Lenten Meditations o The Myser Room

Read Romans 5:6-11 God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.

(Romans 5:8.) One afternoon in springtime, I was on my pastoral rounds on the Devon moors. On the mat at the door of a lovely cottage I saw the word, welcome. Close at hand also was a large boot-scraper. When the lady came to the door, I smiled and, pointing to the scraper and the mat, said, "I guess I'm welcome provided my boots are clean!" She smiled back and explained that the scraper was for her husband when he came in from the fields The incident led us to talk of God's welcome for sinners. There are no boot-scrapers outside His door. He has opened the kingdom of heaven to all believers, and whosoever will may come. Welcome, that is the Gospel invitation. We come to Christ "dirt and all," and we enter the kingdom as forgiven sinners. Indeed, there is no other way. If we were to wait til we were presentable, we would never come at all.

PRAYER

We have nothing but our need to bring to Thee, O God, and nothing to plea but Thy grace. Help us to live this day not in vain endeavor to qualify for Thy loving kindness, but in humble acceptance of Thy mercy freely given in Christ. In His redeeming name. Amen. THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

God has opened the kingdom of heaven to all believers, and whosoever will may come. Brian A. Greet, England.

Do you ever watch people's hands? I do, quite often, for I find that hands tell me a great deal about the person. And one thing I've noticed—the artist that lies somewhere in all of us is likely to appear in our hands, subtly is the name we've given this lovely creation. We think it quite apropos as the design enacts in pictures the well known tale of the Contrary Mistress Mary watering her growing garden. The fabled Miss appears in the Center. The question, "How does your garden grow?" is vividly answered in terms of the gayly colored floral designs that bedeck the rest of the aghan.

Measuring 51 x 65, the intricate designs of the afghan belie the simplicity with which it's actually made. The white background is made in the afghan stitch and the design is the result of the popular embroidery cross stitch over the afghan stitch. This combination of two techniques is quite simple with the aid of our new diagrams-there's one for each figure. Whether you believe in the fable or not, this afghan can't help bring a delightful new source of pleasure to your home. Instructions for leaflet No. B 139 are yours-free of charge. Simply write to the Needlework department of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self addressed envelope with your request. You can also find other exciting new designs in the instruction book, "AFGHANS," available at most notions counters.

T've always said, regarding home decorating, that the most essential ingredients of a good decorating "recipe" are items that bear the stamp of one's individual personality. One look at today's featured items, however, and I was ready to admit the first exception to my longstanding belief. I can't think of anything more likely to give your home just the revitalizing touch it needs than the appearance of two other personalities - to be specific - two other personalities like the ones pictured on the left.

FROM WORK ROOM TO FAMILY ROOM

The kitchen's a room that's frequently neglected when one thinks of redecorating. Often you'll pay for modernizing your appliances but will stop right there. It needn't be merely a workroom, though. In fact, it's probably one of the best places to begin any redecorating scheme since it's so often the real center of family living. Or-if it isn't-potholders like these can go a long way toward making it that way. These cheery ways to transform your kitchen from a work room into one for the whole family can be yours at the cost of only a few pennies and a few hours, and-included on Leaflet PC-1222 are designs for several other charming and simple potholders. It makes wonderful anchor and dock lines especially where your boat is surging, as nylon has a natural elasticity which eases the strain. The next best rope and an excellent all-purpose one is manilla. Ropes of other materials mentioned above have drawbacks such as hard bristly feel, less resistance to deterioration and lower breaking point. Nevertheless, they have their place.

The next important thing is to maintain that rope or line in the best condition. Some boatsmen are always trying to get another season out of rope that should be replaced. Federal Forces Take Kernstown KERNSTOWN, Va.—March 23—Southern troops under Maj. Gen. Thomas J. "Stonewall" Jackson fell in a decisive defeat here today after attacking Union troops commanded by Brig. Gen. James Shields.

The battle—fought on an otherwise pleasant Sunday afternoon—marked the heaviest action yet in the Shenandoah

Jackson's losses were estimated at 700, with some 4,500 men employed. Union spokesmen said about 600 of Shields' 9,000 troops were lost.

One of the Union casual-ties was Shields, wounded

Observers reported that Jackson apparently ordered the attack in the belief that he would encounter only rear guard units of the Shields forces.

Instead, he was confronted with the entire strength of the Federal units-and outnumbered two to one. TODAY'S action came as the

MASS PRODUCTION IS FINE for some things-but never for our service. What do we mean? Simply this: we try to run our business to provide the best possible service we can-for each individual customer. It's a policy that makes for telephone service you can rightfully depend on, whether you're calling the decorator, the doctor, or the District Attorney. So, while it's true we handle hundreds of thousands of calls every day of the year, you can be sure the one you're going to make next will-as always-get the same careful attention that's become a Michigan Bell tradition.

THESE TWO TELEPHONES may look alike, but they aren't. One is a private line and the other is a party line telephone, and there's quite a difference. A private line telephone is always ready for you to use. And friends can reach you when they want you. And though it may seem hard to believe, in town a private line costs only pennies a day more than a party line does. It's a down-to-earth blessing at a down-to-earth cost. If you live in town and now have party line service, why not call us about getting a private line telephone soon?

PASSING THE BUCK usually refers to letting "George" do something nobody else wants to do. But that's a far cry from the reason why your telephone company arranges with others to accept payments for phone bills. Since many people like to pay bills in person, we had to find a way of making this possible at a reasonable cost. So, at no extra cost to you, we've arranged for several conveniently located banks and other businesses to accept payments for us. It all helps keep your phone bills low, while making sure you get the service you want.

Editor's Note:

Farmers and editors are tired of reading wordy articles on the "farm surplus problem". But in spite of that we are publishing still another farm surplus story . . . and it probably will not be the last one on the subject ever to

This article was written by two Washington agricultural writers with "inside tracks" on what's being planned to remedy the farm surplus situation. They have approached the story strictly on how the surplus situation now stands. No solutions to the problem are proposed, Perhaps solutions can be suggested in a subsequent article.

PROBLEMS

FEAST? ? RR??

On this cold, wintry day the squirrel sits snugly in his den, enjoying a feast from his private storage bin of nuts gathered before the snows came. His biggest worry is that some bigger, bully cousin will pilfer his cache of food before new supplies become available.

The squirrel is smart. He only gathers what he can eat during the winter. The rest he leaves on the ground to rot. A surplus of nuts is no concern to him.

Not so with American farmers. Biggest farm worry today is what to do with bountiful harvests from the world's most productive lands. It's a new worry, relatively, and one we haven't learned to cope with even though the nation's best agricultural "brains" have turned out a variety of "panaceas that might have worked."

Last year each farm worker in the United States produced enough food, fiber and tobacco to supply himself and 26 other persons

... versus enough for himself and only 15 others as recently as 1951. During the past 10 years, farm output has increased at an annual rate of 2.5% while the population increased by only 1.8% per year. While this staggering record of farm output means Americans enjoy an increasing supply of farm goods for a smaller portion of their incomes, it also means that, for the first time in the history of man, the terror of famine has been replaced by the problems of feast.

In trying to reduce the depressing effects of surpluses on farmers' incomes, the government —through various programs—has taken much of the excess supply off the open market. As a result, the Commodity Credit Corporation now owns close to 100 million tons of farm products . . . more than 1,000 pounds for each of the nation's 184 million people. The total is roughly 5 times the stockpile of a decade

During 1961, cost to taxpayers for storage and handling alone added up to more than $460 million — a staggering figure of $1,260,000 a day. Commodity Credit Corporation's total net loss on price support operations since 1933 have added up to $9,600 million!

Highest storage costs during fiscal 1961 were on wheat, $176 million; corn, $149 million, and grain sorghum, $89 million. Also high on the cost list were cotton at $22.6 million and dairy products at $4.4 million. Except for dairy products, these sums include costs on crops harvested in 1960 or before; 1961 figures are not yet available.

How much longer taxpayers will stand for the huge storage bills on surpluses is a moot question. Some close observers of the political scene consider the time very short indeed the limit may be very few years more.

Pressure to balance the budget by fiscal 1963 is bearing down on the Department of Agriculture and its $7-billion-plus budget. The White House has indicated it's a likely place to start trimming domestic spending.

Problems of Feast

Before talking about easing off on the throttle of our steadily accelerating farm production machine, let's take inventory of the load we're pulling. See how much we have to unload before we can start off with a fresh new cargo . . . to be delivered only as it can be used, and not sidetracked for eight to ten years in government storage.

Most troublesome surpluses have been built up in feed grains, wheat and dairy products. As 1962 got underway, the government owned roughly 1.5 billion bushels of corn (nearly 45% of the size of last year's crop), 1.2 billion bushels of wheat (more than a normal year's production), and more than 600 million pounds of dairy products.

Despite a brand new Emergency Feed Grains Program last year, it's esti-mated that CCC will take over 580 million bushels of the 1961 corn crop - an increase of 37 million bushels above the 1960 takeover. Before this corn would move out of government hands in the "normal" stor-age period of seven to nine years, it would cost about $1.20 a bushel for storage, interest and transportation. If 1961-crop corn moves out in three to five years as USDA now predicts, this cost would be cut almost in half.

This tandem of wheat combines is part of a great fleet that follows the harvest season from the Panhandle of Texas, north across the Great Plains, and into Canada. Efficiency at harvest is only one small phase of the advancing technology which has made the American farmer's ability to produce the envy of the world . but has contributed to the surplus problem.

How much reduction is needed to bring feed grain supplies down to a carryover considered "adequate" by USDA economists? About one bushel in five would have to be cut to bring supplies to desirable levels in four to five years, they say.

1.3 billion bushel wheat carryover is more than double the 500 million bushels economists estimate are needed as a backstop for crop failure or national disaster. To bring these supplies down to that level wheat farmers must some how limit production to ar annual average of abou 100 million bushels below 1961's 1.2 billion bushe output over the next four or five years.

During the past year, ac cumulation of dairy products in government storage has caused serious cor cern. Secretary Freeman "deeply disturbed" over th situation, and new dairy legislation is at the top of the list of farm laws to be presented to Congress thi Adding to concern is the "unexpected 3% decrease in consumption of dair products along with the two-billion-pound increase Many people apparently responded to talk of choles trol danger and strontium from fluid milk and butte to cheese, skim milk and cottage cheese . . . or com pletely away from dairy products. All across the Midwest, along any major highway, motorists see these gleaming grain storage bins-monuments to the efficiency of modern farmers. In bins like these—and several other kinds, including zero degree storage for surplus butter-Americans now have a backlog of a dozen farm products approaching 100 million tons.

forecast in milk production in 1962 brings more pres-sure for legislation to halt the build-up of government

In CCC storage besides corn, wheat and dairy products are about 1.5 million bales of cotton, 350 million cwt. of grain sorghums, 33 million bushels of barley, 10 million bushels of oats and rye, 1.7-million pounds of shelled peanuts and 600,-000 cwt. of rice.

Government storage of price-supported crops is only part of the surplus pic-ture. Consider also the pur-chase of more than 125 with 80 million pounds of pork and gravy, 64 million pounds of pork and gravy, 64 million pounds of pounds of canned chopped meet 12 million pounds of meat, 12 million pounds of lamb, 22 million pounds of dried eggs, 60 million pounds of turkey and 36 million pounds of young chickens.

Other products pur-chased by USDA for distri-bution through school lunch programs, welfare agencies and voluntary overseas dis-tribution — all adding to taxpayers' government costs
— include canned beef,
ground beef, grapefruit, canned tomatoes, cheese, vegetable oil, canned corn, canned peaches, canned peas, green beans, apricots and Pinto beans. Diversion payments for potatoes must also be included.

Although these commodities are "non-price-supported" and do not go into "permanent" government storage, most of them fall into the surplus category because USDA usually buys only when the market is unduly weak, or when undue weakness appears forthcoming. Last year about $180 million was spent for these products un-der the National School Lunch Act and Section 32 of Public Law 320, which assists producers by removing excess supplies from the

In spite of all efforts to somehow use all we can produce, it becomes increasingly evident it can't be done . . . at least not in the near future. If we can't consume all we can grow, there's only one thing left to do: produce less.

A budget-conscious Administration had "laid down the law" on any new farm bill presented to Congress this year. New farm legislation must meet these "rules" or face a possible veto: (1) It must not increase farm program costs; (2) It must not increase consumer prices "significantly;" (3) It must not lower farm income; and (4) It must not increase surpluses.

Within this restrictive framework, programs must be worked out, either government or otherwise, to cope with our incredible ability to produce more and more on less and less land, with fewer farmers.

Most everyone agrees we should produce only what can be used. Only trouble is, there's no agreement how this should be doneand, as yet, no agreement even on how much can be consumed. Big questions are, where to cut back? And how much? Secretary of Agriculture Freeman hopes he has the answers in his new program stipu-lating production goals for all major farm crops.

"BATTER-WAY" RECIPE FOR WIENER BREAD

3½ cups sifted all purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
1 tablespoon soft butter
1¼ cups water (warm for dry, lukewarm for compressed yeast)
1 pkg. active dry yeast (or 1 cake compressed yeast)

1 egg (room temperature)
3/4 lb. wieners or Polish sausage

Blend the first four ingredients in a bowl. Pour the warm water into another bowl, or use the mixer bowl. Sprinkle the yeast on top. Let stand a few minutes, then stir. Blend in the egg. Add about % of the flour-mixture to the yeast-mixture. Start the mixer on medium speed, or beat by hand. Beat 2 minutes until smooth. Stop mixer. Pour in the rest of the flour-mixture and beat again with spoon until smooth, 1 to 11/2 minutes. Beating in this recipe takes place of kneading. Scrape down batter from sides of bowl.

Cover the bowl and let rise in warm place until doubled — about 30 minutes. Meanwhile butter 1 9 x 13 x 2-inch or two 9-inch pans, layer or square. Cut the wieners in half crosswise. (If sausage is over l-inch in diameter, split lengthwise, also.) Beat batter hard — 50 strokes. This is a thick, somewhat sticky batter. Pour into pan and push evenly into all corners with spoon. Tap pan on table to settle batter. Press cut wieners down into the batter could be the corner of the corne evenly so that there will be the same amount of bread around each piece - about 4 halves to a row - and 4 rows.

Let rise in warm place until batter is doubled and starts puffing around the meat — 25 to 30 minutes. Preheat oven to quick-moderate (375°) . Just before baking, push wieners down into batter again. Bake bread 25 to 35 minutes, or until well browned. Remove from pan to rack. Brush with butter. Serve warm. To serve, cut into desired sections. May be topped with pickle relish, mustard, etc.

Starting at the wide side, mark roll of dough in 12 equal parts. "Tie off" each piece with strong thread. To "tie off" rolls, take a piece of strong thread about 16-inches long. Slip under the roll of dough, cross on top to cut the slices smoothly and quickly. Makes 12 rolls. Place in the buttered pan.

Cover and let rise 30 minutes in warm place, or until doubled. Bake 20 to 25 minutes, or until golden brown, in preheated moderately hot oven (400°). Turn rolls upside down on a rack. Spread bottoms with any syrup left in the pan. After rolls are slightly cooled and syrup "set", put a piece of waxed paper on the bottom, turn right-side-up and place on the rack. Ice tops of rolls with the frosting.

BOUQUET-DECKED HAM BAKED IN FOIL

A secret we'll share for adding extra deliciousness to ham is to brush on fruit juice and spices before bak-ing and let the foil hold in the flavor so that it penetrates deep during baking.

Place ham on large sheet of 18-inch wide heavy duty foil. Brush liberally with 1/2 cup pineapple juice combined with I teaspoon each, dry mustard and ginger and ¼ teaspoon cloves. Pad bone ends with folded pieces of foil.

Wrap ham by bringing ends of foil up until they meet and overlap them 3 to 4 inches. Smooth down over sides of ham. Bring underneath foil up over top piece and press snugly. It should extend up at least 3 inches above bottom of pan to hold juices. No need to seal. Half ham is wrapped the same, using smaller piece of foil and half of the pineapple spice mixture.

Place wrapped ham in shallow pan in moderately hot oven (400°F.). Bake whole ham 16 minutes per pound; half ham, 18 minutes per pound.

To glaze ham, remove from oven, fold foil back and spoon out melted fat. Removerind from ham, score fat in diamond pattern with sharp knife. Brush with % cup pineapple juice combined with % cup brown sugar and return ham to oven until very lightly glazed.

To decorate ham, remove from oven. Cut stems for flowers from green pepper. Make blossoms by cutting canned pineapple into small rings, cutting kumquats and maraschino cherries in half. Arrange on ham to form gay bouquet, holding in place with toothpicks. Brush with a little additional pineapplebrown sugar mixture and return to the oven until fruit and ham are glazed to perfection. After the ham has been glazed to golden beauty, use the foil to lift it to the serving tray and tuck around attractively to form ą silver server.
