Lake Odessa - Romeo Officials Feted Monday

Civic officials and businessmen of the Tawas extended a royal welcome to visiting dignitaries Monday during the Mayors Exchange Day program of Michigan Week. Coming to Tawas City during the exchange was Dr. George L. Morse, village president of Lake Odessa, while Village President Wayne N. Black of Romeo visited East Tawas. Accompanying Morse was his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sadlik. The Romeo village president was accompanied by his wife and Councilman and Mrs. Howard Pallister. Meeting the Tawas City visitors Monday morning at city hall were Supervisor Clarence Everett, Supt. of Public Works Reginald Bublitz and Vernon Pugh, president of the Tawas City Businessmen's Association. Following a brief tour of city and county buildings, the group was entertained at a luncheon held at Vic and Zel's Restaurant. Bublitz was toastmaster during the program and presented Morse with a gavel, a gift from Mayor George Tuttle. The Romeo guests were met by Lewis Besancon, city hall manager, and East Tawas Clerk Fred B. Lomas. The group toured the city's water filtration plant, county buildings and had lunch aboard an one ship at the Port Gypsum installation south of Tawas City. The two visiting groups joined together at 1:15 p. m. to start a tour of Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda. The Lake Odessa guests left for home at 5:30 p. m., and on the return trip, stopped at Clare to meet Mayor Tuttle and his wife, who were returning home from Lake Odessa. A dinner had been arranged at Clare, which is about midway between the two exchange communities. The Romeo group remained at East Tawas Monday night where

In Fourth Year— River Boat Opens Season on AuSable

Starting its fourth season as one of the area's top tourist attractions is the AuSable River Queen, 55-foot long paddlewheel boat which operates on the AuSable River between Five Channels and Cooke Dams. Howard Brubaker of Oscoda, owner-operator of the River Queen, reports that the season schedule opens Saturday, May 26, with two round trips daily, 10:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m. From July 1 through Labor Day, the schedule is to be expanded to three trips daily, 10:00 a. m., 1:30 and 4:30 p. m. The popular river boat made its first trip of the season last Saturday, serving as a "shakedown" for Brubaker and his crew. This trip is made each year prior to the opening schedule in order to mark the exact route the boat will travel during the summer months. Since constructing the boat in 1959, Brubaker has made several improvements to the craft and, this year, a new dock and ticket office have been constructed near Five Channels Dam. The double-decked excursion boat has seating capacity for about 100 persons. Ice cream and other refreshments are served from the boat's snack bar. Along the route of the river, Brubaker uses a public address system to outline area history and features of the river to be seen by passengers. He has offered services of the AuSable River Queen to entertain visitors during the East Tawas Centennial in June.

Supervisors Protest Hike in State Valuation Here

Recommendation of a quarter-million-dollar increase in state equalized valuation for Iosco County has brought a sharply worded protest from the board of supervisors.

As the result of the board's monthly session last Wednesday, a resolution to the state board of equalization stated "we are at a loss to understand the justification in the tax commission's May 1 recommendation that Iosco be given a valuation increase of $262,000."

The board was incensed over the fact that Iosco County and, particularly the Townships of Grant and Alabaster and the Cities of East Tawas and Tawas City, took a large decrease in personal property valuation in 1962—and still the state equalized figure was increased.

During its April session, supervisors brought in a total assessed valuation figure for Iosco of $25,072,795, as compared to $24,518,860 in 1961.

The preliminary state equalized valuation total for Iosco County was $54,710,040. This has now been increased by $262,000.

While county assessed real estate valuation showed an increase from $20,207,625 in 1961 to $20,856,815 in 1962, personal property dropped from $4,311,235 in 1961 to $4,215,980 in 1960.

Much of this loss was in the form of adjustments for United States Gypsum Company in Alabaster Township and the removal of the Anderson Coach Company plant at East Tawas to Baldwin Township. Other losses came through the closeouts of several business places in the Tawasess. The finance committee recommended that the board protest "this unjustified boost in county valuation when we are doing everything we can to encourage the industries we have as a fair tax base."

However, this decrease in Iosco's personal property valuation came under fire from several supervisors during the preceding April session. At the time, the board voted to call in the state tax commission in order that a survey be made to determine the equality of assessments in the county.

Preliminary Order by Allocation Bd.; Hearing Thursday

Iosco County Tax Allocation Board set its preliminary order on millages for the various assessing units in the county last Tuesday. A hearing is to be held May 24 before the final order is adopted.

Under the preliminary order, Iosco County would receive 5.30 mills for operation.

Other millages include 8.30 for Tawas Area School operation, eight mills for Oscoda Area School operation, 8.7 mills for Whittemore-Prescott Area School operation and 8.7 mills for Hale Area School operation.

Because of the fact that all of these school districts cross county lines, in all probability the schools will receive eight mills in order to coincide with allocations of adjoining counties.

Nine townships received millage for operation, ranging from 5 to 1.4 mills.

The board of supervisors has estimated that total county operational expense in 1963 would be $316,057.89, less $25,000 in anticipated fees. This would leave $291,057.89 to be raised by taxation.

The board is not expected to spread the full millage allocated as the estimated budget for next year will probably be cut during the October session.

East Tawas Man Rushed to Hospital

An East Tawas man, who awaits circuit court trial on an indecent liberties charge, was rushed to Tawas Hospital early Monday morning after swallowing an unknown solution which caused him to become violently ill.

Treated and held at the hospital was George R. Woodman. State police rushed to Woodman's home after he phoned the East Tawas post to report he was ill.

He had been released Saturday on $300 bond after pleading not guilty in justice court.

Editor's Baseball Yarns Delight Banquet-Goers

Lyall Smith stepped out of his "Today" column of the Detroit Free Press sports section to be the principal speaker at Monday night's annual spring banquet of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce.

Some 250 persons in attendance heard Smith tell some of his interesting experiences as a baseball writer and also some "inside dope" about the Detroit Tigers.

Smith, who is in great demand as a public speaker in the Detroit area—attested by the fact that he averages about 75 banquets a year—spun several interesting yarns about his experiences with major league baseball players.

The Free Press sports editor since 1945, Smith, his wife and two daughters make their home at Birmingham.

Master of ceremonies for the program was Roy McMurray, chamber president. Banquet chairman was Edward Nelkie, assisted by John Pinter, Emmitt Collins, Robert LaVoy, James Martin, Arthur Wuggazer, Carl Thunberg and Clarence King.

Prior to taking office as circuit judge, he had practiced law at Detroit and Tawas City. He was city attorney here, special attorney general for the State of Ohio, assistant general counsel for the National Federation of Young Republicans.

His public and professional service includes membership on the federal court, public relations, bar poll, speakers bureau and special activities committees of state and local bar associations.

Presently in the third year of his judicial service, Judge Miller has held court in 10 different counties in the state on assignment of the supreme court.

Judge Miller resides at East Tawas with his wife, Betty, their four sons and daughter.

DRAG RACE FILM SCHEDULED TONIGHT

A drag race film, "The Big Go," will be presented tonight (Wednesday) at the Barnes Hotel under sponsorship of Lowery Auto Parts, Tawas City.

Attending will be Walker dealers served by the local automotive firm.

Baccalaureate Slated June 3 at Tawas Area

Baccalaureate services for the 90-member graduating class of Tawas Area High School will be held Sunday, June 3, 8:00 p. m., at the high school auditorium.

Scripture reading, prayer and sermon are to be delivered by the Rev. Walter C. Pieper, pastor of Zion Lutheran Church.

Invocation is to be given by Patricia Davenport and the benediction by John Solomon, both members of the graduating class and of the National Honor Society.

Music for the processional and recessional will be by the Tawas Area High School Band, under direction of Edward J. Rima.

Plans have been prepared for Memorial Day services May 30 in Tawas City. Veterans are to assemble at the American Legion Hall at 8:00 a. m. and a parade to the cemetery is to start at 8:30 a. m.

Old-Time Rail Car to Promote ET Centennial

A unique method of publicizing East Tawas' centennial will take place Saturday, June 9, when several local "brothers of the brush" will pump a railroad handcar to Bay City.

There, the official delegates from East Tawas will meet Cong. Elford A. Cederberg, who is to be invited to attend the centennial observance, June 24-30.

Leaving East Tawas at 6:00 a. m., the men dressed in centennial costumes are to pump the car through Tawas City and then board the Detroit and Mackinac's station wagon which travels on the rails.

The group will ride most of the way to Bay City in this vehicle, but several stops are to be made in order to exercise muscle power through communities along the route.

Several owners of antique automobiles in the local area are being contacted in order to transport other residents to Bay City. They will be dressed in costumes of 100 years ago.

In charge of the trip are Councilmen James Campbell and Edward Seifert Jr.

At last week's meeting of the centennial committee, Campbell reported that arrangements had been made for train rides during the observance. Six or eight cars are to be furnished the D&M which will offer "excursion" passenger train rides during the event.

This was a popular feature of the Iosco County Centennial in 1957, when many youngsters had their first train ride.

A complete program of events for the centennial is to be announced this week by the committee.

Register Children for Kindergarten

Parents of all children who will be five years old on or before December 1 should register them for kindergarten at Tawas Area Schools Thursday and Friday. On May 24, registration will be held at the East Tawas unit with Tawas City unit receiving registrations on May 25. Dr. Earl Hasty, district health director, and Mrs. Earl Wright, county nurse, will be present both days for physical examinations.

The school unit in which a child is registered is not necessarily the school he will attend this fall. The child's birth certificate or baptismal record and immunization record should accompany him.

A new or recent resident of the school district may call the office of elementary principal, Forest 2-3151, for an appointment for registering.

Local Artist Wins in Thunder Bay Show

Mrs. Marlene T. Pellerito won first prize for her outstanding painting, "On The Beach," in the first annual Thunder Bay Art Exhibit. Sponsored by Region Six of the Michigan Week Cultural Committee, the painting is on exhibit at Alpena from May 20-26.

The painting, entered in the new or mixed media for wall hanging, won a $10 award.

The Tawas artist won honorable mention for her entire series of water color paintings and honorable mention for a pastel portrait study.

Garden Club Set for Flower Show

Cafeteria of Tawas Area High School on M-55 will be the site Saturday for Tawas City Garden Club's third annual spring flower show.

With perfect growing weather for flowers during the past several weeks, this year's show is expected to be the best in club history according to the co-chairmen, Mrs. Caryl Ives and Mrs. George Liske.

Theme of this year's show is "Arts and Flowers." The show will be open to the general public from 2:30 p. m. to 9:00 p. m. Entries are open to the public and are free.

Some 57 classifications are listed on the schedule, including three for junior growers. Schedules are available from any club member.

Under the section of arrangements, there are 15 classes listed while there are six classes in pot-

FEATURED ATTRACTION during Sunday's Armed Forces Day observance at Wurtsmith Air Force Base were the sky diving exhibitions by 1-Lt. Chrittin P. Benoit. This picture was snapped when Benoit (in the circle) made his first sky dive from an altitude of 7,000 feet Sunday morning. He released his chute after dropping about 1,000 feet. Several thousand residents of the Northeastern Michigan area jammed the Strategic Air Command's installation throughout the day. Visitors saw static displays of B-52H, KC-135, F-101 and other aircraft, along with sentry dog, judo and fire fighting demonstrations.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Songs of many countries with a special salute to our own armed forces were highlighted. Elementary pupils and the teachers are to be commended for this fine program.—Tawas Herald Photo.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Dear Editor:
What gives with East Tawas? Our businessmen lack incentive. We are losing businesses. Our labor climate is unhealthy. We are losing industry. Our tourist business is not as good as it could be.
For several years, our city government has been at odds with the largest business asset that East Tawas has, and that is the conservation department's state park.
For the past several years, and for some years to come, the state park was, and will continue to be the major source of income for East Tawas. Without it, we could hardly exist.
This park is one of the most popular and best attended parks in the state and could be improved and made into the finest. More money could be spent here on improvements and would be spent here if the relations between our city government and the conservation department were on a more amiable basis.
The City of East Tawas has no money invested in the state park. The city contributes nothing towards its maintenance, so should not attempt to govern its operation.

We cannot expect the conservation department to favor our area when we not only do not cooperate, but actively harass their activities.
Our county-wide industrial development committee and our city coordinated industrial group have a great potential for bringing to our area more industry, but, if we do not receive a little cooperation from our labor force, industry will not thrive here.
The very ones who stand to benefit the most are the first ones to wreck industry.
A little cooperation, tolerance and just plain horse sense all around would open the avenues for general improvements.
We cannot afford to build up with one hand and tear down with the other.
C. V. Miller

Everybody in our community now knows Bertha as a kind friend. However, it was not always so, for she used to have bitterness and jealousy in her heart toward many.
After Bertha gave her life to Christ and found Him such a great friend, she spent much time in prayer. Each day she would ask Him for specific ways to show kindnesses to the ones she formerly liked the least. One day she was led to take care of the children of an ill neighbor. Another day she was directed to visit and give some little handmade gifts to a lonely woman. Still another day she read the Bible to an old gentleman with failing eyesight. Every day she prayed earnestly for the ones she used to dislike.
Soon Bertha found she loved them all. Now she spends much time praying for all the people, for she loves them all as friends.
PRAYER
O God, we thank Thee for Thy friendship. Show us ways we can be better friends to Thee. Entrust us with little or large tasks—whatever we can do to befriend others, and help them to be friends of Thine. In the name of

Do you think the lady in the picture is holding up her hands in a gesture of surprise? I did when I first saw her. Then I realized that she had nothing to be surprised about. She made the gloves that adorn her hands herself, and, being aware of the countless advantages of the art of crochet, she couldn't have been too surprised at the successful results. She knows that crochet enables her to create a variety of high fashion accessories at low, low prices. She, like every other woman, appreciates such fashion extras and knows that by crocheting she can afford to have them. These accessories, she thinks, are wonderful — wonderful because they can be made for budget prices and wonderful because they can transform an ordinary wardrobe into an elegant one.

CONTEMPORARY CROCHET

Best of all, she sees how this feminine art has kept pace with changing styles so that needlework designs always have that up-to-the-minute contemporary look. Crocheted gloves like the ones pictured here, are the embodiment of all these outstanding characteristics. Not destined for accessory obscurity, these were designed to command particular attention for themselves. And — they're magically easy to make, whether you're an old hand at crochet or just embarking on your first experience.

GOOD FIT — GOOD LOOKS!

A delicate body of chain three loops serves as the backdrop for a group of picot tipped motifs which are sewn together. We know that you'll find these gloves extremely well-fitting and great looking, so — why not begin to work on a pair today? Directions are free, you know. Just enclose a stamped, self addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. PC 9905 and mail it to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper.

What words do you most often associate with the month of June? "Weddings," probably, or "senior proms," or "graduations." June really is busting out all over, and, no matter who you are, there's probably something in this exciting month for you to look forward to. An interesting fact dawned on me in my reflections on the subject. Namely — one thing seems to characterize all the associations with the month of June. They all seem to revolve around particular events — glamorous events, held in glamorous places. These provide perfect settings for your appearance in the most glamorous outfits in your wardrobe. Frothy chiffons, shimmering taffetas, rustling organdies — outfits like these are the elegant order of the day.

FINISHING TOUCHES

As important as the dress you wear are the accessories you select to complement it. Shoes, bag, and gloves shouldn't be difficult to find, but when you come to a wrap — the topping for the whole outfit — you're often stumped. You might find a coat that's elegant enough to crown your outfit but you'll probably think it too warm for the month of June. A cardigan would suffice, warmth-wise, but your outfit probably deserves something a little more out of the ordinary. The answer must lie somewhere else. "But where?" you ask. My answer is — "in a capelet like the one pictured here."

CROCHETED GLAMOUR

Made in a group stitch pattern with a combination of double crochet and half double crochet stitches, this capelet has many advantages, besides its obvious glamorous ones. One of the most important is that it works up with amazing speed since it's made with knitting worsted and a large crochet hook. Instructions for PC 1239 are yours, free of charge. GETTING READY for the annual Memorial Day observance at Veterans Cemetery, East Tawas, are members of the Audie Johnson American Legion Post. This picture was snapped early Sunday morning as the final 300 feet of water line was installed under the direction of Arthur Dillon, standing at left. Charles Nash donated the use of his trenching equipment for this project. Road gravel was donated by Charles Pinkerton. Beautifying the cemetery, originally established by veterans of the Civil War, has been a principal project of the East Tawas post for the past several years. New roads have been constructed and additional property secured. Repairs have been made to several of the old grave stones and, with installation of water pipes, appearance of the cemetery will be greatly improved. Future plans call for construction of a memorial and speakers stand near the flag pole.—Tawas Herald Photo.

AIR FORCE PILOTS are receiving valuable on-ground training through the use of this simulator, which is now at Wurtsmith Air Force Base. Capt. Harry Marrs, instructor, sets up an emergency "problem" for the pilot on these controls. The unit, which rides the rails in a converted Pullman car, can simulate crash landings, fires and many other emergencies in order to test the reaction of the pilots. The simulator comes from Bunker Hill Air Force Base, Indiana.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Tawas City Suffers Second Straight Loss

Tawas City Indies suffered their second straight setback in North-eastern Michigan League competition last Sunday, losing to East Tawas, 15-7, in a wild game.

The visitors took a 4-0 lead in the second inning on three hits, a walk, a hit batter and two Tawas City fielding errors. East Tawas never relinquished this lead during the remainder of the game and went on to chalk up its second straight victory.

The game was turned into a complete rout in the fifth inning when East Tawas scored five times on only three hits. Poor fielding and walks again figured in the scoring.

Tawas City scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth, two each in the seventh and eighth innings. East Tawas runners paraded around the base paths with one in the sixth, four in the seventh and one in the ninth.

Winning pitcher, Ron Wiltse, struck out six batters in his seven innings on the mound. He was relieved by Larry Frank in the eighth inning.

Suffering the loss was Orville Revord, who struck out five and walked five before being lifted in favor of Jerry Potts in the fourth. Potts struck out one and walked three and was removed in favor of Clare Herriman in the eighth. Herriman struck out two and walked two batters.

Top hitter of the day was Lyle Berry, who had four singles in six trips to the plate. John McMurray was the batting star for Tawas City, hitting a home run in the fifth inning and a single in the seventh.

NEM League action this Sunday finds Tawas City playing at Skidway Lake.

I See ... by the 'Herald'

... the Browns have a new baby ... Betty Smith is engaged ... Jane Warren's husband has been promoted. Your newspaper sparks so many conversations ... keeps you "in the know" about what's going on around town and the county.

Your newspaper is always right at hand, to read and enjoy—over and over again if you wish—and, by all the family!

No other medium is so constant and consistent in presenting every type of news—opinions, information and entertainment—public service, too. You listen to, and look at other media—but just leave the room—and you've "missed the score." Your newspaper is an ever-present reminder of what's "going on." Make THE TAWAS HERALD—YOUR newspaper.

YOU should be a Herald Subscriber!

1. BECAUSE The Herald carries pictures and reports of what's going on in your community, county and other vital state and national news that affects the readers locally.
  2. BECAUSE it is a legal medium through which your city, township and county notices, regarding things which affect your pocketbook, are published.
  3. BECAUSE it keeps you posted on all official actions by your board of education, school administration; it reports plans of official bodies which have the authority to levy taxes against your home, business or industry.
  4. BECAUSE The Herald is your Shopping Guide, carrying the merchandising messages of bargains offered by your local stores, which saves you time and money by providing you an opportunity to prepare your shopping list in advance.
  5. BECAUSE it provides a common meeting place for every reader in your shopping area where community affairs can be discussed and ideas exchanged to benefit all.
  6. BECAUSE it sponsors, supports and boosts every worthwhile community project, including those of charitable nature giving to community leaders the aid and support which they must have in order to keep the community abreast of the times in carrying out the responsibilities of a collective or social nature.

Hale Track Team Takes Third Place In Cass City Tourney

Hale Area track team won third place in the regional track meet held Saturday at Cass City. This was the highest place ever garnered by a Hale team in four years of track competition.

Hale, which compiled a total of 24 points Saturday, will be a strong contender in the North Star Conference meet to be held today (Wednesday) at Alpena.

Ron Brinkman was a double winner in the Cass City meet, taking firsts in both high and low hurdles.

Other places were won by Booker, third in quarter mile; the 880-relay team of Brinkman, Booker, Caverly and Clayton won second place, and Kwant won second in shot put. All of these boys qualified for the state meet at Mt. Pleasant Saturday.

Others scoring were Bell, a fourth in pole vault, and Kiser, a fifth in the mile run.

The 880-relay team's time of 1:38.5 broke the school's record for the fifth time this year.

MSU Announces Iosco Scholarship Winners

TA Braves Win Pair of Games

Tawas Area Braves won two baseball games last week, defeating West Branch, 5-1, last Wednesday and Pinconning, 15-4, on Tuesday.

In Wednesday afternoon's game against the Branchers, Tawas came from behind in the third inning to knot the score at 1-1. The Braves then scored four runs in the fourth inning.

Winning pitcher was Dick Doak, who was relieved by Priebe in the sixth. Losing pitcher for West Branch was Keith.

The visitors out-hit Tawas six to four, but the Braves made good use of these hits. After one man was out in the fifth, LeViere singled. Rollin walked and Herriman was safe on an error. Bob Erickson then belted a triple to score three runs and he scored on Sass' bunt.

A MEETING of the Michigan Soil Conservation Committee was held Monday night at the Barnes Hotel. Host to the group was the Iosco Soil Conservation District and attending a banquet following the meeting were soil conservationists from Iosco, Alcona, Ogemaw, Gladwin and Arenac Counties. Shown with G. S. McIntyre, Michigan director of agriculture, seated second from left, are R. W. Peterson, Lakeview, president of the state association; R. L. Hill, Caro, commission member, and Harry Krueger, Wilber Township, Region Six and Iosco Soil Conservation District chairman. Standing from left are Russell Gingerich, Reed City, commission member; State Rep. James P. Mielock, Whittemore, former Iosco SCD chairman; Lloyd Ruesink, Adrian, commission member, and Einer Olstrom, East Lansing, who represented the dean of agriculture at Michigan State University. The commission holds a meeting once each year in out-state Michigan in order to hear problems of farmers and land owners with respect to conservation of natural resources. Also in attendance was Gerald Eddy, director of the Michigan Department of Conservation.—Tawas Herald Photo.

TC Motel Owner Tells Plans for New Swimming Pool

Frank Gogola, owner of the Royal Motel, announced Monday night at a meeting of the Tawas City Council that he planned to construct a swimming pool at his place of business.

The motel owner attended the meeting in order to learn whether the city had ordinances governing construction of pools.

Councilmen were of the opinion that a pool would be an asset to the tourist business. It would be the first one constructed in Tawas City.

In other business, Supt. Reginald Bublitz and Police Chief George Ruth are to make a survey of the city for possible changes of stop street signs. During construction of M-55 last year, the state removed several yield right-of-way signs on streets connecting with Meadow Road and replaced them with stop signs.

A meeting of the council's street committee is to be held next Monday night. Members are Councilmen Cecil Cable, Arthur Wegner and Earl Davis.

It was announced that the Tawas Township Zoning Board would hold a public hearing in June to hear objections, if any, on the proposed new Tawas City dump at the foot of Plank Road. The council's building and grounds committee had met with the zoning board last week.

Iosco Board Clarifies Stand on AF Housing

Iosco County Board of Supervisors clarified its position on Wurtsmith Air Force Base housing in a letter which received unanimous approval of members and was submitted last week to Cong. Elford A. Cederberg.

In its letter, the board said it was not its intention to object to the proposed 300 low cost housing on the base. "We had assumed by your statement in the Bay City Times of April 15 that money had already been allocated for this project," stated the letter.

The board said that it was its wish that there be no other federal housing projects at Wurtsmith after the 300 additional houses are constructed, unless there be a dire need for them.

In its original communication with Cederberg several weeks ago, the board was of the opinion that any future construction should be built by private enterprise and on private land, in order that the property could be included in the county's tax structure.

It was also stated that the air force should investigate the possible rental of vacant housing which exists in the Oscoda-Tawas area.

The letter brought an immediate reaction from Cederberg, base officials and the Wurtsmith Community Council.

Cederberg reported that the proposed project was the minimum felt necessary at this time to assure the enlisted men and their families adequate housing.

The community council of area civilian advisors threw its support behind the air force for more on-base housing facilities after it was reported that the 300 units would help but not eliminate the need for more adequate housing on and off base.

The 300 units, costing an estimated $5,250,000, are earmarked for enlisted grades. It was pointed out that a financial hardship is caused enlisted ranks by lack of quarters at reasonable rentals.

In its letter to Cederberg, the board asked that any further communications be sent directly to the board rather than to individuals or other groups in the county not concerned with county government.

In other business during last week's one-day session, the board approved a revised plan for the county airport which was received from the Michigan Department of Aeronautics.

Future development at the airport includes relocating a proposed north-south runway slightly to the north so that the entire length will be visible from the administration building.

The county is to advertise for bids for construction of a 150 by 250 foot parking lot at the airport.

The board authorized closing county offices on Saturday during the month of June on a trial basis. Past policy had been to keep the offices open for a half-day on Saturdays during the months of June, July and August.

Reopening of Mueller Concrete Products Company within the next 30 days was announced this week by Ernest Mueller Sr. of Tawas City.

Concrete blocks and ready-mix concrete are available now, according to the announcement. The firm will produce tank bases, flag stones, concrete steps, lawn seats and any special design concrete products.

Ronald Sauer, 17, and Leo R. Bruman, 20, were fined court costs of $50 and $75 for probation violation Monday by Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller. Bruman received a 30-day jail term and Sauer is to serve 20 days at the close of the school year.

Senator Hughes Announces He Will Be A Candidate

State Sen. Harold B. Hughes, R-Clare, announced this week that he would be a candidate for reelection in the 28th District.

Senator Hughes won the special election December 11 to fill the vacancy created by the death of former Senator Charles T. Prescott.

Since taking his place in the senate on January 10, he has had occasion to participate in one of the most trying sessions in the history of the Michigan Senate.

During the short time he has represented this district, Hughes has been appointed to the committee on state affairs, the committee on municipalities, the committee on agriculture and the new and important tourist industry relations committee.

TOP farmer REPORT

This story is directed to the Top Farmer. . . . His business is farming, he likes farming, he makes money farming and he is in farming to stay.

USING

How fast should you expand your feeding operation when capital is limited? An authority on this subject is Cecil Means, Vice President of the Stock Yards National Bank at Omaha, Nebraska, who says: "Expansion and improvements are necessary for progress, but take one step at a time."

ONE

"Cattle feeders must expand their operations if they are to progress in the business, but expansion should take place gradually rather than all at once."

That's the opinion of Cecil Means, Vice President of the Stock Yards National Bank at Omaha, Nebraska, who is a veteran in the field of financing cattle feeding operations.

"Too often cattle feeders invest all of their profits in capital improvements such as feedlot equipment, elevators or a new home and expect the banker to finance the entire cattle purchase. Although such capital improvements are desirable, they do not improve the quality of the loan," Means points out.

"We like to see a cattle feeder make capital improvements gradually. This involves using some of his profit for capital improvements and setting aside some of his profit to aid in financing the cattle."

"This does not mean that the feeder should not finance a portion of his cattle purchase. Quite the contrary, borrowing capacity is a basic tool of production in cattle feeding as in other types of agricultural production."

A believer in this philosophy is Joe Steyskall, a large Nebraska feeder who, with his partners, feeds out 10,000 to 15,000 head of cattle per year. "We don't believe in borrowing all the money needed to purchase cattle—we save back some of the profit from the last group to invest in the next group," commented Steyskall. "Instead of investing heavily in feedlot improvements and equipment," he added, "we strive to increase efficiency. You don't necessarily need fancy equipment to do a good job of feeding cattle."

"However, capital requirements in agriculture are growing by leaps and bounds," Means continued. "As a result, financial institutions as well as farmers have found it difficult to adjust to the fantastic changes that have taken place in agriculture during 20 years."

"Twenty years ago many country banks were loaned up to 25 per cent of their assets. Today many of these same banks are loaned up to 50 per cent of their assets and often unable to take care of some of their best customers," Means explains.

CREDIT

TIME

"As a result of the steadily increasing size of loans for agricultural production, there has been a steady growth in correspondent banking whereby the local or country bank assumes a portion of the loan and the larger city bank assumes the remainder. Through such an arrangement, the local banker is able to service the high capital requirements for modern agriculture. In cases where the country bank does not have such an arrangement with a large city bank, the cattle feeder may be referred to a larger bank."

"Whether a cattle feeder can get a loan depends on many factors," according to Means. "We like to look over his plant just as any banker would look over an industrial plant before making a loan. You can usually tell more about a borrower in 20 minutes on his place than during two hours in the office."

"We also are interested in the cattle feeder's feed supply and the way he buys and sells cattle. More money is lost in cattle feeding before the stock go on the farm than at any other time in the operation."

"When it comes to selling cattle, we like to see the feeder scatter his shots at the market. The feeder who sells all of his cattle at one time is at a decided disadvantage. No one is able to predict the market. Therefore, it's better to market cattle several times during the year."

"If you do hit a low market, sell the cattle and take the loss, but be sure to buy back cattle while the market is low. If you hold fat cattle for a better market, they will be costly to maintain and the market may not change for quite a while."

"Commercial feedlots have some advantages over the farmer-feeder in buying and selling, but both have a place in the cattle feeding business," Means believes.

"The commercial feedlots have high overhead; high real estate costs, taxes and labor; high feed costs at terminal market price; and must feed high concentrate rations to short term cattle. However, commercial feedlots do a terrific job of buying cattle and managing. They also obtain high feed efficiency. Although they have worse health problems, they do a better job of correcting them in time."

"The farmer-feeder is in almost the opposite position. He has low overhead, low real estate tax and labor costs, and is able to utilize home-grown feeds including roughage. However, the farmer-feeder needs to imitate the commercial feedlot by doing a better job of buying and managing along with hitting as many markets as possible during the year," says Means.

A YEAR FROM HOGS

Making big money from hogs and available land is no accident for this successful business farmer. There's a practical standard of performance set for every operation — and it's carried out.

Ralph Sullivan of Delphi, Indiana is a man of business. It was evident from the moment he invited this reporter into his den for the interview arranged earlier by telephone.

The facts and figures he furnished were quite in keeping with this appearance. Sullivan is the founder and manager of his own $100,000 a year business. He is also one-third of the total labor force for this enterprise which turns out 2,400 to 2,500 head of top quality hogs a year. All are farrowed on the farm and are fed out on some 33,000 bushels of corn grown on the 325-acre farm which is manned by himself, his partner-son Bob, and one hired man.

When Ralph moved to this farm he bought a few sows and farrowed his first litters, as a sideline to the broiler business. This experience with hogs helped to make up his mind to get out of broilers in 1952. As he saw it this was the end of the era of opportunity for the independent broiler producer. He cleared out the birds and bought feeder pigs to match his supplies of grain. Shortly he was in the business of finishing feeder pigs exclusively, turning off 3,000 head a year.

Study of his records (he is one of the business-minded farmers who have their accounts analyzed by professionals from Purdue University in the farm record keeper program) convinced him he was missing his greatest opportunity for profit. It was taking from 3.5 to 4 pounds of feed to get a pound of gain with feeder pigs.

There were other handicaps: The price of feeder pigs has no reliable relation to the price they will bring as market hogs some four months later. And the carcass quality of the feeder pig offerings was not good enough to satisfy Ralph Sullivan. "It costs no more, perhaps less, to produce the best type of lean meat hogs. The good ones are worth more on the market and the producer can enjoy the non-cash, but worthwhile, benefit of pride in what he markets." Instead of putting his feed, labor and overhead into the $10 kind of feeder pigs, he wanted to feed out pigs worth $14 a head just off the sow. That kind wasn't to be found. But the clincher was this: In all fairness, and as the result of bargaining at the feeder pig auctions, the producer of the 40 pound weanling pig shares equally in the profit per hog with the man who puts on the 180 pounds of gain still needed to get him to market. For all of these reasons Ralph Sullivan made a firm decision to farrow his own.

Instead of feeding out 3,000 head for half the profit, he is marketing an average of better than 600 pigs from each farrowing — 2,400 to 2,500 head a year. He is growing them out with a saving of from one-half to three-quarters of a pound of feed for each pound of gain.

Since he started farrowing his own, all replacement gilts are chosen from litters of 10 or more pigs weaned, or as few as 8 or 9 if from a highly promising gilt litter. On the 3 by 5-inch card he posts over every stall he keeps a running account of the sow's performance with her litter. About 25 percent of the litters are earmarked for identification later. These are the best litters at birth. As the pigs develop he weighs the most promising litters as a guide to selection of replacement gilts.

Four times a year — in December, in February, June and August — Sullivans bring in a group of 72 sows heavy with pig to the farrowing house. An electric hoist of one ton capacity lifts a platform elevator which can take two sows at a time to the second and third floors. Each sow is confined in a farrowing stall with a creep space on either side which makes it virtually impossible for her to lie on a pig.

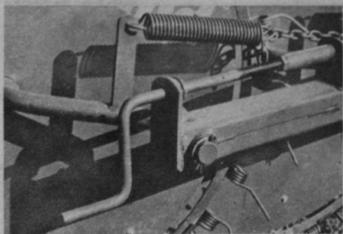

For an hour each morning and an hour at evening all sows are turned out of the narrow stalls to the feeding and watering space in front of each group of three pens. Each group of three sows has access to one side of a self feeder and to a water fountain. When the pigs are 10 days old partitions that divide the creep space are removed and three litters run together. Pigs have their own creep feeders filled with starter ration, but even before their own feed interests them, they start eating with the sows. In this way they learn early to help themselves to creep rations.

Every pig gets an iron shot at two to four days of age, and is earmarked if he belongs to an exceptionally good litter. Boar pigs are castrated at 10 days. When the litters in a group of three reach six weeks of age, the sows are removed. Then when all are weaned, the whole pig crop of 600 head or more goes into the feeding lot on the rented farm. Here they are on a complete ration of ground feed which provides from  $\frac{3}{8}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  of a pound of fortified protein supplement per pig per day. When they are accustomed to their new quarters all pigs are vaccinated for cholera and erysipelas. Their average age at this time is eight weeks.

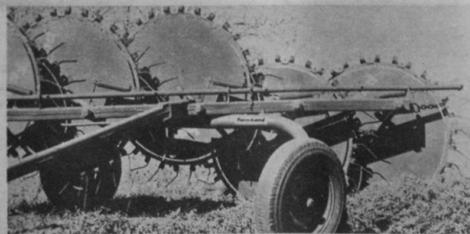

They go into the feedlot weighing about 25 pounds. When they reach 80 pounds they go over

New Farmhand Model 25...

Rakes cleaner, faster... costs less

HAND CRANK simultaneously lowers all five raking wheels to exact raking pressure you wish... raises wheels quickly for fast transport at highway speeds behind car, truck, tractor. Farmhand Model 25 has simple one-pin hook-up and only 10 lbs. drawbar weight — a child could handle it!

FOR WINDROW TURNING, lower the rear two raking wheels. They'll neatly roll the windrow completely over, putting damp hay on top. Another feature: you can offset rake so that tractor wheels do not pass over unraked hay. Optional wheel shields prevent tangling of hay in windy weather.

FARMHAND'S MODEL 25 COSTS YOU AT LEAST $100 LESS than most other rakes. Yet it does a far better job... picking up all the hay there is to get — light or heavy — on even the roughest or rocky terrain. Since hay velocity is 45% lower than with bar type rakes, you save valuable leaves and seeds. Since windrows are fluffy, hay dries quickly and you have a better chance to beat the weather. Lightweight Model 25 follows tractor easily over any terrain. No PTO, gears, belts, ratchets, pulleys... virtually no maintenance.

Today — ask your Farmhand dealer for a demonstration.

FARMHAND DIVISION OF  DUFFIN CORPORATION

to the finishing barn at the farm where Bob lives. Here the ration is whole kernel high moisture corn with pelleted supplement mixed in. Corn comes from the glass lined silo and is augered uniformly into feeders the whole length of the barn. Supplement is metered in as grain starts its flow through the auger. Feeding is intermittent, under control of a time clock. The reason for this is that pigs pick corn out of the feeders, leaving some of the supplement. By withholding the next feed until pigs are hungry enough to clean up the supplement, Sullivans maintain intake of supplement at the desired  $\frac{3}{8}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  of a pound per pig daily. This is the rate at which they feed supplement from weaning straight through to market. Once pigs are past 80 pounds they are getting considerably more corn in proportion to supplement and there is no problem.

Though the whole farm is in corn, the Sullivans fence it off into fields of about 40 acres. This permits turning dry sows into stalk fields to glean. They turn 100 sows into 40 acres, providing water and supplement. Forty acres provides enough waste grain to carry the drove of sows for two to three weeks. The first few days corn is easy to pick up and the sows scarcely touch supplement. But as they have to hunt for kernels they soon balance their ration. Sullivans leave them in until the last kernel is gleaned. During the last week they readily overeat on supplement, so the ration for the period balances out. "We make them beg before we turn into the next field," Ralph Sullivan says. "We are careful not to get sows too fat."

The result of this gleaning program is a saving of $9 per sow per year in feed cost. This gets the feed bill per sow down to $70 a year. It works out to the same cost whether they keep sows for one, two, three or more litters. At the same time this practice gives sows a break from steady confinement to concrete. Last year some of them were out gleaning into February. There were only two or three days when snow covered the ground and it was necessary to haul ear corn to them.

As sows approach farrowing time they are moved to a concrete floor off the farrowing house where they are given a daily allotment of four pounds of corn-in-the-ear per head. Ralph prefers to hand feed ear corn because a timid sow can grab an ear and carry it off where she won't be molested. Thus all get their share of the limited ration. Supplement and alfalfa meal are served in self feeders. This is one-half alfalfa meal which discourages the greedy from overeating at the expense of the timid. Each sow gets  $1\frac{1}{2}$  pounds daily.

At breeding all boars are turned in with all sows. This practice is open to criticism, Ralph says, but it fits into their labor-stretching management plan. Three weeks is the time allowed for sows to settle. The boars are left with the herd to spot any sows that come back into heat. These are cut out and sent to market.

Growing out market hogs on concrete from start to finish has some disadvantages, but Sullivans can't afford to use their highly productive corn land for hog pasture. Disease control calls for strict sanitation. The farrowing house is cleaned and scrubbed after each farrowing and then disinfected thoroughly to kill any organisms that might lurk in the wood floors and pens. Prominent signs politely forbid visitors to enter feeding areas. The result is that the one health problem they have had to contend with is tail biting, the bane of the confinement system. They were considering the docking of tails at birth, but this would be a disfigurement for gilts sold for breeding. At the time of our visit they were removing tail biters and victims to separate confinement. It not kept under strict control tail biting can quickly lead to serious injury and outright cannibalism.

The other big problem in a confinement system is manure removal. At Sullivans they built their finishing floors with broad gutters. Droppings not left in the gutter are scraped in. Then with a tractor-mounted scoop they clean the gutters and drop manure into spreaders, or in seasons when there is no place to spread, into three sided bins just outside the barn. These bins are located so manure can be dropped into them from inside the building through wide doors. When the bins are cleaned out the spreader is backed into them for direct manure loading.

With this system they have been getting to market with an average of eight and one half to nine pigs per litter. One recent pig crop averaged 9.2 pigs per litter marketed. They are able to keep death losses from all causes to a low two percent of pigs farrowed. Feed conversion is presently at the ratio of one pound of gain for 3.25 pounds of feed. And the farrowings are timed to alternate the periods of heavy hog chores with the peak labor loads in growing and storing corn. It keeps three men fully employed the year around. Profits, after deducting feed cost, overhead and charges for labor, are running $5 per hog marketed.

Pastry Parade

By Susan Lowe

Pastry is such fun to make and takes so many intriguing forms that any of us could easily come up with a different pastry for each day in the year. And we can make pastry using our own basic recipes or we can use packaged mixes.

Such a pastry parade includes an endless choice of the most delectable pies, many with new and interesting fillings. We can add variety with deep-dish pies, turnovers-with tangy sauce or whipped cream topping, apple stack pies, unusual chiffon pies, French pastry, ice cream pies, and tortes.

Festive little tarts join the parade of party going pastries. Rich and elegant, they provide an element of surprise. You can serve them with the meal — at tea time — or after dinner in the living room.

We've a recipe you may want to try soon which, though really pastry, is known as St. Honoré Cake. This famous and unusual pastry is served in France on May 16 each year to honor St. Honoré, patron saint of pastry makers and bakers. It's often served with a tiny lighted candle in each miniature. You can use packaged mixes for the cream puff portion and pastry mix for the pastry portion or you can substitute your own recipe for cream puffs and a single pie crust. Dream desserts such as this will mark a highlight in your parade of pastries for the year!

RAISIN PARTY TARTS

1 egg
1 cup seedless raisins
½ cup granulated sugar
½ teaspoon salt

½ cup table cream
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup chopped walnuts
Pastry (basis 2 cups flour)

Beat egg lightly. Stir in raisins, sugar, salt, cream, lemon juice and nuts. Spoon into pastry-lined 3-inch tart pans. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate (350°F.) and bake about 20 minutes longer until pastry is browned and filling is set. Makes 12 tarts.

ST. HONORE CAKE

|--|---|
| 3/4 cup sugar  | 1/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels        |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt                                    | 1 teaspoon butter                           |
| 1/4 cup cornstarch                                   | 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar           |
| 2 1/2 cups milk                                      | 1 to 2 tablespoons toasted slivered almonds |
| 2 eggs, slightly beaten                              |   |
| 2 teaspoons vanilla                                  |   |
| 1 recipe for 1 pie crust                             |   |
| 1 stick cream puff mix or recipe for 6-8 cream puffs |   |

Custard filling: Combine sugar, salt, and cornstarch in saucepan. Slowly blend in milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring until it boils; boil 1 minute. Remove from heat. Stir a little over half of this mixture into beaten eggs. Blend into hot mixture; bring just to boil, stirring constantly. Add vanilla. Chill about 3 hours.

Cream Puffs: Heat oven to 425° (hot). Prepare cream puffs according to directions. Make 16 miniature puffs using a 1/2 teaspoon measure. Bake 15 to 20 minutes. Lower oven temperature to 375° (quick moderate). Meanwhile, prepare pie crust according to directions. Roll into 9-inch round. Place on baking sheet and prick well. Spoon leftover cream puff batter around edge of pastry round. Use a wet spatula or knife to make a smooth 1-inch wide rim. Bake 40 to 45 minutes. Cool.

MAUNA LOA PIE

Have an 8-inch or 9-inch baked pie shell ready. (The 8-inch size will make a higher, more imposing pie.)

|-------------------------------|------------------------|
| 1 1/2 teaspoons plain gelatin | 1/4 cup lemon juice    |
| 1/2 cup cold water            | 1 cup granulated sugar |
| 4 eggs, separated             | 1/4 teaspoon salt      |
| 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind | 1/2 cup whipping cream |

Add gelatin to cold water and set aside. In top of cold double boiler mix egg yolks, lemon rind, lemon juice and 1/2 cup of the sugar. Cook over boiling water, stirring, until mixture thickens. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat. Add salt to egg whites and beat until foamy. Gradually beat in the remaining 1/2 cup sugar; beat until very stiff. Fold in the hot mixture. Heap into baked shell. Chill for 3 hours or longer.

Shortly before serving, spread lightly with whipped cream. Serve at table with a bowl of crushed and sugared berries to spoon over each piece if you wish.

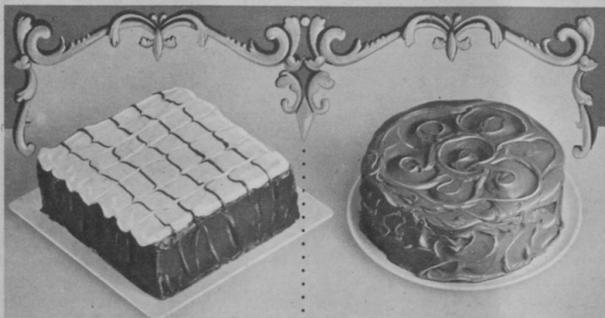

To serve: Split and fill tiny puffs with custard. Fill center of cream puff and pastry base with remaining custard, spreading it up over part of the cream puff rim, if necessary. Leave a 1-inch border of the rim uncovered so that miniature puffs may be placed on it. Make a thin chocolate glaze by melting chocolate with butter over hot water. Remove and blend in confectioners' sugar and 2 to 3 tablespoons boiling water. Beat until smooth. Fasten filled puffs to cream puff rim with dabs of glaze. Spoon remaining glaze over tiny puffs, letting it drip onto cream puff rim. Sprinkle with toasted slivered almonds. 8 to 10 servings.

Variation: Use 2 packages cooled, prepared vanilla pudding mix in place of custard, if desired.

Success Tip: For easy shaping of cream puff rim on pastry round, use pastry tube with large hole or cookie press with large star disc.

SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY PIE

$\frac{3}{4}$  cup dark or golden raisins
 $\frac{3}{4}$  cup butter
 $1\frac{1}{2}$  cups sugar
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon nutmeg
 3 eggs
 2 teaspoons vinegar
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup chopped pecans
 Pastry for single 9-inch crust

Chop raisins fine. Cream butter, sugar and spices together thoroughly. Blend in lightly beaten egg yolks and vinegar. Stir in raisins and nuts. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into pastry-lined pie pan. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 10 minutes. Reduce heat to moderately slow (325°F.) for 30 to 35 minutes longer. Cool before serving. Top with whipped cream if desired.

APPLE STACK PIE

Heat oven to 475°F. (very hot). Prepare pastry according to directions for 1 pie crust. When mixed, divide into 5 parts. Roll out on lightly floured cloth-covered board into 8-inch rounds (they will be quite thin). For a pretty edge, trim with a pastry wheel. Place on baking sheets. Prick rounds with a fork. Bake 5 to 7 minutes, or until golden brown. Just before serving, stack, spreading each round with slightly warm applesauce filling (below). Garnish with sweetened whipped cream ( $\frac{1}{2}$  cup whipping cream plus 1 tablespoon sugar), spooning cream around edge of top. (Filling should show in center of top round.) To serve, cut with a saw-toothed knife in a sawing motion into pie-shaped wedges. 8 servings.

Applesauce Filling

2 cans (1 lb. 1 oz. size) applesauce
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup cornstarch
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup apple-cherry jelly
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon cinnamon
 Few drops red food coloring

Mix applesauce and cornstarch in saucepan until cornstarch is dissolved. Stir in jelly and cinnamon. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cook until mixture is thick and clear. Add food coloring.

Illinois Cook used this Recipe to win Gold Ribbon at County Fair Kane County Coffeecake

"I entered my cake for the very first time at the Kane County Fair. And I'm so glad I did," says Mrs. Edward Strope. "Because I walked away with the Gold Ribbon for the best yeast baking. Now my recipe's become a favorite around these parts, and I think you'll like it, too. Just be sure to use Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast, the kind we prize-winning cooks like best. Fleischmann's is so fast rising and easy to use, your baking's bound to come out perfect."

Kane County Coffeecake (Makes 2 Rings)

$\frac{3}{4}$  cup milk
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sugar
 1 teaspoon salt
 2 packages Fleischmann's Active Dry Yeast
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup very warm water
 2 eggs
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup Fleischmann's Margarine
 5 to 6 cups sifted flour
 1 cup sugar
 $\frac{3}{4}$  cup raisins
 $1\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoons cinnamon

Scald milk. Stir in sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in very warm water. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, eggs, margarine, and about 2 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Add enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on a lightly floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in a greased bowl. Brush top with soft margarine. Cover and let rise in a warm place, free from draft until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Punch down and let rise another 20 minutes. Divide dough in half. Roll out into rectangle 7 x 16 inches. Spread with soft margarine. Sprinkle with mixture of sugar, raisins and cinnamon. Roll up lengthwise as for jelly roll. Seal edges. Place sealed edge down in circle on greased baking sheets. Seal ends together firmly. Cut  $\frac{3}{4}$  way into ring with scissors at 1-inch intervals. Turn each section on its side. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes.

Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Frost, while warm, with confectioners' sugar icing. Decorate with cherries and nuts.

PEACH TURNOVERS

2 cups flour
 1 tablespoon baking powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup shortening
 $\frac{2}{3}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup milk
 1 cup sliced peaches
 2 tablespoons butter
 2 tablespoons brown sugar

Mix thoroughly flour, baking powder and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead gently 30 seconds. Roll out into rectangular sheet less than  $\frac{3}{8}$ -inch thick. Cut into 4-inch squares. Place peach slices on one half of each square. Dot with butter and sugar. Fold over dough to form rectangle and seal. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) 15 to 18 minutes. Makes 8.

It's Bisquick-and-Berries time!

Every day the berries have been plumping out and getting sweeter. Now the time is ripe! Time for Bisquick shortcake—the sweet, fresh homemade kind that makes the family so glad. You just add cream to Bisquick. Directions on the package. In just 15 minutes, your shortcake is ready to come to the table—light, tender and fresh as the berries themselves! (Tip from Betty Crocker: try turning your top biscuit-half inside-up. Lets the juice soak in.) Happy eating!

STRAWBERRY GLAZED PIE

1 baked 8-inch pie shell
4 cups fresh strawberries
1 cup granulated sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon powdered sugar
½ cup whipping cream

Wash and hull the strawberries; drain thoroughly. Arrange 2 cups of these whole berries over the bottom of baked pie shell. Crush the remaining berries in a saucepan. In a bowl, mix together the sugar, salt, and cornstarch; stir into crushed berries. Heat slowly, stirring constantly, and cook until the mixture thickens. Remove from heat and stir in the lemon juice. Cool, then spoon this mixture over berries in pie shell. Chill until filling is set. Shortly before serving time, add powdered sugar to cream; whip stiff. (Adding powdered sugar to cream before whipping makes it stiffer and helps it hold up much longer.) Top pie with whipped cream. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

BANANA WHIPPED CREAM PIE

Dash of salt
1 cup heavy cream
2 tablespoons sugar
Few drops vanilla or almond flavoring

4 to 5 bananas*
1 baked 9-inch pie shell
Toasted coconut

*Use fully ripe bananas . . . yellow peel flecked with brown. Add salt to cream and beat with rotary egg beater or electric mixer until stiff enough to hold its shape. Fold in sugar and vanilla or almond flavoring. Cover bottom of pie shell with small amount of whipped cream. Peel bananas and slice into pie shell. Cover immediately with remaining whipped cream. Garnish with toasted coconut. Makes 1 pie. Important: Finely chopped nuts, finely chopped semi-sweet chocolate morsels or finely chopped candied fruit peel may be used in place of the toasted coconut. Garnish with strawberries if desired.

STRAWBERRY TARTS

This is an easy and attractive way to form and bake tart shells. Prepare pastry from your favorite recipe. Cut 4½-inch circles of double thickness aluminum foil. Cut matching circles of pastry and place on foil. Prick pastry with fork. Using your fingers, turn up edges of foil and pastry and crimp attractively. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) 10 to 15 minutes. During last few minutes of baking turn down foil to brown pastry.

Fill cooled tart shells with a few spoonfuls of vanilla custard, prepared from packaged vanilla pudding. Top with beautiful whole strawberries, dipping each one in sugar syrup so they'll stay fresh and sparkling.

Junior and senior high school students in the United States and its territories will be given an opportunity again this year to have their best photographs earn cash awards during the 1962 Scholastic-Anso Photography Contest.

Marking its 35th year, the competition has been approved for the list of national contests and activities for 1961-62 by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

In the first three divisions—black-and-white for 7th, 8th and 9th grade students, black-and-white for those in 10th, 11th and 12th grade students, black-and-white for those in 10th, 11th and 12th grades, and color transparencies for both junior and senior high school students—cash prizes of $100, $50 and $25 will be awarded in each of 15 classifications. The next five will earn honorable mentions.

Entries are judged at 30 regional exhibitions, followed by final judging in New York by well-known newspaper and magazine photographers and editors.

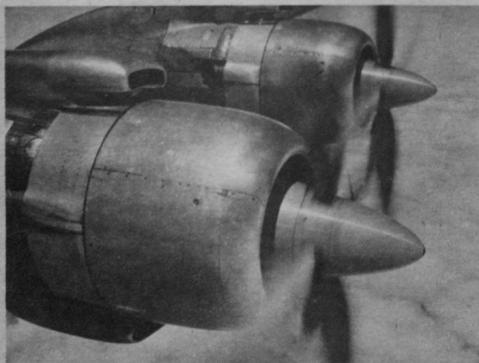

The free 1962 rules booklet on how to enter is available by writing to Scholastic-Anso Photography Awards, 33 West 42nd Street, New York 36, New York.
