Fishermen Win Second Round in Court Action

Commercial fishermen won the second round in their bout here Friday with the conservation department in Iosco Circuit Court and there is a possibility that the case will not need a "third round."

During Friday noon's recess on the petition brought by Sam Aikens, Alabaster Township commercial fisherman, a radio announcement by the conservation department's fish division chief stated he would recommend that the conservation commission remove all restrictions on the taking of perch in Michigan's Great Lakes waters.

Dr. Howard A. Tanner, fish division chief, said in a taped broadcast that the reason for his recommendation was that there was an over-population of yellow perch.

The announcement apparently came as a "surprise" to conservation department and attorney general representatives here for the case. A hurried telephone call was made to Lansing confirming the announcement and then introduced into the court by George M. Dahl, law enforcement section of Lansing.

At the conclusion of the court hearing, Judge Allan C. Miller issued a temporary injunction against the conservation department.

"My intent," said Judge Miller, "is that if fish are seized in the round by the conservation department, fishermen shall have an opportunity to show that, if filleted, they would weigh an ounce and three-quarters. If the fish are seized in the filleted form, they must be 1 1/4 ounces and there will be no need of showing what the length was."

"It is not exactly saying there is both the length and weight test, but it is saying that if the fish meet either test—and I think that is what the statute says—they are not illegal."

Basic question in the case was interpretation of the 1929 Michigan law, which has several amendments, establishing the minimum length and weight of commercially-caught perch.

The Michigan Department of Conservation has interpreted the act as specifying that the minimum length of 8 1/2 inches was the determining factor for a legal perch. The department confiscated several truckloads of perch which were under-sized according to its standard from Aikens.

Abba I. Friedman, Detroit attorney retained by Aikens and acting on behalf of all commercial perch fishermen in Iosco County, contended that wording and punctuation of the act was such that it should be construed so as to have a dual meaning.

He contended that legal perch were those with a minimum length of 8 1/2 inches and those which may be filleted to an ounce and three-quarters each; a fish measuring less than that being illegal. Friedman also charged that the law was not being enforced against larger operators. He cited the fact that chain stores were selling perch fillets from Canada weighing less than the prescribed 1 1/4 ounces and also cited the fact that instead of arresting a large operator at Detroit with a load of under-sized perch from Tawas, the department had arrested Aikens, who had sold them the fish.

Judge Miller agreed with fishermen that language used in the law was questionable and emphasized the need for complete revision of the act.

Myron A. McMillan, assistant attorney general, was of the opinion that the court should not be called on to determine what is good conservation practice.

The judge expressed displeasure over the method used by the fish division's chief in making his announcement. He felt that such information, if pertinent to the case, could have been introduced in court.

Board Rejects Request for Guaranteed Flow

A resolution from the City of Tawas City asking the Iosco Board of Supervisors to guarantee the correct amount of spillage from the proposed Tawas Lake dam was defeated last Wednesday by a five to 13 roll call.

The resolution asked the county to regulate the minimum level of water in Tawas River, as set by the state board of health, for "proper and adequate disposition of affluent from sanitary sewer systems of East Tawas and Tawas City."

Voting in favor of the measure were Supervisors James Campbell, C. S. Everett, John Hoshbach, Edward Nelkie and Clement Stephan.

In other business, John DeGroot of AuSable asked the board to assist in obtaining a quitclaim deed on extension of his property, which had been filled in by the state along the AuSable River.

Due to a shortage of office space in the county building, the board accepted the recommendation of its buildings and grounds committee requesting the Iosco Intermediate School District to vacate its present office and that the probation office be moved into those quarters.

The board adopted a lease with William Tarnosky for operating the county dog pound at $100 per year for five years, subject to renewal.

Edward Burgeson, county welfare director, explained the recent integration of his department with the bureau of social aid.

Burgeson said that in August, 148 Iosco people received old age assistance, amounting to $14,369; 30 families were receiving aid to dependent children to the tune of $3,772 during August; aid to the disabled went to 17 persons for a total cost of $3,571. Only five hospitalization cases were listed during August with a cost of $4,668.

The welfare director said that 233 families with approximately 767 persons received surplus commodities during the month.

A special committee was named to check applications for a new equalization director. A report is to be made at the October session.

Tawas Board Had Delegates at Convention

Four persons represented Tawas Area Schools at the Michigan Association of School Administrators' convention at Cobo Hall, Detroit, last Tuesday through Thursday.

Attending from here were Leonard Sarki, board of education president; Reynold E. Mick, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Helen Payea and Clare Herriman, board trustees.

Going ahead on the premise that international competition exists at every level and that a rapidly changing complex of needs and requirements to meet an increasingly sophisticated civilization makes extra demands on those who teach and those who learn, the general focus of the convention was aimed at the question of who—local, state or federal—is to take the responsibility of providing this all-important education.

Although there was some disagreement as to who should assume this responsibility, it was generally accepted that the situation called for immediate and thorough help in the elementary and secondary systems to eliminate drop-outs who form an unproductive portion of society. This element has proven a very difficult and expensive problem with which to deal.

Tourist Workshop Sponsored by EMTA

Supervisors from the 29-county region served by the East Michigan Tourist Association attended a workshop at the Wenonah Hotel, Bay City, September 16. Supervisors heard EMTA Manager James H. Hall and Dr. F. H. Letchfield, president, explain the story of expanded regional tourist promotion for 1966 and a report of 1965 accomplishments.

Attending supervisors were asked to evaluate their appropriation to the East Michigan Tourist Association and some were asked for increased county support.

The legislature increased the budget of the Michigan Tourist Council, which earmarked a $5,000 increase to each of the four regional tourist associations for 1966. Financial support has also increased from business members of the 55-year-old tourist group.

Results of the 1965 campaign brought in more than 15 million dollars in new tourist business to the 29-county region.

T. City Continues Planning in Applying for UR Study

Tawas City Council took another step toward planning for the future Monday night by appropriating $500 as its share in determining if the city's business district would be eligible for federal urban renewal funds.

This is a continuation of council efforts which started about three years ago when work was commenced on an over-all master plan for the community.

This action came on recommendation of the city's planning commission, which met two weeks ago with representatives of the Housing and Home Finance Administration.

Planning Commission Chairman

Assurance Given That US-23 Sewer Project Not Shelved

Assurance was given property owners fronting US-23 west from Mathews Street that a project to construct sanitary sewer on both sides of the highway had not been abandoned.

Supt. of Public Works Reginald Bublitz said Monday night that plans obtained 13 years ago for construction on the east side were being revised and that Spicer Engineering Company had prepared preliminary plans for the west side of the highway.

Since adoption of new highway construction plans, however, a new problem has developed. The state is to construct a storm sewer along the west side which would conflict with placement of the city's proposed sanitary sewer line. Discussions are to be held with the state on the latter.

It was emphasized, however, that considerable work remains after engineering is completed. A special assessment district would have to be established and easements obtained from private property owners for construction on the east side. More than a year of legal work would be required.

The east side project had been considered in the early 1950s but was dropped when necessary easements could not be obtained to cross private property.

Appearing before the council and requesting information on progress was David P. Wyatt, east side property owner.

In other business, Mayor Tuttle entered the names of H. R. (Jim) Hilbert and John N. Brugger as appointees to fill vacancies on the planning commission. Approval was given by the council on recommendation of the commission.

The city superintendent was authorized to work with Walter Moeller in planning repairs to the city athletic field on First Avenue. Moeller is to install new posts and screen around the infield. He is to supervise other renovation projects.

An amendment was made to the city's transient merchant ordinance adopting a new fee schedule. The new per person fee for soliciting or canvassing in the city is $10 per day, $35 per week and $150 per year, effective immediately.

Discussion on a trash burning ordinance in the fire zone was tabled until the next meeting.

Hugo J. Keiser told the council Monday night that the $500 would finance cost of the initial study to be made by Villean, Leman and Associates, the city's planning consultant firm.

If it appears that Tawas City's project would be eligible for urban renewal funds, and representatives of HHFA have already indicated that it would be eligible, the city would then apply for a detailed study.

The next study would be financed through a cooperative venture with three-quarters of the funds being paid by the federal government and one-quarter locally. A full-time coordinator would be needed if the study progresses to the next phase.

Under consideration is a property acquisition and clearance project in the present business district from a point west of Mathews Street east to the county buildings, to be conducted in two phases.

It has been emphasized that this would not be a federal "give-away" program as such a clearance would be financed through private enterprise and local funds, with assistance from the federal government.

One of the basic problems in developing the present business district is the shallowness of property off US-23, because of the bay on one side and the river on the other.

Mayor George Tuttle noted the acuteness of existing problems in the business district and Keiser commented that if such a project was ever realized, the increased tax structure gained through relocation and expansion of the business section would aid greatly in the over-all financing of the program.

Traffic studies by the state highway department traffic engineers and state police showed that parking within normally prescribed distances from the intersection was interfering with the flow of traffic on both streets.

The joint order dated September 2 and signed by State Highway Director Howard E. Hill and State Police Commissioner Frederick E. Davids, becomes effective when signs are erected.

PUTTING the final touches on this huge dinosaur, which will serve as a sign at Dizyland Golf, corner of Ninth Avenue and US-23 in Tawas City, is Gordon Clute. The "monster" weighs about three tons and is constructed of concrete and steel. It is 18 feet high and 28 feet long. Numerous concrete "reptiles" and other figures are utilized in the miniature golf course, most of them being fashioned by Clute. He reports that he has spent about three months in building his newest creation and it will be painted fluorescent orange, complete with blinking eyes and flashing tongue. He plans to study sculpturing this winter while vacationing in Mexico. Several years ago, he learned the technique of fashioning concrete figures from Mrs. Greta Chaney, former Tawas resident.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Editorial—

Get Pen in Hand and Write!

Friday's hearing in Isoco Circuit Court emphasized the urgent need for revising or completely rewriting Michigan's archaic laws concerning commercial fishing. They have been amended just too many times.

And, while the lawmakers are at it, this newspaper hopes the state legislature conducts its own hearings and investigations prior to adoption of necessary controls, rather than allow a special interest group to draw a proposed bill and then have the legislature adopt it into law.

It is also high time that the lawmakers give some consideration to the sport fishermen on Great Lakes waters of this state. It seems amazing that such an important industry as tourism was not even mentioned last week by attorneys for the conservation department in their argument before the court. The conservation commission should also again consider a sport fishing license for the Great Lakes. Perhaps this would aid in enforcement and study.

Perch fishing is very important to this area, both commercial and sport. In Tawas, alone, we have several fishing party boats which have experienced one of the worst seasons in history for perch fishing. It has also been very slim pickings for vacationers and local anglers who fish off docks and from small boats.

Yet, the latest word from the conservation department is that Saginaw Bay and other Michigan waters are overpopulated with perch and the head of the fish division now plans to recommend that the conservation commission remove all controls on commercial fishing as to the minimum size of perch.

It would be difficult to convince a sport fisherman returning home with an empty bucket that Saginaw Bay is overpopulated with perch! Granted, there has been excellent fishing this year near AuGres, but at earlier hearings this year, it was reported that Saginaw Bay was the only place in Michigan waters where commercial fishing paid off.

It is rather doubtful if ALL commercial fishermen want to see size restrictions lifted on taking of perch. If the market is flooded with undersized fish, it stands to reason that the price would drop proportionately, not to mention the real need for conserving next year's catch.

The state should investigate the importation into Michigan of underweight perch filets. This is discrimination in the truest sense and fishermen have a legitimate gripe.

The squeaking wheel apparently gets the oil, so those people interested in protecting their own interests, namely sport fishing and tourism, had better get pen in hand and let their views be heard in Lansing.

TOTAL! TOTAL! TOTAL!
TOTAL FASHION!

This is the cheer roaring through fashionable campuses, offices, suburbs and cities—in other words—EVERYWHERE! This great new coordinated look is sweeping the coming semester and the country... and a delightful look it is. Everything is beautifully planned for head-to-toe perfection. All the parts of your Fall wardrobe, as a mathematically perfect equation, must add up to a completely charming "you."

DELIGHTFUL DISUNION CAN EQUAL HEAVENLY HARMONY
There was a time in the world of fashion when everything in an ensemble was exactly the same color. Now, a smashing outfit is created by combining subtle blends and variations of the same shade. No longer does one have to worry about the dying of shoes or spending hours shopping for matching hats and gloves. With the emphasis on the total look, shopping has become fun. For example, you might start with a deep, rich brown dress or suit and follow through with an elegant suede taupe hat... ivory bisque stockings and shoes (with fashion-right brown stacked heels, of course)... and beautiful beige or topaz to complete the ensemble. It's truly a masterpiece of coordination.

TERRIFICALLY TOTAL
...is what you will be if you see your own Fall wardrobe! Fabrics are lovelier than ever and as coordinated as they can be. The woolens have solids perfectly blended with plush tweeds... corduroys now feature brilliant prints which can be matched to rich wide wale solids... and double knits are available in high-fashion colors. Today's pattern is an excellent example of complete coordination. This Simplicity design, 6085, has as many parts as possibilities. Only ONE simple pattern will give you a dress, a blouse, jacket and skirt for you to color and fabric blend and re-blend.

YOU'RE THE DESIGNER!
You might try the A-line skirt and smartly round-necked jacket in a soft, wrinkle-resistant corduroy with a contrasting wool crepe blouse—think about combining olive green with a pale feminine blue for a really elegant look. Another possibility would be a dress of double knit, with its flattering bias roll collar and short set-in sleeves enhanced by a jacket done in a brilliant plaid with binding and buttons of the same fabric as the dress. Perfect for informal dates, would be a giant herringbone with a gleaming white silk blouse... whatever you choose, keep in mind what is most flattering to you and your way of life... the possibilities are there for you to work with.

TO BELT OR NOT
Sheaths, A-lines and skimmers are as popular this Fall as they have been for some time. They are marvelously comfortable and are, as you know, sometimes enhanced by a well-placed belt. The dress in today's pattern, for example, may be worn smartly straight from the shoulders or, you can tie a belt at the waist, high and empire-like or (very-new) slung low at the hip. Whichever, it will look better if you make carriers to keep it where you want it! I have a most helpful leaflet which will give you detailed instructions and diagrams on the making of belts, loops and carriers... if you would like a copy of these important instructions, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Sewing Editor of this newspaper along with your request. I'd be delighted to hear from you.

Mistakes Hurt as TA Braves Lose Opener to Bangor, 13-12

Fumbles and mental errors were costly to the Tawas Area Braves as they dropped in a 13-12 decision to Bangor in the season opener here Friday night.

Coach Ernest Mousseau, making his debut as mentor of the Braves, probably has spent more than one sleepless night since then in "re-playing" this nonconference tilt against a Bay City area team that will not have a full 12 grades until next year.

The Braves were leading 12-6 with a little more than four minutes to go in the fourth quarter. Then, the roof caved in when Bangor let a high, wobbly punt roll dead on its own 49 and, in eight plays, scored the tying touchdown. The PAT was good and it meant a victory for the visitors.

Despite the loss, Tawas showed great improvement over the previous Friday night's scrimmage and actually dominated most of the game. After a shaky first start by both teams in the first quarter, Tawas' only real letdown came late in the game after an extended series of defense.

Both teams were guilty of numerous fumbles and mental miscues in the first quarter, but the Braves scored on the second play of the second quarter when Quarterback Dick Grebe took a punt on his own 36 and marched 64 yards for a touchdown. The all-important try for point after touchdown failed.

Tawas' second lightning bold came after Bangor could get nowhere on the ground and punted on fourth down. Halfback Ed Cain picked up 11 yards on the return. On the first play from scrimmage, Halfback Ray Powers gained five yards. The next play saw End Howard Rollin throw a key block to open a hole for Cain and the little "scatback" went 58 yards to score the touchdown. The second try for point after touchdown also failed.

The young Banger crew of Coach Gary Baillargeon, one-time Pinconning mentor, jumped right back into the contest before the half when Halfback Roland Shorkey took the kickoff on his own 26 and went 74 yards for a touchdown. The PAT was missed.

The Braves missed a couple of golden opportunities to break the game wide open in the third quarter and early in the fourth but their offense bogged down after some costly penalties and fumbles.

Late in the fourth quarter,

Shorkey broke through the Tawas line for a touchdown, but the play was nullified on a penalty. Undaunted by the setback, Shorkey ran the same play and picked up 10 yards for the TD. He again repeated the same play and scored the winning point after touchdown.

Now with their backs to the wall, Tawas battled back and Grebe scored what could have been the winning touchdown on a roll-out. The play was nullified by a clipping penalty, however, and Tawas just could not pull off the same kind of heroics as Bangor after its TD was nullified in the same situation.

The Braves outgained the visitors, 217 yards to 114. Both teams had trouble holding onto the ball as Tawas had seven fumbles and Bangor had six. The Braves were penalized 90 yards and 65 yards were marched off against Bangor.

Impressive performances were turned in by Tawas' two senior interior linemen, Bob Albosta and Ben Schanbeck. The latter had 10 tackles to lead the squad.

Others worthy of special mention were Tackle Al Lickfelt, Guard Hugh Frezel, Powers and Rollin. Lickfelt and Rollin are both sophomores.

This Friday night's action moves to Alpena where the Braves take on Catholic Central in another nonconference tilt. It will be "old home" night for Coach Mousseau, who played his high school football at Alpena.

Hale Drops Standish for 1965 NEM Crown

Hale won its second straight Northeastern Michigan League baseball title Sunday by defeating Standish, Southern Division winner, 2-0.

Grant Mousseau, veteran right-hander for Hale, limited Standish to three hits and was in serious trouble in only the sixth and ninth innings.

Hale jumped to a one-run lead in the opening frame when Lee Bielby singled after one batter was out. Mousseau followed with a double and the eventual winning run scored. Hale's second score came in the fifth inning. W. Romanik opened with a single, Humphrey struck out, Reed singled and Romanik scored on an error.

Standish threatened to score in the sixth inning when it loaded the bases with two outs. After walking two batters, Mousseau retired E. Knochel on an infield out. The ninth inning saw Standish collecting two hits, Knochel and Zunich punching back-to-back singles. Mousseau then settled down to fan Pavelka and Bootz.

Mousseau was also the hitting star of the game with a double and a single.

Oscoda Only Iosco Team to Win Opener; Defeated Madison Heights Team, 21-13

Only one Iosco County school won its football season opener Friday night. Oscoda Owls defeated Madison Heights, 21-13; Tawas Area Braves lost to Bangor, 13-12; Hale Area Eagles lost to Arenac Eastern, 7-0, and Whittemore-Preccott Cardinals lost to West Branch, 34-14.

Oscoda scored all its points in the first half. In the opening quarter, Coleman Lane, sophomore back, ran 49 yards and Harry Kelly kicked the conversion. Lane again scattered home on a 12-yard run in the second period, Kelly again converting. Bob Kennedy, quarterback, ran nine yards for the Owls' final TD and Kelly made his third successful boot for the PAT.

It was the 11th win in a row for the Owls. Lane was the feature performer, gaining 140 yards in 11 carries. He ran back a kickoff for 70 yards. Fullback Pete Bovan had 60 yards in 11 carries. On defense, Dennis Giffen, tackle, was outstanding.

West Branch of the Northern Conference showed early power in downing the Cardinals. The winners counted twice in the first period and once in the second to hold a 21-0 halftime lead. After Whittemore's third period threat featuring a 40-yard run by Quarterback Dale Bronson for one of the two counters, the Branch bounced back with two TDs.

Hale and Arenac Eastern battled to a scoreless tie for three periods, but the home team scored the game's only touchdown in the fourth quarter. Coach Ver Reed was pleased with the performance of his young squad in spite of the loss. The injured Darin Maas, sophomore fullback, picked up 50 yards in seven carries. Sophomore defenseman Charles Koche, was outstanding, as were George Maas, senior end and Ed Wright, defensive end. The Eagles used eight sophomores, four juniors and 10 seniors.

Kitchen Chatter

Alice Richmond, home service representative, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company. Hurry up... that's the usual cry when the call is for a noon day meal. You will be hearing it more often now that school is back in session. And you will want something good tasting and good looking as well.

The "sandwich meal" becomes more valuable to the hurried homemaker than ever before. It can be made as snappy as it tastes. And almost anything can be used as a filler. Sandwiches need only a salad, soup or vegetable accompaniment plus a beverage and a dessert to make a meal that will satisfy all. If you want to try some different fillings for your sandwiches try these:

- CHEESE AND EGG SPREAD (1 1/4 cups)
 - 1/2 lb. American cheese, diced
 - 2 hard cooked eggs, diced
 - 1 1/2 teaspoon chopped green pepper
 - 1 1/2 teaspoon chopped onion
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - dash of paprika
 - 3 tablespoons mayonnaise

- PIQUANT HAM SANDWICH FILLING (1 1/4 cups)
 - 1/2 cup finely ground ham
 - 1 3-oz. package cream cheese
 - 2 tablespoons finely chopped sweet pickle
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
 - 2 tablespoons milk
 - 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
 - 1. For both sandwiches—mix ingredients together thoroughly with a fork.
 - 2. Put mixture in container, cover and store in refrigerator until needed.

- To make the best sandwiches ever follow these sandwich principles of the American Institute of Baking:
 - Select sandwiches to suit occasions and conditions.
 1. Brown meat in skillet on controlled surface burner set at 250° F. or over a medium burner.
 2. Reduce temperature to 225° F. or burner to low. Add remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer 1/2 hour.
 3. Uncover and cook to desired thickness.
 4. Serve on toasted buns.

TODAY'S Meditation from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

Read Psalm 84 Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee; in whose heart are the way of them. (Psalm 84:5)

Once I visited a sick man whom the doctors had told that his days on earth were soon to end. I thought it would be difficult to comfort and encourage him under those circumstances. But my experience in the hospital room turned out to be quite different.

Without any trace of sentimentality or self-pity, the man said: "I have not long to live, but I am content and trustful. I have laid everything in God's hands. He will guide me home." He had no fear of death, just a radiant expression on his face. I left the room with a stronger faith and with evidence of the truth spoken by the psalmist, "Blessed is the man whose strength is in thee."

Soon after, we attended his funeral, but to me it was like a triumphant journey into eternity. Blessed are those who know the fullness of life with Christ. Their lives are meaningful and happy. Their evenings are filled with light and their entrance into eternity is a journey of triumph. They go from strength to strength, from joy to joy.

Our heavenly Father, we bring Thee thanks for peace of heart and inward assurance that we are children of Thine. We are grateful for the joy of life in Thy Son. Lead us into a deeper fellowship with Him. In His name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY I am joyful in my fellowship with Christ, Soren Jacobson (Sweden).

"We must look deep into realism instead of accepting only the outward sense of things." This statement from the Christian Science textbook (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy) is a central theme of the Bible lesson to be read Sunday in Christian Science churches across the world. The subject is "Reality."

A Lecture on Christian Science Entitled Christian Science and the Healing Prayer of Faith

Howard H. Irwin, C. S. of San Bernardino, California

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Howard H. Irwin Christian Science Lecturer

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

Prayer is Fundamental Have you ever noticed the diligent student, or an athlete sets about to master the fundamentals of his art, his science, or his sport? He knows that progress and success depend on mastery of these fundamentals.

In the discipline of being a Christian there are certain fundamentals which must be mastered, and from which one cannot depart. Mastery of these fundamentals is requisite for Christian success and progress. During this hour we shall give our attention to one of these fundamentals—prayer.

The understanding of the nature of effective prayer becomes more and more imperative as the drama of human events unfolds with ever-increasing acceleration. The challenges of today's world outline in crystal-clear clarity the Christian's obligations to mankind. Only by spiritualization of individual thought can these obligations be met.

The Christian of today need not be discouraged as he looks out on the world's scene, or turns his gaze to his own individual needs and shortcomings. Today the Science of Christianity, Christian Science, is available to reveal the inherent practicality of the teachings of the Master, Christ Jesus.

Christian Science has been called a religion of prayer. The earnest Christian Scientist knows that through the teachings of this religion his prayers do more than heal him physically. They reveal to his receptive thought spiritual facts of God and of man's individual relationship to God.

A Bible Promise of Healing In the Bible record, Christ Jesus and his immediate followers had much to say about prayer. In the Epistle of James (5:13-15) we find this question: "Is any sick among you?" Then this clear counsel is given: "let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord; and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him."

The apostle's promise, which he makes with such conviction, is actually a statement of ever-operative, divine law. This apostle, and Jesus' other followers, had gained this conviction of the healing power of prayer through their own personal experiences. They had witnessed the effective healing work of their Master. They had been taught by him to do similar healing works, through spiritual means alone. In turn, they were able to impart to others this effective spiritual understanding.

So, for about 300 years after the time of Jesus, the early Christian Church demonstrated the efficacy and reliability of prayer in healing all manner of disease, in reforming the sinner, and even in raising the dead. Gradually materialism, ritual, and dogma replaced the simplicity of the Christ in the church, and the element of spiritual healing was lost sight of. Down through the ages, since that time, the question has continued: "What is this healing prayer of faith?"

Today Christian Science is offering to all mankind the answer to this question. That the answer is correct is seen in its results. Through the prayer of faith, in Christian Science, every known disease has been healed; the sinner has been reformed and purified; sorrow, lack, and every kind of limitation has been destroyed—reduced to nothingness. Christian Science acknowledges that God is the healer, the only healer, and that His healing power is made available through prayer.

stance, the case of the man at the pool of Bethesda, we are told that he "had an infirmity thirty and eight years" (John 5:5). Yet the Master healed him without delay.

Christian Science, which is based on the words and works of Christ Jesus, is daily being proved effective in healing conditions of long standing. Time is not an element to resist or to aid God's healing power.

For a number of years, prior to my becoming interested in Christian Science, I had suffered with a condition known as athlete's foot. I had tried many medicines and cures, but these could do nothing more than give temporary relief. Shortly after I had taken up the study of Christian Science, this foot condition became aggravated, and I asked a Christian Science practitioner for help. Through her prayers the condition was completely healed in two days.

To me this was convincing proof that Christian Science gives us the true nature of this healing prayer of faith.

Christian Science Defined At this point one might reasonably ask, "Just what is Christian Science?" To answer this question let us first turn to Christ Jesus and the Christianity that he taught and established.

Christian Science and the spiritual distinction between Jesus, the human man, born of Mary, and the eternal Christ, the spiritual, or true, idea of God. Christ is not a synonym for Jesus. Rather, Christ is his name, and is identical with "Messiah." Thus we speak of Jesus the Christ, or Christ Jesus. Mary Baker Eddy writes in the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 332), "He expressed the highest type of divinity, which a fleshly form could express in that age. To discern clearly the import of this distinction adds to one's understanding and appreciation of all that Jesus did for mankind."

The Christ is God's manifestation, His spiritual idea. The Christ is the divine message from God to the human consciousness, revealing reality, the truth of all things. Thus the Christ destroys discords of every kind. Jesus demonstrated, by his own healing works, and by teaching others to do these same works, that human consciousness can entertain and express the Christ. Thus he proved that, through the Christ, humanity has access to God's power and love. It is through the Christ, and only through the Christ, that mankind enters into or becomes aware of the presence of God.

Jesus so completely identified himself with the Christ that he frequently referred to the Christ in the first person, as when he said: "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me" (John 14:6).

The eternal Christ, which is forever at one with God, is always present with man to lead human consciousness into higher spiritual realization. The New Testament shows that the Master's works were the outcome, or effect, of his knowledge of the nature of God, and of God's government of the universe. Webster's Collegiate defines science as knowledge. The Christ enabled Jesus to teach and demonstrate that this knowledge, or Science, of God's nature and of man's relationship to God, can be practically applied to the everyday needs of humanity.

In Science and Health Mrs. Eddy has made it plain that this is just what Christian Science is doing—applying the knowledge of God to the needs of humanity. Let me read two sentences which are important in understanding what Christian Science is. "The term Science, properly understood, signifies the knowledge of God and of His government of the universe, inclusive of man" (p. 128). Again, after explaining her use of certain terms, Mrs. Eddy writes: "It may be said, however, that the term Christian Science relates especially to Science as applied to humanity" (p. 127).

Thus, today, as in Jesus' day, Science and Christianity are inseparably linked, and are one. The true knowledge of God and of His government of His creation, and the practical effects of applying this knowledge to humanity are indissoluble.

The Church which is organized to make available to all mankind this practical and exact knowledge of God, or Christian Science, is known as the Church of Christ, Scientist.

The organization of this Church is interesting, in that it functions both universally and locally. The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, typifies the Church Universal, embracing and nourishing all of its branches. For the earnest Christian Scientist, membership in both The Mother Church and a branch church is a privilege, and he greatly cherishes. He sees that church membership is an acknowledgment that Christian Science has given him the answer to the question: What is the healing prayer of faith?

lated in the ninth chapter of Matthew. She has told us in her own words, in "Miscellaneous Writings" (p. 24), what happened. "As I read, the healing Truth dawned upon my sense, and the result was that I rose, dressed myself, and ever after was in better health than I had before enjoyed."

At short experience included a glimpse of the great fact that I had since tried to make plain to others, namely, Life in and of Spirit; this Life being the sole reality of existence.

Christian Scientists regard Mrs. Eddy as the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. They love her, and are grateful to her for her great work and sacrifice for mankind. But Christian Scientists do not worship Mrs. Eddy. They worship God.

The Nature of Effective Prayer In Science and Health, Mrs. Eddy has fully set forth her discovery, and has clearly defined the healing prayer of faith. The first chapter of this textbook is on Prayer, and the opening sentence of this chapter reads as follows (p. 1): "The prayer that reforms the sinner and heals the sick is an absolute faith that all things are possible to God, an unselfed love."

According to this definition of the nature of healing prayer, the first requirement is "an absolute faith that all things are possible to God."

"Absolute faith," which is so vital to spiritual healing, is not a blind faith based on a belief in God. Rather, it is the result of a spiritual understanding of Him, and of His constant care for His own manifestation, man and the universe. Thus the anchor of this faith is in God, and so it remains steadfast. No matter how dark the clouds of materialism, or how "absolute faith" when it melts into understanding dwells in the divine light of God's ever-presence.

"Absolute faith" is related to patience. Both this faith and patience are unflinching and steadfast in their loyalty to Truth. They are not discouraged by obstacles confronting them, and they are persistently active, assuring victory in the end.

Healing prayer, based on faith in God's power, must of necessity include "a spiritual understanding of Him." Science and Health states (p. 203): "If God were understood instead of being merely believed, this understanding would establish health."

Here is one important difference between Christian Science and systems of so-called faith healing. Both this faith and patience are unflinching and steadfast in their loyalty to Truth. They are not discouraged by obstacles confronting them, and they are persistently active, assuring victory in the end.

The terms Principle, Mind, Soul, Spirit, Life, Truth, Love, are capitalized and are used as synonymous terms for God. This usage does not mean there are seven gods. Rather do these terms indicate the completeness of the one God, whom Jesus termed "Father."

In the first chapter of Genesis, when God created the universe, including man, He was expressing His nature as divine Principle, for Principle means source, or origin, and is expressed in "here shall thy proud waves be stayed" (Job 38:11). He was expressing His nature as divine Principle, for Principle implies government, law, order. When He spoke through the prophet Malachi (3:6) saying, "I am the Lord, I change not," He was again expressing His nature as divine Principle, for Principle means unchanging, unerring, absolute.

Mind, as a synonym for God, is not difficult to understand, for that which creates and governs, and which expresses itself in wisdom and beauty must be intelligent. Mind, Justice, wisdom, understanding, are attributes of Mind by which name the Bible identifies God.

The synonym Soul indicates God's completeness, purity, and continuity, which are expressed in beauty and individuality throughout His creation. God as Spirit is infinite, indestructible, indivisible substance, expressing itself as strength, presence, and power. Life indicates God's eternal nature, without beginning or end, or limits of any kind. Life is ageless, radiant, and indestructible, for Life is God.

"this synonymy." She writes, in part (pp. 249, 250): "What a world I am in awe before it. Over what worlds on worlds it hath range and is sovereign! The undivided, the incomparable, the infinite All of God, the alone God, is Love."

To Mrs. Eddy's clear perception, the nature of God as Love as completely expressed the true idea of God, that she speaks of God as Mother, as well as Father. She says: "Father-Mother is the name for Deity, which indicates His tender relationship to His spiritual creation" (Science and Health, p. 332).

The Nature of Man A requisite of the healing prayer of faith is "an unselfed love."

One might ask, "How can I unself my expression of love? Does not love require a self to express it?" Christian Science makes a distinction between man's true self, which is the very expression of divine Love, and that personal sense of self whose so-called love is possessive and self-gratifying.

The authority for this distinction is the Bible. In the first chapter of Genesis (1:27), man is spoken of as created by God, in His own image and likeness. Later, in the book of Isaiah, we are told (48:7) that God means man to glorify Him, God, and (43:12) as a witness to Him.

On the other hand, the false, personal sense, called Adam, is described as made of dust, and as immediately getting into trouble because of willfulness and disobedience. Surely, this Adam is not man made in God's image, the reflection of divine Love. Christian Science describes Adam as a counterfeit, or a false concept. Christian Science sets before us the goal of understanding the true, spiritual nature of man, and of correctly identifying ourselves with it.

Let us consider, briefly, three Bible expressions which help us understand the true nature of man, namely, image of God, witness to God, and son of God. If what is not true of God could possibly be true of man, man could not be the image of God. But the very first reference to man in the Bible sets forth the spiritual fact that man is God's image, God being Spirit, man is spiritual. The perfection, intelligence, strength, law of God, and all His other attributes and qualities, are the qualities of man, as God's image, or reflection. As image, man cannot be removed nor separated from God.

The qualities of God must be reflected by man, because of the immediacy of the relationship of God and man. For example, God as Love, is infinite. Man reflects nothing less than Love's infinitude. It is the imaging forth of the fullness of this Love, by individual man, which is expressed in "an unselfed love" in the human experience.

When God declared, through the prophet Isaiah (43:12), "Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God," man's identity was established, once and for all. Here is the remedy for the frustration which comes from an aimless sense of existence. Each individual expression of man has a sacred purpose, witnessing to the existence and nature of God, his divine source.

Man as the Son of God In turning to the reference to man as the son of God, we must again remind ourselves of the important distinction between man as the image of God, and the misconception or counterfeit, the so-called mortal man. Man as God's image is the son of God. He has spiritual identity. As this identity is discerned and demonstrated—salvation, redemption, and regeneration come to the individual.

The Apostle John says (John 1:12): "As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God." Mrs. Eddy has commented on this statement as follows: "His sonship, referred to in the text, is his spiritual relation to Deity; it is not, then, a personal gift, but is the order of divine Science" (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 181).

It is necessary to understand that this sonship is essentially different from the human sense of sonship. In the human sense, the son is quickly separated from his source and soon is completely independent of it. In time he fades out and ceases to be—all because of a sense of existence separate from his source. The writer of the book of Job refers to this independent sense of being, when he says (5:7): "Yet man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward."

In the "order of divine Science" man's sonship with God means that man is the manifestation of God, forever inseparable from his source. The son is the very evidence of what God is right now.

matter what has happened during the twenty-nine minutes, the brightness of the light the thirtieth minute is still the immediate expression of the source of the light. Finally, the light of God, the alone God, is Love."

Identifying yourself with the spiritual facts of man as the son of God enables you to understand and express unselfed love. It anticipates all the difficulties which come with the belief of man as a spark, flying upward, away from his source.

The Lord's Prayer: The Perfect Example Now let us turn to the Bible for an example of the healing prayer of faith. It is found in the sixth chapter of Matthew (verses 9-13) and is known as the Lord's Prayer. This prayer is a prayer in which all Christians unite. Christian Scientists make practical use of this prayer every day. They are assured that this prayer meets all human needs.

During World War II, a Christian Scientist and a friend, who was not a Christian Scientist, were serving with a small military intelligence unit in the forward area during the fighting in Europe. One night the friend became seriously ill. As there were no medical corps men available at that time for this unit, the Christian Scientist did his best to help his friend. The friend had not asked for Christian Science treatment, so none was given. Finally, when the condition seemed to be getting critical, the Christian Scientist told his friend that he knew of nothing else to do, materially speaking, and asked his friend if he would like to be helped through prayer, as taught in Christian Science. The sick friend readily agreed, and he was asked to pray quietly to himself the Lord's Prayer, and to keep at it.

The Christian Scientist then turned his thought to the Lord's Prayer also. He pondered it word by word, and phrase by phrase, in the light of the teachings of Christian Science. In a short time the friend dropped off to sleep, and the Christian Scientist went for his turn at guard duty.

When the friend awoke in the morning there was not the slightest evidence of the difficulty. There was not even any weakness or weariness. At the close of the chapter on Prayer in Science and Health (pp. 16, 17), Mrs. Eddy has set forth the Lord's Prayer and given its spiritual interpretation. The Lord's Prayer is a deeply spiritual utterance, and so it is impossible to exhaust its profound meaning. In the light of the revelation which Science and Health gives to the spiritual meaning of this prayer, we can prove for ourselves, each day, that it does indeed meet all human needs.

Importance of "Our Father" "Our Father which art in heaven, "Our Father—Mother God, all-harmonious." Down through the ages since the time of Jesus, Christians everywhere have been comforted by knowing God as Father. With the revelation of the completeness of God's nature, as expressed in the term Father-Mother, Christian Science indicates a relationship that is at once intimate, and which is satisfying. The prophet Isaiah must have glimpsed something of the nature of this relationship when he spoke of God as saying (Isaiah 66:13): "As one whom his mother comforts, so will I comfort you; and ye shall be comforted in Jerusalem."

"Hallowed be Thy name, "Adorable One." How do we hallow God's name, as the "Adorable One"? By understanding Him better as divine Love, and then living that understanding as we go about our daily activities. Each time we express patience, thoughtfulness, loving-kindness, or unselfishness, or the Godlike qualities, we are hallowing, or glorifying, God's name. Thus we acknowledge and prove that the "Adorable One" is the source of our being.

"Thy kingdom come. "Thy kingdom come; Thou art here—present." A kingdom implies a ruler, government, law, order. And this certainly must be the nature of God's kingdom, since God is divine Principle. But it implies something further—obedience. There can be no disobedience in God's kingdom, for disobedience to God's law is sin. And sin cannot enter into the heavenly kingdom. To pray, "Thy kingdom come," means that the one offering the prayer intends to give willing and unquestioning obedience. How vain it is to pray in this manner, and then not to live in conformity with God's law. Our obedience proves that God's government and laws are ever present and ever available.

Spiritual Understanding Is Practical "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. "Enable us to know, as in heaven, on earth,—God is omnipotent, supreme." This portion of the prayer is an expression of the fact that things of Spirit are capable of being practically applied in our daily experience.

One Sunday afternoon a woman telephoned a practitioner for help in Christian Science for her little granddaughter. The child had been playing with her little brother and had been accidentally struck in the eyeball with one of the brother's darts. The condition seemed severe. The face was swelling rapidly, and the child was losing consciousness. As he talked to the grandmother, the practitioner became very conscious of the child's spiritual nature as offspring of God. He realized that this true identity had never been touched by matter, and so could not express damage or hurt. Replacing the telephone, he continued to let spiritual truths of God's almightiness and man's perfection as His child flood his consciousness. In just a few minutes, the grandmother phoned again to say that while she was talking to the practitioner, the swelling had started to subside, the pain had stopped, and the child had fallen into a peaceful, normal sleep. The healing had taken place right before her eyes.

In reviewing this experience, the practitioner was reminded of a statement in Science and Health (pp. 476, 477): "Jesus beheld in Science the perfect man, who appeared to him where sinning mortal man appears to mortals. In this perfect man the Saviour saw God's own likeness, and this correct view of man healed the sick." Could anything be more practical? "Give us this day our daily bread; And give us grace for to-day; feed the famished affections." God is always giving to man all that he needs. Grace is one of God's greatest gifts to man. It is inherent in God's manner of creating, for He created man for a purpose, to glorify Him. Grace is that which enables man to fulfill his purpose. Grace is forceful, powerful, effective, dynamic. The effect of grace is seen in individual lives corrected, in the healing of sinners, in the overcoming of limitations, and in the breaking of all barriers to the expression of man's God-given dominion and freedom. Grace resists and repels whatever would seem to control man, to dominate him, or to hold him in bondage.

The Mission of Christian Science "And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. "And Love is reflected in love." Perhaps at no point in this wonderful example of the healing prayer of faith is the practitioner more alone with God. Here, he is at the point of laying "h" all on the altar of Love. Now there can be no turning back. In the sacredness of this moment, the humbling of physical disease, rendered for the understanding of spiritual Love, which blesses all, and has no enemies, and thus needs no forgiveness.

The humble in the glow of this divine light, conscious of the real mission of Christian Science. After years of experience in applying her discovery to every type of human problem, Mrs. Eddy wrote: "The mission of Christian Science is now, as in the time of its earlier demonstration, is not primarily one of physical healing. Now, as then, signs and wonders are wrought in the metaphysical, the healing of physical disease, but these signs are only to demonstrate its divine origin,—to attest the reality of the higher mission of the Christ—power to take away from man, sin" (Science and Health, p. 150).

Christian Science does not condemn one who has stumbled into the trap of sin. It comes to the sinner to encourage him in his efforts to save himself. It teaches that God's forgiveness of sin is the destruction of sin, and that as the individual forsakes sin, in thought as well as in deed, nothing remains to be punished. The power of God gives each one the power to resist the devil's suggestions of sin, and so to prove his heritage of freedom from sin, as the son of God.

"And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil; "And God leadeth us not into temptation, but delivereth us from sin, disease, and death." In many passages in the Bible, the father's love for his children is expressed as a shepherd leading and caring for his sheep. "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want" (Ps. 23:1). Jesus used this metaphor of the shepherd, and the willingness to follow the shepherd—that enables the shepherd to care for them. This complete trust in God comes naturally to one who has experienced divine Love's forgiveness. He willingly trusts all to God.

"For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. "For God is infinite, all-power, all Life, Truth, Love, over all, and All." One who has reached this point of spiritual purification and self-renunciation will spontaneously join in this great chorus, acknowledging the sovereignty of God. The great spiritual fact now appears: The power and dominion of God is God's almightiness expressing itself. In this scientific relation, the spiritual sense of being discerned is pure, perfect, and forever intact.

To sum up what we have said about the prayer of faith, I shall read a few lines from Mrs. Eddy's book "No and Yes" (p. 39): "True prayer is not asking God for love; it is learning to love, and to include all mankind in one affection. Prayer is the utilization of the love wherewith He loves us. Prayer begets an awakening desire to be and do good. It makes new and scientific discoveries of God, of His goodness and power. It shows us more clearly than we saw before, what we already have and are; and most of all, it shows us what God is."

THE ABOVE GROUP of happy hunters posed with this trophy recently after returning from an expedition to the Upper Peninsula. Stan Blury, Baldwin Township, kneeling at left, shot this 250-pound black bear September 4 at Twin Lakes during a four-day hunting excursion. Standing next to him is James Short of Dundee, who knocked one bear down but was unable to find it. Clarence Schmidt and Thorald Curry, both of Tawas City, rounded out the hunting party. It was the sixth year of bear hunting for Blury and he downed this one at less than 100 yards with his 30.06 rifle. There is a closed season on bear in the Lower Peninsula, but a special season in the Upper Peninsula gave hunters the opportunity to bag a "bruin" from September 1 to September 15 and October 1 to November 5. Bear may also be taken in the "Upper" during the regular deer season.—Tawas Herald Photo.

During the six-week cruise, he will participate in all phases of shipboard life. In addition to standing "underway watches," he will receive training in navigation, communications, seamanship, gunnery, engineering and other basic naval subjects.

Summer cruises are scheduled each year to provide United States Naval Academy and Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps midshipmen with personal experience and practical knowledge of naval operations in various types of ships.

Army SP4 Donald G. Smutek, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Smutek, Oscoda, was graduated August 27 from the Seventh United States Army Noncommissioned Officer Academy in Bad Tolz, Germany.

Specialist Smutek received training in leadership responsibilities, exercise of command, map reading and military teaching methods.

Smutek, a flash ranging specialist in battery A of the 25th artillery's second target acquisition battery near Bamber, Germany, entered the army in January 1965 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky. He arrived overseas in July.
