TA Committee Takes Look at Curriculum

Formation of a curriculum study committee has been activated at Tawas Area High School for the purpose of improving present academic offerings. Supt. Reynold Mick has been working with members of the school faculty in initial organization of the committee and the next meeting is scheduled January 25. Named to participate on the committee from the board of education were Trustees Robert Elliott and Mrs. Helen Pavea, along with President Leonard Sarki. According to information at Monday night's board of education meeting, this committee is to meet monthly with representatives of elementary, high school, administration and board of education in attendance.

In other business to come before the board Monday night, the school is to participate with the City of East Tawas in placing a traffic control light at the intersection of Newman Street and Lincoln Street. Such a light, which could be activated during the time buses and children are crossing the intersection, was suggested to the city council recently by Police Chief Donald Docking.

It was suggested at the meeting that the present crossing guard be provided with proper uniform or helmet in order to be recognized by drivers. The city police department is to be requested to train the crossing guard in handling of traffic.

Robert Reasner, vocational training instructor, was authorized to purchase tools for auto mechanics classes from three local dealers. Cost of the tools will be about $1,500.

A study is to be made, at the suggestion of the student council, of the present honors system used at the high school. The student council questioned the present system of naming a valedictorian and salutatorian of the graduating class and believed that a system of summa cum laude and cum laude recognition as used by colleges, might be a better system.

It was pointed out that the honor point system now in use could be unfair to the student who has a heavy load of difficult subjects.

The subject is to be studied by the curriculum study committee and the student council.

If a change is advisable, Superintendent Mick recommended that it should be announced to become effective with the graduation of the existing eighth grade.

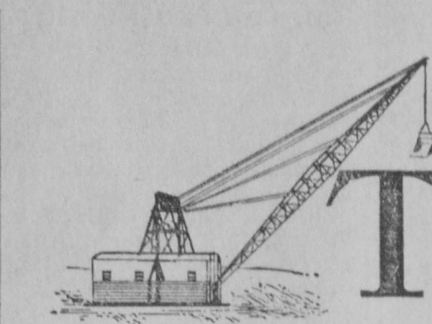

Former Tawas Man's Column Tells Florida About Perchville

Bob Morley, a columnist for one of Florida's daily newspapers, recently reminisced about his boyhood experiences at Perchville on Tawas Bay.

While checking fishing activities at Cocoa Bridge crossing the Indian River, Morley met another displaced northerner. Asking the stranger why he continued to stand out in the cold if the fish were not taking the bait, the man replied that he came out to fish, cold or not.

It turned out that the stranger had fished through the ice on frozen northern lakes and acted as though Florida's unseasonable weather was like midsummer.

In his column, "In Our Corner," Morley recalled that he had been

Farmers Must File for Personal Exemption

Act 205 of Public Acts of 1966, signed by Gov. George Romney July 11, 1966, will exempt the tax on farmer's personal property on the 1967 tax rolls.

However, the law requires that farmers file a report showing the value of livestock and machinery on hand as of December 31, 1966. The absolute deadline for filing is February 20. All personal property is exempted, provided it is actually used in agricultural production.

Forms are now available from all township supervisors in Losco County. Tax bills showing the amount of the exemption will be issued in December. The Losco County Tax Equalization Department recommends that farmers obtain two blank forms so that they will have a copy for their own records. The State Association of Supervisors will attempt to get Act 205 amended so that reports will not have to be filed after this year.

Removal of agricultural personal property valuations will mean a loss to local governments of approximately $705 to townships, $8,732 to schools and $2,320 to the county.

Railway Buys Oil Terminal Serving WAFB

Detroit and Mackinac Railway Company has signed a purchase agreement for the Great Lakes Fuel Oil Company-owned terminal at Harrisville, thus consolidating the operation of providing fuel to Wurtsmith Air Force Base.

This announcement was made Monday afternoon by Charles A. Pinkerton Jr., chairman of the D&M's board of directors, who said that final negotiations were to be completed about February 1 with Time Oil Company, Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Pinkerton said that the deal had not been closed as yet, but only a matter of details remained before completion.

The railroad's purchase, to be operated by a new DSM subsidiary, Lake Shore Terminal Company, includes the Lake Huron discharge operation and huge storage tank area north of Harrisville.

This operation had been constructed in 1962 and was connected with Wurtsmith Air Force Base by a D&M-owned pipeline which was built that year following the railroad's right-of-way.

Present personnel and operation of the terminal are to remain as in the past, at least for the time being.

Losco Business on Increase

Dun and Bradstreet, Incorporated, international business information agency, reports that figures obtained by a physical January 1967 show that Losco's 389 retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers compare with 353 a year ago.

Founded in 1941 in New York, the organization now includes nearly 240 offices in the United States and abroad. D&B lists nearly 3,000,000 businesses and their current credit ratings in its reference book.

Senior Citizens Offered Tax Help

Assistance for senior citizens of Tawas City in preparing affidavits for tax exemptions is being given every Thursday at the city hall by Mrs. Ruth Albertson, city treasurer.

The only exception is February 2, when Mrs. Albertson will not be in the office. The service is to continue until the meeting of the board of review in March.

Senior citizens wishing this assistance should bring proof of ownership of property, birth certificate and tax statements.

Chilean Exchange Student Trades Summer for Winter

Hetty Ramirez has traded summer weather for the freezing climate of Northern Michigan—but she is most happy and excited over the opportunity.

The pretty 16-year-old high school student from Santiago, Chile, will be spending the next six months in Tawas City with the Robert Ericksen family as part of the world-wide Youth for Understanding teen-age student exchange program.

The Ericksens, both members of Tawas Area School faculty, drove to Detroit last Thursday to meet Hetty after her trip by plane from South America with other exchange students. Her visit is being sponsored by the Ann Arbor Council of Churches.

While a junior at St. John's Villa Academy at Santiago, a Catholic girl's school, she has been entered in the senior class at Tawas Area High School.

Monday of this week was spent in meeting her new classmates and teachers in the local school system. She was understandably excited over the prospect of making new friends and living in an entirely different climate and terrain.

Hetty's home is snuggled between mountain ranges in the central part of Chile. Santiago is the capital of that country. Summer is just coming to the Pacific coast of South America and the temperature was 70 degrees when she stepped aboard the plane which whisked her to Michigan. The temperature there hardly ever drops below 38 to 40 degrees, which is some contrast to Michigan's present below zero readings. Last week-end, she enjoyed ice skating with the Ericksens and their children, who live on US-23 overlooking the now frozen Tawas Bay. While the mountain ranges in her homeland are snow covered, it was her first experience to enjoy winter sports.

Arriving here at the end of the school's first semester, she has been enrolled in art, speech, United States History, English and United States Government. Mr. Ericksen is her history teacher.

Her course of study in Santiago this year included physics, mathematics, chemistry, French, Spanish, English, music, gym, art, history, philosophy, civics and a couple of additional classes which she could not recall because of her excitement during the interview.

St. John's Villa Academy is called an American girl's scientific academy. She has actually spent more time in studying English than in pursuit of her native Spanish.

While she is having a little trouble at present with American "slang," it will not take long before she will be mastering the language.

Her father, Rufino, is an electrical engineer, a tradition in his family. She has two sisters, Ximena, 13 years old, and Paulina, 12.

An active girl, she belongs to the Red Cross Club where she represented her school in the Junior (See STUDENT, page 8.)

Bank Announces New Promotions

Promotion of three staff members of Peoples State Bank was announced Tuesday afternoon following the annual meeting of the board of directors.

Wayne Pollard, former assistant vice president, was named vice president; Richard Lee, former assistant cashier, has been named assistant vice president; Dale Fisher has been named assistant cashier.

Other officers re-elected were L. G. McKay Sr., honorary chairman of the board; L. G. McKay Jr., chairman; G. N. Shattuck, president; R. R. Harwood, executive vice president and cashier; John Hosbach, vice president and branch manager; Esther Look, assistant cashier.

Clearing House Formed Here as Service Aid

Formation of Tawas Community Services, a clearing house for youth and family counseling and referral services patterned along the lines of one presently in operation at Flint, was explained at Monday night's meeting of Tawas Area Board of Education.

William Pinkerton heads the new organization as president with Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller, vice president, and Neal Miller, secretary. The board of directors is composed of nine persons.

Committee chairmen include: Administration, John Breece, finance, volunteers and office; youth, Robert Marsh, activities and counseling; family service, the Rev. Ronald Farah, marriage, parent-child and home management; counseling, Philip Gidley, alcoholism, senior citizen, medical aid, legal aid; referral, Ernest Jordan.

The new organization is to act as a coordinating agency in providing counseling services offered by many different organizations.

Gidley and the Rev. Robert Morrison appeared before the board of education and said they expected the new organization would be of much benefit to the school as well as to the community.

They expected that much of the organization's work would be with youth of the community and asked the board of education's moral support. The organization is to be staffed entirely by volunteers.

Gidley said that many different counseling agencies were available in the community but that many people with problems just did not know how to go about taking advantage of such service. The new organization, when contacted by individuals, will refer them to the proper agency.

He said also that no help was provided in a number of areas of need and that formation of such organizations as Big Brother and Big Sister movements were being contemplated, as well as others.

The organization has raised $1,000 through private donations to organize initially. Gidley said that if the organization proved its worth, it may apply for assistance from community chest or public funds.

Gidley pointed out that persons on welfare have many avenues of help open to them through public agencies, but other persons with family problems from the majority of the total population, have no place to turn when counseling service is needed. The new organization would provide that service or make referrals.

Tawas Community Services is now attempting to acquire a headquarters building in the area.

On May 16, 1897, she was married to Emil H. Buch of Tawas City. He preceded her in death in January 1944.

Mrs. Buch resided in the Tawas area all of her life and was a member of Emanuel Lutheran Church. On her 90th birthday anniversary, she received birthday greetings from Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower from the White House.

She is survived by two sons, Fred W. and Albert H., Tawas City; one daughter, Mrs. Ida Wuckert, Saginaw; 15 grandchildren, and 34 great grandchildren.

More High School Seniors Than Ever Campus Bound

Seventy-three of every 100 of this year's high school seniors of Michigan want to go on for some kind of additional education after graduation.

Most say they will attend college and of these, 89 percent choose a college in Michigan. One in four hopes to attend a public community junior college, two out of three a public senior college or university and eight percent a private college or university.

Of the seniors with B and higher grades, 90 percent plan to continue their education. Of others with C and lower averages, 65 percent want to go on.

These are results of a survey made last fall by Project Memo, a cooperative program sponsored by all the state's community colleges and Michigan State University, financed by the United States Office of Education's "Talent Search" division.

At Tawas Area High School, Thomas Pinkowski, guidance counselor, said that while 80 out of 127 of next spring's seniors were planning to continue their education, being slightly below the state average, he believed the total would be increased before graduation.

The state study included students enrolled in 592 of the 594 public and 153 of the 169 nonpublic high schools in Michigan. The survey resulted in nearly 100,000 student responses.

Project Director David Schultz pointed out that the total number hoping to continue education is far greater than any previous study ever has shown in Michigan. Earlier studies by other researchers, who usually covered only a small part of the state, generally reported from 50 to 67 percent of the seniors planning more education.

A major problem the study emphasizes is the need for each student to choose the right institution for more learning... "the school or college where he has a real chance for success, rather than one where his chances are too slim," Schultz pointed out.

"There is a place in some kind of program in some school or college for every Michigan high school graduate who really wants to learn more and there is some kind of aid available to every boy and girl who has proven financial need," he said. "But not every student is making a realistic choice of school or college really suited to his ability level."

"Michigan could use some kind of central clearing house that would help students find the right colleges and help colleges find students who will succeed. An objectively operated Michigan colleges admissions center that would do this would benefit the entire state by making an opportunity available to every boy and girl for the maximum amount and kind of education he could absorb."

Some C and lower average seniors indicated they wished to attend a college or university whose standards make their academic success entirely too improbable, Schultz explained. Such institutions properly advise these students to go instead to a less competitive campus where they have a better chance to succeed, he added.

Time for Unity

This government—which, in our opinion, is the best yet devised by man in its nearly 200-year history—is being assailed from all quarters—from the pulpit, from editorial columns and from the street corner.

Since World War I, the United States has played an increasingly active and difficult role in world affairs. In recent times, this country has been accused by our friends of either flexing its muscles too much or too little.

The most disconcerting problem facing Americans today is not how other nations act or feel toward us, but our own present peculiar domestic problems. The country has enjoyed several years of uninterrupted prosperity, tremendous gains have been made toward guaranteeing equal rights for all, to name only two important areas.

Yet there is serious discord—apparently not political—in the interpretation of individual rights from the street corner. Riots, marches or sit-in demonstrations have been the result.

While nuclear power may have changed the time factor in Abraham Lincoln's belief that a chief administrator could do little mischief in a space of four years, the fact remains that the people did elect the present administration and they did elect representatives to the national congress. As long as that administration is in office, the people should sustain it—particularly in the field of foreign policy. When the time comes and if the people are dissatisfied with policies and actions of the present administration, then they can elect a new one.

We are writing in particular concerning the present situation in Vietnam and the attitude of many (not necessarily a majority) toward our foreign policy. While war is justly deplored by all, it has been the policy of the United States to uphold its legal commitments with our allies and with smaller, unprotected nations.

It is fulfilling this commitment in Vietnam, just as it did in 1950 when President Truman rushed troops into Korea and just as the case of Great Britain, in 1929, when England upheld its commitment with Poland, should the latter be attacked by another power.

If this country is to be a leader among nations, it must not waiver on these commitments—no matter what the cost or consequence. Now, if we do not agree with our present policy, then we can change administrations at the next election, or the national congress may legally withhold the means by which the administration is to carry out its foreign policy.

But it is wrong to have churches, some daily newspapers and misguided groups assail and even obstruct our foreign policy at every bend in the road by creating discord at home.

We often wonder how our men in Vietnam really feel about activities back home. Are their sacrifices for draft card burnings, schools being conducted by churches and other organizations to influence young men to become conscientious objectors for religious reasons, extreme criticism of draft board policies, human blockades across highways or railroad tracks to prevent troop transportation?

Instead of disrespect for law and order under our present and best form of government, all Americans should unite and show a little more old-fashioned patriotism. There is a way to make known the wishes of the majority—in the halls of congress or at the ballot box.

Banner Year for Building Iosco Ponds

The year, 1966, was a banner one for building ponds in Iosco County. This, according to Jack Lake, county soil conservationist with the United States Soil Conservation Service, was the most productive year to date with a total of 30 ponds constructed. These ponds were created to serve many different water conservation uses, varying from two ponds for watering livestock in the back pasture to several small ponds on hunting club land for ducks. One pond was built to irrigate four acres of raspberries, while eight others were built mainly for fish and recreation purposes.

Although most ponds are built with one purpose in mind, they all tend to serve other uses as well, according to Mr. Lake. Wild animals and birds of all kinds can use them as a watering facility in the time of year when their normal sources are sometimes dry. Ponds tend to trap water and store it during spring runoff, helping to prevent erosion and flooding. In the winter when frozen over, most ponds make a good place for skating. Still another advantage, stated by Mr. Lake, is for fire protection, providing a plentiful supply of water to fight fires in farm buildings or in the woods.

All of these are good reasons for the upsurge of pond building in Iosco County this past summer. Many cooperators with the Iosco County Soil Conservation District are now receiving help from the Soil Conservation Service in designing ponds to be built next summer. Mr. Lake urges anyone wanting to build a pond next year to contact him as soon as possible this winter.

Cost-sharing for building these ponds again will be available to qualified land owners or operators through the ASCS office.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

(Last Thursday, one of the co-publishers of the Herald wrote the editorial which appears on this page. The next morning, a letter was received from a young serviceman, formerly a resident of National City, who outlines his views on the same subject. Because of the timeliness of his letter and the answer it provides to a question raised in our own editorial, it is being reprinted for the benefit of Herald readers.)

To the editor:

If you feel this attached article is worth printing, please print it in your paper. As you can see, I wrote it to my mother but then began to think I have never read anything on a draftee's opinion of the Selective Service System or foreign policies.

I am not a journalist just an average citizen as you can undoubtedly tell by my style. But the army is not that bad for two years. Not so bad that we will take the law and twist it to legal ways of avoiding unpleasant duties to our country.

Presently, I am stationed with a Military Intelligence Specialist Detachment, located at the Headquarters of the United States Army Pacific, a theater level organization on Fort Shafter near Honolulu, Hawaii. I am a graduate of the United States Army Intelligence School, Fort Holibird, Maryland. My obligation terminates September 10, 1967. At the end of my tour, I intend to return to the Detroit area and study criminology.

Thank you for your attention even if this is not worth printing.

Dear Mother,

This letter is from your son, a soldier and especially today quite proud of it. Last night, December 29 on the Huntley-Brinkley Report, which we view here in Hawaii at 3:30 in the morning in Detroit time, I was disturbed. I saw films and reports on some very shameful news that concerns an important part of our lives. Reports of people claiming that our Vietnam policies, particularly the bombings, were immoral. These individuals (addressed as such for surely they could not represent the majority of my fellow citizens) are to be admired for taking an interest. Then, again, the procedure they are using is definitely immoral, in my opinion. They trust our government to make our laws, educate our children, control our problems, assist us in progression and maintain our security and peace, but not knowing or (I think) trying to understand our policies, reasons, problems and strategies, condemn us. Yes, us! Me, my friends who are alive and dead—dead because they were planning a future and protected the same people who condemn them.

The individuals are doing a wrong, they are attempting to make a decision that the men they voted into congress made. In doing so, they are placing Michigan and Detroiters in a position, whereas I am becoming reluctant to say where OUR home is.

Lawyers and clergymen actually encouraging young men like myself to avoid the draft. The men of the churches teach "Thou Shalt Not Kill," they, themselves, are selfishly and unmeaningly killing, all that follow are killing—killing a nation that is mine and yours.

I, a draftee, do not actually like the army, many of my friends didn't and don't. We will serve our tour of duty and re-enlist if it seems necessary, as others have done before us and will do tomorrow. Do you think men in combat areas, do not know why they are where they are? Do you think they want to be where they are? I assure you, they see the cause and believe, accept and trust the policy—these men who are in the middle of it all, not the readers of a few individual opinions in papers, magazines, etc. The men fighting, men in headquarters, the men training, the supporting personnel, they understand. Why can't you, the public?

1049? It is a personnel action form used by the army to request a transfer among other things. Have the people who protest the draft, avoiders (dodgers to me), ever asked how much this is used to request to be assigned in the RVN (Republic of Vietnam)—a country that needs our assistance now? If they were to do so, they would find many volunteers to a war zone, myself, my friends, two who left last night, many of us. Some are rejected but the men want to go once, they understand why. After this bit of research, read what your teachers of religion, right and wrong, of law, of self respect, say. The supposedly intelligent leaders of our society whom we take so much pride in. These men teaching our young men to avoid the draft. I pity these men, yet I feel that we are needed more than ever now to serve in the military for the weak and unknowing.

Do the (militant) advisers to the draft avoiders have any constructive proposals concerning our draft laws or foreign policies? If so, I believe your representatives and congressmen would be willing to listen to their sensible criticism.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

Read Matthew 6:13-21

A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none. (Luke 13:6)

One winter day, I trudged through the woods in central Florida. I was tired and thirsty. Then, suddenly, like a desert oasis, a citrus tree loaded with oranges appeared in a small clearing. It was not a grove. It was simply one tree standing alone.

The fruit, however, was a disappointment. Every orange I cut was pithy, tasteless and without juice. That tree had not been cared for. No one had pruned its branches. Fertilizers had not been added to the soil. All alone, the tree had done what it could, but that was not enough.

So it is with life. Without God's guidance, without such spiritual

Ferris Affiliates With Two State Hospital Schools

Ferris State College, Big Rapids, has announced the affiliation of two new hospital-schools in cooperation with its radiologic (X-ray) technology program. The two new hospital affiliates are Munson Medical Center, Traverse City, and Burns Clinic - Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey.

Ferris-trained, student X-ray technologists take their course work at the college and their practical work experience at a cooperating hospital.

Under the prescribed format, the students spend the fourth quarter of their first year and the last four quarters of their third year of training in internship in the hospital. The remainder of the 33-month program is spent on the Ferris campus.

According to Charles Christensen, instructor, anyone in the northwest portion of the state interested in learning X-ray technology may contact Dr. Harry Weise, X-ray Department, Munson Medical Center; Dr. John McEnroe, X-ray Department, Burns Clinic; or the School of Technical and Applied Arts, Ferris State College, Big Rapids. In other parts of the state, inquiries may be made to the nearest cooperating hospital or directly to Ferris.

PRAYER

Father, teach us how to use our lives for Thee. Help us to prune away all selfishness in order that we may produce fruit to help others along life's journey. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Panthers Trip Braves to Tighten NBC Race

Tawas Area Braves suffered its first taste of defeat in the 1966-1967 NBC basketball season last Friday night. Standish - Sterling's Panthers administered a decisive, 66-53, beating which tightened the NBC race.

Except for one quarter, the two teams played on even terms and traded basket for basket. The big difference proved to be the red-hot shooting of Central's Bill Forsyth in the second quarter, who led his mates in a 13-point scoring surge.

The first quarter opened with both teams scoring 16 points. Fairfield led Tawas with four jump shots from out front, while Forsyth pumped in three baskets for the Panthers.

With good height and speed, Central then used an outstanding zone defense which was almost unpenetrable for the Braves. Central's fast-breaking offense then started to move and Forsyth connected on four more jump shots. The little guard meshed seven out of eight or nine shots during the first half in his best offensive showing of the year.

After that, it was all uphill for the Braves. Central boosted its lead at the end of the third quarter to 55-37, turning several intercepted passes into easy layups and its good defense continued to spellbind the Braves.

Tawas came back with a 16-point effort in the fourth quarter but Central scored 11 points to settle the issue. Leading scorer for Tawas in the final quarter were Paul Beyer and Ray Powers, each with six points. Fairfield and Beyer topped Tawas scoring with 16 points apiece. Sivier led the winners with 23 points.

The Panthers played the game without its high scorer, Steve Bishop, who was still sidelined with an inflamed tendon in his knee.

Tawas was again ineffective at the foul line, converting only five out of 15 charity tosses. The Panthers converted 12 out of 19 shots from the free throw line.

Tawas held a shaky lead in the NBC cage race following Friday night's loss with a four and one record. Essexville, West Branch and Standish-Sterling, the defending champion, were tied for second place with three and one records.

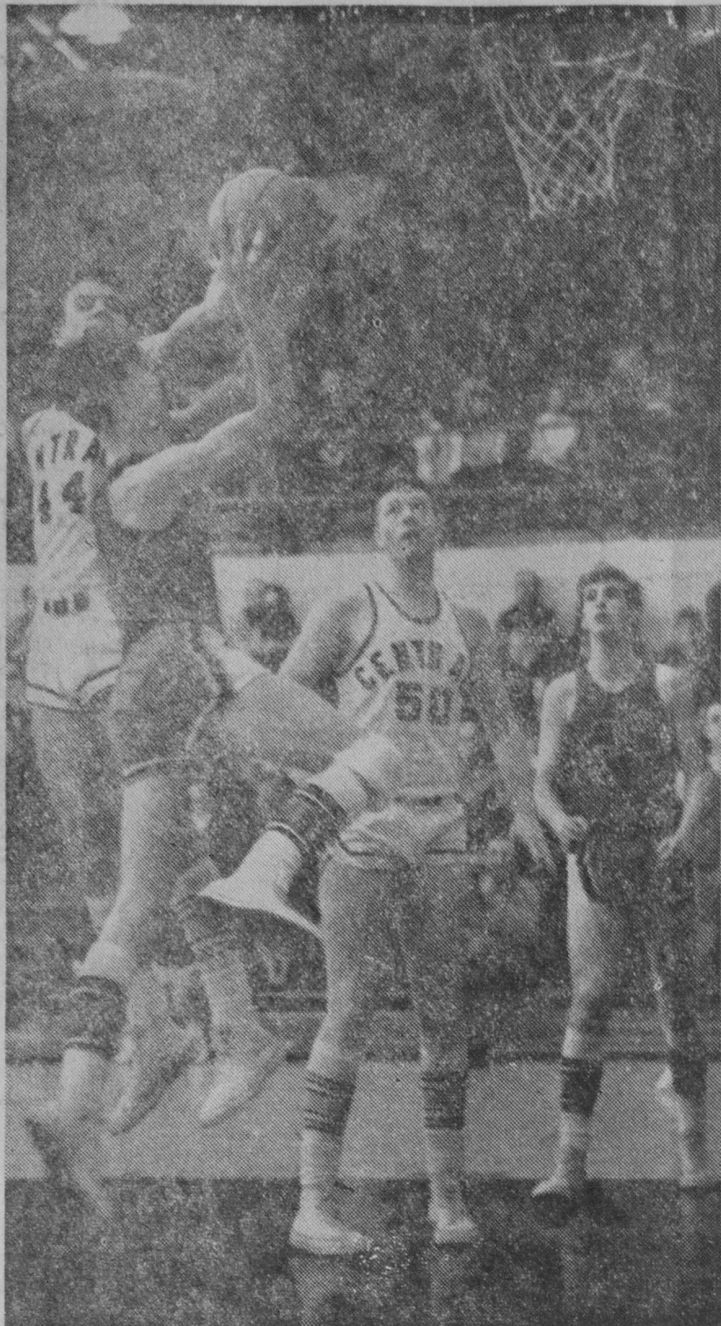

Carber posted a 73-64 win over Oscoda and West Branch had to go two overtimes to edge Gladwin, 69-57, in a nonleague game. Pinnonning lost at Carrollton, 80-69.

Basketball action returned to Tawas last night (Tuesday) when the Braves played host to Bangor. Oscoda plays here Tuesday, January 17.

A blizzard Friday night canceled use of student spectator buses. This was to have been the first time in the history of Tawas Area School that buses were used to carry students to an athletic event during the regular season. Slightly more than 50 Tawas fans braved snowdrifts to attend the game at Standish.

Family Living Education

By CLEMMMA LENEHAN
Cooperative Extension Service

What They Said:
Extension study groups in Isoco, Ogemaw, Oscoda and Arenac Counties studied and discussed "Prevent Food Poisoning" a couple of months before the USDA yearbook of agriculture, "Safe-guarding Our Food," reached us. Those who have received their copy of the yearbook will find much of the same information in the lesson included in their book. Secretary reports on these meetings have been interesting. Alice Kopez of the Tyros group in Arenac County writes that Chloe Kurtz gave a most interesting lesson. She wrote further, "We learned that the four most prevalent forms of bacteria causing poisoning in food are commonly called staph, Salmonella, botulism and strep. Bacteria needs the three conditions of heat, food and moisture to multiply. We learned that the dangerous temperatures range from 40 degrees to 140 degrees and that the best rule is to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold and that we should store food in the refrigerator or freezer promptly after purchasing and after serving them. We learned why it is unsafe to stuff a turkey the night before cooking it and tips on food preservation. All of us agreed it was a very timely and informative lesson."

Julie Frank of the Enthusiasts group, also in Arenac County, reported that Barbara Bilch presented the lesson to that group with the new bulletin used. An explanation of the various kinds of food poisoning and their illnesses were given with methods to prevent them. To sum it up, she quoted one rule, "when in doubt, throw it out."

Bernice Sivik, reporting for the Pine River group, wrote, "We learned a lot of things we did not even consider before. A very interesting lesson." In fact, Adele Colombe and Merrill Gulvas must have emphasized some points so strongly, Bernice says, "We were almost afraid to eat anything!"

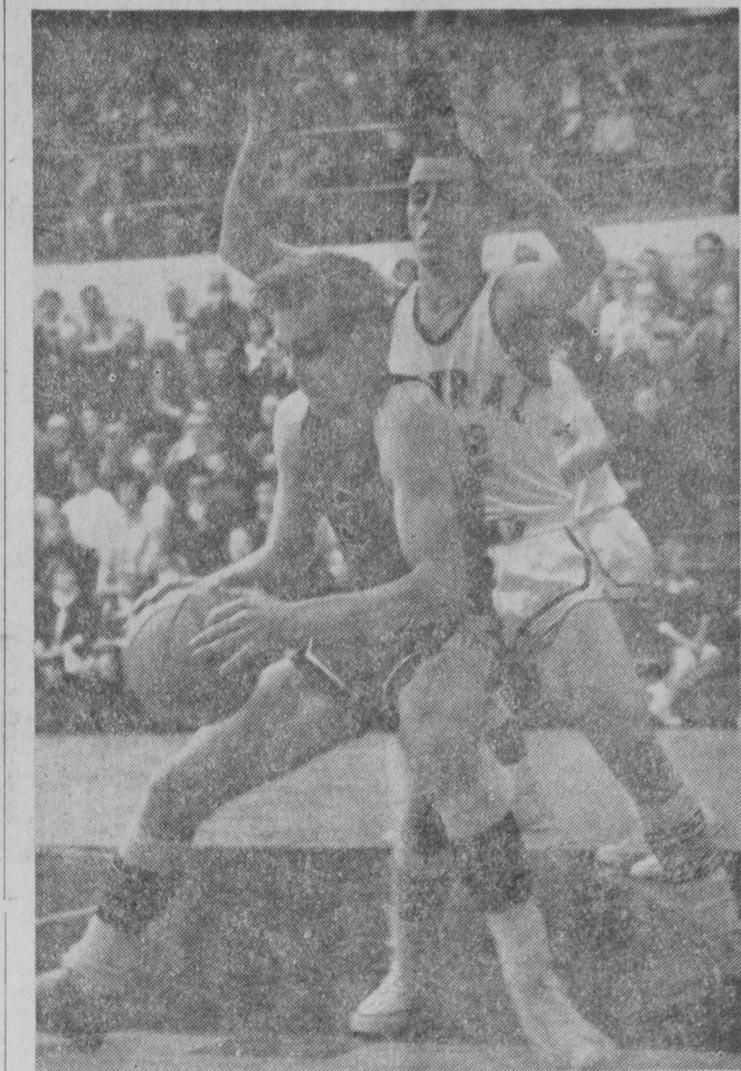

Sheets on January Sales
If you plan to buy sheets on January white sales, you will want to consider several points. A few details to find in the advertising or on labels are these:

Fiber content is the most important in relation to care. Form size is the size of the sheet before hemming. If "torn" size, it means it was torn from the bolt and the ends will always be straight when washed and folded.

Thread count may be given in any one of two or three ways. It refers to the number of yarns per inch. If two numbers are given, the first is the warp yarn count. A square count means the count of both lengthwise and crosswise are the same. A tendency now is the total of both lengthwise and crosswise.

Shrinkage is very important. A flat sheet is never preshrunk but contour sheets are. Fully preshrunk or "sanforized" are the only terms used that mean it will not shrink more than one or two percent. Just preshrunk can mean it could still shrink several inches.

There are many other terms you may find to help you. Study a variety and ask questions.

"I DARE YOU TO SHOOT," seems to be the expression on Panther Guard Groszek's face as he blocks the center of the key and Dale Koepke, 13, was unable to shoot.—Tawas Herald Photo.

State Police Needs Dogs

Michigan State Police again are seeking donations of German shepherd dogs for use in the department's tracking program. Col. Frederick E. Davids, director, announced.

Donors are requested to contact state police post.

Male German shepherds of pure strain and, if possible, registered are being sought as they are considered the best all-around type for police purposes.

Dogs selected must be between one and two years old, large, big boned and at least 24 inches tall at the shoulders, measured from the ground. Ears must stand up and there must be no noticeable scars or odd or unusual markings.

Donated dogs that are accepted will be used as replacements and for additional teams for assignment locations not yet determined.

A 14-week school for training handlers and dogs will begin about April 1. Most of the training will be done in the Houghton Lake area. The training will be under the supervision of Cpl. Richard H. Abbott of the East Lansing post, who has headed this program since its inception.

The department first began the tracking program in 1960 and because of satisfactory results expanded it several times since.

Presently, the state police has 10 teams on active duty.

LOOKING BACKWARD—

Iosco Couple Seek Damages Over Flood

15 Years Ago—

January 18, 1952—Damages amounting to $10,000 are being sought in Iosco Circuit Court by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pennington, who allege that a change in the natural flow of water to Lake Huron floods their property. Named as defendants in the suit are Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Trotter and the state highway department. The plaintiffs contend that the Trotters, neighbors in AuSable Township interfered with the natural flow of water by constructing dams and other obstructions. They also contend that US-23 interferes with the natural flow.

Candidates for Silver Valley winter sports queen are Miss Beverly Shorkey, Tawas City; Miss Ruth Nash, East Tawas; Miss Carol Rich, Oscoda; Miss Mary Jane Hinkley, Whittemore; Miss Doris Eno, Hale.

Six hundred persons attended the second farmer's day program at Hale Community Building Tuesday.

Speaker at the January meeting of East Tawas Garden Club was Casper Blumer, Alcona County agricultural agent. Mrs. C. A. Pinkerton Sr. gave an interesting talk on orchids in the home.

Harold Moeller reopened the Moeller Billiard Parlor in the Tawas City Recreation Building.

Iosco County Farm Bureau has a membership of 143 families, according to Orville Strauer, roll call chairman.

25 Years Ago—

January 16, 1942—Students of Iosco County rural schools are receiving instruction in hot lunch preparation at workshops being held in the home economics department at Tawas City High School. This is a new idea in hot lunch programs and, if successful, will be adopted by other schools in the state.

Miss Leonora Hass, Iosco County librarian, has been named director for the local victory book campaign which has been launched in Michigan. The campaign is to provide books for men in the armed services—in camps, aboard ships and on foreign duty.

Emanuel Choir gave a farewell party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ristow in honor of Leonard Hoshbach and Roland Buch, who are leaving for military service.

Miss Leta Clement, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clement of Hale, was chosen Silver Valley queen Wednesday night at the Family Theatre, East Tawas. Members of her court include Miss Jean Randall of Oscoda, Miss Lucille Bowen of Tawas City and Miss Beverly Freel of East Tawas.

St. Michaels of Pinconning and AuGres High School are leading the Northeastern "7" Basketball League with four wins and no losses. Alabaster's victory over Whittemore places the former in third place and Tawas City is in the fourth spot with one win and two losses.

35 Years Ago—

January 15, 1932—Huron National Forest fires were kept down to a total of 26 during the past year, according to the annual report submitted by G. K. Fenger, supervisor. A total of 535 productive forest acres were burned and 343 nonproductive acres. In addition, 315 acres of timber was completely killed. Total suppression costs for 1931 amounted to $3,321.

Five rabbit hunters from Tawas City lost their bearings in the AuGres swamp Thursday and found it necessary to remain there for the night. The hunters were Felix Stepanski, Gerald Stepanski, Waldo Leslie, William Leslie and Leo Stepanski.

The Hale basketball team has remodeled the depot building, wired it for lights and will now have a good place for its games.

The Trudell lunch room which has been closed for several months was reopened last week with Theodore Trudell as manager.

Farmers' Income Estimate Due Soon

Farmers who earned at least two-thirds of their 1966 gross income from farming should file their declaration of estimated federal income tax for 1966 on or before Monday, January 16. Form 1040 ES should be used for this purpose.

However, A. M. Stoepler, district director of Internal Revenue in Michigan, said that farmers need not file an estimate if they file their 1966 federal income tax return, Form 1040, and pay in full any tax due by February 15. "Farmer's Tax Guide" (Publication No. 225), which furnishes information on this subject, may be obtained by dropping a postcard to District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Detroit, Michigan 48226, or from County Agent Marvin Davenport, Federal Building, East Tawas.

Fishermen who expect to receive at least two-thirds of their gross income from fishing may file declarations of estimated tax, or Form 1040 in lieu of declarations of estimated tax, on the same dates prescribed for farmers.

Fast Sport

ICEBOATING is one of the fastest and most exciting of all winter sports and last week saw the weather cold enough to provide enough ice on Tawas Bay for initial runs. Donald J. Tripp of Saifish Marine, East Tawas, along with three other iceboat enthusiasts, enjoyed near perfect conditions Saturday east of the Waterways Commission dock. Tripp is shown in the cockpit of his craft, left, and is heading out to the course in the picture at right. The iceboats are capable of sailing about three times as fast as the speed of the wind and boats were traveling at about 75 miles per hour Saturday. Tripp's boat has been clocked at 120 miles per hour. Insulated clothing and crash helmets worn by the racers are a far cry from the days when iceboating was so popular here. Tripp hopes to interest other local persons in this sport.—Tawas Herald Photos.

State's Traffic Toll in 1966 Sets New 30-Year High Mark

Michigan's traffic toll in 1966 will hit a new high annual record of about 2,200 deaths, surpassing the previous high of 2,175 set in 1937 and edging, by three percent, the 2,129 killed in 1965.

This and other projections were included in the annual roundup of state police activities reported by Col. Frederick E. Davids, department director.

Injuries, too, will reach a new high of about 160,000, topping by three percent the previous mark of 155,258 last year.

The accident total, estimated at 301,000, will be about three percent less than the record of 310,598 counted in 1965. The projected death rate of 5.1 per 100 million vehicle miles is down two percent from the year before.

Combined casualties—death and injuries—again will set a new high for the state. It was the fifth consecutive year of increase for fatalities and the eighth in a row for injuries, while the accident reduction, if maintained when all reports are in, will be the first after four years of increases.

Other traffic exposure factors showed gains, too. The total of licensed drivers and registered motor vehicles, both over 4,000,000, indicated growths of four and five percent while the estimated mileage rose by six percent to over 43,000,000,000.

State police vehicles traveled over 22,000,000 miles, with more than 13,000,000 of that on traffic patrol. There were 218,000 arrests for traffic offenses and 21,500 on criminal and other complaints. Juvenile traffic arrests numbered 7,800 and there were 6,300 apprehensions of delinquent minors.

Consumers Power Company Declares Ten Percent Common Stock Dividend

Last week, Consumers Power Company board of directors declared a 10 percent common stock dividend, subject to regulatory approvals, payable April 3, to shareholders of record March 3.

At the same time, the board declared a quarterly dividend of 47½ cents a share on the company's presently outstanding common stock, payable February 20, to holders of record January 13.

Also declared was a dividend of $1.12½ per share on the company's $4.50 preferred stock, $1.13 per share on the $4.52 preferred stock and $1.04 per share on the $4.16 preferred stock, payable April 1, to stockholders of record March 2.

A. H. Aymond, chairman of the board, said the 10 percent common stock dividend would have the two-fold effect of permanently dedicating to the company's capital structure sums that had been reinvested in the business in the form of retained earnings and at the same time provide additional return to shareholders as future dividends are paid on their increased investment in the company.

It is the present expectation of the board of directors to continue the present 47½ cents quarterly dividend on the increased number of common shares, subject to future earnings and other relevant considerations.
