Sawyer-Hall Win Tawas River Race

Ralph Sawyer and Stan Hall, veteran Oscoda paddling team, won Sunday's 12th annual Tawas River Canoe Race, besting a field of 14 contestants.

The Oscoda team jumped into a narrow lead shortly after the opening gun on Tawas Lake and then led the pack over the seven-mile course.

Sawyer's and Hall's winning time of 56 minutes, one second, was one minute, 57 seconds better than the record set last year by Sawyer when he was teamed up with Pat Widing.

In second place, only 56 seconds behind, was the Detroit area team of Norman Rogers, 27, and Blaine Brown, 36, who were within striking distance all of the way but could never quite make up the distance gained by Sawyer and Hall at the outset.

A real race developed for third place between Edward Wojahn, 26, East Tawas, and Jerry Lauwers, 23, Tawas City. The Flint area team of John Mandock, 33, formerly of East Tawas, and Ed Adams, 32, winner of a recent Texas marathon, held the third position throughout the route down the Tawas River and were still leading with only about 300 yards to go before reaching the finish line.

Mandock and Adams overturned in a tricky sea near the Tawas City Park dock but were still able to bring their canoe in for the 10th position. Three other canoes were swamped in the area of the dock. One, paddled by Charles H. Versteeg, 23, Romulus, and Ronald G. Erber, 22, East Lansing, required assistance of a pleasure boat.

For their efforts, $75 in prize money went to Sawyer and Hall, along with trophies. The next two places also won prize money of $25 and $15 and trophies went to the first 10 places.

The junior division was won by Todd and Rod Gillings of Prescott, who completed the course from Tawas Lake to the Tawas River mouth in 57 minutes, 25 seconds. Second place went to Jerry Grosser and John Gilbert, Traverse City, and third went to Kirby Clayton and Dick Gillings, Prescott.

Contestants in the senior division, besides the money winners, were: Jerry and Jeff Kellogg, Muskegon; Wayne Richardson, Garden City, and Jack Kolka, Livonia; Daniel Geasco, Davison, and Cecil Lame, Flint; Howard Higgins Jr. and Jim Corvan, Ossineke; Charlie Furtaw and Ron Hohman, Oscoda; Jack Kent of Atlanta and Bob Gillings, Lansing; Darwin Gilbert, Traverse City, and Harold J. Headley, Atlanta; Fred Harris, Flint, and Stew Gates, Grand Blanc; David Massey and Kerry Jorgenson, Ossineke; Ed Butler and Harold Webster, Oscoda; Versteeg and Erber finishing last.

Completing the list of junior entries were Charles Swindell and Charles Schlund, Oscoda; Florin Widing and Randy DeWitt, Holly; Candice Massey and Kathleen Higgins, the lone girl team, Ossineke; Albert Widing Jr. and Galen Widing, Holly; Eugene Evans and Chris Miller, East Tawas.

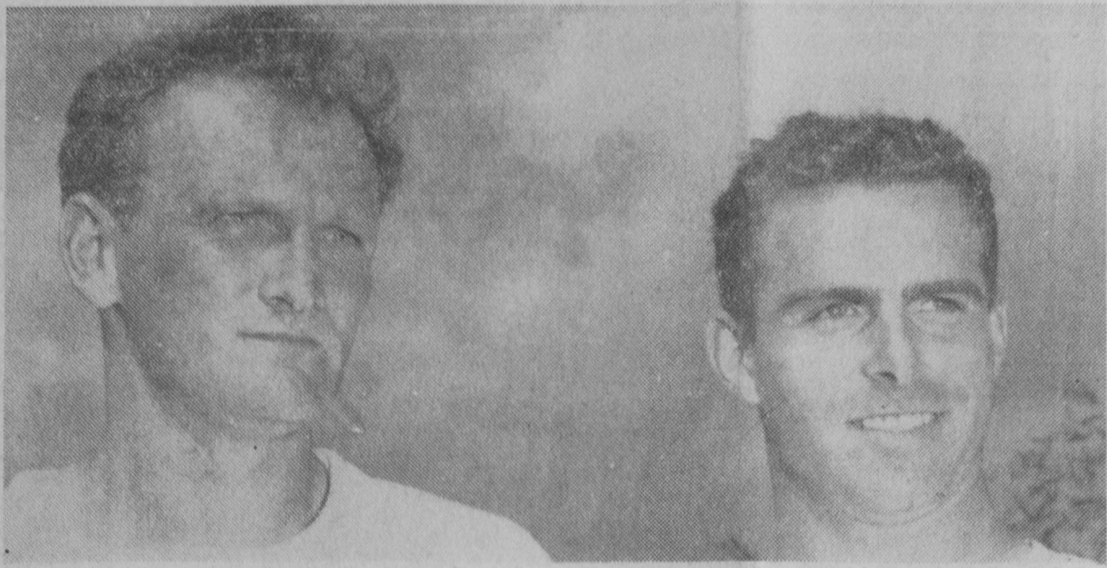

Hugo Wojahn again chairmanned the race committee and was assisted by Walter Champion, Howard Silverthorn, Hugo Keiser, Cecil Cabbie.

CHAMPIONS of the Tawas River Canoe Race for 1965 are Stan Hall, left, and Ralph Sawyer, both of Oscoda, who completed the course Sunday in 56 minutes, one second, beating 14 other teams.

WINNING second and third place were the teams of Norman Rogers, left, and Blaine Brown, second place, and Ed Wojahn and Jerry Lauwers, third place.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Judge Limits Damages in Gypsum Dock Suit

Damages totaling $63,850 have been awarded to 13 plaintiffs who brought suit against National Gypsum Company concerning construction and operation of its lake loading facilities south of Tawas City.

This total was far below the more than one-half million dollars in damages sought by 23 plaintiffs, but not allowed by Isco Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller.

THE FINAL decision by Judge Miller appeared to be a clear-cut victory for the gypsum company. He found the construction of the dock, turning basin and channel as well as its operation, do not constitute a nuisance and do not cause damage to the real estate of property owners outside of the immediate vicinity.

He also found that such construction and operation have not caused a depreciation in the real estate, nor a reduction in the rate of appreciation as to properties that are back from the waterfront; also, that operations of the defendant, other than those indemnified in his opinion, can be regulated so as to contain the inconveniences within "such reasonable limits as are experienced by any member of a complex society."

JUDGE MILLER retained jurisdiction of the operation to promulgate and enforce regulations that defendants' operations are kept within reasonable limits.

Although damage hearings began one year ago, this case has been in the courts since 1948 and has been to the Michigan Supreme Court twice.

In May 1956, National Gypsum Company purchased 11 acres of land between US-23 and Lake Huron south of Tawas City with about 600 feet of lake frontage. A lake loading facility and stockpile area were constructed at a cost of around three million dollars. The project ran into immediate trouble with adjacent property owners and has been in the courts nearly continuously since then.

In his opinion, Judge Miller ruled that the only damage is in the fact that the appreciation of values in the post-dock period had not matched that in other areas, although he noted conflicting testimony on this. Findings of the court were made individually on each parcel, taking into consideration the nature of improvement and proximity to the dock and conveyer.

Judge Miller said that determining realty damage is a difficult one because of the fact that this waterfront property has continually appreciated in value during the interval involved. He said that what affect high water would have is also the subject of conflicting testimony by men of good reputation in their fields. He noted that low water has aggravated the present complaint of shore-owners.

The opinion allowed five percent interest on realty and beach rights accrued when the dock was completed in 1958.

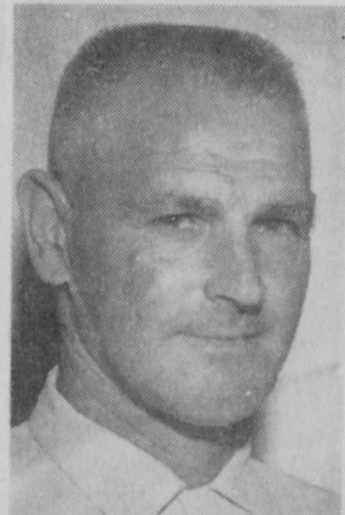

Special damages included temporary loss of use in land and cottages during times of the year when nuisance was at its peak and miscellaneous claims of aggravation connected with roads and gypsum dust, smoke, etc.

"GENERALLY, through experience in handling these problems and modifications of procedures as time passed, these items of nuisance passed from the unreasonable to the class of reasonableness which is associated with living anywhere," said Judge Miller. "This area involved is constantly changing from rural to suburban by reason of additional full-time residents and cottages, even without industrial development."

His opinion noted that lake freighters caused water, at times, to become muddy and emitted large amounts of smoke laden with fly-ash. He also noted occasional nuisances from loading. He found that the dock affects littoral drift of sand and that rates of appreciation of water front parcels had been reduced. He said that lots north of the dock increased in value from $30 a foot to $90 in the period from 1952 to and through post-dock period.

HE SAID the court had no authority to award expenses of the litigants beyond those provided for by statutes as taxable costs and he said that such costs may be taxed.

Six attorneys were involved in (See DOCK SUIT, page 6.)

Michigan Gravel Group Guests at Straits Plant

A group of 25 members of the Michigan Sand and Gravel Association were guests Monday of the Detroit and Mackinac Railway and Straits Aggregate Corporation on a tour of the firm's facilities at Big Cut (Millersburg), Alpena County.

The group boarded a special two-car train in the general office, Tawas City, for the trip to Alpena, Big Cut and Rogers City.

At Big Cut, the group inspected Straits Aggregate's new washed sand and gravel plant constructed three months ago at a cost of more than $100,000. Explaining features of the new plant was Vern Hamlin, general manager of Straits Aggregate.

After spending an hour at Big Cut, the group visited United States Steel Corporation's plant at Rogers City and also saw Straits Aggregate's second washed gravel plant at Greenbush enroute north.

That evening, the visitors were guests at a dinner held at the Holland Hotel.

All of the visitors are owners or operators of fixed gravel plants in Michigan. Among those attending were Charles Gooding, Ypsilanti, president of the association, and Lloyd Reid, Detroit, executive director. Hosts for the day were Charles A. Pinkerton Jr., chairman of the D&M's board of directors, and William J. Pinkerton, D&M and Straits president. This was the first "passenger" run over the D&M since 1962 when a special was run to Bay City for a political campaign. The road discontinued regular passenger service in 1951.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, evolved by Atomic Force?" will be the subject of the Bible lesson to be heard at Christian Science services throughout the world on Sunday.

Scriptural passages will include this verse from Isaiah: "I will bring the blind by a way that they knew not; I will lead them in paths that they have not known: I will make darkness light before them, and crooked things straight." The concluding Bible citation is from Revelation: "And he that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new."

The theme will be taken up further in readings from the Christian Science textbook: "The true theory of the universe, including man, is not in material history but in spiritual development. . . . Spiritual evolution alone is worthy of the exercise of divine power" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, pp. 547, 135).

Our God whom we serve is able to deliver us. . . . But if not, be it known unto thee, O King, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image.—Daniel 3:17-18

A decree went out to the people of Babylon that they should bow down and worship the golden image Nebuchadnezzar set up. Those who did not obey would be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace.

Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego had been assigned to positions of responsibility in the province. They were young and ambitious and the best way for them to advance would have been to gain the favor of the king. But they loved their God more than personal gain. To be true to God, they could do no other than defy the king's decree.

Therefore, in accordance with the penalty for violation of the decree, the faithful, courageous young men were bound and placed in the furnace. God did not prevent them from entering the burning fiery furnace but he delivered them from the fire. Their astonishing deliverance so impressed the king that he favored their God and promoted them in the province.

PRAYER
Our Father, we thank Thee for great Biblical characters who remained true to Thee. May we so live that when the greatest test comes we can confidently believe Thou wilt deliver us. In Thy Son's name we offer our prayer. Amen.

Motorists Who Kill Deer May Keep Venison-New Law

Resident motorists killing deer on Michigan's highways are now able to keep the animals they hit, the Michigan Conservation Department announced. The department's new immediate-effect policy is tied to the state's spiraling increase of vehicle-deer collisions which reached a record high of nearly 6,000 in 1964.

With the number of these accidents jumping steadily during the last five years, conservation officers have been hard pressed to dispose of the animals struck down by motorists. At the same time, many drivers experiencing run-ins with deer have asked officers to give them the animals.

In many cases where deer have not been too badly mangled by vehicles and meat spoilage has not occurred, the department has turned the animals over to lunch programs of schools, county sheriff's departments and other public institutions.

However, because of the sheer number of deer slaughtered on the state's roads, there often is not enough time to save the meat. "Under our new policy, we hope to cut this waste of venison and, by the same token, give motorists some sort of compensation for the vehicle damage they suffer," explains John A. Anquilm, chief of the department's law enforcement section.

"With each smashup between whitetails and cars costing an average of about $200 in repairs, we do not anticipate that people will deliberately try to hit deer as a means of putting meat on the table," he adds.

In keeping deer they have killed, motorists will need to obtain permits or dispose of their animals' meat within 30 days after permits are obtained. They may not give the animals to someone else.

Both of these regulations are also designed to prevent illegal possession of venison. To avoid causing deer possession problems with other states, non-residents will not be allowed to take home whitetails which they hit in Michigan.

Spotted fawns and other immature deer killed by vehicles will not be turned over to motorists because they have little meat to be salvaged for eating.

With the worst months for vehicle-deer accidents still ahead, latest department field reports show that slightly more than 1,400 whitetails had met death along the state's highways through the end of last April. The toll for this period was down about 12 percent from the year before.

Pfc. Revord Serves With First Cavalry Division in Korea

Army PFC Allen A. Revord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Revord, Turner, was assigned to the first cavalry division in Korea May 21. Revord, a Jeep driver in the first battalion of the division's ninth cavalry, entered the United States Army in May 1964 and was last stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

The 22-year-old soldier was graduated from Tawas Area High School in 1961.

Keith A. Schreiber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen H. Schreiber, East Tawas, has been promoted to staff sergeant in the United States Air Force at Hickam Air Force Base, Hawaii.

Sergeant Schreiber is an aircraft structural repairman in a unit that supports the Pacific air forces mission of providing airpower for the defense of the United States and its allies in the Pacific area. The sergeant is a graduate of Tawas Area High School.

Each Family Needs 'Lifeguard,' Urges Conservation Dept.

"A lifeguard in every family" is what the Michigan Conservation Department is urging state park swimmers following five recent drownings at public recreation areas in Southern Michigan.

In at least four of these water fatalities, the victims could have been saved if someone had been watching over them, state park supervisors believe.

Three of those who drowned were swimming from boats in unsupervised offshore areas, which again points up the need for every water user to have his own personal lifeguard, whether it is mom, dad, big brother or a buddy.

Department parks officials explain that their regular staff of lifeguards, which goes on duty this month, cannot keep an eye on every swimmer all the time. Nor, they say, should these men be considered built-in baby sitters.

"Our lifeguards are there to keep an over-all watch on the situation, but they cannot be responsible for every person who goes into the water," reports Arthur C. Elmer, department parks chief.

"The job of supervision is everybody's business and that applies especially so to parents of young children," he adds.

In hopes of preventing other drownings, the department is encouraging state park users to swim in marked areas where dangers are at a minimum and where park lifeguards will have a chance to rescue them if they need help.

Another department safety pointer calls for recreationists to swim parallel to the shore instead of from one side of the lake to the other. Along these same lines, it warns swimmers not to try to stroke long distances in waters where they will be over their heads in trouble if they get cramps or become exhausted.

AuGres River Harbo Under Discussion

Keith Wilson, director of the Michigan Waterways Commission said last week that a harbor or refuge could be started at the mouth of the AuGres River in the spring of 1967 if planning funds are approved by congress this year.

Wilson said there had been lack of local interest in the Pt. Lookout area and that costs involved in constructing a harbor there would have been excessive. The waterways commission has since decided the Pt. Lookout site should be abandoned and the project authorized for that area be moved to the mouth of the AuGres River.

Cong. Elford A. Cederberg has asked congress to appropriate $80,000 in planning funds for the project.

LOADING pulpwood into rail-read cars at the West Tawas Yards is Laurence E. Clements of Tawas City, one of three truckers who haul logs for AuSable Forest Products Association. Clements' hydraulically-operated rig and two trucks represents an investment of approximately $28,000 for him.—Tawas Herald Photos.

MODERN-DAY WOODMAN—Jerry Clements, who will be a senior next fall at Tawas Area High School, is working for his father this summer in hauling pulpwood logs. Lumberjacks of long ago would be amazed with today's methods of handling logs. Jerry's hard hat also represents a sign of the times—and he does not wear calked boots when working atop a load of logs.

INSPECTING some peeled cedar posts in the yard at AuSable Forest Products Association, located on Wilber Road just north of Tawas City, are V. B. Shults, right, general manager, and Gary Whitford, secretary. The two men have general charge of business operations of the association, including marketing, purchasing and handling all products and supplies.

AuSable—

Forest Products Co-Op Shows Sturdy Growth

AuSable Forest Products Association has logged a steady and sturdy growth in membership and dollar sales since it began back in 1940.

A cooperative association of woodland owners in Iosco and Alcona Counties, AuSable acts as an agent for its patrons in arranging for sales. Representatives of the association negotiate with buyers on volume, price and other terms of sale.

Back in 1940 when the association was first organized, its dollar sales amounted to $3,000 for a few months operation. Today, sales have stretched to almost one-half million dollars annually and the original 20 charter members have now expanded to more than 180.

The sale of pulpwood is the association's primary source of income. However, the cooperative does market other wood products whenever it is thought advantageous for members.

Its record of accomplishments show more income to woodland owner members, improved forest management practices, a stabilized wood supply and better quality wood products in sufficient volume to sell more effectively.

In addition to providing more employment opportunities, the association has meant increased income from timber—offsetting decreases in farm income.

Idea for the cooperative came from the late William B. Piper, United States Forest Service at East Tawas, who cultivated the idea enthusiastically with the help of many others, including other forest service personnel, until the co-op today is able to stand erect and alone.

After representatives of the association "feel out" the market, contracts are drawn up between the individual member and the cooperative. The member agrees to cut a specified volume of wood, deliver it to the association and load it on a railway freight car. The cooperative agrees to collect the money, deduct costs involved in making the sale plus advance payment and return the net balance to the member.

AuSable Forest Products Association is incorporated and received a charter from the State of Michigan authorizing it to conduct operations in keeping with stated objectives and purposes. In addition, by-laws have been adopted to provide rules for regulating its affairs. Provisions included membership requirements, rules governing financing of the cooperative and duties of management.

Affairs of the association are conducted by members who elect a board of six directors and vote on organizational questions at an annual meeting.

V. B. Shults is general manager of the association and has charge of business operations, including marketing, purchasing and handling all products and supplies. Gary Whitford is secretary of the association.

Today, the association markets approximately 22,000 cords of pulpwood annually.

Its principal buyers are Scott Paper Company at Detroit and S. D. Warren Company, Muskegon. Included in the pulp logs are spruce, balsam, poplar and jack pine. The association also markets cedar posts.

Benefits from this forest products cooperative have spread and multiplied during the past 25 years. Money received from selling wood products has filled a gap in members' personal income, varying from $50 a year up to several thousand.

While the association's volume is about equally divided between private and federally-owned stumpage, AuSable Forest Products Association is the primary outlet for the National Forest stumpage in the area.

Included In State Fact Finding Survey

Iosco County Airport is included in a state-wide aviation fact finder survey to be conducted this summer by the Michigan Department of Aeronautics. James D. Ramsey, director of the department, announced that a total of 37 communities would be involved in the survey beginning June 18 and ending September 6.

Personnel will be furnished by the department to conduct the summer-long survey, which will serve to update a similar survey conducted by the department in 1962. At that time, the fact finder revealed total annual aircraft operations in the state of 3,963,000—7.2 percent by air carrier, 91.4 percent by general aviation and 1.4 percent by military.

Ramsey expects that in 1965, tabulation of aircraft movements and economic factors will show an increased amount of traffic and greater expenditures. The 1962 survey revealed that nonresident aviation passengers expended more than $110,000,000 annually in Michigan.

Framed Portrait Removed from Above Court Bench

A huge framed portrait of Pres. Lyndon B. Johnson, which hung over the circuit court bench in the new Arenac County Courthouse at Standish, was recently removed at the insistence of a visiting judge.

"The picture measured about seven feet by four feet and only a bent nail was holding it up," commented Judge Allan C. Miller of East Tawas. He was filling the bench for Arenac County Judge Dennis O'Keefe, who is recuperating from illness.

The picture had been hung only a few days prior to his visit and Judge Miller believed it was unsafe to sit under it. That must have been the reason, as in Michigan, circuit judges are elected on the nonpartisan ballot.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

ALL THE WORLD LOVES A CLOWN! The young and the young at heart all have a very special feeling for the fringed haired charmers... be they sad or happy. We have one for you today that's a delight to make in a kaleidoscope of brilliant shades of knitting worsted and who is sure to be a much appreciated gift to a child.

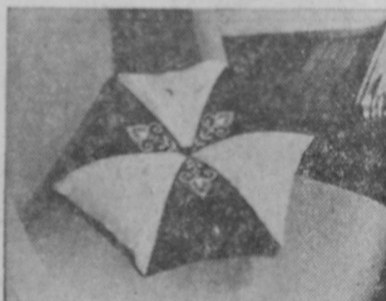

JOLLY JESTER

Today's gentle faced comic is a long stretch of 20 1/2 inches of charming crocheted design. He's white-faced, topped with fluffy orange hair and emerald green hat. His "costume" is a smashing striped suit of canary yellow and amethyst and his oversized hands and feet would rival the best of the most successful circus clowns. He's interesting enough to be a gift all by himself, or as a "little" present to keep on hand when some special occasion arises.

AS IS, OR AN ORIGINAL

You can do your clown in the colors indicated in the pattern or, if your special gift-getter has favorite colors, you can make up your own striking combination... there's no problem since the knitting worsted used comes in such a wide range. Free instructions are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper along with your request for Leaflet PC 2725.

THERE'S NO "HEX" on our Hexagonal Pillow! In fact, it's a welcome addition to any home. Use it in a corner of your couch, on a teen-ager's bed, or as the "Piece de resistance" among a pile of pillows. Can you ever have enough pillows around the house?

STITCHES AND KNOTS

A mere three-quarters of a yard of material (plus one half yard of muslin for lining) is required for this interesting six sided pillow. Sharp, contrasting colors might be just the thing for your room. For instance, black and white go wonderfully with a modern decor—or you could use a soft pink for your chaise lounge. You might even consider various shades of the same color for a sophisticated effect. The embroidery is so easy to do; the satin, blanket, and lazy daisy stitch, plus a few French knots, and it's fit for a Spanish Queen.

A CONVERSATION PIECE

Why not make several of these during your leisure hours, and give a "new look" to your home? When you take this out of your sewing basket, it's sure to be a conversation piece among your friends. Free instructions, including a detailed diagram, are available. Simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper, along with your request for Leaflet PE 1920.

EVEN LITTLE GIRLS love toy trains and you can imagine how delighted one would be with having some built right in (locomotive and all!) to a polka dotted apron. You might have to do two, since she'll just never want to take it off.

AN IRON-ON ORIGINAL

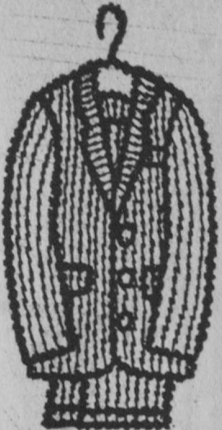

The cutting and sewing of the apron is simplicity itself and you will need only one yard of cotton polka dot fabric to create this custom-made design. A complete actual size diagram is given in the pattern for the applique and the brighter the colors you choose, the better. The trains are enchanting but simple and fun to do since they're cut from "BONDEX". This is the marvelous fabric which is applied to another fabric by the simple pressure of an iron. A sweeping stream of smoke is added by sewing a strip of rick rack from the "smoke stack" up across the apron.

A VARIATION

If you want a change from polka dots, it would be a charming idea to do an apron in a soft blue denim, trimming it with trains in pretty bright reds, white and a brilliant blue. Free instructions, including detailed diagrams, are available by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper along with your request for Leaflet PPE 1139.

"It's not like stopping an automobile, you know. It requires considerable distance to bring a long train of cars to a stop."

Speaking was a locomotive engineer for the Detroit and Mackinac Railway, who prefers to remain anonymous in this story.

He was telling the Herald editor the other day of the serious problem confronting locomotive engineers—right here in Tawas City.

"Young children, playing along the right-of-way between the D&M bridge behind the county building to the M-55 intersection, often dart across the tracks ahead of the locomotive or stand in the middle of the tracks and then jump out of the way at the last instant," stated the engineer.

"My heart has been in my mouth a couple of times when this happened. Think what would happen if the child should suddenly stumble and fall on the tracks!"

The engineer asked the Herald to warn all parents of the danger involved in allowing their children to play near the railroad tracks.

A family man himself, the engineer said he would probably "just die," himself, if an accident like this should ever happen.

So, parents, take heed. Warn your children of this danger. You may have read about an instance recently where two boys decided to see who was "chicken." One boy did not make it.

Flint Man Injured in M-55 Crash Sunday

A 23-year-old Flint man, Robert R. Luce, was treated Sunday, June 6, at Tawas Hospital for a chin laceration he received when his car crashed on M-55, one mile east of Sand Lake Road. Iosco Sheriff's Department officers said Luce's car traveled 900 feet after it left the pavement.

Selected to Take Part in Ferris State Honors Band Clinic

Diane Langlois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Langlois, East Tawas, was selected to participate in Ferris State College's eighth annual honors band clinic held on the college campus June 11-13. Dr. Dacho Dachoff, Ferris music director, recently announced.

Limited to topflight musicians from among high school graduates who have been formally accepted for admission to Ferris State College, participation in the honors band clinic provides the newcomers with a preview of the institution's music program and an opportunity to join with the college's concert band in playing advanced works under expert direction.

Climaxing the three-day event was an appearance of the entire honors band at the college's June 13 commencement where Prof. Mark Hindsley, director of bands, University of Illinois, served as guest conductor.

Receives Honors at Ferris Spring Academic Banquet

Robert M. Smith of Tawas City was among the nearly 200 Ferris State College students honored for outstanding scholarship at the traditional spring academic honors banquet. Serving as a banquet highlight was an address by Hope College president, Dr. Calvin VanderWerf, entitled "You and the Knowledge Explosion."

Honored were FSC students who have compiled a consistently high honor-point average, students who have merited specific academic awards and those who this year were selected for listing in "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities."

Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, was saluted for high scholastic achievement. He is a major in the college's school of pharmacy.

Ladies Luncheons

by Marion Latzko

WHEN you're planning a luncheon for the ladies, you need foods that are light, luscious, and lovely to look at. This is the time that you bring out your prettiest dishes and silver and look for those "special" and unusual recipes.

Golden Treasure Ham Rolls will fit these needs well. Corn bread and carrots are combined in a stuffing that is basted with orange juice and brown sugar sauce just long enough to impart its delicate flavor. Peach halves with Apricot Golden Dressing and a green vegetable complete this colorful meal.

Shrimp Crabwiches will take honors at a party meal too. They are so quick to prepare, you'll almost feel guilty taking bows for their delightful flavor.

Fresh fruit salads, in any combination, are always well received. Your artistic impulse can guide their arrangement for lovely individual plates. A Celery Seed Sweet-Sour Dressing goes very well with fruits. The natural accompaniment is nut and fruit bread such as New Pineapple Nut Bread. If you wish, you can serve a seafood salad or sliced ham too. If you use seafood, you might like to decorate with a Hawaiian-type theme. Since flowers are in abundance at this time of year, you could even string a fresh flower lei for each guest by using stout thread and non-staining flowers such as small dahlias, chrysanthemums, cornflowers, or daisies.

Tiny chocolate topped cream puffs are a glamorous dessert and are easier to make than you might think. They are sure to be a sensation at the end of your light, lovely, luscious luncheon.

CELERY SEED DRESSING

1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon paprika
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon salt

½ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 cup oil
1 tablespoon celery seed

Mix in saucepan sugar, paprika, dry mustard and salt; stir in vinegar. Heat; boil just 3 minutes. Pour into small bowl of mixer; add grated onion. Cool to lukewarm, then beat till thick. Gradually add oil, beating until very thick. Gently stir in celery seed. Chill. Makes about 1½ cups thick, sweet-sour dressing which keeps well and does not separate.

NEW PINEAPPLE NUT BREAD

1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup chopped California walnuts
½ cup seeded raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained)
¼ cup brown sugar, firmly packed

3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
2 eggs
1 cup crushed pineapple, not drained (an 8½ oz. flat can)

Topping:

2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Sift first four ingredients onto paper. Add walnuts and raisins. In bowl beat together brown sugar, butter and eggs, till fluffy. Stir in half the flour mixture, then the pineapple with its syrup, then rest of flour, beating just until smooth each time. Pour into greased 9x5x3" pan; sprinkle top with mixed sugar and cinnamon. Bake at 350 (moderate) 60 to 70 minutes, or until done. Cool on rack.

GOLDEN TREASURE HAM ROLLS

Yield: 12 rolls

12 slices smoked ham (thinly sliced)
3 cups crumbled corn bread
1½ cups shredded carrots
¾ cup water

¾ cup orange juice
3 tablespoons light brown sugar
¼ cup butter, melted
½ teaspoon powdered cloves

Cook the grated carrots in ¾ cup water until tender. Combine crumbled corn bread, gloves, carrots and liquid, and butter. Place ¾ cup mixture on each ham slice. Roll and secure with wooden pick. Arrange in baking dish. Dissolve brown sugar in orange juice and spoon one half of the mixture over ham rolls. Cover baking dish with lid or foil. Bake in 350° F. oven for 20 minutes. Baste once with remaining orange juice mixture.

APRICOT GOLD DRESSING

Yield: Approx. ¾ cup

Mash 3-ounce package cream cheese until soft. Blend in ½ cup orange juice, ½ teaspoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon light corn syrup, and a few grains of salt. Beat in ½ cup apricot pastry filling.

PROFITEROLES AU CHOCOLAT

½ cup flour
¼ cup butter
½ cup boiling water

2 eggs
Cocoa Whipped Cream
Fudge Sauce

Sift flour; measure. Add shortening to water in saucepan and bring to a boil. Reduce heat; add flour all at once, stirring rapidly. Cook and stir until mixture thickens and leaves sides of pan — about 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each. Then beat until mixture is satiny and breaks off when spoon is raised.

Use a pastry bag with ¾-inch opening and force mixture onto ungreased cookie sheet, shaping into 1-inch mounds. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) until golden brown, about 17 minutes. When cool, cut off tops, fill with Cocoa Whipped Cream, and replace tops. Use 4 or 5 puffs for each serving and serve with hot Fudge Sauce. Makes 3½ dozen puffs, or about 8 to 10 servings.

To Make Cocoa Whipped Cream. Combine 1 cup whipping cream, 2 tablespoons cocoa, 4 tablespoons confectioners' sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, and 1 teaspoon vanilla in a small bowl. Chill 1 hour. Then beat until cream holds its shape. (Do not overbeat.) Makes 2 cups.

To Make Fudge Sauce. Melt 3 squares unsweetened chocolate and 5 tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Add 3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar alternately with 1 cup undiluted evaporated milk; blend well after each addition. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until mixture becomes thick and creamy — about 8 minutes. Stir in vanilla. Serve warm. Makes 2½ cups.

GRASSROOTS GLEANINGS

More than 500 man-made objects from the United States and Russia are still orbiting the earth, observes The Columbia (Mo.) Missourian.
"Everybody likes to play with toys," says the Missourian, "but few are willing to help put them away."

The Lima (Ohio) News reports that you will soon be able to choose a carpet that will match the color of the dirt around your house. Some sort of a study by the Department of Agriculture is to furnish the carpet makers with the necessary information.

Obviously it will not be long now before you can go to a friend's house and say, "What a beautifully dirty carpet you have."

The Semo News, of Lilbourn, Mo., in an outdoor column suggests that anyone hungry for frogs' legs can have same by hunting frogs with a slingshot that uses marbles for ammunition.

This sounds like the sort of sport you might like to get the card club involved in should an opportunity present itself.

The Bottineau (N.D.) Courant claims to have heard a congressman say, "My constituents want government hand-out. They want the government to get its hands out of their pockets, is what they really want."

School days are happy days — if your kids are old enough to go, claims The Pipestone (Minn.) County Star.

The Watertown (Wis.) Daily Times speculates that it will not be long before cars have automatic pilots that will guide a vehicle along superhighways in response to special symbols along the road.

How, we would ask the Times, is a father of five going to develop enough trust to turn the restroom problem over to the automatic pilot?

The income tax form is like a girdle, observes The Carlisle (Iowa) Citizen, put the wrong figure in either and you'll get pinched.

Many of the present popular song stylists have faces and figures which do more to recommend them than their voices, says The Traer (Iowa) Star-Clipper.

The trouble with this coming generation is that they are lookin' instead of listenin'.

The Wayne County Press, Fairfield, Ill., reports the second-grader who came home from school and to his mother's inquiry replied that today in school they learned about eagles. "Eagles?" his mother exclaimed. "Yeah," junior said, "you know, two plus two eagles four and three plus two eagles five."

A therapist of matrimonial difficulties, according to the Spencer (Iowa) Times, said that the most prevalent cause of marriage problems is a breakdown in communication between partners. And we just don't believe that he was talking about the difficulty of shouting over the sound of a silage chopper or a herd of bawling cows.

The Buffalo (S.D.) Times-Herald gets credit for this one. "People are saying that you and your husband are not getting along very well together."
"Nonsense, we did have some words and I shot him, but that's as far as it went."

The Petersburg (Ind.) Press says it saw this sign in a beauty salon, "Ten years off for cash."

Most people who jump at conclusions spend most of their lives up in the air, says The Ogemaw (Mich.) Herald.

"As long as most men can't sew on buttons, there'll always be a place in this world for a good woman," claims the Belvidere (Ill.) Daily Republican.

The thigh bone is the longest of 206 bones in the human body, reports the Chronicle-Herald of Macon, Mo. Does anyone have any doubt about which bone is thickest? Clue: It has ears.

"PLOW-IN-OAK-TREE"

by Irving Wallace

NO! It's not April Fool's Day. What you see is authentic! Who put it there, when, and why are questions asked by motorists who pull off the highway near Exira, Iowa, to see the phenomenal sight of a metal plow sticking through a huge Oak tree as if it were an arrow through a paper valentine.

All but the latter question can be answered. It all started back in 1885 when a homesteader, Andrew J. Leffingwell, left his walking plow alongside the field next to an Oak sapling. He, being a prudent farmer, left it upside down, resting on the wooden handles, to keep the plowshare off the moist ground to prevent rusting.

Today, 77 years later, the sapling has grown into a huge tree. At the base it is 50 inches in diameter and where the plow rests the trunk is 32 inches in diameter. Both ends of the plow stick out 14 inches. Because of the arc of the beam, it would be considerably lower inside the tree. The wooden handles have long disappeared.

Oak trees have the reputation of living to a ripe old age, sometimes to be 2,000 years old. On the basis of the tree's growth, it will entirely envelop the plow in another 65 years. Imagine the surprise and mystery someone will have in the far off future if they take this tree to a sawmill and discover the plow inside the trunk!

It remains a puzzle why this man left his plow at the edge of the field. That was 77 Iowa summers ago and the people of Audubon County have long given up trying to solve it. But the name of Andrew J. Leffingwell will long be remembered for every day finds people beating a path to see his plow in the Oak tree alongside of the road.

Whatever the reason, he unwittingly left a memorial to his name. Nature saw to that.
