Probation Officer Fills Important Role

Sixty-four percent of all persons who were convicted of circuit court felonies here during 1961 were placed on probation for terms ranging from one to three years, according to year-end statistics compiled this week.

That probation is an effective means of rehabilitation is pointed out by the fact that only five percent of those persons who receive "another chance" in society fall the condition of probation.

Actually, probation is a period of good behavior by the convicted person under supervision of an officer of the department of corrections.

But, before the judge ever passes sentence on a person convicted of a felony, work of the probation officer begins with a presentence investigation for the court.

This work is handled in the 23rd Judicial Circuit by Richard K. Nelson of Tawas City, probation and parole officer here for the Michigan Department of Corrections. His office is located in the county building.

A written report, which remains confidential by law, is compiled on each person convicted of a felony. This comprehensive history includes information gained by the probation officer during interviews with the respondent, members of his family, employers past and present, arresting police officers and the clergy. It also contains information gleaned from school, military, police, court and credit agency records.

Prior to sentencing of the individual, this report is turned over to the judge. Although it contains recommendations concerning disposition or sentence, it is considered only as a guide and the court is in no way bound by the report.

An interview with the respondent may take from one to three hours. It concerns every phase of his life from childhood to the present time. A great deal of the interview deals with the respondent's family... how he views relationship with his parents, brothers, sisters and marriage with his wife.

Other phases of the questioning includes the respondent's education, employment (if he had a job, how was it terminated, what type of vocation and what are his interests?); his record during military service and, if he received a discharge other than honorable, what were the reasons?

The probation officer also contacts victims of the crime to determine the extent of damages in the event that the court would assess restitution.

"Basically, we attempt to get a complete picture of the respondent. We try to understand his outlook, how he perceives the world in an effort to find some motive for crime," said Nelson.

Crime is a symptom of a defect in the personality, according to Nelson, and is caused sometimes by indebtedness, alcoholism, medical problems or any number of handicaps.

"Whether a person is a criminal or not is a matter of degree," said Nelson. "If he persists in crime after all correctional experience fails, we would have to call him a criminal or a repeated offender."

Contrary to popular belief, a first offender sometimes does go to prison. This is determined after a complete presentence investigation. Much would depend on the attitude and circumstances surrounding the individual and what influences have affected him and how much insight he has into his own behavior.

If the probation officer's report should recommend probation for the respondent, the summary would include plans for his future, such as, employment, home, referral to other agencies for help (Alcoholics Anonymous, mental clinic, medical doctor or to his minister). It would also include recommendations as to an order of restitution, costs and fine. "The important part of the work of the probation officer is that he furnishes a service to the court in order that sentences can be designed for rehabilitation of the individual rather than mere punishment," states Judge Allan C. Miller.

"If I were to sentence in each case without this investigation, it would be limited to the scope of the immediate offense and punishment necessary for that offense. With the investigation we have at hand, we look not so much at the felony as to the entire sociological history of the person and adapt a sentence to bring about a change of behavior."

The second half of the probation officer's service is to follow up after the sentence is rendered. Persons who are placed on probation or who are paroled from prison are required to report to Nelson once a month. Many of these people who commit felonies, both young and old, actually need someone to consult with from time to time. Many do not have parents or a religious counselor to keep them on the right track. This gap is filled by the probation officer.

This, incidentally, is a service that saves tax money, since supervision by a probation officer costs about $100 a year. This is paid, generally, by the probationer himself through taxation of costs by the court. If a person is incarcerated, on the other hand, it would cost the state $1,200 per year and there is no method of recovering costs of imprisonment, not to mention welfare costs for his family.

At present, some 37 persons in Iosco County report each month to the probation office, or Nelson calls on them at their home or place of employment. During these visits, the probation officer tries to create an awareness of the individual's personality problem, as well as to teach them methods of overcoming these problems.

If the individual violates the conditions of probation as set by (See PROBATION, page 10.)

Medi-Care Proposal Turned Down Two to One in Iosco

Iosco County voters turned down a proposed $550,000 medical care facility by a two to one margin Monday. Some 2,631 persons went to the polls, or about 1,000 more than voted in the recent special senatorial primary election.

Asked to approve a bond issue to finance its share of constructing a 45-bed medical care facility or convalescent home for the aged, Iosco voters turned thumbs down on two propositions.

The first, a $300,000 general obligation bond issue for a period of 14 years, lost by a 1,658 to 847 margin. Only taxpayers were eligible to vote on this ballot.

The second proposition, which asked that taxes be increased by 90 cents on each $1,000 valuation, lost by a 1,777 to 854 margin.

Only two precincts out of the entire 20 in the county voted in favor of the proposition. Voting in favor of the Iosco County Board of Supervisors' propositions were Alabaster and Wilber Townships.

Had the proposals been successful, the remaining funds necessary to construct the facility would have been furnished by a $250,000 federal grant from Hill-Burton funds.

Representatives of the board of supervisors' special welfare committee were certain that the proposition would go down to defeat shortly after the first few precincts reported results following closing of the polls Monday night.

After Alabaster Township's affirmative vote was posted at the county clerk's office, showing 53 yes votes and 36 against the proposition, the next three precincts reporting voted nearly two to one against the proposal.

General attitude of the special committee toward outcome of the election was summed up in the words of Edward Burgess, county welfare director: "We lost, but we tried to do something for our older people... no one can deny that fact."

Consensus of opinion of those who waited for election returns was that the people had not voted on the issue of the proposed medical care facility, but rather on the matter of taxes.

Annual winter tax statements were mailed to Iosco County residents during the past week, and, as one observer put it, "Voters apparently had their statements in their pockets when they went to the polls."

Majority of voters in the Tawas area were very tax conscious after receiving statements which reflected the recent voted tax increase for classroom additions to Tawas Area Schools.

Even in Tawas City, where it is difficult to recall when a bond issue was ever turned down, the proposition failed by a 247-181 vote.

East Tawas voted 446-133 against the proposition, or a margin of more than three to one.

Another factor which had some bearing on the proposition was the recent opposition it met from the Tawas Medical Group. Most persons who were on hand for vote tabulations, however, minimized this opposition and felt that tax consciousness of voters far outweighed any controversy in that quarter.

Members of the board of supervisors had no comment to make regarding any future election on the proposal. The board is to hold its next regular meeting December 20.

Senator Hughes

Voters of the 28th Senatorial District named Clare attorney, Harold B. Hughes, Republican, to the Michigan senate with a 5,840 to 2,478 nod over Democrat Hubert C. Evans, Gladwin. Upwards of 85 percent of the voters stayed home. Iosco County voters gave Hughes a 1,780 to 874 margin over Evans. He succeeds the late Sen. Charles T. Prescott of Prescott.

POST OFFICE HOURS

Tawas City post office will be open all day Saturdays and until noon Sundays during the pre-Christmas mail rush, according to Postmaster Martin Kasischke.

Rites Held Friday for James F. Mark

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon for James F. Mark, prominent Tawas City resident and a retired employee of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company.

Mr. Mark, 70, died early Wednesday morning, December 6, at Tawas Hospital following a heart attack.

Born June 15, 1891, at AuSable, he came to Tawas City with his parents in 1898 and resided here most of his life.

After graduating from Tawas City High School, he started with the D&M on February 25, 1911, as a clerk in the mechanical department. He had been in the employ of the railway company for 46 of the 49 years during the period from 1911 to 1960.

He was married September 17, 1913, to Emmelie Applin of East Tawas, who survives.

In May 1918, he left to work three years with Burroughs Adding Machine Company, Detroit. In May 1921, he returned to the D&M as a clerk in the accounting division. In 1923, he became chief clerk of capital expenditures and in 1928 became chief clerk to the chief engineer.

Mr. Mark was appointed engineering assistant in 1936 and in 1940 was appointed in charge of the engineering department with the title of engineer, a position he held until retirement. He was a member of the American Railway Engineering Association for 10 years.

On retiring in March 1960, he joined his son, James Jr., as manufacturer's representative for one of the country's oldest and largest heating, cooling and air-conditioning systems.

He was well known throughout the state for his activities in Masonry and the Order of Eastern Star.

He became a member of Tawas City Lodge No. 302, F&AM, and served as master in 1929; of Iosco Chapter No. 83, RAM, and served as excellent high priest from 1932 to 1940; of Tawas City Chapter No. 303, Order of Eastern Star, and served as worthy patron from April 1927 to October 1932. He was a life member of all three organizations. He became a member of Alpena Commandery No. 34, Knights Templar, in 1937.

Mr. Mark was elected grand sentinel of the Grand Chapter, OES, of Michigan in October 1930 and served as worthy grand patron of the state from October 1932 to October 1934. There had been very few years since that time that he had not been prominently identified with OES Grand Chapter activities, either as a committee worker or in opening of Grand Chapter sessions.

He served as district deputy instructor of the nine Masonic lodges in Iosco, Alcona and Ogemaw Counties. He served as secretary of the Tawas Masonic Temple Association since 1956.

Mr. Mark served four years as Tawas City councilman, during two years of which he was mayor pro-tem. He was scoutmaster of Tawas City Troop No. 76, Boy Scouts of America, for many years.

A trustee of the Tawas City Methodist Church, he was, for upwards of a quarter century, associ-

Tawas Board OK's Contract of Sink Electric

Tawas Area Board of Education awarded an electrical contract for additions to the Tawas City elementary unit to Sink Electric of Saginaw. This action was taken at Monday night's regular meeting.

Sink Electric's bid of $15,910 had been tabled following the letting of general and mechanical contracts two weeks ago. Reasons for the delay was to allow further negotiations on other bids.

Sink's bid was low among four submitted at the bid opening.

Total cost of the three contracts is $205,351 for construction of the 10-classroom addition. General contract was awarded to O. S. Rose Builders, Incorporated, Tawas City, $125,000, and mechanical contract to Northern Plumbing and Heating, East Tawas, $64,441.

At the meeting two weeks ago, the board of education decided to go ahead with constructing the entire 10-classroom addition at one time, rather than to build six rooms now and wait for the next phase of the pay-as-you-go program, as originally intended.

In other business, Supt. Reynold Mick was given authorization to investigate possibilities of incorporating special instructional equipment to be used in the teaching of algebra in the eighth grade.

SENIOR PROM

Annual senior prom will be held at Tawas Area High School Auditorium Saturday night, 8:00-11:30. Entitled "Silver Bells," the prom will feature the music of the Roff Quintet. Miss Cherry Powers is chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus will be there to take pictures. Those attending are asked to use the front entrance of the building.

Judge Will Rule Friday on Port Gypsum Suit

Decisions asking intervention in the lawsuit against National Gypsum Company is to be rendered Friday afternoon in Iosco County Circuit Court.

National Gypsum Company is being sued by adjacent property owners for damages allegedly caused by the "Port Gypsum" loading installation.

A ruling had been expected Monday in this case, but when Attorney T. George Sternberg of Bay City presented petitions representing eight separate clients, Judge Allan C. Miller said he would study them during the week and receive responsive pleadings from National Gypsum Company until noon Friday.

Damage claims from original plaintiffs in the lawsuit now total nearly $400,000 and Judge Miller said that it would appear that if petitions of intervention were granted, it would place tremendous discovery burdens on the part of plaintiffs.

Original plaintiffs asking judgment are Dr. Malvern F. Obrecht, the Rev. Dr. Robert Neuman and Arthur L. Johnson.

Damage claims have also been filed by Howard Davis, Newell Trask, Walter J. Hellenberg and Elmer Slaven.

Plaintiffs claim that lake freighters using the facility cause water to become muddy and roily, that water is contaminated, that they have been unable to use waters in front of their property and that they have been deprived of the use of their property because of the installation.

At Monday's hearing, John Watkins of East Tawas, attorney for National Gypsum Company, objected to the intervening petitions being included in the present proceedings. He said that the petitioners would have the right of action regardless if they are included in this particular lawsuit. Watson also stated that experts had examined the property with respect to parties already involved in the lawsuit, but not for those of the proposed intervenors. He thought it unfair and unreasonable to try and get discovery depositions on such short notice.

Trial of the lawsuit has been set for February 20 and Judge Miller reserved the remainder of that month for the hearing. He granted National Gypsum Company until December 31 to file answers to the petitions and bill of particulars.

About $1,000 was collected in last year's drive, reports Hugo J. Keiser Jr., chairman. Money was used to purchase clothing and Christmas baskets for children, as well as to furnish glasses for needy youngsters throughout the year.

Kiwanis newsboys will be wearing their special aprons when they take to the streets Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. Headquarters for paper sales is Keiser's Drug Store in Tawas City and Johnson's Auto Supply at East Tawas.

OPEN INSTALLATION

Open installation of officers will be held by Tawas City Lodge No. 302, F & AM, Saturday, 8:00 p. m. at the Tawas Masonic Temple. The public is invited.

Christmas Seal Sales Out in Front of 1960 Campaign

Santa Claus will be busier than ever in Michigan this Christmas if Christmas Seal giving this year is any indication.
Christmas Seal contributions in Iosco County, as in nearly every county in the state, continue well above the 1960 level for the first four weeks of the campaign, it was reported today.
Receipts from this area for the period totaled $1,154.75 compared with $641.75 for the like period last year, Charles H. Baker, president of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, reported in Lansing.

The increased contributions reflect better economic conditions throughout the state and a stepped-up campaign by MTRDA, Baker said.
"Our objective is to eradicate tuberculosis as a major killer within the next 10 years," Baker said. "I believe the response of the people of Michigan emphasizes the public demand that this be accomplished."

TAWAS CITY'S Christmas tree was set in place and decorated last week by members of the department of public works. This year, it is located in the city park across from the Iosco County Building. Decorations include colored lights across US-23.—Herald Photo.

The Upper Room—THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Read John 1:6-13

To all you received him, who believed in his name, he gave power to become children of God. (John 1:12, RSV.)

One does not invite a guest into his house without first doing some planning and making the necessary preparations. Neither can we at this Advent season, receive Jesus Christ anew into our hearts without adequate preparation.

Without our proper preparation, other things will crowd Him and His mission out of our lives. If He is received with expectancy, He will abide and bless our home.

Too many of our lives plainly re-enact the scene that occurred when the Christ child was born. Then, there was no room in the inn; today, there is no room in our hearts.

Are you and I in earnest about receiving Christ into our lives this year in the real spirit of Christmas? We still find the answer in the kind of preparations we make during Advent.

PRAYER

Our Father, we give Thee thanks for sending Christ into the world to reveal Thy nature unto us. May we receive Him in our hearts in a manner acceptable unto Thee and pray as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven. . . Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Christ makes His abode in any life when He is made to feel welcome. Edwin E. McDonald, Colorado.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE—

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be heard Sunday at Christian Science churches.

Opening the Spiritual readings will be this passage from Psalm 19: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge. There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard. . . . The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul; the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes."

Also pointing up the supreme power of God are correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy which include (p. 272): "God is the divine Principle of all that represents Him and of all that really exists."

The Holly Legend

Even before the Christians, Romans sent gifts of holly to friends to mark the December festival of Saturn. The superstitious Druids kept holly in their dwellings, as an invitation to the "spirits" to enter and seek shelter from winter cold and winter winds. The early Germans used holly in an observance which marked the return of the sun from its southward pilgrimage.

Holly, like mistletoe, is surrounded by legends and superstitions, dating back to pagan rites and rituals.

Today there is no particular significance to our use of holly as a Christmas decoration — other than it is "traditional" and "pretty."

Yet, we use so much more holly than our ancestors did, that today the plant has all but disappeared.

Editorial . . .

Medi-Care Bond Issue Fails

The people have spoken—not so much on the issue of the proposed medical care facility, but rather on the matter of taxes in general.

At tax statement time, such as in the first week of December, there is considerable pulling of hair by taxpayers and tax statements seem to be considerably higher than they really are—particularly before Christmas. Nevertheless, it is for the people to decide on the question of increasing local taxes and they have decided against this particular proposition.

Be that as it may, the proposed medical care facility was a very worthwhile project. Perhaps, at some later date, the board of supervisors may again see fit to bring up the question to voters.

Needless to say, publishers of this newspaper are disappointed as to the outcome of the election. We feel that a medical care facility or convalescent home for the aged is needed in Iosco and Monday's vote has not changed that opinion.

However, it is not the first time that a bonding election has been defeated on the first time around. And, it is not the first time that a proposition supported editorially by this newspaper has been defeated.

Now would be a perfect opportunity for those who opposed the proposition, for reasons other than taxes, to take the initiative. Much has been said about the advisability of private ownership of a nursing home—perhaps this group can take the lead in securing the necessary capital to construct one, or can assist the board of supervisors in interesting private investors in the project.

Anyone with suggestions on how this might be accomplished should attend the December 20 meeting of the board of supervisors.

At this point we would like to commend the board's special welfare committee—Clarence Everett, Henry Oates, William White and many others—for their time and effort in explaining this proposition to voters of Iosco County. They spent much time in visiting similar facilities in other areas of the state and then brought back a considerable amount of information for presentation at public meetings held throughout the county. Their efforts should not go unnoticed or unrecognized.

William Charters, Iosco businessman, plans to take over the Monarch Hotel Building on First Street across from the Detroit and Mackinac depot. Work of remodeling and refurbishing will begin at once and Mr. Charters expects to have it ready for business by January 1. The new place will be known as the Royal Hotel.

'Twelfth Night' Traditional Yuletide Fete

Twelfth Night, or Epiphany, is marked with many customs, ceremonies and legends throughout the world. French and Swiss children, for example, look forward to the pastry they receive on that day, in which a bean, coin or china figure is hidden. Whoever gets the prize, is crowned king of the family.

Epiphany means "appearance" and commemorates the visit of the Three Wise Men to the Infant Jesus. Their arrival was proof to believers that Christ the Saviour was born.

During the Middle Ages, Epiphany or Twelfth Night, was commemorated with plays presented in churches. Solemn observances largely disappeared in Elizabethan England, and this became a time for revelry.

Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" reflects this mood. Historians say it was probably presented in a command performance at Whitehall Palace on January 6, 1601.

It is interesting to note that January 6th was first observed as Christ's birthday. January 6th was the day set aside as Epiphany, to commemorate the coming of the Three Wise Men and the first manifestations of Christ to his followers.

Trees at Christmas

"How did the tree symbol come to be associated with the Christmas observance" — is a question often asked.

Its origin is clouded with mystery and legend but most historians agree that it dates back to an era long before Christianity.

However, in the earliest days of man, the use of evergreens for indoor decor symbolized the ever-green spirit of Nature.

Long after the practice of tree worship was ended, descendants of the Druids continued to bring evergreens and other foliage into their homes to ward off evil spirits. They sought this protection for their homes even though they had no idea where or how the custom had started.

It is generally accepted, however, that the custom of decorating trees at Christmas time, and gift-giving too, originated in Germany in either the 16th or the 17th century.

Over a period of years, these customs spread all through Europe and eventually to America.

Decorating the outdoor tree is a particularly-American custom which is believed to have begun with the lighted community tree, later spreading to lighting and decorating individual trees around the home.

Yule Log, Age-Old Good-Luck Symbol

The origin of the Yule log goes back many centuries, far back into pagan times. In those early days lighting the Yule Log was part of the Winter Fire Festival. Because the weather was cold and snowy during the Winter Solstice, the ceremonies to celebrate the season were held indoors.

With great ceremony and reverence, the Yule Log — most often from an oak tree — would be lighted with a fragment of the Yule Log of the past year. This was carefully preserved for the express purpose of lighting the Yule Log and continuing its mystic power.

Once the Yule Log was lighted, it was believed that its brilliant flames and warm glow would protect the house and family against all evils; for protection from fire, storm and from famine. They prayed then for thriving fields, for healthy cattle, for fertility and prosperity.

Although modern living has made this practice difficult, especially in our urban areas, the custom is still followed in some U.S. rural areas and abroad.

Advice For Veterans

by Arthur M. Brokenshire, Jr., Service Officer

Dep't. of Michigan Marine Corps League

VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION FOR DISABLED

For disabled veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict period:

Korean Conflict period eligibility: Korean veterans may be eligible if: 1. They suffered a service-connected disability in active service on or after June 27, 1950, and on or before January 31, 1955, which would entitle them to compensation or, but for receipt of retirement pay, would entitle them to compensation. 2. They were discharged or released under other than dishonorable conditions; 3. VA determines their need for vocational training to overcome the handicaps of their disabilities. Note: All three conditions must be met.

Training deadlines: Disabled veterans of the Korean Conflict period have no deadline to start training but there are dates beyond which no training may be given. Those discharged before August 20, 1954, must begin in time to complete training by January 31, 1964, or nine years after separation, whichever is earlier.

However, an extra four years will be added to the foregoing deadline dates for disabled veterans who fall within any of the following three categories: A. Those whose service-connected disability were so severe as to prevent them from entering or completing training in time; B. Those who originally received discharges barring them from training but whose discharges later were changed to late for them to enter and complete training in time; C. Those for whom a service-connected disability was not established in time to begin and complete a course of training.

Length of training: Eligible disabled veterans of World War II and of the Korean Conflict period may get training of such character and length as is necessary to restore their ability to work, up to a total of four years and in some cases exceeding four years.

Type of training: Before disabled veterans of either conflict begin training, they will be tested by VA counselors to determine their aptitudes and interests. Interviews and tests will enable the VA counselor and training officer to advise the veterans as to the training for which they are best suited. Eligible veterans may enroll in schools or colleges; train on the job; take institutional or farm training; enter other programs which combine school and job training.

Subsistence allowances: While in training and for two months after rehabilitation, eligible disabled veterans of either conflict may receive subsistence allowances in addition to their disability compensation. Basic monthly subsistence rates for disabled veterans studying full time in schools and colleges receive $75 without dependents, $105 with one dependent and $120 with more than one dependent. Basic rates for on-the-job training are $65 without dependents and $90 with one or more dependents.

Rates for veterans enrolled in combination types of training may be somewhat higher than the job training rates. Additional allowances may be provided, depending on the veterans' degree of disability and the number of additional dependents they have.

Further information concerning these benefits may be had by contacting Arthur Brokenshire the first Tuesday of every month at Tawas City. He will be in the Iosco County school superintendent's office, Iosco County Building, from 10:00 a. m. to 4:00 p. m.

100 Years Ago This Week...in THE CIVIL WAR

(Events exactly 100 years ago this week in the Civil War—told in the language and style of today.)

Set 1862 War Cost At $500 Million, Plus

We'll Get It, Lincoln Says

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Dec. 6.—A treasury department spokesman has estimated that the war with the Confederate states will cost the Union at least $500 million within the next year.

The prediction followed reference by President Lincoln in his State of the Union message earlier this week to the financial support by individuals and banks of the Federal government's war efforts.

"It is gratifying to know that the expenditures made necessary by the rebellion are not beyond the resources of the loyal people," said the chief executive in his message.

The treasury aide said the cost of the conflict is now about $1.5 billion—and mounting fast. To meet this spiraling outlay, loans of at least $250 million will be needed during the upcoming 12 months, he asserted.

REACTION continued to pour in, meanwhile, to the President's austere, yet optimistic, report to Congress and the people.

Surprisingly little of the comment has been adverse so far, although Mr. Lincoln laced his report with remarks on controversial issues ranging from the role of labor in a free society to the Confiscation act.

Mr. Lincoln jolted many factions of Congress with the assertion that the Union must extend a diplomatic hand to the recently organized Negro nations of Liberia and Haiti.

AFTER a detailed denunciation of the African slave trade, the President declared:

"If any good reason exists why we should persevere longer in withholding our recognition of the independence and sovereignty of Haiti and Liberia, I am unable to discern it." Swinging the theme to the Confiscation act, under which Negroes owned by disloyal slaveholders were ordered set free, Mr. Lincoln said flatly:

"The legal claim of certain persons to the labor and service of certain other persons have become forfeited."

COMMENTING on "the effort to place capital on an equal footing with, if not above, labor, in the structure of government," the President declared that labor had in recent years assumed the reins of the nation's destiny.

THE PRESIDENT

Excerpts from his lengthy discourse on this topic:

"It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital; that nobody labors unless somebody else, owning capital, somehow by the use of it induces him to labor."

"Now, there is no such relation between capital and labor as assumed, nor is there any such thing as a free man being fixed for life in the condition of a hired laborer. . . . Both these assumptions are false, and all inferences from them are groundless. . . .

Labor is prior to, and independent of, capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital and deserves much the higher consideration."

"No man living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil up from poverty—none less inclined to take or touch aught which they have not honestly earned. Let them beware of surrendering a political power which they already possess, and which, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the door of advancement against such as they, and to fix new disabilities and burdens upon them, till all of liberty shall be lost."

Gen. Sherman Denies Charge He's 'Insane'

CINCINNATI, Ohio—Dec. 13—The Cincinnati "Commercial" today published an angry denial from Brig. Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman of charges printed two days ago that Sherman has lost his mind.

"Every material paragraph of the dispatch is false," declared the outraged Union officer, a former Ohio banker.

The denunciation of the story was brought to Murat Halstead, "Commercial" editor, by Sherman's brother-in-law, Philomong Ewing.

It had been penned by the controversial Sherman while he was home on leave from service in Missouri, where he is an aide to Maj. Gen. Henry W. Halleck, commander of Union forces in the West.

EDITOR Halstead said the dispatch had been written by a New York reporter who served with Sherman in the field, along with a Commercial reporter who was locked up by Sherman in Louisville after a hassle over security.

"The painful intelligence reaches us, in such form that we are not at liberty to disclose it, that Gen. W. T. Sherman, late commander of the Department of the Cumberland, is insane," the story began.

Publication of the bombshell capped a running battle between Sherman and the press that has echoed all through the ranks and into the War Department in Washington.

AT ITS height three weeks ago, Secretary of War Simon Cameron went to Louisville to confer with the stormy field commander. Sherman promptly objected to the presence of newsmen in Cameron's party.

"Trent Affair" Pot Boils

LONDON, England—Dec. 16—Indignation by public and press continues to mount here in the face of refusal by the U.S. government to act in the controversial "Trent Affair."

Her Majesty's government has demanded the prompt release of two envoys of the Confederate states who were removed from the British war-sloop, Trent, by a U.S. warship.

THE U.S.S. San Jacinto stopped the "Trent" in South Atlantic water some six weeks ago. Over violent objections by British officers, crewmen removed the envoys, James Murray Mason and John Slidell.

Charging a violation of British rights, Queen Victoria's government demanded release of the "abducted" diplomats, who since have been imprisoned in Fort Warren, Boston. There has been no reply as yet. The British are getting quite impatient.

Activities Now Determine Farmer Social Security

Paul M. Ellifritz, manager of the Bay City Social Security District Office, announced today that the Social Security Administration now considers both the activities of an agent for the farm landlord and the activities of the landowner in deciding whether the owner's farm rental income is covered by the social security law.

In making this announcement, Mr. Ellifritz stated that previously only the activities of the farm landlord counted in deciding whether the wage earner materially participated on his farm. Mr. Ellifritz went on to emphasize that under this more liberal rule, many more farm owners may now be eligible for social security protection.

"As a practical matter," he said, "this means that some farm owners who were previously found ineligible for social security may now qualify." He gave for example, a farm owner who lives in town and under an arrangement with the tenant has an agent supervising the work of the tenant. The agent makes all the important decisions affecting the production of the crop. Previously, the farm owner could not receive social security credits for his share of the earnings from the farm. Now through the agent, he materially participates in the farm activities and can receive social security credits.

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be in Tawas City at the Iosco County Building Thursday, December 14, 10:30 a. m.

Braves Win Opener; Meet Cardinals Friday

Tawas Area High School jumped off to a rousing start in the 1961-62 NEM Conference basketball season Friday night by taking two games from Beaverton.

The Braves of Coach Bill McIntosh skinned the Beavers, 72-34, while the Junior Braves of Coach Ron Wiltsie romped over the Beaverton JV, 51-22.

This sets the stage for the traditional battle between Whittemore-Prescott Area and Tawas. The "Pagel Twins and Company" of Coach Ed Dudo will meet the Braves here this Friday night. Last year, the schools split decisions in two games.

In the opening quarter last Friday night, the Braves came up with the best scoring attack ever set by a Tawas team. The Braves hooped 22 points in that stanza and then went on to score well over double figures in each of the three remaining quarters.

Although the Braves showed improvement over last year's winless season, the first quarter made the real difference as Tawas has fielded another good defensive unit this year. Beaverton was limited to four points in the first quarter.

The Braves showed excellent marksmanship from the floor, hitting on 43 percent of their 78 field goal attempts.

Tawas' well-balanced scoring attack was led by Forward Jim Mick, who meshed 16 points. Three other players hit in double figures, Guard Herm Rollin collecting 13, Guard Jerry Brown and Forward Don Humphrey each connecting for 10.

Forward Jim Newman was high for the losers with 16 points.

Good speed and an excellent passing attack were displayed by the Braves, who will have to rely on this type of game throughout the season because of the lack of height. Center Ken Murphy turned in a creditable game on the backboards and Coach McIntosh had a strong bench backing up his starting five.

The Junior Braves jumped off to a 14-8 first quarter lead and were never headed the rest of the way. Leading the scoring attack was Herb Humphrey with 16 points, followed by Dennis Blata with 14. Others reaching the scoring column were Charles Aschuetz, six; Jim Sass, four; Jim Roti, two; Joe LaBlance, two, and Bill Wilson, one.

Morse had seven for the losers.

Cards Take 2 From Arenac Eastern

The Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals opened their NEM schedule Friday night with a double win over Arenac Eastern at Tawing. The Card varsity came out on the long end of a 58-33 score and the JV won, 57-25.

Berry dropped in the first field goal of the night to start Eastern out in front. Roy Pagel tied it with his two charity tosses, but Wait made a free shot to put Eastern ahead again.

Pagel tied the score again on a charity toss with Myers putting the Cards ahead, 4-3, with his free shot. With Partlo, Ray Pagel and Armstead scoring nine straight points for Coach Dudo's boys, the Eagles fell far behind, trailing 36-13 by halftime.

The Eagles had trouble hitting the basket throughout the game and with Wait the only one able to compete under the boards with the taller Cards, the W-P squad had little trouble winning their second straight victory.

The Cards scored in double figures, Ray Pagel leading with 18 on six and six, Ron Armstead chipped in with 12 on three and six. Berry led the Eagles with 12 on five and two.

Coach Jim Samec's JV squad

walked all over the hapless Eagles in the first game, leading 11-7 in the first quarter and then blanking the Eagles 18-0 in the second quarter to lead 29-7 at halftime. All of the Little Cards saw action in the fracas, as they coasted in with their second lopsided win of the season. Roger Rasbury led the scoring with 14 points.

Nine Become Naturalized Citizens December 5 at County Building
A colorful ceremony was held December 5 at the Iosco County Building when seven adults and two children received their obligation as naturalized citizens of the United States of America.

William A. Krzysnik of the department of immigration presented the applicants to Judge Allan C. Miller and his recommendation that they be granted citizenship. There were two ladies from Japan, two from Germany, one from France, one from Yugoslavia and one from Mexico. They are wives of servicemen.

The two children, a girl, seven, and her brother, five, have been adopted by a serviceman and his wife. These adopted children are from Germany and received their citizenship through their parents, who are citizens by birth.

Thirty-two senators from Hale High School attended the ceremony as part of a class assignment and Judge Miller gave a comprehensive explanation of the necessary steps needed to become a naturalized citizen of this country.

Judge Miller also gave a very interesting and educational review on what naturalized citizens have contributed to this country and what the new citizens can do also to make the future of their foster mother country a more secure land in which to live.

Mrs. Frank Wells, president of Glen Staley Unit No. 422, American Legion; Mrs. Frank Doing, unit chaplain; Mrs. Robert Pember, unit vice president; Mrs. James Hicks and Mrs. Edwin Sharp acted as a welcoming team for their organization and presented each new citizen with a copy of the code of ethics and history of the nation's flag.

Mrs. Wells gave a brief story of the American Legion Poppy and presented poppies to the group. Mrs. Doing gave the opening and closing prayers.

Commander Robert Pember of Glen Staley Post also attended the ceremonies.

Members of Iosco County Quota Club greeted and welcomed the new citizens, presenting them with small flags in standards bearing the pledge of allegiance.

Last Year . . .

We were very pleased with the public's response to our Christmas Tree sales. The proceeds were used to help provide a Community Shelter and Skating Rink.

We assure you this facility will be available to the public this winter. The rink will be maintained and operated this year without any financial aid from any other organization. Thanks to your support of our other projects this is made possible.

We planned to repeat the Christmas Tree sales this year, but due to circumstances beyond our control we were forced to abandon this project. We wish to thank you for your patronage in 1960 and assure you we will be selling Trees in 1962.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

Girls will be girls—no matter what their ages. Their sights are always set on fashion perfection and their eyes and intuition tell them that the most effective way to reach their destination is to wear clothes and accessories that belong together with that look of a planned outfit. Fact is—every girl glories in the luxury of being clothed from top to toe in items that match and girls—of all ages—are entitled to it.

LOVELY AND PRACTICAL

This one's as perfect for shielding baby from the winter cold as it is for guaranteeing her status as the best dressed lass in the nursery. The perky waffle striped effect of the sacque is achieved by a combination of the stockinette stitch and a four row pattern stitch. The same theme reappears and is carried out to perfection in the matching cap, mittens, and booties. Five skeins of Red Heart Baby Wool will transform this from a lovely idea to even lovelier reality and matching ribbon will add the finishing touches. Instructions are free. Just send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this newspaper and request Leaflet No. B-100.

YOUNG LUXURY

The happy beaming smile on the face of this young miss is proof positive that she's learned to recognize this kind of luxury at an early age and is she enjoying herself! It's the lucky lady who receives this four piece sacque, cap, mitten, and bootie combination for a gift and finds herself cuddled in warmth and beauty from top to toe—literally.

AND WHAT BETTER WAY

to serve a holiday breakfast than to place it on top of a cloth like this lovely one, featured as today's design? Its Queen Anne's Lace—which is not an easy thing to do—it takes time and effort. But how it completes the picture! It's crocheted around separate motifs; each motif measures about 4 and 3/4 inches in diameter and work is done with a No. 8 steel crochet hook. Completed cloth measures about 60 x 80 inches

(that's big enough to hold quite a spread!)

ONCE YOU LOOK AT THE PATTERN, you'll be tempted to apply the Golden Rule . . . and that is: if you'd like it for your table—one of your friends would like it for hers. And truly, it would make a lovely gift of friendship under someone's tree. So write for the free directions now, and begin work right away. Send your stamped and self-addressed envelope. Just ask for No. 7050.

the court, Nelson files a petition for a violation hearing. The court then decides whether to continue the person on probation, to revoke and sentence him to prison or to modify terms of the probation to better suit the need.

Some 15 parolees, or persons released from prison under a supervised program, also report each month to Nelson. They finish out a portion of their sentence this way and, if successful, are discharged at the end of their term.

Of the 37 persons convicted of felonies in Iosco County Circuit Court during the past year, 30 were placed on probation and seven were committed to prison. Of these felonies, 22 percent were for bad checks and 59 percent were for breaking and entering or larceny.

The balance included auto theft, assaults, negligent homicide and circuit court misdemeanors. There were no murder or manslaughter convictions during the past year.

Nelson has been in the corrections field since 1954. He was a counselor for prisoners at Southern Michigan Prison, Jackson, and served as probation officer at Bay City for six months prior to coming here in 1956.

He has a bachelor of science degree from Central Michigan University, majoring in sociology and psychology. He has also done graduate work at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

UNBAKED FRUIT CAKE

|-----------------------------|---|
| 1 cup light or dark raisins | 1 teaspoon cinnamon |
| 1 cup cooked prunes | ½ cup undiluted evaporated milk |
| ½ cup walnuts | 1 teaspoon vanilla |
| ½ cup candied cherries | 1½ cups chopped candied peel (orange, lemon, citron, etc.) |
| ½ cup soft butter | 5 cups finely crushed vanilla cookie or graham cracker crumbs |
| ¼ cup honey | |
| ¼ teaspoon salt | |
| ½ teaspoon allspice | |
| ¼ teaspoon mace | |
| ¼ teaspoon cloves | |

Rinse and drain raisins; pit and chop prunes. Chop walnuts and cut cherries in quarters. Cream butter, honey, salt and spices until creamy. Blend in evaporated milk and vanilla. Combine all ingredients, except crumbs, mixing well. Let stand about 2 hours to blend flavors. Add crumbs and mix thoroughly. Pack firmly into lightly buttered or oiled mold or molds. Let stand in refrigerator at least 24 hours before serving. Garnish with holly and whole candied fruits, if desired. Makes 1 large or 2 small fruit cakes.

Christmas tradition begins in the kitchen with homemade fruit-cake, steamed pudding, homemade coffee cakes, cookies and sweets. For centuries European countries have celebrated Christmas and the Holy days with rich and delectable foods.

Many of our delicious holiday foods are made from cherished recipes that have been in the family for centuries. Out of this has come an array of fabulous foods — in many instances foods that have become the Yuletide specialty of each particular family. Recipes for such foods are carefully guarded secrets handed down from generation to generation — so precious they have become a part of our heritage.

- | | |
|---|------------------------------------|
| 1 (No. 2½) can cling peach slices | 1 teaspoon lemon rind |
| 2 envelopes (2 tablespoons) plain gelatin | 2 tablespoons lemon juice |
| ½ cup cold water | 1½ cups whipping cream |
| 1 cup sifted powdered sugar | 1 jelly roll (about 6 inches long) |

Drain peaches, saving syrup — should be 1½ cups; add water if necessary. Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in hot peach syrup. Chill until partially set. Reserving ¾ cup of peach slices for garnish, chop remainder and combine with sugar, lemon rind and juice. Whip cream until stiff. Beat gelatin mixture until frothy and fold in whipped cream and chopped peaches. Slice jelly roll in ½-inch slices and line bottom and sides of 1-quart mixing bowl, tucking peach slices in between. Spoon in gelatin mixture and chill until set — about 3 hours. Unmold and cut in wedges to serve. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

- | | |
|---------------------------------------|---------------------------|
| 1½ cups prunes | 3 eggs |
| ½ cup sliced citron | 1½ cups all-purpose flour |

| 1½ cups California walnuts | ½ teaspoon nutmeg |
| ¾ cup shortening | ½ teaspoon allspice |
| ¾ cup honey | ½ teaspoon cloves |

Cover prunes with boiling water and let stand 10 minutes. Drain and cool. Remove pits from prunes and chop. Combine with citron, orange peel, cherries and pineapple. Chop walnuts coarsely, and add to fruits. Cream shortening and honey together thoroughly. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Mix together thoroughly flour, salt, baking powder and spices. Blend into creamed mixture. Pour batter over fruits and nuts, and mix lightly. Turn into loaf pan (about 8½ x 4½ x 2½ inches) which has been lined with 2 thicknesses of greased brown paper and one of greased waxed paper. Bake in slow oven (275°F.) about 3 hours. Holiday
Breads

Christmas is a time of tradition. For the most part these traditions have come to us from lands across the sea where every country has its own favorite foods for Christmas baking. This is particularly true of yeast-raised bread. In Holland it's an easy-to-make no-knead loaf baked in 9-inch pans. Raisins, citron peel, lemon peel and chopped almonds give it a delicious aroma and flavor.

In Italy many loaves of panettone, a sweet-raised yeast bread filled with fruit, are baked in every household to be served at the festive Christmas Eve supper and to be used as gifts.

Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Germany and England rate among their favorite festive foods Kaffekaka, kuchen or coffee cakes. These aromatic and gaily decorated yeast breads are brought forth for many Yuletide occasions—breakfast, dinner, in-between eating and to treat guests who drop in.

DANISH TWIST

1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
1/4 cup warm, not hot water, (lukewarm for compressed yeast)

1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
2 3/4 cups enriched flour
1 cup raisins
1 egg, beaten
Confectioners' sugar

Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large mixing bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast.) Sprinkle or crumble in yeast. Stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Add one beaten egg and about half the flour. Beat until smooth. Add raisins. Stir in remaining flour. Turn dough out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; brush top with shortening. Cover; let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured board. Roll up to make a long slender roll. Twist roll by pushing ends in opposite directions. Lift to lightly greased baking sheet and shape into a large pretzel. Tuck ends of roll under edge of "pretzel" to keep dough from untwisting. Brush with one egg, beaten, and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Cover and let rise until doubled (about 1 hour). Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Remove from baking sheet to cooling rack.

STRESS

Moving calves to feedlot puts them under stress that calls for Terramycin.*

The stress comes in many ways: The move itself, the new rations, the new surroundings. It weakens calves and cattle and makes them more vulnerable to disease.

Such conditions can range from low-level infections whose symptoms you can't readily see . . . to attacks of major diseases such as shipping fever.

That's where Terramycin comes in.

Use Terramycin Animal Formula Soluble Powder or Terramycin Liquid Concentrate in the drinking water. Use it before . . . during . . . and after stress occurs.

You'll help prevent stress-triggered disease . . . and help your animals get on full feed at heavier weights.

There's a package size for your operation . . . including 1-lb. and 5-lb. sizes of Terramycin Animal Formula Soluble Powder and 1 gallon of Terramycin Liquid Concentrate.

*Assembly
Line
Pork Factory*

A pork factory is an apt description of the P. L. Greiner farm. And the manner in which hogs are turned out is as efficient as an assembly line in a manufacturing plant.

The heart of the operation is a 28 by 106-foot farrowing house set slightly apart from the other buildings on Greiner's 600-acre farm in Cedar County, Iowa.

Twenty sows farrow here every month under the supervision of his son, Peter, and son-in-law, Raymond Wendler, who operate the farm and livestock enterprises in partnership with the elder Greiner. The unit has been in operation less than a year. However, it is evident that their goal of 1,500 hogs marketed per year will be met.

"To get the job done efficiently and with the least labor, we had to have this type building," the elder Greiner explained. "Even when the house is filled to capacity one man can do the cleaning and other chores in an hour."

Actually there are two units in the building. In the front section 10 farrowing stalls line each wall. They are separated by a 10-foot service alley and a 22-inch space between the front of the stalls and the walls provides ample working space in this area. Ten weaning pens occupy the rear half of the structure.

The amount of planning that went into the building is evident when you step through the door.

Each stall is equipped with an automatic waterer and feeder for the sow and there is a smaller feeder for the pigs in the creep area. However, the Greiners and Wendler say that the pigs eat only a small amount of feed because their sows produce a heavy milk flow.

In the winter months the comfort of the baby pigs is assured by a hot water radiant heat system set in the floor. The main lines that circle the service alley are 1½ inches and the copper connecting lines to the creep areas are three-quarters of an inch.

There are 20 farrowing stalls in the front half of the building, 10 on a side. The rear section of the building is occupied by 10 weaning stalls. A radiant heating system in the floor insures that the pigs are comfortable on the coldest days.

Swine production headquarters on the P. L. Greiner farm at Lisbon, Cedar County, Iowa, is this 28 by 106-foot building that doubles as a farrowing house and weaning unit. The frame building is lined inside with corrugated steel and the walls and ceiling are insulated with fiberglass. A 28 by 192-foot finishing house will be built soon to accommodate the 1,500 hogs raised each year.

A 250,000 BTU gas furnace, in a small room along the wall in the center of the building, insures a floor temperature of 90 to 95 degrees in the farrowing area and 80 to 85 degrees in the weaning pens.

The heating system is composed of 4 sections and they can be operated as a unit or individually. A thermostat in each section allows a wide range of floor temperature settings, the men pointed out. Anti-freeze was put in the lines so the freezing problem is eliminated if a section is shut off during the winter.

Air temperature and ventilation are handled by another system of thermostats. Last winter the temperature held evenly at 60 degrees. In the summer it is about 10 degrees below that outside.

The house is set on fill sand which was covered with plastic to serve as a moisture barrier. A 4 inch layer of concrete was poured over this and the heat pipes are about 2 inches under the surface.

The interior of the frame structure is lined with corrugated steel and the walls and ceiling are insulated with fiber glass.

In order to turn out 1,500 pigs a year a strict schedule has been set up and is adhered to closely. Sows are rebred in the second heat period after the pigs are weaned.

"We like to have them in good flesh and gaining when they are bred," the younger Greiner said. "We self-feed them a ration of ground alfalfa, oats, corn and protein. In the summer they run on blue grass and in cornstalks in the winter. We cut down on the corn though when they are in the stalks."

About a week before farrowing the sows are brought into the house, which has been steam cleaned, and are scrubbed. They spend the next several days in a holding pen and then go to the farrowing stall 2 days before farrowing so that they will be acclimated to their surroundings when the pigs arrive.

When the pigs are a week old they receive an iron shot and are castrated. At 3 to 4 weeks the pigs are weaned and go to the pens at the other end of the building and the sows are returned to the herd.

During the 4 weeks the pigs are in the weaning pens, they are self-fed a complete pelleted ration. These pens also are equipped with automatic waterers.

At 8 weeks the pigs are moved to a 24 by 66-foot finishing house and feeding floor where they are penned according to age. In this unit they are self-fed ground corn, oats and protein until they weigh 80 pounds. At this weight the oats are eliminated.

After being in the finishing area for 2 to 2½ months they are ready for market, weighing between 200 and 220 pounds.

The present finishing unit isn't large enough to handle the volume and a new 28 by 192-foot building is being planned and will be in operation soon. It will be divided into 8 sections and should accommodate hogs from the farrowing unit.

One man can clean, care for the sows and feed the pigs in the building in one hour. Wendler is shown filling one of the self-feeders in a weaning pen. Two litters are confined in each pen and they are kept here for 4 weeks on a pelleted ration.

Pigs in the growing and finishing lot get a ration of ground corn, oats and protein until they weigh 80 pounds and then the oats are removed. Pigs are farrowed every month and after going through the feeding cycle are ready for market in 4½ to 5 months.

HOW TO MOBILIZE AGAINST YOUR BIGGEST RISK TO HOG INCOME

That risk is disease. This Coordinated Feed-Health Program prevents diseases from establishing "beachheads" on your farm. It's a practical program! Follow it step by step and you'll see.

Half-way measures are just not enough! Pork producers need to go all-out . . . to mobilize every resource to guarantee a profitable hog operation.

This means selecting top-quality, blood-tested breeding stock. It means using good formula feeds, good management, housing and sanitation.

It means being alert to sense the presence of disease even when you can't see it. Disease, visible or invisible, is by far the biggest risk to profitable hog raising. It can smash you at any time.

Why gamble? You can lick most diseases before they start by following a coordinated, step-by-step plan.

This feed-health program is practical, easy-to-do and money making. It gives you this powerful double-punch:

(1) Good formula feeds, and (2) the proper vaccines and medications. It shows you how to make them work together smoothly so that disease never gets a foothold in your herd.

Ask your feed man for a free folder on this swine feed-health program. If he doesn't have one, write direct to: American Cyanamid Company, Agricultural Division, Princeton, New Jersey. [®]AUREOMYCIN is American Cyanamid Company's trademark for chlortetracycline.

The label instructions on Cyanamid products, and on products containing Cyanamid ingredients, are the result of years of research and have been accepted by Federal and/or State Governments. Always read the labels and carefully follow directions for use.

CYANAMID SERVES THE MAN WHO MAKES A BUSINESS OF AGRICULTURE

1. Start fighting disease early. Blood-test for brucellosis and leptospirosis. One month before breeding, vaccinate for hog cholera with ROVAC[®] Hog Cholera Vaccine—for erysipelas with DUOVAX[®] Erysipelas Bacterin and for leptospirosis with LEBAC[®] Leptospira Pomona Bacterin.

2. Strengthen farrowing sows when they need it most. Always feed a good formula feed containing 200 grams of AUREOMYCIN[®] 7 to 10 days before farrowing and 7 days after farrowing. You will have healthier sows that farrow more easily and produce more live, sturdy pigs.

3. Preventing baby pig anemia is easy. You prevent anemia and obtain faster weight gains when you inject pigs with FIGDEX[®] Injectable Iron at 2 days of age. At the same time, give your pigs one dose of AUREOMYCIN FIGDOSE[®] to help prevent scouring and keep baby pigs thriving.

4. Keep sows milking well. During lactation, your sows need plenty of energy, proteins, minerals, vitamins and AUREOMYCIN to maintain the strength of themselves and their pigs. Feed AUREOMYCIN in a well-fortified ration at 50 grams per ton of total feed to keep sows healthy.

5. Getting pigs off to a good start. Your starter feed protects your pigs at the most critical stress periods of weaning and vaccination. Be sure your starter feed contains AUREOMYCIN at 100 grams per ton of feed to prevent scours and save pigs, to keep them gaining fast.

6. Don't risk hog cholera and erysipelas. Make vaccination a "must"! Vaccinate (at 6 to 7 weeks) for hog cholera with ROVAC and—at the same time—for erysipelas with DUOVAX. ROVAC is a safe vaccine that provides long-lasting immunity. DUOVAX gives solid immunity to erysipelas.

7. How to insure low-cost gains in growing pigs. During the 35 to 75-pound period, pigs can be retarded by enteritis and atrophic rhinitis. With AUREOMYCIN at 50 grams per ton of total feed, your pigs use feed, not to fight disease, but to put on low-cost gains.

8. Final step: market more top-quality hogs earlier. To avoid set-backs during this final period, provide a supplement that will supply 50 grams of AUREOMYCIN per ton of total feed whenever trouble shows up. This protects against diseases—keeps your hogs healthy.
