TC Council OKs Wage Hike for City Employees

On recommendation of its finance committee, the Tawas City Council adopted wage increases for hourly and salaried employees at its meeting Monday night.

Councilman Cecil Cable, chairman of the finance committee, said that the wage boosts represent the normal cost of living increase. Effective March 1, hourly workers received a five-cent-an-hour boost in their weekly pay checks. This increase gives one full-time and one part-time laborer wages of $1.75 an hour, three truck drivers now receive $1.95 an hour and one equipment operator receives wages of $2.15 an hour.

After four years of employment, hourly workers receive 12 days of vacation time each year instead of six days allotted under the old schedule. Four salaried employees also received a boost in wages, ranging from $10 to $25 a month. A $15 increase gives Chief of Police George Ruth a salary of $345 a month, a $25 boost gives Supt. of Public Works Reginald Bublitz $515 a month, salary of City Foreman Matthew Pfeiffer was upped $15 and he now receives $415 a month, while the salary of Mrs. Roy Bergeron, office

LENTEN PROGRAM

Lenten program for Christ Episcopal Church, East Tawas, will contain some unusual features. The Rev. Stephen Knight of St. John's Episcopal Church, AuSable, will give the first sermon on phases of The Lord's Prayer during the March 11 Sunday service.

local firms will be used in the cooking school's two-hour program. Performances will be preceded by a fashion show sponsored by Sis's Dress Shop, East Tawas, and Sally's of Tawas City.

Here to assist Miss Lowe will be Miss Margaret Mielock, Consumers Power Company home service representative. Miss Mielock is well known in this area through her many appearances at appliance stores, home shows, schools and other functions.

Miss Lowe has been consulting with the Betty Crocker kitchens on recent extensive testing of baking and freezing products made with Gold Medal Flour. She will give tips on whether to freeze a food before or after baking, wrapping and marking, and how to freshen baked products in the oven before serving.

A special booth will be set up by Iosco County 4-H Clubs for the sale of baked goods. Proceeds from this project will help send members to summer camp. Mrs. Donald Schuster, president of the Iosco 4-H Club Council, assisted by Mrs. Marvin Davenport and Mrs. Charles Hayes, will be in charge of the booth.

Subjects to be discussed in the school will provide answers to questions frequently asked by homemakers. The use of the home freezer, for example, has changed from the time of filling the space with sides of beef. Today's entertaining is made more glamorous with bakings prepared ahead and frozen. Yeast breads, muffins, fruit breads, waffles and pancakes, cookies, cakes and main dishes can be prepared when time permits and then frozen quickly to be served later at the fanciest party!

Everyone will want to see the whys and wherefores of the new Betty Crocker "dipping" method of measuring flour. A handy recipe folder of favorite Gold Medal recipes will be given to everyone attending the cooking schools.

Deer Survival Club Seeks Aid in Feeding Program

In an effort to save the deer herd which now faces starvation because of the large buildup of snow in wooded areas, a group of Oscoda men have started a feeding program which is to continue through the month of March.

Calling themselves the Iosco Deer Survival Club, the group has embarked on an ambitious project to feed deer in the area west of Oscoda on both sides of the AuSable River.

Handling the program are Andy Dolak and Peter Hoemke, along with the assistance of Richard Hoemke, Russell Beck, Herbert Gorman, Victor Malek, Alex McLuckie and Howard Bruhaker.

For the second straight weekend, the men distributed a truckload of alfalfa hay and clover Friday at various points along old US-23, then along Bissnette Road and back to Oscoda.

At some points, toboggans and snow shoes were used to carry bales into the deer yarding areas. In addition to carrying in feed, the men cut cedar boughs from some trees which had already been stripped of available feed.

Numerous deer were spotted while the truck was moving along old US-23 which gave evidence that the herd was yarding in the area selected for feeding.

Feed has been obtained for 50 cents a bale, about half the normal cost, through the cooperation of the supplier. Additional distributions will be made to other areas if funds are made available.

Contributions have been made by the Oscoda Kiwanis Club, Four Point Club, Andy's Market, AuSable River Sportsmen's Club and the AuSable River Queen excursion boat. Funds were also collected from canisters placed at various Oscoda business places.

The group was formed two weeks ago after the men made an outing and found four dead deer and another in such a weakened condition that it was doubted if it would survive.

Only last week, the Iosco Sheriff's Department and Conservation Officer Arthur G. Leitz warned area residents to keep their dogs under control. Many deer have already been killed by marauding dogs.

FIRE is raging out of control in this picture as Tawas City firemen battle flames at the Charles Simons Jr. home on M-55 last Sunday morning. The building was completely demolished only a few minutes later. No furniture was saved from the burning building.

ALTHOUGH walls are still standing, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cowan on Plank Road was completely gutted Sunday afternoon. Mayor George Tuttle, center, jumps to aid firemen in untangling a hose. All contents were damaged by smoke, fire and water.—Herald Photos.

Two Homes Destroyed—

Fires Rout Two Families

Fire routed two Tawas Township families from their homes Sunday as the Tawas City Fire Department had its busiest day thus far this winter.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simons Jr. on M-55 was completely demolished early Sunday morning while the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cowan on Plank Road was listed as a total loss.

There were no injuries in either blaze.

Simons told firemen he awoke shortly after 4 o'clock. Bedrooms were located on the second floor of the frame house and, when he smelled smoke, he went downstairs to check.

Mrs. Simons and their 14-year-old son, Kim, gathered some clothing and made their escape from the building. The family then went to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simons Sr., located next door.

The blaze quickly spread to other portions of the house.

Within two minutes after the alarm, Assistant Fire Chief James Lansky left the city hall with the first of three units to answer the call. The Simons home is located about seven miles from Tawas City and was already a mass of flames when firemen arrived.

The building was completely demolished within three quarters of an hour.

This was the second time that fire had routed the Simons family. The upper portion of the house was damaged on January 14, 1950.

Firemen, using the then new Tawas Township fire truck, were able to save the lower part of the building. Fire destroyed the Simons' barn about two years ago.

The Cowan blaze, the exact cause of which is unknown, resulted in damage estimated at $10,000.

Mr. Cowan was working in the garage when his wife and their three children returned from attending church about 12:15 p. m. They found smoke pouring from the building and Mrs. Cowan ran to the home of a neighbor and turned in the alarm.

The Cowan residence is located about four miles from Tawas City and, upon their arrival, firemen found the house completely enveloped in dense smoke. Some smoke damaged clothing and furniture was removed from the building but all contents were a total loss.

Walls of the house are still standing, but the interior was damaged by fire, smoke and water. Fire was heaviest in the basement and the floor buckled.

The Cowan family is now living in a cabin at Sand Lake. The Simons are living in the Clarence Everett cottage in Tawas City.

ET Withholds Permit Until Next Meeting

After approving a building application for J. W. Sparks Monday night, East Tawas Council rescinded its action a few minutes later and is to withhold a permit until the next regular meeting.

Sparks had requested permission to construct a home in Tawas Lake Park Subdivision. The property on which he was to build had been shown as a city park under the original plat.

Located near the old Iosco County Airport near Tawas Lake, the parcel had been set aside by the subdividers in order to lengthen one of the airport runways.

City Assessor Deloise (Dewey) Durant said that the metes and bounds description of this property would be confusing and requested that the parcel be re-platted into lots.

In other business, the council recommended the board of public works hire an engineer to bring plans of its sewer and water systems up to date.

Original drawings of the two systems were made in 1938 and many changes have been made since that time.

Alderman James DeTosia felt that the city should have more than one set of these plans on hand as a safeguard against accidental destruction.

The new plans would incor-

Hay Diet Not Adequate; Deer Also Need Browse

One sportsman warned Tuesday that feeding hay to starving deer was not the full solution to the problem of saving a wintering deer herd. In fact, a steady diet of hay can do more harm than good.

Cecil Cable, Tawas City hardwareman who has conducted a deer feeding program for several years, said that although natural browse is the best, there is no harm in feeding deer a limited amount of second cutting alfalfa, grain, corn or bean pods.

However, feeding in excessive amounts can cause problems to the deer. Cable said that in conducting his feeding program he has found that deer cannot properly digest a steady diet of hay and grain.

"Hay balls up in the mouth and stomach of deer and too much corn can cause diarrhea," said Cable. "A balanced diet is needed and I have found that easily digested food pellets which supplement natural foods is the best program."

Cable has been feeding the concentrated pellets for the past three winters at his hunting camp on Sand Lake Road and the herd is in excellent condition. "In fact, we cannot get within a quarter of a mile of the deer. This means that they are alert and far from starving."

It has been said that deer can starve on a pile of hay. This fact was substantiated Tuesday by Kenneth Alstrom, county road commission truck driver. He called the Herald to say that he spotted a dead doe along Alabaster Road which apparently starved to death on a pile of hay set out by sportsmen.

"I counted 37 deer and all were in a weakened condition," stated Alstrom.

And then there is the theory that the deer herd is too large to be supported by natural browse.

INVESTIGATE B&E AT WHITTEMORE TAVERN

State police and Iosco Sheriff's Department officers are investigating a breaking and entering at the Sportsmen's Bar, Whittemore.

The bar had been entered sometime after 2:30 a. m. Sunday. A screen was ripped off a window on the south side of the building and a window pried open.

Stolen was $21.90 in change from a cigarette machine, a quantity of cigarettes, candy and wine.

Dennis Cross Wins in FFA Speech Meet

Dennis Cross, 17-year-old junior at Tawas Area High School, was crowned champion of the regional public speaking contest at Gladwin Friday. The event was sponsored by the Future Farmers of America.

Cross will participate in the state contest to be held during the Theme of his talk was "Mightier than Missiles," which compared the agricultural strength of the United States to that of the Soviet Union.

Schools participating included Midland, Onaway, Gladwin and Mt. Pleasant.

Cross is president of the Tawas Area FFA Chapter and is president of the Region Seven leadership training camp.

He was accompanied by Gladwin by Robert Reanser, vocational agricultural instructor at Tawas Area, along with Gary Mallon, Michael Fohey and Richard Mills.

Dennis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cross of Wilber Township.

District Band Festival Slated Saturday at OHS

Bands from 13 schools will participate in the District Nine band festival at Oscoda Area School Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

Marvin Draeger, district president, is festival chairman. He is band director at Oscoda Area.

Schools participating include Oscoda, Tawas Area, Standish, Sterling, Gladwin, Clare, AuGres, Mio, Roscommon, Harrison, Farwell, Beaverton, Arenac Eastern and Whittemore-Prentiss.

All bands will perform one selection required by the state, along with an overture of the individual band's choice and a warm-up march.

Class B required number is "The Pearl Fishers Overture" by Bizet, while the state required number for class C bands is "Cathedral Canyon" by Erick Hanson.

This program is open to the public. Draeger said, however, that visitors must be seated prior to performances of the band. Visitors may not enter or leave during a selection.

Edward Rima, Tawas Area Band director, said that 137 students from here would participate in the festival. This figure includes the junior band, which is scheduled to perform at 2:00 p. m.

Judges include George Canvender, assistant director of University of Michigan Bands; Edgar Ross, woodwind instructor at Central Michigan University; Rex Hewlett, band director at Mt. Pleasant High School, and Glenn Smith, brass instructor at the U of M.

EAST TAWAS' CENTENNIAL YEAR ---- 1962

DURING THE EARLY HISTORY of this area, water was the most important means of transportation and many docks and wharfs lined the Tawas Bay water front. Lacking highways of the present day, early pioneers relied upon sailing vessels to bring in the necessary items of every day life and also to transport lumber and other products to market. These two pictures show the bustling port at East Tawas. Lumber schooners are tied at the commercial dock in the top picture. Several of the lumber mills may be seen in the background. The lower picture shows one of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Company's steam passenger ships, "City of the Straits," at the dock. The Detroit and Mackinac Railway gradually replaced water transportation until today, only the huge ore carriers which stop at Port Gypsum and Alabaster are to be seen. Top picture is from Joseph Barkman collection. Lower picture furnished by Eugene Hanson of East Tawas.

Read Luke 18:9-14

The son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight, and am no more worthy to be called thy son (Luke 15:21).

Alone in a Chicago church, a young woman was practicing a solo for a service. Something caused her to glance over her shoulder. Standing behind her was a ragged, dirty man, with the saddest eyes she had ever seen. For a second her heart stood still. He quickly said, "Don't be afraid of me. My mother used to sing that song when I was a boy. I just stopped in to listen."
"Are you a Christian?" asked the girl. He shook his head. "I wish I were," he said. "But I have gone too far in sin to be worthy of the name. Maybe some day when I've straightened up my life . . ."
"Oh, there is no need to wait," the young woman interrupted. "Pleading guilty to sin is the first step toward salvation. What you need to do now is commit your life to Christ, believing. He will do the straightening up of your life."
"Too many people plan to clean up their lives before they come to Christ. 'If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.'"

PRAYER

O Lord, we know there is nothing we can do to merit salvation, for by Thy grace we are saved. We thank Thee for this grace, which makes it possible for us sinners to come to Thee just as we are, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Observe National 4-H Club Week--March 3-10

Senior 4-H Leader Says--

Young People Should Prepare Now for Future

By ROGER MOTT
Reno Topnotcher

I am a junior leader in my 4-H club and I would like to interest other people in this organization. The world situation as it is today needs people who can work and live together in order to maintain peace. One of the best ways for the young people to prepare themselves to live in these uncertain times is through a 4-H club, which will teach them to work with others.

The 4-H Club was started in the early 1900s when a few corn, canning and poultry clubs in Central and Southern United States gave rural school children a learning doing experience. These clubs were the beginning of the largest volunteer youth organization in the world, the 4-H.

Because of the varying types of agriculture in the United States, more than 50 different phrases of homemaking and agriculture projects may be undertaken by 4-H club members. For example, in agriculture club activities, a club member may voluntarily under the direction of his local leader and county extension agent and in accordance with recognized improved practices: Grow a crop; raise a garden or a flock of poultry; purchase, breed and care for a cow and litter; care for a calf to maturity and build a dairy herd; and maintain tractors and other farm machinery.

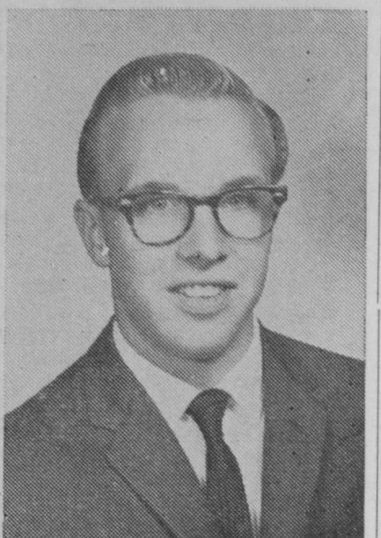

Much emphasis is placed on development of constructive citizenship, leadership and intelligent ability to cooperate, the improvement of health of the individual and the community and the services that may be rendered in the home, on the farm and in the community.

The United States Department of Agriculture sponsors annually a National 4-H Camp in Washington, D. C., during which, member delegates become acquainted with the functions of the government in general. Youth leaders of many lands are special guests at the National 4-H Camp. This is in line with the 4-H effort to share world friendships with rural youth of the world.

A major annual event is the National 4-H Club Congress, to which members are named delegates as rewards for outstanding record of achievement. This event is conducted jointly by the cooperative extension service and the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Incorporated. The 4-H members of this county can attend a camp on the county basis. At this camp, everyone has fun meeting other people and they learn good sportsmanship through the recreation.

At the end of the year, we exhibit our finished projects at a county fair and receive premium money. We also receive pins and certificates in recognition for completed projects.

There are many benefits that you and your community can receive from 4-H Clubs. Some of these are: For your own personal opportunities, you can develop your personality through the many situations and experiences you will meet; you can learn many ways to work well with groups of people; you make friends and contacts with other people your age; for your community, by landscaping the yard of a community hall or school; helping in the March of Dimes and Red Cross campaigns; cleaning up a cemetery; safety drives; painting and stenciling mail boxes; and any other activities approved by the county extension staff.

"Learn, Live, Serve Through 4-H"

Yes! I will need the boys and girls with the HEAD, HEART, HANDS and HEALTH of the 4-H CLUBS

THE FUTURE growth and safety of our nation and the success and happiness of its people of tomorrow depends upon the moral and educational development of our youth today. Won't you give of your time and energies in assisting in this development through the 4-H Clubs? There is no finer or greater investment.—Norman O. Sibley, publicity committee chairman, County 4-H Club Council.

Teacher Tells Her Experiences in 4-H

By ELLA ROSS KAVEN
State Champion

When I was in secondary school, there was very little counseling and guidance services offered to the students. No one had suggested college to me. It was true that there was very little, if any, extra money for such things as college. As I remember, my mother sold eggs for eight and ten cents a dozen during the last year that I was in high school.

The first chance that I had to become a 4-H member was when I was a freshman at Whittemore. At that time, no one had organized a club in the Corrigan School District where I lived. At the end of my senior year, I was awarded the state 4-H championship in the fifth year sewing. The award entitled me to a small 4-H scholarship at Michigan State College. I was very pleased with this grant. Even though our country had just experienced the banking holiday, it was this scholarship that inspired me to go to college at East Lansing.

Since I had had one year of county normal training, the next year I was offered a teaching position in Grant Township. We organized a 4-H Club for the boys and girls in handicraft and sewing. I did not know much about handicraft even though I was the leader for both clubs. However, some of the boys in our club did win county awards as well as the girls.

Whenever possible, I took advantage of the opportunity and enrolled either in college extension classes or attended summer school somewhere. In 1952, I received my degree from Central Michigan College and completed 12 years of leadership in 4-H Club work.

Today, I am teaching in an elementary school in the city of Saginaw. Each week-end, I drive the 80 miles to my home in Hale. During my eight years in Saginaw, I had other chances to continue my education. In 1960, I received my master degree from the University of Michigan. A few of my credits were earned by traveling. Some of the college travel courses which I enjoyed were the literature tours through the New England, Southern and Western States and two trips to Mexico City to study history and comparative education. Traveling is contagious. Besides these trips, my family and I spent a month one summer visiting the National Parks from California to Washington. During the winter holidays, I have visited Florida, Cuba and the Bahama Islands.

Again, I will say that it was the 4-H scholarship that encouraged me to go to college. The road was not easy to travel but it did lead to many interesting experiences which I can share with others. Let us continue to make the "Best Better."

I pledge as the major problems of the 180 million people in this country are in the field of humanities, human development and human relations.

Iosco Concerns Support Many Special Awards

By MARVIN DAVENPORT

The 4-H Club award trips and special recognitions are supported by Iosco County industries and other business concerns. Delegates selected by the Iosco 4-H Club Leaders' Council to attend the State 4-H Club Week in July and the State 4-H Club Show in August are sent through the generosity of the Peoples State Bank of the Tawas.

The annual 4-H Club leaders' recognition banquet held to recognize these volunteer leaders who give of their time and money is made possible through the joint support of Detroit and Mackinac Railway, National Gypsum Company of National City, Consumers Power Company, Prescott Grain and Lumber Corporation of Prescott and the Iosco County Farm Bureau. This event is in its 14th year and is held in December.

Local newspapers have done more in supporting 4-H Club work than can be accurately measured. Their cooperation in providing this opportunity to publicize National 4-H Club Week is just one example. County award medals are presented each year to the outstanding young men and women who excel in their various project activities. These are made possible by state and national organizations such as Sears-Roebuck Foundation, International Harvester Company, Ford Motor Company, General Foods Corporation, Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, Michigan Artificial Breeders Cooperative, General Motors Corporation, Michigan Milk Producers Association, Prairie Farmer, Michigan Farmer and many others.

It is the dedicated volunteer 4-H Club leaders and these sponsors that encourages the development of America's youth today in becoming better and more useful citizens tomorrow.

4-H Activity is Way to Meet New Friends

By MARIMAE PEMBER

To take part in a 4-H activity is a great experience for a young person. It enables them to take over for themselves and really be on their own with a parent overseeing. You meet many people your own age and enjoy many wonderful experiences with them on your trips. You learn to live with others and do your part in a project. You first learn to be a follower and later you are called upon to be a leader of children younger than yourself. It is a grand feeling for someone to look up to you for help and advice. You feel about 10 feet tall when some small girl comes up to you for help on her dress or a boy comes to you for help on his project.

Then there are those games which seem like old kid stuff to you but wait till one of the younger members ask you to come play with them and help. You never know what it means until you have these kids to help. In this process, you also learn to live with others and to be a better citizen. Among the many things one learns is the all important business meeting which is at every meeting. You learn to take part and to later be an all important part of it. You learn the fundamentals of the proper way of keeping an orderly meeting and getting all the business done and finished in half the time without confusion.

Recreation is the most fun at a 4-H meeting. It is the high spot of the evening. We sing and play many games to keep us busy while refreshments are being prepared and served.

At leadership school, you learn many ways to do things to help with the recreation of your club and make the members want to come back to another meeting.

It relieves the monotony of a tiresome meeting. While things, are offered to young people in 4-H. Won't you join and have fun living with fun and learning to be a worthwhile person. Join 4-H and be a better person and citizen.

THANK YOU, 4-H CLUB MEMBERS OF IOSCO COUNTY

To Rural America--

4-H Movement is Important

By Harold Hammond

One of the prime objectives of Consumers Power Company in providing electric service to Michigan agriculture is to advance the social and economic life of the farmer and his family through the many benefits associated with the uses of electricity.

Those of us who are interested in farm electrification are certain, in our modest way, that electricity can contribute more to better farming and better farm living than most other factors combined. The 4-H Club program is striving for these same goals.

In my opinion, the 4-H Club movement is the greatest single factor, in rural America, in interesting our farm youth in an improved agriculture and a higher standard of living. The entire 4-H Club activity is aimed at improvement: Better livestock, better crops, better methods and more important a better and fuller life. The permanent solution to the problems of agriculture lies in better farming methods. I am certain that the successful farmer of tomorrow will be a specialist who makes use of every practical device and method in producing a better product at a lower cost. He will be alert to economic factors that affect his business. He will learn to anticipate the market far enough in advance to adjust his production to it. He will always get the most out of what he produces and utilize fully those devices that will enable him to protect his stock and crops from unfavorable weather. He will be a man who is, to a large degree, independent of labor outside his immediate family and at the same time, will have removed from his own and his family's shoulders those drudgeries so common in the past.

Our modern farmer will be a well informed man. He will have the leisure to learn and to enjoy a fair share of the luxuries of life. In my opinion, the 4-H Club program as a whole is helping to create this modern farmer.

In 4-H Club work we are concerned with the fourfold development of young people. This is graphically represented in the 4-H Club pledge regarding the head, heart, hands and health. The 4-H Club program as a whole is built around the development of outstanding, useful citizens for tomorrow. If we pause for a moment to think about tomorrow we see a vastly more complicated age ahead. I feel that we have done well on the skills or hands part of our 4-H development, but I would like to suggest to you that we must concentrate more of our efforts on the head portion of our

Many Different Goals—

4-H Club Motto: 'Make the Best Better'

By MRS. ROBERT PEMBER
Our club motto is "Make the Best Better." Each one's goal is different but together we hope to better our homes and community. The club emblem is the four leaf clover with an "H" on each leaf. These stand for head, heart, hands and health, the training and proper care of which will be the best assets any person can possess.

In the 4-H Club Pledge together, we pledge:
My head to clearer thinking,
My heart to greater loyalty,
My hands to larger service,
My health to better living for my club, my community and my country.
My head to clearer thinking,
My heart to greater loyalty,
My hands to larger service,
My health to better living for my club, my community and my country.

hopes to complete their projects, whether it be an apron, a boot-jack or a tasty biscuit. It is that wonderful feeling of I have done it myself that counts.
My heart to greater loyalty is a quality one receives from meeting new friends and working together.
My hands to larger service, can express our willingness to help others. In 4-H, we learn to help others whenever we can, young or old. Cooking is real fun, when you can get to taste a bit and the smells naturally give one a good appetite. Good cooks just don't happen, practice makes perfect. Everyone must learn and young cooks have plenty of time to think about cooking and with older supervision, it is much easier. Have you ever seen the beaming smile of a 10-year-old with her first plate of brownies? Our cookie jar was filled for weeks. We were greeted with tasty fresh carrots, stuffed celery and oranges that resembled flowers.

The second year cook produces tasty biscuits, salads and pretty cakes. A plant can be a centerpiece to brighten any table. She can be a real help to a busy mother.

Helping around the house is much more interesting if we vision how nice it will look after the bedroom receives its new lift. New colors on the wall, a flower covered chair and new fluffy curtains.
My health to better living means plenty of good food for the growing body. Outdoor sports, exercise in the fresh air, outdoor projects, learning about forest trees and gun safety can be of great interest to boys and girls.
Boys and girls learning to help themselves and others in the community are growing up to be useful citizens. 4-H helps and won't you help, too?

MRS. DONALD SCHUSTER

If each 4-H Club leader can teach one child to be more lenient in his judgment of others, he will have helped that child take a forward step in preparing for happy, useful living at home, in the community and in our country. This philosophy of 4-H leadership rewards is expressed by Mrs. Donald Schuster, president of the Iosco 4-H Club Council.

4-H Club Week Offers Many Opportunities

By GORDON HATCH
Registered Forester

The 4-H Club work offers learning opportunities in the field forestry for both urban and young people. We are certain over 90 percent of our population cannot identify trees native to their locality; therefore, 4-H forestry projects offer an opportunity for studying the basic principles of forestry.

Today, the multiple use concept of forestry includes not only management of forests for timber production but also many related uses such as recreation, management and water shed control. These are all phases of forestry related to humans and animals and their relation to the best surroundings. This makes very broad profession knowledge into many subjects; for example, forest insects, their value and harmful aspects to forestry. It is difficult without basic knowledge and interest in this field, youth to take up a profession this kind. This is one of the goals of 4-H Club work, encouraging development of these talents.

Forestry today is considered a profession just as teaching medicine. It will be more so in the future with the industrial port of our population having more time to spend for recreation. There is no better way to recreate than within the environment of our forests.

The profession of forestry becoming more recognized as a highly developed profession. The State of Michigan now has reforestation laws and a strict code of ethics for the professional foresters.

Boys and girls of 4-H Clubs have a real opportunity to learn the principles of forestry through their many forestry activities—tree study, forest trees and how they grow, tree planting, for management, forest soil and conservation as well as wild life conservation are but a few skills and know-how 4-H members study.

Congratulations to the 2,000 4-H Club alumni and may a greater portion of our 4-H members become interested in the growth of the forestry industry.

Shell dealers suggest 10 ways to cut car repair bills

Your car is probably the second biggest single investment you'll ever make. Here are 10 pointers from Shell that can help you protect that investment. They're easy to follow. And they might well save you a lot of trouble, as well as needless expense.

1. Check your cooling system hose for weak spots. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they are cracked, cut or swollen, they could give way at any time and cause engine temperature to soar. The result: a troublesome breakdown. Less serious, but a potential cause of overheating, is a debris-clogged radiator. Ask your Shell dealer to use his air hose to clear away clutter on the outside of your radiator.

2. Touch up scratches before rust sets in. You can discourage the spread of rust by using touch-up paint on body scratches. Rust also likes to plug drainage holes on the underside of car doors and body panels. Keep those holes open (a screwdriver or any pointed instrument works fine) and you may well prevent a rusted-through door or body section.

3. Avoid 100-foot trips. It's a mean trick to start a cold car, drive it just a few feet, then turn it off. Yet people often park in front of their homes, then drive into the garage later on. This can increase engine wear, dilute your oil with unburned fuel and give sludge more chance to form. If at all possible, drive right into the garage when you arrive home.

4. Look for oil streaks on inner walls of tires. It may take a bit of back-bending, but it's well worth the effort to check the side of your tires you seldom see—the side facing in. If there's any sign of leaking fluid on tire walls, tell your Shell dealer. A leaking brake cylinder or rear axle oil seals could be at fault. Either can lead to extensive repairs if not corrected right away.

5. Obey the cardinal rule of car care. A professional lubrication job is still the best way to keep your car in good health. But it should be done on a regular basis—not "every so often." For safety's sake, Shellubricate every 1000 miles. If your car has an automatic transmission, your transmission fluid level should be checked regularly. Your Shell serviceman can do this for you during Shelllubrication.

6. Never "gun" your car to warm up your engine. It doesn't help a bit. Matter of fact, it can do more harm than good, even increase engine wear. Many drivers also think it's worthwhile to idle their cars on a cold morning. But, with today's modern engines, it isn't necessary. It just wastes gasoline. Far better to start your engine, wait a few seconds until it's running smoothly—then be on your way, but at moderate speed.

7. Check a terribly neglected little accessory. People seldom give their windshield wipers a second thought—except when it rains. But wipers wear out too. Instead of wiping your windshield, they can smear and scratch it. Wiper blades are easy to replace—but windshields aren't. Ask your Shell dealer to check your blades and wiper arms next time you see him.

8. Get a midwinter anti-freeze check. If you've had to add water to your radiator in the last few months, you may have less anti-freeze protection than you think. Let your Shell dealer check your coolant with a hydrometer—to make sure an extra cold night won't cause trouble. Reminder: If you got a Shellzone anti-freeze guarantee this winter, you're entitled to free refills, if necessary, until April 1, 1962.

9. Don't let front wheels hit the curb. Banging front wheels against the curb is tough on wheel alignment—and tires too. So, approach the curb carefully when you park. This sounds like a small thing, but it can help prevent costly front end problems. Suggestion: look at the tread on your front wheels right now. If they show uneven wear, your front wheel alignment may need attention.

10. Give your car an occasional change of scenery. A steady diet of city driving adds to the combustion deposits inside your engine. This deposit buildup can reduce your car's power and, eventually, may cause trouble. But many of the deposits that come with city driving will fly out the exhaust when you hit the open road. So, take your car for a turnpike drive this weekend. It can be good exercise for it. And a pleasant afternoon for you.

Interest in Youth Shown Through 4-H

By DOROTHY SCOTT
County Extension Agent

It has been said that everyone is interested in children. Surely this is so, though the ways in which people express their interest are legion.

My own special expression of interest in young people is the 4-H Club program; that interest began quite a long time ago when I, myself, was a 4-H Club member. Because the opportunities and experiences that were mine have meant a very great deal to me, I would like for all other girls and boys to be able to share them.

They can, too. Mother and Dad, with your help and mine. So let me show you why 4-H meant so much to me.

When I was not quite 10 years old, a 4-H Club agent whose name was Benjamin, Mr. Benjamin, that is, came to see our family. We lived not too close to other children; few and far between were our chances to meet with them for work or play. So the 4-H potato project club opened a new door. Most of the children around were boys, so we grew potatoes. I think it was a source of pleasure for my father, too.

Not only did we learn about growing potatoes but also we had fun at project meetings, did demonstrations and tried judging. Eventually one of the boys and I received our first award, or recognition, and attended the district 4-H Camp near Gaylord. At that time, we competed for the privilege of being district champs and did win that honor . . . but my award trip to the State Fair was to come about in another way at another time. Another person I remember for his help with our potato demonstration was a graduate student at Michigan State University. His summer job was roguing potato-tops; thus my first ideas and impressions about a college education.

In a year or so, at the urging of my father, I wrote and entered an essay at the Top of Michigan Potato Show. It was awarded first place. I still remember Mr. Jewell, the county agent, saying that he suspected the boys knew at least as much about potato growing as I, but that somehow girls had a better way with words.

Later on we had other projects—canning, food preparation, sewing and home furnishings. My mother always said she could have taught me about these things but it was easier and more pleasant to bring it about through the group approach offered by 4-H Clubs. My cousin and I worked up the foods demonstration that took us to the State Fair at Detroit for the competition there. Neither of us had been so far away from home before, cars and good roads were a far different story than they are today.

State Fair and a trip around the big city were a big event in our lives, so was our first golf game, eight holes we played (and I have never tried it since).

When I learned to drive there were new responsibilities, in taking members to meetings, helping them with demonstrations, much like today's junior leadership project, though we did not call it that.

There followed occasions when I helped my mother or a friend with the lessons for the women's extension group. This added to my experience in telling and showing, and mother began to encourage the idea of college and extension work.

The day came when it was possible for me to begin college, Mich-

Corn and Barley Growers May Sign Up for '62 Program

Growers of corn and spring-planted barley now may sign up to take part in the 1962 feed grain program, Burton A. Partio, chairman of Iosco County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, has announced. The sign up period extends from February 5 through March 30.

Operation of the program will be similar to the 1961 feed grain program. Likewise, its objectives are the same: (1) To increase farm income; (2) to further reduce the excess feed grain stocks; (3) to reduce government costs of farm programs; (4) to reduce the risk of serious overproduction of meat, poultry and dairy products; (5) to assure consumers of fair and stable prices for these products.

Notices of all known corn-producing farm bases and payment rates have been mailed out. Producers on farms growing corn in 1959 and/or 1960 who wish to participate in the 1962 feed grain program are urged to contact the ASCS office in the Federal Building, East Tawas, as soon as possible but no later than March 30.

100 Years Ago This Week...in THE CIVIL WAR (Events exactly 100 years ago this week in the Civil War—told in the language and style of today.) Monitor and Merrimac Wage Historic Battle

THE U. S. S. "MONITOR" NORFOLK, Va.—March 9—The world's first battle between ironclad ships was fought for a furious six hours near here today, ending in what appears to be a draw.

Participants were the Monitor of the Federal navy, a 172-footer carrying two 11-inch guns in revolving turrets; and the Confederate Navy's squat, box-like Virginia, or Merrimac as she is known to the North. The Virginia—similar in size to the Monitor, but carrying an armored gunned instead of turrets—was built by Confederate naval architects on the hull of the Union frigate Merrimac, seized by the rebels after it was scuttled in Norfolk harbor.

Both ships bombarded each other mercilessly during the epic battle, but the armor of each made most of the direct hits bounce off harmlessly. Although the MERRIMAC was the first to withdraw, observers were unable to credit either ship with a clear victory.

Yesterday, the plucky little ship sailed fearlessly into a nest of men-of-war and handed the Union the worst naval defeat in its history. In that one-sided encounter, the Confederate ironclad rammed and sank the Cumberland, a 24-gun wooden vessel; set fire to the 50-gun Congress, and severely damaged the 47-gun Minnesota.

The Merrimac took cover in the James river at dusk, and returned this morning to finish off the Minnesota only to be met by the Monitor, which had steamed in during the night.

LT. J. L. WORDEN, commander of the Monitor, took his ship directly alongside the Merrimac. The point-blank firing began at once. Lt. Worden was among the casualties, being blinded by a shot that sailed right through the narrow pilot house window.

Commanding the Merrimac was Lt. C. R. Jones, who supervised her construction. He too, over only yesterday after Comdr. Franklin Buchanan was severely wounded in the attack on the Union vessels.

THIRD IN A SERIES—CG Auxiliary Advise on Care of Boat Screw of Boat Propeller YOUR BOAT PROPELLOR The axiom, "Out of sight—Out of mind," can well be applied to the propeller or screw on your boat. But a few interesting remarks may cause us to have a little better understanding and a little more respect for this important and hard working piece of boat equipment that we seldom see, except on outboard engine equipped boats.

There are right-hand and left-hand propellers. A right-hand propeller turns clockwise when viewed from the stern of the boat and when the boat is moving ahead. Most single screw boats have right-hand propellers. A good point to remember is that a boat with a right-hand propeller has a tendency for the stern to swing to the right or starboard and the bow to the left or port when under way. Therefore, it is necessary to keep the helm turned slightly to the right to compensate.

On boats with twin screws, viewed from the stern, the right or starboard propeller turns clockwise and the left or port propeller turns counterclockwise. One advantage of the twin screw boat is that the tendency to turn off course is neutralized. Another advantage of the twin screw vessel is that by running one propeller forward and the other reverse, it is possible to turn the boat around actually without moving ahead or a stern. A further advantage is the ability to steer the boat by increasing the speed of one engine over the other, a faster starboard engine speed causing the boat to turn to port and vice versa.

The council gave its approval to two resolutions read by City Attorney J. Richard Newman which called for annexation of two parcels of property in Baldwin Township to the City of East Tawas.

This was the first step toward annexing the American Legion Cemetery and the former Champagne property, which was purchased by the city in 1950.

"The property is uninhabited, owned by the city, adjoins the corporate boundaries of East Tawas and will not change the boundary of any representative district," said Newman.

These qualifications must be met in order to annex the property.

The city is to petition the Iosco Board of Supervisors April 10. An election would be required in both Baldwin Township and East Tawas to decide the question.

Red Cross Drive Slated for May Instead of March

Each year, the month of March is designated as "Red Cross Month." However, due to weather conditions this year, Iosco County's solicitation program has been moved to the week of May 1-6.

"We are appealing to all businesses and organizations to send their checks this year in March, as they have done in past years," states Mrs. George M. Rose, campaign chairman.

She said that $1,200 was needed for the blood bank and the balance of the $4,100 quota is to be used for other Red Cross activities.

Other activities of the local chapter include home service, first aid and disaster aid.

"We wish to thank all those organizations which have already contributed this year," states the campaign chairman.

Contributions may be mailed to Mrs. George M. Rose, 808 East Washington, East Tawas.

Corunna Girl Wins 4-H Baking Contest

A young Michigan 4-H'er who is fascinated by what yeast can do won the 1961 state 4-H bread demonstration award, according to the Cooperative Extension Service.

Seven-year 4-H'er Anita Janicek, 16, of Corunna, took the coveted prize with her demonstration on how to make white yeast bread. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Janicek, who have a 160 acre farm in Shiawassee county. Her award was a $50 U.S. savings bond from Standard Brands Incorporated, a 10-year 4-H donor.

"The way yeast will keep working is very interesting," said this curious 4-H'er. Miss Janicek also studied yeast breads made in foreign countries and remarked: "It surprised me to see that all the doughs were only a basic sweet dough with a few additions."

As news reporter of her local 4-H Club, she has written many news stories about its activities. She also served as junior leader and camp counselor. During her 4-H career she has carried a variety of projects, including preparation and preservation of food, clothing, dairy, garden, personal improvement and junior leadership.
