Beetles May be Menace to Trees Next Spring

Two species of beetles only about one-eighth of an inch long are responsible for causing much concern this winter to state highway department foresters and County Agricultural Agent Marvin Davenport. This concern should be shared by others who have shade trees on their property.

The two culprits causing this concern are the European and native elm bark beetles—both are carriers of Ceratocystis ulmi, or better known as Dutch elm disease.

The first elms known to die of Dutch elm disease in Michigan were found in Detroit during the summer of 1950. Since then, it has spread to other parts of the state and finally reached Iosco County in 1962. Last summer, several diseased elm trees were removed in the Tawas area.

A. R. Vogel of Saginaw and Jack Burton of Alpena, district foresters for the state highway department, accompanied Davenport to the Iosco-Arenac line Friday morning where a group of diseased elm trees were inspected.

Would Organize Development Corp.

Kenneth Houck, field representative for the Michigan Department of Economic Development, will meet Thursday night with a local group interested in forming an industrial development corporation.

This meeting will start at 7:00 p. m. and is to be held at the Barnes Hotel, Tawas City.

Attending will be members of the Tawas City Businessmen's Association, representatives of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce and other interested citizens from the area.

"Anyone interested in organizing such a group is urged to attend," state Hugo J. Keiser, chairman of the Tawas City Planning Commission.

Abbreviated Meeting for Tawas City Council

In a 25-minute session Monday night, one of the most abbreviated on record, Tawas City Council approved minutes of the December 18 planning commission meeting, heard a report of the January 10 meeting of joint water boards and heard a report on rats.

Information on the latter was given by City Attorney Alf Watson, who said he was gathering evidence concerning the shoreline of Tawas Bay. It was reported at the last meeting that broken rock used to protect US-23 from high water had been turned into a rat haven.

400th Lions Club to be Organized at Standish

Northeastern Michigan will be the site of Michigan's 400th Lions International Club when the Standish Lions Club is chartered at the Standish-Sterling Community High School Saturday, January 25, 7:30 p. m.

Four hundred Lions from the state are expected to gather to give the Standish charter members a send-off. Sponsoring the new club are the East Tawas Lions and the Pinconning Lions.

Board of Supervisors Favors Election of Township Officers in the Spring

Iosco County Board of Supervisors has gone on record as favoring election of township officers in the spring rather than in the November general election, as provided under the new state constitution.

In a resolution passed last week, the board said that electing township officers in the fall would be inconvenient because of the short time between election and taking office in January. Undue hardship, it was stated, would be caused township treasurers and supervisors during tax collection and assessment time.

A copy of the resolution has been sent to all county boards of supervisors in the state, State Rep. James P. Mielock, State Sen. Harold Hughes and Gov. George Romney.

In other business conducted during the two-day session, the board asked Baldwin Township, the City of East Tawas and county drain commissioner to cooperate with the Michigan Department of Conservation requesting a technical survey be made of Tawas Lake and its drainage area. This action is to be taken with a view of determining the best way to preserve the lake for all concerned.

Deloise (Dewey) Durant, city assessor of East Tawas, addressed the board and wished to know if any of the taxing units had made plans as yet for reassessing property to 100 percent of the state-equalized valuation. Such a program must be accomplished by 1966 under the new constitution. (See SUPERVISORS, page 8.)

Seek Change in Pool Hall Ordinance

Pool hall regulations and recent adoption of an ordinance came under discussion at Monday night's meeting of the East Tawas Council.

A group of Newman Street businessmen attended the session and protested that a new ordinance adopted by the city was detrimental to business. Spokesman for the group was Carlton Merschel.

The new ordinance provides that pool halls are to close at 12 o'clock midnight. Under state law, children 17 years of age and under may not frequent a pool hall.

Owner of the Cue and Rack Club has asked that the ordinance be changed to allow operation until 2:00 a. m. He also asked that the council reclassify his business as an amusement center under modern terminology.

Businessmen are to meet with the ordinance committee prior to the February 3 council meeting.

In other business, the council approved renting the community building for teen dances from June 9 through August 27 to LeLand Moffatt and John Solomon. Dances would be held Tuesday and Thursday nights, as in the past, and they also requested use of the building on Saturday nights.

Spicer Engineering Company of Saginaw is to submit plans by March 31 for proposed sewer extensions and lift stations. Application is to be made for a federal grant under the accelerated public works program.

The city is to make application to the State Soil Conservation Committee for a technical review of Tawas River and Tawas Lake water shed at its earliest convenience. Mayor Clarence McKenzie said that such a review could determine whether a dam or cleaning the lake would be proper. It was stated that federal funds were available for such improvement on a matching basis.

Judge Ralph Takes Probate Ct. Bench

Probate Judge Kenneth E. Ralph of Standish, who has been appointed to fill the Iosco County Probate Court bench vacated by Judge H. Read Smith, said Tuesday that he would be in his office here at least two days a week and would be available at other times when necessary.

In addition to my regular call here Tuesday, I plan to be in the Iosco County Building at least one other day during the week," said Judge Ralph.

"I would like to have it clearly understood that I will be available to come here at any time there is a problem concerning probate court. Arrangements may be made with Mrs. Richard Prescott in the Iosco Probate Office or by calling directly to Standish," said Judge Ralph.

The 32-year-old appointee has served Arenac County since January 1961. After graduation from law school, he was elected to that office in November 1960 and admitted to the state bar in December of the same year. He is a native of Royal Oak.

He was appointed to fill the bench here on a temporary basis until a successor is named or elected to replace Judge Smith, who retired at the end of 1963.

SHOWN IN his home studio south of Tawas City is the Rev. Nelmer Zellmer, who is art director for the television program, "Bible Story Time." —Tawas Herald Photo.

Rev. Zellmer is Art Director of Bible Television Program

In the past 15 years, the Rev. N. W. Zellmer has become known to Tawas residents as a combination of electronic engineer, structural designer and illustrator for the former Anderson Coach Company. Few people may remember him as a clergyman, whose health forced him from the ministry in the late 1940s.

He has never waned his ambitious goal of returning to his original calling, for which he had studied 10 long years in various theological institutions. Mr. Zellmer graduated from Concordia College, St. Paul, Minnesota, in 1935. The next year, he entered Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri, from which he graduated in 1939 and was ordained into the ministry of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

His varied interests were apparent even then. Already at 15, he was an amateur radio operator and used this experience later to originate the first Lutheran radio network reaching as far as South America. The network was possible only because of the aid of a friend, the famed Dr. Walter A. Maier, originator of the well-known Lutheran Hour. Zellmer recalls many a pleasant evening with Dr. Maier, as both took off their ties, rolled up their sleeves and tested another electronic potential for the church.

But electronics was never Zellmer's final goal. Early musical training put him in touch with master artists who molded his aesthetic dreams. He was a member of the famous Lutheran Hour Chorus, the St. Louis Seminary Choir and the symphonic A Capella choir under the direction of Dr. William B. Heyne.

"I recall vividly my first chorus experience under Eugene Ormandy," reminisces Zellmer, "the thrill almost closed one's vocal chords!"

At another time, quite by accident, he shared a dressing room with Fritz Kreisler, the famed violinist. "I can still hear that violin, as he demonstrated to me on a personal basis. Men like Kreisler are bound to change your life, your goals and your ambitions," asserts Zellmer.

Yet, all was not pleasant in the past. After graduation in 1939, the depression of the 1930s was felt in the church as well as in the nation. Out of the 365 ministerial graduates, barely a half a dozen found calls. It was not easy to listen to the president of the theological university on graduation day: "We advise that you take work where you can find it. Let us pray that both the church and the state may soon return to a solid financial foundation." (Today, the church needs almost 1,000 more clergymen than it can educate.)

After serving radios in the Tawas area for several months, Mr. Zellmer took his first call to Hill City, Minnesota, where he served two congregations for several years. Again, his varied interests found value in the church. In spite of heavy schedules on the St. Louis campus, Zellmer found time for numerous extracurricular courses, which included three years of study of the sign language for the deaf.

His choice of sign-language stemmed from emotional recollections as a boy of eight years old. At a mission festival, he was touched deeply to see an aged deaf person, whose arthritic hands struggled to make themselves understood to the deaf missionary. "Even in that early youth, I told myself: 'Some day, I am going to help them,'" he stated.

As pastor in Northern Minnesota of two hearing congregations, Zellmer began a small congregation for the scattered deaf, which grew from one to 40 members in a year. Zellmer recalls a deaf teen-ager driving 70 miles on a motorcycle in rain to attend (See ZELLMER, page 8.)

BURGLAR HITS PAPPY'S

Hearing Friday on Mich. Con. Gas Pipelines

Hearings on Michigan Consolidated Gas Company's application to extend natural gas service to 42 communities in the northeastern half of the Lower Peninsula will begin Friday before the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Hugh C. Daly, executive vice president of the utility, said the expansion program is one of the largest single projects ever undertaken by the utility and will cost an estimated $13,692,000.

Michigan Consolidated requests authority to construct 210 miles of gas transmission lines and metering facilities at an estimated cost of $9,255,000. The company would also construct 240 miles of distribution mains in the communities costing $4,437,000.

Daly said two major pipelines would be constructed, one to serve the east shore area along Lake Huron as far north as Alpena, and the other up the center of the state as far north as Gaylord.

The company proposes to lay a 16-inch pipeline from its Hamilton underground storage field in Clare County to West Branch and then due east to East Tawas and Tawas City, with a branch line to Whittemore. The line would turn north, crossing the AuSable River west of Oscoda where it would be reduced to 12 inches in diameter.

The 12-inch line would continue through Mikado and Lincoln north to Alpena, with branch lines running off to serve Oscoda, AuSable and Harrisville on the lake shore. Daly said that the original plan to run the line along US-23 was abandoned because it was found that the area could be supplied better by running branch lines to shoreline communities as the need develops.

The other main pipeline will be eight inches in diameter and branch off from the 16-inch line at the Clare County-Gladwin County line south of Houghton Lake. The pipeline will run north to Prudenville gas to Prudenville and Houghton Lake communities. Continuing north past Higgins Lake, the pipeline will parallel I-75 and deliver gas to Roscommon, Grayling, Frederic and terminate at Gaylord.

Daly said the company will serve residents along the routes of both pipelines and the company has secured franchises to sell gas in virtually all of the townships the lines pass through. He added that initial company surveys of customers have proven that all of the communities are very anxious to have natural gas.

"We presently have 20 percent more signed applications from customers than we expected to be serving at the end of our first year of operation," Daly said. "Approximately 60 percent of the potential customers contacted have already agreed to take natural gas service," he added.

Clerk Outlines Provisions of Michigan Constitution

"Very closely connected with last week's discussion on county home rule is another local option provision in our new constitution which permits the legislature to authorize initiative procedure within a county which would allow a majority of qualified electors to adopt a fixed division of millage among a county, townships and school districts, the total millage not to exceed 18 mills," stated County Clerk George Prescott as he continued his series of news stories on the new constitution.

"Here again is offered an opportunity to raise our own taxes but by a vote of the people only. This provision if applied in any county would do away with tax allocation boards and the vote of the electorate would set a fixed millage rate for the county, for the schools and for the townships and the rates would stand until such time as might change in another vote. In no case could the aggregate millage exceed 18 mills, but surely could be less than 18 mills if the people wanted to step in under permissive legislation and set the ceiling tax rates for these three units of local government," Prescott pointed out.

"To preserve the 15-mill limitation which rural Michigan fought so hard to gain but which has become a lost cause under state equalization, the people of a county as an example could vote to give schools eight mills, county six mills and township one mill. Or again under this 'local option,' they could vote to give schools 10 mills, the county six mills and townships two mills. In the last example, the aggregate is 18 mills and in the first 15 mills. In either case, the division and limit could be set by the voters and the government units would operate by the mandate.

"Certainly a word about state equalization is in order. Some years ago, in the case of the Pittsford School District vs. Wash-taw County, our supreme court ruled that taxes for school districts had to be levied on state equalized valuations. The state (See NEW CON., page 8.)

U.S. Establishes New Emergency Broadcast Net

An imminent or actual attack on the United States would find the Nation better prepared than ever to get official information and survival instructions to the people through the Emergency Broadcast System (EBS) established by the Federal Communications Commission.

EBS allows selected AM radio stations to continue broadcasting on their normal frequencies and with regular power even after an attack emergency is declared in order to get vital warning and survival information to the public. It would carry essential news and official information from the President and officials of Federal, State, and local governments.

EBS SUCCEEDED the old CONELRAD system on August 5 after the Department of Defense determined that the continued operation of the Nation's broadcasting stations no longer constituted a significant navigation aid to enemy bombers and missiles. The new EBS system permits stations to begin broadcasting emergency information almost instantly after an attack warning is received.

Stations not affiliated with EBS, and all FM and television stations, would go off the air. Some of these facilities will be incorporated into future refinements and extensions of EBS.

To assure that vital emergency broadcasting is not interrupted by fallout sufficient to force evacuation of the stations, the Office of Civil Defense, Department of Defense, is providing fallout protection, emergency generators, and emergency radio program links to selected emergency broadcast stations.

In an Emergency . . .

If there is a nuclear attack on the United States, or the imminent threat of one, tune your standard AM radio to your local stations at their normal places on the dial until you hear the one that is part of the Emergency Broadcast System. That station, which will identify itself by location but not by call letters, will be on the air with official information, news and instructions on things you and your family can do to survive. Be sure you are prepared for an emergency by getting a battery-operated radio and spare batteries.

Braves Win in Squeaker at Gladwin

Tawas Area Braves won a 67-65 squeaker over the Flying Gs of Gladwin Friday night to set up a show-down battle between the Braves and West Branch Orioles for conference leadership.

The NBC's two top teams, sporting identical four and one records, are slated to meet here this Friday night. Tawas lost to West Branch in the season opener while Gladwin toppled the Orioles for their only loss.

Gladwin again had visions of being "giant killers" of the NBC last Friday night when they out-hustled the Braves during most of the second half. With a little more height, the final score could have easily read in favor of the home team.

That was not to be, however, as the Braves did not get rattled in a tight fourth quarter situation, a quality which they displayed when needed on a couple of other occasions this season.

Paced by Center Herb Humphrey's 20 points, the Braves had three players in double figures and well-balanced scoring all around. Guards Darrell Welch and Don Lear again helped to spark the attack with 17 and 12 points, respectively.

Guard Greg Juneac displayed unerring accuracy on his long shots to pace Gladwin with 17 points. The losers had three other players who scored in double figures but lacked the one big man.

A good press defense used by Gladwin gave fits to Coach Bill McIntosh and his Braves throughout the game. Until Friday night, a press had been ineffective against the Braves this season because of their tremendous speed, good passing and height. Gladwin's tight defense helped to wear the usual sharp edge off Tawas' passing game and, although the Braves made a number of mistakes during the night, that was the main reason for only two points separating the teams at the final gun.

In spite of occasional lapses of "fumbleitis," Tawas' fast-break offense was something to watch and very difficult to stop.

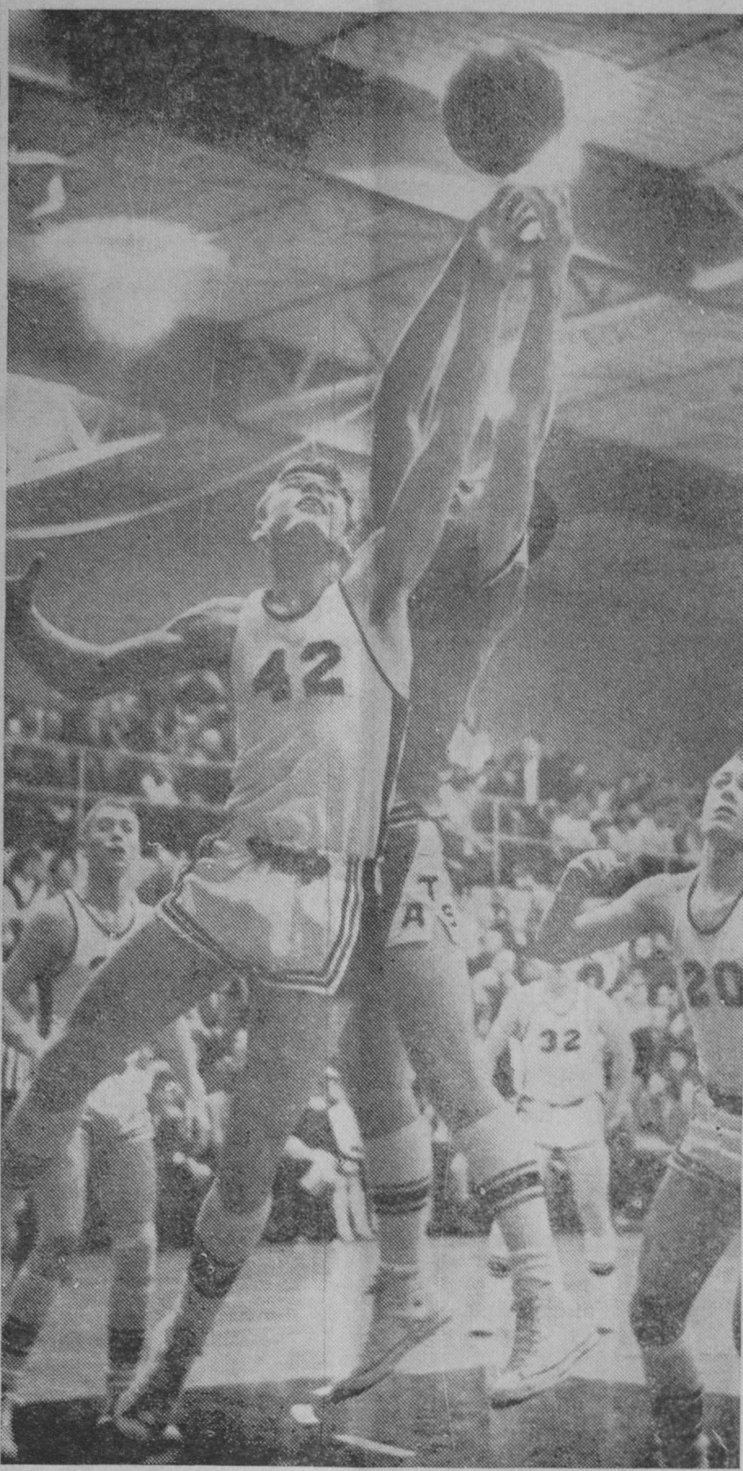

Tawas jumped off to a 16-12 lead in the first quarter when Humphrey meshed three field goals and a foul shot, Lear and Welch each hooped a fielder and two charity tosses and Blata hit one from the floor.

Welch paced the Braves in their best quarter of the night with nine points to give Tawas a 39-31 lead at intermission. Blata had six points, Lear had four, while Anschuetz and Humphrey each dumped in one field goal.

The third quarter found Humphrey at his best with four field goals, while Blata, Anschuetz and Lear each had one.

Anschuetz came through with two field goals and a foul shot to set the fourth quarter pace. Welch had four points on one and two, Lear added a field goal and Humphrey converted three charity tosses.

After an uphill battle all the way, Gladwin tied the game briefly with about three minutes to go. The Braves quickly took the lead again and, with six seconds to go, Jim Hall of the Flying Gs had a chance to tie the contest with two free throws. Hall closed the gap, 66-65, with his first shot but missed on his second toss. Humphrey gobbled the rebound and was fouled by Juneac in the process. Humphrey flipped in one toss to make the score 67-65 and the game ended on his second attempt.

Tawas Area Junior Braves lost to Gladwin in the preliminary, 46-39. Tawas held a 26-20 edge at intermission, mainly on the strength of an 18-point first quarter bulge. The Junior Braves fell apart in the second half while Gladwin came on strong to win going away. Lapeer led the losers with 18 points, followed by Siehoff's 14.

Hale Eagles Drop Pair of Games; Lose to Eastern and Mio

Hale Area Eagles dropped two games last week, losing to Au-Gres Tuesday night, 62-51, and then came out on the short end of a 62-55 contest in the North Star League contest Friday night against Mio's Thunderbolts.

The Eagles played one of their best games of the season against Mio. The visiting Thunderbolts, after holding a slim one-point edge at the end of the first quarter, upped the lead to 35-28 at intermission. Hale bounced back to outscore Mio 15-12 in the third quarter, but Mio turned back the home team in the final, 15-12.

Lonnie Ryland, whose 17 point total was high against AuGres earlier in the week, led Hale with 26 points on 10 and six. Crenshaw and Maas each had 10 for the losers. Nolan was high for Mio with 26 points.

Cards Cling to Top Spot in NEM

By DORNACE BELLVILLE
Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals cling to the top spot in the NEM Conference with a 59-54 win over Beaverton in a cliff-hanger Friday night. Houghton Lake dumped Eastern, 74-50, and Roscommon ran over Alcona, 54-31, to continue in a tie for second place.

The Cards jumped off in the lead with a basket by Earl Bronson and a charity toss by Chip Drengberg. Mike Morris scored for the Beavers, then the Cards dropped in seven straight points to take a 12-4 lead. Dick Govitz dropped in a long shot, but Larry Pickett scored to give the Cards a 14-6 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Whittemore-Prescott was leading, 16-7, early in the second quarter when the Beavers, who were really up for this one after only two victories this year, caught fire to score 13 straight points to take the lead, 20-16. Govitz and Morris made things rough for the Card zone defense and scored repeatedly from outside. Drengberg scored on a drive but Dick Stanley erased that one with a fielder for the Beavers. Murray Calhoun stole a pass to go in for another Beaver bucket and a 24-18 edge. The teams swapped buckets until the half ended with Coach Ward Schenhal's Beavers out in front, 30-26.

Pickett took the tip-off to score for W-P as the last half opened and Bronson followed with another fielder after the Cards stole the ball to tie the score with only 30 seconds gone. Pickett scored again to put the Cards ahead, but Govitz and Calhoun both scored on long shots to go ahead, 34-32.

Roger Rasbury's two fielders and Paul Cherry's two charity tosses put the Cards ahead again and their superior height began to tell as they held a five-point lead at the three-quarter mark.

The Beavers scored twice as the last quarter started to come within one point of the Cards, but Pickett, Redmond, Bronson and Rasbury all connected on two-pointers to take a 55-46 lead. The Cards played control ball the rest of the way as Coach Dudo's boys picked up four points on fouls by the pressing Beavers.

The Beaverton quintet scored four fielders but were five points out as the final whistle blew.

Rasbury scored 20 points for Cards with Bronson and Pickett also hitting in double figures with 14 and 10. The Beavers' long shot artist, Govitz, scored 20 points with Morris and Calhoun each getting 10.

Coach Val Young's JV squad had troubles, leading by 22 points in the third quarter only to have the Little Beavers come within four points of tying the game when second stringers were on the floor. The Little Cards' first stringers went back in to cut the rally short as Corky Williams drove in for some badly-needed baskets late in the game to give W-P a 61-55 victory. Joe Mishler led the scoring with 20 points for the Little Beavers. Al McLean led the scoring for the Cards with 18 points on nine fielders, followed by Williams with 13, Cal Bronson and Finnerty with 11 each.

The Cards meet the up-and-coming Bobcats at Houghton Lake Friday night with first place at stake.

Dun & Bradstreet Lists 337 Businesses in Iosco in 1963

There is a total of 337 businesses in Iosco County, according to statistics released by W. S. Garrison, district manager of the Detroit office of Dun and Bradstreet, Incorporated. This total is based on a physical count of the November 1963 edition of the Dun and Bradstreet reference book.

Garrison noted that each January, business concerns in all parts of the United States are asked by Dun and Bradstreet for copies of their financial statements. This year, requests are being sent to nearly three million business concerns—to the corner grocery store worth a few thousand dollars as well as to businesses worth millions.

The D&B reference book lists those manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers who seek or grant commercial credit but it does not include some of the service and professional businesses; such as, beauty and barber shops, security dealers and real estate brokers.

EMTA Represents Area Businessmen in Sign Fight

Interests of businessmen in Eastern and Central Michigan were presented by James Hall, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association, at a recent hearing in Lansing of a senate highway fact-finding committee headed by Sen. Kent Lungen.

The hearing concentrated on testimony concerning the highway sign removal campaign of the state highway department, in compliance with a memorandum of the Federal Bureau of Roads in Washington. The memorandum, issued in December 1961, decreed that all signs identifying business establishments would have to come down if they violated land or air space owned by the highway department (right-of-way).

In presenting testimony before the committee, Hall said that Michigan businessmen "have been stabbed in the back by this sign removal campaign. The sign ban has created undue hardships on hundreds of small businesses throughout Eastern and Central Michigan during the past two years."

The state highway department had to enforce the memorandum in order to assure a continuing flow of federal aid funds for highway construction in Michigan.

Thousands of dollars were spent by businessmen to comply with 30-day notices to remove signs. "Much of this money could have been spent in promotion and in upgrading facilities," Hall commented. "This action by the highway department is a disgrace to the State of Michigan."

Hall endorsed the proposal of William Palmer, director of the Associated Petroleum Industries Committee of Michigan, to rewrite the state law pertaining to the placement of advertising identification signs within the highway right-of-way when signs do not impair the flow of traffic or create a traffic hazard. Such a state law would then confront the Federal Bureau of Roads regulation.

Hall said that other states had not been forced to remove signs violating the highway right-of-way. He names South Dakota as an example where 27 percent of the signs identifying business establishments were located within the right-of-way and not one sign had been removed.

All efforts to thwart the enforcement of the federal regulation in Michigan have been denied, according to Hall. Congressmen from several Michigan districts, along with Sen. Philip Hart, have been asked to intercede in behalf of Michigan businessmen during 1962 and 1963 without success.

The sign removal program started in early 1962 in the out-state areas of Michigan. Recently, cities have come under the removal ban including Charlotte, Hudsonville and Saline.

"The small businesses in out-state Michigan were picked on to kick off this anti-business campaign of the federal government and the state highway department because they were the easiest to pick on," declared Hall.

"The small operators, including many members of the East Michigan Tourist Association, could not afford expensive court actions to fight the unfair regulation. Many complied because they had no choice—they gave in to the regulation rather than take the chance that the highway department would destroy their signs after the 30-day period."

The regulations hurt Michigan tourist operators. Resorts with reservations were missed by guests on highways where signs had been removed or had been set back into the woods.

"The EMTA is dedicated to the job of attracting tourists and vacationers to our region," said Hall. "But when many of them came they could not find business establishments where they desired to purchase products or services."

"Many will never return to Michigan and as a result thousands of dollars of tourist revenues have already been lost. Investments have been lost with resulting loss of jobs, caused by the enforcement of this unfair federal regulation."

turn-around at the foot of New-man Street in the state park. He said that the city had been unable to convince the state conservation department of the need for such a turn-around. He pointed out that because of crowded conditions during the summer months, cars often have to back out of the park.

McKenzie also objected to requiring autos to have state park stickers during the winter months. He said that one day recently 20 tickets had been issued to unemployment applicants who parked cars near the community building.
"This, I feel, is unfair," said McKenzie. "The park is closed and the city allows the Michigan Employment Commission the free use of the building and I do not know why the park officer has to treat our residents of the city and area in this manner."

East Tawas will elect a new justice of the peace April 1 to succeed Mrs. Celia Berzhinski, who resigned recently. Candidates for the office would be required to run on stickers or names can be written on ballots.

The council passed a resolution authorizing a hearing to be held on closing of the south 120 feet of Pearl Street located between Schreck Lumber Company and Humphrey Motor Sales. Application had been made by the Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company. Voting yes were Alderman Ralph Meyers, Clifford Wilkinson, Edward Seifert and James Campbell. A no vote was cast by James DeKosia.

Two Plead Guilty When Arraigned Monday in Court

Guilty pleas were entered by two men Monday afternoon when arraigned before Isoco Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller.
D. E. Tracy of New Carlisle, Ohio, paid a fine of $52.50 on conviction of uttering and publishing and paid restitution to the Barnes Hotel.
Bernd Ratfisch of Bay City was convicted of larceny from the Self-Serve Laundry, East Tawas, and was referred to Probation Officer Philip Gidley for presentence report.

Today's Teen

TODAY'S TEEN is Robert Frank, 16-year-old junior at Tawas Area High School. His subjects this year are English III, typing, United States History and shop III. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Frank of Sand Lake.

3 Area Students Named to Dean's Honor List at Ferris

Three area residents were among the nearly 600 Ferris State College students who were named to the dean's honor list for academic excellence during the past quarter, Dr. Ardwin J. Dolio, vice president for academic affairs, has announced.

To be named to the dean's honor list, a student must maintain at least a B average while carrying a full academic load.

The students were Janet Czajka, freshman in the school of commerce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Czajka, Tawas City; Robert Smith, freshman in the school of pharmacy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, Tawas City; Daryle Salisbury, sophomore in the school of commerce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Salisbury, Hale.

Gordon Huck Heads Joint Water Board; Hatton is Secretary

Gordon Huck was re-elected chairman and Howard Hatton as secretary of the joint East Tawas-Tawas City water board at its January 10 meeting.
Cost of operation of the filtration plant at East Tawas was reviewed for 1963. Proposed fluoridation of the water supply was discussed. It was reported that annual cost of material used in the process would be approximately $581 and it would cost $1,600 to put the treatment into operation.

Supervisors

Durant felt that all taxing units in the county should make this change at the same time.
The board allocated $500 to the Silver Valley Winter Sports Committee for advertising purposes.
The Isoco County Road Commission has been asked to submit a report to the board stating the amount of federal, state and local funds received by that department.

County Clerk George Prescott reported that he has complied with an order from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission stopping issuance of liquor identification cards.
The county is to advertise for bids on installing a 2,000-gallon underground gasoline tank and meter behind the jail for use of the sheriff's department.

Supervisors Edward Nelkie of Tawas Township, C. S. Everett of Tawas City, Charles Smith of Oscoda, L. S. Little of Grant Township and Chairman Henry Oates of Alabaster Township were authorized to attend the State Association of Supervisors meeting being held January 21, 22 and 23 at Lansing.

The board approved paying wages of $1,080 for the secretary to the Isoco County Planning Commission. Chairman William Inglis reported that the commission had made much progress during the past several months.

Zellmer

services. "I wonder how many of us would do it," he asks with a concerned smile.
In 1941, Zellmer was called to Portland, Oregon, as missionary to the deaf for the Oregon-Washington District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. In those days, only 19 missionaries were available and they tried to cover the entire nation as best they could. Zellmer found himself responsible for three states, plus two state schools for the deaf which included 800 Protestant children. As the only Protestant clergyman knowing sign-language in the entire Northwest, Zellmer "wasted" only four hours per night in sleep.

In 1941, he began his first professional study of art. "I had to," he asserts, "The children had no ears to hear their God. Their questioning eyes forced me to the study of art, which eventually became my greatest love."

In the late 1940s, over work took its toll. A nervous breakdown eventually forced him to leave the ministry, following doctor's advice. Again and again, during the following years, he tested his health, sought specialized medical aid, but had to admit that congregational work was incompatible with his health.

As designer for Anderson, however, he learned that he could spend long hours in the quietness of his own studio and still endure. Here was his return to the ministry, he decided. He would make his brush his pulpit. To do so, again he demanded versatility of himself. By now, having five accredited years of commercial art courses behind him, he achieved four more accredited years in the fine arts field. Further, a leading graphic arts director in Portland, Oregon, had given him several years of apprenticeship in photography and lithography.

Humbly he adds, "I am grateful for my varied training. It has made of me a very unbiassed artist, who can appreciate a commercial artist as much as a Picasso, or realism as much as abstractionism. I believe that America would benefit much, could we all remain unbiased and see beauty where we find it, not where politics and promotion would like to put it."

For years, hours away from the office have been spent by Zellmer at religious illustration for various organizations. He found his greatest love, however, in the unique television program, "Bible Story Time," originating from KSTP-TV, St. Paul, Minnesota. The program uses 30 huge paintings each week to bring Christ to the tiny tots. Nation-wide artists combine their versatile and varying techniques, to create an ever new approach to Scriptures, by methods that hold children spell bound before the television screen.

In past months, Zellmer has painted literally hundreds of religious illustrations for the venture. He serves also as art director for "Bible Story Time."

Says Zellmer: "The program is growing to the extent that a large managing staff became mandatory. Hopes for the future include a nation-wide network where, God willing, every child in the nation will have opportunity to learn God's Word, right in their own home. We are not yet hooked into Michigan; but I am sure that as elsewhere, Christians will find a thrill of being part of this most worthwhile venture in our state. We have television tape available, so that the program need not limit itself to the networks alone.

"We are grateful to God to receive words of gratitude from Protestantism throughout our coverage area. At present, we cover Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Wisconsin and will soon begin tape hook-ups with Oregon and Washington on the West Coast. What is more essential in America today than to train our youth the return to God?"

"Finally, I understand why the Lord led me through numerous art experiences and limited my health to the painting easel. His ways are always good," concluded the Rev. Zellmer as he picked up the brush and went back to work.

Auto Negligence Suit Changed to Isoco Circuit Court

A $200,000 civil action auto negligence cause has had a change of venue from Oakland County to Isoco County Circuit Court.
Roland S. Boughner, who claims he was injured as a passenger in a car driven by Wilfred Holzheimer of Hale, seeks damages against Holzheimer, a minor, and his father, Frederick Holzheimer.
The crash occurred August 20, 1960, on M-65. Boughner is now a resident of Oakland County.

Constitution

equalized valuation is set each year by the State Tax Commission and its figures reviewed by the State Board of Equalization before finalizing and sent on to every county board of supervisors.
"The State Tax Commission seemingly has no confidence in the ability of supervisors to properly assess the real and personal property in areas they represent and perhaps have lived a lifetime. The 1963 figures are enough to cause tax conscious people to wonder if there is any redress in sight. Assessing officers and supervisors in 1963 placed a combined valuation on the 83 counties of Michigan of $17,259,396,597," Prescott emphasized. "Our State Board of Equalization, three members of the State Tax Commission sitting thereon, raised that figure to $25,797,485,100. Here was made available over 8½ billion dollars for taxation purposes under the supreme court ruling first mentioned.
"Next week's article will tell just what this does to us tax wise here in our own county," Prescott said.

Also showing a decrease during the past year was the total number of liens, from $37,352.06 in 1962 to $19,383.78 in 1963.
Chattel mortgages filed showed an increase of $320,668, with a total of $6,640,375.36 during the past year. Sale of revenue stamps also showed an increase during the past year.
