White Pine Still 'King' at Kunze's

"Woodman, woodman, spare that tree," was the plea of the late nineteenth century conservationists, who finally recognized that Michigan's white pine was soon to become a thing of the past.

Fortunately for present day tree lovers, one stand of mature white pine was saved from the loggers' axe near Grayling—the Hartwick Pines State Park. Now these trees are past their prime and someday will be no more.

Right here in Isco County, there is a lesser known stand of white pine—located on private land—which is reaching maturity. It was "saved" by an East Tawas merchant, who loved the outdoors and, in the twilight of his life, became what his son calls a "tree worshipper."

The late Emil E. Kunze and J. W. Applin, Newman Street meat market owners, purchased timber and farm land northeast of Tawas Lake in 1889 which had been owned by Alexander Nelson, one of Isco's early pioneers.

At one time, Kunze and Applin owned vast acreage between East Tawas and AuSable in Wilber and Baldwin Townships. Their holdings included more than 1,000 acres of land upon which white pine had been cut for timber in 1884.

The property near Tawas Lake contained a large stand of several hundred acres of young white pine trees. While some parcels were sold over the years for hunting camps, much of the land northeast of Tawas Lake still remains in possession of the Kunze family.

Elmer Kunze, who followed his father in the meat market, and is now retired, recalls that these young pine trees were "about knee high" when he was a youngster. Now, they have grown beyond 40 to 50 feet in height and "you can't touch your fingers when you wrap your arms around some of them."

While he was still alive, the elder Mr. Kunze would not allow removal of any of his trees. The property was to be used strictly for hunting and contained some of the finest deer habitat in the state.

Closeness of trees on the property reminds one today of the acres of bleached white pine stumps now rotting away on the east side of M-65 south of Hale. Who could but wonder about the beauty of that stand before it was cut in the 1880s?

A ditch was dug from low swampland on Kunze property to Tawas Lake and this still-running stream—10 to 15 feet in width—is known today as Kunze Creek.

Kunze recalls that tons of cranberries and huckleberries were harvested from this marsh.

Prescott was elected as the GOP candidate in Isco, Arenac, Ogemaw and Bay Counties and is to go against Sanford B. Charron, Democratic incumbent, next November.

Second place went to Joseph Dessitte, Midland, a member of the Bay City Yacht Club, who won a second, fourth and fifth place, while third place went to George Nickels, Fenton.

Board Drops Book Deposit; Approves Fee

A change in the fee schedule for consumable materials used by students of Tawas Area School was adopted Monday night by the board of education.

Following lengthy discussion, the board voted to drop its $5 per family book fee and instead charge $2.50 per student for consumable materials, which would pay for workbooks and other special education supplies used by individual students.

The $5 textbook fee had been instituted several years ago as a deposit to guarantee return of school-owned textbooks. Families who have paid this fee are to receive a credit on the new fee schedule.

While the $2.50 charge for consumable materials will be new this year in the high school, the fee had been charged in all elementary students in past years.

No change was made in the deposit required for band uniforms, glee club gowns or for the cost of materials used in shop and art. Also unchanged was band equipment rental, chemistry laboratory breakage and athletic supplies.

The fee schedule had been under study by a board of education committee since last spring. Clyde Soper, secretary, and Mrs. Helen Payea had recommended that the cost of consumable materials used in instruction, estimated at $4,500, be included in the annual budget.

The committee felt that such a move would reduce costly book-keeping. Other members felt that the cost of such materials should not be spread upon the entire district, but should be paid by those actually using the workbooks and other special study materials.

In other business, Ernest W. Jordan, high school principal, announced the possibility of hiring Mrs. Doris Weible to fill a half-day vacancy as a history teacher. She had been a member of the faculty in prior years.

Also under consideration is a plan to move Robert Blood into a full time guidance work in junior (See SCHOOL BOARD, page 8.)

Accident Victim's Father Files Claim Against City

A $200,000 claim for damages against the City of Tawas City has been filed by the father of a 16-year-old East Tawas boy, who died July 18 of injuries received in a motor bike crash.

Attorneys for William A. Smith Sr., father of William Alan Smith Jr., claim that the city was negligent in failing to remove a tree east of the First Street-Fifth Avenue intersection, alleging that it obscured the vision of a motorist proceeding in a westerly direction on First Street.

The youth, traveling south on Fifth Avenue the evening of July 16, was struck by a car driven by Nelson N. Schlicker, 26, Lincoln, Schlicker, who is charged with running a stop sign at the intersection, has been arraigned on a manslaughter count.

Schlicker claimed that foliage on a tree some 90 feet from the intersection obscured his view of the stop sign.

Father of the victim is claiming hospital and funeral expenses along with $197,602 for pain and suffering.

The victim would have been a senior this fall at Tawas Area High School.

Art Show Had Record Crowd

Sixth annual Tawas Bay Waterfront Show and Sale for artists and craftsmen Saturday and Sunday was the most successful in history, reports Mrs. Herbert Hertzler, who was co-chairman with Mrs. Lullie O'Loughlin.

An estimated 1,500 persons viewed exhibits set up in the Tawas City Park and the Isco County Building. Some 71 exhibitors were listed on the program and late entries swelled the total to nearly 80.

Mrs. Hertzler said that sale of items at the show had exceeded all previous records, "which helps to insure an even greater participation by artists and craftsmen in future years."

The chamber of commerce extends special thanks to the following firms and organizations for donating prizes: Detroit and Mackinac Railway, Peoples State Bank, Tawas City Businessmen's Association, Ziehl's Nursery and Keiser's Drug Store.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS TO YOU

"Soul" is the subject of the Bible lesson-sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy—"The Lord your God proeth you, to know whether ye love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul."

Readings from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will include this explanation: "The Divine Being must be reflected by man,—else man is not the image and likeness of the patient, tender, and true, the One 'altogether lovely'; but to understand God is the work of eternity, and demands absolute consecration of thought, energy, and desire."

Charcoal Types

Has someone in your family selected charcoal for that outdoor grill only to discover that it said not one word on the package to indicate it was a hardwood product? If so, it probably was made from bituminous coal, coke, lignite, corn cobs, oak hulls, pressed wood shavings or combinations of these products.

If it was not hardwood charcoal, it was harder to light, gave less heat, sparked when lighted. It may cost less, but in the long run, it may have given off less heat. Some leave slag or unburned portions and some give an off-flavor to food.

Hardwood charcoal is the most desirable to use and will be so labeled.

Local Women on State Council
Mrs. Annice Pyne of Oscoda, representing Isosco County extension members, was a voting delegate at the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers held last Wednesday in East Lansing.

Mrs. Hugo Schwab, Standish, district chairman, has served on the state advisory board of the association for the past two years and attended board meetings and the annual association meeting two days last week.

Delegates voted a new constitution for the association for which new bylaws will be written soon. Voting delegates under the new constitution are area chairmen representing the counties in each newly-designated area. In our case, the area chairmen will represent Arenac, Isosco, Ogemaw and Oscoda Counties.

The 1967 association budget is based on a membership of 25,000 women.

Notes From College Week for Women

When Jack Breslin, MSU secretary, addressed a general assembly of the delegates he stated some staggering facts. The estimate is for 38,700 students this fall and 45,000 by 1970. He also told us that any student needing part time jobs were guaranteed them.

Of all the breakfast foods on the market, only the ready-to-eat cereals increased (five percent) over sales of five years ago.

Sterile milk, which can be kept on a pantry shelf sealed in a soft metal package now has no cooked flavor, is developed by injecting steam into the milk to raise the temperature of 185 degrees for four seconds. I wonder if grandma's pantry will not soon become popular in kitchen planning again.

It is illegal to sell cracked eggs to consumers by retail stores or processors-handlers.

A ready-to-eat turkey roll can be purchased either roasted or cooked. A cooked roll is more like a boiled roll, there is gelatin added to have it sliced neatly when cold. A roasted roll has very little gelatin and slices well when served hot.

At one of the morning devotions, Dr. W. Bassett, executive director of the Michigan Council of Churches, emphasized that each day is a gift of God.

FRANK PADDOCK, Tawas City, a flagman for Central Paving Company, West Branch, is shown being placed on a stretcher for a ride by ambulance to Tawas Hospital last Wednesday morning. During blacktopping of US-23, Paddock sustained a badly bruised foot when the dual wheels of a truck ran over it. Paddock passed in front of a car driven by Louis C. Harsch, 72, Whittemore, which had pulled out of the post office driveway. The truck was in the process of backing up to discharge a load of hot asphalt into a paving machine. City Police Chief George Westcott said there apparently was a mixup in signals between Paddock, the truck driver and Mr. Harsch, who was not held.—Tawas Herald Photo.

35 Years Ago—

August 21, 1931—Citizens of Isosco, Arenac and Alcona Counties met Tuesday night at Turner for the purpose of promoting a hard surfaced road to replace the present gravel road from Omer to Lincoln by way of Twining, Turner, Whittemore, Hale, Five Channels and Glennie. G. H. Glazure of Twining was elected president of the permanent organization formed. C. H. Ridgley of Whittemore was elected secretary and D. I. Pearsall, treasurer. Speakers emphasized the value of such a road, as it leads through one of the most popular resort regions of the state and would serve a valuable agricultural district. The cooperation of the towns and support of citizens was pledged at this meeting.

Isosco County Granges will hold their annual convention with Hale Grange on September 3. Grangers are to elect delegates to the state convention and Pomona officers are to be named.

Several thousand people from various parts of the county attended the concert given Friday evening by Joe Guinan's Catholic Boys and Girls Band of Detroit at the East Tawas State Park. This excellent band is made up of high school students and about 130 members were present for the concert. The band has played before President Hoover and Mayor James Walker of New York City.

August Cholger was seriously injured Friday afternoon while threshing at the Carl Krueger farm in Wilber Township. Mr. Cholger, with his brothers, Emil and Albert, own and operate the threshing rig.

Dr. E. G. Papp, osteopath, has established an office at Hale for general practice. He is a former Prescott man and has just recently completed his medical training.

The Hotel Barnes sustained considerable smoke and water damage Thursday when some building material in the basement became ignited from an overheated hot water heater. Owner Kenneth Barnes commended the fire department for its quick work in bringing the blaze under control.

Sounds of exploding Mason jars saved the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Rollin from burning last Tuesday afternoon. Their son, "Bill," heard the sound, went upstairs to investigate and found the floor burning. He threw some water on the flames and called the fire department.

Sealed proposals for carrying United States mail between the Tawas City post office and the Detroit and Mackinac Railway depot are now being taken.

The United States fleet in Hawaii, our "Gibraltar of the Pacific," is reported to have sailed under sealed orders. Coincident with this report, President Roosevelt ordered all Philippine armed forces into the selective service of the United States. Difficult to Find Right Analysis Fertilizers

By MARVIN DAVENPORT
County Extension Agent

Isosco farmers submit soil samples for testing to determine what analysis fertilizer they should use. I write the recommendations for which analysis and the amount for a given crop and then Mr. Farmer's headaches begin. "I can't find that 0-40-20 or 6-24-12 you told me about." This is the gist of the usual phone call or office visit about some fertilizer recommendation.

Try as I may, it is very difficult to recommend the analysis appropriate and one that the fertilizer dealer has on hand. I sympathize with the fertilizer dealers and elevators. They cooperate with me by sending a letter dated January 17, 1966, that states the analysis of fertilizer they have to sell.

Since it is not possible to keep on hand every analysis the farmer will ask for because I recommended it, I try to second guess the farmer in determining where he might be buying his fertilizer. I refer to the letter the elevator gave me in January and try to recommend an analysis he has listed. This just does not always work.

It is confusing to all of us, but most frustrating to the man selling fertilizer. One thing you could do, Mr. Farmer, that would help all concerned is sample fields and get these samples to my office this fall. By knowing what analysis is needed six months ahead, the dealer will be in a better position to help you if you give him notice well in advance of the fertilizer you need. Ordering fertilizer ahead saves you money. Ask your fertilizer dealer about it.

Are there really any sound reasons for buying a Chevrolet in August?

During August, it's as easy to own a Bel Air 4-Door Sedan as getting in the car.

Wait till you see how sporty you look sitting in your Impala Super Sport.

In a word: Six

1. Have you ever known the instant delight of selecting a new Impala Super Sport in the color you want, slipping into its Strato-bucket seats, and driving it home from the showroom the same day? Now's your chance. Your Chevrolet dealer has a big choice of models on hand with small August price tags.
2. More than likely, your present car will never be worth as much in trade as it is right now. Money—another good reason to buy a Chevrolet this month.
3. Read those articles about when to buy a new car and they'll tell you that August is one of the best months. And your Chevrolet dealer is ready to show you why... with buys that are better than ever.
4. If you think winter's tough on an old car, believe us, so is summer. There's added strain on the engine because of vacation driving. Greater tire wear. The cooling system has to work extra hard. A new Chevrolet can save you a lot of trouble.
5. You do a lot of driving for pleasure so why not ride on Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension. Let your feet feel that deep-twist Chevrolet carpeting. August is to enjoy.
6. Make your summer driving safer driving by taking advantage of the eight standard safety features built into every new Chevrolet. If your present car doesn't have seat belts, back-up lights, outside rearview mirror, padded instrument panel, look into a new Chevrolet.

land during the early days. At Kunze siding on the Detroit and Mackinac Railway, this annual harvest was shipped to market by railroad cars. This business is all but forgotten today, except in the memory of a few old-timers.

In later years, a rambling hunting lodge was constructed on the property. Fields were tilled and sowed with rye for deer feed. Elmer, his brother, Leo, others of the family and members of their club have long enjoyed deer hunting there, but this use is gradually diminishing. A colony of bats has free reign today in a large metal-covered barn constructed by the Kunzes in 1902.

"Kunze's Retreat," as it is known today, has been visited many times by naturalists and conservationists from Michigan State University and the University of Michigan, along with Audubon members, who were given the opportunity to enjoy watching bird and animal life in an area unspoiled by civilization.

In 1949, Kunze used a system of selective cutting to harvest some of the mature white pine trees. Because of the cost of labor involved in cleaning up slashings to prevent forest fire and the low market value for such timber, no trees have been harvested in 17 years.

To Appear on TV Quiz Show—Mrs. Richard Egli, of Tecumseh, formerly of Tawas City, has been selected to appear on a television program, "Eye Guess," an NBC game show usually aired at 10:00 a. m. week days. She will be on the August 12 and August 15 shows. The Egli's were vacationing in New York and were asked to be on the show.

FARM AND HOME SECTION ANNOUNCES

SOUTH AMERICAN HOLIDAY

BY JERRY C. CURREN

As if the magic names of Rio, Buenos Aires and Lima were not enough to excite the traveler, the South American nations continue adding new incentives to bring Mr. and Mrs. Midwest to their countries.

These new attractions, such as luxury hotels and fine restaurants, coupled with the advent of the Jet Age, have prompted Farm and Home Section to have as its next international Jet Holiday tour the SOUTH AMERICAN HOLIDAY!

We have chosen as our official jet carrier for this newest of Farm and Home tours the airline which we consider the leader for South America — Braniff International. And we have hand-picked a 25-day itinerary in South America which we thought would be of greatest interest to our midwestern readers. And, once again Farm and Home, for this South American Holiday, has come up with a tour price which we feel is the best offered to South America yet!

As for departure dates . . . you have your choice of many:
December 11 March 5
January 15 April 9
February 5

 (This tour will be in Rio de Janeiro at Carnival time . . . $45.00 must be added to basic tour price.)

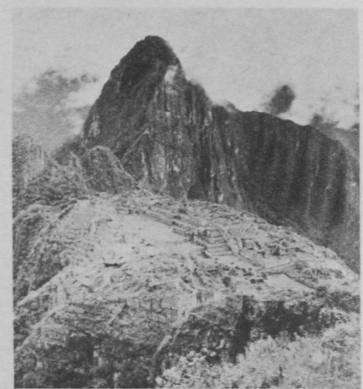

Now, just look at where you'll go and what you'll see . . .
4 glorious days in Lima, Peru . . .
2 days at Cuzco across the Andes visiting Inca ruins . . .
3 days at Santiago, Chile . . .
and then on to Buenos Aires for a few days . . .
from Buenos Aires, those who want can take an optional side trip to the Lake District of Argentina . . . and on to Sao Paulo, Brazil — the most dynamic city in South America . . .
while in Sao Paulo, those who want can take another optional side trip to the world famous Iguassu Falls . . .
and finally on to Rio de Janeiro for 4 wonderful days.
You can pick several points of departure or gateways from the United States for this trip — Dallas, Chicago, New York, Miami, Denver. Your Braniff International Jet will then take you to the first stop on our South American Holiday . . . Lima, Peru . . . where you'll join the rest of the tour group.
And, coming back, your Braniff International Jet will fly you to Miami for connecting flights to your home town.

Copacabana Beach in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Our tour hotel the modern Leme Palace is located on this beach.

Braniff International — our official tour airline — shows the variety of the wardrobe worn by their hostesses on a single flight.

High amid the South American Andes — where you'll visit — lie these ancient ruins conveying an aura of splendor and mystery.

Of course, what Farm and Home Section is most pleased about is the cost. Basic tour price (per person in twin bedded room) is $550.00 plus the air fare. And the per person air fare, depending on where you leave from is like this: Chicago — $637.40; Dallas — $550.00; Denver — $641.10; etc.

So, for one person from Chicago and back to Chicago, the total cost will be $1,187.00. And that includes the basic tour price for accommodations, etc. plus all of your air fares to and from South America plus your air fares while you travel from country to country in South America! How's that for a low price for a first class tour!

If you would like to hear more, simply fill out and mail the coupon appearing on this page to: Farm and Home Tours, 20 North Carroll Street, Madison, Wisconsin 53703. A colorful, explanatory South American Holiday tour folder will be sent to you. This folder will list the daily itinerary, exact costs and answer many of your other questions.

Let's go to South America . . . TOGETHER!

What to leave out of your trip to South America.

Braniff International's 29 day tour of South America is well worth the time. Unfortunately, not everyone has the time.

So we called in our tour director to see if he could do a little trimming. "Perhaps we could leave out the Gold Museum and the Salt Cathedral in Bogotá," we asked cautiously.

"Could you face your passengers after having done a thing like that?" he said coldly.

"Well, then, how about saving time on the Amazon? After all, Americans are used to seeing Indians."

"Naked Indians?" He shot us a knowing glance. "Now, you could bypass the Inca ruins in Peru."

"We could?" we asked hopefully.

"Yes. But you would have to be monsters to do it. Ignoring all that culture and history.

Shame on you."

"But—" we stammered.

"Now I would strike Argentina.

But then I've been through Argentina 86 times. Your passengers would have a perfect right to strike you."

At this point our patience was growing thin. "Surely, there must be something you could eliminate," we cried.

"Try me."

"Montevideo?" we pleaded.

"I wouldn't hear of it. Such a charming seaport."

"São Paulo?" we begged.

"The fastest growing metropolis in the world? Out of the question."

"Santos?" we implored.

"And miss the sight of those glorious orchids?

You have no soul."

"But don't you have any recommendations at all," we asked breathlessly as he rose to leave.

"Yes," he said. "By all means, add two days in Rio."

Note: Ever since our tour director became our former tour director, we have been working on a 17 day tour of South America. It's almost as good as our 29 day tour, only 12 days shorter.

To find out what we didn't leave out, write: Farm and Home Travel Editor 20 North Carroll Street Madison, Wisconsin.

EVERYBODY LOVES A BARBECUE

by Betty Stern

The taste for barbecuing is inherited. It is the second oldest form of cookery (simple broiling was first). Our colonial ancestors turned barbecues into day-long shindigs with political overtones. Today, we have our famous Texas barbecues. For summer entertaining that takes you out of the kitchen try the Chicken that will not be dry, or Barbecue Spareribs.

Meat is the center of attraction so make the rest of the meal simple. Spiced Iced Tea gives you a cool refresher.

A Savory Sauce is the heart of a good barbecue. It clings to and penetrates the meat to give it a crisp golden brown appearance. Leftover sauce keeps well in the refrigerator.

BROILED CHICKEN WITH LEMON BARBECUE SAUCE

- 2 broiler-fryer chickens halved, quartered, or cut in serving pieces
 salt margarine

Wash, dry, and sprinkle chickens with salt and brush with melted margarine. Place chicken on the grill, skin side down and broil about 5 minutes on a side, or until nicely browned. While chicken is browning, form a pan from heavy duty aluminum foil. Turn edges of foil up about 1 inch all around and miter corners. Have this pan ready at one side of the grill. As chicken browns, transfer to the pan with tongs. When all the chicken is brown, slide the pan into position over the fire. Cook the chicken about 45 minutes longer, basting with the Lemon Barbecue Sauce or leave plain.

NOTE: If chicken is larger than usual or not as tender as desired, a piece of foil may be placed over the top of the pan to hold in some of the steam while chicken is cooking.

SPICED ICED TEA

- 1 cup sugar 6 tablespoons instant tea
 1 cup water
 10 sticks cinnamon 1 quart boiling water
 1 tablespoon whole cloves 2 quarts cold water
 2 lemons, sliced

In a saucepan mix sugar and the 1 cup water; add cinnamon and cloves. Simmer over low heat for 10 minutes to make syrup. Strain to remove cinnamon and cloves. Pour boiling water over instant tea. Stir to dissolve; add cold water. Stir in syrup. Add ice. Float lemon slices on top. Serve ice cold. Makes approximately 14 tall glasses.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

- 4 pounds spareribs Salt, pepper

Sprinkle spareribs with salt, pepper. Brown quickly over coals. Place each serving on a double-thick square of aluminum foil. Pour 2 tablespoons Barbecue Sauce over top of ribs. Bring two edges of foil together over ribs; make double fold at each end. Place packages on grill over medium coals; grill 45-50 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1 large onion, sliced 3 dashes Tabasco sauce
 2 tablespoons margarine 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 1 cup canned tomatoes 1 cup beef stock or 1 bouillon cube dissolved in 1 cup boiling water
 1 cup diced celery 1 teaspoon salt
 1 cup ketchup
 1 cup diced green pepper
 2 tablespoons brown sugar 1/2 teaspoon pepper

Brown onion in margarine in heavy sauce pan. Add remaining ingredients; cover; bring to boil. Simmer over low heat about 2 1/2 hours or until sauce is thick. Yield: Approximately 2 cups sauce.

LEMON BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1/2 cup corn oil 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1/2 cup lemon juice 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 1/4 cup dark corn syrup 1 tablespoon chopped onion
 1 teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients in a heavy saucepan. Heat to boiling, then simmer for about 1/2 hour to blend flavors. Keep hot for basting. Mix thoroughly before each basting. Extra sauce may be served as a sauce or for dunking chips or pieces of raw celery.

MISSOURI LADIES GAB FREELY

by Shirley Christian

When three-year-old Kenneth Wayne Acker goes to the farm to visit his grandmother, one of the first things he does is to climb up on a stool and begin ringing her antique wall telephone.

There's no danger of his calling a stranger as only two close friends share the one-mile private telephone system in Central Missouri with Mrs. Fern Acker. Over its wire each day flies talk of canning, gardening, children and grandchildren, housekeeping, farm club, church, and anything else that enters the minds of the three women. It makes no difference that they have to shout to be heard on it.

A short and a long ring on the old box phones means one of the others is calling Mrs. Acker. Three shorts mean a call for Mrs. Lena Null, and Mrs. Ilah Marshall answers to a long and two shorts.

Once, the task of ringing up the shorts and longs belonged to "Central," but the friendly Windsor, Mo., operator who could locate anyone in the community is gone now, and the women themselves ring each other.

Owning what could be the smallest telephone company in the world doesn't mean the three women are opposed to progress. A modern dial phone provided by United Telephone Co. sits a few steps from each of the old wall boxes. Dial phones have some value — such as calling someone not on the private system. It is convenient to have the two phones close together as one often rings when the other is in use, and the women find themselves talking on both at the same time.

The three-customer company is what remains of the farmer-owned system that once served many families near Windsor. When dial phones were introduced a few years ago, the three families received permission from United to continue to maintain their own private system as well as to use the new phones. Each of the wall phones is about 50 years old.

The line connecting the three farms runs down the opposite side of the road from the line serving United's dial phones. The small system's line, held up by slender tree trunks, is easily distinguished from United's lines strung between tall, massive poles.

Sometimes, the women find their system more dependable than the new one.

"Ilah and Lena are on different dial lines than I am, so if there is trouble on our dial phone I call them on the wall phone. They report it to Sedalia (site of a United office) on one of their dial phones," said Mrs. Acker.

"We could be completely shut off without our old phones," Mrs. Null said.

But when there's trouble on the women's own line, they can't call Sedalia to get it fixed. Instead, they announce it to their husbands that night at supper, and the men repair the broken wire or put up the blown down pole.

The only other expense is buying batteries for the wall boxes every few years.

Although all three ladies often talk at once on their own system, it is still the most "private" line they have. Each woman's dial phone is part of a nine-party line.

"Why, when you finish talking on that dial phone," said Mrs. Acker, "you can hear five or six others putting the receiver back, all up and down the line."

Mrs. Lena Null talks to a friend on the 3-party telephone system shared by three Missouri farm women.

TEACH YOUR DOG A THING OR TWO

by J. C. Stokesbury

There is a doggone rumor floating around these days that the dogs of the country are going to revolt against being man's best friend.

As one dog put it, "We're getting fed up with the abuse and neglect that we get from man. We have decided that instead of wagging our tails and overlooking it, we should set up some kind of a howl."

With this threat in mind, man had better look at the situation himself before it goes completely to the dogs.

To start off with, let's agree that a mongrel — a dog of mixed breeding — deserves the same attention and care as one of the 155 different kinds of purebreds. Mongrels do, after all, comprise the greatest segment of dogdom, and most of them make excellent companions and helpers.

A dog that will heel, sit, stay, lie down, and come on command will be a much better friend and a much more useful one than a dog that only knows how to chew bones. And the dog will appreciate your teaching because it will give him a chance to please you which is his greatest pleasure in life.

In teaching your dog, remember at all times that he learns by repetition, and he will learn if you make your commands clear and give them in a manner that the dog can understand. Remember also that the dog's learning thrives on praise from you.

The lesson plan, then, should include twice daily sessions of ten or fifteen minutes during which you teach your dog to:

Heel — Using a short leash, keep the dog at your left side as you walk about, repeating, "Shep, heel."

Sit — Give command, pull up on leash and push dog's hind-quarters down. Make him sit whenever you stop.

Stay — With dog sitting, give command and move your left hand back and forth in front of his face, repeating the command if he moves.

Lie Down — Kneel in front of dog and pull down on his leash as you give the command.

Come — Most dogs learn this on their own, but it can be taught by telling the dog to "stay," then moving away from him and calling him while tugging on his leash.

In all of this training work, your dog should wear a slip chain for a collar that will tighten around his neck when you pull on the leash.

Like their masters, dogs sometimes pick up some bad habits. These habits can be broken. The dog's, that is.

Jumping up on people — Bring knee up against the dog's chest or step on his hind paws, saying "NO" sharply.

Chasing cars — Ride in a car that he chases and squirt him with soapy water or a diluted ammonia solution. Another method is to jerk the dog off his feet with a light rope when he takes after a car.

Excessive barking — Slap the dog sharply across the muzzle, or tie a piece of cloth over his muzzle temporarily with the ends tied behind his ears.

Chewing — Usually a puppy trait that is outgrown, this is best countered by tying the dog away from the chewed object.

Digging — A mouse trap or two buried lightly in the flower bed will discourage fido from digging up the petunias.

A farm dog's major function is herding, cattle, pigs, sheep or even poultry. A thorough knowledge of the five basic obedience commands is invaluable in starting the dog's herding lessons. Introduce him to his charges when he is six to eight months old, and be patient and firm in showing him what is expected of him. Your method of teaching will be reflected in the dog's herding behavior, and he will be as patient and firm with the cows or sheep as you teach him to be.

A dog that will obey hand signals — moving out or left or right as you motion him — will be a greater help in herding. You can teach him this by using a long rope run through a ring anchored in the ground, and applying the same methods used in obedience training.

In exchange for your dog's undying loyalty and his great ambition to work to your satisfaction, you owe him a couple of items.

You owe him, first, a balanced diet that will allow him to stay hale and healthy. Table scraps, of course, are fine for a dog, but they should be supplemented with a commercial dog food that provides adequate nutrition.

Secondly, you owe your dog good health. You owe him enough attention to realize when he is sick and to see that he is properly treated. Don't delay taking him to a veterinarian.

Dogs suffer from many external and internal parasites, most of which can be effectively treated with control programs that have been developed by drug companies.

In treating for fleas, lice or ticks, remember to apply control chemicals to the dog's living quarters. If you don't, the pests will climb back into the dog's fur almost immediately after you have treated him.

Internal parasites — Five different kinds of worms, some of which are fatal to the dog if not controlled — are countered with specific worm medicines that your pet products supplier or veterinarian can advise you on. They can also prescribe treatment for such things as mange and ear mites, conditions that demand prompt attention.

If we are to keep the dog as our best friend, we had better do what we can to let them know we appreciate their friendship.
