New Motions Delay Start of Kidnap Trial in Iosco

Argument over the highly complicated legal aspects of a citizens arrest and if such an arrest constitutes the criminal elements necessary for issuance of a kidnaping warrant, has delayed the trial of A. Matthew Buder and John N. Bogart in Iosco County Circuit Court.

Monday had been the day set aside by Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller to hear motions on the case, which was to have gone to trial starting May 11.

Four motions were filed by Buder, a Flint attorney, which asked the court to either quash the information and dismiss the cause, or remand it to justice court for "proper preliminary examination."

The kidnaping charge had been pending in local magistrate court for months, and after a preliminary examination, was held February 8 before Justice of the Peace A. J. Goulet at East Tawas, the two men were bound over to circuit court.

Charges against the two men grew out of a citizens arrest allegedly performed by them on Jerome O'Rourke, former Genesee County prosecuting attorney, August 17 at his cottage near East Tawas.

After hearing argument in favor of such action by Buder and argument to the opposite by Robert Goussy, who has been assigned to the case by the state attorney general, Judge Miller said he would have to study the motions and arguments for several days before he could reach a decision.

As a result, he struck the May 11-12 trial dates from his court calendar, stating that if a jury was needed, the trial dates he had set would not allow enough time to impel a jury.

Should the judge rule in favor of Buder's motion to quash and dismiss, no jury would be needed. No written waiver of a jury trial has been submitted by Buder or his legal counsel, J. Richard Newman of East Tawas. They said Monday they would reserve that right until after the judge makes

Fire Sirens to Signify Start of Cancer Drive

The screech of fire sirens will mark the start of the annual fund-raising campaign of the American Cancer Society in the Tawas next Monday night, May 8, 7 o'clock, signaling the start of a house-to-house cancer crusade.

Plans for the campaign were outlined at a kick-off dessert held at Ossie's Restaurant last Friday with 32 persons present. Mrs. Herbert Hertzler, chairman of volunteer activities, had charge.

Iosco County's campaign drive, May 1-20, is headed by Norman Salsbery, chairman.

Introduced at Friday's kick-off was Maynard Reghi, field representative from the Lansing office. Chairmen named for the drive were as follows:

Tawas City—Mrs. Fred Landon, with Mrs. Fred Pritchard, first ward assistant; Mrs. Martin Strelecki, second ward, and Mrs. Walter Nelson, third ward.

Oscoda Park Commission Plans Iargo Springs 'Bee'

Proposed plans for returning Iargo Springs on the bank of the AuSable River to its former status as one of Iosco County's most popular tourist attractions were revealed last week by the Oscoda Park Commission.

In a report to the Tawas Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night, J. E. Skimin, commission member, said that Oscoda plans to hold a work bee there sometime in May.

Stating that cost of materials for the work would be approximately $500, Skimin urged Tawas to send volunteers to join a group of about 75 persons from Oscoda.

Also to be invited to participate in the project is the Hale Chamber of Commerce. Additional aid has been requested from the Iosco County Board of Supervisors.

Skimin said that work proposed would be to construct a new stairway leading to the springs near the base of the hill. With enough volunteers, he said, work probably could be completed in a day.

Although located in Oscoda Township, the entire county would receive a great deal of benefit from again making the springs accessible to the public as a tourist attraction. During World War II, the stairway fell into disrepair and was never replaced. Skimin said that in past years, there had been talk of replacing the stairway, but the cost of hiring a contractor to perform the work was prohibitive.

Iargo Springs is located west of Lumbermen's Monument.

According to popular legend, it was one of the favorite stopping-off places for Michigan Indians during their journeys over the Saginaw to Mackinaw Trail, which crossed the AuSable River in the vicinity of Cooke Dam of today.

The springs, seven in number, gush out of the river's bank and help feed the mighty AuSable. It is said that when the government survey was extended over Iosco in the 1840s, the surveyors learned the name of the springs from the Indians.

The meaning of the name is "many waters." The surveyors lettered a sign, "Iargo Springs," and nailed it to a tall pine tree growing on the river's bank above the springs. This sign was in evidence in the late 1860s, but disappeared when the tree was later harvested.

The springs were later "rediscovered" and became a popular tourist attraction during the 1930s when steps were constructed down the steep bank.

Discussion on Proposed Planning Board Coming

Further discussion on a proposed city planning commission or "advisory board" is to be presented at a future meeting of the Tawas City Council.

Establishment of a commission here, similar to the one at East Tawas, has been proposed by the Tawas City Businessmen's Association. The businessmen were represented at the meeting by E. D. (Ted) Jacques.

Mayor George Tuttle said that establishment of such a commission was governed by state law and composed of nine members. It has certain powers set forth under the statute.

The mayor suggested the possibility of forming a zoning board, which could assist the council in rezoning the city and possibly act as an appeal board.

Another suggestion brought up in the discussion was formation of a nonofficial advisory board to assist the council with plans for parking and other city improvements.

It was the consensus of opinion of those present that the city could not afford hiring a group of experts, at this time, to prepare an overall plan for the city. Such a plan had been mentioned.

In other business, the council approved four changes in traffic fines proposed by Police Chief George Ruth. The changes included raising the old penalty for failure to stop for a stop sign or school bus from $7 to $10, excessive noise from $5 to $10, insufficient lights from $5 to $10 and "U" turn from $3 to $5.

Supt. Reginald Bublitz reported that building permits totaling $241,464 were issued during the calendar year of 1960. This included 11 new homes, $124,500; 10 private garages, $8,950; six commercial buildings, $66,900.

Repairs and alterations to residential buildings numbered 22 permits for a total of $13,446. Repairs to commercial buildings saw nine permits issued for a total of $6,168. One permit was issued for a church addition (Baptist), $30,000, and one for the American Legion Hall, $1,500.

Largest commercial building for the year was the branch office of the Peoples State Bank, $50,000.

L. G. McKay Jr. of McKay Sales Company reported that the Chev-

Starting Next Fall—

Tawas to Use Electronics in Classroom

Experimentation in the use of electronics in the foreign language program is now being studied at Tawas Area High School.

Recently, the school acquired a master tape recorder and eight head sets designed for such instruction. Purchase of the equipment was financed through a $400 grant from the National Defense Education Act.

"Although similar equipment has been used in other schools of this area, it is Tawas Area's first experiment with electronics in teaching," said Principal Ernest Jordan.

"We are starting out on a small scale in order to determine how well the equipment and new method of teaching will fit into our program," he said.

At present, the tape recorder and headsets are to be used by Richard Ferguson in the French language course. Although the equipment has not been incorporated into this year's program as yet, it will go into full-time use next fall.

In operation, each student listens to a master tape recording transcribed beforehand by the teacher. Commercial tapes are also prepared by textbook manufacturers. The student may listen to the tape and then transcribe his own voice repeating the lesson.

This unique learning and teaching concept allows individual corrective work by the instructor.

The equipment and method of teaching brings new meaning to the study of difficult foreign languages by providing electronic conveniences for effective teaching and learning.

The instructor guides the individual achievements of each student, as learning becomes an exciting new experience for both students and teacher.

This equipment does not take the place of traditional classroom teaching. It does, however, speed and improve the learning of subjects, such as languages, by 25 percent or more.

Educators are constantly searching for new ways to teach. New texts, new curriculum, new approaches to the teaching-learning function, if practical and time saving, can spark the progress and rekindle the interest and imagination of students and teachers, alike.

This new way of teaching and learning has already proved highly productive in the study of

During her six years in band, Miss Clute has received a total of 22 medals, including nine first awards and one second in district competition; one first award, five seconds and two thirds in state competition. She has been a member of Central Michigan University honors band for two years, plus being a member of the district all-star band for two years. Last summer, she studied at Interlochen and was selected to the all-state high school band. She was among 80 bandsmen selected for the University of Michigan's woodwind and percussion ensemble. She plans to enroll at the U of M next fall. Last year's Sousa award winner, Miss Nancy Allen, is currently on tour in Russia with the University of Michigan Band.—Tawas Herald Photo.

A deer attempted to jump over a Greyhound bus Monday night—it did not make it.

No one was injured in the accident, which occurred south of Greenbush. The deer was killed.

Soil Stewardship—Everyone's Responsibility—

Soil Stewardship Week, May 7-14, is an important time for people throughout America, both rural and urban, for it is a time for emphasizing the importance of soil in the lives of people everywhere.

Soil Stewardship Week is a time for renewing awareness of man's responsibility to the land. It is not a reminder to the farmer or rancher, alone, but a reminder to everyone who would put a spade to the soil. The contractor with his housing development, the engineer with his highway, the lumberman with his sawmill and even the gardener with his plot of ground, share in the responsibility this week emphasizes. It is a week, also, of acquainting the city dweller with the role good land use plays in his life.

Without a doubt, both rural and urban dwellers have an interest in the use of our natural resources, particularly the soil. This interest goes beyond the present use of our land. It must take into consideration the demands that will be placed on the land by future generations and the obligation that man has to those who will follow him.

After all, to whom does the land really belong? To you? To me? Isn't it a fact that it does not belong to any of us at all? Aren't we really just stewards of the land as well as everything we acquire in life?

Today's MEDITATION

The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

Read John 6:30-40

Him that cometh to me I will in no way cast out. (John 6:37.) Word came to a missionary that a woman had died. When he saw her, he persuaded her people not to bury her, for he said she was not dead but in a coma. After some hours she regained consciousness. Her astonished relatives listened with great respect to her words.

What she told them confirmed what the missionaries had been telling the people. She told them she had seen a beautiful place where there was no sickness or hunger. She said, "Jesus is so good, and I am so bad." But He was her Saviour. Gone was all her fear and she eagerly awaited her call to return to that good place. It came within a few days.

In the village, five men came to the mission seeking the way of salvation. They opened their hearts to Christ. Thus was the church established in another dark corner of the world.

The church is surely at work in the world. Even now, many persons are hearing of the one true God for the first time. The work is the Holy Spirit's—But He uses human messengers.

PRAYER

O God of the nations, bless the work of Thy church in every land. Confound the work of sin and bring glory to the name of Thy victorious Son in hearts where darkness still holds sway. In His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The work of salvation is the Holy Spirit's, but He uses human messengers. Greta Secord, nurse, Papua.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Man's perfect, spiritual relationship to God will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Opening selections from the Bible in the lesson-sermon on the subject, "Adam and Fallen Man," will include these passages from the first chapter of Genesis: "And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness. . . . So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. . . . And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy these lines will be read (p. 259): "The Christlike understanding of scientific being and divine healing includes a perfect Principle and idea—perfect God and perfect man—as the basis of thought and demonstration."

The Golden Text comes from Psalm 138: "The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever."

CEDAR LOGS in the "boom yard" on the AuSable River. During the fire of 1911, flames enveloped this area rapidly and then spread to the populated sections of Oscoda and AuSable.

This picture, evidently, was snapped some years before 1911, judging from the quantity of logs.—Joseph Barkman Collection.

Fire Wrote 'Finis' to Lumbering Era

By JAMES COLBY

By residents' accounts, the off-shore winds raged between 40 and 60 miles an hour. To stand off-shore would be a hazard because of heavy seas and sparks. In any event, there now were no docks.

Through this time, the City of AuSable had been spared. The fire had crossed to the Oscoda side of the river at the bridge and had been quenched on the Sable side. The town appeared to be safe.

Many had fled the fire in Oscoda by crossing the river. Now, at 7 o'clock in the evening as the fire appeared to be dying down, fresh winds out of the north forced the fire to recross the river and sweep into AuSable.

The town was leveled in a matter of minutes. Flames were said to shoot 60 feet in the air. Buildings appeared to explode and crumble, rather than burn.

Even though alerted by the experience of seeing Oscoda burn, many had made no preparation and fled before pursuing flames as all their possessions were destroyed.

... Those I saw fall did not get up." Through the panic, Iosco County Circuit Judge Maine J. Conine was said to have walked with an extended, but dignified stride, appearing and disappearing in the front volumes of smoke.

The newspapers were filled with emotional accounts, such as those by Mrs. Diamond, Stanley Edgley (he estimated 50 dead) saw men "run into the very heart of the wall of flame," and talked to a man who had seen, "many overcome by smoke fall off the dock and drown."

In spite of the many accounts and, probably to the chagrin of their imaginative authors, there were only five recorded deaths.

People survived anyway they could. Piety Hill did not burn, the fighters there saved themselves. The Niko saved 280. The steamer Kongo carried 200 survivors to Harrisville. The steamer Durkee took 25 on board and stood off-shore all night.

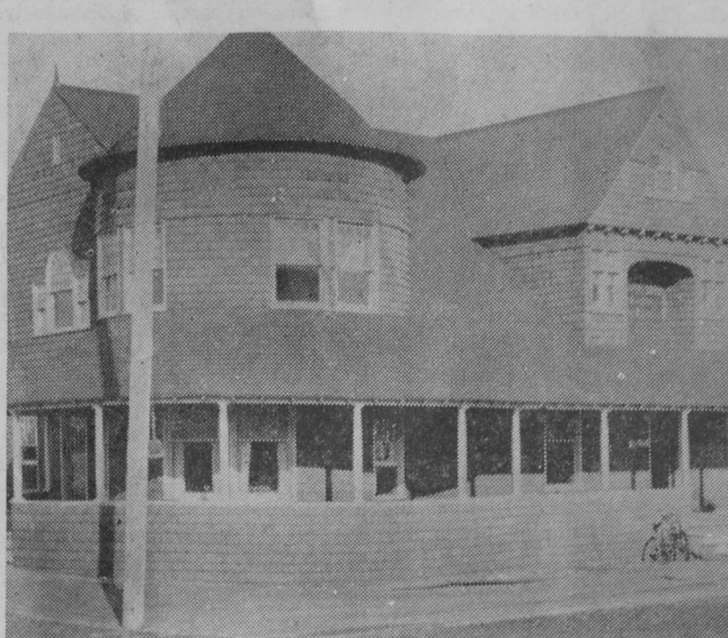

Some fled to the sands off AuSable where the water remains shallow far into the lake. Some survived the tortuous heat in the river between the two towns. Jacques Lavoie, father of Napoleon Levoie, and his wife clung to pilings in the river. (Jacques later died from burns, exposure and pneumonia in a Bay City hospital.)

Dr. Currie and three other men survived in the river by continually ducking themselves. All sustained serious burns and Dr. Currie had his eyebrows and beard burned away. Some escaped into the swamps and others found places along the railroad tracks.

July 12 found hundreds homeless. East Tawas, itself a tiny town, housed 600 survivors. Though the town was almost stripped bare of food, they managed to ship 1,300 loaves of bread and three barrels of ham to Oscoda. Many camped on the sands at the mouth of the river. Between 70 and 100 slept in the AuSable schoolhouse; 100 slept in an AuSable fish house. Hundreds camped around the town in any shelter they could find.

All that remained of AuSable was the schoolhouse (surrounded by several acres of sand), two other buildings and the Detroit and Mackinac Railway buildings which were one mile west of town.

In Oscoda, four complete blocks were saved on Piety Hill (about 20 buildings) two Pack houses and

THIS BUILDING housed H. M. Loud and Sons office at AuSable. Henry M. Loud built the first successful lumbermill there in 1866. From that time until the fire, the Louds figured prominently in affairs of the twin towns. The Louds employed 80 percent of the AuSable-Oscoda area working force in 1911.—Herald Collection.

Peter Carlson's house on the north end of town.

In the burned areas, devastation was complete. Pictures of the downtown area of Oscoda do not even show debris. Fire and wind swept clean everything above ground.

The most commonly given estimation of cash losses was two million dollars, at least half of which was suffered by the Louds. Their stores, expensive homes, tramways, docks, 125 freight cars, four railroad engines, two saw mills, a planing mill, a shingle mill, a bolt mill, lumber yards, the cedar yard, pump houses and huge piles of lumber at the docks were lost.

Will MacGillivray estimated 600 buildings in all were destroyed. The Detroit News reported the cash losses at one million dollars, the assessed valuation at $278,000 and the aggregate insurance at $75,000.

While the Louds lost heaviest in total money, you can not lose more than everything you own, as most people did. Five lost their lives: Jacques Lavoie, as mentioned; William Batts, porter at the Hotel Elliott, and an unidentified peddler were found pinned under a fallen viaduct; Francois Clairmont, an aged musician, was found under his home, and Samuel Rosenthal was found dead alongside a trunk he was trying to save.

Aid was given to the survivors almost instantaneously. Port Huron opened its heart and pocket-books to the Niko survivors. They arrived in Port Huron penniless and in washclothes. A committee was formed which hustled them to hotels and lunchrooms for a meal and then to the Masonic Temple for lodging.

Detroit sent an estimated $5,000 in cash value in relief goods. Ironically, this figure included three carloads of lumber.

The State of Minnesota sent a check for $2,500. As happens much of the material sent indicated people had "cleaned out their garrets" and it had to be burned.

But Detroit and Alpena were especially commended by The Press for sending only things that filled wants. Carloads of shoes, clothes, bedding, blankets and tents arrived.

Peter MacPhail and MacGillivray returned to Oscoda from Port Huron as soon as transportation could be arranged. Standing out in MacPhail's memory were the floating piles of lumber still burning and the dead, bloated animals throughout both towns.

People in those days kept geese, pigs, cows, horses or some type of animal now associated as living only on farms. Also, the mills each kept as many as 30 or 40 teams of horses. When the fire broke out, the horses were released and ran panic stricken right into the flames.

Some said engine sparks caused it; a preacher said, "blind pigs, cockfights and much goings on caused it and it was an encore for Sodom and Gomorrah."

Whatever it was, AuSable lay completely barren for years. It was decided to rebuild only Oscoda. The survivors were as tough and determined as their ear-biters-off predecessors—and Oscoda remained a town.

The lumber business was again attempted but, except for a brief fling during the inflation created by World War I, it never paid.

To talk today to the tourist lackeys, Oscoda, if not AuSable, has recovered. But, to the "white water boys," the towns withered in the 1890s and died in 1911.

(This concludes the four-part series on Oscoda-AuSable by James Colby. It should be noted here that Oscoda-AuSable is again an expanding and progressive community. The scars from that long-ago fire are all but forgotten. New business places line Oscoda's main street, new churches and schools have been constructed or are under construction and new homes are being built.)

(Much credit for this can be attributed to the expansion of nearby Wurtsmith Air Force Base, but, to a larger extent, the credit should go to those who have remained in the Oscoda-AuSable area following the disastrous fire, along with those new residents who have made the area their home since that time.—The Editors.)

APPOINTED CHAIRMAN OF VFW POPPY DRIVE
Commander Vernon Hill, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 5678, announced today the appointment of William Ohst as chairman of the VFW's annual Buddy Poppy drive which will be held in Iosco County May 25-27.

In accepting the appointment, Mr. Ohst expressed a sincere hope that this would be the biggest year ever in the sale of Buddy Poppies here. He pointed out that today, more than ever, we have a solemn obligation to help those who gave so much during times of war.

"The high cost of living," he said, "has placed an increased burden on our disabled veterans. It is our responsibility to see that they are properly cared for and relieved as far as possible from greater hardships. In addition, we must not forget those widows and orphans of veterans now living at our national home in Eaton Rapids. If we fail them, we also fail the men who have already paid the supreme sacrifice."

Kindergarten Registration Set for May 15-16

Kindergarten registration for Tawas Area Schools is set for May 15-16 with Dr. E. A. Hasty, district health director, and Mrs. Earl Wight, county nurse, on hand to examine preschool children and give immunizations if they are needed.

A child must be five years old on or before December 1 if he is to enroll for kindergarten in Tawas Area Schools. It is necessary that parents bring their children's birth certificates or baptismal records on registration day.

According to Michigan law, all children enrolling in any public, private, parochial or denominational school in Michigan for the first time shall submit either a statement signed by a physician that they have been immunized against small pox, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis and poliomyelitis; a statement signed by one parent or guardian to the effect that the child has not been immunized because of religious or other conviction or a request signed by one parent or guardian that the local health department give the needed protective injections.

Cards will be mailed early next week to parents of kindergarten age children giving the place, date and time of registration.

Newcomers to the community are requested to call the office of elementary principal, FOREST 2-3151, for information and registration appointment.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

You know, when I was a child, I think there was nothing I was more fond of than my knitted or crocheted toys. When I was about five, I remember, I had a little crocheted puppy that went everywhere with me. I'd grab him by the ear—wade with him through puddles—take him to bed with me. We belonged to each other. And it was some time until I was in love with someone again the way I was with him.

ducklings just as I did with that long-ago crocheted puppy.

EASY TO MAKE—FUN TO GIVE!

Yes, these are colorful toys, certainly—all white with black wings and orange feet and bills. And their caps and scarves are in blues and greens. Altogether they are so bright, so fresh, so friendly—you want to squeeze them. And they ARE squeezable—because they're stuffed with cotton batting. (Cardboard in their feet make them stand up tall.) To make these toys you have to be able to increase and decrease—and know the single, double and chain stitches. But if you don't have these techniques already, they're easy to pick up. Then Mama Duck and her child go quickly. And it will see this couple as his very own—to drag through puddles and later on, to bed. . . . Get your directions now. LAST SATURDAY'S trout season opener saw below freezing weather, few fishermen and poor results. One fisherman, James H. Rhule of Pionconing, pictured at top, caught a nice 5 1/2-pound rainbow on the East Branch of the AuGres River below More Trout dam. The picture at left was snapped from the M-55 bridge while the picture at bottom shows fishermen along Carpenter Road. The inset shows Louis Michalski of Detroit as he prepared his gear for the fishing opener. He was one of the few fishermen to try their luck on More Trout pond.—Tawas Herald Photos.

SOCIAL SECURITY AGENT HERE MAY 11
There's good news for disabled persons under 50, according to Paul M. Ellifritz, district manager of Bay City Social Security Office. Before last year's amendments to the social security law, a disabled worker under 50 could have his social security record "frozen," but he and his family could not be paid monthly benefits until he reached age 50. This is now changed. Any person under age 65 who meets the definition of disability in the social security law and who has worked long enough in employment covered by social security may be eligible for benefits, regardless of his age. "If you are a disabled worker under age 65," Mr. Ellifritz urges, "consult your social security office to see if you are eligible for monthly benefits." Persons who are so severely disabled that they cannot work and who have no immediate hopes of recovery and who have worked under social security for at least five out of the 10 years just before becoming disabled should apply immediately. Disability insurance benefits for disabled workers under age 50 and their families were first payable for the month of November 1960. A representative of the Social Security Administration will be in Tawas City at the Iosco County Building Thursday, May 11, 10:30 a. m.

100 Years Ago This Week...in THE CIVIL WAR

WASHINGTON, D.C.—May 6—This week's call by President Lincoln for volunteers included a summons for 18,000 seamen to participate in blockade service at Southern ports. Shown above are sailors in a typical drill aboard a Union man-of-war. Mr. Lincoln also called for some 42,000 three-year Army volunteers. Naval strength now stands at only 7,000 officers and men.

South Declares War on North

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—May 6—The South declared war on the North today. The provisional Confederate government issued the declaration as it prepared to move its headquarters north to Richmond, Va., to be nearer the areas of actual combat. The action followed a stirring message delivered last week by provisional President Jefferson Davis to the Southern congress. Davis said the South was striving for peace "at any sacrifice, save that of honor and independence." DAVIS recalled that "peaceful overtures" had been made in Washington early in March in an effort to resolve the hot question of Ft. Sumter. Union spokesmen rebuffed the Southern envoys, Davis asserted, adding: "The crooked paths of diplomacy can scarcely furnish an example so wanting in courtesy, in candor, and directness as was the course of the United States government toward our commissioners in Washington." Key architects with Davis in shaping of the South's declaration were said to be Vice-President Alexander H. Stephens of Georgia, former member of the Federal Congress, and Robert Toombs, also of Georgia, the South's secretary of state, and long-time law-maker. THERE was no immediate reaction from the North. Observers believe the declaration will be officially ignored—just as the formation of the provisional Confederate government has been officially unacknowledged in Washington.

State Rehabilitation Program Helps Two Iosco Residents

Two Iosco County people were rehabilitated into paying jobs during the last fiscal year. Miss Anne Gray, rehabilitation coordinator in this county for the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Department of Public Instruction, just released the information.

Miss Gray reported that 23 disabled persons here received service aimed at preparing them to hold jobs. These services cost $2,581.84 in Iosco County during the year.

The DVR expenditures in Iosco County, Miss Gray explained, were for the following services:

1. Medical examinations and diagnoses, $256.
2. Treatments, including medical and surgical services, $202.
3. Appliances such as artificial limbs, braces and hearing aids, $746.95.
4. Hospitalization, for correction of defects, $199.80.
5. Training, in school or on-the-job, $805.99.
6. Other services, such as tools and transportation, $371.10.

The Iosco County area received benefits far greater than the amount of rehabilitation funds spent. Miss Gray pointed out that the average weekly earnings of people rehabilitated in Michigan last year were $57.15. Before rehabilitation they earned $15.33. Applied to this county, it indicates an estimated annual increase of $4,400 in wages earned by the two persons rehabilitated here. The average cost per rehabilitation in Michigan was $671.

According to Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, it is estimated that the department's division of vocational rehabilitation actually rehabilitates about 30 percent of those who need the service each year.

Dr. Bartlett stated, "Michigan is 50th among the states in the per capita amount appropriated for rehabilitation. The national average is 40.4 cents per person. Michigan spends 24.8 cents.

"The federal government is encouraging every state to rehabilitate more of their disabled citizens into employment," Dr. Bartlett added, "It offers federal money to the extent it is matched with state funds. This year, close to $800,000 of the federal funds allotted to Michigan were not claimed. If this amount had been matched with state funds, it would have been possible to provide 50 percent more service in Iosco County."

Council

rolot truck chassis purchased recently would be ready for delivery to the W. S. Darley Company May 19 for installation of fire apparatus.

A letter from property owners along Bay Drive was read, which requested city participation in construction of a sidewalk in that area. Property owners making the request were Howard Silverthorn, Dr. James Jacques, Edward Rima and Donald Gilsky. The request was approved, the sidewalk to be constructed on a cost sharing basis between the city and property owners.

Bulbizz reported that Consumers Power Company had approved recent council action in which it was stipulated that if the power company was allowed to remove trees in the cemetery, they were to be replaced by suitable nursery stock.

The superintendent reported that Consumers had stated it would send a landscape expert here to study soil conditions in the city park for planting these trees. The expert is to make recommendations on the types of trees to be planted, along with other suggestions.

Braves Chalk Up Double Win Over Arenac Eastern

Tawas Area Braves chalked up a double win over the Arenac Eastern Eagles last Friday, winning the day game 12-1, and followed up with a 14-0 win under the lights.

Winning pitcher in both games was Herman Rollin, who pitched the entire first game and started the second. He was relieved by Werth in the fourth inning in the night game.

Tawas Area collected 19 hits in the two games, but received a great deal of help from the poor fielding by the losers. Arenac Eastern had a total of 16 errors in the two games.

Dale Suminski started on the mound for the losers in both games, but was the victim of errors on the part of his mates. Tawas, on the other hand, came up with good fielding, particularly by Werth, who pulled in several hard hit drives off the bats of the opposing team.

3 ESCAPE INJURY; CANOE HITS SUBMERGED STUMP

Three persons escaped injury when their aluminum canoe hit a submerged stump and overturned in the AuSable River Saturday evening.

George Morgan, Oscoda, owner of the canoe, said that he and two friends, Howard Harriman of Milan and Robert Draughn of Saginaw, were paddling around an island in the river when the craft went out of control.

Evidently, the men lost control when the canoe hit the main current. It drifted down stream, hit a submerged stump and the men were thrown into the water.

Draughn held onto a stump and the other two men made it to the north shore with the canoe. Draughn was rescued by the Oscoda Township Fire Department.

The mishap occurred in Section 31 of Oscoda Township, half way between Foote Dam and Oscoda.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY FROM AUTOMOBILE

Frost admitted stealing two tires and rims from an auto owned by Ronald Satterfield of Wurtsmith on April 23. He had replaced them with "junk" tires and rims.

Satterfield noted the change and notified air police. After an extensive search of vehicles on base, the stolen tires and rims were located on Frost's vehicle.

After being processed out of military service, Frost was turned over to state police. He entered a plea of guilty in justice court and is out on $300 bond while awaiting circuit court trial.

Kidnap

over a point of law. At one stage of the trial, Judge Miller said that the real issue, as he saw it, was whether or not a false arrest constitutes a felony.

Buder maintained Monday that under the statute, in order to issue a kidnap warrant, there must be a specific criminal intent to cause the victim to be secretly confined, imprisoned within this state, sent out of the state, or in any way held or kept detained against his will.

The intent with which the victim was seized and confined is material, he said, and must be set out in the indictment and established upon trial. He said that the three words which must be proven in the case were that the act was willful, malicious and felonious.

"You cannot accidentally kidnap someone," Buder declared. "You must realize the consequences of the act."

The assistant attorney general said that at the time of the alleged citizens arrest, about 5:30 a. m., O'Rourke was in the process of preparing to leave for Flint voluntarily to answer court charges brought by the two men.

He said that Bogart and Buder forcibly entered the cottage and forcibly took him out of it clad only in his under shorts.

Goussy said that the act contained all the elements necessary in a kidnap charge.

language. The master tape recorder can also be played before a large audience (up to 500 persons) and could be easily incorporated into other phases of school instruction.

This new method of teaching is to be incorporated in the new Oscoda Area High School, now under construction. A language laboratory is being planned with 30 stations. Each station would have a tape recorder, controlled individually or by console unit operated by the instructor.

Because of the high cost of such a set-up, Jordan said that Tawas Area would use only one machine in a starting experimental basis.
