

School Opened Bids on Vocational Bldg.

Bid opening on a new vocational building at Tawas Area High School was held last night (Tuesday).

During Monday night's meeting of the Tawas Area Board of Education, Supt. Reynold Mick reported that he expected five differed firms to enter bids on the general contract.

This construction is being financed by a two-mill tax levy approved last summer by district voters for a period of two years. A sinking fund was established to finance construction of a 60 by 100-foot addition at the high school for vocational training and a 30 by 32-foot art room.

In addition, present quarters of shop classes are to be converted into classrooms.

The school is to expand its vocational training program, to include junior high, in the fields of auto mechanics, metal and wood working, mechanical drawing and drafting.

It was reported Monday night that the school had obtained four large electrical welding units from federal surplus at Cadillac. The unused units cost $75 each and are to be included in the vocational training program of instruction, along with present welding equipment.

In other business, a letter was read from R. H. Crawford, chairman of the negotiating team for Tawas Area Education Association, stating a desire to renegotiate a master contract between teachers and the school which is to expire in June. A meeting has been set tentatively for Thursday night between administrators, board of education members and negotiators for teachers.

Materials submitted by Mrs. Raymond Rescoe relative to improvement of the school's library were turned over to the administrator for study. A report is to be made at the next meeting.

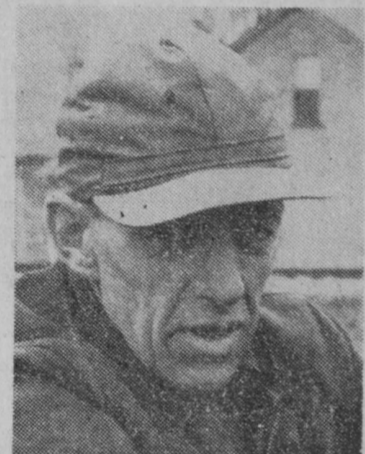

Authorization was given to purchase a new engine and overhaul a tractor at the high school used for cutting grass and other maintenance. Cost was $410.33.

School custodians are to attend the annual training conference May 22, 23 and 24. Authorization was given to send Edgar R. Jenkins, transportation director, to the bus driver training school.

The board of education approved an hourly rate of $2 for persons hired for part time work. When the present wage of $1.50 was set, starting wage for custodians was approximately $1.59 per hour. The starting wage for a custodian is now approximately $2.25 per hour. The school had difficulty in hiring part time workers at the old rate.

B. MacGregor, Veteran Fire Officer, Dead

Funeral services for Bert MacGregor of Tawas City will be conducted Wednesday (today), 2:00 p. m., at Jacques Funeral Home, Tawas City. The Rev. Donald Turbin will officiate and burial will be in Pine Crest Cemetery, Oscoda. Mr.

BERT MACGREGOR

MacGregor died Sunday, May 7, at Tawas Hospital following a lingering illness.

Born June 17, 1905, at Watford, Canada, Mr. MacGregor and Elsie Herman were married July 20, 1935, at Ferndale.

He had been a member of the Michigan Department of Conservation since 1941 and, until retiring for health reasons in 1963, had been a fire officer.

Surviving are his wife; one brother, George MacGregor of Livonia, and one sister, Mrs. Pearl Shovan of Oscoda.

Judge Names Dr. Lambert as Examiner

Iosco Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller has appointed Dr. L. A. Lambert, district health director, to conduct a preliminary examination to determine if Jonathan L. Putnam is competent to stand trial for first degree murder.

This action was the result of a motion filed Monday by Alf C. Watson, counsel for the accused slayer of Mrs. Viola Stern.

Through investigation, Watson told the court that he was convinced that Putnam was insane at the time of the homicide.

A written report is to be filed May 12 by Dr. Lambert and Judge Miller is to determine if the court should appoint a psychiatrist to determine Putnam's sanity at the time of the offense. Information would also be furnished if a diagnostic commitment to the Michigan Department of Mental Health is necessary.

In his motion, Watson said he had, since being appointed by the court to represent Putnam, spent many hours with him and numerous persons "having knowledge of the mental and emotional condition of the accused, immediately before, shortly after and for many years prior to the homicide in consideration."

Watson said that the accused has knowledge of the occurrence of several acts which "make it likely that the homicide was committed by the accused; he appears to have no knowledge of, nor any recollection whatever regarding large and important segments of the events immediately surrounding and during the course of the said homicide."

Putnam is being held without bond at the Iosco County Jail. He voluntarily appeared at the Pontiac State Police Post on April 14, reportedly stating that he had stabbed a woman to death near Tawas.

Iosco's Tax Sale Had Few Descriptions

Edward Nelkie, Iosco County treasurer, reported last week that only 57 descriptions were sold during the annual May tax sale. Approximately 400 descriptions were printed on the tax sale list.

A telephone and letter-writing campaign had been conducted by Nelkie and members of his staff over the past several weeks in an effort to have delinquent taxpayers make payments prior to the sale of property.

That this move was successful is evident by the low number of sales, some 95 less than last year. Total amount of money received for nonpayment of 1964 taxes was $1,165.14.

Tawas Township was the only unit in Iosco County that did not have a description offered for 1964 delinquent taxes.

By paying taxes prior to the sale, delinquent owners saved money. One-half of one percent was charged against delinquent taxes prior to the sale. To redeem property now, the owner will pay an additional three-quarters of one percent per month.

Nelkie said that delinquent owners may redeem property at his office during the next 12 months.

Tawas Faculty Vacancies are Being Filled

Prospects for filling vacancies in Tawas Area School's faculty appeared excellent, according to a report Monday night by Supt. Reynold Mick.

Miss Maureen Honey, a June graduate of Michigan State University, has signed a letter of intent to accept a contract to teach French.

The school has four applicants for two English positions which are open. Included are Mary Loper, a June graduate from Central Michigan University; Miss Eileen Hatch, who attended Tawas Area High School and will graduate in August from Michigan State University. Two other candidates are teaching in neighboring schools at present and their names were not announced.

Two candidates have applied for the commercial position. Included are Jerry Brown, who graduated from Tawas Area High School and graduated this year from Western Michigan University, along with Mrs. Dawnell Kennedy, a June graduate of Central Michigan University.

There has been only one applicant for the vocal music position.

Mrs. Steven Ezo of Tawas City, a former member of the school faculty, is to return to teaching

Shocking Treatment-

Iosco Streams Surveyed for Sea Lamprey Larvae

A host of Iosco invaders, having their own way over the past several decades, are being shocked out of bed for a head count that will lead to their eventual doom.

The "invaders" are petromyzon marinus—better known as sea lamprey—which moved into the Great Lakes in force in the 1930s, helping to wipe out the fishing industry and seriously damaged sport fishing.

Three crews from the United States Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, Department of Interior, are in Iosco County this week conducting a comprehensive survey for lamprey infestation on three streams.

Robert Morman, fishery biologist in charge of the stream survey, said Monday that this work was a followup on an original survey conducted in 1962-1963 to establish heavy stream infestation.

The three two-man crews are roaming the length of Silver Creek, Sims Creek and the Tawas River, plus all connecting streams and ditches, to determine approximate number of larval lampreys in stream beds. A preliminary report indicates that Silver Creek is a particularly favored spot for the invaders.

Morman said that these streams were scheduled to receive treatment of chemical lampricides—in this case, the selective toxicant TFM—sometime this summer or early fall.

During the present survey, crew members are using battery-operated shocking equipment to force the five to six-inch-long larval lamprey out of stream beds. Adult female lamprey, which invade choice trout streams during spawning season, lay approximately 61,500 eggs each and then die.

While less than one percent of these small eggs hatch, the larvae remain in the nest for about 20 days and then dig a burrow in the stream bottom that will be its home for about five years. Throughout their larval life, the young lampreys are blind and harmless.

After about five years, each larva develops large prominent eyes, a round mouth lined with horny teeth, a filelike tongue and migrates downstream to the lakes. It will feed there upon the blood, body fluids and dissolved flesh of fish, its sole food.

This jawless predator attaches its suckerlike mouth to almost any part of a fish. Sometimes several lampreys feed upon one fish at the same time. The victim thrashes about violently, but rarely shakes off the lamprey. Feeding stops when the host fish dies or the lamprey becomes gluttoned.

The lamprey has no known natural enemies other than man and the latter has been studying its habits for years in order to determine some method of control. Researchers have found that the most vulnerable periods in the lamprey's life are when it is in the stream as a larva or a young migrant and later when it enters the stream as an adult to spawn.

Efforts had been made to prevent adult lampreys from entering streams to spawn through installation of mechanical weirs. Researchers then developed toxicants to kill the young lamprey.

Morman said that when federal crews arrive here later this year, researchers would introduce lampricide into the streams using great skill and precision. Only the lamprey larvae are affected.

In the meantime, his crews are traveling hundreds of miles along three Iosco streams using portable electric shocking devices that drive buried lamprey larvae out of the bottom for capture and counting. A record is made of the abundance and distribution of the larvae, streams are mapped, water flow is measured, analyses run of the chemical properties of the water and a determination is made where the chemical should be introduced to obtain a complete kill.

Local residents will be watching the results of the survey and subsequent control with lampricides with great interest. The Michigan Department of Conservation is also watching as the lamprey of Lake Huron must be brought under control before planting of new game fish would be of any value.

There are 86 lamprey-producing streams that empty into Lake Huron and control was started on the upper reaches last year.

Once the lamprey has been brought under control, a decision has been reached, by mutual agreement between Michigan, Ontario and the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, to rehabilitate Lake Huron with the planting of selected splake, rather than lake trout. This strain has been developed in Ontario and selected for early maturity and deep swimming.

In a recent letter to John C. Elliott of East Tawas, Carl T. Johnson, chairman of the Michigan Conservation Commission, said that large scale plantings would start in 1970. It is expected that some measure of sea lamprey control will have been achieved by that time.

"We must and hope to extend our anadromous fish program as rapidly as we can, but we must proceed in some reasonable timetable," said Johnson. "Sea lamprey control is probably a necessary first step."

Tawas Area Schools Make Summer Plans

Seventeen percent of the students attending Tawas Area Schools were enrolled in some form of educational programs last summer, according to a report Monday night by John Alexander, acting elementary principal and federal programs coordinator.

Alexander, in discussing programs planned for this year, told the board of education that federal Title One money to be received this year would be approximately $2,406 less than that received in 1966.

"We can cut some corners and still live within our budget and have a workable program," said Alexander.

Summer school is to start one week after closing of the regular term and is to run for a period of seven weeks.

Courses to be offered will include mathematics and reading improvement. A program of physical education is to be included.

The federal coordinator said that music and handicraft offered last year had been eliminated from this year's program. Mathematics improvement has been added.

He said that last year's program was not as effective as desired for ninth and 10th graders. As a result, there was a high dropout rate. The 1967 program will deal with children starting as close to the first grade as possible.

While the above program is aimed primarily at children coming from low income families, the school is to continue its enrichment program in high school mathematics, as has been the custom for the past four or five summers.

John Breece, high school mathematics instructor, has indicated that approximately 22 students had suggested to him that they were interested in a mathematics next term.

The school is still seeking replacements for two elementary teachers, who are scheduled to retire. Miss Clara Bolen, elementary principal, said that elementary teachers are in very short supply. This, she said, was due to the rapidly expanding number of children in the lower grades.

Tawas Builder Reaches Agreement With Workers

An interim agreement with bricklayers, masons and plasterers, members of Union of America Local No. 7, Saginaw, and Davison and Son Builders, Incorporated, has been reached, according to an announcement from Edward Davison Sr.

Effective May 1, 1967, hourly rates are as follows: Bricklayers—journeymen, $5.72, and foreman, $6.22; cement masons—journeymen, $5.02, and foreman, $5.52.

On September 1, 1967, an increase of 15 cents per hour will go into effect.

Hourly rates of other trades are as follows in Iosco County: Carpenters, $3.25, and laborers, $3.50.

The agreement expires May 1, 1968.

Prescott Disappointed Over Reform Defeat

"I am disappointed by the defeat of the house fiscal reform package last Thursday night," said State Rep. George A. Prescott of Tawas City.

The vote was 48 for the package and 57 against. The total yes vote included 46 Republicans and two Democrats.

"I voted for this bill because I am opposed to any proposed cuts in state services. Where do we cut? Certainly not in the area of education," said Prescott.

The local legislator said his concern for education is further intensified by the fact that he has five sons and a daughter, some of them still in school.

"Nor can we cut in the area of the state police and public safety; and also not in the area of health and welfare services. I think it goes without saying that cuts in these areas would be disastrous."

He said that the vote was significant. Republicans had asked for deductions of $600 for individuals, while Democrats wanted $1,200. Negotiators agreed on $1,000.

"Democrats asked for and received Republican support to eliminate the one-half percent tax on nonresident individuals working in cities that have an income tax."

"Republicans asked for a five percent tax on corporations. The Democrats wanted six percent and Republicans agreed. The Democrats wanted only exemptions on homesteads. The Republicans wanted a 14 percent drop in the property tax. A 10 percent property tax relief was agreed upon."

"And finally there was a change in the amount and method of rebating money to local units of government. All of these amendments to the fiscal reform bill represent a compromise on the part of Republicans. We feel we went the limit to compromise and, yet after all this, the bill was still defeated."

Prescott believes that eventually, "we will find the true Democratic position on fiscal reform. Perhaps we already have. We have asked that the fiscal reform issue be sent back to the negotiating table."

As elected representatives of the people of Michigan, Prescott said, "We cannot hide our heads in the sand. We must find the answer to our fiscal problems to avoid the embarrassment of another 1959."

Huron-Manistee Host to 65 State Foresters

Sixty-five Lower Michigan chapter members of the Society of American Foresters attended a two-day meeting Friday and Saturday as guests of the Tawas Ranger District, Huron-Manistee National Forest.

A banquet was held Friday night at the Holland Hotel. William Irvine, wildlife biologist for Huron-Manistee, was speaker. He told of the management of the Kirtland Warbler.

Field trips were conducted Saturday morning and foresters discussed topics as applied to different zones in management of the forest, plus the process of coordinating uses.

Hosts for the business meeting Friday and field trip Saturday were Donald Rollins, deputy forest supervisor, Huron-Manistee

National Forest, and Loren Woerpel, Tawas District ranger.

Discussion during the business meeting included multiple use in forest management planning by Mr. Rollins.

The group, which has a membership of 280 professional foresters in the Lower Peninsula, is comprised of forestry employees and professional foresters from state universities, industry, state and federal governments.

Local Officer Helps Land Marine Force

Lt. Com. Andrew L. Bowman, United States Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd L. Bowman, East Tawas, helped to land a fully-equipped force of marines on the beaches of Camp Pendleton Marine Corps Base in Southern California during a simulated wartime amphibious training exercise.

Code-named "Alligator Hide," his ship, the attack cargo ship, USS Union, was part of 30 ships which put 10,000 marines ashore, using landing craft and assault helicopters.

The exercise dealt with the tactical situation of the fictitious country, "Mateo," being overrun by the nearby country of "Horno." Under treaty agreements, "Mateo" requested United States assistance to prevent further seizure of territory and to regain what was lost.

With this objective, the leather-necks went ashore, established their beachhead positions and then moved into the "hostile" areas, sweeping them clear of the enemy threat. Completing their mission, the forces moved back to the beaches and out to the transport ships standing offshore.

Marines going to combat units will get detailed training in the particular combat skill for which they are designated. Queen for a Day? No, Indeed, Mother is Queen Forever and a Day!

The patterns of mother have changed through the years and the first lady in our hearts has done a graceful switch from the rocking chair to the rocket era. But whether Mother was a pioneer woman driving a Conestoga wagon or today's mother driving a station wagon, she remains the heroine of the hearthside and our hearts.

Bears' Bats Boom in 7-6 Win Sunday

East Tawas' big bats were booming Sunday as the Bears took a 7-6 decision over Mio to open the Northeastern Michigan League play.

Three straight hits by the Bears in the fourth inning settled the issue as two runs scored. Mio scored one run in the bottom of the ninth but Grant Mousseau, winning pitcher, pinched off the rally by fanning the last two batters.

Duane Sanders started on the mound for East Tawas and a sore shoulder had some effect on his southpaw slants. He was nipped for six hits and five runs in four innings. Mousseau, who changed uniforms this year after Hale decided to miss action this season, breezed through four innings by striking out 10 batters.

With East Tawas holding a two-run lead in the ninth, Mio finally solved Mousseau's slants and two straight doubles accounted for a run. The righthander then walked a batter before getting the final two outs swinging.

East Tawas jumped into an early lead when Sanders hit a double over the left fielder's head. Mousseau was safe on an error. Bust singled to score Sanders. Two wild pitches by Wycott and Mousseau scored. Bud Johnson, another former Hale player, then belted a long drive into center field and he legged out an inside the park home run. Graek singled, took second base on a wild pitch and scored on a passed ball.

Mio bunched back in the second inning to score four runs on three hits and then tied the game in the top of the fourth inning on a single and a double.

Top hitter of the day was Sanders, who belted three singles. Blust had a single and a double. Hoy topped Mio with two doubles and a single.

Action this Sunday finds East Tawas at Barton City.

The Fiddlin' Sawyer

"Had I been able to receive some professional instruction in my youth, I may have been a concert violinist instead of a fiddlin' sawyer."

Speaking was Earl Irish, still active at 74 years of age as a saw fitter at Hale Wood Products.

Earl's fiddling days are nearly over—arthritis causes considerable pain in his shoulder and hands when he and his granddaughter get together for too infrequent musical sessions at his home at Hale—he on the fine German violin which he purchased in the 1920s and she on an accordion.

Ask any oldtimer in Northeastern Michigan rural areas about Irish and one would learn that he was considered one of the best fiddlers that ever played at dances in these parts.

Here in Iosco County, Irish played with a three-piece "combo" at Alabaster for a number of years, along with Mrs. Harry Bolen on the piano and George Shotwell on the drums. He and his wife played for three years at Skidway Lake in Ogemaw County and at countless other dance engagements.

A native of Prescott, Irish learned the sawmill business from his father, Edmund Irish, starting when he was only 16 years old.

"That first year, I lost my right thumb while working in the mill. I overcame that handicap but, as far as my violin lessons were concerned, I was more interested in sawmills than I was in studying music," he said.

Earl's first job was firing a Case steam traction engine and his love of steam power lasted nearly a lifetime. It was not until 1934 that he retired the old engine and replaced it with a gasoline tractor to furnish power for his mill and equipment.

Irish operated his portable mill in 10 Michigan counties over the years—Wayne, Washtenaw, Saginaw, Bay, Clare, Arenac, Ogemaw, Montmorency, Alcona and Iosco—besides operating threshing equipment in the Iosco-Ogemaw area for 32 seasons.

When he first started work with his father in the portable mill, they received $2.50 per thousand feet of lumber, much of it being hemlock, which was still quite plentiful in those days. After three years, they received $3 per thousand and, when he quit operating his mill in the 1920s, he was receiving $6 per thousand. The price today for custom sawing runs from $20 to $22 per thousand feet.

A mark of a good sawyer is his ability to fit his own saws, now an "art" which is gradually being lost. Irish works part-time today retensioning saws at Hale Wood Products. He files and gums 11 blades, ranging in size from 48-inch circulars used on the big mill down to 12-inchers used in the pallet manufacturing operation.

He has resided at Hale for the past 15 years and spent eight years as a sawyer in the mill of Hale Wood Products.

Irish recalls that his biggest job as a portable mill operator was at the Hill Ranch on M-65 at the Iosco-Ogemaw line.

He cut 154,000 feet of lumber in 18 days, without the use of an edger. He averaged 9,000 board feet a day and his crew consisted of a fireman, tail sawyer, sawdust wheeler and himself.

"He was a great admirer of Fritz Krisler," said his granddaughter, Emily White, 18, of Prescott, during their musical session last Wednesday. "He used to be a smooth player on the violin, but his arthritis bothers him today."

Despite the pain in his shoulder, it was evident that he still enjoys playing his violin—judging from the tone of his instrument, he definitely is not a sawing fiddler.

It pays to be a Credit Union Family

Goodbye, high auto loan rates. Hello, credit union!

Did you know that you may pay up to several hundred dollars in interest on a typical auto loan? It's a fact—and it's one reason why more and more people are turning to their credit union when they buy a new car.

You see, credit union rates are clear cut. Credit union rates didn't soar out of sight in last year's tight money market like a lot of others. There's a reason.

A credit union is in business to help its members. It is owned by its members. There's no point in charging yourself high interest rates. And that's why a credit union offers advantages you find nowhere else.

Go ahead. Buy that car you've set your heart on. And for low cost financing, see your credit union. You'll probably get the best deal in town.

For full details, contact the C.U. where you work—or the one in your parish or neighborhood—or write Michigan Credit Union League, 1600 North Michigan, Saginaw, Michigan 48602.

TODAY'S Meditation

The Upper Room

Read Luke 2:41-52

Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favour with God and man. (Luke 2:52)

It was a warm afternoon. As I ironed in the kitchen, my four lively sons' peaceful playing soon erupted into violent quarreling. The oldest boy raced into the hot kitchen crying, "The twins hit me!"

"But Jeffery," I comforted him, "the Bible tells us to 'turn the other cheek'."

"They didn't hit me on the cheek," he protested. I had to laugh as I recalled childhood memories of the battles I used to have with my own twin brother, John. I remembered how my mother used to tell us, when we quarreled, that we should try to grow like the youthful Jesus.

Laying my ironing aside, I called in my other boys, Bruce, Bradley and Jonathan. I said to them, "You may not understand these words I am going to read to you, but you will as you grow up." Then, I read the story of Jesus in the Temple—the only words we have about Him as a boy.

Now six years later, the boys seem to be discovering for themselves that there is no finer yardstick for a young man to measure his own growth by than these words of our text.

'Dust Or Destiny' Set for Showing at TC Baptist Church

Grunion fishing is a sport that requires no poles or nets. In an almost unbelievable manner, grunion come up on certain California beaches to lay their eggs and only a quick pair of hands is necessary.

Fish nesting on land, blindfolded bats flying an obstacle course, the world's greatest navigators and its finest chemical plants are the stars in the full color sermons from science picture film, "Dust Or Destiny."

Produced by Dr. Irwin Moon, director of the Moody Institute of Science, at Los Angeles, "Dust Or Destiny" is one of a series of 15 films that have won for the Moody Institute world-wide acclaim. The unique subject matter and the technical excellence of these films have created a demand by those responsible for programing in service clubs, educational institutions, churches and industrial organizations.

In "Dust Or Destiny," the audience learns about the built-in "radar" system that guides the bat in its midnight flights, the uncanny instincts of migrating birds, some mysteries of the human body, as well as the grunion's fantastic knowledge of tides. The film points to a divine intelligence behind the workings of the universe and shows the relationship between science and religion.

"Dust Or Destiny," in full color, will be shown at the First Baptist Church, Tawas City, this Sunday, 7:00 p. m. The church is located on the corner of Second Street and Fourth Avenue.

Upon call to order at 3:30 p. m., it was moved by Everett, supported by Belson, that the committee appointments be approved as read. Carried unanimously.

Mr. Marvin Davenport, county agricultural agent, addressed the board to request a meeting with the cooperative extension committee, and also to seek an increase in mileage allowance to ten (10) cents per mile.

In response to a query by Chairman Smith, Mr. Davenport discussed briefly the 14-county district economic development plan that was presented by Mr. Gos-troy of the MOEE at the March meeting, stating that it was his understanding that it would cost the county $200.00 to participate and that they could terminate their participation at any time. He indicated that he would pursue the program further for more facts and information to report to the board.

Mr. Henry Oates, Iosco County tax equalization director, addressed the board, giving a brief report and explanation of the 1967 footings report which was prepared by his department. He also suggested that the townships could effect a savings by combining their orders for tax statements and purchasing on a volume basis. He was requested by the board to obtain bids to see what savings could be made.

Undersheriff Putnam and Prosecutor Ernst addressed the board to urge the adoption by the county of the "minimum employment standards for law enforcement officers as established and adopted by the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council in accordance with Act No. 203," the purpose being to qualify the officers of the sheriff's department to participate in a training school program at Alpena. The program is 50 percent funded by the state out of a training fund that is supported by a percentage of all criminal fines. Referred to the judiciary committee for study.

Prosecutor Ernst addressed the board relative to Act 315 of the Public Acts of 1966, which provides for one-half of the probate judge's salary to be paid by the state and one-half by the county. Inasmuch as the state still has not provided funding for their half, they have recommended that the county pay this portion, to be reimbursed by the state when funding is provided. Mr. Ernst requested that a resolution to this effect be drafted and adopted. Referred to the finance committee for action.

Mr. Hosbach reported for the footing assessment rolls committee and advised that the figures shown on the report are state equalized for all units except Plainfield. He then recommended that it be made a special order of business for 9:30 a. m. on April 12, 1967.

Upon motion by Jocks, supported by Lixey and carried, the board recessed until 9:30 a. m. April 12, 1967.

Forest Chats

By LOREN WOERPEL
Ranger
Tawas Ranger District
Huron National Forest

We went to a happening last Wednesday night. It was a strange happening that happens every spring. A sort of love-in of the bird kingdom that has been going on annually long before man saw the need for such a display.

In the waning hours of twilight, we sat in our car where the East Branch crosses highway M-55. With me was a carload of foresters and kids expectantly waiting for the happening to start. It was not just a lark, though. It was serious business. This was our contribution to the United States Department of Interior, Bureau of Spot Fisheries and Wildlife, survey of woodcock sing-grounds in Northeastern United States. You may know this sporting little bird by the name, "Timberdoodle."

If you have ever hunted this game bird, as I have, you would have a great deal of respect for this little fellow. We were contributing our evening hours to this study and research because of this respect.

Mr. Woodcock is a unique bird. He migrates during the winter as ducks do and returns to our area again in the spring. His long narrow bill which looks half as long as he is, is specially designed by his creator to dig for earthworms, his regular diet. When he flushes under the nose of a dog, he darts through the trees like a swivel-hip halfback picking his way through the lions' defense.

This singing-ground business is a part of his courtship. This is his way of attracting the ladies. A hidden clock, which is triggered by the intensity of the dimming twilight, tells him when to start. At the precise time, he moves out to his selected singing field, which may be a small dusting spot in a grassy opening or field. Here, he makes a noise called "peenting." After he has peented for about 45 seconds, he takes to the air in a daring, spiraling aerial flight. For this part, he has a special flight song. When two minutes are up, he dives down to his special spot and starts all over.

Well, Wednesday at precisely 8:05 p. m., just as our little chart from the bureau said he would, Mr. Woodcock in the field next to the East Branch, started his courtship.

Our job was to count how many male birds we could hear peenting in a two-minute period at each of 10 listening posts. Each listening post is four-tenths of a mile apart along a road. As each courtship display cycle lasts two minutes, it is not possible to count the same bird twice.

This information is sent to the bureau, which compiles data from men like us all over the Northeast who have spent an evening with their ear to the wind these past few weeks. The results are compared with previous years' readings taken at the same locations and help biologists determine population trends of the bird.

So that is what the gray and white station wagon was doing out on highway M-55 and the Sand Lake Road when you saw it stop, disgorge a covey of foresters and kids, who froze intently with an ear to the wind for precisely two minutes, scrambled back into the car, drove precisely four-tenths of a mile down the road and started this display all over again. We were at a love-in and we enjoyed it.

Info. Center Expands Hours

The public information center at Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point nuclear electric generating station just north of Charlevoix started expanded summer hours May 6.

The information center is open seven days a week from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. each day, continuing on this schedule through October 30.

It is among Northern Michigan's outstanding tourist attractions. Since it was named at the time the Big Rock Point plant was under construction in 1971 it has attracted more than 400,000 visitors.

Charles T. Enlend information center coordinator said that tours of the plant, itself cannot be offered except by special arrangement with the plant superintendent.

However, the information center will receive as many individuals and groups as care to visit. The center features exhibits and displays on nuclear energy and on the Big Rock Point plant project. It has a small theatre where visitors hear a brief lecture on the project and see a film on nuclear power.

RESOLUTION

RE: Minimum employment standards for Iosco County law enforcement officers.

Pursuant to the provisions of Act 203, Public Acts of 1965, as amended, It is Hereby Resolved As Follows:

1. Minimum standards adopted. The minimum employment standards for law enforcement officers as established and adopted by the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council in accordance with Act No. 203, Public Acts of 1965, are hereby adopted as minimum employment standards for Iosco County law enforcement officers.

Signed: Hosbach, Higgins, Weible

Upon motion by Hosbach, supported by Higgins, the resolution was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Hosbach reported for the judiciary committee with regard to a letter received from the Bay City Times county reporter, seeking the reaction of the Iosco County Board of Supervisors to the 14-county economic development district plan. He advised that the committee was in the process of drafting a reply to the county reporter asking several pertinent questions, before attempting to draft a resolution recommending acceptance or rejection of the plan.

Mr. Hosbach addressed the board, suggesting that the Peoples State Bank would micro film some of the records in the probate judge's office and the clerk's office in order to relieve congestion. He advised that under an arrangement such as this, the county would be obliged to purchase only a reader-printer which would cost in the area of $1,350.00. Chairman Smith commented that this might be a good way to experiment with the process and referred it to the building and grounds committee, to meet with Mr. Hosbach.

Mr. McElheron moved to adjourn until 9:30 a. m. April 13, 1967. Supported by Campbell and carried.

Supervisor's

supervisor. The report indicated that a sum of $980.00 is owed to the revolving fund for the labor, and also $1,031.21 due the road commission for the installation of a tube in connection with the project.
Mr. Gerard stated that his township is prepared to pay the $1,031.21 as soon as they are billed by the road commission, but feels the drain should be properly completed before they are obligated to pay the $980.00.
Considerable discussion ensued involving the following issues and problems:
1. A warrant was issued directing the supervisor to spread $2, 104.29 to cover the cost. The assessment has not been spread.
2. The statute limits the time for spreading the assessment to two years after completion of the project.
3. Payment was effected to the contractor in April of 1964, which could be construed to indicate completion at that time, whereby the time limit would have expired in April 1966.
4. Mr. Stickney sent a letter to the contractor under date of November 25, 1964, indicating that the job was not completed and requesting completion within 20 days. This could be construed as an extension of time for completion insofar as the statute applies.
5. The clean-out job is still not complete as far as Sherman Township is concerned, and they do not feel they are obligated to repay the $980.00 to the revolving fund until it is completed. The contractor was paid for the job over his protest, Mr. Gerard stated.
Chairman Smith referred the matter back to the drains and ditches committee for further study, with instructions to confer with the prosecutor as to what bearing Mr. Stickney's November letter might have with regard to the two-year statute for spreading the assessment. He also advised that the committee is to work with Mr. Gerard in effecting satisfactory completion of the job.
Mr. Lixey presented the following resolution from the roads and bridges committee:
Honorable Board of Supervisors Gentlemen:
We, your roads and bridges committee, having met with the Iosco Road Commission have the following report to offer as a solution to the problem confronting the townships on the percentage participation that shall be paid by the townships on maintenance and the building of new roads.
If this meets with the approval of the board, we respectfully ask that this resolution be made a matter of record and adopted.
Also added to this report, the road commission will submit an appropriate cost of any project that the townships want done and will state approximate time projects will be started and will give progress report. The letter attached to this resolution explains how the participation of townships and road commission arrive at the 50 percent figure.

The following resolution from the judiciary committee was read by Mr. Hosbach:
Honorable Board of Supervisors Gentlemen:
Iosco County will soon be operating on a deficit balance. The legislature of our state has failed to appropriate moneys to pay counties for their share of the probate judges salaries and has failed to reimburse counties for Senior Citizens Tax exemptions.
We enlist your support to promptly pass required legislation to appropriate necessary funds to reimburse counties for probate judges salaries and senior citizen taxes.
Signed:
Hosbach
Higgins
Weible

It was moved by Hosbach, supported by Stephan, that the resolution be adopted and copies mailed to Governor Romney, Senator Richardson and Representative George A. Prescott. Carried unanimously.

Committees were ordered to their respective duties balance of the board to be at case subject to the call of the chair.
Upon call to order at 11:40 a. m., Mr. Little reported for the District No. 2 health committee on the meeting at West Branch of the District Health Unit No. 2 which was called for drawing up their budget. A proposal to combine with about 10 counties to the south was rejected, according to Mr. Little. He advised that the budget was increased slightly due to additional liability insurance to cover nurses traveling about and an increase in nurses salaries. Also, a retirement program was initiated for health department employees.
The drains and ditches committee report on the Elm Creek drain matter was postponed to the May meeting to allow Drain Commissioner Miller time to contact the contractor and arrange a meeting with Mr. Gerard and himself, to work out a solution to the problem.
The following resolution was presented by Mr. Little of the finance committee:
Honorable Board of Supervisors Gentlemen:
We, the finance committee, recommend the payment of $750.00, to Eastern Michigan Tourist Association, $650.00 to come from Old Orchard Park Fund, and $100.00 to come from the general fund.
Signed:
Campbell
McElheron
Kasischke
Chrvia
Lixey
Little
Upon motion by Little, supported by McElheron, the resolution was adopted on the following roll call: Ayes: Mead, Belson, Blust, Campbell, Everett, Gerard, Hosbach, Little, Lixey, McElheron, Hester, Kasischke, Mielock, Higgins, Smith, Stephan, Chrvia, Nays: None.
