

County Ordinance Strengthens Law on Drinking by Minors

On recommendation of local law enforcement officials, Isosco Board of Supervisors Wednesday adopted a county ordinance designed to curb teen-aged drinking.

This action is the result of several recent "beer busts" at which local youngsters were arrested.

The new ordinance states that "no person shall attend or frequent any place where any person under the age of 21 years then and there consumes or does knowingly possess, transport or have under his control any alcoholic beverage."

Penalty for violation of this ordinance is not to exceed a fine of $100 or imprisonment in the county jail for 90 days or both in the discretion of the court.

The new ordinance is designed to augment existing state laws concerning consuming of alcoholic beverages by minors.

The board of supervisors gave its complete endorsement with a unanimous roll call vote.

In another business conducted at the June session, the board heard a report from Supervisor James P. Mielock on recent meetings between a special committee and county school administrators.

This committee was organized prior to the final meeting of the allocation board and its principal object is to foster better relations between school officials and the county. It is also intended to acquaint both the county and schools with financial problems encountered.

Mielock said that at least two of the schools were planning special operational millage votes this summer. It is the intention of the board of supervisors to endorse such proposals.

Chairman Charles Smith appointed a five-member committee to attend a meeting June 28 at Delta College where a discussion is to be held on a multi-county economic development district. Isosco is one of two counties in the 14-county district which has not endorsed this program as yet.

The June 28 meeting is to be concerned with drafting organizational rules, devise a plan for full representation on the council from such interests as agriculture, business, labor, government and other sectors of the district's economy. Preparations would also be made for a formal organizational meeting, at which time permanent officers and members would be selected and application made for funds to operate the district office.

Representing Isosco at the meeting will be Edward Higgins, Aubrey Belson, Earl McElhannon, Mielock and Dennis Christia.

The board adopted a resolution from the judiciary committee urging the equalization director and prosecuting attorney to assist and cooperate with all supervisors and assessors of the county in order to properly enforce the plat act.

Approval was given to various county officers to attend annual conventions.

The board adopted a resolution for the county to pay $500 to the Tawas Chamber of Commerce as part of the advertising allocation for printing of brochures.

Board of Education Says—

'Teen Tipplers are Police Responsibility

Making an apparent reversal in attitude from its last meeting, Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night decided that coping with the problem of teen-aged drinking during summer vacation is the responsibility of law enforcement, courts and parents.

At a meeting two weeks ago, the board seemed to be ready to adopt a policy recommended by faculty members and student leaders aimed at discouraging teen-aged drinking.

A proposed policy discussed at that meeting was as follows: "A student caught drinking would be suspended from all extra-curricular school activities for a period of one full year."

While dropping proposed action was by no means unanimous, the general consensus of board members was that enforcement of state law in regard to teen-aged drinking of alcoholic beverages during summer vacation was the responsibility of parents and the police and not a board function.

(As described in another article in this newspaper, a new county ordinance strengthens enforcement of the state law by making it a misdemeanor for a minor to attend a beer party, even though he does not consume alcoholic beverages.)

It was stressed at the meeting that such a policy may be incorporated into by-laws of various organizations within the school. If the problem cannot be handled in this manner, then the board of education probably would take action in adopting a new policy relative to student drinking when school reopens next fall.

Billy B. Wilder, who becomes Tawas Area's new high school principal this year, told the board he had two conflicting views on the matter. While he was happy that teachers and student leaders had expressed concern over the teen-aged drinking problem, he felt that enforcement of any policy within the school should be in the hands of the student council.

"You are not going to whip the problem unless you can convince the kids," let them make their own laws," said Wilder. He asked for and was given permission to contact the various school clubs and student council concerning their feelings and recommendations.

One of the principal supporters of a "get-tough" policy by the school two weeks ago was Leonard Sarki, president of the board of education. On second thought since the meeting, Sarki presented an article which appeared in Monday's Detroit Free Press outlining methods being utilized in the metropolitan area designed to curb "grassers" or teen-aged beer busts.

"We have policemen and courts paid to do the job," said Sarki. He felt that law enforcement was not a responsibility of the school board. Supporting Sarki's view was Trustee Robert Elliott.

While voting to go along with the proposal to allow student organizations to set up their own rules, Clyde Soper, board secretary, believed that the board was justified in adopting a policy to deny privileges to students "who do not behave themselves outside of school." He thought it was important that a board of education discourage teen-aged drinking.

Miss Clara Bolen, who served six months as high school principal and returns to her former job of elementary principal, said that the policy presented at the last meeting had been proposed by teachers, particularly by the athletic department, which felt that the only students "getting the axe" were those taking part in athletics. She said that the idea had snowballed and had received support from student leaders in Key Club, band, Keyettes, National Honor Society and other groups (See SCHOOL BOARD, page 3.)

CMU Study Recommends Two Area Consolidations

Recommendations of a recent study concerning six Isosco and Arenac schools were outlined at a meeting held last Tuesday night at Whittemore-Prescott Area School.

The study, conducted by Central Michigan University, was authorized by boards of education of the six schools involved following several preliminary meetings.

It was designed to aid schools in making future plans for better utilization of buildings.

The report recommended that the six schools be consolidated into four different districts. Recommended consolidations included Whittemore-Prescott Area and Hale, as one district, and Arenac Eastern with Augres. Under the report, Tawas Area School and Standish Sterling School would remain as single districts. Oscoda Area School did not desire to be included in the study.

It was also recommended that the six schools and possibly Oscoda reorganize into one intermediate school district as a vocational technical area. This would require a series of actions by various communities involved.

Supt. Reynold Mick reported at Monday night's meeting of Tawas

Area Board of Education that the Michigan Department of Education is making plans for a vocational technical center to be located in the geographical and population center of the above named schools. He said that further talks on this would be held by representatives of the various schools.

Report of CMU study group said that transportation in the six-school area was not a serious problem.

Under the proposed consolidation, school enrollment would be approximately the same size. The CMU specialists said that an optimum size of a graduating class should be 100 students. Classes above that number are impractical from an educational standpoint.

One point stressed at the meeting was the importance of attitude in schools, requiring an enthusiasm among teachers as well as students.

The report said that schools were pushing more people into colleges than justified and believed that more graduates should be headed toward special schools to advance vocational education.

A complete report on this survey is to be made available in about a month.

Fire Victim Hospitalized; Severe Burns

Allen J. Paulson, 39, a member of Consumers Power Company's engineering department, received severe burns early Saturday morning when fire destroyed his home at 505 East Lakewood, Tawas Lake, East Tawas.

Attendants at Tawas Hospital said Monday that Paulson was "holding his own," although his condition was still listed as critical. He received second degree burns to approximately 50 percent of his body.

Paulson and a friend, Walter Halm, made separate escapes from the burning building clad only in their underclothing.

Halm sustained cuts to the body, two crushed vertebrae and his hair was slightly burned when he crashed through his bedroom window.

The Saginaw man told state police he had gone to bed around midnight. At approximately 5:00 a. m. he smelled smoke and opened a bedroom door. He was forced back by smoke and flames.

After jumping through the bedroom window, Halm saw Paulson come out the front door. He ran to neighbors to get help, but was refused assistance at the first home he tried. He finally found someone to take him to the state police post, where the East Tawas Fire Department was called.

Paulson was taken to the hospital by private automobile. He told officers that he had been sleeping in a bedroom on the northwest side of the house. He said he had watched television before going to bed and believed it was possible that a cigarette may have fallen out of an ash tray without his noticing it.

Officers said the fire appeared to have started near the west end of the house in the living room.

Paulson is a former president of Isosco Sportsmen's Club.

Body of Young Drowning Victim Recovered Friday in Tawas Bay

Body of Gerald Brenner, one of two 18-year-old Saginaw County youths who disappeared June 17 while wading along fog-shrouded Tawas Point, was recovered last Friday morning.

Four off-duty Saginaw County Sheriff's Department officers joined area law enforcement officers in the search that morning and Brenner's body was found floating in Tawas Bay about 500 yards offshore from the East Tawas Park.

Still missing is the body of Larry Mechere, who had accompanied Brenner and a group of other boys representing a St. Charles church group on a week-end vacation at Tawas Point.

The group went swimming about 7:30 a. m. on June 17 and when five of the group returned to shore for breakfast, Brenner and Mechere were seen running in shoal water on the Tawas Bay side of Tawas Point.

They disappeared into a heavy fog blanketing the area. Shoal water around the point extends out to a wading distance of more than one-half mile in some areas. The bottom drops off sharply into 13 to 15 feet of water.

Death of the boys, being Isosco's third and fourth drowning victims of the year, is believed to be the first on record where someone has walked off the shoal shelf into deep water.

Search for the second boy's body was continued this week by boat patrols from Isosco Sheriff's Department, Michigan State Police and United States Coast Guard from Tawas Point.

Oscoda Crash Claimed Lives of Two Airmen

Two airmen from Wurtsmith Air Force Base were killed and two others were injured Friday morning when the car in which they were riding struck a utility pole, rammed into a tree and then hit a stop sign on River Road, Oscoda Township.

Killed were Robert J. Patterson, 21, and Henry J. Kaverman, 22. Richard Dougherty, 20, and Joseph T. Donovan were treated at the base hospital.

The crash took place about four miles west of Oscoda near Four-site village.

Deaths of Patterson and Kaverman raised Isosco County's auto accident toll to 10 killed during 1967.

TA Board Approves Hiring of Curriculum Coordinator

Authorization to hire a full-time curriculum coordinator, hiring of part-time assistant principal and raising the salaries of custodians and office secretaries was approved at Monday night's meeting of Tawas Area Board of Education.

A salary increase of approximately nine percent was voted for school secretaries. Three secretaries working 11 months a year would receive $3,600.

In other business, the board gave permission to the Tawas Chamber of Commerce to use school property at the East Tawas Elementary Unit as part of the carnival location during the tourist festival. A contract is to be prepared outlining the responsibilities of the chamber of commerce in cleaning school grounds after use.

The board approved a five percent salary increase for custodians, or $250 additional annually. Custodians working full time and at the top of the scale had received $5,000 annually.

The new curriculum coordinator, for which applications are now being taken, would be hired 11 months a year and would be working in close cooperation with the high school and elementary principals. He would follow up on preliminary work of a curriculum study committee which made recommendations earlier this year.

The new assistant principal would relieve much of the load on the high school principal by handling all disciplinary problems with students. The assistant prin-

Editorial—

No Fun for Injured Man

It seems like fun to hit a moving target and a Lansing youngster did just that recently. But his marksmanship with a stone nearly cost a railroad brakeman the sight of one eye.

The brakeman was riding in the locomotive cab of a Grand Trunk Western freight train, when a stone thrown by one of two boys hit the windshield. The safety glass shattered and particles struck the brakeman in the right eye and cut his chin and nose.

In this instance, the emergency staff of Sparrow Hospital was able to remove the particles and there will be no permanent eye damage. However, stone-throwing at moving vehicles of all types—locomotives, buses, trucks and private automobiles—occurs too frequently and the danger of inflicting serious injury in spite of safety glass is too great to let it go unnoticed.

If youngsters could realize the painful and lasting injuries that sometimes result from what they consider just a prank, perhaps they would choose less vulnerable targets. We hope so, for the sake of their own peace of mind as well as the protection of possible victims.

GIRLS participating in the Tawas summer athletic program, conducted by Mrs. John Breece, were treated to an inspection tour of United States Coast Guard facilities at Tawas Point last week. The girls visited the coast guard station, climbed the circular stairway to the top of historic Tawas Point lighthouse and visited the fog signal. All agreed that the tour was a summer vacation highlight.—Tawas Herald Photos.

TODAY'S Meditation

Read Luke 5:1-11

Simon Peter . . . fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord." (Luke 5:8, RSV)

These words of Peter spell out a cry from the depths of his conscience. He took Jesus seriously!

When you and I really see Jesus, He becomes not only admirable, but truly disturbing. We try to escape Him. We feel we cannot live beside Him and with ourselves at the same time, for Jesus reveals the living God.

Jesus believed in all mankind. His warmth and appeal captured people. He was more than a teacher. He was a doer. He stressed repentance and humility, sincerity and self-sacrifice.

Would we welcome Jesus into our lives and homes if He were to appear today? Would we want Him to stay awhile and meet our closest friends? Would we be glad when He left?

Each of us desperately needs to take Jesus seriously. We need to make room for Him in our lives, to accept Him as the interpreter of our faith.

PRAYER

Dear Christ of the common way, we thank Thee for Thy compassion for all men. Thine awareness of ordinary people. Lead us to know Thee as our Savior, our vision of the eternal. In Thy name we pray. Amen.

Tawas City Lost Pitching Duel to BC

Three errors were costly to Tawas City Indies Sunday as Bob Sietloff locked horns with Gary Somers of Barton City in an outstanding pitching battle.

Except for the first and third innings, Sietloff shut out the visitors with a six-hit pitching performance. Barton City scored two runs in the first inning on a single and an error and three runs in the third inning on a double, two errors and two stolen bases.

Somers allowed only four hits over the distance and was in trouble only in the fourth and fifth innings when he allowed all four of the hits. He struck out 14 batters over the route and did not walk a batter.

Sietloff struck out five and walked four in a losing cause.

12 Beds Ok'd for MC Facility

Iosco County has been allocated $50,000 by the federal government for construction of a 12-bed addition to Iosco Medical Care Facility on Plank Road.

This announcement was made at last Wednesday's meeting of the board of supervisors by C. S. Everett, chairman of the board's welfare committee.

Everett said that the money was being made available to the county through an increase to its original Hill-Burton federal grant.

Permission was granted by the board to proceed with taking of bids and preparing plans for the addition. Total cost of the project is not to exceed the federal grant. The 50-bed facility was opened to the public last August. It was constructed through federal and local funds.

DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Members of Five Lakes Association will meet for a discussion of mutual problems Sunday, July 2, 2:00 p. m., at Richard Mielke's garage on Indian Lake. Interested property owners are invited to attend.

Treatment

A number of area residents expressed alarm Saturday noon when water in the Tawas River took on a green hue. A check with the Michigan Department of Conservation revealed that dye had been placed in Cold Creek and at various points of the river to determine the best locations for introducing selective toxicant TFM for lamprey control. This is one of the first steps in rehabilitating Lake Huron for introduction of new species of fish through control of sea lamprey, which spend about five years of their larval life at the bottom of streams.

40th Air Division Getting New CO

Colonel Hill has been nominated for the rank of brigadier general and is expected to be wearing his stars by mid-November. He was promoted to full colonel in 1957.

General Bowley, 44, came to Wurtsmith last summer from the office of the Vice Chief of Staff, United States Air Force, Pentagon, where he had been stationed since 1963.

Drownproof your Family

You can drownproof your family this summer by teaching them a new floating technique. The method, developed by Professor Fred R. Lanoue, head swimming coach at Georgia Institute of Technology, is simple. According to him, most people drown because they panic; they exhaust themselves needlessly and soon go down. Object of Lanoue's method is to relax, make use of your built-in floating power without trying to overwork it by keeping the whole head above water. His six-step technique is shown above. In step 1), the student takes a deep breath and plunges in, allowing himself to stay submerged, face down. While exhaling in a normal breathing pattern, he slowly raises his arms 2) and when he needs to inhale, 3) he gently pushes down with his arms, forcing just enough of his head above water to breathe. In step 4) he inhales quickly through the mouth and lets himself sink again. Two common errors are trying to breathe twice during this stroke, and to get the head too far out of water. Both waste energy. In step 5) he will sink because he has just pushed his head above water, a motion which has overcome his natural buoyancy. The less the head is raised when taking a breath, the less the body will sink. In 6) he has once again bobbed to the surface, exhaling as he regains this natural position, and is now ready to start over. In practice, the rhythm of these motions can be timed to a comfortable breathing speed. You should not wait to breathe until absolutely necessary. — Mich. Dept. of Conservation

Tawas Area Keyettes Busy With Many Projects During Summer

The 46-member Tawas Keyette chapter is continuing its program during the summer vacation with several worthwhile projects.

One of the principal programs being conducted by the high school girls is at Tawas Hospital, where they will be working one day each week on beautifying the hospital grounds.

Under direction of Mrs. Gordon Dunham, advisor, the girls spent last Wednesday afternoon in planting flowers and trimming around bushes.

The international project this year for Keyette is assistance to migrant workers and $3,200 was raised by the international group to help finance a day school in Pennsylvania.

Tawas Area chapter is to raise money for its contribution by selling firewood this summer at the state park.

The girls also assist the Tawas Kiwanis Club, sponsoring organization, by working in the club's thrift shop. Keyettes are to work with mentally retarded children, who had been attending special classes during the regular school year at First Baptist Church, Tawas City.

Mrs. Dunham said that this was the first year that the group had met during the vacation period. It is hoped that enough funds will be raised to finance awarding of one scholarship at the end of the next school year.

Family Living Education

Local Woman Scholarship Winner

When Mrs. Donald Leitz of East Tawas attends College Week for Women this summer, she will be one of the 26 winners of the Women's National Farm and Garden Scholarships.

Kate will be among 1,200 Michigan women who each year attend the week-long special event at Michigan State University, held this year July 26-28. Sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, any woman in Michigan is invited to attend. She will select from 30 different classes and courses offered during the event as well as attend special programs.

Highlighting the theme of the event, "Michigan Yesterday and Today," Robert Thom, illustrator of the Michigan Bell series, will speak using reproductions of his series as a basis for his presentation.

Mr. Thom traveled thousands of miles to gather historical facts and information for his paintings. He says, "You can't fake history. You have to know how people lived, what they wore, their physical characteristics and surroundings, architecture, furniture and implements of the time."

If you are interested in attending College Week for Women, information is available through the Cooperative Extension Service office at the Federal Building, East Tawas.

One day visitors are invited to attend Thursday, July 27.

Glass Fibers - Awnings To Eveners

An evening dress and an awning from the same glass fiber? It may be possible with Fiberglass Beta.

Because of the possibility of skin irritations from handling glass fiber fabrics, their tendency to break during the laundry process and information on caution about bleaching, ironing or dry cleaning, it is being given serious consideration as to proper labeling. Certain cautions should always be followed in using glass fiber fabrics.

They must always be washed separately. Machine washing is permitted for some glass fiber textile products, while other smaller pieces can easily be hand washed. If glass fiber is washed in a washer, put the empty washer through a complete cycle before doing another load of clothes.

Large glass fiber items might be taken to the dry cleaners for washing. Glass fiber fabrics should not be dry cleaned!

Four Minutes—

Rededication; Ring Bells in State July 4

Iosco County communities will be cooperating with a state-wide effort this year to place emphasis on the real reason for observing July 4 as a national holiday.

On that day, all churches, schools, public and private organizations of all kinds are urged to ring bells in a 1:00 p. m. tribute. This patriotic bell ringing throughout Michigan and the nation will help to remind citizens of a proud heritage.

"Soon it will be time for Americans to observe the most celebrated birthday of the free world," said Gov. George Romney in his Independence Day proclamation. "As we share in placing the 191st candle on our nation's birthday cake July 4, we can all make the holiday the historically meaningful day it should be by reviewing the great principles upon which the United States was founded."

To assist in this important rededication, the Hi-Y organization of the state YMCA is again directing the program. Young men and women who direct this annual bell ringing program seek to attach added significance and importance to the program by stressing the Bill of Rights as the dynamic document that it is and the foundation it serves in everyday living.

"I, George Romney, governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby urge and encourage all citizens and organizations throughout the state to again join with the state YMCA in a tolling of the bells for four minutes at 1:00 p. m. July 4, as an important reminder that this nation was founded on the principle of individual freedom, justice and equality and that it is for us, the living, to forever protect and strengthen this great heritage."

POINT OF INTEREST—Grand opening is to be held this Saturday and Sunday at one of Eastern Michigan's newest attractions—Steiner's Museum at Fairview. Earl Steiner has spent more than 30 years collecting antique guns, logging and farm equipment and recently constructed a new building two miles north of Fairview on M-33. His display of guns is one of the finest in the state as is the collection of logging tools and pictures. It is well worth the drive for local residents or vacationers.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Recruiters to Convene Here; List Speakers

Lt. Col. Thomas E. Dinnis, commanding officer of United States Army's recruiting activities in Michigan, announced Thursday in Detroit that the eighth annual sales seminar for army recruiters in Michigan will be held at East Tawas on July 6, 7 and 8.

(A workshop course will include the discussion of school dropouts and the value of their staying in school.)

Pump Break Causes Water Shortage in TC

15 Years Ago—

June 27, 1952—A broken drive shaft at the First Avenue pumping station has caused a serious water shortage in Tawas City. The 16-year-old pump, used normally on a standby basis, is pressed into service during dry weather. Because of the demand of lawn sprinkling, water pressure dropped to zero and all outside use of water is being prohibited.

Now under construction at the Tawas Hi-Speed distributing plant is a pumphouse, warehouse and 120,000-gallon gasoline and fuel storage tanks. Pumps for the new plant have been arranged for the simultaneous loading and unloading of tank trucks and transport trucks.

The July 4 program in the Tawas includes yacht races, a parade, old timer's day at Tawas City Athletic Field, an all-day benefit carnival for Tawas Hospital and fireworks.

Michigan Bell's new dial telephone system will go into operation at Oscoda. The company made a $60,000 investment to bring the service to Oscoda.

Taking part in graduation exercises at Central Michigan College were the following teachers from Plainfield Township Rural Agricultural School, Hale; Mrs. Blanche Douglass, bachelor of art degree; Mrs. Sarah T. Johnson and Mrs. Ella Kaven, both receiving bachelor of science degrees.

25 Years Ago—

June 26, 1942—With weather conditions extremely unfavorable, Iosco farmers are faced with a huge problem as far as harvesting their 25,000 acres of hay. The unusually early spring has brought every hay field of the county to the point of practically begging that harvesting be done at once, that is if greatest palatability and feeding value are to be retained for dairy cows.

A second equalization report was required before the work of the equalization committee was accepted by the board of supervisors at the five-day meeting which ended Monday. In the first report, Oscoda Township was equalized at $2,516,953. A majority of supervisors objected to the figure and the township was equalized at $2,654,978 in the second report. Supervisor Lloyd McCuaig of Oscoda said he planned to appeal to the state tax commission.

During this canning season, the rush at the courthouse has been such that County Clerk Russell McKenzie has shortened his greeting to something like this: "What can I do for you? Sugar?" This is an efficient greeting and brings up the important subject without undue conversation, but brevity has its danger. With all the fair sex of the county applying for rationing certificates, an accidental emphasis in the wrong word might cause a misunderstanding.

The city dump at the Glen has been discontinued and, what has been an eyesore for a number of years, will be made into a beauty spot again, according to Mayor Carl Babcock. This is pleasant news for citizens of the city, especially owners of property adjoining the tract. Old excavations are being leveled and the program would eventually include landscaping for a city park.

Uncle Sam is preparing to add at least $20 more per month to the pay check of every enlisted man in the nation's armed forces. When President Roosevelt signed legislation granting the first general military pay increase in 20 years, the lowest rank—buck privates and apprentice seamen—received $50 a month, as against $30 formerly.

TAWAS RANGER DISTRICT Huron National Forest

By Loren S. Woerpel, Ranger

When a forester goes to college, he learns a good deal about all of the natural resources he has to deal with. One of the things that he does not study is the art of signs.

We Americans are used to having signs tell us what to do, what to buy and where to go. We count on signs to take us where we want to go. The art of signing and it is just that, an art, is a difficult problem, particularly in a forest environment because it is easy to destroy the esthetics of the forest with signs.

As foresters, we have to face the problem of signs on national forest lands. The United States

Forest Chats

Forest Service has a standard design for their signs which is uniform all over the nation. Brown stained wood signs with routed, yellow letters were chosen to blend with the feeling of a forest environment.

We place signs in the forest for three reasons: To guide the visitor on the many travel routes, to announce that they have arrived at a recreation area and to give various messages of information.

One of the critical questions we ask ourselves when placing signs in the forest is, is this absolutely necessary? For part of the art of signing is not to put too many signs in the forest, intruding on the esthetic view. No signs, other than the standard wood sign, are allowed on national forest lands.

Obviously, not all the signs in the Huron National Forest are national forest signs. Most of the signs are private signs on private lands. As our summer home community has grown, the number of signs has grown.

We were enthusiastic to learn that the Five Lakes Association, made up of property owners around Indian Lake area, has become interested in promoting the art of good signing in their area. Their interest is taking the private signs off of trees, the very resource that gives us the beauty and enjoyment of our area, and putting them on neat standards is certainly commendable. Cooperation with this effort will go a long way to restore the beauty of our roadsides.

The Long Lake Association and the Chain Lakes Association in Plainfield Township have had such a program for several years.

I hope many people will join this bandwagon. We all will benefit.

Sun Bathing a Major Cause of Skin Cancer

This is the sixth in a series of articles by the American Cancer Society on the six most common sites of cancer—uterus, colon and rectum, breast, oral cavity, lung and skin.

SKIN CANCER Every year, people spend hour after hot hour basking in the sun with great pleasure and little thought of risking cancer of the skin.

Skin cancer, if anyone happens to think of it, may happen to George—never to me—is the general carefree attitude of most yet every year some 90,000 people in the United States develop skin cancer—and about 5,000 die of it. "These deaths seem the most pitiful of them all because most of them could so easily be prevented," Dr. Harvey Brinkman of the Iosco County Unit of the American Cancer Society commented. A large fraction of those who die of skin cancer are lost for no good reason at all.

The American Cancer Society has included skin cancer control in its five-year minimum achievement program which seeks to greatly reduce the number of deaths from this disease by 1970. Specialized education projects on this site are now being conducted, Doctor Brinkman said.

"To this end the society used its film, 'Sense in the Sun,' which shows tellingly just what chances the average sun-worshiper takes with the sun.

"Showing a little sense such as putting on a shirt with long sleeves, a wide-brimmed hat, using lotions or cream to filter out rays should be common practice but only too often is not. Fair-haired and fair-skinned people are particularly vulnerable to sun rays.

"Most skin cancers are caused by over-exposure to sun and wind. Those who have to be in the sun including field workers, fishermen, lifeguards, etc., must be on guard to protect themselves as well as possible; those who follow the sun in the pursuit of fun and happiness should also be careful.

"The general public associates tanning with 'good health' and 'attractiveness.' Actually, tanning is a response to ultra-violet injury and the cumulative damage that results from excessive exposure to sunlight is the major factor in premature aging of the skin and the development of skin cancer. "Skin cancer is readily detectable. A blemish that will not disappear within two weeks or so, a change in wart or mole, a tendency to bleed or darken—all these are telltale signs and should be looked at by your doctor as soon as possible," Doctor Brinkman said. Early detection may make possible the treatment or removal of a small cancer before it can cause any vital damage to the body.

AN ANCIENT SCROLL inspires an ever-good design for a knitted dress. The ribbing trim runs around the neck and ends in swirls to accentuate the unusual neckline. The same detail is repeated (can't get too much of a good thing) on the sleeves. At the hipline, the ribbing gives the illusion of deep pockets, while actually framing small ones.
