Set Long Lake Dam Assessment District

Normal level of Long Lake, Plainfield Township, was set at 904.5 feet above sea level Tuesday morning by Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller. At the same time, the court established a drainage assessment district to pay the cost of constructing a dam to maintain the legal level.

Such action had been sought by property owners around the lake, who had petitioned the board of supervisors for action.

The adopted level, 15 inches above that of last September, was recommended by County Drain Commissioner Richard Miller, following inspection of the lake and consultation with County Road Engineer Otis Love.

Miller said that cost of the dam had not been determined as yet. Engineering is to be obtained on the project.

Judge Miller determined during the hearing that lake front property owners would be the major beneficiaries of a higher level. Under his determination, approved by those attending, property back from the first tier of lots would not be assessed.

The dam is to be constructed at Long Lake Road where the lake empties into Little Long Lake.

Miller said that the dam would impound heavy spring run-off of water and maintain a higher level during dry times of the year.

Thirteen persons attended the hearing. Several spoke in favor of the project and no objections have been filed with the prosecuting attorney or other county officials.

It was stated that the lake's level last summer reached such a low point that it was impossible to use row boats in some parts. Property owners believe that the higher water level will greatly improve fishing and water skiing.

Three Interviewed for TA Principal

Snow Mobiling Popular Sport in Western Iosco

Fastest growing winter sport in Iosco County, particularly in the Hale area, is snow mobiling.

One Hale dealer estimated last weekend that more than 30 (possibly 50) families in the Plainfield area now own one of these machines. Some families even own more than one machine in order that all may take part in the fun.

While the little machines, propelled by a gasoline engine-driven endless rubber belt, have been around for about eight years the past two seasons have seen a tremendous rise in popularity.

Area law enforcement agencies warn this week that extreme care should be used in operating snow machines. While the sport is still new and no accidents have been reported in this as yet, some municipalities consider the snow machines as unlicensed motor vehicles and are not permitted to operate on highways.

Three different brands are offered by dealers at Hale, alone, while an even greater variety is available in the Tawas area.

During the Christmas and New Year's vacation, snow machines have been operating night and day. During daylight hours, youngsters of all ages home from school have used the machines to travel across snow-covered fields and around lakes of Plainfield Township.

At night, parents have their fun with the machines. Businessmen and their wives usually congregate at the home of a neighbor to try their hand at guiding the speedy little machines over predetermined courses.

Last Sunday afternoon, one party of six families joined together to take their machines on an eight-mile excursion east of Hale on property owned by Ira Scofield, Hale real estate agent.

The informal safari, arranged by Daniel Pearsall, local hardware dealer, was enjoyed by young and old.

The machines have a top speed of 30 to 48 miles per hour, depending upon the horsepower and width of the drive belt.

Besides use for recreational purposes, it has been reported that several farmers have considered using the larger machines to haul hay for winter feeding of cattle.

Construction in Tawas City during 1966, as reflected by building permits issued, saw a $34,522 decrease over the previous year's total.

According to a report prepared by Supt. of Public Works Reginald Bublitz, 59 building permits were issued during the past 12 months with a total value of $132,419. This compared to 60 applications and $166,941 during 1965.

The report indicated, however, that taxable construction was not far off the 1965 pace. During the preceding 12-month period, $15,425 had been included for school and church construction.

A considerable increase was noted in home alterations. Thirty-eight permits were issued in this category for a total value of $15,059, as compared to 29 permits and a total of $24,951 in 1965.

There were two new homes constructed at a total cost of $51,000, as compared to four new homes and a total of $49,600 during 1965. The new homes were for Dr. Larry S. Kelly and Andrew Oberla.

Five new private garages were constructed at a cost of $4,000, as compared to eight garages and a cost of $8,000 during 1965.

Six commercial additions had a total value of $4,660, as compared to 10 and a value of $5,965 during the preceding 12 months.

Five permits were issued for new commercial construction at a cost of $49,900. This included Mid-

Total construction during the year, as reflected by building permits on file and approved by Ropert, was $240,641. This was $39,000 above the past previous five-year average.

A review of the construction report for council members indicated that there were 14 new homes at a total value of $149,742. This compared to 12 new homes the previous year at a cost of $128,400.

There were eight new garages costing $8,000, as compared to 12 the previous year at a cost of $20,671.

Commercial additions amounted to $44,950 with 11 building permits issued. This compared to six commercial additions at a cost of $31,800 the previous year.

There were 73 repairs, alterations and additions at a total cost of $35,442, as compared to a total of 59 in this category and a total of $29,496 the preceding year.

Driver Sought

Tawas City Police Chief George Westcott is seeking the identity of a driver, whose car pulled out of the Iosco Hotel parking lot December 26, spun around on US-23 and onto the sidewalk in front of Lang's Dairy Bar. Witnesses contacted saw the crash but did not note the license number.

GEORGE A. PRESCOTT was sworn in Monday as the 102nd District state representative. Administering the oath at left is Judge Allan C. Miller. Watching in the background are Mrs. Prescott and four of their six children, Allen, Davey, Frank and Craig. It was seven years ago this week that Prescott, then county clerk, administered the oath of office to Judge Miller in his first term in the 23rd Judicial Circuit.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Polaris-Apollo Study Today at East Tawas

Citizen's advisory committee of Iosco County, cooperating in the 10-county Polaris-Apollo Project, is meeting January 4 at the East Tawas Elementary School.

Ernest W. Jordan Jr., intermediate school superintendent, said Tuesday morning that information was to be obtained from local agencies for presentation to the project's planning committee.

Areas to be discussed Wednesday, 7:00 p. m., include local services provided in data processing, curriculum consultant services available, adult education, in-service training, psychological and physical health clinics, special education.

Attending will be representatives of the four secondary school districts of the county, principals of parochial schools, churches, teachers associations, parent-teacher associations, business groups, welfare agencies and others.

Ultimate goal of the Polaris-Apollo Project, which has its headquarters at Roscommon, is to acquire operational grants from the United States Office of Education and from private grants to provide special services to the area.

This would include clinical services, curriculum consultation, instructional materials center, cultural development, adult education, data processing and exploration of educational innovations to provide for individual differences.

A project coordinator has been hired in the $62,500 project, along with consultants from Michigan State University, University of Michigan and other educational institutions of the state.

A target date has been set for May 1 to have all information compiled so as to make application on or before June 1.

Recover Coats Stolen at Party

Theft of five coats from the Holland Hotel lobby December 29 is still under investigation by East Tawas Police Chief Donald Docking.

The coats, worn by persons attending the Tawas Hospital Auxiliary's annual dinner dance, were valued at more than $2,000.

Taken from the lobby while the party was in progress, they were noted missing about 1:15 a. m. The coats were discovered about 1:00 p. m. that day when a hotel maid checked an unoccupied room.

Alcona Wins Holiday Meet

BY DORNACE BELLVILLE

Alcona came from behind in a thrilling finish over Bay City St. Joseph to take the championship in the W.P. holiday tournament Friday night. The champs came from 18 points back to take over the lead in the last quarter and go on to win over a scrappy St. Joe squad, 65-56.

The other game Friday night saw Saginaw St. Joseph win third place over an out-classed Arenac Eastern squad, 70-48.

Friday afternoon, AuGres walked all over Fairview, 86-55.

The two Iosco County teams dropped out of the play early with Hale dropping the first game, 50-36, to Arenac Eastern Tuesday night, then dropping the second on Wednesday afternoon, 63-36, to Fairview. The Eagles were never a serious threat in either game.

After losing their fine team last year, Coach Bud Johnson has a lot of rebuilding to do. They have lost six straight without a win this year.

Larry Drengberg was the Eagles' top scorer with 17 points in the first game and a 20-point effort against AuGres in the second contest.

The host Cards could not seem to win a game. They drew a toughie Wednesday night in Saginaw St. Joseph. Coach Dudo's boys started out in front and held an eight point lead midway in the second quarter but the Saginaw squad cut this to three by half time.

The Cards held on to a slim lead through the third quarter but St. Joe broke loose with 10 straight points to take the lead as the last quarter started. The Cards could not close the gap and went down to a 61-50 defeat.

Ron Dorsey, the smallest player on the floor, led the Cards with 17 points.

Thursday afternoon, the Cards really lost a tough one, 55-54, to Alcona to drop out of the tournament. The Cards trailed by as much as 10 points but came back and caught up to make it a nip and tuck affair right down to the final whistle.

The Cards had their chance to pull it out late in the game as the eager Fairview squad committed seven fouls in the last two minutes. They were all one and one chances for a possible 14 points for the Cards. The Cards could not find the hoop, making only two points.

The W.P. boys had a last chance as they gained possession of the ball with 15 seconds to go and one point behind. They failed to get off a shot before the final whistle and went down to their 25th straight defeat.

No Primary

Incumbent city candidates filed without opposition January 2 in Tawas City and no primary election will be required in February.

Herald Starts 83rd Year of Iosco Service

With this issue, The Tawas Herald starts its 83rd year of operation, having been founded the first week in January 1884.

While the first issue came at a revolutionary change in Iosco—the first passenger train had just entered Tawas City and the forests were rapidly dwindling—the present area is recording vast changes, here and throughout the world.

In 1960, the Herald's present publishers, Nelson and Neil Thornton, purchased the business from their father, P. N. Thornton, after having been associated with him in operation for more than 14 years.

In 1912, Mr. Thornton disposed of his interest as editor-publisher of the Hale Advance and came to Tawas City as an employee of the Herald. Except for a stint as publisher of the Rose City Review and military service during World War I, he has been associated with the Herald ever since that time, having purchased the Herald in 1923.

Other publishers have included W. N. Miller, 1884-1890; Michael Murphy, 1890-1893; L. J. Patterson, 1893-1913; J. E. Ballard, 1913-1923.

"We extend sincere thanks to each and every reader for his interest shown in this newspaper, as reflected by our ever-growing circulation," Co-Publisher Nelson E. Thornton said this week.

"Thanks also go to our advertisers for their confidence in investing their advertising dollars with us, along with a special note of thanks for our faithful corps of community correspondents throughout the county."

Many changes have taken place in equipment used to produce the Herald over the years, the most notable in recent times being the installation of a flatbed rotary press in 1965. Pages of the Herald took on a "new look" only three weeks ago when an entirely new headline schedule was adopted.

Marlin Eaton Heads C of C During 1967

Marlin Eaton, an employee of Consumers Power Company, has been named president of the Tawas Chamber of Commerce. He succeeds Leonard Calabrese, who has held the post for the past two years.

Named vice president was Bill McIntosh, along with Neal Miller, secretary, and Richard Lee, treasurer.

First board of directors meeting for 1967 is to be held Wednesday, January 11.

Church of Nazarene Had Notable Gains in 1966

With notable gains in membership and stewardship, and completion of a missionary hospital in New Guinea, the Church of the Nazarene, with world offices in Kansas City, Missouri, had an outstanding year in 1966.

The church had a net gain of 7,774 members in 1966, an increase of 2.19 percent, to bring the national membership to 363,585. This was the largest gain in the last three years.

Nazarenes in churches overseas increased to a total of 69,132 to push the world membership total to 432,717. This was more than double the church membership 20 years ago which stood at 215,000 in 1946.

The annual statistical report by Dr. B. Edgar Johnson, the general secretary, also showed that per capita giving in 1966 reached a record $179.70—an increase of $11.37 over the previous high mark in 1965. Givings for all purposes reached $84,895,000—an increase of $5,296,000 over the preceding year.

The Nazarenes showed a net gain of 37 new churches which brought the denominational total to 4,926.

In the "march to a million" Sunday school enrollment campaign, started in the fall of 1964, the church has reached a total of 925,652 persons. Churches in the United States last year gained 28,701 in Sunday school enrollment to reach a national total of 805,652. Sunday schools overseas added about 120,000 more persons.

The stewardship gain apparently assures the Nazarene church of remaining in first place in the nation in per capita giving among all major denominations with 100,000 or more members.

The new Nazarene missionary hospital near Banz, New Guinea, is scheduled to be dedicated in February. The Nazarene Missionary Society raised a total of $215,477 toward cost of the project.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

The Upper Room

Read 1 Corinthians 12: 13-20

Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of Christ, saluteth you, always labouring fervently for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect and complete in all the will of God. (Colossians 4:12)

A small boy was putting together a toy. Assorted parts littered the living room floor. His mother chided him for the disorder. Raising an eager, glowing face, he said, "Yes, I know, Mother, but just wait till you see it when it is finished!"

There are times when we survey our world with dismay. All seems to be in utter confusion and turmoil. But God has not abandoned it; He is at work and has a perfect plan and vision of how it will be when it is finished. He is the Creator who has the power to bring it to pass.

He is at work now transforming hearts, instilling noble aims and purposes, drawing those who will hear into paths of righteousness and truth.

Are we yielding ourselves to Him gladly to be used as He wills? To be a part of His new creation brings "joy unspeakable and full of glory."

PRAYER
Our Father, create in us clean hearts and dedicated wills that we may be used of Thee to help make effective Thy perfect design for the world. Help us to be faithful in all things and to rely on Thee for wisdom and strength. We humbly ask in the name of our Lord and Master.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
If we could see God's master plan, we could understand the separate parts better. Irma Guthrie, Iowa.

CORN-BEAN CLINIC
STARTS ANNUAL TOUR See Pages 4 & 5

High population planting of 24,000 to 32,000 plants per acre with hybrid seeds gave the Baer fields a dense population that shaded the ground and preserved moisture. This photograph shows Baer (on the right) with a Farm Manager and a Seed Corn Research Agronomist looking at one of the fields of corn at the Manchester farm.

HE THINKS BIG WHERE CORN'S CONCERNED

DEKALB

XL

The King of Corn!

Compare height of XL-45 with variety at right.

Real Shorties that are tough and take thick planting in narrow rows

Modern corn farming demands varieties that will take higher populations, narrow rows, higher fertilization, and specialized mechanical harvesting. DeKalb's XL Single and Three-Way Crosses meet this demand. They're tougher, shorter. They stand, combine easily and yield BIG!

In 1967, go all the way with DEKALB XL Corn—the greatest improvement in corn since hybrids.

"DEKALB" is a Registered Brand Name. "XL" is a Variety Designation.

MORE FARMERS PLANT THAN ANY OTHER BRAND

You could fill a combine hopper with all the articles that have been written about high population planting, narrow rows, heavy fertilization and ample use of herbicides and insecticides.

These topics are featured throughout the Cornbelt. But few farmers have carried these improved practices the extent that Elmer Baer has on his 1,250 acres near Manchester, Iowa.

Baer tried them all this year, and got good results — a whopping 140 bushel average on the entire acreage. Better than 200,000 bushels of corn!

Baer has some firm convictions on corn growing, and puts them all into practice at Manchester Farms, Inc. From planting to harvesting to fall plowing, every method is the most up-to-date.

Encouraged by good results in the '65 season, Baer aimed even higher in 1966. From fertilizer to plant population, he put down everything his soil could support.

"We tried a lot of new ideas on a large scale this year, and got a good idea of how each one measures up," says Baer. "For one, we varied our populations depending on the seed we used and on the width of the row. Our first 500 acres were planted with 28,000 to 30,000 kernels, and we got a final stand of 25,000 to 27,000 plants.

"On the 20-inch rows, we planted at 32,000 and, because of high germination, those fields had a stand of better than 30,000 plants per acre. On our last 250 acres, we dropped the population to between 22,000 and 24,000, and got about 22,000 stalks.

"For the first time this year, we used only one brand of corn... DeKalb. The DeKalb people have stressed the things we want in our corn, so we went all the way with them.

"Over 85% of our corn is XL-45 so you can see how that short stalk hybrid rates with us. We planted four other DeKalb varieties at varied populations to check them all out."

Normal planting time in the Manchester, Iowa area is traditionally mid-May, but Baer started planting on April 26. By May 5, 400 acres of 30-inch corn was in the ground. Then wet weather slowed the pace so that only 500 acres were planted by May 15.

The 20-inch corn was the next to be planted. And the 500 acres were put in from May 17 to 25. This left only 250 acres to plant. But wet weather hit again, and it took until June 2 to complete planting.

The total fertilization program in the spring was heavy. Average per acre allowance on the 1,250 acres were: 225 to 250 lbs. of nitrogen, 90 to 110 lbs. of phosphate, and 210 lbs. of potash. Seventy percent of the total was applied pre-plant and 30% after planting.

On two-thirds of the land, 750 acres, a liquid application of 18-46-0 was applied at the rate of 225 lbs. per acre. On 500 acres, a combination of 11-34-0 was applied at the rate of 300 to 350 lbs. And, 350 lbs. of 0-0-60 was applied in dry form on all of the acres.

As soon as the corn is harvested, large tractors with plows and disks move into the Manchester fields. Baer feels fall plowing can greatly increase a field's yield capacity.

weeds control got close attention too. Atrazine was applied pre-plant with a liquid fertilizer on 950 acres. On the remaining 300, it was mixed with oil and an ester at the rate of 5 lbs. of Atrazine per acre and applied when weeds were one to three inches high.

"Despite the wet spring, we were able to control weeds on 1,250 acres chemically with better results than we could have gotten on 400 acres using a cultivator," states Baer.

Insects were handled with an application of 10 lbs. of Aldrin applied behind the planter. Baer found very little damage from insects this year but is keeping a trained eye out for next year, since heavy northern rootworm infestation is expected in his area.

Minimum tillage was emphasized as much as possible in the Baer operation. "We used a disk to incorporate some of the Atrazine before planting, and 200 acres of 30-inch corn was just plow-planted," says farm manager Dan Driscoll. "We planted our 20-inch corn with a new Allis Chalmers 12-row tillage planter, and no other disk was used except with the nitrogen application."

Baer contends that no matter how many precautions you take or how many new methods you use, "High yields won't materialize unless you harvest early. In high yielding corn, you can lose as much as 30 bushels an acre by waiting too long to harvest."

His theory on early harvest was well demonstrated this year. Combines moved into his 30-inch corn on September 16, and by the 19th they had 60 acres harvested. "We had to move them from field to field, because all the corn wasn't dry yet," says Driscoll. "By the 24th of September, we had 25,000 bushels of wet corn harvested from 175 acres."

Harvested corn is taken to one of the Manchester farms continuous grain dryers, where it is dried and stored until favorable market prices prevail. But the story doesn't end there.

As the combines completed their work on the first 300 acres, they were soon followed by tractors with plows and disks. It's Baer's belief that the more land that can be plowed, the earlier corn can be planted the following spring.

Applying up-to-date methods yielded an average of 140 bushels on 1,250 acres for Manchester Farms, Inc.

"I'm convinced that fall plowing can mean a 10 to 15 bushel per acre increase over spring-plowed land," Baer says. "In 1964, on many farms that I know of north of Bradford, Illinois, fall-plowed land yielded double the corn of spring-plowed land."

At the same time, lime is spread on the fields with trucks and then plowed in. "I'm a strong believer in using plenty of lime," Baer declares. "Getting the soil to the right pH level is important for a good corn crop."

Because of his awareness of new approaches in farming and his willingness to adapt to them, Baer has proven that conscientious farming pays off.

During the growing year, fertilizer, herbicide, insecticide and seed people and interested farmers congregated on the Manchester farm and talked corn. Sitting on the fender of the car conversing with such a group is farmer Baer.

A Visit with Rabin Pullin, Jasper County, Indiana

"We couldn't build this $20,000 structure if we couldn't master health problems."

"Digestive health is a real complex problem. I think it faces the entire industry."

"If we have good-doing pigs at 8 weeks, they'll almost certainly be good at 12 weeks... or 6 months."

"With TNT, scours control has been phenomenal."

Rabin Pullin's operation is a regular stop for Midwest farmers on swine tours. Here's why he uses TNT on the 2,900 hogs he sells from 325 litters:

"An enteritis condition would affect, in varying degrees, between half to two-thirds of our pigs. It wasn't enough to put us out of business. But it was aggravating. It would affect gains... and profits. In extreme cases, we'd lose two weeks to market."

"Then we used TNT. And, frankly, we just haven't had enough problems in 5 consecutive groups of pigs to even consider. We have fewer tailenders... fewer runts. Benefits extend throughout the growing period.

"I'd get into hot water if I said TNT would cure every man's troubles. But I'd recommend it to anyone who has had chronic problems. I know we're going to continue using it."

TNT worked for Rabin Pullin. It'll work for you.

"Get in on a good thing!"

CORN-SOYBEAN CLINIC BACK WITH PROGRESS REPORT

For the past two years, a Corn-Soybean Clinic has made a winter tour of the Midwest, showing to capacity crowds of Top Farmers, most of them enthusiastic about getting a complete story in a single day.

The 1967 version, on the road January 6 through February, promises new and exciting information along with a run-down on how last year's advice worked out.

There is much to tell. 1966 was a wild year. One of the worst droughts in history hit a large part of the hot production area. Top producers like Clyde Hight in corn and John Reiser Jr. in beans were hit with almost impossible conditions. They will report in films at all clinics and will attend many in person.

Ag chemicals faced many challenges. Rain and cold weather threw planting off schedule. Drought and extreme heat followed. Improper application of chemicals caused losses.

We learned a good deal about fertilization during 1966, not only in corn but also in beans. Weed control was mainly responsible for increased soybean yields in the past several years. Now it looks as if high fertility, narrow rows and better seed will help to really break the yield barrier, thanks to pioneering by men like Reiser.

The rush to narrow rows in both beans and corn has produced many interesting results. Many farmers changed over completely. Others teamed up to use one set of equipment on test acreage.

Sunlight received new attention, our friends in Canada leading the way. Planting schedules, population and spacing, even shape of plants will be changed to make fuller use of light and water.

The marketing story is exciting too. We are selling for cash overseas, but also running into real competition from other nations and other crops.

Check the map and locations at the right and be sure to attend the nearest Corn-Soybean Clinic. Your hosts, Allis-Chalmers, DeKalb, Amchem, Shell Chemical, Behlen, various fertilizer companies, local dealers and community boosters. Come early to get a good seat and visit with company people, dealers and Top Farmers. This will probably be your most interesting and profitable day of the year!

Corn-Soybean Experts can help you EARN $25 MORE PER ACRE

MANY top farmers reported earning $25 to $50 more per acre during 1966 after attending last winter's Clinic and applying what they learned. They have high-profit proof that Clinic recommendations, based on actual farmer experiences, pay off.

You can prove it to yourself, too, by attending the Clinic and hearing the latest on . . . Narrow rows . . . High population . . . Chemical weed and insect control . . . Heavy fertilization . . . Early harvest . . . Better storage. Come to the Clinic . . . and put more profit in your farming!

WINTERTIME SALADS

by Betty Stern, Farm & Home Food Consultant

Perk up your winter meals with an attractive, delicious salad. No trouble with children not eating their salad with such recipes as Marshmallow Sunburst Salad or Special Occasion Salad.

Walnuts add appetite appeal and make a salad more inviting. Even more, walnuts supply so much food value in the form of protein that a liberal helping of a walnut salad can often serve as the main course of your meal.

SPECIAL OCCASION SALAD

1 cup salad dressing
½ cup heavy cream, whipped few drops food coloring (depending on occasion)
1 cup diced pears
1 cup diced peaches

1 cup drained crushed pineapple
1 cup miniature marshmallows
Lettuce
Peach slices
Maraschino cherries

Combine dressing and whipped cream; add food coloring. Fold in fruit and miniature marshmallows. Pour into a 1-quart ring mold; freeze until firm. Unmold on lettuce; garnish with peach slices and cherries.

MAKE AHEAD LEMON SALAD

2 eggs
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 cup miniature marshmallows

1 cup (13½ ounce can) drained pineapple tidbits
1 cup orange sections, halved
1 cup seedless grapes, halved
½ cup California walnuts, chopped
Lettuce
Whole orange sections

Beat eggs until light and lemon colored; gradually add sugar, milk and lemon juice. Cook in double boiler, stirring until smooth and thickened. Chill. Fold in whipped cream. Add miniature marshmallows, fruit and walnuts. Chill 24 hours. Serve on lettuce, garnished with whole orange sections.

FROZEN FRUIT-MALLOW SALAD

1 9-ounce can crushed pineapple
1 3-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 7-ounce bottle lemon-lime carbonated beverage
2-2½ cups peaches, diced (canned)

1 cup seedless grapes, halved
1 cup whipped cream
1½ cups miniature marshmallows
½ cup California walnuts, chopped

Blend pineapple into cheese. Stir in carbonated beverage. Mix fruit into the mixture. Freeze until partially thickened. Fold whipped cream, nuts and miniature marshmallows into the cheese mixture. Freeze until firm. Let stand at room temperature for a few minutes before serving.

FRUIT NECTAR SALAD

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 (12-ounce) can apricot nectar
½ cup water

8 whole cloves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1½ cups drained diced, mixed fruits, canned or frozen (thawed)
½ cup California walnuts

Mix gelatine, sugar and salt thoroughly in a small saucepan. Add nectar, water and cloves. Place over low heat and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat and strain to remove cloves. Add lemon juice. Chill to unbeaten egg white consistency. Fold in mixed drained fruits and walnuts. Turn into a 3-cup mold or individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on serving platter and garnish with greens and fruit. Serve with salad dressing.

NOTE: If fresh or frozen pineapple is used, boil for 2 minutes before combining with the gelatine.

FROSTED LIME-WALNUT

1 cup hot water
1 package lime flavored gelatin
1 can crushed pineapple (no. 2), undrained
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup finely diced celery
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
½ cup chopped California walnuts
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Pour hot water over gelatin; stir until dissolved. Chill, stirring occasionally, till consistency of unbeaten egg white. Add pineapple, next 4 ingredients. Pour into 8" x 8" x 2" cake pan. Chill until firm. Frost with combined cheese, mayonnaise, and lemon juice. Cut into squares; arrange on greens; garnish with walnut halves. Makes 6 servings.

ORANGE ICE CREAM SALAD

1 package orange gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 can frozen orange juice
1 cup vanilla ice cream
1 can drained mandarin orange sections or 1 cup fresh orange sections

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add the frozen orange juice. Let cool. When mixture starts to gel, beat until creamy and add the ice cream which has been softened enough to mix. Add orange sections. Pour into mold and put in refrigerator overnight or at least 6 hours. Serve on salad greens. Serves 6-8.

CARROT RAISIN SALAD

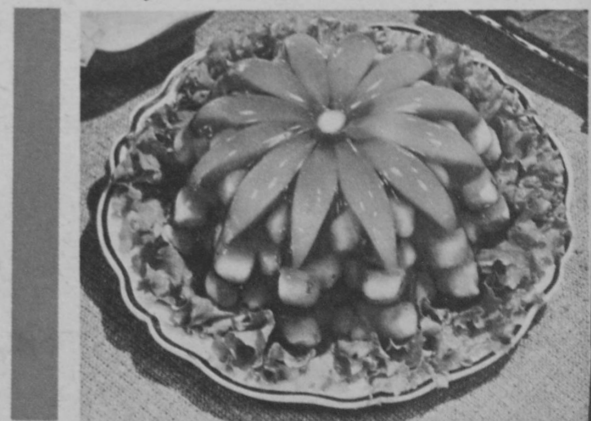

½ cup raisins
2 cups grated carrot
1 (8½-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup California walnuts, chopped
Salad greens

Combine raisins, carrot and drained pineapple. Blend in mayonnaise or salad dressing, lemon juice, salt and walnuts. Serve on crisp salad greens. Makes 4-6 servings. NOTE: If you should prefer to have plump rather than chewy raisins, pour hot water over them and let stand 5 minutes before combining with the other ingredients.

MARSHMALLOW SUNBURST SALAD

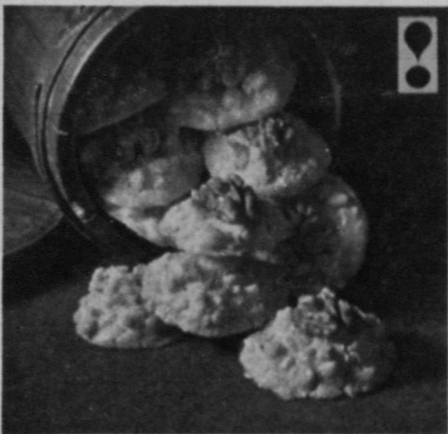

1 3-ounce package raspberry flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 cup cold water
1½ cups sliced peaches
2 cups miniature marshmallows
Lettuce
Mayonnaise or salad dressing

Dissolve raspberry gelatin in boiling water; add cold water. Chill until almost firm. Arrange several peach slices in bottom of -quart mold. Fold marshmallows and remaining peach slices into gelatin; pour into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce; serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing.

RUNNING SHORT,
SIGN UP NOW!

If you haven't already sent in for your Farm and Home Tours Hawaiian Holiday brochure, then you better do so soon, and you better make up your mind fast if you are going to go at all! This year's Hawaiian Holiday tour is filling up rapidly.

We have written several articles already on this new Hawaiian Holiday Tour; we have given you the day by day itinerary; we have given you the price . . . and where else in these United States can you find any 14-day tour to Hawaii, all-inclusive, for $699.00? You just can't find it. It's the best price on the best tour to Hawaii this year!

We have arranged four departure dates so that you can pick the time best suited for you. We have lined up locations in this 14-day all island Hawaiian tour which we thought you, as a midwesterner, would like to visit. We have arranged for hotels which we again thought you would enjoy staying at.

Our first group will leave for Hawaii on January 28; our second group will leave on February 4; our third group will depart February 11 and our fourth and final group will have February 18 as their departure date.

We feel it most important to emphasize this point over and over again: Hotels and accommodations in Hawaii are filling up fast!

You won't be able to sit and think about this for very many weeks more. In fact, in about two weeks our tour bookings will close. You must make up your mind at once.

We realize there are many of you who do not like to travel in groups. If this sounds like you . . . then we can take care of getting you to Hawaii on an individual basis and take care of touring you or your wife or friend among the islands just by yourselves and not with a group.

We would like you to go with us this year to Hawaii. We think we have kept the price down to a level which is the most competitive price to the islands. We think we have people going with us that you will enjoy being associated with on a group basis. We think this is the year to break loose and go to Hawaii. Why don't you send for your free folder today! Clip out the coupon on this page and mail to Farm and Home Tours, 20 North Carroll Street, Madison, Wisconsin 53703.

IT'S A DATE

The original home of the Date or Date Palm tree was Mesopotamia, where Babylonians were believed to have grown them 8,000 years ago. Although many dates are imported, a successful date industry has originated in southwestern U. S. in Coachella Valley of California and Salt River Valley, Arizona.

Dates have been with us so long but still many of us use them in only a few stand-by recipes.

DATE AND NUT CAKE

1/2-ounce package dates, finely cut (about 1 1/4 cups)	1 1/2 cups flour
1 cup hot water	1 teaspoon soda
1/4 cup soft shortening	1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar	1/2 cup California walnuts, chopped
1 egg

Heat oven to 350°F. Grease well and flour a square pan, 9 by 9 by 1 1/4 inches. Pour hot water over dates. Cool. Combine shortening, sugar, egg, vanilla in mixing bowl. Beat 5 minutes, high speed on mixer or by hand until fluffy (5 minutes total beating time). Sift together flour, soda, salt. On low speed, add alternately in four additions with date mixture. (Begin and end with dry ingredients.) Blend just until smooth. Add nuts. Pour into prepared pan. Bake 40 to 45 minutes, until toothpick stuck into center comes out clean. Ice with Easy Penuche Icing (below).

NOTE: Cake may be baked in oblong pan, 13 by 9 1/2 by 2 inches for 25 to 30 minutes.

EASY PENUCHE ICING

1/4 cup margarine	2 tablespoons milk
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)	1 cup confectioners' sugar, sifted (about)

Melt margarine in saucepan. Add brown sugar. Boil over low heat for 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Stir in milk. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Cool to lukewarm. Gradually add confectioners' sugar. Beat until thick enough to spread. If icing gets too stiff, add a little hot water.

CHOCOLATE DATE FINGERS

1/2 cup flour	2 teaspoons hot water
1/2 teaspoon baking powder	1/2 cup snipped, pitted dates
1/4 teaspoon salt	1 package (6 ounce) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
1/2 cup granulated sugar	3/4 cup California walnuts, chopped
1 egg, unbeaten
1 teaspoon melted margarine

Heat oven to 325°F. Grease 8" by 8" by 2" pan. Sift first 3 ingredients together. With electric mixer at "cream" (or with spoon), thoroughly beat sugar with egg till creamy. At low speed, or "blend," beat in next 4 ingredients, and flour mixture, just until mixed. Pour into pan; top with walnuts. Bake 30 to 35 minutes until done. Cool; cut. Yield: 2 dozen.

FUDGE STUFFED DATES

1/4 cup margarine	1 3/4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 package chocolate pudding	1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup milk	1/2 cup California walnuts, chopped

Melt margarine in a saucepan. Stir in pudding and milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil; boil 1 minute. Remove from heat; add confectioners' sugar; stir until smooth and well blended. Stir in vanilla and nuts. Turn quickly into a greased 8 x 6 inch pan. Cool until slightly firm. Fill pitted dates with candy; roll dates in sugar. Or save out a few nut halves and use to garnish stuffed dates; do not roll these in sugar.

BAKED GRAHAM DATE SQUARES

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
28 honey graham crackers, finely rolled (about 2 1/2 cups crumbs)
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup pitted, sliced dates
1 cup California walnuts, chopped

Beat eggs until light; gradually beat in sugar. Stir in remaining ingredients; mix well. Spread in greased 9-inch square baking pan; bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 30 minutes. Cut into squares and serve warm with Orange Sauce. Makes 16 servings.

NOTE: Just as delicious served cold as Date-Nut Bars.

ORANGE SAUCE

1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup water
6-ounce can frozen orange juice concentrate
2 tablespoons margarine
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Mix together sugar, cornstarch and salt; blend in water. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens and boils 5 minutes. Stir in orange juice concentrate, margarine and lemon rind; heat to boiling. Makes about 1 1/2 cups sauce.

how to win the housework battle

OR... YOU RUN THE HOUSE... NOT IT RUN YOU

by Lynn Dorris

Beds to make, dishes to do, toys to pick up, floors to sweep, laundry to sort, and clothes to fold: my housework seemed to be a never ending chore. Finally I woke up to the fact that the house was running me, not vice versa. I didn't have a minute to call my own. That's the day I decided to make some changes.

I came to the conclusion that time is valuable and needs to be budgeted as well as money. To give an incentive to getting things done in a half day which I usually dragged through the whole day, I gave myself three hours in the afternoon to work on a pet project; gardening, sewing, or whatever happens to be my big interest at the moment.

I have found that it helps to treat time like money. If I save my time for a purpose then I have a reason for being more efficient.

One of the first things I realized is that I couldn't possibly be perfect in every phase of homemaking. To my family, having an immaculately clean house isn't as important as my having some time to spend with them so I forgot about trying to keep up with the model homemaker down the block and starting concentrating on what was important to my own family; a fairly neat home, good food, and time to be together!

I went to work avoiding work. I started to put things away as soon as I was through using them. The clutter doesn't build up then. This only takes a minute and is one of my best work savers.

To make it easier for family members to make less work, I provided mud scrapers and mats for wiping feet. I bought attractive coatracks for the children's room to make it easy for them to hang up their own coats and caps and to get them when they want. This saves many steps as well as time. I also bought inexpensive clothes hampers for each bedroom closet. This makes it easy for everyone to put dirty clothes away as soon as they are taken off.

To make housework more pleasant I started dressing up to work. I started getting up a half hour earlier each morning so that I could shower, comb my hair, and put on make-up before breakfast. If I wait until after breakfast I find it too easy to drift through the day without doing it. Now, I'm fresh as a daisy at breakfast and it seems to brighten my whole family's day.

An old problem of mine was starting more than I could handle, like watering the lawn, baking a cake, starting the laundry, and cleaning the living room at the same time. I usually ended up with a flooded driveway, a burned cake, and the living room chores unfinished. Now I start only what I can handle.

I've tried to get every housekeeping chore down to a system, figuring out the quickest and most efficient way of doing it. Before leaving the bedroom I make the bed, pick up, and dust. Then I head for the bathroom to get myself ready for the day.

As soon as breakfast is over I get the dishes done, wipe off the table and countertops, sweep the floor, and take out the trash. Then I start a load of laundry before tackling the living room. I have found that a routine pick up and vacuuming of each room each day actually saves time and work. By lunch time I have all the rooms finished and the laundry done.

As soon as lunch is over I go through the process of straightening the kitchen once more; then I start the ironing. This is one task I never let myself get behind in.

While I'm ironing, baking, or scrubbing I try to think about pleasant things. If I let myself dwell on the job my husband hasn't finished, idle gossip of the neighbors', or criticisms from the in-laws', I can easily work myself into a real stew so instead I fill my mind with pleasant thoughts and the work seems to go much faster.

The housework is usually finished by two p.m. and I have free time to devote to my pet project until time to start dinner. What I use this time for isn't as important as the feeling that I run my house. It doesn't run me!
