Custodial Jobs Under Study at Tawas School

An evaluation and establishment of job assignments for the custodial force at Tawas Area School is to be made during the next two weeks by school administrators. This information is to be presented at the next meeting of the board of education.

Appearing before Monday night's board meeting were Fred Bublitz, school maintenance superintendent, and Ernest Nash, head custodian. Both men were called in by the board to explain their present duties.

One change proposed by board members was that Vaino Lake be given complete responsibility for custodial work at the Tawas City unit. At present, duties of Nash include cleaning the gymnasium and corridors in that building.

Nash has had supervision of both the high school building and the elementary unit, along with responsibility for cleaning the high school auditorium and corridors in that building. In cases of emergency, he also assists the maintenance superintendent.

The board indicated that other responsibilities of Nash may be changed. Discussed was the possibility of advertising for bid on garbage removal from kitchens at the two units, now handled by the head custodian. He also has had charge of ordering custodial supplies, which may be handled through the school office.

As maintenance superintendent, Bublitz's duties include responsibility for two steam and two hot water boilers, along with general maintenance of plumbing, electrical work and repairs at the three school buildings.

At the request of board members, a search is to be made of minutes to determine the exact terms under which Bublitz was originally employed. Board President William Look, who was supported by Trustee Leonard Sarki, was of the opinion that he was paid under a salary arrangement and subject to call 24 hours a day. Because of this, Look objected to paying overtime for night work or mileage and said that if a satisfactory arrangement could not be made, he felt the work should be put out on bids.

In other business, Supt. Reynold Mick, who is convalescing from illness, attended the meeting and presented a 1963-64 budget for consideration of the board. The new budget is for $605,711, as compared to $603,068 last year. The following amounts would be required from local taxation within the 15-mill limitation: General operating, $215,661.21; building and site, three mills; debt retirement, $44,600.

The general operating figure is based on a millage of 8.31 and an equalized valuation of $25,722,894 for the district. This was the same millage requested last year, but reduced to eight by the allocation board. Mick said that allowances had been made to figure the new budget on eight mills, but pointed out that this was the minimum allowed by the state or primary fund money received by

Tourist Festival Days Planned Next Summer

An invitation is to be extended to the Tawas Chamber of Commerce and Tawas City this week to participate in the first annual Michigan Tourist Festival Days to be sponsored July 24-28 by East Tawas merchants.

At a meeting last Friday afternoon, attended by Barry McGuire, representing the East Michigan Tourist Association, tentative plans were made for the four-day event. J. Berkeley Smith was named chairman.

An annual event of this type has been under discussion for several weeks and many of those taking part were active in last year's centennial observance at East Tawas.

Some of the events tentatively scheduled include a kids' day observance, bicycle and sailboat racing, art show and parade. A museum, using the picture collection of Joseph Barkman, is also being planned.

A spokesman for the committee said Monday that the event is being promoted to interest tourists to spend their vacations here and to provide entertainment for them while in the area.

Another committee meeting is scheduled March 21.

Charge Reduced; Goes to Jury Today

Circuit court trial of Raymond Utterback, 17, Oscoda High School student, goes to a jury today for final deliberation.

Following presentation of Utterback's case Tuesday by Attorney Paul Harvey, Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller instructed the jury to disregard a manslaughter charge brought against the defendant because of the lack of evidence to show criminal intent.

Seven men and six women on the panel will decide today whether or not the Oscoda youth is guilty of a lesser charge of negligent homicide.

Utterback was driver of a car which struck and killed Dale Pelton, 13-year-old Oscoda youth, while he was pedaling his bicycle along M-171 last September 14.

Burglar Nets $100 in Warehouse Break-In

Burglary of Zaiger Distributing Company's warehouse at East Tawas sometime Saturday evening is being investigated by city and state police officers.

While making a routine inspection about 9:55 o'clock, City Patrolman Donald Docking discovered that a rear window had been smashed and the building entered.

Ralph Taylor, manager, reported that he closed the building about 5:00 p. m. Approximately $100 in bills was taken from a safe.

Investigation at the scene disclosed that apparently only two wooden doors between the garage and storage area were also pried open to allow entry. A heavy tool was used to crack one corner of the safe and the door was peeled open to allow removal of the combination.

Assisting in the investigation were State Troopers James Ewer and Ronald Beauchaine, along with Detective LeRoy McCluer.

P-TA to Focus on Teacher's Problems

Tawas Area Parent-Teacher Association will focus its attention on some of the more important and difficult problems that teachers have to face in their daily work at the Monday, March 18, meeting. The organization will meet in the Tawas City unit gymnasium.

Principal Ernest Jordan will present problems common to the high school scene and Principal Clara Bolen will discuss elementary grade problems.

This program is designed to make parents aware of these demanding situations with the idea that they will be better prepared to assist in their elimination.

"Everyone is cordially invited to attend. Questions, comments and suggestions will be welcomed by the speakers," states Clyde Soper, P-TA president.

The business session will feature the elections of three officers for two-year terms, mother vice president, father vice president and treasurer.

Dairy department and crops department specialists from Michigan State University College of Agriculture, told 19 Iosco County dairy farmers how, where and when to make money in the dairy business Wednesday at Plainfield Township Hall, Hale.

Stuart Hildebrand, crops department, explained how Iosco dairy men can double or triple their hay yields. Yields of roughage up to six tons per acre have been recorded in Iosco County and can be duplicated by other Iosco County farmers with the proper management.

Don Hillman, dairy department specialist, explained how to feed these roughages and grains for the highest milk production per cow.

Curtis Miller, dairy specialist, pointed out the various ways dairymen can keep accurate records while Dr. Clinton Meadows demonstrated how to use these records for selection of dairy herd replacements.

Shovel Operator Retires

George Hoshbach, 68, East Tawas, who has handled about four million tons of gypsum rock during the past 20 years, retired recently at United States Gypsum Company's Alabaster installation.

One of five key shovel operators in the Alabaster quarry, an outstanding aspect of Hoshbach's record is that he has never had a lost-time accident.

Hoshbach's first employment as a youth in Tawas City was also at an end of a shovel, but a much different one than the 150-ton monster at Alabaster. In 1916, he started as a locomotive fireman for the Detroit and Mackinac Railway and during his eight years of feeding coal into hungry fireboxes he was considered among the best.

With time out for service during World War I, when he served as a sergeant in the army engineers, Hoshbach stayed with the D&M until 1925. He took a leave of absence that fall and started with United States Gypsum Company.

His first job with USG was on construction at the Iosco County installation and in Illinois. He was later in the maintenance department here under Claude DeLosh and assisted in organizing the original accident prevention program at Alabaster.

In the depression lay-off of 1931, Hoshbach left USG and did not return until May of 1940. Returning at the start of the war "boom," Hoshbach went to work in the quarry and operated several types of earth moving equipment before finally settling on one of the big shovels.

In paying tribute to the retiree, Maynard VanOrnum, works manager, said: "A good shovel operator has much to do with the quality of rock being produced and the Alabaster quarry has as high quality production as any in the industry."

"Operators of these $500,000 shovels must be completely trustworthy individuals," said VanOrnum. "The machine is operated in narrow confines and on wet, loose bottom conditions on the quarry floor. A wrong move could result in injury or costly maintenance and Hoshbach's record indicates his high caliber as an operator."

Mr. and Mrs. Hoshbach reside at 1342 Forest Glen, Tawas Beach Road. He plans to work in his garden or at odd jobs around the house during retirement. He also plans to spend some time fishing on Tawas Bay and enjoy deer hunting.

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

After last week's car-bus accident on M-55, which, fortunately, proved to be of a minor nature, a few words might be in order in this corner.

First of all, school bus drivers are charged with a great responsibility and one which is often overlooked or is taken for granted by most of us. That is, the bus driver has complete charge of safeguarding the lives of children who are being transported to and from school or during other school activities.

This is no little task, because of the precious lives of a number of children are involved.

On occasion, the bus driver is called on to make a split-second decision which directly involves his passengers and other motorists on the highway. It was that way last Monday morning with Driver Roy Wright.

Making his regular morning run along M-55, stops were made without incident and it was just like any other day. Roads were clear and some 50 youngsters were on their way to school. When the bus neared Plank Road intersection, Wright noted a car pulling out of a private driveway some distance ahead. He took his foot off the accelerator and the bus gradually reduced speed.

What Wright did not know, and as it turned out few other motorists realized, was that trees fringing both sides of M-55 in that area had protected the highway to such an extent that the previous day's thaw had left a slick layer of ice on the pavement. The passenger car had very little traction on the ice and its wheels were spinning. Bearing down on the auto, Wright touched the brake pedal and immediately pulled his foot off. The highway was a sheet of ice.

In that split instant, Wright had to make a decision. If he applied the brakes, the bus could have "fishtailed" into trees fringing the highway. That probably would have meant injury to many children. Instead, he turned the wheel slightly and the bus skidded just enough to strike the passenger car a glancing blow. The auto crashed into the ditch and, fortunately, the driver was not seriously injured.

The bus skidded sideways on the highway and came to a stop with its wheels on the shoulder. The youngsters had remained silent throughout the entire incident, which lasted only a few seconds, and none were injured.

Other vehicles attempted to stop to lend assistance, but the bus driver waved them through as he realized that icy road conditions could cause more pile-ups. Police officers arrived soon afterwards to take charge of the traffic.

The bus driver is to be commended for his quick-thinking in a very tight situation.

LUXURY CAR: RIDES, RESPONDS AND LOOKS LIKE IT OUGHT TO COST A RANSOM

You're looking at our Impala Super Sport Convertible which, along with its cousin the Sport Coupe, absolutely embarrasses higher priced cars. That special trim and those front bucket seats merely hint at the comforts you find built into every Impala Super Sport. Performance? It's remarkable, an understatement we can afford when there are 7 engines to choose from. One of which is the popular 340-hp Turbo-Fire 409*, a wizard in traffic and a joy on the open road. And others all the way up to 425 hp*. If you want an extra flourish or two, mull over extra-cost options like floor-shift four-speed manual or Powerglide transmission, Positraction, fade-resistant sintered-metallic brake linings, and a tachometer to relay what's cooking up front. Just before you rush off to your Chevrolet dealer, may we remind you that both Impala Super Sports offer the new Comfortilt steering wheel*. You adjust it to suit your driving style, flick it out of the way for easy entry and exit. All three Chevrolet series—Biscayne, Bel Air and Impala—deserve a long look. Super Sports demand it. Super Sport equipment* available on both Impala Convertible and Sport Coupe. *Optional at extra cost.

Tawas Braves Stop Pinny; Upset West Branch Orioles for 'B' Crown

Tawas Area Braves became the "Cinderella" team of the NBC Saturday by beating the West Branch Orioles, 63-54, to take the class B district basketball championship at Pinconning. It was Tawas' first district title since 1958.

The Braves earned the title shot by downing host Pinconning, 50-38, on Thursday night. Now 12-6 for the season, the Braves move into regional Class B play this Wednesday night at Mt. Pleasant where they will take on Ludington.

The West Branch-Tawas tilt Saturday night was one of the top thrillers in week-long district action around the state. After losing twice during the regular season to the NBC championship Oriole team, the Braves beat West Branch for a regional berth on free throws.

West Branch forged to a 19-3 first period lead and appeared enroute to an easy romp as the Braves were unable to find any holes in the Oriole defense. Guard J. O. Johnson again displayed great shooting accuracy as he dumped in four field goals from middle court, while Forward Wayne Keith and Center Larry Forney were finding the range in close with three and two baskets, respectively.

What the first quarter scoring column failed to show, however, was the fact that the Orioles were guarding Tawas players too closely and it would hurt their cause before the night was over. Guard Jim Mick meshed three foul shots in the first quarter and before the game ended completed 12 out of 15.

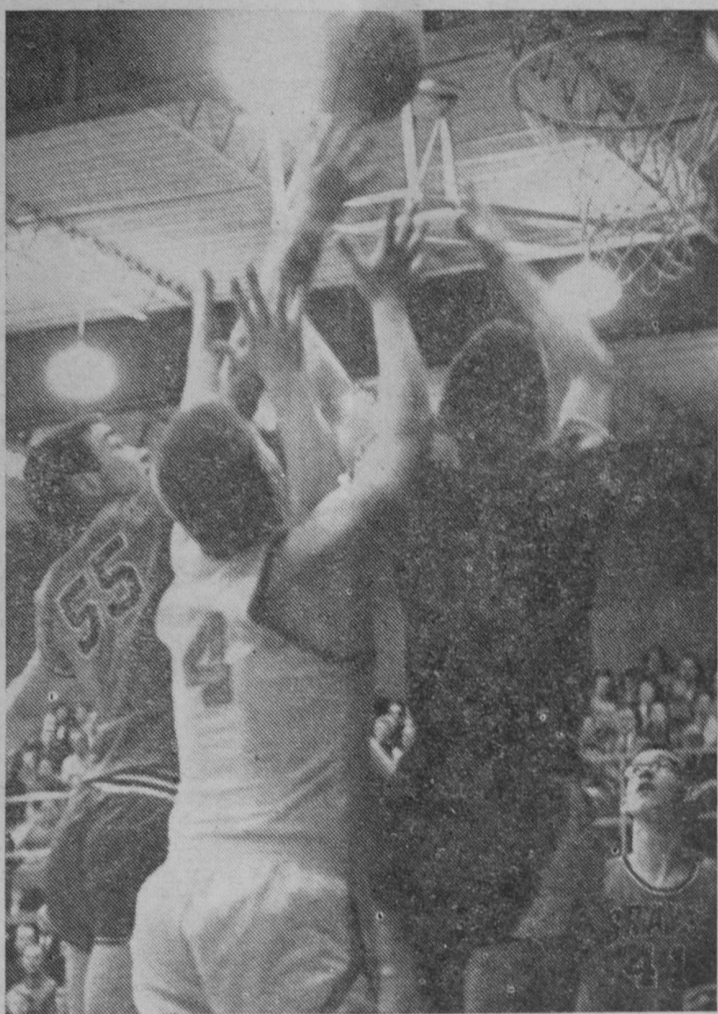

Tawas Area bounced back in the second quarter when Coach Bill McIntosh changed his offensive alignment. The Braves had six field goals to West Branch's five and Tawas completed seven out of 10 field goals while Forney of the Orioles missed four consecutive charity tosses.

Two fast break field goals early in the third quarter quickly erased West Branch's 29-27 intermission margin and Center Herb Humphrey found the range, completing four field goals and a foul shot. Forward Dick Doak pumped in two field goals and Forward Chuck Anschuetz tipped in one to give Tawas a slim 42-40 edge at the end of the quarter.

Guard John Ammond fouled out of West Branch's line-up early in the fourth period and the two teams traded basket-for-basket until about two minutes remained in the game. With four other Orioles playing under a handicap of four fouls each, the Braves completed 13 out of 16 charity tosses and added four field goals, while West Branch completed six field goals and two out of four foul shots.

During the night, Tawas hit on 25 of 31 charity tosses, five by Doak and four each by Mick and Humphrey put the Braves out in front in the final minutes.

In the last few seconds of play, the Pinconning gym was a bedlam as Tawas held a nine-point lead and West Branch fans began to file out of the building. With one second remaining, tournament officials fired a blank cartridge pistol in an effort to keep fans off the floor and West Branch players believed the game had ended. The game was delayed several minutes while referees sought to clear the playing floor of happy

Oscoda Loses in District Final; Hale Area Eliminated by Au Gres

Two Iosco schools were eliminated from basketball tournament play last week. The Oscoda Owls were downed Saturday night by Rogers City, 61-48, at Alpena, while Hale lost to Au Gres, 65-37, Thursday night on the winner's home floor.

Rogers City had an easier time than expected in polishing off Oscoda in the district final. The losing Owls took an 8-7 lead in the first period and added another point in the second to lead at half-time, 26-24. However, Rogers City went ahead by one point with a 17-14 third quarter breeze and the Owls folded in the final when the winners racked up a 20-8 edge. Bob Brietzke, center, led the way for Rogers City, collecting 20 points on six and eight. For Oscoda, Tony Richardson was high with 13 on five and three and Walt Hechlik followed with 12 on five and two.

Au Gres, edged by Rose City 41-40 in the Class D final Saturday night, had a well-balanced attack Thursday in defeating Hale. Au Gres led 11-6 at the end of the first period and 28-17 at the half. The victors also held the scoring edge in the last two quarters, 17-6 and 20-14.

Paul Heinrich and Ray Tarnosky each counted 11 points on identical four and three combinations for the winners. John Heilman topped the Hale attack with 17 points on a six and five mark.

Cardinals Drop Roscommon and Gaylord for District 'C' Title

By Dornace Bellville

Whitmore - Prescott Cards won the Grayling district championship Saturday night with a thrilling, 58-54, victory over the Grayling Vikings. The Cards advanced to the finals by eliminating Roscommon Wednesday night in another cliff-hanger, 69-67.

The Cards started off fast against the home town Vikings with Roger Rasbury getting two field goals in the first minute, Ray Pagel added another to give the Cards a 6-0 lead before Grayling meshed its first point. The Cards almost ran the Vikings off the floor as they held an 18-5 lead at the end of the first quarter.

With the Pagel twins and Rasbury holding complete control of the boards, the Cards held a 25-10 lead midway in the second quarter when the Vikings started to find the range and cut the Cardinal lead to 12 points, 31-19, at the half.

As the second half opened, the Vikings hit on three consecutive shots to cut the Card lead to six points. The W-P boys called time out, then took the floor again to score three points to take a nine-point lead. The Cards set a slower pace the rest of the quarter keeping five to nine points ahead of the Vikings.

With only four minutes to go, the Cards started to stall and Ron Armstead picked up another point on a foul. Roger Partlo stole a pass for a pretty lay-up for the Cards' last fielder.

The Vikings picked up four points on fouls to cut the Card lead to 54-50 with three minutes to go. Armstead picked up two points from the free throw line, but Wright got them back with a lay-up. Armstead added another point to give W-P a five point edge with one minute left. The Vikings then stole the ball to get another fielder to cut the Cards down to a three-point edge again with only seconds left.

W-P held the ball until Ray Pagel was fouled just before the final gun went off and he sank the first one to give the Cards a well-deserved 58-54 win and another district championship.

Ray Pagel was star of the game with a 23-point scoring total on seven field goals and nine of 14 charity tosses. The Pagel twins and Rasbury were outstanding on rebounds with Partlo, Armstead and Cherry doing a great job of ball handling.

The Vikings' ability to hit on long shots from outside the tight W-P zone defense was the only thing that tightened the game in the last half.

All the Cards shared in the scoring with Rasbury also hitting in double figures with 11 points.

The matter was referred to the conservation committee.

Mr. Ed Higgins addressed the board on behalf of the Tawas Lake Dam Association. He wondered if the board would have any answers at this session in regard to the taxes collected to date, possible refunding and whether or not work would continue toward construction of the dam. On Thursday, March 7, the Rural Women's Study Club met at Grant Township Hall with 10 ladies present. Mrs. Olen Herriman was welcomed as a new member. Mrs. Edith Herriman, president, conducted the meeting.

Roll call was a favorite poem. Officers were elected for the coming year.

Mrs. Elmer Anschuetz and Mrs. Earl Herriman served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Herriman and children of Davison spent last week-end with his mother, Mrs. Bernice Herriman.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Durant and children of Flint were week-end guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Durant, and her parents, the Clayton Ulmans.

The Rev. Grant Lapham called on Mrs. Clara Smith Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Biggs were Thursday afternoon visitors of his mother, Mrs. Ethel Biggs, at Sterling.

Alton Durant is a patient at Tawas Hospital. Friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Leslie Pfahl has returned from Italy where he has been employed the past two years. He visited his aunt, Mrs. Bernice Herriman, one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Durant of Flint are spending some time with their parents, the Alton Durants and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Seymour, while he is convalescing from surgery on his hands.

Michigan's Proposed Constitution

By Herman Dehnke

Alpena District Delegate to the Michigan Constitutional Convention

Board

The district would be reduced. He also said that the district could expect a decrease in valuation and state aid probably would be lower, figured on 1,540 pupils rather than 1,600. He said that removal of Anderson Coach Company would probably result in several families moving from the area, should these jobs not be replaced by other industry. He also indicated that money received for federally-connected students may be lower in the future.

Two representatives of the student council, Brian Helmer and Dennis Cross, appeared at the meeting and asked the board to consider possibility of installing a milk vending machine in the study hall and purchase of a new 50-star American flag for the auditorium.

The board approved purchase of the flag but referred discussion on the milk machine to Principal Ernest Jordan for further investigation. Jordan said that such a machine had been used in the school seven years ago and it did not prove too successful. "Quite a few problems would have to be worked out," he stated.

Among the matters on which there was a wide difference of opinion among convention delegates was the method to be used in selecting the members of the Administrative Board, commonly referred to as the "Ad Board." This board was created by statute some years ago, largely for the purpose of serving as a sort of executive committee in matters of state government. This board will remain in existence, unless changed by the legislature, with the same members as at present: the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, attorney general, auditor general, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction and state highway commissioner.

There were delegates who felt very strongly that the method of electing all these officials for two-year terms on partisan tickets should be continued, and persuasive arguments to support this view were presented. There were many other delegates who were convinced that it would be better to choose at least a part of these officials by some other method. Some were in favor of electing only the governor and lieutenant governor, while others insisted on including at least the attorney general on the elective list. The arguments in support ran generally along these lines:

1. It would shorten the ballot. People have complained for years about "bed sheet" ballots, with so many names on them that it was next to impossible for most voters to learn enough about each of the candidates to enable them to make a satisfying choice on a personal, rather than a partisan, basis.

2. The strength and usefulness of the "Ad Board" depends largely on its having as many members as possible who are free to exercise their own judgment, uninfluenced by any feeling that their continuance in office or promotion depends principally on keeping in the good graces of the governor, or of the "powers that be" in the party. Every elective member of the board knows that under the procedure usually followed in party conventions, nobody can be nominated except with the approval of the party's candidate for governor, on the theory that he is entitled to select his "team," if he is to be held responsible for what happens during his administration.

3. If such an office as state treasurer is important enough to justify a place on the ballot, then logically the ballot should be made even longer by including a number of at least equally important state officials now chosen by appointment, as for example the heads of the departments of health, banking, insurance and civil service.

4. The "Ad Board" is the equivalent of the president's cabinet. Cabinet members have never been chosen by popular vote, and no one suggests that they should be.

5. At least three of the offices mentioned are not political in nature, but call for technical and professional qualifications based on training and experience in their special fields. These are the superintendent of public instruction, auditor general and highway commissioner. Their tenure should not depend on political considerations, but on their demonstrated ability in the fields of education, financial management and engineering. The universal practice is to have boards of education select the superintendent of schools, and to have the county road commissioner choose the equivalent of the county highway commissioner, and there is no good reason why the same methods should not be followed by the state.

So ran the discussion. Out of all the arguments, a majority of the delegates agreed on a solution which reconciles the conflicting view-points in a reasonable way, without going to either extreme. Four of the members of the "Ad Board" will remain elective—the governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general and secretary of state. The superintendent of public instruction will be chosen by the state board of education, consisting of eight members elected by the people for "staggered" terms. The auditor general will be chosen by the legislature, because his principal function is to serve as an arm of the legislature in the matter of audits of state expenditures and reporting the result to the legislature for its guidance in making appropriations. He is required to be a C. P. A., should not be under the appearance of being part of a "party team." The convention's decision that the highway commissioner should be selected by a bi-partisan commission is based on similar reasoning, and was in no way intended as a reflection on the present occupant of that office. There is no reason why he could not be chosen to continue as director of the department by the commission. Incidentally, Michigan is the only state in which this official is now chosen by the elective process. The state treasurer will be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate (which, as on all other nominations must disapprove, if that is its judgment, within 60 days, or the appointment stands approved).

This may be a good place to mention that the proposed constitution provides that the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor will run "as a team," as is the case with the candidates for president and vice president which will put an end to the possibility of the governor's powers being exercised by one of the opposite party whenever the governor is out of the state or incapacitated.

THANKS EXTENDED FOR CHECKS AIDING SURGERY

At the March 11 meeting of Iosco County VFW Ladies Auxiliary No. 5678, Mrs. Rosa Woodward of Oscoda won a rug and Mrs. Mary Wilson was the winner of pillowcases. Checks were presented to Mrs. Ruth Gauthier. This money will go toward the expenses of her daughter's heart operation to be performed later this month. She wishes to thank everyone who donated.

Friday, March 15, 8:00 p. m., a card party will be held at the post home.

Following the meeting, Sergeant Bellah of Wurtsmith Air Force Base, Oscoda, presented a film on civil defense.

The mystery package was won by Mrs. Madeline Ruehle, Mrs. Ruth Hill and Mrs. Rose Hill served lunch.

Election of district delegates will be held at the March 25 meeting.

Special Notice to Car Buyers

We have two sheriff cars. One is an Olds 88, 1961, which was Ivan's personal car. The car has had good care, it has been lubricated and oil changed according to factory specifications. The outside has been painted so you can't tell it was a sheriff car. We will guarantee this car for one year, just the same as any other used car, but the person who buys this car stands to gain a lot. We are selling this car $400.00 under book.

Also, one 1962, 300 Galaxie, the same applies to this car.

Come in and drive either one of these cars and I think you will agree.

Full of life and proud to be a farm girl is Sandra (Sandy) Gilmore, 11 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Gilmore of Route 2, Bristol, Wisconsin. The family operates a 187-acre dairy farm. Among the livestock are 36 milk cows, 150 chickens, a few ducks and some hogs. Let's follow Sandy around for a day and see why she enjoys her natural heritage.

THE PAY-OFF IS IN THE . . .

Systemized farming, which includes the orderly growth of farm automation, is becoming the most important means for achieving success on today's farms. TOP FARMER asked Dick Walburn of Badger Northland, Inc. (one of the Country's leaders in farm automation) to tell us what is causing this big surge in farm automation, what are some of the problems to consider and what can be expected in the future. Here are some of his comments:

"Necessity is the mother of invention" . . . and necessity brought about mechanization on the farm. Two factors were chiefly responsible . . . one was the shortage of hired help that existed after World War II, and the other was the cost-price squeeze that evolved during this period.

Dairy farmers were the first to mechanize, adopting the barn cleaner to do their cleaning. Mechanized feeding was not as readily accepted by the dairy farmer as the beef farmer; however as herds have grown larger, mechanized feeding has become more important. Without mechanization, these two chores took a good portion of the working day (in addition to being a back-breaking job) and limited the number of animals one man could manage properly. When the price of milk dropped, a farmer had but two choices if he wanted to stay in business: (1) Increase his production or (2) Lower the cost of his present production. Either way, he had to mechanize.

Beef farmers have been faster to adopt mechanized feeding than dairy farmers. They were hard hit by the cost-price squeeze of the 50's, and mechanical feeding was one of the solutions to their problems. Greater silage utilization has developed in an effort to cut the cost of gains, plus supply consumer demand for leaner meat.

The advent of high moisture corn storage, in concrete or steel silos, has done much to advance the cause of stored feeding programs. Feeding beef animals at a medium or high level of silage, plus a proper amount of corn and protein supplement results in a carcass grade that is little below that of animals on a high energy ration. Feeding silage not only allows a farmer to produce meat at a lower cost but allows him to raise more meat per acre.

Hog farmers have been the last to enter into mechanization. Mechanized feeding and cleaning would have reached them eventually; however, their entry was hastened by the market conditions of 1959 and '60. Hog producers turned to confined feeding and farrowing programs, and slanted their efforts toward producing leaner meat at lower cost. Self-feeders and overhead grain augers have become very popular. Manure removal has remained the hog farmers' big problem. Although some lagoons have proved successful, many problems remain unsolved. Badger Northland dealers have installed both barn cleaners and augers in hog houses for removing manure, and both have proved successful. Current trend in hog manure removal is through the use of lagoons. This method results in the loss of the manure and also creates a dispersal problem of the effluent. Pollution of neighboring streams, surface as well as underground, seems to be inevitable with this method of removal and it is doubtful if the public will tolerate lagoon operation over a period of time.

TOMORROW'S FEEDING METHODS

Dairy

Very limited pasturing will be used, probably only on land that is suited for little else. Hay-making on a large scale will not be practiced unless means are found to distribute this feed mechanically. Limited hayfeeding will be done in self feeders. Pelleting of feeds is not too apt to become common practice unless more economical means of pelleting can be devised. Low moisture grass silage and corn silage will become the two most important feeds to a dairyman. Oat silage will also become more widely adapted by dairy farmers. Dairyman using high energy, high protein silages will probably cut the amount of grain and concentrates they presently use. Free stall housing, a recent development, will replace loose housing, and many stanchion barns. Indoor feeding with mechanical bunk feeders will become common practice on free stall setups; however the trend to outside feeding should continue strong. A mechanical method of distribution will probably be developed for "in-stall" feeding. All feeding will be done mechanically. A single man operation will produce 1,000,000 lbs. of milk. Fully mechanized, one man will be able to manage 65 to 80 milk cows. Many of these operators will have their heifers raised by contracting.

Beef

Confined feeding will be used in every phase of beef operations, from brood cows to finished

1960 — Built the large loose housing pole barn shown in the rear . . . the first step in a well-planned feeding and milking area.

11x17L

1961 — First two Harvestores erected — one for haylage and the other for corn silage. At the same time the first two automatically fed bunk feeders were installed. A push of a button does the feeding.

1962 — Erected two more Harvestores, extended one of the feeding bunks and built a third one, forming an arc around the central feeding auger.

PLANNING!

steers. Feedlots will become larger and "time-clock" feeding will take over. Cattle will be fed automatically, six to eight times a day. All rations will be premeasured and premixed as they are fed, providing a perfectly balanced ration. Low moisture grass silage, corn silage and high moisture corn will form the bulk of the feeding requirements in the Corn Belt. Sorghum silage and low moisture grass will be fed in the south. Trench or bunker silos in the south and southwest will be replaced by upright structures on all but the largest farms. Even then, the "silos in the ground" will be mechanized. Barn cleaners will become a common sight in feedlots as operators continue to mechanize every phase of their operation. Indoor feeding will become more prevalent as operators strive not only to control the feeding of their animals, but their environment as well.

Hogs

Confined feeding and farrowing of hogs will be stepped up greatly in the next couple years. Many operators will completely control the environment of these hogs. Inside feeding with climatic controls will be commonplace in the Corn Belt. Fewer hogs will be run with cattle as beef farmers turn to heavier silage feeding. Units for feeding out 5,000 head a year will not be uncommon. Average operators will turn out a minimum of 1,000 head annually. S P F hogs will probably become prominent as operators strive for greater efficiency. Pasturing or partial confinement on pasture will only be practiced by smaller operators. Silage feeding (corn silage and low moisture grass) to sows will be commonly practiced. "Limited feeding" is fast being adopted by hog farmers in an effort to produce leaner meat with a better feed conversion ratio. Putting hogs on limited feed results in a slightly longer feeding period but this is offset by a better market price and lower cost of gain. Manure problems will be greatly increased with these larger setups; however, we don't believe lagoons are the answer. More and more barn cleaners, and augers, are being installed in these units. Mechanical removal of manure into holding tanks looks promising. The manure is turned into a liquid which can be pumped out into a tank spreader, and from here it is spread on the fields to take advantage of its fertilizing value.

SYSTEMATIC FARMING

Some farmers, like Mr. Knute D. Knutson, Rt. No. 3, Janesville, Wisconsin, have a sixth sense for planning their own systematic operation that matches the best of them.

Like many successful farm operations, some of the basic improvements on the 375-acre Knutson farm came slowly over the years . . . but they all fit into one master plan that is now beginning to pay off in a handsome way.

"We're not trying to build a show place here," proclaimed the Norwegian-born Knutson. "We're directing our every effort and plan toward a business farming operation that will make money."

It was back in 1944, just after the Knutsons moved on their newly acquired farm that the step-by-step plans started falling into place. "Even though we have had a basic aim in our planning, we have always allowed for flexibility. This is essential in any good farming operation," observed Knutson. "Change is part of our business."

The past, present, and future as illustrated, shows why the Knutsons' operation is the success that it is.

Son Don, at right, has just obtained a degree in animal husbandry from the University of Wisconsin and is assuming a major role in the expanding farm operation. "He'll take over more and more as time goes on," his father exclaimed. "This is one reason we are planning and investing so strongly for the years ahead."

Lenten Dishes Can Be .

By Jan Palmquist

On Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco, one of the famous restaurants specializes in its crab casserole. To make this, place a layer of crabmeat in a casserole, cover with a layer of cream sauce and sprinkle with lemon juice; add another layer of cream sauce, top with grated sharp cheese and bake. All of which reminds us that it's time to plan meals geared to the Lenten season.

Probably the one food we draw upon most for Lenten fare is seafood although dairy products and eggs offer endless possibilities also. Then there are vegetable dishes upon which we can lavish our imagination in transforming into main dishes. Give your Lenten meals a lift by varying your basic foods.

If you're looking for interesting ideas seafood always provides a ready answer. Creamed tuna needs only a little "face-lifting" by combining with shrimp to become Seafood Supreme or some other tempting main dish, while frozen fish offers marvelous fare.

Versatile cheese combines well with almost any food for an entree — it proves especially delicious when used with shrimp and mushrooms, possibly in a casserole . . . Make wide use of casseroles — try one made up of cheese and shrimp, or one of creamed salmon and parsley rice . . . Plan tempting dishes using eggs and cheese in souffles or omelets.

You'll want to include vegetables in your meal planning also, combining vegetables with sauces in casserole dishes . . . An easy salad with mixed vegetable juices and canned shrimp plus unflavored gelatin lends attractiveness to a Lenten meal. Served in ring style, the molded salad becomes festive enough for guests.

If we sprinkle our Lenten menus with imagination our families will not tire of our cooking and we'll find ourselves using many of these special dishes over and over throughout the year.

Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 15 minutes. Then remove from oven, arrange tomato wedges around fish, season with salt and pepper, and dot with butter. Return to hot oven and bake about 15 minutes longer, or until fish is easily flaked with a fork. Makes 3 servings.

PLANKED FLOUNDER FILLETS

2 packages (12 ounces each) frozen flounder fillets
 2 tablespoons butter, melted
 Salt, pepper, and paprika
 1 package (3½ ounces) whipped potatoes
 1 cup water
 ½ cup milk
 ½ teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons butter
 2 ripe tomatoes, halved
 Grated Parmesan cheese
 1 package (9 ounces) frozen Italian green beans
 4 lemon wedges

Place fish on foil on broiler rack, brush with melted butter, sprinkle with salt, pepper, and paprika, and broil about 4 inches from heat, turning once and basting with butter. Remove fish from broiler when just slightly underdone, about 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, prepare the potatoes with the water, milk, salt, and butter according to package directions or prepare your own mashed potatoes.

Place the fillets on a well-oiled plank. Also, place tomato halves on plank and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. With a pastry tube or spoon, make the potatoes into a decorative border on the edge of the plank. Pipe potato nests to border both sides of fish.

Sprinkle the potatoes with paprika. Place plank under broiler, close to heat, until potatoes are browned, and the fish may be flaked easily with a fork, about 5 minutes. Meanwhile, cook the Italian beans, as the package directs. To serve, place the hot buttered Italian green beans attractively on the plank in potato nests. Garnish the plank with the lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

What's cooking?

At the touch of a button our Magic Mirror Door lights up to let you see how dinner is doing. Another touch and "click"—the door goes dark. If you run short of clean-up time later on, the Magic Mirror Door keeps everything looking neat as a pin until you get to it.

Our new Continental Flameless Electric Range has a surface cooking platform that glides out like a drawer. After dinner, you slide it back in—out of the way. Exclusive pantry shelf holds extra pots and pans. And notice the controls. They're at eye level—

Looks like a built-in, doesn't it? It's not . . . nor does it have the installation expense of a built-in. Stop in and take a peek through our Magic Mirror Door yourself—at your Westinghouse dealer's. Only he has it. You can be sure... if it's

Easter
Egg
Sparkle
For the
Fry

By Susan Lowe

Our children may not be able to participate in the egg rolling contest on the White House lawn but they can have their early morning egg hunt right at home. Whether you use hard boiled eggs that have been colored and decorated or candy eggs is a matter of choice and family tradition of course but even the busiest mother will have time to delight the children on Easter morning with pretty, sparkling baskets that can be made in a few moments with cottage cheese containers and aluminum foil.

Just rinse out the containers, dry and cover with foil. Tape foil so it is secure. Form a handle by folding a strip of foil over and over to make a band about an inch wide and 14 inches long. Tape to sides of basket . . . there it is . . . a sturdy, silver Easter basket. Decorate with ribbon or flowers, held with cellophane tape.

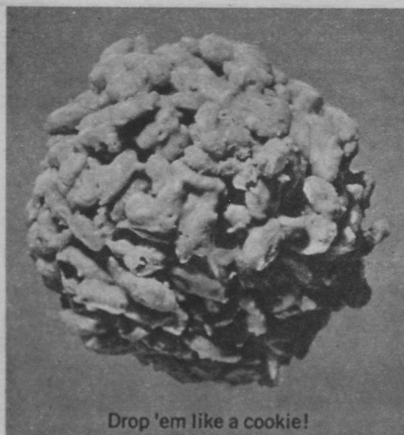

And . . . if you'd like to make Easter breakfast completely trouble free, we suggest the traditional ham and eggs, baked in the oven in "just the right size foil containers", fashioned by your own fingers. Here's the recipe:

Baked Ham and Eggs in Foil: Make foil pans from double thickness of heavy duty foil by turning up edges of foil all around and mitering corners. Pour a little melted butter in each pan. Arrange slices of "ready-to-serve" ham in one pan. Brush with orange marmalade and top with banana slices. Break eggs in second foil pan, pour on 1 tablespoon of cream for each egg and season. Place foil pans on a cookie sheet and bake in a hot oven (400°F.) for 25 minutes or until eggs are done to your liking. When done, slide foil pans onto serving platter and add cinnamon toast sticks kept hot in a foil package to go with this delicious breakfast.

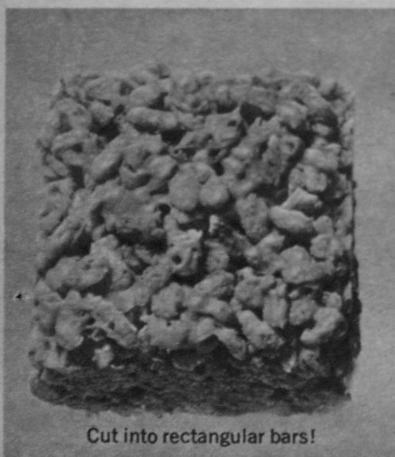

It's fun, too, to decorate a cake in basket fashion, and ever so easy to do if you use an angel food cake for the basis of your operations.

Make your favorite recipe for angel food cake 2 tablespoons vegetable shortening ¼ cup light corn syrup 3 tablespoons water	1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels Your favorite recipe for seven-minute frosting Jelly bean candies

Prepare and bake cake in a 10-inch tube pan. Cool; remove from pan. Combine shortening, light corn syrup and water in saucepan. Bring just to a boil over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; add semi-sweet chocolate morsels and stir until smooth. Prepare seven-minute frosting.

To put together Easter cake, place cake on serving plate, wide end at top. Frost with semi-sweet chocolate frosting. To make wicker design on basket use ¾ of the seven-minute frosting in a cake decorator or paper cone with tip snipped off. Put straight, vertical lines of white frosting at about 1½-inch intervals on chocolate-frosted sides of cake. Fill in between vertical lines with 2 "X's".

Finish with any desired pattern of edging around top rim of cake. Pile remaining frosting in center top of cake to resemble "nest". Fill "nest" with jelly beans. If desired, a basket handle may be made by wrapping ribbon around a strip of paper board; press ends in sides of cake. Yield: 1 10-inch tube cake.

For the best letter received by April 1, 1963, we'll give a weekend for two in Chicago, Minneapolis or Kansas City, your choice. A luxurious suite at the Ambassador East Hotel in Chicago, the Leamington in Minneapolis or the Bellerive in Kansas City. Wonderful meals. The best show or sporting event in town.

Just write to Jim Murray, Travel Editor, in care of this newspaper.

● Midwesterners are pouring into California at the rate of 5,000 a month, 1,000 of them with the intention of moving there for good. California is full of wonderful things to see, seashore, mountains, valleys and cities. It is also a real madhouse in some areas, with many problems because of too many people and cars. Plan your California trip carefully, talk with others who have been there recently and, if you get the move-to-California bug, look around carefully before picking your spot. We'll have some wonderful stories on California for you soon.

● Florida is the favorite winter resort of the Midwest because it's: 1) relatively close and 2) usually warm. You can't be sure of swimming weather during December and January, but when it is clear and warm, Florida can be just beautiful. Lots of variety here—beaches and pools, wilderness areas, exciting cities, all sorts of sports events. Many travelers now go on to the islands not far away—Jamaica, Virgin Islands, the Bahamas. Even those of us who won't ever go there like to read about these fabulous tropical places.

● Hawaii—Our new state has always been the dream vacation and travel to Hawaii has zoomed recently. By ship or air it's a beautiful trip and, if your stay there is well-planned, it's a fabulous experience. We can't all remain long enough to learn how to ride a surfboard, but the flowers, mountains, food and people are wonderful. A day or two in San Francisco or Seattle would be frosting on the cake.

● The East—In summer and fall Eastern United States is a big favorite. Go to Washington to see how the government is run—more of us should. If you like history the area is full of it. New England is terrific in the fall. Very interesting in summer too. New York is great to some people, a mess to others.

● We'll talk later about Latin countries too. You'll be surprised how many Americans travel to Europe, South America, even Asia, Africa and Australia. The old globe is getting to be about the size of a basketball.

● When all the dreaming is done many of us will, from choice or necessity, vacation in the good old Midwest. Some of us even enjoyed this brutal winter. Lakes and streams will call us soon and we should give thanks that so many wonderful water spots are right close to home. Some resort areas offer a great deal more than others—let's talk, report back and forth, on those most interested in giving vacationers their money's worth.

Lots of real good information on trips anywhere is available without obligation. Write for it direct or through this column.
