THE NEWS THAT CHANGED A COUNTRY'S DESTINY...

In July of 1776, Town Criers throughout the Thirteen Colonies shouted news that was never to be forgotten: "Congress declares that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be FREE and INDEPENDENT STATES!" Our Declaration of Independence had been adopted, marking a new era of freedom for a young nation, giving it the right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Our country's freedom was not, of course, won for us by this historic document, but the Declaration of Independence was the call to arms that inspired Americans to throw off the chains of oppression and to forge a new destiny for themselves and their children. Men who were willing to "mutually pledge to each other their Lives, their Fortunes and their sacred Honor" for the cause of freedom, answered that call. Because they did, we now enjoy the greatest form of government ever devised by man. It is our way of life... it is our American Heritage.

Back to Normal After Centennial Week

East Tawas was back to normal Monday after a full week of activities climaxing its centennial observance. City crews removed barricades which were thrust aside after Saturday's parade and street sweepers were cleaning up the debris left by several thousand spectators.

Many men of the community, who had been members of the "brothers of the brush" for six months or more, are clean shaven once again; the ladies have packed their centennial costumes in mothballs, breathing a sigh of relief after admitting that grandma had to go through a lot to have a fashionable waistline.

The centennial jail is now a shambles—giving little indication of the many hours of fun it provided on Newman Street during the celebration.

In spite of a pessimistic report from the weather bureau, the celebration was a complete success weather-wise. Only one street dance was canceled because of rain and that was rescheduled. Bright sunshine greeted all of the daytime activities and programs during the evening were favored by good weather.

There were many highlights during the climactic conclusion to East Tawas' centennial, the brightest spot being the hour-long parade Saturday afternoon.

The centennial parade proved to be the longest in the area's history, with many beautiful floats, horses, old-time automobiles, marching units and bands to add color to the festivities.

A total of 116 units were in the two-mile long parade, which was handled flawlessly by Chairman Roy McMurray and his corps of parade marshals.

Bands in the parade included Tawas Area High School, Harrison, Clare, Kingsley, Arenac Eastern.

Included in the marching units were 60 men from the USS Amherst which docked at East Tawas over the week-end, units from Wurtsmith Air Force Base and United States Coast Guard from Tawas Point, Knights of Columbus, Tawas and Bay City Shriners, area boy scout and cub scout troops.

Equestrian units included the Lapeer County Sheriff's Posse, 20 horses and riders from Chamblé Ranch and another contingent from Art Thorne's Riding Stable.

There were many beautiful floats, the largest contingent being entered by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company which had floats representing every phase of its business from transportation to its new pipeline.

Many local businesses and organizations also entered attractive floats.

Highlights of the centennial at midway point last Wednesday were the excursion train rides offered by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company. Nearly 3,000 persons jammed Bay Street at East Tawas during the day to purchase tickets for the 25-mile ride to National City and back.

Stuart White, traffic manager of the railway, said that he had been rather optimistic when he ordered 2,000 tickets for the train rides. By mid-afternoon, all of the tickets had been sold and an additional 1,000 were printed in SEVERAL old-time automobiles were featured in the centennial parade. This view was taken from the porch roof of the Holland Hotel overlooking Newman Street. Gordon Clute is driving the lead car.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Resort Operators Object to Sign Removal Policy

Many resort operators of the Tawas-Oscoda area are currently writing letters to Congressman Elford A. Cederberg of Bay City backing him on his stand concerning removal of business signs on state property along the highways.

Cederberg has emphatically pointed out the economic impact of this order on resort business in this area.

Only recently, Cederberg charged State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie with letting Michigan's road sign situation "get out of hand" and then going to "extremes" to clean it up.

Cederberg said Mackie has been telling Michigan people he is only carrying out the dictates of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

But Deputy Federal Highway Commissioner Frank Turner says the bureau's no-signs-in-the-right-of-way policy has been in effect for years and apparently has not been enforced in Michigan.

Cederberg has urged Mackie to fight the bureau of public roads' policy on commercial road signs.

"In my opinion, Mackie's department let the sign situation get out of hand and now he is carrying the removal program to extremes," said Cederberg.

In a recent letter to the congressman, a representative of the state highway department stated:

"The Michigan State Highway Department recognizes the hardship and expense many of our business people will incur as a result of the policy that all non-traffic signs must be removed from public right-of-way. During the past years, the encroachment of all kinds of signs on highway right-of-way has expanded to such an extent that they have become a hazard, a maintenance problem and detract much from the beauty of Michigan's highways."

"The uniform policy of sign removal established in Michigan is necessary to protect public property for public use; to provide a safe and attractive highway for tourists and the traveling public.

"We are aware that the location of the advertising sign off the right-of-way may be inconvenient, but cannot agree that the fact that it must be located on private right-of-way will mean the difference between success or failure for any individual business."

Select Winners in ET Centennial Costume Contest

First place winners in the centennial costume judging contest last Friday were as follows:

Best dressed family, the Charles Thornton family, best dressed couple, Mr. and Mrs. Clair A. Nash; best girl's costume, Alicia Dimmick; best original costume, Esther Look; best replica of costume, Mrs. William Grossmeyer.

Winners received ribbons from the centennial committee. Carlton Merschel was chairman of the contest.

Many Thanks

Publishers of The Tawas Herald express thanks for the many kind words received concerning last week's centennial edition of this newspaper. Work on the two historical sections was begun several months ago and represented considerable time in research prior to actual printing. Judging from the response of readers, the time and effort was well worthwhile.

Flower Show Has Centennial Theme

As one of the final programs in the centennial observance, "Through the Years With Flowers" will be the theme of East Tawas Garden Club's 12th annual flower show to be presented July 12 at Tawas Area High School.

Mrs. R. J. Cooke and Mrs. Joseph Hennigar are co-chairmen for the event and invite the public as well as neighboring garden club members to participate.

There will be nine classifications for arrangements, 38 in horticulture, five for potted plants and five for the junior division.

All entries for the show must be at the high school between 9:00 and 11:30 a. m. and doors will be open to the public at 3:00 p. m.

Those wishing to enter an arrangement must call Mrs. J. Arthur Valentine for reservation by Tuesday, July 10, Forest 2-2835.

This reservation will enable the committee to reserve space for arrangements and prevent moving after being placed by the exhibitor. Arrangements received without reservation will be shown but not judged.

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

Some Wage Earners Not Receiving Social Security Credits

"Most workers and self-employed people are having earnings credited to their social security account regularly," Paul M. Ellifritz, district manager of the Bay City Social Security Office, stated today. This statement does not apply to some people, notably, the household workers who are not receiving credit under the social security program for their work.

There are cases on file in the social security office where it was necessary to contact as many as six different employers for information concerning domestics they employed. These cases came to our attention when a benefit claim was filed and the record of wages did not show credit for domestic employment. The employer simply did not report the wages to the director of internal revenue for the employee. It was necessary to contact the employer for information concerning the wages that should have been reported for social security purposes.

All persons who pay household help $50 or more in cash wages during a three-month period, must report the wages to the director of internal revenue. Earnings as low as $4 a week during each of the 13 weeks in the calendar quarter will equal $52, and this amount must be reported.

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be in Tawas City at the Iosco County Building Thursday, July 12, 10:30 a. m.

More Than 2,500 Expect to Enter WMU

Red Cross Estimates 100,000,000 to Use Water for Recreation

July heralds the start of the aquatic sports season here as in most parts of the country. With the rapid multiplication of home-owned swimming pools, farm ponds and motor-powered boats, the American Red Cross has estimated that more than 100 million Americans will use the water this summer for recreational purposes.

For the attention of many who will take to Iosco County waters this summer, here are some suggestions on how to stay afloat and alive:

1. Learn to swim. If you can swim a little, learn now to swim better. Attend one of the classes offered in your community.

2. Always swim with a companion. Make sure someone is near by to help if you get into trouble.

3. Swim in a safe place. The presence of life guards usually indicates the area is safe for swimming.

4. Know the area. Before diving, make sure the water is deep enough and that there are no hidden objects such as submerged rocks.

5. Respect the water and know your limitations. Do not go beyond safe limits or your swimming capacity.

6. Use discretion. Wait at least an hour after eating before swimming and do not swim when over-heated or overtired.

7. Try to remain calm in case of trouble. Assume a face-up floating position, keep your hands under water and slowly move your hands and feet.

8. If your boat overturns, stay with it. Most small craft will float, even when filled with water.

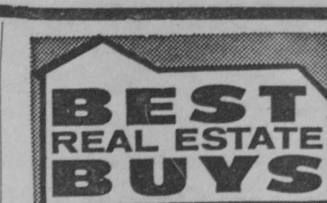

9. Do not depend on a tube or inflated toy to hold you up.

10. In river swimming, watch out for swift currents. Lifeguards will tell you how to recognize these conditions and how to save yourself if you are caught.

11. In long distance swimming, always swim parallel to the shore and with a companion or a boat nearby.

12. Equip your boat with safety items. A life jacket for each passenger and a stern light are musts. Recommended also are anchor, oars, boat hook, extra line, fire extinguisher, first aid kit and tool kit.

BIG TOP AT OSCODA JULY 6

Friday is circus day! The Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers Combined Circus, world's largest under canvas, has scheduled 2:00 and 8:00 p. m. performances under the sponsorship of the Oscoda Area P-TA and Oscoda-AuSable Chamber of Commerce.

Two long convoys transporting the show's personnel, animals, tents, seats, light plants and tons of other paraphernalia will begin rolling onto the fairgrounds shortly after midnight to erect a huge, self-contained "city of tents" opposite Wurtsmith Air Force Base on the new golf club grounds.

The big top in the nostalgic American tradition of earlier circus days will rise in picturesque circus pattern on the busy showgrounds, shortly after daylight.

Long before noon the final touches will have been added to the herculean task of readying the big show for the first performance.

The big steel cage where the world renowned Clyde Beatty flirts with death, subjugating his mixed group of black-maned lions and Royal Bengal tigers will be in place.

So will the giant cannon from which Captain Astronaut is shot the length of the tent; the trapeze of LaNorma, Denmark's goddess of balanced flight; the Gannon's, tent-top champions somersaulting, hand to hand catches on the flying trapeze; the Jordans and Victors, Europe's most sensational acrobats, and a brigade of funsters, the clowns.

All-American Sandwich Brings Cheers

Summer, the Sandwich Season, gets launched early. More often than not, however, midway through the hot summer months appetites lag and the recipe file becomes depleted.

These hearty broiled sandwiches will perk up the family on sizzling days. Three "all-American" foods join forces to produce a sandwich worthy of resounding "hurrahs!" Canned condensed bean with bacon soup, sauerkraut, and frankfurters top rich slices of pumpernickel bread for a supper or lunch that's a treat. And, opening a can is just about all you have to do.

The soup goes right from the can onto the bread to be topped then with canned sauerkraut, drained. Be sure, however, the soup is spread to the edges of the bread. The final touch is a frankfurter, slit lengthwise, on each sandwich. Spread the franks gently with ketchup and slip under the broiler until franks and filling are hot.

Serve with a flourish accompanied by iced glasses of tea and cold mouth-watering slices of watermelon.

Check your pantry shelf. You probably have all the ingredients at hand, so why not try these Sandwiches Americana right away?

Sandwiches Americana

1 can (1 1/4 ounces) condensed bean with bacon soup
4 slices pumpernickel bread, lightly toasted
1 1/2 cups sauerkraut, drained
4 frankfurters, slit lengthwise
3/4 cup ketchup

Spread soup on bread; cover with sauerkraut. Top each sandwich with a frankfurter; spread with ketchup. Broil until sandwiches are hot (about 5 minutes). Makes 4 servings. FNS

by Nancy Baxter

Tennis, anyone? No? Well, how about archery then? Do a few bullseyes with a bow and arrow seem more to your liking? Today you can take your choice because we've got instructions for making colorful designs based on both these athletic pastimes. You begin with our easy-to-follow chart, then simply cut out Bondex and iron it on. We put our appliques on the back of a pair of sportshirts, but the design's an equally perfect way to liven up a variety of items—blue jeans, beach towels—or almost anything you like.

FASHION RIGHT DESIGNS

Items like these prove a striking point. Namely—making things yourself can yield truly fashionable results, since there's now a new design for almost every item of apparel from basic sweaters right down to a set of kookie sportshirts like these. A design like this, too, is the perfect beginning item for the teenager in the family who's never made anything before. Iron on appliques are easy as cutting out paper dolls, and the bright, colorful results should offer enough encouragement to indicate the path to more difficult, gratifying needlework projects.

SCORE A BULLSEYE

Let the young lady start by brightening up a shirt for herself, and, after she's gotten the knack, continue by decorating one for the young man in her life. There's no question that she'll score a perfect bullseye with this technique. Then, after a few similar successes, she'll find herself anxious to design cut-outs of her own. For now, though, why not begin with these—on leaflet No. PPE-1054. It's yours, free of charge, if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper.

"Something old, something new . . ." You've all heard these words in one context. But did you ever try applying them to the art of crochet? You'll find them very apt, since probably the most striking characteristic of the crochet technique is "contrast." I mean "contrast" between the old and the new, with the best features of each embodied in each finished crocheted product. As far as the "something new" goes—there's a fresh, up to the minute look about today's crocheted designs that make them favorites with young needleworkers across the country. These high-fashion, low priced patterns combine smartness and practicality—necessary ingredients in every woman's wardrobe. Best of all, these fashionable garments can be made easily by even the woman who is just beginning to take an interest in crochet.

TRADITIONAL BEAUTY

Despite the newness of the crochet styles, however, there's something about its quality that remains wonderfully the same. For in every age, there's a marvelous satisfaction to be had in fashioning, with our own hands, something beautiful. So—though today's design is far removed from grandmother's era, we'll realize, once we begin this pleasant project, why crochet was her favorite hobby too.

YEAR ROUND WEARABILITY

This blouse, styled with a becoming scoop neckline, is bound to be a favorite all through the spring and summer months. Wear it now with a suit; later, team it with your prettiest skirt. One wearing will quickly show you how many compliments crochet inspires. There's nothing difficult about this project despite its elegant air. The body is made in a V-stitch cluster pattern and is topped off with flower like motifs sewn around the neckline and lower edge. For free instructions, simply drop a line to the Needlework Department of this newspaper. Enclose a stamped, self addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. PC 1273.

"Seeing is believing"—as the old saying goes. What you do see, you usually are justified in believing. Sometimes, though, what you don't see can also be believed—like happiness, or satisfaction, or anticipation—just to cite a few examples of intangible realities.

In the case of today's needlecraft designs, what you don't see is 4/5's of what's to be believed. What I mean is that this week's offering consists of Five Midsummer Christmas Gifts, of which only one—the gaily embroidered gingham apron in the picture—can actually be seen. After my capsule descriptions of the other four, however, I hope you'll have no trouble believing them.

ADVANCE PLANNING

First, though, let's deal with the question you're probably mentally asking—why Christmas gifts in the middle of the summer. My answer is—why should you wait and plunge yourself into the middle of last minute rush? Although Christmas "shopping" has to wait until the stores begin to stock their holiday merchandise, Christmas "making" does not. In fact, if you make good use of your needlecraft talents, you'll find that you can make gifts well in advance and avoid the frantic last minute scramble. And—oh yes—these gifts are perfect for giving any time of year. You don't have to wait until Christmas. With these crucial facts understood—I'll now let you in on what the five gifts are.

FIVE GIFT IDEAS

There's the gingham cocktail apron with an embroidered butterfly—perfect for hosting in; a reversible dog coat with a sailor collar—to give a nautical twist to your favorite pooch; a crocheted wool hat with braided yarn trim—in this season's fashionable cloche shape; a denim overhouse and book bag—both with matching appliques; and—a felt dog collar trimmed with rick rack and rhinestones—to top off your favorite canine's "special occasion" outfits.

You can't accuse us of not offering variety in this week's selections so why not write for Leaflet No. PPE-1053 and get free instructions for all five delightfully new gift ideas. And—if you don't believe them without seeing them, you certainly will after you do!

OVERLOADING AND OVERPOWERING

The assumption that the passenger capacity of a small boat is governed by the number of people the seats will accommodate is a fallacy and one of the greatest contributions to boating accidents on record. Overloading any boat is unparadise on the part of the boat operator because even under ideal conditions, swamping of the boat and endangering the lives of the occupants is almost a sure thing.

Most boats of commercial manufacture will display an OBC (outboard boating club) rating plate that limits the safe passenger capacity in terms of pounds of passenger weight. Such a weight should never be exceeded in the interest of safe boating. Better the boat ride be postponed than jeopardize the lives of the occupants.

If for any reason you carry a considerable amount of camping gear or other equipment aboard that is weighty, subtract this weight from the OBC capacity before you allow your passengers aboard. And as far as weight is concerned, your own weight counts as a passenger.

Boating liveries are required by law to display a plimsoll line or mark on each boat for hire and are charged with the responsibility to see that no boat leaves their dock in overloaded condition as indicated by the height of the plimsoll mark above or below the water.

Just as important a precaution also is that of overpowering a smaller boat. The above mentioned OBC rating plate when affixed to a craft also indicates the maximum horse power of the outboard engine that the hull is designed to safely accommodate. Overpowering can only lead to capsizing, swamping and even injury to the occupants in case of capsizing.

Never consider availability of life preserver cushions or the wearing of life jackets as an equalizer for too large an engine, or an overloaded boat. If your craft is not provided with an OBC rating plate consult a qualified boat or marine engine dealer for his recommendation or advice.

State Survey Shows 271 Cars Sold in Iosco During Four Months

A Michigan Department of State survey shows that 271 new cars were sold in Iosco County during the first four months of this year. During the same period, 132,218 new automobiles were sold by dealers throughout Michigan.

Secretary of State James M. Hare pointed out that sales of both new and used cars brought in $23,110,009 in sales and use tax revenue during the first third of the year.

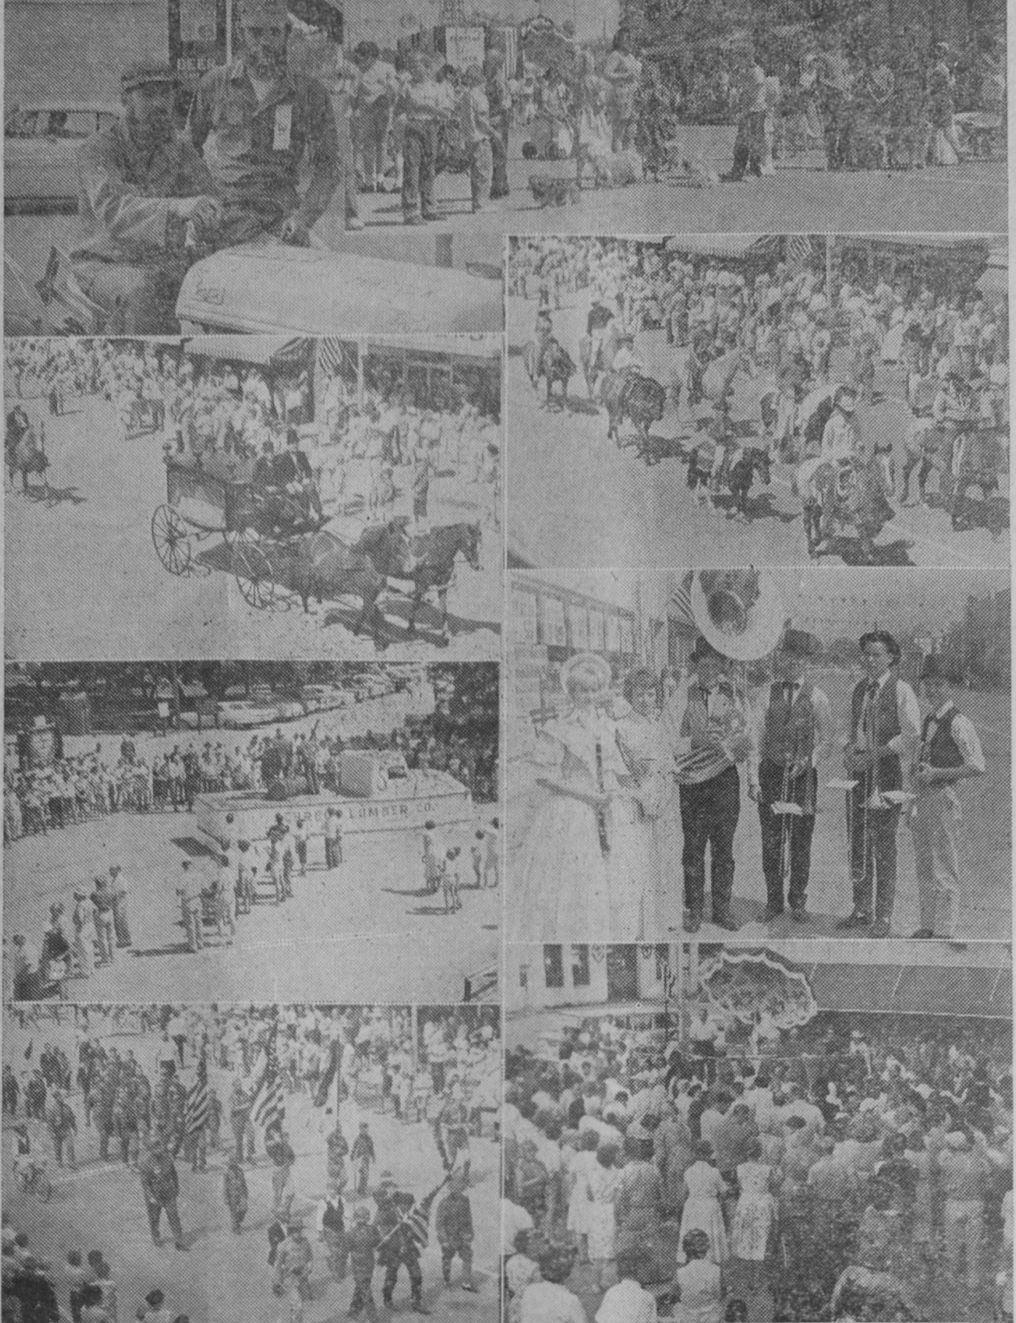

"This," Hare said, "is over six million dollars more than the $17,065,589 collected during the same period in 1961. This 33 percent increase points to an unusually high sales year despite the disillusionment in Wall Street and the ups and downs in other sectors of our economy."

HARVEY R. McIVOR
Funeral services for Harvey Roy McIvor, who died June 28 at Tawas Hospital, were held Sunday, July 1, at Moffatt Funeral Home with the Rev. Grant Lapham officiating. Burial was in Tawas City Cemetery.

Mr. McIvor was born in Grant Township December 12, 1909. Survivors include a son, Ronald of Twining; one grandchild; his mother, Mrs. Clara Smith of National City.
