrived. So, instead of going fishing, Pete went to the lumber docks to tabulate the lumber being loaded.

It was a hot, dry day. Old smoldering stumps caused smoke in the western sky. There had been brush fires for several days—nothing important.

Although on Sunday the new turrettine factory west of town had been threatened, by Tuesday this was forgotten.

Will MacGillivray, editor of The Press and survivor of the Featherly wars, decided this day would be a better day for working on the house than working inside the printing shop.

To Charlie Hennigar, one time boom boy, this was just another hot July day to be spent in his blacksmith shop. To Harry McComb, seaman on the Niko, it was a "helluva hot Tuesday" to be working in the hold—loading lumber.

About 3:00 p. m., plains winds from the west fanned the dead brush fires into flames and fired the Archer home to the west of the towns and behind the Catholic cemetery. The fire department, under Eugene Thompson, was alerted, and Hennigar left his shop to fire the boilers at the old Pack pump for pressure.

The fire advanced eastward, driving cattle and other farm animals before it towards the towns. It picked up momentum on "Loud Island" when it raced through the cedar yards.

At this point, it was still neglected and unnoticed by most of the townsfolk.

The fire divided at "Piety Hill" where the river held it back; to the north it swept across the river to "Smith Island," and to the south it crossed the bayou fronting the "Little Mill."

This work of the fire enveloped the AuSable and Northwestern Railway Freight Office, where a large keg of gasoline burst, spreading flame in all directions.

The mills closed, too late, to let the workers fight the fire. And even then, some men slipped off thinking the fire another brush fire and this a good time to take care of a chore or two at home.

To the north of "Piety Hill" as the fire swept Smith Island, Christian Yockey, Hennigar and others pulled the hose from the Pack pump house toward the blaze in an effort to save the old Tanner Mill which had become the canning factory.

Flames circled behind them and burned the hose; they "were lucky to escape with their lives behind the protection of the bayou."

While nothing was saved on Smith Island, the old meander fenced the fire in and it burned itself out. Meanwhile, the southern fork of the fire rushed through the Little Mill and into the Loud Company wood yards.

Hemlock bark from the slab piles gave the fire a new intensity.

Those escaping down the river said the intensity of the flames made the river water tepid and fish actually surfaced and died. The boiling flames from the wood yards generated heat so that across the river, the siding of one Piety Hill home warped itself free and burst into flame.

From the time of the explosion at the AS&NW freight office, minor fires broke out all over Oscoda. The pump for the new Band Mill at the bridge between the towns was put into operation, but as the fire advancing through the woodyards bore down on it, the bridge collapsed and the water was pumped uselessly into the river.

The fire did not even lose momentum as it reached the river, but crossed and raced into Oscoda's business district near the present-day Welcome Hotel.

MacGillivray, standing on a ladder, poked his head over the roof line and saw the southern end of town was a wall of flame; he dropped from the ladder to warn others. Some paid little attention until he shouted that it was "another Metz."

MacPhail had left the dock when the fire was first noticed. He was given a crew of men and a hose to play water on the Oscoda side of the river. When the fire crossed. Ed Loud told the men to run home and salvage what they could, they were no longer of use where they were.

MacPhail ran home to warn his parents, only to find his home burned and his parents nowhere in sight.

The fire turned north; raced down the business district, completed the surrounding of Piety Hill where Yockey and his firefighters retreated and forced the rest of the population towards the beaches and the steamboat docks.

Yockey took charge of those still fighting the fire. With the pump gone, they continued to fight with axes and pails which they filled from the hand-pump at Hennigar's home.

They fought through the night saving several blocks of homes and the school building. MacPhail headed for the lake, looking for his parents. Napoleon Lavoie came down the lake shore in his fishing boat; MacPhail jumped in and together they headed for the steamboat dock.

From the hold of the Niko, McComb heard yells of fire as flames reached the dock. Capt. Ralph D. Meyers took his place on the bridge. He ordered the engineer to blow the whistle, then ordered everyone on board.

The ship remained at the dock as long as possible. While people crowded on board, the tramway between the dock and the lake burned and fell into the water.

The flames reached the dock itself while Lavoie and MacPhail pulled alongside the steamboat in the fishing yawl. For the Niko to remain any longer meant its destruction. The spiles bracing the dock raised from the water level eight to 10 feet in height and were slick and slippery from water wear. Yet, MacPhail shinned up one, threw off the lines holding the Niko and jumped back into Lavoie's boat.

The two followed the Niko out to sea for close to a mile before a line was dropped to them. Boarding the Niko from the fishing boat was very hazardous, for the same winds which fanned the fires through town now buffeted them at sea and the Niko, being only partly loaded, rode high in the water.

MacPhail wished at this point he had remained on shore, but he and Lavoie secured a tow-line to the fishing boat and were

AuSable Lumber Industry Declines

By JAMES COLBY

Before 1896, hints came of the decline in Oscoda-AuSable's lumber industry.

"Slaughter sales" and going-out-of-business sales were common. Featherly wrote a poem, "When the Mills Shut Down," taunting Grover and Adlai for a log mix-up by the boom companies. They were still laughing, but lean years were coming.

Some mills closed down, others, like the Penoyer Brothers, moved operations, following the pine west or north.

Surviving mills switched to hemlock and hardwoods. Loud Company ran railroad spurs clear to the center of the state to get all the timber possible. Pulpwood cuttings and deadheading helped relieve the slack.

In June 1911, a huckleberry canning factory was attempted in the empty Tanner Mill. However, townspeople were more interested in homecomings than canning factories and pulpwood.

The 1906 homecoming attracted 2,000 spectators to a birling match. Approximately three times as many people attended this homecoming as attended the 1948 centennial. Thirteen states and provinces were noted in the homecoming register.

The 1906 homecoming indicated the towns now looked backward rather than forward. A birling match, even on a hemlock log, inspired more interest than the prospect of picking huckleberries for a canning factory.

The optimism of the eighties and nineties was gone. But there were still fish in Lake Huron and the mills still cut 50 million feet a year. Lumbering practices were now not as wasteful, and, with the use of railroad spurs to inland areas beyond the reach of AuSable tributaries, some thought of lumbering would go on indefinitely.

July 1911 was hot. Highs recorded by Port Huron July 2 through July 11 were 99, 101, 82, 100, 77, 75, 84, 93, 89 and 94 degrees. The July 6 Times Herald displayed a front page cartoon showing a citizen knocking on the gates of hell pleading, "I'm looking for a cool spot." The devil benignly answered, "Come in quick and close the door." Chicago had no sense of humor on the subject; heat was held re-

LEGION AND AUXILIARY ENJOY SUPPER WEDNESDAY

Glen Staley Post No. 422, American Legion, and its ladies auxiliary enjoyed a pot-luck supper Wednesday evening, April 19, at the post home in Hale. Following the supper, post and auxiliary members held separate business meetings.

Post members voted to act as a sponsoring organization for the elder citizens group which is being formed at Hale. Plans were also made and a committee named to do some interior building repair in preparation for spring cleaning.

Memorial Day services were discussed and initial plans and committee members chosen to assist in the day's program.

The auxiliary made plans to show a film, "Communism on the Map," at the Plainfield Community Building Friday evening, May 5. The public is urged to attend this event.

Winners of the Americanism essay contest conducted at Hale Area School, sponsored by the auxiliary, were: Linda Wyatt, Linda Chrvia and Pat Smith. These young ladies will receive their awards at the May meeting of the auxiliary.

Candidate chosen to attend Girls' State was Caroline Webster with Joane Brindley as her alternate.

Mrs. Norman Finney gave a fine paper, "Home Preparedness in Case of Enemy Attack," giving a list of necessary articles to have in readiness and where safety was most apt to be found when a regular shelter was not available.

Mrs. Neil Bell and Mrs. Donald Goodrow presented readings and material on Pan-American studies. The country for this year is Chile. Mrs. Goodrow showed a doll, made by Hale Girl Scout Troop, dressed as a girl from Chile and also showed maps of Chile made by the scouts.

Mrs. Robert Pember reported that the brownie scouts are to begin their spring program on Monday, April 24.

The scouts and brownies are sponsored by Glen Staley American Legion Auxiliary.

The auxiliary is participating in National Library Week, by serving tea at the local library on Saturday. Mrs. Frank Wells and Mrs. Richard Parish will be in charge of the tea.

Groundwork plans were made for poppy day sales and other summer activities.

30 ATTEND HALE ELDER CITIZENS MEETING

Thirty of Hale's elder citizens met at the American Legion Building Thursday, April 20, to hear legislative reports from the committee on problems of elder citizens and what is being done in this field. This report was given by Robert Pember, who is on the county committee for these problems. He stated that although some measures had been tabled for the time being, much work is being done to continue legislation on this problem.

The group chose as its title, "Golden Age Club," with the motto, "Have elder people enjoy helping older people have another nice day."

The group chose Glen Paton, Mrs. Arlon VanHouten, John Webb, Richard Parish and Mr. Pember as a steering committee to assist in making plans for future club activities.

Marvin Davenport and Miss Dorothy Scott from Iosco County Extension Service gave a report on the preparations for the May 4 spring festival to be staged at the Plainfield Community Building. Elder citizens who have hand-work or hobbies that they would like to display at this spring festival may contact Mr. Pember, not later than April 28, in order that the committee may plan display facilities.

The program will begin at 10:30 a. m. and go on throughout the day. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Next official meeting of the Golden Age Club will be Thursday, May 18, 1:30 p. m., at the American Legion Building.

Glen Staley Post No. 422, American Legion, is the sponsoring organization of this group.

FIRE THREATENS LONG LAKE PROPERTY

A rubbish and grass fire which nearly got out of control Thursday threatened several residences and business places at Long Lake. Due to the quick action of John VanPatten, the South Branch and Plainfield Fire Departments, only grass, brush and a small out building were burned. Residents are grateful to all who assisted.

This is the time of year when there is great danger in this type of fire and everyone is urged to use great precaution at all times. It is becoming more apparent each day that more and better protection against fire is needed in outlying communities and much study is being made to meet this need.

Several members of the Hale Lions Club were guests of the East Tawas Lions Club Tuesday, April 25. The Hale group turned in over 400 pair of glasses toward

Forest Fire Toll Ahead of Last Season's Record Low

Michigan's hopes for another record season in forest fire control went up in a puff of smoke during the week ending April 16.

The week-end's assortment of pounding rains and blanketing snow came too late to check fires which rampaged through 1,215 acres during the April 10-16 period. As a result, the state's 1961 fire toll rose to 3,084 acres, some 100 acres above last year's all-time low.

Equally disturbing as this year's high acreage figure is the acreage rate per fire. To date, 295 fires have damaged more acreage than the 1960 year-end total of 517.

Last week's biggest losses occurred in the northern two-thirds of the state. Nearly 915 acres burned in the northern Lower Peninsula while 280 acres were damaged in the Upper Peninsula. Only 20 acres burned in the southern Lower Peninsula, all in the Jackson district.

Bill Discouraging Pirating of Industry Introduced in House

A bill to discourage the "pirating" of industry from one part of the nation to another was introduced last week by Congressman Robert P. Griffin of Michigan. He said the bill is designed to close a federal tax loophole which is being used by some states to lure industry away from other states.

Under present laws, the interest on municipal bonds is exempt from federal income taxes. Congressman Griffin says this exemption is justified so long as municipal bonds are issued for a public or governmental purpose.

"However, when tax-free municipal bonds are issued to build a new plant for a private industrial corporation, then the law is being abused. This loophole should be closed," Griffin said.

Griffin's bill would discourage the future use of municipal bonds for this purpose by prohibiting a company from deducting, for income tax purposes, the rental paid on an industrial plant financed with municipal bonds.

There are now an estimated 15 states which permit local municipalities to issue bonds for financing industrial development. Most of them are in the South and are thriving on the exemption provided by the present federal tax law.

In Michigan and in most other states, a local municipality cannot issue bonds except for a public or governmental purpose.

Tawas City Man Heads Alpena Knights Templar

A Tawas City man was honored this week by being named to head 170 Northeastern Michigan members of the Knights Templar branch of York Rite Masonry.

Byron Brooks was installed as eminent commander of Alpena Commandry No. 34 during public installation ceremonies Saturday night at the Alpena Masonic Temple.

Mr. Brooks was installed by Judge Edward S. Piggins, Detroit, deputy grand commander of the Michigan Grand Commandry.

In attendance were Joseph L. Hunter, Beaverton, and Raymond L. Douglas, Alpena, both past grand masters of Michigan.

Mr. Brooks, who is also a 32nd degree Mason in Scottish Rite, is a past master of Tawas City Lodge No. 302, F and AM, past excellent high priest of Iosco Chapter No. 83 and had served as junior warden and generalissimo of Alpena Commandry.

The Alpena Commandry comprises the area between Rogers City and the Tawas and as far west as Luzerne.

Charitable functions of the Knights Templar organization is devoted to aiding blind persons and in Michigan, it sponsors the Starr Commonwealth for Boys.

Attending the installation ceremonies from here were Mrs. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. John Newberry, John Schreiber, Clarence Froyd, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Herriman, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Herriman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rollin, Mr. and Mrs. George Digby, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gaines, Mr. and Mrs. William Creamer, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Miller, Fred S. Brooks, Fred Brest and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davenport.

Those from Oscoda who attended included Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fralick, Mr. and Mrs. George Fuhrman, John Colberg and William Gillmore. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Westfall of Harrisville were also present.

17 Teams Make Application for NEM League

Northeastern Michigan's oldest baseball organization, the Northeastern Michigan League, has growing pains!

At last Thursday evening's organization meeting held at Standish, 17 teams made application for membership. Last year, there were 13 clubs in action. New clubs are being entered this year from Beaver, Standish, Comins and Oscoda. Last year's group consisted of the following clubs: American division — Beaverton, Crump, Rhodes, Sterling, White Star and Worth; national division — Hale, Prescott, East Tawas, Melita, West Branch, Skidway Lake, Tawas City.

All clubs were officially presented.

Beaver and Standish have been added to the American division to make an eight club circuit. It is rumored that Twining may come through with a club, but this has not been verified. Comins and Oscoda bring the national division into a nine league circuit.

The schedule for the national division has been drawn up, but is being held for approval until April 27 when the clubs will again meet in Standish to definitely determine the schedules, list of players and umpires and expense fees.

Fred Jones of Prescott was again elected president of the league for 1962; Clare Herriman, Tawas City, vice president, and Floyd E. Perlberg, Standish, secretary-treasurer.

The tentative date for the opening of the league will be April 30 for the national division and May 7 for the American. In event an additional team should join up in the American group, it will also advance its opening date to April 30. It is also possible that these dates could be changed in event the clubs decide whether or not to enter the Battle Creek series or some other similar event. All these matters will be definitely settled at the April 27 meeting.

Chalks Up 20 Years of Federal Service

Harvey E. Rempert, formerly of Tawas City, has chalked up 20 years of federal service and was honored recently at the United States Navy's Stockton Annex, Stockton, California.

Rempert has been assigned to the transportation equipment maintenance department at the annex since October 1945.

His federal service began on March 4, 1941, when he entered the army at Fort Custer. After training at various camps in the United States, in 1943, he was sent overseas to England, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. He served as a heavy automotive maintenance man on ordnance.

Mr. Rempert met his wife, the former Prestelle M. Ring of Stockton, in May 1942 while attending a training school there. After his discharge from the army in 1945, he decided to make California his home. He and his wife have three children, Judith, Terrence and Roberta.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Rempert of Tawas City.

Devil River Canoe Race Set for April 29-30

Canoe enthusiasts are anxiously awaiting the running of the sixth annual Devil River canoe races scheduled for April 29-30. Supporters of the Devil River race anticipate the largest field of entries in its history. Gaining popularity every year because of the challenge it presents, the Devil River race tests the skill of the best canoeists in the area. Rapids, fast water, many treacherous hairpin turns and adequate spectator vantage points contribute to its popularity.

Participation in the juvenile race is being encouraged by committeemen this year. Limited to youths ranging in age from 10 through 14, this race has been one of the most popular on the river. Mixed juvenile and junior races will be held Saturday, April 29, starting at 1:00 p. m. All entrants must be at Ossineke Chamber of Commerce building on US-23 by noon, Saturday, April 29. Juvenile age is 10 through 14 and junior age, 10 through 18. No entry fee is charged for juvenile or junior races.

The senior race will begin Sunday, April 30, 2:00 p. m. Entrants must be at the Ossineke Chamber of Commerce by 12 noon Sunday.

There are cash prizes and trophies for the first eight places in the senior race and trophies for juvenile and junior races.

EASEMENT GRANTED FOR JET FUEL PIPELINE

Decisions involving Michigan's Great Lakes waters headlined the Michigan Conservation Commission's meeting in Lansing April 13-14.

Following a lengthy discussion of safety factors, the commission granted a 100-foot-wide easement to the American Fuel Company of Los Angeles for construction of a 7,500-foot jet fuel pipeline in Lake Huron near Harrisville.

The pipeline, slated to be in operation by November, will transport jet fuel from tankers to five 80,000-barrel storage tanks ashore which are also yet to be constructed. Fuel will be used for B-52 bombers and KC-135 tanker aircraft at Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Iosco County.

Need Information When Farmers File for Grain Program

Farmers who intend signing up to take part in the 1961 feed grain program were urged today to bring the necessary information with them when they visit the county ASC office.

Burton Partlo, chairman, county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee, pointed out that this would save inconvenience to the farmer and permit the county office to process the farmer's application more quickly.

The 1961 feed grain program provides for the voluntary reduction of corn acreage from the 1959-60 base for these crops on individual farms. Farmers who make the reduction will receive payments for diverting the former corn to conservation uses.

The producer should have with him when he goes to the county office a report covering the acreage and crops produced on his farm in 1959 and 1960. Many farmers have already supplied this information to the county office. Deadline date for filing this report of acreages is May 22, 1961. No reports will be accepted after this date.

With this information, the county ASC committee will establish a base for the farm (for corn) and will determine the rates of payment. A notice of these determinations will be sent the farmer and he should then complete and file an intention-to-participate form. If he wants an advance payment—half the total payment to be earned, he should also file an application at that time.

While the 1961 feed grain program is voluntary, producers of corn must participate in order to be eligible for price support on (1) their normal production of 1961-crop corn and (2) any of their other feed grains this year, barley, oats or rye.

FIRST LAND GRANT IN IOSCO GIVEN BY KING OF FRANCE

First deed or grant conveying lands in Iosco County was given by the king of France to Louis Chevalier, a fur trader, for property located near the mouth of the AuSable River. This fact was brought out in the second lesson of "Know Your County, Township and City Government," studied by Tawas Homemakers at the April 19 meeting.

Clerk, prosecuting attorney, register of deeds and treasurer were the elected county officers discussed.

Mrs. Harold Hammond and Mrs. Herbert Escott were hostesses for the evening.

May 17 meeting at the home of Mrs. Richard Moss will have skin care and make-up as its subject.

Tawas Area Board OK's Withdrawal from Conference

Tawas Area Board of Education formally approved withdrawal from the Northeastern Michigan Conference and organization of a new league composed of class B schools at its regular meeting Monday night.

The board heard an explanation of the recent testing program given to high school sophomores and a complete analysis of tests given during recent years is to be made by Thomas Pinkowski, school counselor. His findings will be announced later.

Tawas Area is to retain the same policy as before in regard to a senior government trip. Should the class make the trip during the week, it must return by midnight of that day. If it decides to hold the trip on Friday, the time for return will be extended.

Authorization was given for receiving bids on an electric stack oven for the lunch room.

A discussion was held on the recent regional meeting of boards of education held at Petoskey. Attending were President Stuart White, Trustee Joseph Dimmick and Supt. Reynold Mick.

The board authorized hiring the firm of Yeo and Yeo, Saginaw, as its auditors.

IOSCO CANCER DRIVE KICK-OFF SET FOR FRIDAY

Kick-off for the American Cancer Association drive in Iosco County will be held Friday, 1:00 p. m., at Ossie's Restaurant, East Tawas. All campaign workers are urged to attend. Dessert will be served.

CLERK ANNOUNCES VITAL STATISTICS

Vital statistics compiled by County Clerk George Prescott this week revealed that 161 marriage licenses were issued in Iosco County during 1960. Births outnumbered deaths, 574-135.

ADULT TYPING CLASS ONE DAY EARLIER

The adult typing class that usually meets Thursday night at Tawas Area High School will meet tonight (Wednesday), announces Miss Marilyn Westrich.

Marathon

"We expect that the winning canoe team will probably cross the Oscoda finish line at 6:00 p. m.," said Goebel.

At present, the committee hopes to receive aid from area industries and business in helping to underwrite a share of the race expenses. This will be needed as Grayling had paid one-third of the costs in previous years.

The new date was selected to coincide with Mio's homecoming celebration and $300 has been guaranteed from that community as its share of marathon expenses.

THREE TAWAS STUDENTS ATTEND FORENSICS MEET

Three Tawas Area High School students participated in the spring forensics festival Thursday at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant. Janice Guilford, freshman, received a certificate of excellence for her interpretive reading.

Receiving designations of "very good" were Terry Tuttle, freshman, in oratorical declamation, and Nancy Borosch, extemporaneous speaking.

Accompanying the group was Lawrence DeBeau, instructor.
