"Don't tell the usual story about retirement to a life of hunting and fishing," said Besancon. "Although I like these outdoor sports, I plan to spend my time on other activities.'

Heading the list of his varied interests is his recent appointment to the new East Tawas Park Commission. "This is important work and a real challenge to this new group," he stated.

In addition, he is a member of the East Tawas Lions Club, secretary-treasurer of the Tawas Bay Yacht Club, a member of East Tawas Men's Club and a member of Christ Episcopal Church.

Besancon has served since July 1957 as city hall office manager. Hired for the water board by the late R. G. Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter Tooking out the window these days is a rather fruitless opera-Li tion. All you see are grey skies and then, snow, snow, and more snow. Sometimes, there's a variation in the routine-it rains -big drops of the cold slushy sort of rain. That's not very interesting either. With such elements as these to contend with, we can't even fathom the possibility that spring will come - much less summer. We can't imagine that some day it will actually be dry and warm out. I've learned from experience, however, that spring inevitably follows close behind winter, and, surprisingly enough, summer usually isn't very far behind spring.

"BE PREPARED . . ." In view of the fact that all of us - men, women, and children alike-require complete changes of pace in our wardrobe for these seasons, I don't think it's ever too early to start thinking about them. It doesn't matter how far away spring and summer seem to be in terms of current weather conditions.

CASUAL AND COMFORTABLE

If the man in your life is anything like the ones I know, the sound of the very first bird returning from his southern vacation will find him on his way to the golf course, and, almost as important as his driving and putting, it seems, are the clothes he wears as he polishes up these techniques. This week's needlecraft feature is especially designed with such a golfing gentleman in mind. He'll find that its casualness of style and its ease of fit make it the perfect shirt for him to shoot that "birdie" in. As for colors—we did ours in white with Spanish Red trim but suit yours to the man. Also-feel free to bestow it on any man as a gift. He doesn't have to be a golfer to look "great" in this one. Directions for this cotton knit shirt-No. P.K. 1349 are yours, free of charge. Simply write to the Needlework Department of this newspaper and enclose a stamped, self addressed envelope with your request. And-don't forget to look for other exciting new designs in the instruction book, "FAMILY FAVORITES in Hand Knits" available at most novelty counters.

HERE'S A LITTLE BIT OF WINTER WONDERLAND in the person of a snowman who will NEVER melt! Can you think of any little girl who wouldn't love being kept warm by this jerkin with its smiling roly-poly trim? It's so quickly made and would be a delightful gift for that pretty granddaughter or niece

YOU CAN ALMOST HEAR SLEIGH BELLS RING

Crocheted in soft, warm SuperFingeringyarn, ithas a waistband which extends in the back to tie in a perky bow. Just as big girls' sweaters, it buttons down the back, making it easy to put on and off without mussing curls. We've done ours in a deep pink-y Cerise with a plump winter-whitefelt snowman. He's complete with black felt "charcoal" buttons, eyes and stovepipe hat . . . so real looking you expect to feel a snowflake or two! The finishing touch, and sure to charm the junior fashion plates wearing it, is the bright Periwinkle

Blue "scarf" at his neck. She'll enjoy keeping it tied tightly, making her snowy friend as warm as she'll be COLOR PARADE

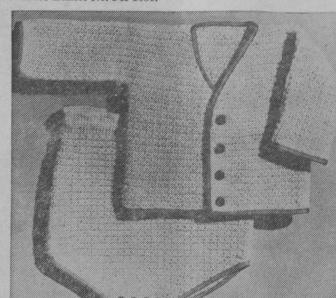

The yarn used in today's design comes in such a wide range of "little-girl-bright" colors and soft gentle heather tones, you'll have no trouble at all matching her jerkin to any of her ski pants, skating skirts or dresses. Free instructions for making sizes 4 through 8 are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper along with your request for

H ERE IS A PERFECT BLEND OF RUGGED GOOD LOOKS FOR THAT SPECIAL MAN OF YOURS! We women all know how men love having us fuss over them . . . and when we give them gifts we've made ourselves . . . there's no end to their praise and enthusiasm. And isn't that why we really love making things

HANDSOME TAILORING The shawl collar cardigan is one of the best sweaters a man can own. This one has a manly bulk with the thick ribbing that well-dressed gentlemen love...yet it's wonderfully and surprisingly light and comfortable. This interesting combination has been achieved by knitting with cotton . . . and "Knit-Cro-Sheen" comes in such a variety of colors you'll have no trouble finding the right blend for that man in your life. The entire cardigan is done in two shades, with solid collar and cuffs .. Brown with spice might be a good choice for the conservative . . . or for the more daring young men, why not try Killarney and Hunter's Green. Free instructions are available by sending a stamped, selfaddressed envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper. Ask for Leaflet No. PK 1681.

THE SMART YOUNG MAN ABOUT THE PLAY PEN, and you, will be delighted with this adorable little blazer set. It's quickly crocheted in easy-to-care-for Nylon Baby Yarn and trimmed with tiny buttons and Boiltex binding . . . try a manly combination of Skipper Blue with Red binding! Free instructions are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper. Ask for Leaflet No. C 337.

Christmas ornaments, particularly the strings of small lights for the Yule tree, are potential hazards. Children sometimes will pick up a small bulb and pop in the mouth, with obvious results. Some of the brands of tree lights are flimsily wired and can be fire hazards. Light strings that have been reused from year to year and are old and frayed also are dangerous.

Glass ornaments that shatter can provide cut fingers for both children and adults. Handle ornaments and lights with care and keep the extras and the discarded bulbs out of the reach of children.

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

bu Bill Stoke

A couple of items from The Wapello (Iowa) Republican files of 60 years ago makes you wonder if life wasn't just a little bit more exciting back when—"A horse driven by Lude Marshall ran away Tuesday afternoon and broke the buggy and harness in bad shape. The driver was fortunate in jumping from the buggy in the alley at the Republican office and escaped unhurt. The horse ran as far as Wehmeyers northwest of town, leaving the buggy near the home of C. S. Reynolds."

"Morning Sun people are justly indignant over the notoriety given the young ladies of that city by the Stratton episode in Muscatine. Also for the inference that they dress in a manner unbecoming to ladies. Of course no one in this section will believe such stories but strangers are apt to."

"The very best way to kill time is to get busy and work it to death," advises The Redfield (S.D.) Press.

The Ogemaw County Herald of West Branch, Mich., says that a difference of opinion is no problem to people who know enough to split the difference.

"Times change," remarks The Tribune and Register of Tyndall, S.D. "The boy whose dad used to drop him off at school and then drive on to work, now has a son who drops him off at work and then drives on to school."

"Treat your friends kindly," says The Review, of Portageville, Mo., "if it wasn't for them, you'd be a total stranger."

The Lewistown (Ill.) News passes along this information: "In politics, a man who leaves our party and joins the opposition is called a traitor. A man who leaves the opposition to join us is known as a convert."

"Don't tell that tired looking person he needs a vacation," advises The Clay City (Ind.) News, "maybe he's just had one."

"The girl who wore a swim-suit in August without going swimming and a ski outfit in January without actually skiing, really meant business in June when she picked out a wedding dress," observes The Reese (Mich.) Reporter.

"Middle age is that period when a man's yearning power is at its greatest," states The Reporter and Farmer of Webster, S.D.

A court judge ruled that it is an offense for a woman to go through her husband's pockets, reports The Angola (Ind.) Herald.

"Worse than that," adds the Herald, "in days like these it's just a waste of time."

"You will never stub your toe standing still," quotes The Carlisle (Iowa) Citizen.

Did grandpa need a seatbelt? This item from the 1894 files of The Milbank (S.D.) Herald Advance makes the answer to the question obvious: "A very unfortunate accident overtook J. H. Benedict Monday afternoon. While driving near the big windmill the horse took fright at the arms of the mill and while Mr. B. was endeavoring to control him the lines broke and the horse plunged over the wood pile nearby. Mr. Benedict was thrown from the buggy and his right hipbone was broken and he was badly bruised."

"Some people don't believe they are having a good time unless they're doing something they can't afford," says The Mackinaw Valley News of Minier, III.

The Renville (Minn.) Star-Farmer tells about the fellow who claims the most aggravating thing about the present generation is that he no longer belongs to it.

The Woonsocket (S.D.) News remembers when a farm wife once became a marked woman by serving ring bologna and store cookies to the threshing crew.

How could she?

"The man who has nothing to boast of but his illustrious ancestors is like a potato—the best part of him is underground," says The Reinbeck (Iowa) Courier.

The Minerva (Ohio) Leader carries a complaint from the ladies bemoaning the tax on cosmetics. This tax was put on as an emergency measure during the war, the Leader says, and since the emergency no longer exists, the tax should be removed.

Let's think about that a minute, fellows. Let's ask ourselves if there isn't a relationship between cosmetics and emergency even in times of peace. To be more specific, there are girls who, without make-up, would have to be classed as emergencies.

CARIBBEAN ISLAND HOPPING

by Jerry Charles

O NCE remote, now the Winter Paradise islands of the Caribbean are within easy reach of everyone living in the Midwest. In a matter of hours after boarding a jet, you can be flown with incredible speed to the lands of swaying palms, emerald waters and the soft beat of calypso drums.

Island hopping requires no particular skill—you don't have to be a world traveler or a millionaire—all you need are your plane tickets, some vacation time and a desire to see the fabulous Islands in the Sun.

The more time you have the better, but Island Hopping in the Caribbean doesn't require as much time as you think. For example, you can with amazing ease, take in the Islands of Puerto Rico, St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix in three or four days and not feel rushed. The easiest way to determine which of the Islands you want to visit is look at a map of the Caribbean and pick your Island Hopping itinerary. Once you decide which of the Islands you wish to see, then consult your travel agent or write to the Farm and Home Section travel dept. They will help you plan your trip so that you may take advantage of the best air fares and

To help you become better acquainted with those Islands in the Caribbean which are within your Island Hopping grasp, let's take a sketchy look at each . . .

BERMUDA is a romantic coral island, distinguished by its pink sand beaches and British air. Although it's only 24 miles long, you'll find it very secluded. Sailing is one of the major sports. But swimming, fishing, golfing and bicycling are equally

THE BAHAMAS form a chain of beautiful semi-tropical islands that have a charming atmosphere and probably the best climate you'll find anywhere. Nassau, on New Providence Island, is a favorite resort. The strawmarket at Rawson Square, Nassau is a favored spot where you'll find inexpensive and unique handmade straw gifts.

PUERTO RICO combines all the elements of a tropical island with the charm of Old Spain. Add to this the vitality and glamour of San Juan and you have just an idea of the fascination of Puerto Rico. Some of the most beautiful beaches in the Caribbean can be found here.

THE VIRGIN ISLANDS (U.S.A.) are composed of St. Thomas, St. Croix, St. John. All are free ports and therefore the biggest bargain centers in the world. You'll be surprised at first at the Danish architecture until you remember that these islands were settled by and purchased from Denmark.

HAITI is one of the most exciting, colorful islands in the Caribbean. In some parts of the islands, voodoo is still practiced as a religion, and it's not unusual to hear the faint beat of the voodoo drums from the distant hills. Haiti combines the primitive and the elegant with complete nonchalance.

world. Kingston, the capital city located on the South Shore, is gay and colorful. You'll be intrigued with the Jamaican language which is English but with a strong African dialect which defies description. JAMAICA is one of the most beautiful tropical islands in the TRINIDAD is the farthest south of the islands—only 10 minutes from the coast of Venezuela. You'll be amazed to see Chinese in oriental robes, calypso-singing Negroes, turbaned Hindus, Spaniards, Portuguese and Frenchmen all walking the streets of Port of Spain. The scenery is breathtaking and the beaches beautiful.

TOBAGO, a tiny island that inspired Daniel Defoe to write Robinson Crusoe, lies about 20 miles northeast of Trinidad. It is one of the few undisturbed, remote islands of the world. There is nothing to do except wander the beautiful beaches.

BARBADOS, home of the famed flying fish, is the most eastern of the West Indian islands. In Bridgetown's bustling Careenage you'll be delighted to see the tall masted schooners unloading their cargoes just as they did a century ago. Harbor police wear middle blouses and skimmers with red ribbons.

CURACAO has a fairy tale charm you'll never forget. It is truly a bit of Holland. The narrow gables of Willemstad are in the exact style of the 17th Century Dutch houses. Curacao is a shopper's paradise; unquestionably the bargain center of the world next to Hong Kong.

HOLDAY time is party time! When people are in their gayest, most thoughtful mood and your house is at its prettiest, it's time for a successful open house. Many friends can be entertained at one time and you can make a lovely table of goodies with just a little effort.

The punch bowl is always the center of attention. You might like to decorate around it with a wreath of evergreens trimmed with gay colored Christmas balls, sprayed pine cones, figurines or, for a special look, live flowers kept fresh in plastic tubes you can find at your florist's shop.

Egg nog is a traditional Christmas drink to serve. Egg Nog Delight will soon become one of your favorites because it is economical and very tasty.

Of course, it's time to rob your cookie jars that are over-flowing at this time of year. If you're looking for some fancy new fillers for the cookie jars, Flaky Meringue Cookies and Honey Drops will be perfect for the job. The coconut on the Honey Drops can be colored red or green, or any color for that matter, to match your color scheme.

Dainty sandwiches of fruit breads are always well received.

FLAKY MERINGUE COOKIES

4½ dozen

Preheated 375° oven

1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten

5 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon lemon rind
1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine

Mix flour and salt together thoroughly. Cut in butter until the size of small peas. Add yolks, lemon juice and lemon rind. Stir with a fork until well blended. Chill dough thoroughly (about 2 hours). Pinch off small pieces of dough, form into 1-inch balls with hands. Place on lightly floured pastry cloth and flatten to form 2½-inch circles with the bottom of a glass or a rolling pin. Spread 1 teaspoon of Nut Meringue Filling in the center of each. Roll dough as for a jelly roll, being sure to seal edges and ends of each cooky well. Place in a crescent shape on cooky sheet. Bake 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Place on cooky rack to cool. While warm, sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

NUT MERINGUE FILLING

2 egg whites ½ cup sugar ¾ cup finely chopped California walnuts

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Gradually add sugar while continuing to beat. Beat until stiff and glossy. Fold in chopped nuts.

HONEY DROPS

5 dozen

Preheated 350° oven

Cooky sheet

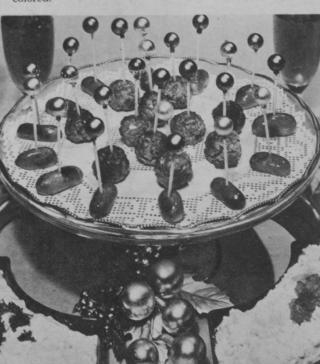

Cooky sheet

11/2 cups flour

34 cup (1½ sticks) butter or margarine 2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup sugar ½ teaspoon mace
1 egg yolk ½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon orange rind 1 egg white, slightly beaten
34 cup honey Shredded coconut

21/4 cups flour Cream butter and sugar together thoroughly. Beat in egg yolk and orange rind. Blend in honey. Mix dry ingredients together thoroughly; beat gradually into butter mixture. Drop by teaspoon onto cooky sheet two inches apart. Flatten with fork dipped in flour, then brush with egg white. Sprinkle each cooky with red or green colored coconut. Bake 8-12 minutes.

Cool on cooky rack. Note: To color coconut, sprinkle a few drops of red or green food coloring over coconut. Toss with a fork until evenly

Date Apricot Loaf spread with cream cheese tastes just right with egg nog. You can cut the sandwiches into dainty shapes and arrange them on a tray with almond stuffed dates for a holiday party look.

Hors d'oeuvres are just right for this occasion too. For picks, top toothpicks with small ornaments for spearing such treats as Hamburger Hors D'oeuvres.

Fruit spikes of such combinations as 1 chunk of frozen pineapple and 1 strawberry on a long wooden pick can be served very glamourously in a bed of crushed ice.

Another treat is Spicy Sausage Balls that are easily made by combining 4 pounds of highly seasoned sausage meat and two cans (6 oz. each) of water chestnuts which have been chopped. Shape them into 1 inch balls and bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees) 45 minutes, or until well browned.

And don't forget your favorite fruit cake on the shelf. It's always well received.

Whip up your favorite recipes and your imagination and then invite your friends to a very special open house. You'll be glad you did.

DATE APRICOT LOAF

- 1 cup fresh dates
 ½ cup dried apricots
 3 cups flour
 1½ teaspoons salt
 3 teaspoons baking powder
 ¼ teaspoon soda
 1 cup brown sugar (packed)
 ¾ cup chopped California walnuts
 1 egg
 1½ cups milk

Pit and slice dates. Rinse apricots and cover with boiling water. Let stand 15 minutes. Drain and slice. Sift flour with salt, baking powder and soda. Stir in sugar, dates, apricots and walnuts. Beat egg lightly and combine with milk. Stir into dry mixture. Pour batter into greased loaf pan (10 x 5 x 3 inches). Let stand 15 minutes. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1¼ hours. Turn out on wire rack to cool. Makes one loaf.

Karo Crazy Crunch for a Jolly Good Christmas

What a treat for your family and friends!

Dig this crazy popcorn-it's positively wild, caramelized with Karo and crunchy with almonds, pecans or peanuts! Great just carmelized, too. That's Karo Crazy Crunch—and just try to stop eating it! Keep a batch on hand for family or guests; pack some up in pretty, perky packages for gifts. Thanks to Karo, you can make it for peanuts!

Karo Crazy Crunch

- 2 quarts popped corn 1-1/3 cups pecans 1/2 cup Karo Crystal-Clear Syrup
- 1-1/3 cups sugar 1 cup Mazola margarine 1 teaspoon vanilla

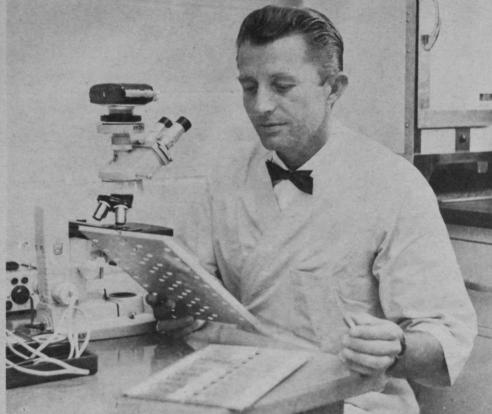

Mix popped corn and nuts on a cookie sheet. Combine sugar, margarine and Karo in a 1-1/2 quart saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Continue boiling, stirring occasionally, for 10 to 15 minutes or until mixture turns a light caramel color. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Pour over popped corn and nuts, mix to coat well. Spread out to dry. Break apart; and store in tightly covered container. Makes about 2 pounds.

The new way to cook is with Karo'

Inside the laboratory, John Nellor analyzes cattle tissues to determine if the hormone-like compounds used in his breeding trials had any harmful effects on either the cow or her calf. Results showed the treatment to be completely safe.

B EEF cattle of the future may very well be products of "planned parenthood."

Scientists are successfully controlling the breeding time of cattle by feeding them hormone-like compounds. The result is more cattle ready for breeding at one time, higher conception rates and a considerable saving in breeding expenses.

A typical controlled breeding experiment is being conducted by John E. Nellor and other Michigan State University animal husbandry researchers at Rowala Ranch in Iosco County, Michigan. Nellor reports "excellent results" from three years of tests, and comments that "it's just a matter of time" before these research techniques will be used by beef cattlemen across the

In the MSU tests, synthetic hormone-like compounds are mixed with grain and fed to the caftle for two weeks. Then the feedings are stopped.

"About 95 per cent of the treated cattle will come into heat within a three-day period shortly after the hormone feedings are ended," says Nellor.

"About half of these cattle will conceive at this time, and another 20-25 per cent will conceive when they return to heat approximately 20 days later. So, by waiting until the end of the second controlled heat period, a farmer could get about 70 per cent of his herd bred in a single handling."

Nellor contends that this rate of conception is as good—or even better—than natural service.

Furthermore, the controlled breeding methods cut artificial insemination costs by having large numbers of animals ready for breeding at the same time. Farm management is improved because animals are more uniform at sale time, and because farmers can make better use of labor and feed. Disease problems are reduced, since artificial insemination virtually eliminates those diseases transmitted by sires.

The first successful use of orally fed hormones for controlled breeding in cattle was actually reported by Nellor and his col-

Scientists literally had to "get a horse" to carry out their controlled breeding research project. By using hormone-like compounds they had hundreds of head of cattle ready for breeding at the same time. This type of "planned parenthood" would mean considerable savings to beef cattle operators who could then cut breeding costs and eliminate sire-transmitted diseases.

A "cowboy scientist" rides herd on these cattle which are being used in controlled breeding trials.

A portion of an animal's blood is being chemically assayed for hormone activity by Miss Susan Mahoney, MSU research technician. She's using this information to help find a pregnancy test for cattle which could prevent thousands of pregnant cattle from

for beef cattle

leagues several years ago. He explains that the delay in using these methods under actual farm conditions was due to "the tremendous amount of research needed to determine the correct amount of these compounds that should be fed.

Tissues of hundreds of cattle were examined in order to find out whether this type of treatment has any harmful effects on the cow or her calf and whether it influences her future repro-

Even though the treatment has passed all of these tests, it must still be approved by the Food and Drug Administration.

Nellor emphasizes that the use of these synthetic hormone compounds is a "logical approach" to controlling breeding time. Rather than stimulating egg production, the hormones actually inhibit breeding activity. The animals readily "rebound" by coming into heat shortly after the feeding treatments are ended

And, even if one animal consumes four or five times more compound than she's supposed to, she'll experience no abnormal conditions. The animal will only "rebound" a little slower than those that received the right amounts.

Actually, this inhibited breeding activity (during the two-week feeding period) is about the same as the female animal experiences during her normal cycle. "Furthermore," says Nellor, "tissue analysis indicates that this treatment does not have harmful effects on normal body activity."

The compounds used in the MSU tests-Repromix from The Upjohn Company and a similar compound from Eli Lilly & Company—are presently only available for research purposes. "But," Nellor asserts, "our results indicate that the compounds would be effective under actual farm conditions.

"Technical crews will probably have to supervise the feeding treatments and handle the artificial insemination at the first and second controlled breeding time. Then bulls could be turned out with the cattle to breed any animals that did not conceive via artificial breeding.

John E. Nellor, left, animal husbandry researcher, checks records while field technician Fred Howe artificially inseminates one of the beef cattle brought into heat during controlled breeding

Hundreds of cattle were rounded up for breeding during controlled estrous studies at the Rowala Ranch in losco County, Michigan. Here, the herd follows a load of green-chopped hay into the feedlots where artificial insemination chutes are set up.
