A. J. Sevener to Retire from D&M RR Aug. 15

Austin J. Sevener, vice president and auditor of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company, retires August 15 after 18 years with the firm.

"Mr. Sevener has earned the respect and admiration of his many friends and associates and carries with him their best wishes for a long and happy retirement," states Charles A. Pinkerton Jr., president of the D&M.

Assuming duties of auditor of the company is Paul J. Sullivan, who had worked under Sevener since last January.

While Mr. Sevener joined the railway company July 15, 1946, he had worked for the D&M in 1919-1920 in the Bay City traffic department. He was born at Montrose and grew up at Bay City.

His first railroad experience was in the freight and passenger office of the Detroit, Bay City and Western Railroad in 1918. In the early part of 1919, he joined the D&M and in early 1920 returned to the DBC&W.

He left railroading in 1921 to become traffic manager and assistant manager of Bradley, Miller and Company, Bay City lumber manufacturer. After serving that firm for 12 years, he became auditor and treasurer of the Detroit, Caro and Sandusky Railroad, a position he held until the early summer of 1946.

On his arrival here, Sevener had charge of modernizing the D&M's records system. He had charge of incorporating a Burroughs accounting machine system into the auditor department in 1948 and installation of an IBM system in 1957.

Mr. Sevener and his wife are to take a short vacation trip "and then I want to engage in some useful activity," he stated. "While I like fishing, I do not want to make fishing my only activity during the remainder of my days."

His successor was born and raised in Springfield, Illinois, and had been in the accounting department of the Chicago and Illinois Midland Railroad Company for 25 years before joining the D&M. He and his wife are the parents of six children.

TA Board Accepts Bids on Supplies for 1964-65 Term

Bids on furnishing fuel oil, gasoline, milk and bread were opened at Monday night's meeting of the board of education. All but one were tabled for action at the next meeting.

Awarded the contract to furnish milk and dairy products for the school's 1964-65 term program was Nelkie's Dairy. Bid entered was 53 cents per one-half pint of milk, 15 cents per pound for cottage cheese, 95 cents per dozen for 10 cent ice cream bars and 48 cents per dozen for five cent ice cream bars.

A bid had been entered by Trustee Clyde Soper to furnish milk and dairy products, but before opening bids, he requested it be withdrawn. Soper said he learned that, according to law, a board member could not engage in more than $500 worth of business a year with the school district. His action withdrawing the bid drew praise from Board President Leonard Sarki and members of the board.

Bids on furnishing fuel oil were as follows: Leonard Refineries—No. 5, 9.65 cents per gallon; No. 6, 8.45 cents per gallon; Bay Refinery—No. 5, 9.71 cents per gallon; No. 6, 8.41 cents per gallon; Barbier Gas and Oil—No. 6 only, 8.59 cents per gallon; Bublitz Oil Company—No. 5, 8.78 cents per gallon; No. 6, 7.93 cents per gallon. All bids were to remain firm for the school year with the exception of Bublitz Oil Company's, which fluctuates with the market.

Announce Census Totals for Schools

According to the 1964 school census, Isosco County has a total of 7,196 youngsters between the ages of five and 19 years and 3,361 children under five years of age.

Total enrollment of county schools last September was 6,992 students.

The report released August 6 by County Supt. of Schools William F. Tracy was as follows:

Hale Area School District had 139 children under five years and 490 between the ages of five and 19; Oscoda Area, 2,136 under five and 3,500 between five and 19; Tawas Area School District, 796 under five and 2,228 between five and 19; Whittemore-Prescott, 290 children under five and 978 between the ages of five and 19.

Study Urban Renewal Program in Tawas City

A preliminary survey to determine if Tawas City would be eligible for urban renewal funds was made last week by a field representative of the Urban Renewal Administration.

Meeting with Mayor George Tuttle and Planning Commission Chairman Hugo J. Keiser was William Boyd, URA field representative.

"A number of factors remain to be studied before any official action can be taken but there is a good possibility that the city may be eligible for URA funds, if they are so desired," said Keiser.

Preliminary talks concerned the possibility of revamping of the business district along US-23 from Mathews Street to the county building. Through joint federal and local participation, the plan would call for removing present commercial buildings and construction of a new business district elsewhere.

While emphasizing that the above mentioned plan was only in the talking stage, Keiser said that any merchant or property owner interested in a program of this type should contact the planning commission.

The commission chairman said the city would know more about the possibility of such a program once an economic survey was completed to determine financial capabilities of the city.

"This is not something that will take place overnight, but, if at all successful, would require a number of years of study," said Keiser.

A step in the right direction has already been taken by the city through organization of a legally constituted planning commission, which presently is completing work on a comprehensive zoning ordinance as part of an over-all future master plan for the city.

TA Students to Register Week of August 24

Registration for Tawas Area Junior and Senior High School students will be the week of August 24 to 28, according to Principal Ernest Jordan.

This year, as usual, there will be no special days for each grade. A student may register on any day convenient to him, regardless of grade. Office hours are from 9:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

All students are expected to enroll on these days. If any student is unable to enroll at this time because of work or being out of town, he is required to call the

Highway Department Makes Study of State Right-of-Way Widths

Michigan State Highway Department will study right-of-way widths along its nearly 10,000 miles of highways with an eye toward possibly returning excess land to private owners.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said last week in testimony prepared for an interim senate study committee on roadside advertising the question would not be decided until at least next year.

By then, a four-man governor-appointed highway commission will have replaced Mackie under terms of the new constitution.

Mackie said highway rights-of-way vary in width because of longstanding policy to increase scenic values in some areas by maintaining forest buffers along routes.

"Unfortunately, the program did not mature nationally due to World War II and subsequent changes in national policy," he said.

Now, he said, the state must reassess the rights-of-way "against our predictable highway needs to 1980 because it would be a serious waste of the taxpayers' money to return right-of-way today if we had to buy it back tomorrow."

He said if excess rights-of-way are located, the commission could consider selling them to individuals or turning them over to other public agencies for use.

Oscoda Opens First

Oscoda Area Schools will open for teachers Wednesday, August 26, and for students on Monday, August 31. All other schools in the county, including the parochial schools, will open Tuesday, September 8, the day after Labor Day.

High school office and notify the secretary that he will be in attendance this coming year.

If any student is considering a change in his classes, it is imperative that he register during these days. No classes are to be changed after September 1.

Principal Jordan most urgently requests that all fees be paid during this time. Fees established by the board of education are as follows: Book deposit, $5 per family; shop fee, $5 per year; art fee, $3 per year; mechanical drawing, $2 per year; chemistry and physics, $1 breakage ticket.

There are some official fees, band and chorus, that are payable on entry into the class. The only refundable fees are book deposits, band and chorus. Workbooks are to be paid for after classes start.

Any new student to the area is urgently requested to call the office of the elementary principal or the high school principal immediately.

Senior pictures are to be taken at the school August 24, 25 and 26.

REDEEM CERTIFICATES

Merchants in the area who have not redeemed their Perchville gift certificates are requested to do so by September 8, states Miss Lucy Toska, Tawas Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Federal Grant OK'd for County's New Medi-Care Facility

Approval of a $250,000 grant from Hill-Burton Funds to aid in construction of a 50-bed nursing home here was announced Friday.

Notification was received through a telegram from United States Senators Phillip Hart and Patrick McNamara.

Clarence Everett, who headed the board of supervisors' successful campaign for the new nursing home, said he believed the federal government's action on this allocation was "the fastest on record."

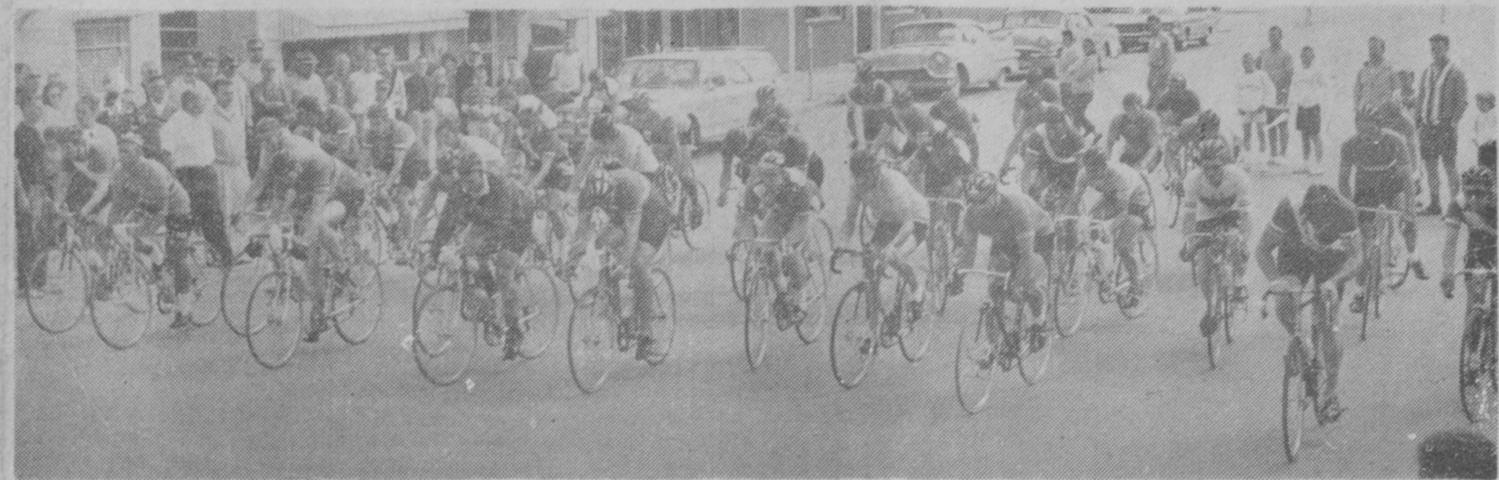

Everett said that the application was mailed to Washington, D. C., only three weeks ago.

On June 2, voters of Isosco County gave overwhelming approval to $300,000 bond issue to finance construction of the nursing home. Matching this will be the above $250,000 Hill-Burton grant.

Everett said that meetings would be held in about three weeks to discuss construction plans for the new facility.

Myles Manages Local Campaign for Romney

Starting line for the second annual Lumbermen's Monument Tour

Field of 40 Cyclists Compete in Races

Vince Muzzin of Detroit was crowned champion Saturday of the second annual Lumbermen's Monument 50-mile tour sponsored by the Tawas Chamber of Commerce.

Muzzin and Olaf Moetus, Indiana, second place winner, jumped into an early lead and were far ahead of a field of 40 cyclists over most of the course, which started and finished on East Tawas' State Street.

The two front-runners crossed the finish line nearly simultaneously.

Muzzin being clocked at one hour, 54 minutes, 57 seconds, while Moetus was only a fraction of a second behind.

The winning time was very fast despite a strong head wind. Muzzin and Moetus were so far out in front at Oscoda that the rest of the field missed a turn on River Road and then had to retrace the way back to the race course.

"We are very happy with the success of this year's race and look to an even better one next year," said Leonard Calabrese of East Tawas, who was co-director with Bill Swetland of Detroit.

While the field did not reach the 50 cyclists as expected, quality of riders was tops. Calabrese explained that many of the riders have qualified for the 1964 Olympic trials to be held in New York. Muzzin won Sunday's road race at Cleveland, Ohio, his sixth first place in pre-Olympic events.

Finishing behind the front runners were Sam McCall, Detroit, third; Angelo Beraldo, Hamilton, Ontario, fourth; Larry Miller, Indiana, fifth; Giovanni Piccoli, Hamilton, Ontario, sixth; Bill Olsen, Detroit, seventh; Aldo Sfalchini, Windsor, Ontario, eighth; Don Albertson, Detroit, ninth; Dave Blase, Indiana, 10th; Steve Weisenthal, Detroit, 11th.

Friday night's sprint program was probably the most interesting to spectators and a large crowd lined West State and Newman Streets. Winning the "miss and out" and five-mile handicap were Blase, class A; Eric Kroll, Detroit, class C; Weisenthal, junior; Joe Varisco, Buffalo, New York, class B.

Occupational Education Program for Tawas A.

Twenty area merchants and businesses are to cooperate in a new occupational educational program for boys starting this fall at Tawas Area High School. Supervising the program will be Robert Reasner, vocational instructor.

Principal Ernest Jordan reports that a student would spend two or more hours a day gaining on-the-job experience at the cooperating business. In addition to academic credit received from the school, he would be paid the minimum wage by the business.

Through arrangements with the state, work permits would be waived and the student would be covered by workmen's compensation insurance, thereby relieving the business of double liability.

Board Approves Shower Room Plan; Hire Custodian; OK Trophy Transfer

Preliminary plans for renovating the dressing and shower room at the Tawas City Elementary Unit gymnasium were approved Monday night by the board of education.

The program as adopted calls for removing walls in the boiler room and coal bin and converting the area for usable facilities.

An exhaust arrangement is to be planned through use of the building's chimney.

Supt. Reynolds Mick reported he had preliminary plans for two routes by which the elementary unit could be served by natural gas. The school administration was authorized to select the route and ask for bids on converting the oil-fired boiler to gas.

In other business, the board authorized hiring Roy Wright as a full time custodian. He is to perform some of the maintenance duties handled by Fred Bublitz, who had charge of maintenance at the school and is presently recuperating from a serious illness. An arrangement may be worked out whereby maintenance work is contracted.

Principal Ernest W. Jordan Jr. submitted a tentative list of bus drivers for the coming school year.

Miss Clara Bolen, elementary principal, reported that, as of Monday, elementary grades now had one extra teacher. Mrs. Orville Moore, who stated earlier she would not be available this fall, has reconsidered and accepted a contract. Mrs. Waldo Leslie is to teach third grade. Miss Viola Groff, who retired last spring, was asked to teach again this fall and has accepted a contract.

Niles reported that the Isosco County Board of Education is considering the possibility of joining the Alcona, Alpena, Montmorency Intermediate School District.

He has served the past four years as band director at Atlanta High School, where his band program proved to be very successful. Salamony plans to finish work on his master degree next summer at Duquesne University.

He and his wife, Karen, are the parents of two girls.

Tawas Area High School Band will make its first appearance under the new director during the coming football season.

THE WORLD'S FINEST USED CARS ARE BUILT BY CADILLAC.

To prove our point, we offer as evidence the three Cadillacs shown above.

From top to bottom in our illustration are a 1960 Sedan de Ville, a 1962 Coupe de Ville and a 1963 Sixty Special. Each is unmistakably Cadillac. Each, regardless of vintage, will have special appeal to the man who desires the comfort, convenience and pride of ownership that only Cadillac can offer.

That's why thousands of wise car buyers favor a previously owned Cadillac over new cars of other makes. First of all, they realize that Cadillac engineering is so far advanced that "newness" becomes a relative term. In fact, there are features found on late model Cadillacs that are only now being offered on other cars. This is a major reason why a Cadillac retains its value through the years, from buyer to buyer.

Another thing to consider. Cadillac owners lavish the most meticulous care on the cars they are so proud to own. The "car of cars" almost always receives regular maintenance and servicing by highly skilled and carefully trained mechanics.

Your authorized Cadillac dealer's selection of one-owner models has never before been so appealing. And he can probably match one of these fine cars to your budget.

Who knows? Your used Cadillac could possibly be the "newest" car you've ever owned!

IMPORTANT PUBLIC NOTICE

TO THE VOTERS OF IOSCO COUNTY: TO THE VOTERS OF GRANT TOWNSHIP:

I hereby make this statement publicly in order to make clear my reasons and cause for resigning from the IOSCO COUNTY SHERIFF DEPARTMENT. I was an Iosco County deputy sheriff from August 1963 to August 1, 1964. From May 1964 to August 1, 1964, I was a full time deputy sheriff, serving as county watercraft enforcement officer. I resigned my commission as an Iosco County deputy sheriff on August 1, 1964, for the following reason:

As an United States citizen, a veteran and a taxpayer, I believe in the right of any citizen to run for public office, should they so desire, without fear of reprisal. I am running for supervisor of Grant Township. When the sheriff found that I was exercising the right, and when he was informed by the present supervisor of Grant Township about my running from first hand experience that what Robert Rollin has been trying Grant Township he would have to honor the request of the present supervisor to fire me and I would be back where I started. I therefore resigned on the spot. I believe that it is my right to run for public office should I desire, without fear of losing a job. Particularly when it is so necessary that new supervisor administration be given to Grant Township. I list the following reasons why I am running for supervisor.

1. Better township government.
  2. A review of all tax rolls.
  3. Better police protection throughout the township.
  4. I want to immediately assist the Grant Township farm areas in getting improved roads using every available means.
  5. The people have indicated that they want a change.
  6. The people have indicated that they want action not excuses.
- Furthermore, I publicly support Robert Rollin, the Republican candidate for sheriff in the September 1st Primary Election. I left the Iosco County Sheriff Department on August 1, 1964. I know from first hand experience that what Robert Rollin has been trying ing to explain to you, the public, about the conditions at the Iosco County Sheriff Department are true and factual: The county dog pound is a filthy disgrace, I know, I had to slaughter many, many dogs in that hole. County jail inmates are not controlled the way they should be in my opinion and we need an emergency radio system so badly that I do not understand how people in Iosco County can even remotely think that they are getting the county law enforcement they are paying for. ROLLIN IS RIGHT and he should be supported by every right thinking voter in Iosco County.

I AM NOT BEING VINDICTIVE, I AM TRYING TO BE OBJECTIVE. I COULD NOT TAKE THE CONDITIONS AT THE SHERIFF DEPARTMENT AS THEY NOW EXIST.

VOTE FOR Robert "Bob" ROLLIN

for SHERIFF IOSCO COUNTY

REPUBLICAN TICKET

September 1 Primary

ROLLIN ANSWERS MORE QUESTIONS ON SHERIFF'S OFFICE

Q: Bob, there has been some conversations about the county that your proposed Emergency Radio System would cost a lot of money. What about it?

A: Nothing valuable comes for free—even to counties. But remember there are corresponding savings. Companies running fleets of service trucks and taxicabs have found that radio dispatch earns money by saving money on unnecessary runs and making one trip do two or three jobs. In any case, such equipment can be budgeted over a period of years, and some counties have even installed it experimentally without cost for upwards of a year to determine for themselves its worth before purchasing it. And I know of no place where it was ever taken out when once installed.

Q: Do many counties have radio dispatched patrol cars?

A: Yes, 64 out of 69 of the Lower Peninsula counties now have complete radio service. There may have been a time when our sheriff's department was a pace setter, but that apparently was a long time ago.

Q: Is an animal shelter an extravagance?

A: Humaneness is not an extravagance. It is necessary. As for the cost, should I be elected, many people in the building trades have committed their support with time, tools and materials to provide the county with a decent, clean, Humane Society approved animal shelter at minimum cost. Much of the labor for this project can be obtained from supervised county jail inmates. This is desirable use for these men's idle time, and they should never be used for private gain on tree farms or private building projects working for "cigarette money."

Q: Is the dog pound sufficiently important to be a serious campaign issue?

A: As I go from door to door speaking to Iosco County citizens, I get the clear impression that the present sheriff's department takes the dog shelter quite lightly, and responsibility has been laid on the Board of Supervisors. As far as I am concerned, the dog pound is no joke. The sheriff, some years ago, by his own request in order to obtain an additional deputy, took over the duties of the Dog Warden. The maintaining of the pound, the feeding, watering and caring for the animals and their wholesale slaughter are the responsibility of the sheriff and no one else. Just read what one former citizen thinks of the way this job has been done.

Dear Mr. Rollin,

July 31, 1964

I agree with you, the most deplorable and scandalous thing is the condition of the Dog Pound. First let me tell you, five and one half years ago, my husband and I moved to Logan, Utah, when the Anderson Coach Company set up a plant here. Except for these years, all my life has been spent in Tawas and East Tawas. I was born in Tawas and received my education there. When the people out here have asked what my home state was, I tell them Michigan and what a wonderful place it is. Then I tell them about my home town, how everyone works together and it is a beautiful city. I have always been so proud of my home town, but not now after you have disclosed the condition of the City Pound. Those conditions are a disgrace to the community. The county officials as well as the city officials should be ashamed. I know the people who voted for those officials put their faith in them and I feel that many taxpayers, especially those who love and own pets will be infuriated at the conditions of the Dog Pound that you described, there is no excuse for those conditions.

I believe every city should be able to afford a clean, decent place for homeless animals. A little dog or cat isn't to blame because he is born and has no one who wants him or he hasn't good owners. Then why are they treated so cruel and inhumanely?

So many people wonder what the Dog Taxes go for. There are taxes for schools, roads, etc. But what about the dog tax? Shouldn't it go for the benefit of the animals who have no one to care for them? I'm sure people who have pets would be happy to know the tax money they pay for their pets went to help animals less fortunate.

In Logan City, they have a new Animal Control Ordinance. The dogs are not punished but the owners are fined if they neglect, abuse or abandon an animal. The dogs picked up are kept five days in clean pens at the Veterinaries, if at the end of that time no homes are available for them or their owners have not claimed them, some have to be put to sleep—in a humane manner.

I belong to the Cache Valley Humane Society and we are affiliated with the American Humane Society of Denver, Colorado. The Herald Journal, the local paper, co-operated with us in putting articles and pictures of lost pets in the paper without charge. Enclosed is a sample. I read the article about the boys who abandoned a dog at Tawas Point. I'd like to tell them they betrayed their Best Friend because I believe a man's Best Friend is his dog. He gives so much in companionship, love and devotion; when the going is rough he still stands by and asks so little in return—food, shelter and a kind word occasionally.

I agree with you, Iosco County needs a change and I hope you become the new Sheriff. I know you will do your duties well.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Pearl Parker

Story of Westward Expansion Shown in Movie at Family Theatre

Starting today (Wednesday) and running through August 18, Metro-Goldwyn Mayer Cinerama production, "How the West Was Won," will be shown at popular prices, uncut, at the Family Theatre, East Tawas.

In brief, the story traces the movement of settlers down the Ohio River valleys; gold rush days, with a covered wagon train attacked by Indians in the biggest such battle ever staged for any motion picture; the Civil War, with the Battle of Shiloh; transcontinental railroad sequence, and bringing of law and order to the Southwest, the last stronghold of the western outlaws.

The cast includes Carroll Baker, Lee J. Cobb, Henry Fonda, Carolyn Jones, Karl Malden, Gregory Peck, George Peppard, Robert Preston, Debbie Reynolds, James Stewart, Eli Wallach, John Wayne and Richard Widmark. Co-stars are Brigid Bazlen, Walter Brennan, David Brian, Andy Devine, Raymond Massey, Agnes Moorehead, Henry (Harry) Morgan, Thelma Ritter, Mickey Shaughnessy and Russ Tamblyn.

TC Indies Move to Top Rung in NEM; Key Game Sunday

Behind good clutch hitting and pitching, Tawas City Indies took over top rung in the NEM League Sunday with a 7-1 victory over Comins. The Indies have nine wins and three losses, one more win than Hale, which was losing to East Tawas. Next Sunday's game between Tawas City and East Tawas will be an important one in final standings. The Indies of Manager Harold Rollin downed Les Bethard's Bears June 7 on a ninth inning homer by Ken Blust. The locals collected eight hits off a pair of visiting Comins pitchers and had a total of six earned runs and 10 runners left on bases. Dick Doak started on the mound for Tawas City and allowed four hits in eight and two-thirds innings. Herm Rollin pitched to the last batter in the eighth inning and allowed one hit in the ninth. Doak struck out two batters and walked none. Rollin struck out two and walked one.

Tawas City scored two runs in the opening inning when Jim Herriman singled, Chum Lorenz was hit by the pitcher and both runners advanced on a bunt by Gracik. Ken Blust was hit by a pitched ball thrown by Kahn and Rollin walked to force in Herriman. Olen Herriman hit a fly ball to center and Lorenz scored after the catch. Comins scored its lone run in the second on two singles. The winners scored three in the third when Blust was safe on an error and Rollin walked. Consecutive singles by O. Herriman, Don Lear and Doak scored three runs. Final two runs of the game came when J. Herriman opened the fourth with a double. Lorenz walked, Gracik singled to score Herriman. Blust, Rollin and Herriman were infield outs, but Lorenz scored. Top hitters for the winners were J. Herriman, Gracik and Doak, who had two hits apiece. W. Wild-

Registration Week Set At Oscoda Schools Monday, August 17, through Friday, August 21, has been designated as pre-enrollment and registration week at Oscoda Area Junior and Senior High School, according to Donald J. Wagner, principal. New students to the area, who will be entering grades nine-12 in September, are requested to phone the high school office at SE 9-9121 and make an appointment with James J. Alexander, guidance director, to register and make course selections for the coming school year. Students pre-enroll and register at the principal's office in the new high school building located two miles west of Oscoda on River Road. New students, who will be entering grades seven and eight in September, may come to the office at any time during this period and register. The junior high school course is predetermined, thus making it unnecessary for individual course selections. All new students are requested to bring their medical records and last school years report cards and any other school records which they may have with them, at the time of registration and pre-enrollment. According to Wagner, this is the final pre-enrollment and registration period before school begins Monday, August 31. Parents are invited to accompany their children during pre-enrollment and registration.

East Tawas Bears Drop Hale to Tighten Race

A two-run uprising by the East Tawas Bears in the ninth inning of Sunday's game to defeat Hale, 4-3, has turned the NEM League's National Division topsy-turvy. The Bears, with an eight and four record, are still in the thick of the pennant race behind Tawas City, Hale and Mikado. Until two batters were out in the ninth inning, the Bears were having trouble with Grant Mousseau, starter for Hale. Although the Bears collected a total of seven hits during the game, 12 East Tawas batters were strike out victims. Hale scored two runs in the bottom of the first when both Rick Schaum and Lee Bielby reached first base on errors. Romanik popped to short, but Bud Johnson reached first on a throwing error. Schaum scoring. Mousseau was hit by the pitcher to load the sacks. Perry Shellenbarger delivered a single to score Bielby, but Johnson was out. Humphrey walked and Hewitt ended the inning with an infield out. East Tawas tied the game in the top of the third when, after Backschie's forced Bolen at first, J. Erickson struck out and Jordan singled to score both runners. Berry struck out to end the inning. Hale's third run came in the bottom of the third inning when Romanik led off with a homer. Final runs of the game were scored when, after Sanders and Bob Erickson were infield outs, Larry Frank singled. Bolen walked. Sventko singled to score Frank and Bolen scored on a Hale fielding error. Berry led the winners with two hits and Romanik topped the losers with two hits. Bolen, winning pitcher, allowed five hits, struck out seven, walked one and hit one batter. Hale plays host this Sunday to Prescott while the big game will be at East Tawas between the Bears and Tawas City.

It didn't just happen—this successful family business at the neatly-manicured Solberg Stock Farm in Palo Alto County, Iowa. First there has been the matter of family teamwork—togetherness in field work, chores and community service. Second powerful motivating force has been the training of the Solberg daughter, Lilith, and son, Linus, received in 4-H and Future Farmer club work.

by M. Vandervelde

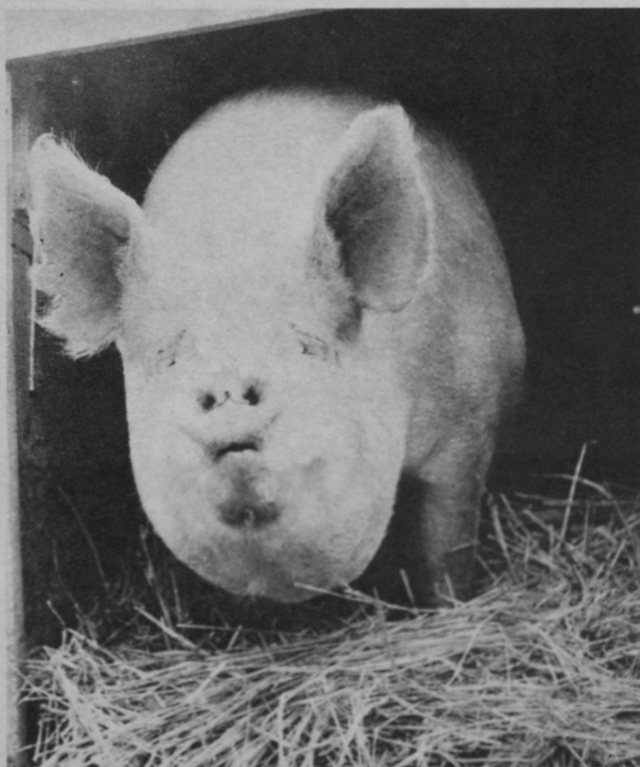

At 21, maximum club age, Linus stepped into partnership with his father in raising registered breeding stock. Their first cooperative project was when Mr. Solberg gave Linus, at the age of 12, his first club calf. From that modest start (and with no other hand-outs) Linus skyrocketed his holdings to his present 400 Yorkshire and Hampshire pigs per year—plus a good start in Suffolk sheep and Shorthorn cows. He has acquired a staggering assortment of blue ribbons and medals. But, best of all, this interest has made Linus a working partner with his father since he was 12 years old.

From keeping club record books the boy has stepped into income tax records. And from that one-calf start, Linus' livestock projects have boosted him to considerable net worth. But this transition hasn't been as simple as it may sound. It costs a lot of money to get started in registered stock (Linus now owns half interest in a $1000 boar). Also, quite a tidy sum, each spring, to register all the offspring. Pedigree certificates come to $200-$300 a year, and advertising in the breed journals about the same. All this is big business for a boy—and more work than you may imagine.

"To begin with, though," Linus told me, "there was just that little Hereford calf—and big dreams. I guess I was prouder of that first calf Dad gave me, than of anything I ever owned. Even if it didn't win a single ribbon.—You don't have to be a winner to enjoy club work."

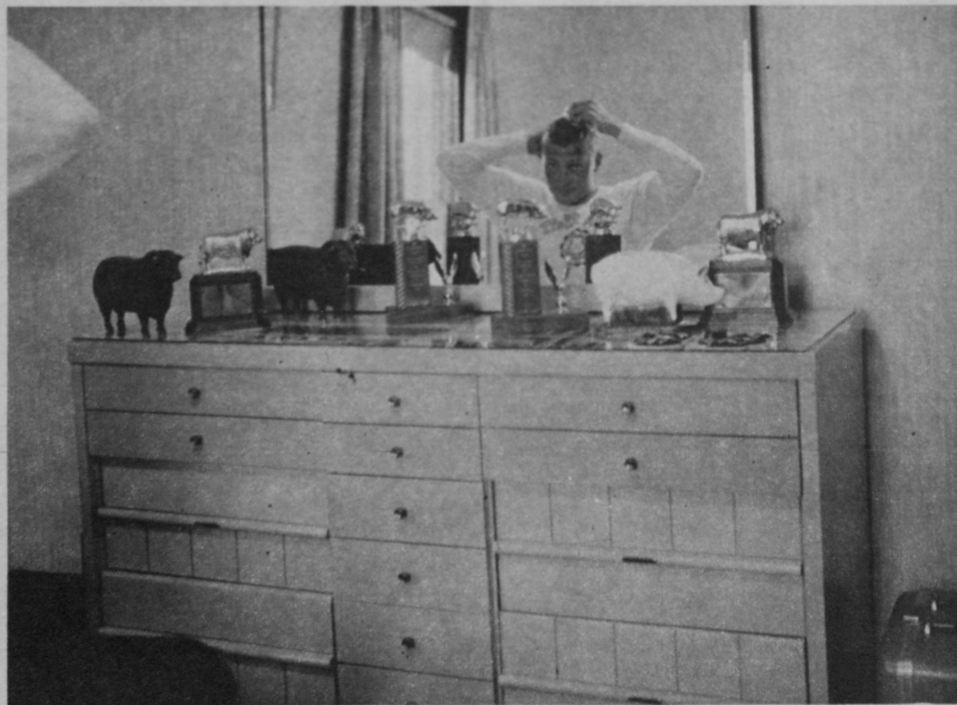

The launching pad for showing club calves is the county fair. This is home ground—where aunts, uncles and cousins

The Shaping of a Farmer

Dowerger Esther is still turning out the prize-winning progeny at the Solberg Stock Farm.

Linus learned at an early age, his mother says, that a club member must be well-groomed himself, when he shows his livestock. Judges watch that. On the dresser, here, are some of the trophies Linus has won.

by the dozens crowd the front lines to cheer THEIR girl or boy's entry. Peak experience for Linus may have been at the one Palo Alto County Fair when he exhibited BOTH top selections of the judges—Grand Champion Baby Beef and the Reserve Champion. A two-in-one record hard to beat.

"That Grand Champ wore an artificial tail," laughed Linus. "And if you think it's easy to pick up a switch for a steer, you just try to buy one!"

That false tail, a legitimate piece of equipment, had been mighty hard to come by. But Linus was determined, knowing that without it his bob-tailed baby beef would really be handicapped in the show ring.

"You can't walk into a shop that handles toupes and switches for folks, and buy a hair-piece for a steer's tail," Linus went on. "I finally alerted our veterinary to be on the lookout for a switch with just the proper reddish cast."

As it happened, just before fair time a rendering-works truck picked up a dead cow—minus a tail. The veterinary had spotted the corpse before the rendering works did.

Two years after the Solberg calves took the two top places at that one fair, Linus produced another Grand Champion Baby Beef—also the Champion Market Pig at that county fair. And the following year he exhibited another Grand Champion Baby Beef (this was three years in succession) and the Champion Market Pig (two successive years). There had been plenty of stiff competition each year.

"But there were a lot of times I didn't win a thing," Linus told me. "You do your best raising and training an animal; then you lose or you win. Either way, you forget about it, you're so busy getting some ready for the next fair."

After the county fairs, Linus often took his stock to Iowa State Fair, Waterloo Cattle Congress, Austin, Minnesota Barrow Show, or the U. S. Type Conference. At these nationally known shows the Solberg stock rated high placings. And some of Linus' entries went (after he had sold them) on to the American Royal and Chicago International Stock Show to make names for themselves there.

Lilith Solberg, in the meantime, was becoming stiff competition in the show ring for her brother. At one county fair the judges placed this 12-year-old girl's lamb higher than the lamb entry of Linus. Solbergs took the two lambs to the State Fair, where those judges reversed the placings! Family competition became so keen that the parents had to observe strict neutrality.

Early in his club work Linus developed a desire to get into top bloodlines, both in cattle and pigs. His father wondered if this might be a luxury they could not afford.

Finally he told the boy, "You can give it a try. But you'll have to prove that these expensive animals pay out, or we'll drop pedigrees like a hot potato."

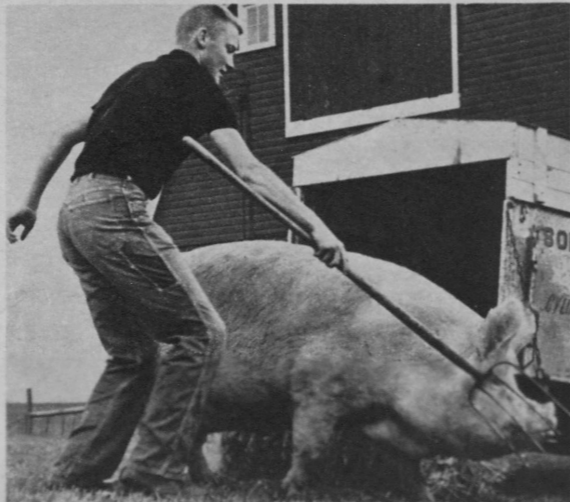

So, one day Linus drove the family pickup into the Solberg farmyard, after the National Barrow sale, and unloaded: (1) Esther, Yorkshire Grand Champion sow for which he'd paid $510; (2) the Reserve Grand Champion boar of that show, that had cost him nearly twice as much. Small wonder there was, that day, some consternation at Solbergs. Fact is, Linus himself began to wonder about those aristocratic hogs. Esther and the boar had better pay off!

Esther immediately got down to business. At Iowa State Fair she became Reserve Junior Yearling All-American of the Yorkshire Association. Esther placed second at the fair and her daughter won Reserve Grand Champion at the same show!

From Esther's first litter, one pig sold for $240, another brought $800. The next year Esther was taking honors as Grand Champion at Clay County Fair, herself, while two of her litter (Bomber 1st and Bomber 2nd) brought $1100 and Linus helps his father, Irving, rig up a machine to spray the corn. Irving says that raising a club animal, keeping books on feed costs, etc., then the show-ring experience "win or lose" have been good training for his boy.

$1025, respectively, at the National Barrow sale. And at the same time and place Rocket (the Bombers' brother) was made Grand Champion boar—and Angela (also from this litter!) became Grand Champion sow of the breed. That was a valuable litter of Bombers, Rockets and Angels. And there was another littermate, Angel, whom Linus sold for $430. But, after Angel had been sold, Linus decided he couldn't part with her, so he bought her back. Angel returned to Solbergs, where she is now producing small angels. And Esther, the matriarch, is there, turning out prize-winning progeny.

Following graduation from high school, Linus enrolled for a quarter of Farm Operation at Iowa State University. There, he carried 18 credit hours of class work: Ag Engineering, Metal Work, Soils, Livestock Production, Economics, Farm Management. Then, part of the following winter he spent at Lackland Air Force Base in the employ of Uncle Sam. Now he attends National Guard sessions, and a two-weeks training session each summer.

While at Lackland, Linus felt some concern for a certain foursome of pigs back on the Iowa farm—he was to show them at the Harrisburg Pennsylvania Type Conference as soon as he got home. It furnished his parents some amusement that Linus' letters to them contained detailed directions about care, handling and attention given those pigs. He wrote details about diet, about providing the right type floor to strengthen the pigs' legs, etc.

Linus did take those porkers to the Harrisburg show. From their winnings, one might assume his parents made pretty good pig "sitters."

What of the future for a club boy who has just outgrown club work? Linus will stay with livestock farming, continuing to specialize in registered breeding stock.

When meat and potatoes aren't on the agenda for the meal of the day, "Lima Souffle Sandwiches" are a good substitute. The sandwiches are open-faced style, with hot, cooked California large dry limas arranged on toast and a fluffy cheese soufflé mixture spooned over each. Broiled until puffed and a golden brown, they're a tasty dish served with bacon curls, sliced tomatoes and cucumber. Ice-cold watermelon slices are a cool and easy dessert to wind up this supper.

Sandwich

Winds blowing and waving the fields of golden grain usually stir memories or thoughts of some type by all who view them. I think of Maltbie Davenport Babcock's words from "Give Us This Day Our Daily Bread".

"Back of the loaf is the snowy flour,
And back of the flour the mill,
And back of the mill is the wheat and the shower,
And the Sun and the Father's will."

We do many things with flour, but most commonly we use it for bread in sandwiches. The sandwich was invented by John Montagu, 4th Earl of Sandwich. He was quite a gambler. In fact he gambled so often he couldn't take time to even break for dinner. His solution was to have a slice of beef or venison brought into the gaming tables between two slices of bread. Hence, the sometimes thought of as lowly sandwich was invented. There are many lively things that can be done with sandwiches and I invite you to examine them with me.

Home Sweet Home . . . . in a Silo

by Andrew E. Elko

Motorists driving near State Route 44 in Newbury, Ohio, often slam on their brakes and do a double take at what they think they see.

"Why, that silo looks just like a house. And it looks as if there are people living in it."

Right. Both times.

What people actually see is two silos—18 feet high—that have been joined in the middle to form a house, complete with roof, and doors and windows.

Two bachelors, Frank Burns, forty, and Steve Miner, thirty-seven, live in The Silo House and are antique dealers with an enterprising eye.

"We deal in the unusual and distinctive," says Burns, the owner, "Why shouldn't our house be the same? Besides, cornerless rooms are perfect for housecleaning."

Originally designed as an office-headquarters for a silo manufacturing concern about eight years ago, the unusual structure has been remodeled into a conventional home. It boasts four rooms, each sixteen feet in diameter—a circular parlor and kitchen on the main floor, and a bedroom and den upstairs (reached by a circular staircase, of course).

There is a partial third, or semi-silo, that connects the two main structures. This portion contains the storage space, bathroom, and utility room. It also conceals a furnace which supplies the Silo House with oil-fired heat. A deep well provides an independent water system, and a TV antenna atop the roof proclaims to one and all that this is truly a home, sweet home.

Located in the rolling hills of northeastern Ohio's Geauga county, in the heart of the area's maple syrup belt, the Silo House attracts many visitors each year.

"People cannot resist stopping in," say the two partners, smiling wisely. "After their curiosity has been satisfied they feel guilty about leaving without buying something."

Burns and Miner, who specialize in art-glass collections, have had visitors from as far as Maine—partly to see their antique display, but mostly to get a glimpse of their unique home.

The Silo House is a decorator's delight and its kitchen is influenced by the numerous Amish homes in the surrounding areas. Over the upper half of a Dutch-door you can see displayed a beautiful set of "gaudy Welch" china that is the pride of the two men and is more than 140 years old.

Furnished in curly maple, the kitchen is a cozy spot with Early American benches, a cherry farm table, and pewter and earthenware pieces that make it difficult to keep guests from underfoot when meals are being prepared.

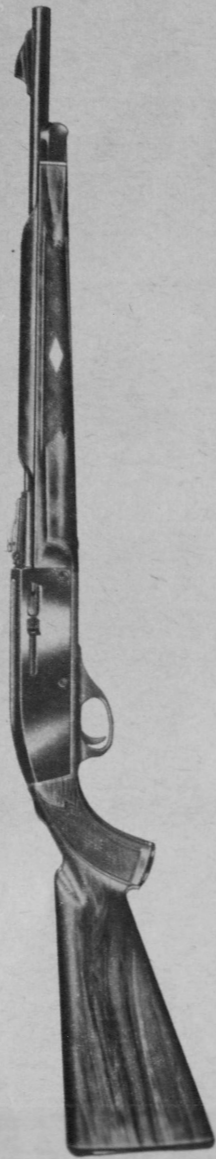

The parlor is crammed full with Louis Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth-period gold leaf pieces, with accessories ranging from blown glass to museum pieces of Rubina Verde.

The circular staircase winds upwards as in a lighthouse, past Victorian glass fixtures and hanging planters, to the bedroom that is Early American with a four-poster bed. A chest and writing desk of curly maple there blend perfectly with an old Amish wagon seat that is used as a bottom-of-the-bed bench. Completing the picture is an arrow-back chair handed down through five generations.

A contrasting tone that is refreshing is found in the den (or Wedgewood Room) which is done in blue and white, taking its inspiration from the rare collection of Wedgewood that is featured there. Also to be seen is a fine and valuable assortment of Austrian, Irish, and Italian plates, as well as other works of art.

And as though all that were not enough to fill this former forage-bin to bursting, Burns and Miner share The Silo House with a number of pets. Somehow in this compact roundhouse they have made room for a French poodle, and a dachshund, one amiable cat, an ancient and morose parrot, a cockatiel, a dove and an assortment of canaries and finches.

Surely one of the quaintest homes to be found anywhere, The Silo House is not only a traffic stopper but a conversation topic for all who visit there.

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

by Bill Stokes

From the 70-year-old files of the Aurora edition of the Dearborn County Register at Lawrenceburg, Ind., comes the story of the man at Osgood who owned a hog which ate a quart of nitroglycerin. The hog then wandered into a livery stable and was kicked by a horse.

"It is said that the hog bristles were blown through a three-inch plank," the story goes, and closes with, "An affidavit goes with this story."

FARMER LEADS DOUBLE LIFE

By
William C. Nelson

The balding 39-year-old man with the jaunty step and a sparkle in his eyes makes his way around the University of Iowa campus with books and note pads under his arm.

Were it not for the raft of notebooks, Frank Fowler might look like a typical college instructor. Actually he is a student, working on his master's degree.

In the evening he hurries home to nearby Marengo to tend to the 424-acre farm he has tenanted for the last eight years. It is located two miles northeast of Marengo in the Iowa river valley.

The affable, energetic Fowler is in the fourth year of his dual farming-college career. Already he has obtained a bachelor of arts degree (in just three years at Coe college in Cedar Rapids) and is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, a national honorary fraternity for academic achievement.

By combining prayerful reverence and old-fashioned perspiration, he hopes in the next few years to complete the transition from hired man (his status in 1947) to college professor.

The Frank Fowler story actually began four years ago in a Western Civilization class at Coe college. Fowler, the father of two daughters, was beginning his college career at the unlikely age of 36—after pondering the move for years.

"I'll never forget my first few days," he says. "I sat frozen. I'm normally a pretty self-assured guy, but I was scared to death the instructor would call on me, and I wouldn't know the answer."

But then came the dawn. His classmates were competent, articulate students. Mostly juniors and seniors, they approached the course with a smug confidence.

"They looked and talked as if they knew all," Fowler recalled. "But one day I found out that they weren't so invincible as I thought, and that I wasn't such a dumb guy after all—even though I'd been out of school for 20 years."

"That was when I came out of my shell." Fowler went about his academic career like a man possessed. At Coe college, he would drive 60 miles round trip each day; often, during the winter, on roads nearly impassable.

In the evening he feeds his 50 Angus cattle and 40 gilts, completes his other farm chores, and then settles down in the living room for a four-hour session with the books.

His English born wife, Amy, works the evening shift at the nearby Amana Refrigeration Co. plant in Middle Amana, supplementing the family income. Shortly after midnight she returns to her scholar husband and the couple ends its long day.

On weekends and during his free days in the week, Fowler is hard at work making up for lost time in his farm duties. From sunup to sunset this extroverted, determined Iowan labors diligently in the fields and his barn.

His classroom schedule is well organized. Fowler makes it a point to confer frequently with his instructors. If there is a point he doesn't understand, the middle-aged student never fails to ask further clarification.

Now a research assistant at the University of Iowa, Fowler figures that his education thus far has cost him more than $5,000. But he adds: "It's an investment well spent."

The Iowa farmer holds the theory that "if you want something, go out and get it—and don't spare any effort along the way."

Sleep is one commodity which has not been plentiful in the Fowler household in recent years. But does he regard his delayed schooling something of a drudgery?

"Not on your life. As a matter of fact I rather enjoy it. I love the contact and exchange of ideas with instructors and my fellow students. I find it quite stimulating."

When he has finally earned the coveted Ph.D. degree, Fowler plans to teach his favorite subject, English history, in a small college. He hopes to continue farming, too, and dreams of buying an 80 to 120-acre farm.

Summarizes Fowler: "The opportunities are present today if a person is alert, aggressive and flexible enough to take advantage of them."
