Ex-Judge to Speak Before Isco GOP

Burglar Takes $300 from TA School Safe

Approximately $300 in cash was stolen from a safe at Tawas Area High School sometime over the past week-end.

Supt. Reynold Mick and Custodian Ernest Nash discovered the burglary early Monday morning and investigation was started immediately by Detective LeRoy McCluer of the Michigan State Police.

The burglar apparently entered the building through an unlocked window on the north side. He gained entrance into the main office by prying open a lock on a service window.

A desk in the superintendent's office had apparently been ransacked and a set of master keys removed. Combination to the safe was also found in the desk.

When it was discovered that the keys were missing, Mick unlocked the vault door and found the safe was open. A cash box containing the $300 was not found.

The superintendent said that the safe door had definitely been locked when the school was closed Friday afternoon.

He said that locks were to be changed and that a new combination adjustment would be made on the safe. There was no damage to the building other than a broken lock on the service window.

Retired circuit judge, Herman Dehnke of Harrisville, returns tonight to the circuit court room of Isco County Building.

Although he will not be seated on the circuit court bench with which he was familiar for so many years, Judge Dehnke returns to address the annual Isco County Republican Convention.

Dehnke served as the Alpena Representative District's delegate to the recently completed Michigan Constitutional Convention.

During drafting of the proposed new state constitution, he served on several important committees. He will tell some of his experiences at Lansing and will also outline features of the new document.

The last time that Dehnke addressed a gathering here was during the election campaign to name convention delegates.

"We are very pleased that Judge Dehnke has accepted our invitation to speak at this gathering," said Elmer Werth, chairman of the Isco County Republican Committee. "His visit comes at a very appropriate time, inasmuch as final work of the delegates is now completed."

The public is invited to attend this meeting, which starts at 8:00 p. m. A question and answer period will be conducted by the noted jurist.

NOTICE

The Tawas Herald office will be closed Saturday, August 18.

TC Elementary Unit Nearly Completed

Confidence was expressed Monday night by William Look, board of education president, that the new Tawas City elementary unit would be ready for use by the opening of school.

Following a discussion by members as to the possibility that work might not be completed by the first week in September, Look said, "Do not worry about it. Everything will be ready in time."

The board president said that work remaining included the laying of tile on floors and painting interior walls.

Superintendent Reynold Mick said that custodians were to start work this week on preparing four rooms for occupancy. He said that if the remainder of the building was not completed by the opening of school, it would be ready shortly thereafter.

Should the building not be completed in time, there is a possibility that seventh graders would not attend school the first week, said the superintendent.

In any event, said Mick, nothing will be moved out of the Alabaster unit until the new building is completed. Fifth and sixth grades attended school there last year.

The board authorized purchase of 24 cases of floor tile for laying in the corridor of the original portion of the building. This work is to be done during Christmas vacation.

A special meeting is to be held next Monday night to open bids on the purchase of tax anticipation notes to finance construction of the new elementary unit. Notes are to be issued for $66,000 and $58,000.

In other business, a proposal from Michigan School Services for providing a 36-station language laboratory for the high school was tabled for further discussion and investigation.

Cost of the electronic equipment under the proposal was $4,000. (See SCHOOL BOARD, page 12.)

Richard Ferguson Released from TA School Contract

Richard Ferguson has been released from his 1962-63 teaching contract at Tawas Area High School in order to accept a position as supervisor of all elementary music in Alpena schools.

After discussion Monday night, Ferguson's release was accepted by a roll call, although Trustee Joseph Dimmick declined to vote.

Supt. Reynold Mick stated that he had written to all employment agencies in an attempt to secure a replacement for Ferguson, who is Latin and French instructor here.

The superintendent said that the only solution to the vacancy problem he had found, thus far, was to hire Mrs. Edward Rima to teach two French classes and Wesley J. Dudgeon, a retired minister, to handle the four Latin classes.

The two teacher prospects have been contacted and stated willingness to fill the vacancy. Both are qualified instructors.

It was the board's opinion that a teacher should not be held back from advancement, even though he had signed a contract to teach the next year and his vacancy would cause a replacement problem.

Trustee Dimmick urged the administration to continue its efforts toward securing a full-time foreign language instructor.

West German—

Exchange Student Here

Jutta Kleps, 17-year-old German exchange student, arrived in the United States last Friday with 114 other European youths who are taking part in the Youth for Understanding Teen-Age Exchange Program.

During the next 12 months, Miss Kleps will make her home with Mr. and Mrs. John Pitts and daughter, Mary, at East Tawas.

"Detroit Metropolitan Airport was just a mass of confusion when the American families were on hand to meet their new sons and daughters," said Mrs. Pitts.

Jutta (pronounced Utah) will start her senior year this fall at Tawas Area High School. She will enroll August 20 with Miss Pitts, who is also a senior.

Mr. Pitts is manager of National Gypsum Company installations in Isco County.

Science, principally the study of biology, is Jutta's main interest, although required subjects under this program include United States History, United States Government and English.

An active girl with varied interests, at Viktoria Girls Schule in Essen, Miss Kleps took part in the dramatic society, sang in the world-famous Bach Choir, as well as taking part in swimming, golf and other sports.

After spending the year here, she will return to Germany to complete her high school studies. She plans to become a teacher of German and religion.

In addition to speaking fluent English, which she has studied five years, Miss Kleps has studied Greek and Latin.

Her father is a public accountant in the West Germany coal and steel center on the Ruhr River.

er. She has four sisters, one of whom is a school teacher in Spain.

The program under which Miss Kleps comes to this country is sponsored by the Michigan and Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches.

She is the sixth foreign exchange student to make their homes with Tawas families since the program began.

The program is designed with the idea of acquainting foreign youths with the United States and also to improve inter-hemisphere relationships.

Postmaster Retires

Mrs. Lillian W. Bolen retires Friday as postmaster at the Alabaster post office. Effective Saturday, the office will be known as the Alabaster rural station. Clerk in charge will be Mrs. Hope Rescoe.

TROOPER THEODORE RESZKA was one of three men who are credited with reviving a six-year-old Saginaw boy, who had been under water almost 30 minutes Saturday. Reszka applied mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration to Kenneth Greif. The rock piling where Kenneth submerged is in the background.—Herald Photo.

Unconscious Boy Still Fights for Life

Kenneth Greif, six-year-old of Saginaw, was still unconscious and fighting for his life yesterday after being rescued Saturday from Tawas Bay, just east of the state park.

The boy and three small swimming companions reportedly had been jumping off a rock piling into the water near the Captain Mac Landing. Kenneth's disappearance went unnoticed until one of the children ran to the state park dock for help.

After several minutes had elapsed, the nearby state police post was notified at 3:54 p. m. and the boy's body was recovered 19 minutes later in about three feet of water. He had drifted 100 yards west of submersion.

He was unconscious, his breathing and heart had stopped.

State Police Trooper Theodore Reszka started mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration and Dr. William Robinson, Union Lake osteopath, applied external cardiac massage.

Assisting was Benjamin Schrader of Saginaw County. Both Schrader and Dr. Robinson were vacationing at the park.

They detected the first sign of life at 4:55, 42 minutes after the boy was found on the lake bottom by Ronald Ballier of Freeland. When the heart beat became stronger, the boy was taken to the hospital by the Moffatt ambulance.

The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Greif, were standing at their son's hospital bedside yesterday morning, as were his grandparents.

That the boy is still living can only be attributed to the valiant efforts initially of Trooper Reszka, Dr. Robinson and Schrader.

Kenneth is fighting against great odds to stay alive and doctors are using every means at their disposal to keep him from death.

However, Dr. Raymond L. Sutton, the attending physician, has stated that anyone suffering from lack of oxygen for any extended length of time would suffer some brain damage.

"He is still alive and that is one thing in our favor," the doctor said. "We will just have to go along as we are and hope for the best."

Said to have been submerged in the water for approximately 30 minutes, Kenneth's survival would be a medical rarity under the circumstances.

Conservation Dept. Investigates Report of Huron Oil Slick

A report Tuesday that a lake freighter had left an oil "slug" in Lake Huron east of Tawas Bay was to have been investigated by Conservation Officer A. G. Leitz.

According to state law, freighters are prohibited from dumping excess oil into the Great Lakes.

However, it has been noted that sometimes during rough weather conditions, the freighters discharge ballast in order to reach the proper draft.

Two years ago, a lake freighter discharged ballast containing a large amount of oil which had seeped into the ship's bilge. As a result, the shoreline above East Tawas was covered with an oil slick.

Oscoda Kiwanians Again to Sponsor Steam Loco. Rides

Returning by popular demand Saturday, August 18, will be real steam locomotive rides on the Oscoda-AuSable and Southern Railroad.

This miniature railroad is owned by J. Gilbert Dobson and is located at Dobson World Wide Movers' warehouse south of Oscoda.

Dobson is again making the rides available under sponsorship of the Oscoda Kiwanis Club. Several hundred persons enjoyed the rides July 28.

The midget locomotive will start hauling passengers at 9:00 a. m. and will continue until dusk.

Hens Are 'Talking'—

Egg Factory in Production

Revolutionary new methods being used to increase farm yields and production continue to amaze the average "city slicker," but even the modern-day farm housewife would flip if she saw what was happening to her egg money.

One of the most noteworthy changes in production during recent times has been the establishment of egg factories to supply wants of the huge grocery super-market chains.

Such an establishment was recently opened near Turner by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Swartz. The operation is located seven miles west of US-23 on Turner Road.

It is difficult to describe or even imagine 12,000 laying hens cackling in one concentrated area, but that is the number of birds at the Swartz Egg Factory. It is noisy, to say the least.

However, out of the din of this hen "talk" comes 9,000 or 10,000 eggs a day. A big semi-truck pulls up to the Swartz farm each week and 170 cases are taken from cold storage for shipment to the Kroger Company's candling and grading plant at Coldwater.

The story here is not necessarily the number of chickens, but how the Swartz family gets the large number of eggs ready for shipment.

The chickens' day starts at 4:00 a. m., when overhead lights are turned on by an automatic timer to spoof the hens into thinking it is daylight. After that, the egg-gathering really gets complicated.

An endless belt moves through the two 200-foot hen houses circling in front of the nests and, as eggs are laid by the chickens, they roll into cups fastened to the belt.

The belt moves a few feet at timed intervals and by 7:30 o'clock it has reached its holding capacity of 3,000 eggs.

About two hours earlier, Mr. Swartz starts his day by cleaning and disinfecting water fountains which run the entire length of the building and checks the automatic grain feeding apparatus to make sure it is operating properly.

The twin air-conditioned chicken houses, each measuring about 36 feet wide, have four-foot deep pits in the center with a slatwork feeding and roosting area on top.

The entire operation has been designed with the chicken in mind," states Melvin Glick, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Swartz. A teacher at Pigeon during the school year, Glick works summer months at the egg factory.

"These hens are rather high-strung," said Glick. "The least movement or unusual noise will bother them. Production dropped more than 300 eggs one day because a faulty electric fan was noisy."

The factory has a rather novel way of discouraging hens from roosting in the nests at night. Each is equipped with a baffle which is a school teacher in Spain.

Standing at two gathering tables, they sort eggs which roll automatically off the endless belt. Dirty eggs are washed in a special temperature controlled solution and are later packed into cartons.

Throughout most of the forenoon, the gathering and packing work continues. With a few hours off in the afternoon, the Swartz family completes the sorting job about 5:00 p. m. The day's production of grade A eggs is then stored in a walk-in cooler to await shipment.

eggs are produced daily. The buildings are fitted with an automatic feeding apparatus. The factory is located on Turner Road, seven miles west of US-23.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Tourist Industry in Michigan Nearing Crucial Crossroad

By JAMES H. HALL
Secretary-Manager

East Michigan Tourist Association (Part 1 of a six-part series)

The tourist industry in Michigan today is nearing a crucial crossroad. Changes in the nature of this important industry are occurring with increasing frequency in the Tawas-Oscoda area, Iosco County and throughout all of Michigan. Roads are a part of the changing tourist scene, referring to the new high-speed freeways. But even more important are the tourists themselves.

These tourists, people who for years have traveled "north" for vacations and recreation, are changing. The fact that Michigan was a pioneer tourist state many years ago could develop into a handicap; meaning that apathy and obsolescence in our personal abilities and physical facilities could be pitfalls. The changing crossroad also includes the obvious fact that the Michigan's tourist industry competes with many more vacation and recreation areas today than it did just 10 short years ago.

Those of us who earn all or part of our livings from serving tourists and vacationers must, without fail, learn of these changes and adapt to them or we are going to take the wrong turn at the crossroads. We must ask ourselves the questions of what is happening today. What can we do to improve the new conditions that prevail because of the freeways? What can we do to adjust to the changing travel habits and desires of our guests? What can we do to make our business establishments and ourselves more attractive, more up-to-date in the services and facilities we offer? And what can we do about the increasing competition from the Canadian provinces, from the Southeastern States, Southwestern States and other areas of the nation?

The first step is recognition that these four questions hold great importance to individual business proprietors, communities, region and state. Once we recognize that these are real and vital questions, we can go about the business of getting adequate answers to them.

Partial answers will come from individual reaction but most of the questions cannot be answered individually; they must be answered by group action. An individual finds it difficult to look to the future all by himself, but he can do it beneficially with the help of friends and neighbors, even with local competitors. The importance of local business groups—chambers of commerce—has never been more critical to Northern Michigan, the Tawas-Oscoda area and to the entire county. The answers to these listed questions, and to the little ones they impart, can come much more quickly to individual businessmen and women when they are unafraid to talk over their problems with friends who have the same or similar problems.

The success of individual businesses in future years will depend to a great extent upon the amount of energy and time spent with chamber of commerce business groups today. Individuals must overcome the outdated tradition of "making it on their own." Business failures today occur to nearly all those people who fail to get together with their neighbors. Failure to discuss and exchange ideas; failure to work on community projects; failure to become a part of the local business community; all these lead to failure for the individual businessman or woman. One does not have to be an economist to understand these basic business facts.

To recognize that these problems exist today and to understand the basic questions involved—highways, changing travel habits, obsolescence, competition—is an important first step toward solving them. We will find the answers as we battle for our economic lives in the coming months and years; of this there is no doubt. The time to begin finding the answers is now.

THREE persons were injured Saturday night on US-23 south of Alabaster. This picture was taken as Percy Jones of Flint, one of the injured victims, was being lifted into the Jacques ambulance. Jones was a passenger in a car driven by his sister, Florence Jones, which ran off the highway and rolled over. Jones received chest and shoulder injuries. The driver and another passenger, Annie Williams, received bruises.—Tawas Herald Photo.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE—

Man's dominion over the bondage of materialism will be set forth in Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Selections from the Bible and correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will comprise the lesson-sermon entitled "Soul."

The Golden Text is from Exodus (20): "I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me."

This citation will be read from Science and Health (p. 14): "Entirely separate from the belief and dream of material living, is the Life divine, revealing spiritual understanding and the consciousness of Man's dominion over the whole earth. This understanding casts out error and heals the sick, and with it you can speak 'as one having authority.'"

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:

We at Sunset Motel are pleased to inform you that we have been selected as the only motel in Tawas City to be recommended by the Ontario (Canada) Automobile Association.

The OAA is to the Ontario States.

We are told the OAA has over 100,000 members. Our listing will be in the next issue of their road guide to recommended accommodations. They gave us a very nice write-up and a general description of the year around activities to be found in the Tawas area.

So we feel we are helping to advertise our community in the Province of Ontario, Canada, and in some small way, perhaps, help Canadians to plan a visit to the Tawas.

Respectfully,

LEIGH EVANS, 14-year-old East Tawas archer, is shown holding the evidence of a truly sensational shot which he made during a recent archery tournament. At a distance of 36 yards, Evans' arrow split the shaft of another arrow which was in the bullseye. The two aluminum shafts are now one. Evans' arrow struck the other dead-center and entered approximately six inches. He has won three first places out of four tournaments held this summer and this particular shot gave him a score of 572 out of a possible 1120, his highest score.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Something you should think about if you're about to buy a truck:

If all trucks were built the same way, cost the same to keep up, were worth the same at trade-in . . . then probably the price tag would be your only concern. It can't be, of course, because some trucks have more quality than others. And marks of quality are the real keys to low cost.

Chevrolet trucks, for example, have double-wall construction, which gives bodies and cabs more strength. Cabs are insulated against heat, cold and noise. A big part of road shock, which shortens truck life, is damped out by Chevrolet's suspension system; it also makes riding in the truck a pleasure. Pickup bodies and cabs are separated to eliminate stress between them.

Value such as this has induced more people to invest in Chevrolet trucks every year since 1937.

This can be a good time to buy a modern new Chevrolet truck

Late summer traditionally is the season for all-around savings on a new Chevrolet truck . . . selection is still good . . . deliveries are prompt . . . and Chevrolet dealers are doubly anxious to put you into a new vehicle in order to make way for next year's models. Coupled with the efficient performance a new Chevrolet truck will give you, it seems evident that you couldn't buy at a better time.

Come in and take full advantage of it!

SS Benefactors Should Report Extra Wages

Social security beneficiaries who are still working should report any increase in their earnings that would change their estimated income for 1962, cautioned Paul M. Ellifritz, district manager, Bay City Social Security Office.

Beneficiaries who work and earn over $1,200 a year make an annual report of their estimated earnings for the coming year, Mr. Ellifritz explained. The amount of benefits withheld by the Social Security Administration is based on this estimate.

To avoid overpayment in social security benefits, any increase in earnings above the estimate should be reported to social security promptly. If a beneficiary received more in benefits than he should have, his checks may be suspended to make up for the overpayment, Mr. Ellifritz pointed out.

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the Iosco County Building, Tawas City, Thursday, August 23, at 10:30 a. m.

FASTER INFORMATION. We're training many of our Information Operators to find the phone numbers you want faster than ever. It's being done through a special course in rapid reading, and the results are excellent. Operators who have taken the course can now find a telephone number as much as five seconds faster than before this special training. Helping our operators to find information more quickly is another way we've found to keep telephone costs down, while improving your service.

HAVE A GOOD TIME on your vacation. And one way to insure a smooth, easy-going holiday is to do your planning in advance. A check list of all the things you'll need often prevents unhappy moments en route. And remember to be sure of a bed by calling ahead for reservations. Low-cost Long Distance calls are the easy, personal way to keep in touch with the folks back home, too. They'll be delighted to hear all about your good times—and you'll have fun telling them! Long Distance rates on many calls within Michigan are now lower than ever.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

"Out with the Old Year—In with the New"—that's the cry that echoes from the celebrations that usher in every New Year. And, in a fanciful depiction of this event, a little drama is traditionally enacted. The New Year, replacing the old, is represented by means of two well known characters. One is an elderly bearded gentleman, the symbol of the year that's just ended. The other is a bouncing baby boy who personifies the gay lighthearted spirit of the year to come. As the clock strikes midnight, the Old Year is unceremoniously ushered out and replaced by the new—amidst cries of joy and revelry.

"OUT WITH THE COLD WEATHER—IN WITH THE WARM"

This month, we're taking our cue from the New Year's drama, "Out with the Old Year—In with the New." The scene of our drama, however, has been shifted to July; the script altered slightly; and the title changed to "Out with the Cold Weather—In with the Warm." We've got a delightful character playing the lead roll—one who's as perfectly cast to symbolize warm, balmy summer as the bouncing baby is to portray New Year. And—when you see the star of our show, we know your reaction will be one of as much joy as ever greeted the New Year.

NOW, INTRODUCING THE STAR OF OUR SHOW . . . It's a hat—gaily bedecked with sunny daisy chains. You begin with a simple hat frame and continue by crocheting the daisies and stitching them on. With these few simple tricks, you can create a cutoutier design—one that combines the highest styles of fashion with the highest spirits of summertime. Now to bring a grand finale to our drama, why don't you unceremoniously usher out the last winter remnants from your wardrobe, and, with this act, herald the advent of summer's blossoms, color, and gaiety. Wear this hat once, and you're certain to rate a hearty round of applause. "Tickets" to this summertime success can be had free of charge—in the form of Leaflet No. PC-2323. Simply mail your request to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper and be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

25th In A Series— Ahoy, Skipper!

THE BOATING GUEST
Quite frequently, the nonboat-owner is invited to be the ship-board guest of one of his boat-owning friends. If this is a new experience to the invited guest, he will be interested in a few suggestions or tips on what to and what not to do to insure being re-invited.

Perhaps the number one do on the list is to wear soft rubber soled shoes. This is for your own safety as well as the protection of the finish on decks, etc. And ladies, please, no spike heels. Clothing should be informal, loose fitting and comfortable, permitting unrestricted movement in and around the boat.

During the heat of the summer, some protection should be provided for the head especially if you are on a smaller boat with little or no overhead protection. If you are subject to easy sunburn, do not over-expose and bring along a suitable oil or lotion. Insect repellent is also recommended.

If sea-sickness is one of your failings, consult your druggist for a suitable remedy. When there is indication that you might be out on the water during the chill of the evening, a light weight but warm jacket is suggested.

Should you be concerned about whether to bring food or beverage consult your host or hostess. There may be limited facilities aboard for proper storage. And in the bringing category, never bring uninvited guests without permission. There may not be sufficient room or other reason they cannot be accommodated.

If you are inexperienced in boating procedures, it is usually wise to refrain from trying to assist in stowing gear, casting off, anchoring, docking, etc., unless the skipper asks you to lend a hand.

And, remember, the skipper is law even aboard the smallest craft. He is responsible for your safety and well-being so obey his instructions promptly and without question especially in case of emergency. Be the kind of guest who rates another invitation aboard.

Attend Office Staff Conference at Ferris Institute

Miss Julie Fenner, Mrs. Shirley Smith, Miss Lenor Sterling of Oscoda and Miss Shirley Ann Tarnosky of Tawas City were among the 175 office staff members from Michigan schools who attended the sixth annual work conference for educational secretaries at Ferris Institute August 6-8.

A three-day session of intensive in-service training planned to bring conferees up-to-date on new developments in educational office procedures, the conference was sponsored by the Michigan Association of Educational Secretaries and the Ferris School of Commerce.

Miss Fenner is a secretary at Oscoda Area High School; Mrs. Smith, secretary to the intermediate school principal of the Oscoda Area Schools; Miss Sterling, secretary to the superintendent of the Oscoda Area Schools; Miss Tarnosky, secretary to the superintendent of the Tawas Area High School.

"I suppose you're wondering why I called this meeting!"

Now... Test drive the NEW 'JEEP' TORNADO-OHC ENGINE

You'll be amazed at its performance!

BIRTH OF A CHAMPION! Today, after years of research, development and testing, Willys Motors proudly presents the 'Jeep' Tornado-OHC—America's first overhead camshaft engine designed for commercial vehicles.

WHAT IS AN OHC ENGINE? In a pushrod engine the valves are on top—the camshaft, which operates them, is at the bottom. It's an awkward situation like playing the piano sitting on the floor—you have to stretch up and over to hit the keys. Giving the Tornado-OHC engine overhead cams—which is what the initials OHC stand for—is like giving the pianist a chair. You get much better performance.

LOADED OHC VEHICLE PULLS LIKE IT'S EMPTY! The Tornado-OHC engine is the strongest, most economical 'Jeep' engine ever... gives you 33% more horsepower yet it cuts gasoline consumption up to 25%. And still more important it produces very high torque at very low engine speeds. So it makes light work of starting off, accelerating and climbing hills with heavy loads.

SIMPLER DESIGN MEANS LESS MAINTENANCE! The Tornado-OHC has 36 fewer moving parts than a conventional pushrod 6-cylinder engine. So it runs more smoothly, keeps its tune longer, needs adjusting less often.

And most of the parts that need servicing are at the top of the engine—so maintenance is easy, quick and inexpensive.

LONG LIFE? IT'S ALMOST INDESTRUCTIBLE! Our engineers tried every means possible to destroy the prototype Tornado-OHC engines—but they came through the severest service tests without flinching. And because Tornado-OHC produces more power with less effort it lasts much longer than a conventional engine. It's almost indestructible!

YOU'LL BE SURPRISED HOW MANY GAS STATIONS YOU PASS BY! For the heavy loads it hauls your Tornado-OHC engine uses surprisingly little fuel. And it sings happily along on standard grade gas. Spheroidal (dome-shaped) combustion chambers and centrally-placed spark plugs make it thermally very efficient—that is, it squeezes a lot of energy out of quite a small amount of fuel. And the Tornado-OHC engine has positive crankcase ventilation to get rid of corrosive exhaust-forming gases.

COME IN AND TEST DRIVE A TORNADO-OHC ENGINE! Now available in 'Jeep' Pick-ups, 4-wheel drive Utility Wagons, 2 WD Station Wagons and Panel Deliveries. But be warned—with its exciting performance you'll probably want to take it home with you. You'll be unhappy with anything else—except another OHC 'Jeep' vehicle.

RENO SCHOOL REUNION ATTENDED BY 60 PERSONS

The annual Reno school reunion was conducted August 5 at Reno Township Hall with approximately 60 persons attending. A 25th anniversary cake, topped with a little red schoolhouse, decorated the table. Mrs. William Leslie and Alex Robinson received gifts for being the oldest persons present who attended the school. Mrs. Alex Robinson and Mrs. Leslie were presented with a gift for acting as secretary and treasurer for the last 24 years. Mrs. Robinson gave a brief history of the reunion from its 1937 beginning at the Rollways picnic area. The reunion was held there each year until 1937 when the place was changed to the township hall. Mrs. Robinson also read a poem in memory of the 53 deceased persons who have died since 1937.

WHITEMORE GRANGE PLANS FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

The Whittemore Grange met Monday evening with Master Brian Bellville in charge. Plans were made to hold the annual picnic August 12 at Sand Lake. Miss Mary Shaw of Lincoln, a member of Fisher Grange at Harrisville, was a guest at the meeting.

A program on farm safety was presented with Mrs. Edith Cataline, lecturer, in charge. Pot-luck lunch completed the evening.

YOUTH GRANGE ENJOYS SCAVENGER HUNT-PICNIC

Recently the members of the Whittemore Youth Grange enjoyed a scavenger hunt followed by a wiener roast.

Ann Bellville, Lynna Bamberger and Carolyn McLean of the Whittemore Youth Grange and Miss Mary Shaw of Fisher Grange spent August 7-10 at the Grange Youth Camp at Schoolsection Lake, Mecosta County.

WHAT ARE THE MOST IMPORTANT ingredients in the creation of a beautiful knitted or crocheted garment?

Needlecraft experts are unanimous in voicing their answer—"blocking and finishing."

They don't mean to minimize the importance of the actual construction. Rather, they mean to emphasize it and to display beautiful craftsmanship as predominantly as possible. They know that careless blocking and finishing succeed only in obscuring the natural beauty of finely worked items, and that is why they urge you to pay particular attention to these crucial steps.

Today, we'd like to pass some of their professional know-how on to you. You'll find it extremely simple to adapt their secrets to your needlecraft projects. Just read and follow these few simple rules.

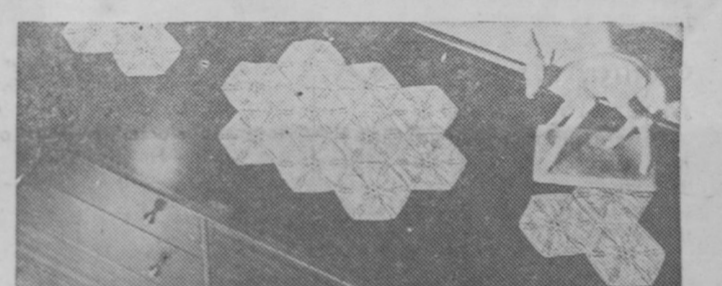

1. To complete an article, it must be pressed in a special manner known as "blocking." After laundering, pin it piece or pieces, wrong side up on a padded ironing board with rust proof pins, gently stretching and shaping to measurement specified in directions.

2. If article has been laundered or starched, press through a damp cloth. Leave it pinned in position until thoroughly dry. (If starching is required, mix a cold water elastic starch in medium strength as directed on package. Sponge the pinned article with the starch.)

3. If your garment is made in separate pieces, it must be blocked properly before you sew up the seams. Directions give standard measurements at various points. Place article on a flat padded surface, wrong side up. Pin edges to measurements given in instructions, with rust proof pins, each one-quarter inch apart. If two of the pieces are identical (such as the sleeves), they may be pinned together and blocked at the same time.

4. Place a damp cloth over pieces already pinned, and press with hot iron. Do not lean heavily on the iron, but press sufficiently to allow steam to go through the garment. Leave garment pinned until thoroughly dry. Remove pins and sew up seams as directed. Press seams on wrong side. Ribbing may be pressed very lightly but should not be stretched unless specified.

"VANITY FAIR"—Vanity alone can sometimes be a negative trait in a woman's personality but a vanity set is always a positive factor in a woman's home. It's especially positive when the set is as elegant as the one pictured here. Why not try your hand at knitting it? Free instructions are yours with a request for Leaflet No. PK-1501 and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Over 30 Have Registered for Tawas Bay Waterfront Art Show

Plans are nearing completion for the second annual Tawas Bay Waterfront Art Show to be held at Tawas City Park August 18, sponsored by the Tawas Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Herbert Hertzler and Mrs. Harold Peterson, co-chairmen, report that more than 30 reservations have been received, including local exhibitors. Other artists and craftsmen are coming from Cadillac, Gladwin, Roscommon, Bay City, Flint, Detroit and Kalamazoo.

Deadline for receiving reservations had been extended to Wednesday. After that, names will be received but will not be included on the programs.

In case of inclement weather, the exhibit will be held in the Iosco County Building. Otherwise, exhibitors may choose to be indoors or out and visitors will be urged to cross the street to view both places.

City Police Chief George Ruth is to help with handling of traffic and Consumers Power Company, in cooperation with the Tawas City Department of Public Works, is providing additional lighting.

Mrs. George Tuttle has invited wives of city council members to be hostesses for the event and they will provide coffee for exhibitors. Also assisting as guides will be members of Mrs. Hertzler's classes.

Miss Lucy Toska, chamber of commerce secretary, is receiving reservations and assisting with publicity. Vernon Pugh is to assist in placing exhibits. Any volunteers wishing to assist should contact Miss Toska or Mrs. Hertzler.

For the first time, visitors will be allowed to vote on the show's top exhibit. There will be demonstrations of leatherwork, lapidary and painting.

Mrs. Romney Guest at Noon Luncheon

Mrs. George Romney, wife of the Republican gubernatorial nominee, visited Iosco County Wednesday, speaking before a gathering of Republicans, Democrats and Independents at a noon luncheon held at the Wabun. "The principal need in Lansing," said Mrs. Romney, "is to get efficient operation of government ahead of name-calling and bickering."

At a meeting last week, Mrs. Romney told of being introduced as the "new wife of the governor," then the master of ceremonies hastily corrected saying, "I mean, the old wife of the new governor."

The meeting was sponsored by Mrs. J. A. Carlson, chairman of the Women's Division of local Republican group, and Mrs. L. G. McKay Jr., chairman of the luncheon committee. Mrs. Romney had met with a group in Arenac County at breakfast and was scheduled for an evening meeting in Alpena the same day. She has been touring the state for the past seven weeks.

Dunes Country

Centuries-old and ever-changing. This is Michigan's great land treasure, the Great Lakes dunes country. The south and east shores of Lake Michigan and the southeast shore of Lake Superior make up the main part of this fabled land, buttressed by scores of miles of sandy foothills. The dunes country means many things to many people. For some, it is a restful retreat from the worries of a workaday world. Others see it as a curious land filled with new secrets waiting to be explored. Still others thrill to its clean look, its vast complex of smells fresh to the taste. Wind-swept, sand-blasted, and sun-bleached, the dunes live a busy life. They breathe and move about endlessly, burying trees, houses—any obstacles. They have developed their own tough and capable botanical world; plant life that stands not only blistering desert temperatures, but also the deep-freeze of winter. Shore birds, rabbits, deer, and other wildlife call the dunes country home.

Registration and Enrollment Dates at Hale Announced

John J. Dooley, principal of Hale Area Schools, announces registration and enrollment schedules for students planning to attend Hale Area Schools will be August 29-30 from 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, 1:00 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. on each of these days.

All students, seventh through 12th grades, are expected to register at this time. If any student is unable to do so because of work, illness or being out-of-town, he is requested to call the high school office and notify those on duty that he will be in attendance this coming school year.

Elementary students in grades one through six will register on the first day of school, Tuesday, September 4. School will start at 1:00 p. m. as there will be staff meetings in the morning of that day. Buses will pick up the students so as to have them in school by 1:00 p. m. and return them to their homes at the close of school, leaving at 3:45 p. m. Buses will pick up students Wednesday morning at the regular time so as to have them in school by 8:45 a. m.

Starting Wednesday, September 5, school will be in session for the full day, starting at 8:45 a. m. until 3:45 p. m., with the exception of kindergartners, who will only be in attendance for half days. Hot lunch program will start Wednesday, September 5. Kindergartners already registered are not expected to attend school until Wednesday, September 5, at 8:45 a. m. Parents may bring nonregistered kindergarten children to school Tuesday, September 4, between 1:00 p. m. and 3:45 p. m. to be registered.

New students, who will be attending Hale Area Schools for the first time, are urged to contact the school office as soon as possible.

Area Teenagers Receive Injuries in Car Mishap

Three area teenagers received injuries at 10:00 a. m. Saturday when their car left Tawas Beach Road and came to a stop on its left side against a tree.

Treated at Tawas Hospital for minor hurts were the driver, James F. Sass, 16, East Tawas; two passengers, Judy Carpenter, 16, Turner, and Sue Black, 17, West Branch.

Urges Boat Owners to Know Water Regulations

Sheriff Ivan L. O'Farrell urges all boat owners to become familiar with Michigan laws relating to registration and operation of vessels and motorboats under Act 245, Public Acts of 1959, as amended.

He said that Francis Block, marine enforcement officer in this county, had issued 75 written warnings to boat owners and six summons for violations of the law.

The law was enacted by the legislature to promote the safe use of the waters of this state; to provide for the numbering of motorboats, to establish regulations relative to the operation of motorboats, to prescribe the duties and responsibilities of owners and operators of motorboats.

Under one section of the law, no person shall operate or give permission for the operation of any motorboat unless it is numbered in accordance with the act, or with applicable federal laws.

It is unlawful for any person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor to operate or be in actual physical control of any vessel upon any waters of this state.

"Any person who operates any motorboat, or who navigates, steers or controls himself while being towed on water skis, water sleds, surfboards or similar contrivances, upon any of the waters of this state, carelessly and heedlessly in disregard of the rights or safety of others, or without due caution and circumspection and at a speed or in a manner so as to endanger or be likely to endanger any person or property shall be guilty of reckless operation of a motorboat," states Act 245.

The law also provides that no person shall operate on the waters a motorboat having in tow or otherwise assisting a person on water skis unless there is in such motorboat, in addition to the operator, at least one competent person who is in a position to observe the progress of the person being towed.

Owners of any vessel operated on Michigan waters are personally responsible for any damage to life or property resulting from a wake or swell created by the negligent operation or propulsion of such vessel, where the vessel is being operated with his consent.

"Courtesy makes boating fun for everyone," states Sheriff O'Farrell.

33 Cars Race at Speedway Last Saturday Night

Thirty-three cars were entered in Saturday night's racing events at Whittemore Speedway which saw Rick Zettle crossing the finish line first in the feature and one heat race.

Moe Margrave of Oscoda won the second heat and Australian pursuit, while Bob Kingen of West Branch annexed the third heat.

Winners in road car events were L. Church of Bentley, who captured the first heat, Australian pursuit and feature; Ray Laney and Skip Saue, winners of the other two heats.

802.50. It included a tape recorder, turntable, console, headsets, tables and installation. The equipment consists of six channels and could instruct six different conversation groups at one time.

The language lab would be purchased through participation with National Defense Education funds. Present equipment now owned by the school could be utilized in the instruction.

Further study is to be made during the convention of the Michigan Association of Boards of Education later this year.

On recommendation of Miss Clara Bolen, elementary supervisor, Miss Barbara Durant is to be hired for an additional two weeks each year at a cost of $110. Miss Durant is secretary at the East Tawas unit.

The board authorized purchase of 12 legal size file cabinets from the Iosco County News and kitchen equipment for the new elementary unit from C. W. Maine and Sons.

operated by compressed air which literally "kicks" them out at the end of the work day.

The leghorn-type hens (Kimber) have a laying lifetime of from 12 to 14 months and each will produce about 33 dozen eggs during that time. After that, the entire flock will be sold to a soup company and new layers purchased.

Tawas City Minorettes bowling league organizational meeting will be held at the Barnes Hotel August 20, 8:00 p. m.

Pre-Enrollment and Registration Began Monday at Oscoda

Pre-enrollment and registration started Monday, August 13, at Oscoda Area Junior and Senior High School and runs through Friday, August 17, according to Principal Donald J. Wagner.

Students pre-enroll and register at the principal's office in the new high school building located two miles west of Oscoda on River Road.

"New students, who will be entering grades seven and eight in September, may come to the office at any time during this period and register," said Wagner. The junior high school course is predetermined, thus making it unnecessary for individual course selections.

"All new students are requested to bring their last school year's report cards and any other school record which they may have with them, at the time of registration and pre-enrollment," Wagner said.

This is the final pre-enrollment and registration period before school begins Tuesday, September 4.

Two Injured when Ride at Picnic Collapses

Two youngsters were taken to Tawas Hospital Sunday for treatment of injuries received when a carnival type chair swing collapsed at the union picnic held at Melvor.

Shirley Seder, 17, Turner, is being held at the hospital for observation. Debra Archambeau, nine-years-old, also of Turner, was released after treatment for abrasions.

Sheriff Ivan O'Farrell, who investigated said that blocking under the chair swing slipped during its operation. The equipment was mounted on a truck.

TA Varsity Players And Coaches Saw Pro Game Saturday

Twenty-two varsity football players and the coaching staff of Tawas Area High School witnessed the preseason game between the Detroit Lions and Cleveland Browns Saturday night at Tiger Stadium.

Among those attending were Head Coach Herbert Escott, Assistant Coach Steven Svntko, Lyle Berry and Ronald Wiltse. Also attending were William Tracy, superintendent of Iosco intermediate schools.

Escott said that all football candidates interested in purchasing or renting football shoes for the coming season should be at the high school the night of Monday, August 20.

Equipment is to be issued to varsity candidates at that time. Junior varsity players will receive equipment the following night.

Preseason football practice for the Tawas Area Braves is slated to start August 27. Because of the fact that many of the boys are holding summer jobs, there will be two workouts each day, one at 10:00 a. m. and the other at 8:00 p. m.

"Candidates who are working will be excused from the morning practice, but attendance at the evening workout is mandatory," said Escott.

as it collapsed. Another youngster received bruises but was not treated at the hospital.

The sheriff said the equipment was owned by Ervin Rousseau of Reese.

Police Pistol 'Hot Shot' Wins National Title

State Police Trooper Robert Steinhurst, East Lansing, won the national police pistol championship in the .22 caliber event with a score of 876 out of a possible 900 in the national matches conducted at Camp Perry, Ohio.

In addition, he placed second in the grand aggregate three-caliber national police championship behind Patrolman Mitchell of the United States Border Patrol.

Steinhurst is a 1948 graduate of Tawas City High School and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Steinhurst of Tawas City. He is married to the former Joyce Brussel of Baldwin Township.

The state police number one pistol team placed second in the .22 and .38 caliber events and third in the .45 and team aggregate in the police competition.

EXCITING NEW SANDWICH IDEAS

By Susan Lowe

Any summer event is ripe for a sandwich, and what's more, there's a sandwich creation to suit all ages on any eating occasion. Serve sandwiches at informal get-togethers, picnics, weekend suppers, elegant lunches and parties, any time you choose. Open-faced or closed . . . dainty or he-man size . . . grilled, baked or French fried . . . hot or cold, sandwiches make mighty good eating. And because they do make such good eating a contest is held annually to find the 20 best sandwiches of the year. This National Sandwich Idea Contest is sponsored by the National Restaurant Association in conjunction with the Wheat Flour Institute in an effort to bring forth new ideas. Last summer over a thousand entries were submitted. From the winning recipes in this contest we've corralled these exciting ideas to share with you — ideas to make light work of August cooking. Though we must admit that on the other side of the summer culinary coin, hot sandwiches have their moments too. In summertime, sandwiches star at any meal of any day.

Mrs. Ruth Tutwiler, a native Chicagoan, was looking for a sandwich to serve at home in the late evening or at luncheon, with little last-minute preparation. Thus the Gourmet came into being, prepared to be broiled and served in individual casseroles. Ham strips and sauteed green onions and fresh mushrooms are arranged in the casserole, covered with processed Swiss cheese and ham and cream sauce poured over all. Finally, the sandwich is topped with a tomato slice and shredded American cheese. Last-minute broiling melts the cheese and heats the sandwich through.

GOURMET SANDWICH

1/2 cup chopped green onions	1 cup chicken broth
1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms	1 cup light cream
7 tablespoons butter	12 slices enriched white bread, toasted
8 slices boiled ham (8 ounces)	6 slices processed Swiss cheese
1/4 cup enriched flour	6 thick tomato slices
1/4 teaspoon salt	1 cup shredded American cheese

Saute onions and mushrooms in 3 tablespoons butter until tender. Meanwhile, cut ham into long strips, about an inch wide. Melt remaining butter in heavy saucepan. Blend in flour and salt. Gradually add chicken broth and cream, stirring constantly until sauce is thickened and smooth. Add ham, onions and mushrooms to sauce. Arrange 1 toast slice and two diagonally cut halves in individual casseroles or in 9 x 13-inch baking dish. Cover each whole slice of toast with slice of Swiss cheese. Pour sauce over all. Top with tomato slice and sprinkle with American cheese. Heat under broiler until cheese melts. Makes 6 sandwiches.

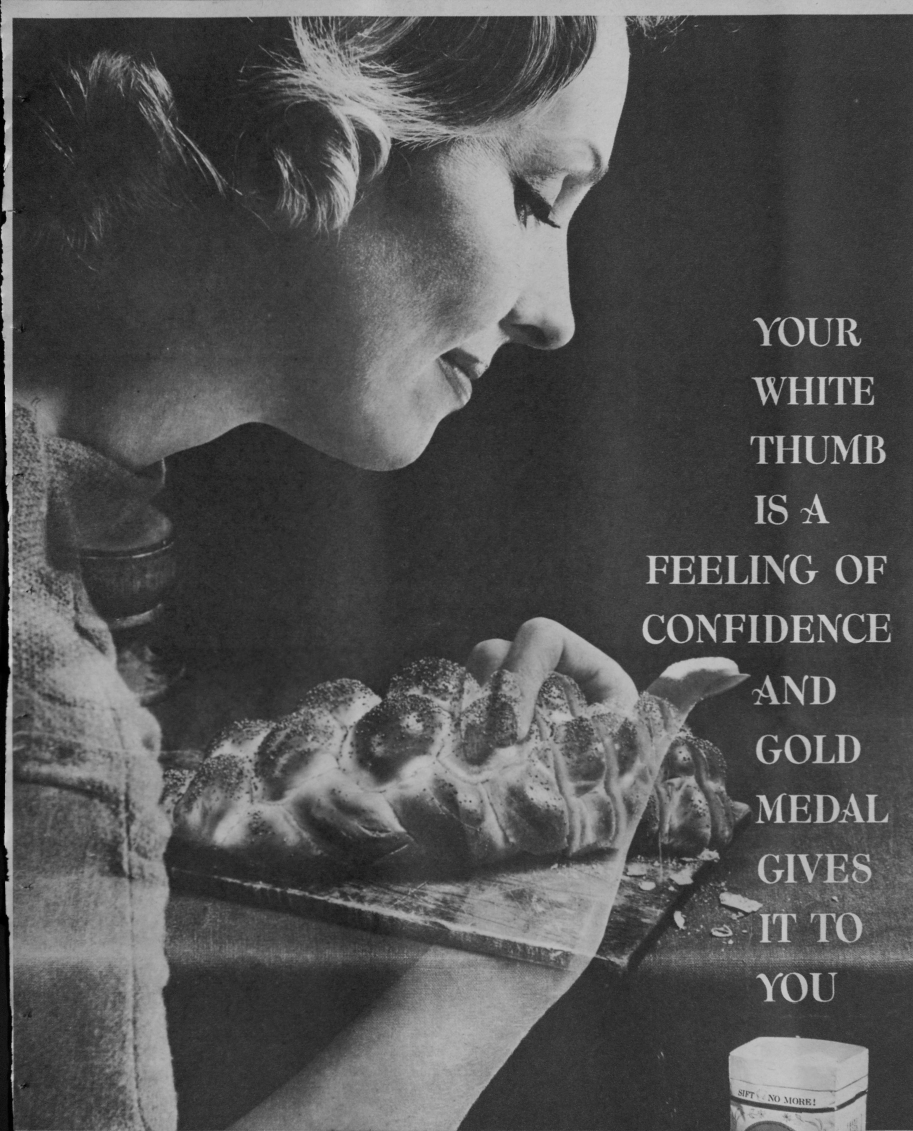

Paul Hoberg of Chicago created a prize-winning sandwich with an imaginative selection of oriental foods plus a favorite recipe for roast pork tenderloin. His cleverly named sandwich, the Peking Pig, is an unusual and delicious open-face sandwich. A fresh pork tenderloin, roasted in a Mandarin sauce of honey, lemon juice, cinnamon and soy sauce, is sliced and placed on sandwich bun halves. The meat is topped with additional Mandarin sauce. The other bun halves are covered with green pepper, fresh mushroom and water chestnut mixture.

PEKING PIG

Mandarin Sauce	1/4 cup cornstarch
1/2 cup soy sauce	1/4 cup diced green pepper
1/4 cup honey	1/2 cup chopped fresh raw mushrooms
1/4 cup lemon juice	6 water chestnuts, sliced thin
2 teaspoons salt	6 enriched hamburger buns
1 teaspoon cinnamon	Butter, softened
1 fresh pork tenderloin (1 1/4 to 1 1/2 pounds)	6 lettuce leaves

Combine soy sauce, honey, lemon juice, salt and cinnamon. Place tenderloin in roasting pan, and pour sauce over it. Remove tenderloin from pan, dredge in cornstarch, and return to pan. Roast for 1 to 1 1/2 hours in a slow oven (325°F.) until well done. Meanwhile, combine green pepper, mushrooms and water chestnuts. Remove meat from sauce and slice thin. Slice buns, toast insides, spread with butter and arrange open-face on serving plates. On bottom half of each bun, place 4 ounces of meat. Spoon sauce over meat. On top half of each bun, place lettuce leaf, and cover with green pepper, mushroom, water chestnut mixture. Serve immediately. Makes 6 sandwiches.

The foods of the sea and the creative genius of Mrs. Marian Alberta Shermer of Eugene, Oregon have made the Sea Breeze Sandwich one of the top-notch sandwiches of the year. Mrs. Shermer combined her two favorite seafood ingredients to make this colorful club sandwich.

SEA BREEZE

18 slices enriched white bread, toasted	1/2 cup flaked crabmeat, fresh or canned
1/2 cup tartar sauce	2 tomatoes
12 sprigs watercress (or 12 lettuce leaves)	12 ripe olives, 6 sweet pickles,
25 to 30 pieces boned skinned pickled herring, drained (12-ounce jar)	6 sprigs parsley for garnish

Spread toast with tartar sauce. On 6 slices, place a sprig of watercress or lettuce leaf and 4 to 5 pieces herring. Cover with second slice of toast. Place second sprig of watercress and 1 1/2 tablespoons crabmeat on second slice. Cut one tomato into 6 slices, and place one slice on each sandwich. Close sandwiches with remaining toast slices, spread side down. Cut remaining tomato into 6 wedges. Garnish each sandwich with tomato wedge, ripe olives, sweet pickle and parsley. Makes 6 sandwiches.

The Ragout Hoagie Sandwich was created by Edward Niemski of Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. The sandwich is a combination of beef steak, green pepper, onion, fresh mushrooms and sherry wine, cooked together and placed on a hoagie or Dreyfus bun.

RAGOUT HOAGIE

1/2 pounds beef steak (sirloin, tenderloin or round)	2 tablespoons Sherry wine
1/4 cup thin Julienne strips green pepper	6 enriched hoagie buns
1 medium onion, sliced	Butter, softened
1/2 cup sliced fresh mushrooms	1/2 teaspoon crumbled oregano
	2 tablespoons finely grated cheese
	Tomato slices and lettuce for garnish

Trim fat from steak. Cut into thin slices or strips. Grease heavy skillet or frying pan lightly with fat from steak. Fry steak until well browned. Add green pepper, onion, mushrooms and wine. Cover and simmer gently until meat is tender. Slice buns in half horizontally, but not all the way through. Spread with butter. Spoon meat mixture into buns. Sprinkle with oregano and cheese. Serve hot, garnished with tomato slices on lettuce leaf. Makes 6 sandwiches.

The Polynesian Luau, a colorful prize-winning sandwich that brings to mind a gay South Seas atmosphere, was created by Harry S. Langerman, owner of Langerman's Luau, a restaurant in Narbeth, Pennsylvania.

POLYNESIAN LUAU

1 cup homogenized French dressing	6 slices baked ham
1 1/2 teaspoons blue cheese	6 slices sweetened pineapple, fresh or canned
1 1/2 teaspoons chopped anchovies or anchovy paste	1/4 cup toasted, salted coconut chips
12 slices enriched white bread	3 maraschino cherries, halved
Butter, softened

Combine French dressing, blue cheese and anchovies. Mix well. Toast bread lightly and spread with butter. Place six slices on a baking sheet, or arrange one whole slice and two diagonally cut half slices in each of six individual casseroles. Cover 6 slices toast with slice of ham. Spread with about 2 tablespoons dressing. Top with whole pineapple ring. Broil until pineapple browns, basting once with dressing. Remove from broiler and place cherry half in center of pineapple ring. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons coconut chips. Serve hot. Makes 6 sandwiches.

A bright colored sandwich named the Turkey Festival won a cash award of $1,000 for Mrs. Jean P. Bundy of Wood River, Illinois.

TURKEY FESTIVAL

2 cups fresh or frozen cranberries	6 slices baked breast of turkey (12 ounces)
1 apple, pared and cored	Salt
1 orange, seeded, but not peeled	12 lettuce leaves
1 cup sugar	1 8-ounce package cream cheese
12 slices enriched white bread or toast	3 tablespoons milk
Butter, softened

Grind cranberries, apple and orange together. Add sugar and allow to chill for 24 hours. Drain juice from cranberry mixture. Trim crusts from bread or toast. Spread with butter. Place 1 slice turkey on 6 slices. Sprinkle with salt. Top with 1/4 cup cranberry mixture and spread to cover turkey. Cover with lettuce leaves.* Combine cream cheese and milk and blend thoroughly. Spread cheese mixture on remaining bread slices and close sandwiches. Cut into triangles. Makes 6 sandwiches.

* To serve open-face, pipe the cream cheese around the edge of the cranberry-turkey layer with a pastry tube instead of spreading cream cheese on toast. Place lettuce leaves on remaining bread slices.

A little bit of the North Sea tucked between two slices of French bread became a winning combination when The Viking was launched by its creator, R. G. Graves of New Orleans. The sandwich is made with sardines and French bread.

THE VIKING

24 ounces cream cheese, softened (three 8-ounce packages)	6 4½-ounce cans sardines, drained
1½ cups spicy salad dressing	28 thin onion slices
6 8-inch pieces enriched French bread	Green stuffed olives
1½ cups garlic butter, melted	Dill pickle slices

Blend together cream cheese and dressing. Cut pieces of bread in half horizontally and toast insides. Brush with garlic butter. Spread each bottom piece with ½ cup cream cheese mixture. Cover evenly with sardines. Cover sardines with overlapped onion slices. Spread top pieces of bread with remaining cream cheese mixture and close sandwiches. Cut in half diagonally. Secure each half with a sandwich pick. Place two green stuffed olives on each pick. Garnish with dill pickle slices. Makes six 8-inch sandwiches.

A roast beef sandwich with French and Italian accents won first place as the Grand Champion Sandwich in last year's contest. The Beef Dauvergne won a gourmet trip of Europe for its creator, Miss Winifred Ayers of Chicago.

BEEF DAUVERGNE

12 slices enriched round, white Italian bread, ½-inch thick
Butter, softened
½ cup blue cheese spread
¾ pound thinly sliced rare roast top sirloin of beef
Freshly ground black pepper
9 to 12 thin slices mild onion
18 wedges red apple, dipped in lemon juice, and escarole for garnish

Spread bread with butter. Spread 6 slices with blue cheese spread. Cover remaining bread with roast beef. Dust beef well with freshly ground pepper. Cover beef with onion slices. Close sandwiches with cheese-spread slices. Cut each sandwich into four pieces, fastening with toothpicks, if necessary. Garnish with apple wedges arranged fan-shaped on escarole. Makes 6 sandwiches.

If you like clam chowder, here's a Clam Dig sandwich that will win your vote of approval too. This clam and blue cheese combination was created by Miss Barbara Holes of Philadelphia. The Clam Dig would make quite a "clambake". The sandwich filling blends dairy sour cream, clam nectar, minced steamed clams, chopped chives or green onion and blue cheese. The light-colored spread contrasts with dark rye or whole wheat bread and a bright tomato garnish.

CLAM DIG

½ cup dairy sour cream	¼ teaspoon salt*
4 teaspoons clam nectar*	Dash white pepper
3 tablespoons chopped chives or minced green onion	12 slices rye or whole wheat bread
3 tablespoons crumbled blue cheese	Butter, softened
½ cup minced steamed clams, fresh or canned, drained (one 7½-ounce can)	6 lettuce leaves
	6 tomato wedges, if desired

Mix sour cream and clam nectar. Add chives or onion, blue cheese, clams, salt and pepper and mix well. Flavor improves if mixture stands a few hours. Butter bread lightly. Spread clam mixture liberally on 6 slices. Cover with lettuce leaves. Close sandwiches with remaining bread. Garnish each sandwich with one tomato wedge, if desired.

* If canned clams are used, omit clam nectar and salt.

Dessert Bridge

It's always fun to entertain your Bridge Club—the only problem is what to serve when it is your turn. Refreshments present a challenge to the hostess wanting to come up with a new and captivating dessert each time she entertains.

Fortunately the field from which to choose is wide and filled with exciting possibilities. You may decide on a spectacular molded fruit mousse or a mystery torte crammed with surprises. Again you may find a perfect answer in a new version of cream pie with luscious cloud-like filling.

Another idea would be to make one of the delightful variations of the famed Baked Alaska. Here you can combine cake, fruit, ice cream and smother it 'neath a thick coating of meringue. The secret of success with this is in temperature control — have your oven very hot and your ice cream very hard and everything ready to go. A few moments in the oven at the right temperature and the hostess will have won first place with her dessert for bridge.

MOLDED FRUIT MOUSSE

2 packages frozen sliced strawberries, thawed
4 tablespoons sugar
4 teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups whipping cream

Crush thawed strawberries thoroughly; add sugar, lemon juice, and salt. Then whip cream and fold into the strawberries. Turn into 2-quart mold. Cover with waxed paper. Place in freezer or freezer compartment of refrigerator. Let stand 3½ to 4 hours, or until firm.

To unmold, wipe mold with a cloth, which has been dipped in hot water. Then remove waxed paper. Loosen edges of mousse carefully with sharp knife. Cover with cold serving platter and turn mold and platter together. Lift off mold. Garnish with mint leaves. Serve at once or place in freezer or freezing compartment of refrigerator until ready to serve. Makes 12 servings.

PEACH IGLOOS

4 egg whites
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 6 drained canned cling peach halves
 6 sponge cakes
 1 pint vanilla ice cream

Beat egg whites and salt to soft peaks. Continue beating, gradually adding sugar until meringue stands in stiff peaks. Add vanilla. Place a peach half on each sponge cake, top with firm ice cream and cover with meringue. Bake on wooden board in a very hot oven (450°F.) about 5 minutes, or until golden brown. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

MYSTERY TORTE

10 soda crackers, coarsely rolled
 (about 3/4 cup crumbs)
 1/2 cup chopped pecans
 1/2 teaspoon baking powder

3 egg whites (at room temperature)
 1 cup sugar
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Combine cracker crumbs and pecans. Set aside. Add baking powder to egg whites. Beat until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar and vanilla. Continue beating until egg whites are very stiff and glossy, but not dry. Fold in cracker mixture. Turn into a 9-inch ungreased pie plate. Bake in pre-heated slow oven (300°F.) 50 minutes. Chill several hours.

Chocolate-Cream Topping

For an excellent topping, combine 1/2 cup heavy cream with 3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar and 3 teaspoons instant cocoa mix. Whip until stiff. Spoon over top just before serving. Serves 4 to 6.

TOP farmer ROUNDTABLE

Every farmer's problems differ somewhat from his neighbor's. Equipment, acreage, soil, livestock operation, finances and other factors make every farming operation a special situation that can only be evaluated in the light of the whole picture. The following questions have been posed by these typical midwestern corn farmers and answered by some of the best authorities in their respective fields.

JAMES VON HOLTEN,
Walnut, Illinois:

"I farm 320 acres of very highly productive land, 303 of it tillable. My crops are corn and soybeans . . . no livestock."

"At present I harvest corn with a standard picker; have crib space for 12,000 bushels of corn in the ear, plus 12,000 bushels of bin space in a barn converted for grain storage."

"I would like to get rid of my picker and go to a combine with corn heads. I am considering converting the crib to shelled corn storage and use a batch dryer. My questions are:

"Am I right in doing this?"

KUTISH:

"I think that field combine comes the closest to fitting your conditions. You have no livestock to glean the fields, so you need to pick early to keep droppage of ears at a minimum. You have a sufficient number of acres to carry the overhead of such a machine."

SCHLEUSENER:

"Better harvest efficiency can be obtained with earlier harvest of corn and drying. Harvest as early as possible to put the grain in the bin — every day of delay leaves more in the field."

"Should I, and other corn belt farmers, plan on one-crop farming with continuous corn on level land of high fertility? (Productivity index of this farm is 88, close to the absolute top.) Or should we diversify with corn, beans, wheat; or go back to a livestock program for the long pull?"

KUTISH:

"There is no reason why you shouldn't successfully get along with continuous corn on a level farm, with a proper fertilizer program. You need the fertilizer program, not only to keep up your yields, but also to break down the stalks you plow under and thus maintain your organic structure of your soil. Livestock could be added to such a rotation without giving up the continuous corn — if you so desired. For livestock (say hogs) could be used to convert the corn into higher value product (pork) than what cash corn would net you."

BURGER:

"Farmer experience, as well as research results on monoculture or corn-soybean farming have not been going on for a long enough period of time to show whether high yields can be maintained. A cropping system which includes more than one kind of crop is beneficial in the control of crop diseases and insects. Such a system also helps maintain high yields, controls soil erosion losses, and maintains good soil tilth."

"The need for maximum use of high priced land and the successful experience of a few farmers of monoculture have brought on many questions concerning the merit of intensive cropping with corn and soybeans. Both agricultural research and farmer experience have shown that relatively heavy use of commercial nitrogen combined with reduced soil tillage will maintain high yields in continuous corn cropping. It is also an established fact that many farmers can increase the productivity of their farm using commercial fertilizers and good cropping practices and thereby increase the over-all productivity of net income on the farm."

"In general, intensive grain cropping systems are likely to suffer less in unfavorable years if the soil has been well treated. In a number of tests, high nitrogen rates have failed to maintain yields as high in continuous corn as have been obtained from corn in rotation. Of course, the farmer often will sacrifice some high yields in favor of a better economic return under a system of continuous cropping which makes his work seasonal and more specialized despite his putting 'all his eggs in one basket!'"

"In conclusion, I would say that intensive cropping, monoculture, or continuous corn should be limited to level or nearly level, medium textured (silt loams and sandy loams) well-drained soils with little likelihood of soil compaction or soil erosion. Some soils have more ability to withstand intensive use than others. Certain danger signs may develop to caution a continuous corn farmer to consider revising his cropping system to restore good soil tilth and high productivity. These include (a) the field dries more slowly after rains, (b) water begins to stand longer in low areas between rows after rains, (c) the field may be slow to dry in the spring and plowing will have to be delayed, (d) more power needed to pull the plow each year, (e) the seedbed may tend to become more cloddy each year, and (f) corn yields gradually decline despite apparent adequate application of commercial fertilizers."

BERNARD CAMPION,
Iowa City, Johnson County, Iowa

"I farm 440 acres with 175 in corn, 75 in oats and 190 in hay and pasture. I feed out 300 head of cattle and raise 700 to 800 hogs per year."

"About three-fourths of my corn is picked and cribbed, which amounts to 12,000 to 15,000 bushels per year. The remainder is put up as silage. I also make grass silage. I have one 12 by 35 foot and one 14 by 50 foot upright silo and 4 trench silos with a total capacity of 1,000 tons."

"I have permanent storage for about 11,000 bushels of corn, about 5,000 of which is piled in a quonset building while the remainder is put in temporary cribs."

"I usually buy cattle weighing about 600 pounds and in the summer they run on grass and receive additional grain. In the fall they go into the stalk fields and then are put in dry lot for finishing, usually to choice grade."

"Silage is loaded from the pits with a manure loader and distributed with a self-unloading truck into ordinary bunks. All corn and protein is hand fed and the corn is all ground with the cob."

"All my hog feed is purchased, except for some early picked corn. Once corn is cribbed I never feed it to hogs."

"I purchase an additional 20,000 bushels of corn each year for cattle and hog feed."

"My questions to the panel are:

"Would it be practical to put up additional storage to handle high moisture shelled corn and utilize the existing unloading truck, keeping in mind that new harvesting equipment would be needed and that there would still be a need for the present corn picker?"

KUTISH:

"If you decide to switch to high moisture corn, I think you should wait until you can convert the whole operation. I would seriously question maintaining two separate sets of harvesting equipment."

"In the next few years will the erection of conventional storage, or some type of air-tight storage be best since there is a need for more storage?"

KUTISH:

"I would suggest temporary ear-corn storage facilities if you are thinking about switching eventually to air-tight storage."

SCHLEUSENER:

"I have one general comment to make concerning the entire operation. A carefully planned layout of the total feed handling requirements should be made — especially the dry lot operation. The plan should be tuned to the future and organized for step by step fulfillment. The elimination of the hand feeding of the corn and protein should be high on the priority list. New storage construction should be coordinated with existing storage of grain and silage for a labor saving feeding operation."

"Does it pay to grind ear corn or would shelled corn do just as well?"

KUTISH:

"Ear corn has a little more feed value than shelled corn — there is a little value in the cob. You can get a little more corn in cattle by feeding shelled corn. But unless you have some hogs to follow the cattle, there is too much wastage with straight shelled corn."

Sows Have the Run of the Field

"There has to be a better and cheaper way," Charles Grunewald of Linn County, Iowa said to himself after figuring the production costs for a bunch of hogs he had just marketed.

But where could the savings be made? Carefully, item by item, he studied his hog program seeking the key to a low-cost ration. There didn't seem to be much that could be pared from the ration the pigs were receiving, he decided.

Then he turned his attention to the sows. Maybe it wasn't necessary to spend so much for their feed. In order to determine the practicability of the idea he put it to the severest possible test.

The sows were turned into a stalk field on his Linn County, Iowa, farm and the only feed they received was what they could forage for themselves.

"That was two years ago," Grunewald said recently. "When I kicked them out there I didn't know what to expect and I was prepared for the worst. But to my surprise the pigs they farrowed were about the best and sturdiest I had ever had."

"Of course not all the sows can take this rugged life, so they have to be eliminated from the herd. However, this hasn't been too much of a problem and it is the only one I have found," he added.

There were 23 Hampshire sows in the test herd that went into the cornstalks. When they farrowed their seventh litter in late May they had an average of 11½ big, healthy pigs. One litter, selected at random, averaged just a trifle over three pounds at birth and the other litters were about the same size.

Terramycin® fights Scours

BRAND OF OXYTETRACYCLINE HCl

ONLY TERRAMYCIN GIVES YOU ALL THESE ADVANTAGES:

Broad range—to fight the many kinds of germs causing scours and its complications that are susceptible to Terramycin. No other antibiotic or drug is effective against more disease organisms than Terramycin.

Complete solubility—to give pigs all the medication you put in the water, whether it's the Herd-Treater or the water tank.

Greater stability—to deliver its potent, disease-fighting power. Terramycin is the only broad-range antibiotic for farm use with the potency-protected molecule.

Greater absorption—to get broad-range antibiotic power carried by the blood to the site of systemic infections. Don't gamble on any other treatment when only Terramycin gives all these advantages.

During the fall and spring the sows range over cornstalk ground. In bad weather they follow Grunewald's feeder cattle and in the summer they are on a clover and orchard grass pasture.

When sows that are with the cattle are near farrowing time they are removed from the yards to eliminate the danger of injury. During this brief time and the suckling period they are fed ground corn, protein and ground alfalfa hay. Yeast is added to the ration after farrowing.

When the pigs are three days old, water is made available to them and at one week they get their first taste of feed. At this time they also receive a shot to prevent scours. They are castrated at two weeks of age.

At the end of three weeks the pigs are weaned and the sows moved out. When the pigs reach the six-week mark they go either to a feeding floor or to pasture and are housed in portable sheds or sold as 40-pound feeders. Prior to moving they are vaccinated against cholera. Over a year's time Grunewald finishes out 400 head and sells 200 to 300 as feeders.

"My feeding floor will handle 80 pigs at a time and I always keep it filled," Grunewald said. "Ten sows are farrowed every six weeks in stalls in a 15 by 60 foot house and I keep 30 sows on hand. They are rebred as soon as the pigs are weaned and I retain them as long as they produce good litters."

"Gilts that go into the herd are fed until their first litter is weaned and I aim to have them weighing 350 pounds when they have their first litter."

Grunewald follows a strict sanitation program and each sow is scrubbed and the house and equipment disinfected prior to farrowing.

His pig feeding program works this way. From weaning until 60 pounds they get a complete pelleted grower. Then ground corn and supplement is provided until they weigh 100 pounds. The ration is then shifted to self-fed soaked shelled corn and self-fed protein.

The soaked corn is a new wrinkle this year in Grunewald's program. Last spring he purchased a metal feed trough equipped with a built-in watering system and added a 125-bushel supply hopper to it. A float holds the water level in the trough at a depth of two inches.

"That way there is always corn soaking in the water," he pointed out. "As the pigs eat the soaked corn, dry corn rolls into the water, insuring a steady supply. The pigs are selective, too. They won't touch dry corn. Another thing I like about the system is that there is no waste."

Not only is the soaked corn more palatable, it also has cut Grunewald's feed costs. Feed cost for his last bunch of pigs fed a dry ration was $9.95 per hundred pounds of gain. The feed cost for the first group fed the soaked corn was $6.35 per hundred pounds of gain.

"The ideal situation would be to have enough high moisture storage capacity so that all corn not harvested for silage could be put up that way," Grunewald said. "That would be the cheapest way of handling it and it would make the best feed and would eliminate the need for soaking the shelled corn. However, I don't expect to be able to do this in the foreseeable future because I rent all the land I operate and I don't think this kind of storage will be built."

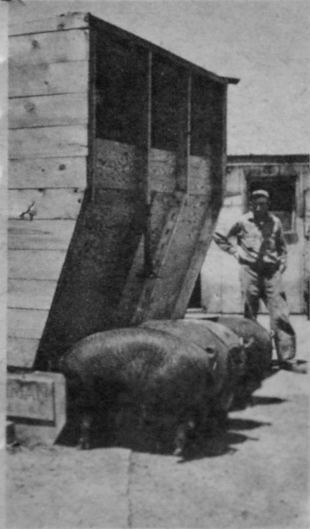

Grunewald farms a total of 900 acres and this year he has 490 acres of corn, 130 oats and 280 in hay and pasture.

This fall he will put 6,000 bushels of high moisture shelled corn in one silo and fill two other 14 by 50 foot ones with corn silage. The corn will be shelled and crimped at the silo at a cost of three cents per bushel.

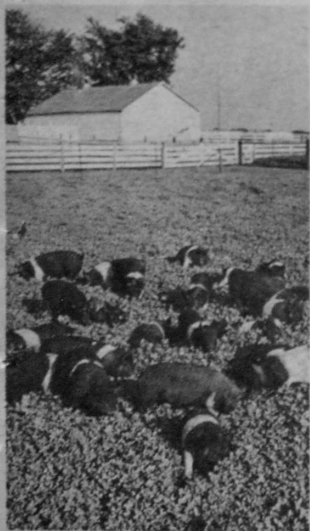

About 5,000 bushels will be picked, shelled and stored in bins. Ten thousand bushels will be put in permanent cribs and an additional 5,000 or 6,000 bushels will be stored in temporary cribs.

At planting time Grunewald applies from 150 to 200 pounds of dry fertilizer and sidedresses later with 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre. The fields are hoed once and sprayed once for weeds. This is followed up with two cultivations. If the corn borer population builds up too high they are sprayed.

In addition to his hogs, Grunewald feeds out 200 cattle a year and maintains a herd of 75 purebred Hereford cows.

A shelled corn soaker feeder is paying dividends for Charles Grunewald, Cedar Rapids, Linn County, Iowa. Since feeding the soaked shelled corn feed costs have been cut $3.20 per hundred pounds of gain.

Sows on the low-cost program produce sturdy pigs averaging three pounds at birth and over 11 pigs to the litter. A strict sanitation program and proper care of newborn pigs kept losses to a minimum.
