City Foreman to Catch Up on Sleep

"One thing I'm going to do is catch up on some of the sleep that I've lost during the past 20 years."

Speaking as Matthew Pfeiffer, who retires March 1 as city foreman, he has been an employee of the City of Tawas since 1935 and crew foreman since 1942.

One of Pfeiffer's duties during the past 20 years has been to make a daily inspection of three lift pump stations in the city's sanitary sewer system . . . including Sunday's and holidays.

"Few residents realize the importance of keeping these pumping stations in proper working order, that is, until something goes wrong and water begins to back up into basements. One learns many little tricks necessary to keep this equipment operating properly over the years."

"Electrical storms have been my biggest headache," admits the city's trouble-shooter. "I've had to wade knee-deep in water to turn off electrical power in the stations and it's a wonder I was never electrocuted."

When asked to describe the toughest job the city ever had to face, Pfeiffer answered without hesitation that it was the winter several years ago when the water tank was put out of commission by a freeze-up.

Water in the bowl of the huge tank behind the city hall had frozen solid and a piece of ice dropped into the stand pipe. This caused a vacuum and collapsed the tank. Naturally, this happened at night and Matt and the city crew worked around the clock for nearly four days before the tank was again in operation.

"As it happened, George Myles (former mayor) and I were at the city hall when the ice broke loose. Before we could turn off the water line, there was a swish of air and the popping of rivets sounded like gunfire.

An expert steel worker was called in from Chicago and, with the assistance of Fred Bublitz, father of the present superintendent of public works, repairs were made to the tank.

The city was never without water, however, as pumps were operated continuously. A fire hydrant near the First Avenue pumping station was cracked open to act as a valve in the water distribution system.

On another occasion, electrical equipment at the Second Avenue lift station burned out one Christmas Eve and the city crew had to work two days to get the station back into operation.

Pfeiffer said he receives on the average of 100 "trouble calls" a week at his home. The past month was no exception, with freeze-ups of water lines.

"Oh, sugar!" commented Pfeiffer using his favorite expression, "I don't mean to say that we always have this kind of trouble. I have had a lot of good times on the job, too. But," he added, "at least I know that after retirement, I won't have to change clothes after coming home from church on Sunday and go out and check those pumps."

"Matt" started to work for the city when the late Frank Miller was city superintendent. "In those

Top Boar Purchased by Tawas Twp. Farmer

Richard Frank, Tawas Township farmer, purchased the top Yorkshire boar at a recent state swine sale at Michigan State University. The boar will head the new Yorkshire herd being developed by Mr. Frank. This herd will be a source of breeding stock for Northern Michigan swine raisers.

The boar has a record of performance tested animals under supervision of Robert Hines, Michigan State University swine specialist. For each 135 pounds of feed consumed during this test, the boar made a daily gain of 1.38 pounds.

As a result of the marketing program established by the Iosco County Cooperative Extension Service, a second swine sale is being scheduled at Gaylord. This sale will serve farmers in Northwestern Michigan.

Area farmers who are interested in raising swine to consign to these sales are urged to contact their local county office.

Dairy Men Invited to Plainfield Meeting

Dairy day will be recognized at Plainfield Township Hall March 6 with sessions from 10:00 a. m. to 3:00 p. m.

Dairy and crop specialists from Michigan State University will conduct meetings in the area of feeding, storage of roughage and grain as well as reading and using dairy herd records.

Participating will be Dr. Clinton Meadows, Dr. Donald Hillman, Dr. Milton Erdman and Curtis Miller.

An invitation is extended to all area dairy men.

SATURDAY NIGHT'S annual banquet of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce, held at the Barnes Hotel, was one of the best-attended on record with more than 200 persons on hand. Jury Finds 'No Cause' in Suit Against Iosco

A decision of "no cause of action" was brought in by an Arenac County Circuit Court jury last Friday in a $468,750 damage suit against the Iosco County Road Commission.

A jury of six men and six women deliberated about two hours before finding that the road commission had not been negligent in the July 1, 1961, death of a Saginaw man. Conducting the trial at Standish was Judge Dennis O'Keefe.

Some 16 witnesses were heard during nearly five full days of testimony in the damage suit brought by Mrs. Augusta O. Hall, widow of Hilmer J. Hall, who was killed during construction on the Indian Lake-Sand Lake Road.

Hall's crushed body was discovered on the road by operator of the road commission grader, who was backing his machine in the process of widening operations. There were no eye witnesses to the tragedy.

Among those testifying were William Martin, owner of a store at Indian Lake, and Kenneth Blake, grader operator.

The trial, originally set to be heard here, was moved to Arenac County when Iosco Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller granted a change of venue at the request of attorneys for Mrs. Hall.

Tawas Area Band Wins Four Firsts in District Festival

Tawas Area High School Band won four first ratings at the 1963 district band and orchestra festival held at Roscommon Saturday. This event is sponsored by the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

The 89-member senior band received "I" awards from three concert judges and an "I" award for sight-reading. The 64-member junior band received "II" awards.

Ratings of other high school bands in the area were: Whittemore-Prescott, "II" award in class C; Oscoda Area, "III" rating in class B; Hale Area, "II" rating for its junior band.

Other schools participating included Beaverton, Farwell, Arenac Eastern, Houghton Lake, Clare, Gladwin, West Branch, Pinconning, Standish-Sterling and Roscommon.

Judges were Edgar Ross, Central Michigan University; Floyd Mead, Midland Public Schools; Stanley Fauman, Elkton-Pigeon School; Rex Hewlett, Central Michigan University.

Henry Verberkmoes of Roscommon, district president, was festival chairman.

"We were very pleased that the senior band received this top rating," said Edward Rima, Tawas Area band director. "The first year junior band is also to be commended for its fine showing."

The senior band is now eligible to participate in the state festival April 27 at Battle Creek.

BOUND OVER

Mrs. Katherine Gay of Whittemore, appearing in justice court Tuesday, was bound over to circuit court to face a charge of negligent homicide. She was driver of a car in which Mrs. Marion Dumas was killed September 22.

Prosecutor Happy That Board Rejected 'Notes'

Decision of the Iosco County Board of Supervisors to table action on the controversial Tawas Lake dam project last week was endorsed Monday by prosecuting Attorney William McCready.

The prosecutor said that the board's conservation committee had apparently presented some notes he had prepared for them as a final draft for adoption by the board.

"It was far from final," said McCready. "What I had typed up for the committee was by no means a resolution, but only my own notes on what should be included in a formal resolution."

"Procedures followed in establishing the special assessment district and the two subsequent assessments were not in accord with statutes," said McCready. "I would recommend that the board of supervisors proceed back to the point where it has already instructed the drain commissioner to proceed with establishing a special assessment district."

It was on this point where disagreement arose Wednesday with the prosecutor's recommendation.

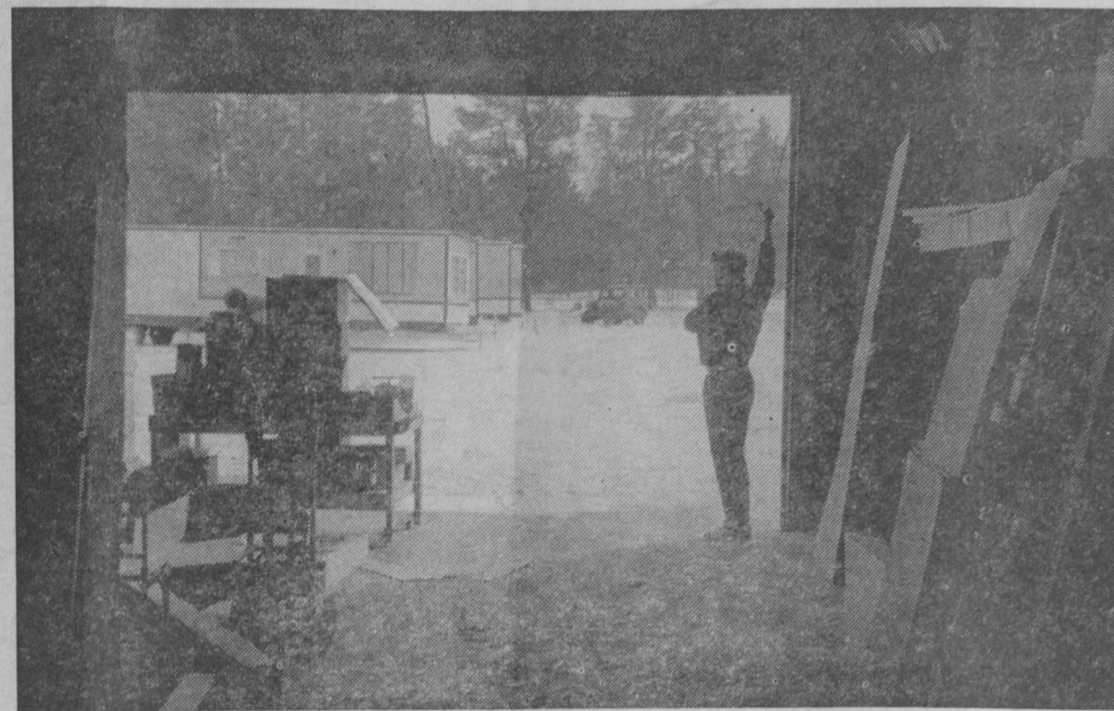

At a meeting two weeks ago, it was the opinion of T. George Sternberg, attorney for property owners who are protesting the assessment, that the board should return to a point where Iosco Circuit Court established the legal level in 1959 and then establish a new district.

Supervisor William White, a member of the conservation committee, said that since that meeting, McCready had studied further into the matter and his recommendation was based on this latter information.

It was White's opinion that if the board rescinded its previous action, Iosco County may be liable for improperly establishing the tax district.

Two assessments have been made to property owners at Tawas Lake, the first covering cost of a survey made by Scott Engineering Company. About $600 re-

Anderson Coach Co. Closes Doors in Tawas

Anderson Coach Company, one of the area's principal employers for nearly 16 years, permanently closed the doors of its Baldwin Township plant last Wednesday.

With its closing, some 49 production workers were placed on the unemployment rolls. Salaried employees were expected to be on the payroll for another month while the company liquidates its holdings here.

After the announcement, work began immediately on selling stocks of material used in the manufacture of mobile homes. Production equipment is to be sold and property offered for sale.

This action followed a meeting last Tuesday between President James Guest, Blaine Christenson, general manager of the company's plant at Logan, Utah, and Orville Stiehl, general manager of the local plant.

In a statement last Thursday, Stiehl cited lack of orders and high production costs as reasons for the plant's closing.

He said that the Logan plant would remain in operation.

Organized here in 1947, Anderson Coach Company at one time employed as many as 150 men in its two plants here. During its peak years prior to 1953, it had an annual payroll here of approximately three-quarters of a million dollars.

Since its organization, the company had produced approximately 14,000 mobile homes and had established a reputation as one of the quality leaders in the field.

During the general business recession which swept the country in 1959-1960, the local plant was closed by a six-month strike of 90 production workers.

"Because of the loss of business at that time and subsequent loss of dealers throughout the country while no mobile homes were being produced, the company was never able to recover," said Stiehl.

In August 1961, the company consolidated its operation here in an economy move. It closed its number one plant at East Tawas, moved its entire assembly line and offices to the former final finish plant in Baldwin Township.

Closing of the plant caught the community somewhat by surprise, although there had been rumors to that effect during recent months.

As late as last Monday, it was reported that Anderson Coach was negotiating for a contract to construct 300 pre-fabricated homes at Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

Letters read at last Monday night's meeting of the East Tawas Council indicated that Senator Philip A. Hart, Congressman Elford A. Cederberg and Congressman-at-Large Neil Staebler were writing letters to federal authorities asking that the local plant receive all possible consideration in construction of these units.

Although the charge to each pupil would not cover the entire cost of instruction, board members felt the summer program was needed in the area.

Jordan reported that 36 students participated in the remedial reading and mathematics program last summer.

Tawas FFA Boys Host Reg. Contest

Tawas Area Chapter of the Future Farmers of America will host the regional FFA contest tonight (Wednesday) at the high school. Nine schools will send teams.

Contests will be in four different areas, reports Robert Reasner, vocational agricultural instructor at Tawas Area. This includes public speaking, farm forum, parliamentary procedure and demonstration.

Participating against Onaway and Bay City Handy will be the two-member team from Tawas Area, Dennis Cross and Gary Malton, who will give a demonstration concerning lubricants.

Other schools participating in the contests, which start at 7:30 o'clock, are Bay City Central, Midland, Mt. Pleasant, Gladwin, Whittemore-Prescott and Alcona.

Following the contests, winning teams will demonstrate abilities for the general public at 9 o'clock.

RUTH ANN DURHAM SANDRA ANN PETERS

Two Girls Named Honor Graduates at Hale School

Honor graduates for 1963 at Hale Area School were announced last Wednesday. Ruth Ann Durham was named valedictorian and Sandra Ann Peters is the salutatorian.

Miss Durham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peters of Hale, compiled a B-plus average. Some of her extra-curricular activities have been student council, of which she is currently secretary-treasurer; president, vice president and secretary of her class, charter member of the Hale Chapter of the National Honor Society and delegate to Girls State. In addition, she was the DAR selection as "Good Citizen of the Year" for Hale Area School.

Upon graduation, Sandra will embark upon nurse's training.

Expansion of Program Eyed Next Summer

A survey is being conducted by the administration of Tawas Area School to determine the amount of interest in an expanded summer educational program.

At its Monday night meeting, Tawas Area Board of Education authorized Principal Ernest Jordan Jr. to send letters to parents whose children may be interested in the program.

Tentative plans call for offering remedial reading and mathematics, as conducted last summer by Miss Burnetta Miller. Students from grades four through 12 would be eligible to participate.

Other subjects which may be offered to junior and senior high school students would include basic grammar, algebra I and II, advanced geometry, trigonometry and typing. Courses to be offered would depend on the amount of interest shown.

Cost per pupil for each of the two-hour-a-day courses would be $10, as was the case last summer. Each would be for a six-week period instead of eight week, as was the case last summer.

Although the charge to each pupil would not cover the entire cost of instruction, board members felt the summer program was needed in the area.

Jordan reported that 36 students participated in the remedial reading and mathematics program last summer.

AuGres Drain Dist. Again Under Study

Glenn Long, chairman of the Iosco County Board of Supervisors, has been authorized to represent this county at any future meetings of the AuGres River Drainage District.

Named as an alternate was Supervisor Clarence Everett. Other voting members for Iosco on this tri-county board is the county drain commissioner, Arenac and Ogemaw Counties are the other members.

At last week's meeting of the board, Long reported he had recently attended a meeting of the drainage district and learned that steps were again being made toward securing a federal appropriation for dredging the river.

This project has been under consideration for a number of years and Iosco County, along with Ogemaw, has always opposed it on the grounds that it would be of little benefit to either county and that cost would be prohibitive.

Long said that Iosco's share under a program two years ago would have been approximately $260,000 and he expected that it

Retired Judge Gives Views on—

Michigan's Proposed Constitution

By Herman Dehnke
Alpena District Delegate to the Michigan Constitutional Convention

This communication will deal with the article in the proposed constitution dealing with taxation and earmarking of revenue.

It soon became clear that many of the delegates in the convention had "their hearts set" on eliminating all "earmarking" of tax revenues. The argument in brief was that the people should elect capable and responsible persons to the legislature, and then trust them to divide the available moneys where it will do the most good, in their judgment; and that earmarking hamstrings the legislature. Somewhat inconsistently, it was further argued that as a matter of fact, the programs supported by the earmarked funds would not suffer—that the legislature has for years been regularly appropriating other moneys in substantial amounts to supplement the earmarked funds, and that it is obvious that this practice will have to be continued in the future. In that case, of course, the earmarking has not hamstrung the legislature in any degree, and all that would be gained by eliminating the provisions in question would be to shorten the constitution to that extent. The majority thought it advisable to retain them in substantially the same form as at present.

In this connection, the "15-mill limitation" came in for much discussion. This means nothing to cities and villages and charter townships—they have their own provisions on the subject; and most of the delegates came from larger cities and counties. The committee report on the subject recommended a modification which would, in effect, have allotted to each governmental unit the maximum millage it had had during the last five years. The convention adopted, instead, a counter-proposal substantially like the one in our present constitution. After this vote, we "out-state" delegates sat back, supposing that this item was settled—but the next morning a substitute proposal was introduced which eliminated the limitation from the constitution, and authorized the legislature to fix limitation from time to time, and it had enough support to carry. The question then became one of "getting it back in again," and to bring about this result felt to be so vitally important to "out-state," it was necessary to make it part of a "package" which dealt also with the Space of course does not permit detailed discussion of all the other provisions of this article. Among them are:

1. The four percent limit on sales tax is continued, and the proceeds are allocated one-eighth to townships, cities and villages; one-half to school aid; balance also as at present.
2. Property owned and used by charitable, educational and religious organizations is exempted from property taxes.
3. Property must be assessed at not more than 50 percent of true cash value after January 1, 1966. This is the basis toward which taxing authorities have been trying to bring assessments. Inasmuch as assessments have been generally for less than 50 percent, this will not reduce maximum below present levels.
4. Property subject to general property taxes must be taxed uniformly and all other taxes uniform by class. Any income taxes which may be adopted may not be graduated.
5. Only owners of property in the taxing district involved may vote on bond issues, and on millage increases for more than five years. Under the present constitution, this limitation applies only to bond issue elections, not on millage increases for current expense, however long they may run.
6. To solve the troublesome problem of determining the school tax limitation in districts formed from territory in two or more counties, it is provided that the limitation shall be that allowable in the county containing the greatest part of the area of the district.
7. The earmarking for highway purposes of taxes on motor vehicles and fuels is continued, with a proviso that "highway purposes" shall be defined by the legislature. Under present practice, if a question is raised as to whether a proposed expenditure is for "highway purposes," the courts decide it—at the end of a lawsuit. In the meantime, doubt and uncertainty prevail. Under the new proposal, the legislature will have the power to define "highway purposes" and everybody concerned will know in advance what comes under that term. It ought not to be assumed that the legislature will give the term some absurd or arbitrary meaning—and if it did, the courts will still be available with power to vacate it.
8. To bond the state, it will still be necessary to have a favorable vote in both houses of the legislature, and by the people; it will, however, be done in the form of a referendum statute, thus avoiding the increase in the length of the constitution, which has resulted from the practice of the past.

May I add in closing, the Citizens Research Council of Michigan, 1526 David Stott Building, Detroit 26, has prepared a series of folders on all portions of the proposed constitution, which I believe are available to all who request them.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS TO YOU

Read Mark 11:22-26

Whenever you stand up to pray, if you have anything against anybody, forgive him. (Mark 11:25, Moffatt.)

Forgiveness is twofold: we need to forgive others, and we need to receive forgiveness of God. Our unforgiving spirit stands in the way of God's forgiving us. So says our Lord.

A friend suffered a tragic loss which she felt certain persons could have prevented if they had been more careful. Long afterward, she said, "If I did not believe it was God's will that the loss occurred, I could never have forgiven them."

The responsibility for what happened she thus attributed to God. But forgiveness as the Master taught and exemplified is to be shown to those responsible for what happens, whether by carelessness or by willfulness.

Such forgiveness is hard, but possible. Over against our thoughtless and willful wrongdoing and our unwillingness to forgive others, how wonderful is God's amazing forgiveness as shown to mankind in Christ! To the penitent, such forgiveness is redemptive.

Christian Science Lesson-Sermon

"Christ Jesus" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon this Sunday at Christian Science Society.

"I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." These words of the Master taken from John's Gospel (14:6) will be used as the Golden Text.

"Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord" (1 Cor. 15:58) is one of many passages that will make up the Scriptural readings.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read: "It is possible,—yea, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman,—to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and life, of health and holiness" (p. 37).

Following the business session, refreshments were served by the social committee.

PRAYER

Our Father, purge us of our unforgiving spirit. Help us as we enter this Lenten season to put away anything we have been harboring, consciously or subconsciously, in resentment against anyone. So may Thy forgiveness be real to us and bring us Thy peace. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

YOU'VE all heard the saying, "No news is good news". Well, this week it's been officially proved untrue. We have news for all women with an interest in individualizing their wardrobes and are convinced that it's very good news indeed! Our headline item this week makes a real human interest story — it's geared to every woman who dreams of embellishing her basic wardrobe with items that bear the distinct stamp of her own personality. This category, we think, should include every woman.

CHANGING STYLES

If you watch the fashion world at all, you've undoubtedly noticed that styles are constantly changing. For instance, in the last two or three years alone, we've had the bouffant hairdo, the empire line, the chemise . . . and you can bet that this list will continue to grow, ad infinitum. One fashion, though, is never outdated. It's synonymous with style and comfort regardless of which other shapes are in current vogue. We're speaking of stoles—stoles, in general, and, in particular, like the one pictured here.

TASSELLED DELICACY

Measuring 24x72 inches, this stole serves as the key to both day and evening glamour and unfailingly dramatizes whichever outfit you choose to wear it with. Its lacy appearance is the result of groups of delicate loops which are crocheted, drawn together, and accented with tassels. Instructions for crocheting this glamorous accessory are available free of charge. Just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and your request for No. PC 2742 to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper.

Cards in Three-Way Tie For Honors in NEM League

By DORNACE BELLVILLE

Whittemore - Prescott Cards, Roscommon and Alcona are all tied up for first place in the NEM again as the Cards ran over Beaverton for a 67-34 victory while Roscommon was downing Alcona, 60-55.

overcome. Coach Ed Dudo started replacing his first team with reserves in the second half with all the starting five on the bench mid-way in the last quarter.

NBC Champs Down Standish-Sterling in Season's Final Game

West Branch erased the sting of its lone Northern B Conference defeat to Oscoda last week by cutting the upsurging Standish-Sterling Central Panthers to ribbons Friday night in an impressive 63 to 44 victory.

Several testing programs are to be conducted during the next month at Tawas Area High School by Thomas Pinkowski, guidance counselor.

Some 65 juniors are to participate in National Merit Scholarship qualifying tests March 5. Freshmen are to receive Kuder preference inventory tests to determine vocational interests.

Former Tawas Cager Breaks Alma Record

Ray Moore, former Tawas cager star, swished a school record 40 points as he led Alma College to a 95-78 win over Kalamazoo last Wednesday night.

The 1959 T.A. graduate finished the cager season in second place for top conference scoring. He had an 89 percent completion record on foul shots.

Lose Final to Pinny; End Season With 5-5 Record

In a complete reversal of form after its great win over Saginaw Buena Vista Tuesday night, the Tawas Area Braves went down to defeat at the hands of Pinconning Friday night, 65-59. The loss evened Tawas' league record of five-five.

In a game similar to the Tawas-Standish-Sterling meeting February 15, the Braves led during the first three quarters and then edged out in the final.

After closing out the season last night (Tuesday) against Alpena Catholic Central, the Braves go into final practice sessions before going into the class B district tournament at Pinconning during the first week in March.

Table with columns: Team Name, FG, FT, TP. Lists players like Anshuetz, Doak, Humphrey, Mick, Lear, Blata for Tawas Area and Kurovski, Oldwin, Poor, Flynn, Blank, Musselwhite for Pinconning.

Coach Ward Schinnels squad did a good job on ball handling, but the tall Cards had too much of an advantage on the boards to

Peace Corps Needs Volunteers with Agriculture Training

Marvin Davenport, Iosco County extension director, says requests for volunteers with farm backgrounds and training in agriculture, forestry and homemaking are increasing with every new Peace Corps project.

The demand for college-trained volunteers far exceeds the present number of qualified applicants. They are being requested to work in agricultural extension projects, in rural community action projects, as teachers in school systems, as instructors in colleges and universities and, in some cases, as researchers.

"There are also opportunities for men and women without college training, provided they have farm experience, vocational agricultural training or good 4-H backgrounds," states Davenport.

Applicants are now being selected for projects starting training in late spring and summer for Malaya, Nepal, Pakistan, India, Columbia, Ecuador, Peru, Venezuela, Brazil, Guatemala, Uruguay, Chile, Jamaica, St. Lucia, Guinea and Togo.

Peace Corps application forms are available at the Cooperative Extension Service office, Federal Building, East Tawas, or from Peace Corps, Washington 25, D. C., Attention Agricultural Division.

Four kinds of sport—all super

Want to make spring come in a hurry? Just pick a new car with whatever you hanker for in performance and sporty trimmings—like bucket seats, 4-speed shift, lots of horses—and start driving it now. Chevy's got a lot of sport in four entirely different kinds of cars.

First, the Jet-smooth Impala Super Sport with your choice of 7 different engines that range up to 425 hp and that include the popular Turbo-Fire 409" with 340 hp for the ultimate in smooth, responsive driving in modern traffic. Optional equipment, including Comfortilt steering wheel* that adjusts to your convenience, makes it as super a sport as you'd like.

There's the Chevy II Nova, also available in an SS version. Special instrument cluster. Front buckets. All-vinyl trim. Distinctive SS identification. Fourteen-inch wheels and tires* with full wheel disks. Three-speed shift or Powerglide* with floor-mounted shift console.

Or the Corvair Monza Spyder with complete instrumentation, special identification, and an air-cooled Turbocharged Six. And for a real wallow, see the stunning Corvette Sting Ray, winner of the "Car Life" 1963 Award for Engineering Excellence.

All told, four beautiful convertibles, four handsome coupes. You'll get a four-barrel kick just looking them over—and a whole lot more fun out of driving one!

*Optional at extra cost.

In late February and March, the Conservation Department will again stage a series of guided deeryard tours in the northern peninsula to give people a first-hand look at wintering conditions for whitetails. Whether you plan to take in one of these tours or decide to hunt it alone, you'll get more out of that field trip by making a mental note of these points beforehand. They bring out some of the more important facts about wintering deer, including their feeding preferences and signs of food shortages, all of which will be covered by Department guides during the tours. Copies of a Department deer-food folder will be handed out to people in the touring groups to help them identify different types of browse. If you want more details about these tours, including when and where they will be held, write to the Department's game division, Lansing 26.

could not help but think—"Now that we have it, what are we going to do with it?"

A lot of time and money ($500) was expended by local Civil Defense people in preparing this comprehensive plan. It contains 175 single-spaced typewritten pages, along with graphs, maps and tables of organization.

Cost of preparing the plan nearly depleted the local CD unit's annual allocation from the board of supervisors.

We are not being critical of Iosco CD Director Leon Putnam, Assistant Director Francis J. Block and other local CD members, who have followed regulations in preparing this survival plan apparently required by federal and state authorities. It represents a lot of time and effort on their part.

Our only criticism is that the plan is in typical, federal government style . . . massive, cumbersome and in our opinion, too comprehensive and complicated to be workable in a small county with part-time CD workers.

We only hope that our local Civil Defense people can sift through all of this information and develop a simplified plan to go into immediate effect should the area suffer some disaster, such as, the tornado which struck here in 1953.

Supervisors

would be about double that today under a more extensive program. In other business, the board set March 20, its next regular meeting, as a hearing date on the Sunday closing law. This law is to go into effect March 28 and would regulate operation of certain businesses on Sunday, although each county has the right to determine whether or not it would be applicable. A resolution adopted by the board opposed the law.

The board accepted a bid from Alton Long of $70 for purchase of a furnace and tank now located in the former Short residence, purchased last year by the county. A bid of $36 from Mrs. Barbara Burch was accepted for purchase of carpeting in the house. Bids are to be opened next month for removal of the structure.

The board adopted a resolution from its roads and bridges committee authorizing the road commission to construct a new bridge on the site of the former AuSable River bridge at Oscoda, which was removed early in January.

On recommendation of its judiciary committee, the board directed that no further action be taken by the AuSable River Golf Club in constructing a bridge over VanEitan Creek until a hearing is held and engineering received.

The board authorized the road commission to commence condemnation proceedings against owners of the former H. C. Bristol property for the purpose of constructing a road to the county airport.

Basic Policies- Objectives of Master Plan

Determination of the basic community objectives and policies necessary to achieve them comes early in the planning process, according to Vilcan-Leman and Associates, Incorporated, planning consultants for Tawas City.

To enable the planning program now under way to proceed as rapidly and efficiently as possible, it is important that the city's objectives and policies be determined soon.

Basic objectives and policies which reflect the goals of the city relative to its future development are listed below by the planning commission:

1. To serve as a trading center.
2. To serve as an educational, cultural and social center both for residents of Tawas City and those in the surrounding area.
3. To be a desirable place in which to live, with adequate housing, educational and recreational facilities served by an efficient system of streets, highways and public facilities.
4. To grow as an industrial and employment center having desirable industrial sites serviced with the necessary public utility and transportation facilities; thus creating a broad, well-balanced tax base and local job opportunities.
5. To serve as a major tourist-vacation center for the state, based upon the recreational potential of the nearby natural resources.

Based upon this broad outline of community objectives, the following policies have been developed. These will serve as guides toward achieving the basic community goals.

Planning Area: Certain elements of the plan for Tawas City should deal with areas considerably beyond the boundaries of the city itself, such as the trade area which will extend into portions of Ogemaw and Arenac Counties. Those elements of the plan dealing more directly with the physical development and improvement of land, such as thoroughfares, residential neighborhoods and industry, should include the city and immediately adjacent areas.

Residential Areas: To promote and maintain highly desirable residential living areas, the orderly development of healthful, safe and aesthetically pleasing neighborhoods is essential. Substandard housing units should be upgraded or replaced so that adequate living conditions are available to all citizens.

The indiscriminate intermixing of residential land uses with other uses (commercial, industrial, etc.) should be actively discouraged.

All residential neighborhoods should be provided with school, park and playground facilities which meet at least the minimum acceptable standards.

Commercial-Business Areas: The amount of land area to be devoted to commercial and business uses should be determined based upon reliable estimates of future population and potential purchasing power within the Tawas City trade area and adjusted to take into account the seasonal influence of the summer tourist and vacation industry. Commercial areas themselves should be well designed, compact and easily accessible with adequate off-street parking. Conflicts between pedestrian and vehicular traffic should be avoided. Commercial areas, especially lodging and other business oriented to the tourist-vacation industry, should have an aesthetically pleasing appearance. Haphazard, unrelated development strung along the sides of highways and main streets should be discouraged.

Industrial Areas: A variety of sites should be available to accommodate industries having varying land areas and locational needs. Areas selected for industrial purposes should have suitable topographic conditions and adequate utilities and transportation facilities.

To protect industry from harmful conflicts with certain non-industrial uses, especially residential, zoning controls should be enacted to prohibit these other uses from developing in industrial zones.

Zoning controls should also be enacted to control undesirable conditions common to some industrial operations (excessive smoke, dust, noise, water pollution, etc.) and to insure that adequate provisions are made for off-street parking, open space and landscaping.

In addition, policies are to be developed for public facilities days, Charlie Harris used his team of horses to pull the city's wooden scraper to remove snow and slush from Lake Street," he recalled.

During construction on sewer and water mains here, Pfeiffer worked for the city during the day hauling gravel and was employed by the WPA at night. The latter job paid $39 a month and he operated pumps at the Second Avenue lift station or at the disposal plant.

Pfeiffer learned his foreman's job from the ground up. Because of his work during construction and his long experience as foreman, he is the only person in the city who knows the location of sewer and water connections. Except for installations in two new subdivisions, these connections are not shown on engineering blueprints.

Among his various jobs with the city, Pfeiffer served as city marshal for about seven years when he first took over as city foreman. He also directed an athletic program during WPA days and had charge of the ice skating rink which was operated several winters.

He has served under seven city superintendents, including Miller, Myles, Martin Musolf, William Mallon, Henry Darling, Martin Kasischeke and Reginald Bulbitz, present superintendent.

Except for one or two years when he worked for the Coyle Fishery and later when he helped to set up a production line in the gas mask plant here during World War II, Pfeiffer has had continuous employment with the city since 1935.

"These cold winters are starting to tell on my health. I'm just going to fish and enjoy myself from now on. Someone else can keep the pumps going," he said.

mains from this assessment, while money collected under the second assessment to construct the dam is being held by the county treasurer.

Apparently, a hearing was not held on the initial assessment to cover preliminary engineering and certain other legal steps were not followed in establishing the district.

It was the opinion of Chairman Glenn Long and others that all steps toward establishing the district had been wrong, that the board should rescind its previous motions and that credit should be given to those persons who had already paid money under the special tax district.

Recommendation of the prosecuting attorney was referred back to the board at large by the conservation committee and, after a motion in favor of adoption was withdrawn, Supervisor Robert LaVoy's motion to table action for further study received unanimous support.

It was the recommendation of Supervisor Charles Smith, chairman of the conservation committee, and Supervisor Burdge Ashton that additional legal counsel be obtained in the matter. Supervisor George Webb questioned the legality of such a move, stating that the prosecutor was the county's legal advisor.
