

Douglas Evans Killed While Exploring Cave

Lt. Douglas A. Evans of East Tawas, who died while exploring a cave in the Lincoln National Forest on Labor Day, September 4, was buried Sunday afternoon, September 11.

Douglas Evans was born April 2, 1943, the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Evans, East Tawas. He graduated from Tawas Area High School in June 1961, was a member of the student council and Key Club and had earned his letters in football and track.

He was active in and a member of the Methodist Church and Boy Scouts of America, in which he had earned his "God and Country" award, along with his two younger brothers, Donald and Leigh, April 23, 1961.

He was also active in skiing, scuba diving and was life guard at the East Tawas State Park and American Red Cross swimming instructor for three summers.

Evans was graduated from the Michigan Technological University of Houghton with a bachelor of science degree in applied physics and received his United States Army commission as second lieutenant. While at college, he was active in the Wesley Foundation, was a member of the National Ski Patrol and became a licensed private pilot. In the last few years, he had added mountain climbing and cave exploring to his hobbies.

After six months with Union Carbide Company at Cleveland, Ohio, he reported for active duty on January 2 and had been stationed at White Sands Missile Range, New Mexico, since March where he served as physicist with Atmospheric Sciences Office, United States Army Electronics Research and Development Activity, Electronics Command.

His body was flown home Saturday to the Evans Funeral Home, escorted by Lt. Richard Breisch. Funeral services were conducted Sunday at the First Methodist Church, East Tawas, with the Rev. Donald C. Turbin officiating. Burial was in Greenwood Cemetery with full military honors.

Survivors include his parents; a sister, Mrs. Carolyn Abbott, New Haven, Connecticut; three brothers, Donald W., Leigh H. and Eugene R.; paternal grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Evans, East Tawas, and maternal grandfather, I. J. Turnbull of Detroit. Other relatives at tending the funeral were from Austin, Texas, and Detroit.

Army Friend Tells Details of Tragedy

(Lt. Richard Breisch, a companion of the late 2-Lt. Douglas A. Evans, gave a report of the Labor Day, September 4, accident, which resulted in Evans' death. The following article is compiled from conversations with Breisch and information from White Sands Missile Range.)

Evans and Breisch, with two others were exploring a cave known as "Vanishing River," 6 1/2 miles west of Carlsbad in southeastern New Mexico. The area can be reached only with difficulty because of its rugged terrain and precipitous cliffs. The opening of the cave is on the floor of a gorge which connects with Black River Canyon. At the point where the men descended from the rim into this canyon, Breisch estimated its depth to be between 1,000 and 1,500 feet.

Entrance of the cave was approximately eight by 12 feet and the hole dropped vertically 100 feet to a ledge. At one point from this ledge, was a second drop of another 30 feet. Breisch explained that at this second level they discovered a previously unknown third vertical drop which they estimated to be about 200 feet to the bottom. All four men had reached his lowest point and were returning to the surface when the accident occurred.

Breisch and one other were still at the second level when Evans and the fourth member of the party were at the first ledge.

Evans volunteered to go the last 100 feet first in order to haul up the gear as it was late afternoon. He evidently reached the cave opening on the canyon floor safely because when he got to the top he called down, "It's beginning to rain." A downpour would have been serious for the cavers, since it could cause a flash flood in the canyon. The "Vanishing River" cave was so situated that all the water in the canyon would drain into it.

Shortly after Evans' call about the rain, the men heard him falling the 100 feet from the top of the cave to the first level. Evans landed on his back about 10 feet away from his companion.

How or why Evans slipped is not known. He had untied the climbing ropes from his feet and chest, apparently to facilitate collecting the gear. Without the ropes, there was nothing to break his fall.

One of the two men on the second ledge was a Red Cross first aid instructor, who immediately came up and treated Evans for shock and administered first aid. He was conscious briefly and died 1 1/2 hours later in spite of artificial respiration and chest heart massage.

Breisch left the others very soon after the fall to go for help. The light rain had ceased but leaves and rocks were damp. The ascent out of the canyon would normally be one requiring ropes, but the rope Breisch had was too short for the series of ravines along the canyon floor, so he had to ascend the canyon wall. It took several hours to reach their Jeep by just about dark. A dead battery necessitated a seven-mile hike to the ranger station. Radio calls brought a rescue team including a doctor. The return was expertly guided during Monday night by the ranger, who knew the territory well. The very difficult descent into the canyon had to be delayed until daylight.

A stretcher was lowered into the cave and the body pulled up to the surface. However, it was impossible to carry the stretcher up the sides of the canyon. The army was unable to land a helicopter Tuesday and Wednesday because of the rough terrain, the rocky, heavily wooded floor of the canyon and the strong cross currents and air turbulence. By Thursday, September 7, a clearing for a small helicopter had been made three-fourths of a mile from the cave entrance. It took the rescue team of 12 men approximately six hours to cover this distance because of deep ravines and the ruggedness of the canyon floor. On Friday, a Chinook helicopter was brought from Oklahoma. This helicopter was able to hover over the cave area, lower cables and transport the stretcher to the smaller helicopter which air lifted the body to the White Sands Missile Base.

Tawas Area School Enrollment Up 57 Students Over Last Term

Tawas Area Schools showed an increase of 57 students at the end of the first week of the 1967-1968 term. Total enrollment last Friday was 1,760 as compared to 1,703 at the end of the first month of school last term.

Supt. Reynold Mick told the board of education Monday night that the increase appeared to have reversed a trend of the past couple of years when the school fell below the amount anticipated.

Elementary grade enrollment figures included: Kindergarten, 174 pupils as compared to 170 last year; first grade, 122 pupils as compared to 106 last year; second grade, 94 pupils as compared to 120; third grade, 113 pupils as compared to 110; fourth grade, 121 pupils as compared to 106; fifth grade, 122 pupils as compared to 102 on fourth Friday last year; sixth grade, 119 pupils as compared to 110.

Junior and senior high school enrollments included: Seventh grade, 156 pupils as compared to 142 last year; eighth grade, 148 pupils as compared to 160; ninth grade, 171 students as compared to 152; 10th grade, 140 students as compared to 157; 11th grade, 141 students as compared to 131; 12th grade, 129 students as compared to 127.

Mr. Mick said that it appeared as though new families in the area were accounting for increased enrollment in kindergarten, grades five and six, while an "out migration" accounted for decreases in grades two, three, 10 and 11.

Increased grade enrollment of 30 pupils results from two successive large kindergarten groups, while the high school increases reflects the higher number of grade pupils progressing to the high school.

Miss Clara Bolen, elementary principal, said that because of the bulge in fifth and sixth grades, four sections of about 30 students each had been formed in the two grades, rather than last year's three sections.

With enrollment in the second grade showing a decrease, one teacher was transferred to the fifth grade.

Miss Bolen said that 10 children had again been registered in special education and the school has prospect of having an enrollment of about 15 students in this department.

Billy R. Wilder, high school principal, said that the biggest problem in high school would be solved today with completion of the new social studies room. Two large rooms formerly occupied by the shop department are to be renovated into classrooms and the move is to be made Wednesday.

The new rooms will be used for United States Government, United States History and other social studies under the team-teaching plan recommended during the recent curriculum study.

Whittimore - Prescott Area's first Friday enrollment totaled 934 students, according to Supt. Ray Kesler. This was 65 more students than enrolled on the first Friday last year.

There are 413 students in the junior and senior high school building with the following grade totals: Seventh grade, 69; eighth grade, 81; ninth grade, 74; 10th grade, 70; 11th grade, 66; 12th grade, 83.

Whittimore Elementary Unit has 216 pupils, with 45 in kindergarten; 35, first grade; 34, second grade; 19, third grade; 31, fourth grade; 23, fifth grade, and 29 in the sixth grade.

Prescott Elementary Unit has 43 pupils in first grade; 54, first grade; 47, second grade; 40, third grade; 49, fourth grade; 37, fifth grade, and 35, sixth grade, for a total of 305.

Fourth Friday count in 1966 totaled 397 students in the high school and 377 students were enrolled at the end of the year.

Vocational Technical Center Goes to Committee for Implementation

Lay advisory committees from four Iosco school districts and possibly two Arenac County school districts will soon be organized to implement an area vocational technical training program.

"The study has been completed, we have the facts and figures and now it is time to determine what shall be done about implementing a program," said John Hellenberg, program coordinator for Iosco Intermediate School District.

Establishment of a center or centers to serve vocational training needs in this area has been under consideration for about a year. A joint study was made through cooperative efforts of the Bay-Arenac and Iosco Intermediate School Districts, but it was found that Iosco schools were in a peculiar situation because of travel time involved in transporting students to Bay City.

As a result, Iosco schools started their own independent study. Included were Whittimore-Pre-cott Area, Hale Area, Tawas Area and Oscoda Area. Arenac Eastern and Au Gres-Sims were invited to participate in the preliminaries.

Hellenberg said that the individual school districts would provide guidance necessary for the total county program in the intermediate district undertaking.

Such questions to be answered by the various committees would be proposed curriculum for the vocational technical center, where it should be located, how it would be operated and financed.

Hellenberg said the final plan adopted might not be one centrally located center, but one utilizing existing or added facilities at the cooperating schools.

"Out of every 10 students starting school, eight will graduate from high school, five will go on to college and two students will complete a college education," said Hellenberg.

"Are those eight students qualified to hold jobs," asked Hellenberg. "Because of rapidly changing times, today's high school graduates may have to be retrained as many as five times!"

The proposed vocational technical training program would attempt to train high school students to enter occupations upon graduation. Included would be such fields as industrial education, business education, health education, home economics and agriculture, depending upon the final curriculum adopted.

Hellenberg said the intermediate district advisory group, not professional school administrators, would be making the final decision as to the proposed program. Meetings are to be carried out until next July, when a proposal would be developed for submission for possible federal participation.

Hearings Open for Iosco Co. Land Owners

First of a series of hearings being held during September and the first week in October opened Tuesday at the Iosco County Building.

Owners have the opportunity to learn appraised land values as developed for their property by Gem Surveys, an independent appraisal firm from St. Clair hired by the board of supervisors.

In January, township supervisors and city assessors are to prepare Iosco's new assessment rolls, using figures at or near 50 percent of the Gem appraisals.

Schedule for the hearings is printed on another page of this newspaper. Last week, it was incorrectly reported that hearings for Baldwin, Tawas, Grant, Alabaster, Wilber Townships and the City of East Tawas would be held at the East Tawas Community Building. Meeting place for the above hearings is the Iosco County Building.

It should also be noted that hearings on Tawas City's appraisals were held two years ago and are not included in the schedules.

It is important that the property owner bring his tax statement to the hearing in order to facilitate locating of card files.

Police Investigate Purse Snatching by Flint Youths

Investigation continues this week into the theft of a purse from a 14-year-old Tawas City girl early Sunday morning.

Deputy Sheriff Jerry Kruse said that three Flint youths, 18 and 19 years of age, stopped their car to talk to the girl. When they drove away, a boy in the back seat of the car snatched the purse from the girl's hand.

Parents have signed a formal complaint against the boys and the sheriff's department is seeking a warrant for larceny from a person. One youth made a formal statement to the prosecutor and Kruse Monday.

Fair Offer for Land, Maintains ET Mayor

Last week, the East Tawas Council authorized its city attorney to investigate possible sale of 10.7 acres of land at the old fairgrounds to Tawas Industries, Incorporated. Sale price was reported at $1,000 an acre.

Since then, Elmer Werth, president of the company, had been under fire from a number of businessmen who felt that the property was worth more money. Legality of the sale was also questioned, he said.

Werth said the land had actually been appraised at $550 per acre. "We are not asking for free land, but were willing to pay a good price, as indicated by our offer," he said.

The industry president said he "did not plan to fight anyone" over the proposal. He said Tuesday morning that his firm was negotiating in other cities.

Mayor James Campbell of East Tawas said Tuesday night that the council had passed a resolution to sell the property to Tawas Industries, Incorporated, and that the city attorney had been directed to prepare a deed for the property.

Teachers-TA School Agree on Contract

Tawas Area Schools and Tawas Area Education Association, which represents the 69-member teaching faculty, reached agreement this week on a new contract for the 1967-1968 school year.

While opening of school in many areas of Michigan was still in doubt this week due to the lack of contracts with teachers, Tawas Area School opened at its regular time a week ago during final negotiations.

Teachers had assured the school board two weeks ago that there would be no strike here, regardless of any possible delay in settlement.

The salary schedule, as accepted by the board of education Monday night, calls for a starting salary of $6,000 for teachers with a bachelor degree. A teacher with 10 years experience would receive up to $8,653.

In addition, each teacher would receive paid health insurance of $9.42 per month, plus two paid business days each year.

Last year's salary schedule ranged from a base of $5,400 to a top of $7,788.

Harris Barkman Goes to Vendor Convention

Harris Barkman of Three C Vending Company, Incorporated, Oscoda, has been named an official delegate to the business leadership study conference of Automatic Vendors of America meeting with government and business leaders in El Salvador and Guatemala, Central America, September 14-24.

Mr. Barkman is among 35 couples selected from among the 1,500 member firms of AVA to participate in the conference whose purpose is to promote on a people-to-people basis better mutual international understanding among business executives in the community of American nations.

AVA and these Central American countries have two major common denominators in business, coffee and sugar, which represent the two foremost products of both El Salvador and Guatemala. The vending industry in the United States sells more than four-billion cups of coffee per year—approximately $390,000,000 in coffee sales, as well as more than $425,000,000 in sugar products.

TA Braves Go Against Bangor in '67 Opener

Bangor John Glen High School will furnish the opposition this Friday night for the Tawas Area Braves in the home football opener at Tawas Area High School Athletic Field.

The Braves will be meeting a team which defeated them, 27-13, in last year's opener. The Bobcats will be returning this year with a team comprising many veterans.

The Braves are still somewhat of a question mark as the season opens, although they seemed to perform well last Friday night in a scrimmage against a good Whittemore-Prescott Area squad.

Coach Steve Sventko will be working with his defensive backfield this week in an effort to stiffen the pass defense. Last year, Bangor scored three times in the air and once on the ground against Tawas in the opener.

Tawas' main strength should be in its defensive line with Howard

The Braves will have an inexperienced backfield, although a lot of attention has focused on the play of Dale Koepke, who is playing his first year as a senior. Because of squad dropouts, Koepke probably will be at a half-back slot or alternating with Dennis Krish at quarterback.

All other positions are still up for contention as the squad moves into its last few days of practice. Providing halftime entertainment will be the Tawas Area High School Marching Band.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

The Tawas Area Education Association and the Tawas Area Board of Education have completed a master contract agreement concerning the hours, wages and working conditions for the teachers of Tawas Area Schools.

This took many hours of work on the part of the negotiating teams of both the board and the association.

We would like to express our appreciation to the board of education for their fine spirit of cooperation, and for their understanding of the problems that we face, and to the voters of the Tawas Area School district for their vote of confidence in their schools and faculty.

Many improvements have been made in our schools in the past year, through cooperation between the board of education and the Tawas Area Education Association and the voting public.

Some of these major changes adopted for 1967-68 are:

1. An expanded and improved vocational department, including woodworking, metal shop, drafting and auto mechanics.
2. Inauguration of team teaching in the social science department, enabling the teachers to work with more students with greater efficiency and with improved curriculum.
3. Inauguration a program for reading improvement on the secondary level.
4. Expanded and enriched program in the English department.
5. Improvement of course content in the science and math departments.
6. Expanded the girls physical education program.
7. Set up an audio-visual department.
8. A full time curriculum coordinator to work closely with the principals and teachers, to evaluate and improve the curriculum throughout the school system.
9. Set up department heads to act as liaison persons between the curriculum coordinator and the teachers.
10. Inauguration a program of five classes for students in the high school so that they have a richer educational experience while in our schools.
11. Expanded course content in the commercial department.

We realize that we still have much work to do, and we pledge ourselves to continue working to attain the best possible education for the children of Tawas Area Schools.

The members of the Tawas Area

Completion of the new addition is expected to come in mid-October.

Law Officers Trained in Use of 'Drunk Driver' Test Equipment

Michigan State Police and representatives of other law enforcement agencies are being trained in the use of breath testing equipment in preparation for checking suspected drunk drivers under the state's implied consent law which becomes effective November 2.

Week long training sessions are under way at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center, East Lansing. State police officers will be trained in groups of about 20 each, with about 300 scheduled to receive the instruction. Schooling also includes procedures involved in taking such cases to court.

State police already have 25 breathalyzers, a breathechecking device, and plan to purchase a total of 65 which will provide one for each of the department's 59 posts plus several spares. Breath checks will be made at the posts.

Under Michigan's implied consent law, licensed drivers of motor vehicles must submit to a test of breath when suspected of driving while intoxicated or else be subject to an administrative hearing before the secretary of state's department to show cause why their license should not be suspended or revoked.

The equipment has been in use by departments throughout the country for a number of years and its reliability has been tested in court.

GI Bill Most Important in Past 14 Years

The new veterans GI Bill, called the Veterans Pension Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967, is the most important veterans legislation passed since the end of the Korean Conflict, R. M. Fitzgerald, manager of the Detroit regional office of the Veterans Administration said today.

The new bill provides many benefits for the Vietnam veterans and changes some benefits for the older veterans. Mr. Fitzgerald said. The new law becomes effective October 1. Increases in payments will be received November 1.

One of the most important provisions of the new law, Mr. Fitzgerald said, affects veterans who served in the armed forces since August 5, 1964. They will be eligible for benefits at full wartime rates and will also qualify for pensions at the same basis as the veterans of other wars. The new provisions include pensions for widows and children of the Vietnam Era and allows $250 for burial and funeral expenses.

Other important changes Mr. Fitzgerald pointed out apply to the veteran who served after January 31, 1955. Education allowances for those eligible for schooling will be increased from $100 to $130 a month for a single veteran and from $125 to $155 for a veteran with one dependent. Rates increase with additional dependents. The same provisions apply to veterans who want to obtain their high school diploma before entering another phase of education. Other education benefits provide for on-the-job, agriculture, and under certain circumstances, pilot training for a commercial pilot's

Eligible war orphans' educational benefits also have been liberalized.

Other provisions of the law apply to certain veterans from the Vietnam Era to the Spanish-American War Era. These include the extension of benefits of the terminal dates of the GI loan benefits for World War II veterans from July 25, 1967, to July 25, 1970, cost of living increases for veterans, widows and dependents now receiving pensions. Veterans entitled to pensions based on need for regular aid and attendant will be eligible for therapeutic or rehabilitative devices, medical equipment or supplies when medically indicated. They will also be furnished drugs and medicine.

Information about the new law as well as assistance in applying for benefits can be obtained at the Detroit regional office.

ASC Ballot Deadline is Sept. 18

Grant Bessey, Iosco ASC county committee chairman, reminded farmers today of an important part of the election process for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) community committees, especially in Iosco County where the ballots are returned by mail to the county office. The deadline for returning ballots in the community elections is September 18.

Mr. Bessey points out the change in the community boundaries for the 1968 elections. Communities are Plainfield, Wilber-AuSable-Oscoda, Reno-Burleigh, Grant-Sherman-Alabaster and Tawas-Baldwin.

Two envelopes were mailed with the ballots to all eligible voters of record in the county office. One envelope is plain and the other has a statement printed on the back which the farmer needs to sign.

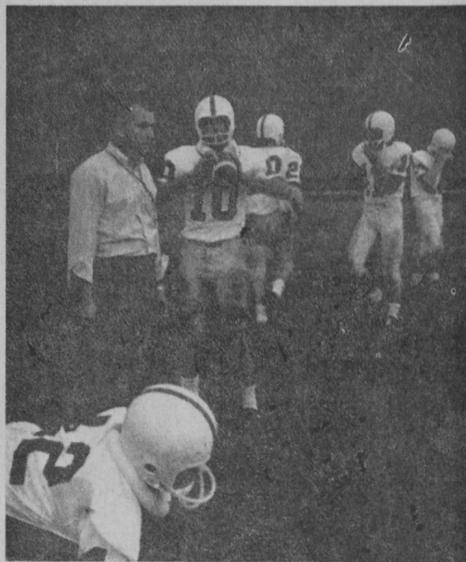

The ballot should be marked for not more than five and sealed inside the plain envelope; growers are cautioned not to enclose any other material. The plain envelope should then be put inside the envelope with the statement on the back. This statement is a certification that the ballot was marked by the farmer personally without undue influence by any person. The envelope should then be mailed or delivered to the Iosco ASC county office.

"Be sure to sign this statement on the back of the outside envelope," Mr. Bessey urges. "If it is not signed, the ballot will not be considered a vote."

Public Hearing Slated on Gill Net Proposal

A public hearing has been scheduled for September 25, 8:00 p. m., at the Wenonah Hotel, Bay City, to hear discussions on the Michigan Department of conservation proposal to ban gill nets in Lakes Superior and Michigan.

State Sen. Robert Richardson, in a letter September 5, said the issue would eventually extend to Lake Huron and the 35th District shoreline and he had requested a hearing in this area.

Richardson said that hearings already held showed that about 600 persons are active commercial fishermen in Michigan and 2,500 are involved in related jobs.

"Certainly, adequate economic protection will have to be provided for these people before use of gill nets can be prohibited," said the senator.

The conservation department has planted steelhead trout, Chinook and coho salmon in the Great Lakes to feed upon the nuisance alewives, which have been piling along Great Lakes shorelines and, also, to create more sports fishing.

"Some of these trout and salmon have been destroyed by becoming entangled in gill nets and, although commercial fishermen are not supposed to market them, the trout and salmon are already dead and cannot be saved by throwing them back.

"I understand that gill nets are not the only means of commercial fishing, although apparently preferred from a cost and efficiency standpoint," said Richardson.

He said he was continuing his close interest in the matter and plans to attend the Bay City hearing.

How to save your wife and over $140.00 with a new Gas dryer.

If your wife is drying clothes on a line, she's working for less than 2¢ a load. That's all it costs to do it in a Gas dryer. And that's the thirteenth, easiest way in the world. It's 1/5 the cost of the next best way—with electricity. So when you consider the number of loads dried by an average family, they could save over $28.00 a year with Gas. In 5 years that comes to $140—the purchase price of a new Gas dryer. And since installation is free, you can save right from the start. No wonder we say Gas makes the big difference . . . costs less, too. See the latest models at dealer or Gas Company showrooms. 7 out of 10 families now using dryers have Gas dryers. Care to make it 8?

Isn't it time you bought her a new Gas dryer?

Choose A Head

A cabbage head is the crunchy, flavorful vegetable with an interesting legend. An ancient custom was to use cabbage as a medicine for everything from bruises and warts to swollen glands and laryngitis. Of course, we know it today as a fair source of that infection-resisting Vitamin C.

If you have a cabbage head left over after you have made soup, stuffed leaves with meat, served scalloped, creamed or with butter, as a salad or slaw, maybe you would like to make some cabbage relish. Mix together these shredded vegetables: Two quarts cabbage, two green peppers, one red pepper and four medium onions. Put in crock or glass container.

Pour this dressing over the vegetables: One pint vinegar, 2½ cups sugar, one teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoon mustard seed, one-half teaspoon turmeric and one teaspoon celery seed. Bring to a boil and pour, hot, over the cabbage mixture. Let stand at least 12 hours. It may be kept indefinitely.

Storage All Through the House

Now that school has started, summer visitors have left your beds empty and you are getting your household schedule back to some semblance of order, plan a bit more time to decide where each member of the family can store all his personal belongings and you can store all the household items.

Order and neatness reduce stress. The minutes that multiply into hours when someone is hunting for an article cause frustration and tension. Uncluttered surroundings permit smooth, quick completion of household chores and a calm atmosphere when the work is completed. Order at home helps one leave for work with a brighter outlook. In the younger child, an extra sense of security is developed when there is a special place for his possessions. If his things can be put away safely, the youngster more quickly learns respect for the property of others. Housekeeping and homemaking will be pleasure, satisfying and not too difficult if these storage principles are used:

1. Store near place of first or last use. Are bath towels, soap, tissue and toilet accessories in or near the bathroom? Is the outer wrap closet near the entrance where family members enter the home? Are cleaning supplies stored near the center of the house so easy to get and use anywhere?

2. Store for ease in seeing, reaching and using. How many items must you move before you get the vacuum cleaner out? Are drawers too deep and shelves too far apart?

3. Store together those items used together. Do you have to go from room to room to get paper, pencil, stamps, receipts and records? Are the cleaner attachments with or near the vacuum?

4. Store seldom used and seasonal items to maintain good conditions. Are the holiday decorations, flower containers and special pans and molds taking up precious easy-to-use storage places? Do you fight the garden tools all winter? Is the picnic basket stored all winter in precious storage space?

Different families require different storage. Where are you storing games, tennis rackets, musical instruments and music, hobby collections, sewing equipment, flower pots and garden equipment?

GET THE EDGE on the Joneses with this "edging" running right down the middle where it can't be missed. You'll have an original fashion that will never meet itself coming or going. The panel is 3 inches wide, and would look lovely down the front of a sleeveless summer dress. Run the panel up and down or around the bottom. You can even try it on sports clothes, around the bottom of an overblouse and just above the belt on bell bottom trousers. It is crocheted in a cotton crochet. Free instructions are available by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Needlework Editor of this newspaper along with your request for Leaflet PC 2977.

A fire prevention lesson for everyone!

TAKING PART in the sensational fishing for coho salmon off Frankfort in Lake Michigan were a number of Isosco fishermen. Bruce Hoffman, 13, Whittemore, caught this 16-pound dandy Monday. Fishing with his father, Dennis Hoffman, and uncle, William Dorsey, it took about one-half hour for Bruce to land the fish. His father also was successful in landing one, but Bruce's fish was the largest.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Mich. Children's Aid Week is Proclaimed

Gov. George Romney has proclaimed the week of September 10-16 as Michigan Children's Aid Society Week.

The proclamation reads:

"The strength of our families and the welfare of our children is America's and Michigan's greatest resources. The weakening or disintegration of the family unit and the neglect of the welfare of children pose one of the gravest threats to our country. The Michigan Children's Aid Society has demonstrated for 76 years that it has both the dedication and the capacity to provide vitally needed services to help reduce the tragic consequences that are often the result of the broken family, the illegitimate birth and the neglected child.

"Guided by the creed, 'that every child deserves a home,' the society has helped to bring happiness into many Michigan homes. Dependent and neglected children, regardless of race, color or creed have been started toward a happy and wholesome life, that otherwise might not have been possible, through the dedicated work of the society.

"Staff members in 16 offices throughout Michigan provide a variety of services so that less fortunate youngsters will not be deprived of the loving care, attention and companionship of a mother and father and the warmth and security of a home of their own. Last year, a record total of 769 children were placed for adoption, casework service was extended to 1,978 unmarried mothers and their families. A total number of 2,321 children were provided care. In addition, over 500 foster homes were studied, licensed and in use for children during the year.

"Therefore, I, George Romney, governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby proclaim the week of September 10-16 as Michigan Children's Aid Society Week in recognition of the many meaningful contributions the society has made in helping advance the welfare of families and children of the state."

The Northeastern Michigan Branch of the Michigan Children's Aid Society is located at 1044 US-23 North, Alpena, phone 354-3886.

Among those attending the movie, "Gone With the Wind," Sunday at the Family Theatre were Beverly Freel, Dorothy Manning, Lee Roush, Donald Schuster and George Freel, all of National City.

Apparently voters in certain portions of Isosco County are short of tires and were impressed with Gerald L. K. Smith's "Tires for Everybody" campaign for United States senator. Eight county precincts gave him majorities, including Plainfield, Reno, Sherman, Grant, Wilber, Burleigh and Tawas Township plus the Second Ward of Tawas City. Homer Ferguson was the leading candidate with 508 votes in the primary election.

35 Years Ago—

September 16, 1932—The largest number of votes since the primary was adopted was cast at Tuesday's election in Isosco. Nearly 2,700 people indicated their interest in county and state affairs by going to the polls.

Four car loads of Hemlock Road neighbors spent two days at the Gates Ranch last week in the berry woods and brought home a good bunch of berries.

There were 148 votes cast in Sherman Township Tuesday, among which were but two Democratic votes. This ought to be of some encouragement to the Republicans next November.

Arnold Bronson had his arm and hand seriously burned Monday when a blow torch exploded while he was working at the Leslie Garage, Whittemore.

Hale A. School Has Full Teacher Staff, Improved Curriculum

What a difference a year makes. Twelve months ago, Hale Area School was faced with a teacher shortage and was forced to adopt an eight-period day in order to make full utilization of the existing faculty.

At the start of school last week, Hale Area had five additional teachers over its 1966-1967 staff. This was resulted in reduced class sizes and an improved curriculum. Supt. Paul Southerland said Wednesday that the school now has an intergraded English program in grades seven through 12. Two teachers are coordinating the programs of all grades, which includes written, oral, reading and grammar.

A conservation class has been added to the course of study this year and, because of the interest shown, he believes such classes should provide an important contribution to the state's conservation program.

Instruction in United States government has been expanded to a full year, rather than one semester. Southerland said that instruction this year would stress the local level of government, followed by state and federal. In prior years, particular emphasis was placed at the federal level. Shop and home economics has been added for seventh and eighth graders, as well as new science books for fifth and seventh grades, world history and world geography. A fifth year course in mathematics has been added in high school.

Southerland said that reduction of class size in the elementary grades was one of the most important aspects of the new program. Only one teacher aide is required this year in the elementary grades.

The school's band and music program has been reinstated this year, as well as home economics. Instructors were not available last year.

The school has gone back to its former schedule of five 70-minute periods each day. By means of a "floating schedule," a student may have a classload of five subjects, plus one study hall. The schedule allows for an open period the last hour on Friday afternoon for class meetings or special events, in order that classroom time is not disturbed during the week.

Hale Area School has joined Pentaco, a film cooperative operating among various Northeastern Michigan Schools. Operating from its center at Houghton Lake, schools share the cost of purchasing instructional films according to size of enrollment.

Southerland said that schools are helping each other by keeping film libraries up to date by this method. Some of the other schools involved include Gladwin, West Branch, Roscommon, Whittemore-Prescott Area and Houghton Lake.
