

Lost Way in Snow Storm—

Young Mother Makes Escape from Truck
Before Lake Plunge

A young Saginaw mother had a close brush with tragedy Sunday afternoon when she lost her way in a driving snowstorm and the carryall truck she was driving plunged through thin ice of Tawas Bay.

Making her escape from the 1965 truck as it settled through the ice and into about 25 to 30 feet of water was Mrs. Ronald Unkel, the former Vera Head of Whittemore.

State police said that Mr. and Mrs. Unkel were fishing for perch about a mile off shore and about 1,000 feet west of buoy No. 4. They had failed to bring fishing bait with them and Mrs. Unkel returned toward shore to secure some wigglers.

A heavy snow storm hit the area Sunday afternoon and visibility was at a minimum. She apparently became mixed up in her directions and, instead of driving toward shore, drove onto new ice which would not support the truck.

Mrs. Milton Unkel, mother of Ronald, said Monday that her daughter-in-law could not get the truck door open as it began to settle through the ice. She made her escape by climbing through the window.

Ronald saw the truck settling through the ice some distance away but apparently did not realize that it was the vehicle being driven by his wife.

Both avid fishermen, the Unkels had come home Sunday to spend the afternoon on the bay. They lost a considerable amount of clothing which was being carried in the truck, but considered themselves fortunate that Mrs. Unkel had reached safety.

After taking his wife to the home of his parents, Unkel and his brother, Barry, returned to Tawas Bay but were unable to mark the location of the lost vehicle.

This was the second truck lost in Tawas Bay this winter and one passenger car is on the lake bottom.

Elmer Slaven Dead; Former TC Grocer

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for W. Elmer Slaven, 72, former Tawas City businessman, who died Friday at Tawas Hospital.

Born at Welston, Ohio, Mr. Slaven spent his youth in the Bay City area and at one time operated a grocery and meat market in Saginaw.

Coming to Tawas City in 1945, he and his wife, Gertrude E. (Trudy), whom he married February 7, 1933, operated a grocery at the corner of Mathews Street and US-23 until 1964. Selling their grocery business, they devoted full time to their resort located on Douglas Drive, Alabaster Township.

Active in local politics, Mr. Slaven had served Alabaster Township as a trustee and constable and was once a member of the Iosco County Canvassing Board.

An avid outdoorsman until ill health deemed otherwise in recent years, Mr. Slaven became interested in amateur photography in 1952. He coupled his interest in hunting with the hobby of photography and the result brought numerous wildlife scenes and points of natural beauty which he recorded. A number of his pictures were published by this newspaper and he often provided picture coverage of winter sports and other events for the chamber of commerce.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Janet Sorrell of Enid, Oklahoma; four grandchildren; five sisters, Mrs. Rose Dow, Mrs. Dorothy Hall and Mrs. Jane Munroe, all of Saginaw, Mrs. Elizabeth Kalanquin of Flint and Mrs. Delilah Murphy of Detroit.

He was a member of Tawas City Masonic Lodge No. 302, P.&AM. Services were held at Jacques Funeral Home, Tawas City. The Rev. Ernest Ferguson officiated. Burial was at Whitney-Sims Cemetery.

City Uses Revolving Fund for Purchases

Tawas City Council has authorized use of its local capital purchase revolving account as a means of financing purchases of needed equipment, rather than to borrow money from local sources using promissory notes.

This action came about following a report from the Municipal Finance Commission warning that the city had violated state law by failing to ask for and receive permission from that body when applying for loans.

Tawas City had financed purchase of necessary equipment by issuing notes for many years and had never been questioned until a year ago. The matter came to a head only last month when a tractor used for snow removal had a breakdown and immediate replacement became necessary.

Reginald Bublitz, superintendent of public works, said Monday night that approval for such loans often takes a matter of months and waiting that length of time was out of the question when it comes to equipment replacement.

The ordinance establishing the revolving fund, also used to finance extension of sewer mains, provides for capital purchases if a contract guarantees repayment to the fund.

In the case of the tractor, the city has a contract with the state to provide snow removal on US-23. Also being contemplated at a later date is a purchase of a new police car and a truck replacement.

In other business, one building permit was approved during the past two weeks. This was for Jerry Cotter, Lot 6, Sawyer Addition, Bay Drive, addition of playroom within existing dwelling, $300.

City Attorney Alf C. Watson reported that a van type truck body being used for milk storage in a B-2 business district had been found in violation of the zoning ordinance. The van has been removed. (See COUNCIL, page 6.)

Old Nemesis Returns—

Weather Spoiled Fun, but Program a Success

Weather conditions were most unfavorable, but Tawas' fourth annual Perchville Festival was termed a success by chamber of commerce officials.

Hoping for a repeat of weather conditions which favored last year's event, offerings of nature this year were almost disastrous. A severe northeast wind last Wednesday night broke up most of the ice in Tawas Bay, leaving only the small area protected by the Michigan Waterways Dock and the high of Tawas Bay, where Perchville is located.

As a result of that blow, perch evidently moved out into deeper water, while ice boat racing, snowmobile events and other features of the program had to be canceled. Aerial events were dropped due to the mechanical difficulties encountered with an airplane.

On the brighter side of the picture, Friday night's fish fry at the Barnes Hotel, crowning of Howard Shelley as Perchville king, polar bear dips, snowmobile and carnival rides came off as planned.

Roger Brown, Detroit Lions' defensive man, proved to be a favorite with youngsters over the weekend. Brown was introduced during halftime of the Tawas-Standish-Sterling basketball game that evening and was on the ice both Saturday and Sunday where he was besieged for autographs by small fry.

Shelley, outdoor television cameraman, was crowned Friday night and the ceremony was repeated Saturday afternoon for a crowd of about 1,000 persons on hand for swimming events.

Activities Saturday morning started with a parade of cars and trucks driven by members of the Wolverine Radio Club, here for their first annual winter carnival. Nimble-footed members of the Wurtsmith Square Dance Club, along with local participants, entertained shortly before noon with dancing on the ice.

Feature attraction during the afternoon was Harry McElyea and his "corps" of polar bear swimmers. With the temperature hovering around the mid-20 degree mark, a large crowd of spectators gathered around a special swimming pool cut in the ice near the Waterways Commission Dock.

Duane Wright of East Tawas and Peter Lemon of Alabaster, along with Debbie Simpson, 14, of Flint, joined McElyea for a cool dip. Committeemen used a net to remove a skum of ice which continually formed in the pool. Participating with McElyea in Sunday's polar bear swim were James Targoal, Troy; Michael Moody of Flint and Billy Moody of Linwood. The latter went for a swim here last year.

Mrs. Esther MacIntyre of Oscoda, an avid fisherman chosen by a committee of visiting dignitaries Saturday afternoon was crowned queen of the festival Saturday night. Her coronation came at the Holland Hotel and was performed by Shelley as part of the Perchville banquet.

In another crowning, Pamela Lefler, 13, Mt. Morris, became queen of the Wolverine Radio Club's Flint Chapter, active participants in the festival.

Sunday afternoon's program proved a repeat of Saturday with numerous cancellations. McElyea and three other volunteers made a scheduled polar bear dip and the program held on wind-swept Tawas Bay was highlighted by a demolition derby involving four old automobiles.

While fishing was only fair during the festival, anglers found good luck for small perch near the coast guard boathouse Saturday morning. Top catch by Saturday night was a 13.5-inch perch brought in by Daniel Caruk of East Tawas.

Michael Schraver, Oscoda, won first place and top money of $50 in the demolition derby held on the ice Sunday afternoon. Four cars and drivers participated and Schraver was the last to leave the ice. Bob Weisend, East Tawas, won second place and $25.

Prize winners over the week-end included: John C. Merrill, Mt. Morris, fish shanty and trailer. Receiving free week-ends at local resorts were Ben Schrader, Saginaw; F. Swieczicki, Caseville; Lucille Clarke, Dearborn; Barry Lutzke, Albion; Neil Hazen, Sparta; Jim Roberts, Flint; Dan Perkins, Davison. Dinners at local restaurants went to Orville Estes, Flint; Joseph Ressler, Saginaw; Daniel MacGirr, Mt. Morris; Ronald Schumacher, Saginaw; Clara Miller, Saginaw; Thomas Shuraker, Coleman.

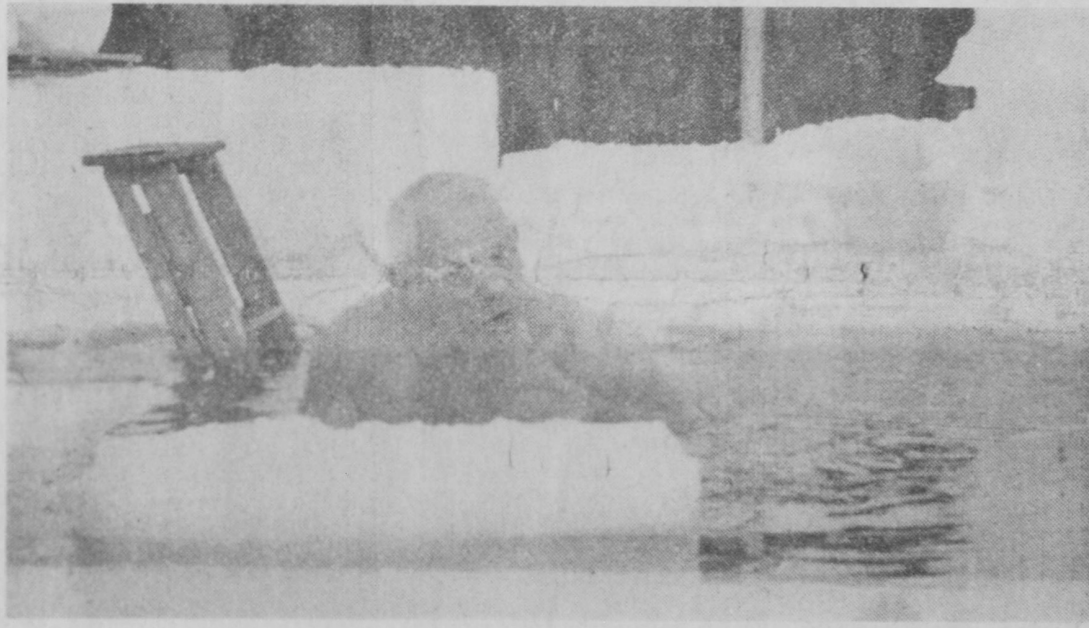

Winners besides Caruk in the perch fishing contest, who received $10 for first place, were Ruth Gilles, Hale, second largest perch, 11 3/4 inches, 13 ounces. Ray Wohler, Elkhart, Indiana, caught the most fish (43) and received $10.

Winners of junior fishing contests were Craig Smoczyński, Tawas City, one pound, four-ounce perch, $5 prize; Dave Eberline, Oscoda, 17-ounce perch, $5. Bernard Federspiel, Saginaw, won $15 in prize money for his two pike.

It is felt that percentages presented by the road commission would be more or less arbitrary rather than realistic and would have a tendency to favor the commission.

"Townships have not in the past been unreasonable in their local construction requests. The need for an improvement remains the deciding factor. The issue resolves in the fact that townships seek only an equitable distribution of road tax monies for needed projects," said the resolution.

In other business handled during the February session, the board approved an expenditure of $1,000 for compiling census figures to determine population of East Tawas and Oscoda Township for apportionment purposes. It is not expected that the entire amount will be used in those two units and that remaining funds may have to be used for headquarters in other townships or cities.

"OH, THAT'S COLD" seems to be the expression on Harry McElyea's face as he paddles around the Tawas Bay swimming pool on a cake of ice. Three other swimmers joined the polar bear club Sunday afternoon, but membership is not booming.—Tawas Herald Photo.

East Tawas Plans Appropriation for Sewage Treatment Plant Site

East Tawas Council is now making plans to include an expenditure of $14,000 in its appropriation ordinance for the next fiscal year to finance purchase of 52 acres of land for its new disposal system.

City Attorney Michael Freel told councilmen Monday night that the proposed purchase for this property exceeds the limit established by law, unless funds are provided by the appropriation ordinance.

The city had started condemnation proceedings to purchase the property from Mrs. Helen (Beckett) Majewski as a means of protecting its federal engineering grant. The matter apparently is to be settled out of court, but state law prohibits taking of an option to buy because the total price exceeds the minimum requirement.

Delay in obtaining a federal grant has continued, according to information read during the meeting. Spicer Engineering Company, Saginaw, has prepared a letter informing the Federal Water Pollution Control Agency of the city's plan to separate storm and sanitary sewer mains in several sections of the city.

Supt. Paul Ropot told the council that combination storm and sanitary sewer mains overtaxed the capacity of the disposal plant and one correction is to be made as soon as weather permits. The city is also contemplating an ordinance prohibiting the connection of down spouts from eaves or basement floor drains with the sanitary sewer system. At present, such connections are prohibited by department regulations.

Theodore S. Dimmick appeared before the council and requested that the city widen Rainbow Drive in Tawasenthia Subdivision, according to a commitment by the council about 10 years ago. Dimmick had donated 30 feet of land along the road for widening purposes. The council's street committee is to investigate.

Authorization was given to the Department of Public Works to purchase a new power brush saw. Reports from the park board, recreation committee and police department were accepted. The recreation committee urged the council not to make camping sites out of a playground area at the city park because of long-range improvements being planned there.

Townships Object to Road Construction Hike by County

A resolution objecting to a proposed increase to townships for road construction was tabled at Wednesday's session of the Iosco Board of Supervisors. The resolution was amended in order that the county road commission may give its views at the March session.

According to the resolution, the road commission plans to increase township participation beyond the present 50 percent sharing of construction costs. This move was made in lieu of billing townships for snow removal.

Presently pending is a program whereby road construction costs would be paid at a rate of 25 percent by the road commission and 75 percent by townships.

"Under normal circumstances," said the resolution, "the requirement of such a major sharing expense on the part of the townships would make it unable to proceed with many desired improvements.

The board of supervisors is presently at work on a plan to reappoint the board on a one-man, one-vote concept, according to the guidelines established by the state. As a result, combinations between townships, or townships and cities will have to be made in order to reappoint the county into not more than 15 districts.

Supervisors have until April 10 to complete this work. Should the board fail to act by the deadline, a five-man commission would take over and complete the job within 30 days.

The board appointed Ori Hodge of East Tawas as the county veteran's counselor. He replaces Philip Gidley, whose appointment to that post two months ago was disapproved by the Michigan Department of Corrections. Gidley is probation and parole officer for that department.

Max Stoutenberg, director of the Iosco Medical Care Facility, appeared before the board and outlined present finances of the facility. Supervisors made an inspection of the facility at noon.

Kenneth Conn, Tawas City insurance agent, along with two insurance company representatives, outlined a proposed retirement plan for both elective and salaried county employees. The matter was turned over to the insurance committee for study.

Supervisor Charles Smith of Oscoda reported on the recent state convention at Lansing, which dealt with equalization and reapportionment.

No action was taken on a resolution submitted by Alton Abbott relative to changing terms of county road commissioners from six to three years. The matter was turned over to the roads and bridges committee for study.

TODAY'S Meditation from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide The Upper Room

Read Ephesians 2:13-22 Let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith. (Hebrews 10:22) The Temple that Herod began building in Jerusalem about 20 B. C. was destroyed by the Romans in A. D. 70. It was one of the most beautiful ever known to man. But "keep out" signs were in plain view at the entrance to the second court within the Temple building. Beyond the gate into the second courtyard foreigners could not pass, on penalty of death. All Jews, including women, could enter the second court. In the next courtyard, called the "Court of Israel," Jewish men were permitted to go. In the innermost court, priests only could enter. Thus, every court in the approach to the altar meant privileges were denied to more and more by reason of birth. But ever since God poured out His love through Jesus Christ, all of us have the assurance that God welcomes us in love and offers His redeeming grace. Therefore, "let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith."

CATCHES of perch during the annual Perchville Festival were disappointing, but some fishermen had luck early Saturday morning near the coast guard boathouse. This angler pulled up several nice fish, but most were too small to keep. Break-up of ice on Tawas Bay last week caused most of the trouble as the fish moved into deeper water.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Coop. Extension's Role Explained

Cooperative Extension Service's role in serving about one million rural Michigantians was explained at a meeting attended by area press representatives last Thursday night. The extension service, organized 50 years ago and supported by state, federal and local government, focuses on education as its principal activity with Michigan State University playing a key role. Paul Quarters of Michigan State University information service told newsmen that income from approximately 100,000 farms of Michigan produces about a billion dollars annually. With a theme of families, farm and future, MSU places much attention on research and brings new knowledge to rural people around the state. The MSU publicist said that the average farm investment today was $50,000 and by 1980 it is expected to reach $130,000. As a result, top management is required to operate such businesses. Extension, he said, provides the knowledge link between the university and rural people. Since reorganization of cooperative extension last year, the MSU field editor said that more emphasis is being placed on rural areas. Better use of extension personnel is being made under the change by utilizing particular talents of agents in a cooperative program between staffs of adjacent counties. Besides working with farm problems, agents are responsible for carrying out programs involving 80,000 youngsters enrolled in 4,000 4-H Clubs around the state, as well as providing assistance of home economists in all counties of the state. Another facet of extension's expanding role is in conserving the state's natural resources. Two-thirds of the state is tree covered and there are 10,000 lakes and streams. Wise and conservative use of these natural resources is a must and it is the agent's job to help people understand the need for conservation, balanced by governmental action. Anticipating problems of the future is another role of the extension service. By 1980, it is expected there will be a 75 percent increase in food sales and the tourist-recreation business will double in size. Roles played under the recent reorganization were explained by Agents Marvin Davenport of Isocso County and Jack Post of Arenac. Jerry Malosh told of his work with 4-H Clubs, while Mrs. Clemma Lenehan explained her work as area home economist. Newsmen had the opportunity to make an aerial study of the three-county area and learn of prospects for future recreational needs.

"My aptitude tests were very gratifying. They showed I was cut out to be a bum."

Editorials—

Job Well Done

The Herald would like to pass on a public pat on the back to some deserving organizations—the Isocso Road Commission and local DPW crews. The county is under contract with the state for snow removal on US-23, M-55 and M-65, except in municipalities which handle their own snow removal. To accomplish this, the commission has 32 men operating plows—often around the clock. Six men are located at Oscoda, six at Hale, one at Whittemore and the remainder work out of the main garage at East Tawas. A total of 77 inches of snow had fallen this winter, as of last Thursday, which gives some idea of the kind of service required from the road commission. This county has long been noted for its efficient snow removal and that was again brought to attention Sunday night by a rather severe storm. Driving conditions on US-23 from Bay City north were treacherous. A sheet of ice covered the highway and traffic crept along at a slow pace. The exception was at a point just south of the county line. Here, the Isocso Road Commission crew had been at work and the highway was free of ice. Praise is due all of our local snow removal departments for a fine job this winter. The writer will have to admit to traveling companions, that the slipperiest section of highway found in more than 200 miles of travel Sunday was right here in the hometown. Lake Street was a solid sheet of ice late Sunday night following a sleet storm, but DPW crews were on the job bright and early.

A Word of Praise

President Marlin Eaton and Tawas Chamber of Commerce members serving as a Perchville Committee deserve a word of praise for their untiring efforts during last week's fourth annual festival. In spite of everything going wrong weatherwise, the event offered entertainment to local residents and several thousand visitors during what used to be the rather dull part of a long winter. Much disappointment was caused by cancellation of numerous events because of poor weather conditions, but that can be expected when so much relies upon the whim of nature.

People Commit Crimes

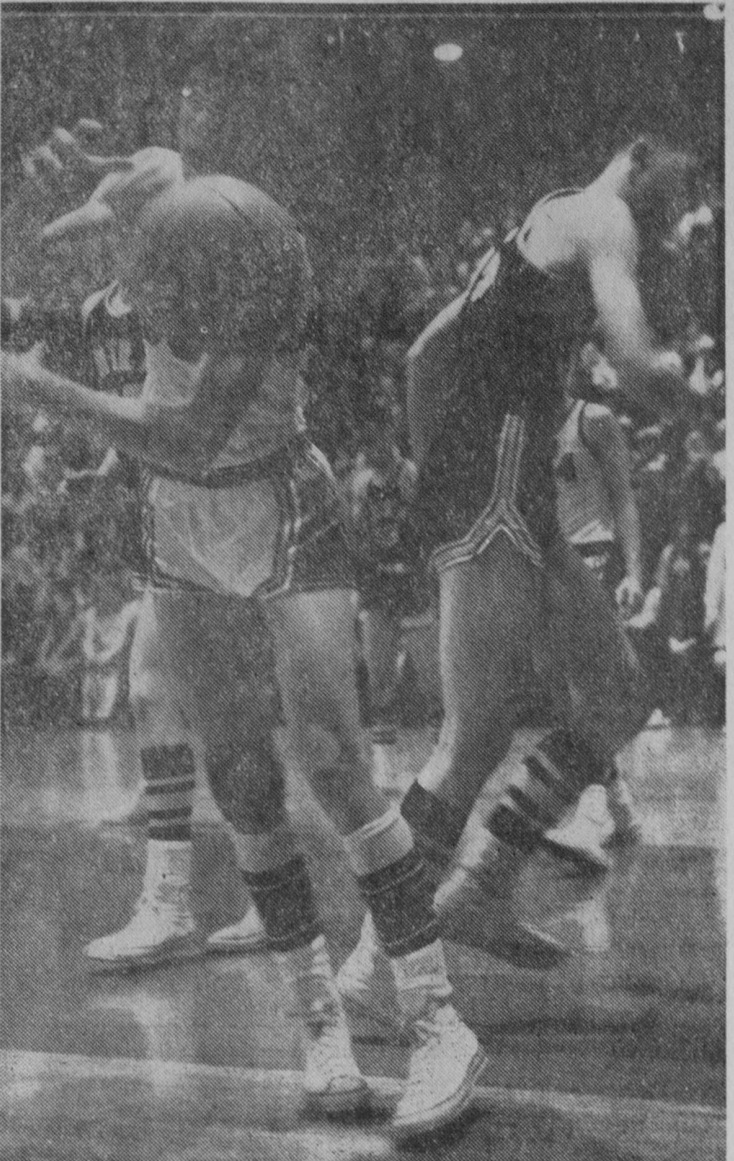

We hope Herald readers will bear with us again, but we cannot help but pass on a few remarks concerning antigun legislation being fostered by big city newspapers—in this case, The Detroit Free Press, one of our favorite journals. A good many people are being misled by these editors, who apparently never leave their sacred ivory towers. Gun owners and members of the National Rifle Association are most willing to cooperate in seeking ways to combat crime in the big cities. But taking firearms away from everyone—except the criminal and the police—is certainly no answer. Law-abiding gun owners, who enjoy freedom in hunting, target shooting and collecting, are anxious to help by passage of some legislation aimed at keeping mail order firearms out of the hands of juveniles and to provide stiff penalties for those who use firearms in crimes of violence. What is not wanted by thinking people—and this includes more than just gun owners—are severe restrictions contained in the Dodd bill before congress which, in one form or another, just about eliminates gun ownership by law-abiding citizens as we know it today. This is not a police state—yet—and we cannot call upon the law or even expect to receive help from overextended police at every hour, particularly in the larger cities. Yet, the Free Press continues its attack against the small Detroit grocers, who, with their back to the wall, have tried to help themselves and the public by becoming familiar with the safe handling of handguns, just in case they are needed. Despite assertions of two major television networks, numerous magazine and newspaper articles, this country is not in the grip of a deadly peril from firearms. The clamor against firearms completely ignores the fact that people commit crimes, not guns. There may be an even more deadly peril from the criminal element if we remove firearms from the hands of law abiding citizens. A big fight is expected in congress this year over the Dodd bill and we hope residents of this area, who enjoy hunting or enjoy the right of gun ownership, will communicate their thoughts to Senators Philip A. Hart and Robert Griffin, along with Cong. Elford A. Cederberg.

Right to Serve

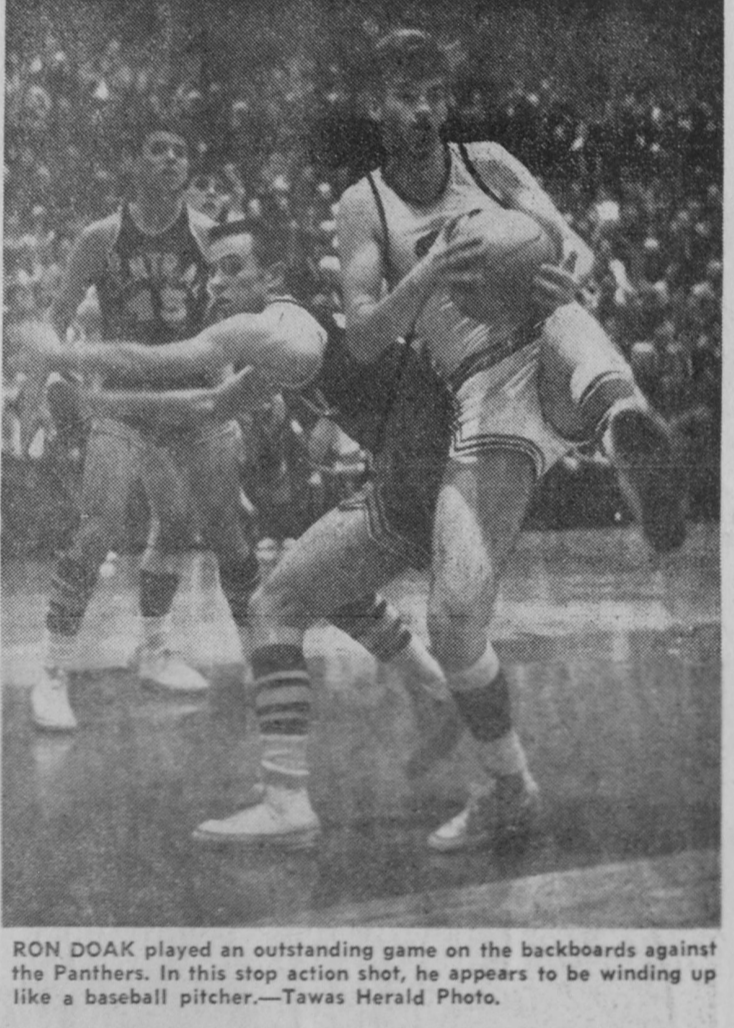

We have been wondering lately why ministers and theological students have been exempt from selective service. Perhaps someone can give us the answer. Many young students, at their own choosing, have served their country in the military and hundreds of ministers have served with distinction in a very worthwhile cause as chaplains with the armed forces—in times of peace and war. Serving one's country is the right of all men. There is an acute shortage of school teachers at present and, as far as we know, young men in this most essential profession are not exempt from the draft, although this probably should be considered. Military experience offers a broad education for those who wish to take advantage of opportunities presented. It even provides an open field for those wishing to do some missionary work in foreign lands, where the word of God is needed, just as it is needed here at home.

Braves Bow to S-S Panthers in NBC Showdown Game

Last week proved to be disastrous to the basketball fortunes of the Tawas Area Braves.

Upset by the Osceola Owls Tuesday night, the Braves fell to the Standish-Sterling Central Panthers Friday night and were eliminated from the running in the year-long race for top NBC honors.

The Panthers only had to defeat Pinconning's Spartans Tuesday night to make it impossible for any other school to share the top rung and the Spartans were not expected to repeat their upset earlier in the season.

For Tawas, it was the same old bugaboo—second quarter slump—which meant the difference in Friday night's game. Both teams were "tight" for this game and shooting averages showed it, but the Braves' four-point effort in the second quarter just about wrapped up the decision.

The game was a defensive battle all the way, as indicated by the low score. Tawas was unable to penetrate the defense thrown up by the taller Standish-Sterling boys. The Braves held their own on the backboards, helping their cause as both teams were off on shooting under pressure.

Tawas scored first in the opening quarter but it did not take long before the Panthers came up with a three-point lead, 15-12, at the whistle. Groszek paced the visitors with five points, while Doak had six for Tawas.

Standish-Sterling took a commanding lead in the second quarter by outscoring the Braves, 14-4. Tawas had plenty of opportunities to score in the quarter, making only one field goal in 10 attempts, and several were easy layups.

The Braves made a determined effort to bounce back in the third quarter, holding a 14-10 lead, but that second quarter margin just proved too great an obstacle. Beyer came off the bench to pump in six points to lead the Braves, while Gale helped the Panther cause by coming off the bench to sink five points.

The Panthers wrapped up the evening in the final quarter with a 14-9 edge. Bill Forsyth, a slick guard for the Panthers, led the way with six points.

Dairy Short Course to Start March 2 at W-P Area School

Almost all dairy farms experience some reproductive problems. The extent of loss to the individual dairyman can run into hundreds of dollars each year.

A short course designed to inform dairymen on dairy cattle reproduction and fertility problems has been set up by the Cooperative Extension Service. The short course will start Thursday, March 2, running for three consecutive Thursdays, in the vocational agricultural room at Whittemore-Prescott High School, two miles north and two miles east of Prescott.

Dr. Louis Boyd, reproductive specialist, and Dr. Clifford Beck of the Veterinary Science Department of Michigan State University will be the resource people.

Topics covered at the first session on March 2 will include importance of sterility and infertility problems, anatomy and function of the reproductive tract and endocrinology.

The second session on March 9 will cover development of the unborn calf, management for maximum fertility, genetic and nutritional factors, including inheritance and feeding. Actual laboratory examination of reproductive tracts will be made.

At the final session on March 16, diseases affecting reproduction will be covered along with information on calving, herd health records and management tips.

This informative short course is open to dairy farmers from all surrounding counties. Lunch will be served in the high school cafeteria for a small charge.

Cards Split in Two Games During Week

Whittmore - Prescott Cards split two games with Roscommon Thursday night. The varsity had a cold first quarter to cause its downfall, 61-51, while the JV reversed the procedure, having trouble in the first half but coming on strong in the last half to win 66-49.

The Card Varsity was colder than the weather in the first quarter as the Bucks rolled up 14 points in the first five minutes before Ron Dorsey connected for the first Card basket. The Cards were 21 points behind early in the second quarter when they started to click.

The lead was cut to nine points at half time on some good shooting by Mike Smith and Dorsey. Coach Dudo's boys continued to chip away at the Bucks' lead and had it down to 37-35 with a quick basket by Dorsey as the third quarter started.

The Cards passing and defense both fell apart then with Roscommon's 14 straight points to take a commanding 51-35 lead. A shortage of players was threatening the Cards again with Smith, Dorsey and Freel all carrying four fouls.

The lead was cut to nine points at half time on some good shooting by Mike Smith and Dorsey. Coach Dudo's boys continued to chip away at the Bucks' lead and had it down to 37-35 with a quick basket by Dorsey as the third quarter started.

May Become Ice Regatta Site

Tawas Bay has the possibility of becoming the site for the international Arrow Ice Yacht regatta this week-end.

Final decision of officials is to be made tonight (Wednesday) concerning the suitability of ice conditions on the bay.

According to Marlin Eaton, president of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce, several hundred racing craft may be involved in this regatta should present ice conditions remain favorable.

Ice boat racing had to be canceled last week-end because of a storm a week ago which moved most of Tawas Bay's ice out into Lake Huron. Since then, cold nights have provided new ice most essential to good racing conditions.

Local coordinator for the ice boating event is Donald Tripp of Sail Fish Marine, East Tawas.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Tawas Herald Editor:

This is the first time I have ever attempted to write to a newspaper, much less to reply to an editorial. But after much thought, I felt that a reply by way of commendation was in order in regard to your article and editorial of three weeks ago on the right to bear arms.

The great majority of us at one time or another found it necessary to stand up and be counted when our freedoms were threatened, starting way back in 1776 and right now in Vietnam, with assorted large and small wars in between.

One of the basic freedoms that we fought for and are fighting for is the right to own, possess and bear arms. It is part of one of the greatest documents of all time—our constitution. I doubt if there is any question in the minds of your readers as to what could happen even here in the United States if that basic freedom were taken away. You need only look at any of the now not-free nations to know that answer. I do not mean to say that if this freedom was taken away that we would become a police state, but it certainly would be a step in that direction.

It would be hard to think that I would be unable to teach my children to hunt or to shoot properly or to be able to watch a group of boy scouts learning basic rifle instruction from a qualified NRA instructor. But it would appear that should some of our legislators have their way, all of these things and our freedom in this respect would either be destroyed or severely restricted.

I believe that Iosco County is a good example of the simple fact that firearms are not all so bad as some would like the public to think. I doubt that there is one out of five homes in our county that is without at least one firearm on the premises. But do we have a high crime rate by firearms? No, in fact little or none. As for enforcement of the current firearms laws, which are completely adequate, our local police agencies—the sheriff's department for instance—has very complete records on all holders and owners of handguns in the county, as is the case for every county in Michigan.

The safety inspection requirement is rigidly enforced by the sheriff's department, as is the inspection and registration of all handguns by qualified and trained personnel. The county maintains, by state law, a concealed weapons board. This consists of the prosecuting attorney, sheriff and state police post commander. This board must pass judgment and approve or disapprove of all concealed weapons permits in this county and does an excellent job.

Our state has very competent firearms laws and they are properly enforced here and state-wide. I fail to understand why these people who wish to further restrict or completely take away our right to own and bear arms want to destroy this basic freedom. I fully understand there is a crime problem, very much so in the metropolitan areas, but it is not the law abiding citizen that is committing the crime, it is the criminal. How a law that would take away the law abiding citizen's right to own and bear arms would decrease crime with the use of firearms by criminals is beyond me.

To the Editor
The Tawas Herald

Dear Sir:
First, in the name of unity, you attacked the demonstrators and now the clergy. Who is next, the dissenters and all who do not think exactly as you do?

The clergymen who marched in Washington recently to show their concern over the war in Vietnam were in harmony with positions taken by the World and National Councils of Churches and efforts made by Pope Paul and U Thant for peace. They are not guilty of heresy as your editorial seems to imply.

Perhaps it is time for the flock to listen to the Fisher of Men, who was also a martyr, for who is safe from the hawk?

Take Second Look at New HS Plans

Increased enrollment in both the West Branch and Rose City public schools during the current year has caused the boards of education to take a second look at plans for a new high school building.

Taking a long, hard look at industrial development of the county and considering enrollment increases this year, the school board is studying the possibility of changing construction plans to house grades nine through 12 in one building.

Since reorganization of the two districts, it had been planned to have a senior high school composed of grades 10, 11 and 12 with junior high schools at both West Branch and Rose City.

THOMAS KENNEDY, former junior high counselor at Oscoda Area School, has been employed as director of Thundercap, Incorporated, at Alpena, part of Norcap which covers 32 counties in Northern Michigan. Kennedy will serve as director of Title III project embracing the Counties of Iosco, Bay and Arenac. He will be headquartered at the intermediate school district in Essexville. One-third of his time will be spent in Iosco, one-third in Bay and the remaining one-third in Arenac starting March 1. Problem to be investigated under the Title III project is establishment of professional services to provide 12 public school district and 31 nonpublic schools with assistance in the areas of guidance and counseling with special emphasis at the elementary level. He is a native of Bay City and received his bachelor and master degrees from Western Michigan University.

New Farm Record Book Prepared

Michigan State University agricultural economists have prepared a new record book for farmers which will make it simpler to keep income tax records.

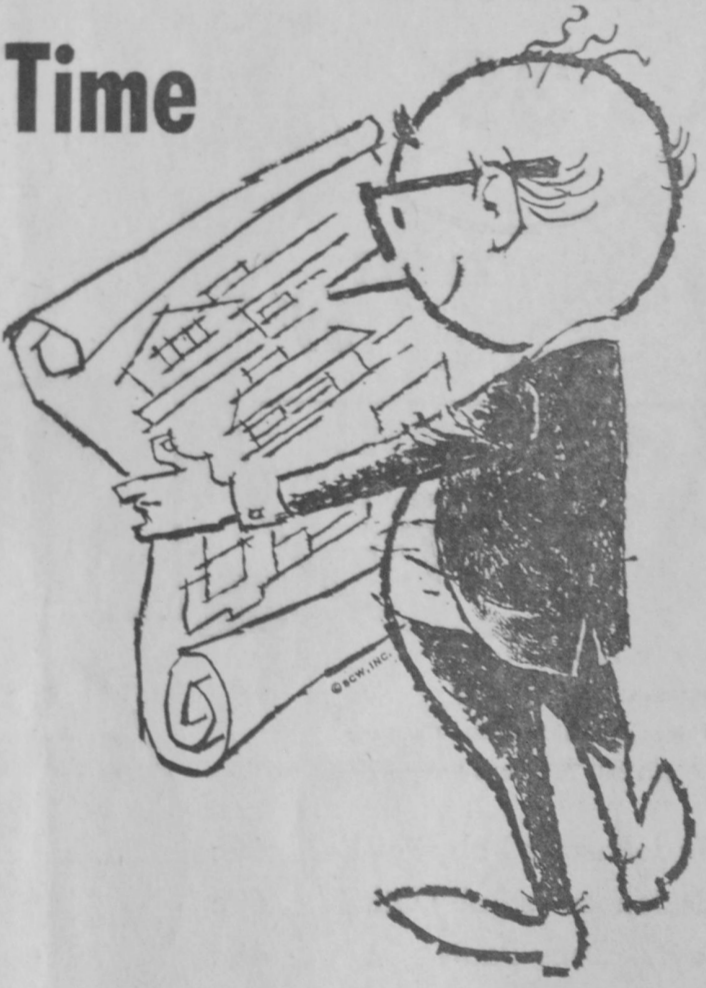

Marvin Davenport, Iosco County extension agent, says the new book is slightly larger and more complete than the one formerly distributed by local banks, but continues to emphasize simplicity. Banks and credit agencies have for years assisted in distributing a farm record book designed by MSU farm management specialists. The new book can be kept by the farmer on his own, as in the past, and has summary pages provided for monthly totals.

Complete information and copies of the new book are available from Mr. Davenport, Federal Building, East Tawas, Phone 362-3449 and he will pay you a visit to explain the system and compute the small fee needed for the Telfarm record.
