Final pickup is to be made Friday for anything missed the two previous days. All home-owners are urged to cooperate in this annual program.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Tawas Area 'Catching' Coho Fever

Half Million Fry Set for Planting Today

April 24 (today) is the day when coho lunacy hits the Tawas area. With the Tawas River closed to all fishing effective today at 12 o'clock noon, crews from the Michigan Department of Conservation will plant the first four truckloads of young coho salmon (smolt) in Cold Creek.

This fall, some of the fish being planted today ranging from four to six inches will return as three to five-pound "jacks." The big excitement will come next year when the mature fish return to the Tawas River weighing 20 pounds and more.

The coho season opened in Lakes Michigan and Superior on April 6 and frenzied fishermen stormed across towns along their shores in search of a new world record silver salmon (coho). A far from normal situation is guaranteed.

Never before has there been anything approaching the fantastic coho fishing that took place last fall in Lake Michigan off the mouths of the Manistee and Platte Rivers, on the western shore of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

During the long Labor Day weekend, some 19,000 anglers took 64,000 pounds of coho salmon in the Manistee area alone. A fisherman with a 20-pounder could not even get his picture in the Detroit papers anymore, because 20-pound salmon were no longer news—they were far too common.

More than 150,000 anglers fished in Michigan for coho last summer, spending at least two million dollars, quite an effect on Michigan's economy. Fishermen swarmed in to the towns of Manistee, Frankfort and Honor—motel, hotels, restaurants, gas stations and boat liveries all did a record business. It was impossible to get a room on week-ends and coho lures were scarce as hen's teeth in the local tackle shops.

Gas stations that normally pumped 800 gallons a day on week-ends were pumping around 4,000 gallons. One outboard motor dealer sold more motors in two weeks than he had sold in two years, air-lifting them from the factory. Volume increases as high as 400 percent were reported by grocery stores in the area.

Whether this fantastic economic picture will remain until the fall of 1969, when the cohos return to Tawas River, is yet to be seen. The novelty of such fishing may be less pronounced in two years, but it still should prove spectacular.

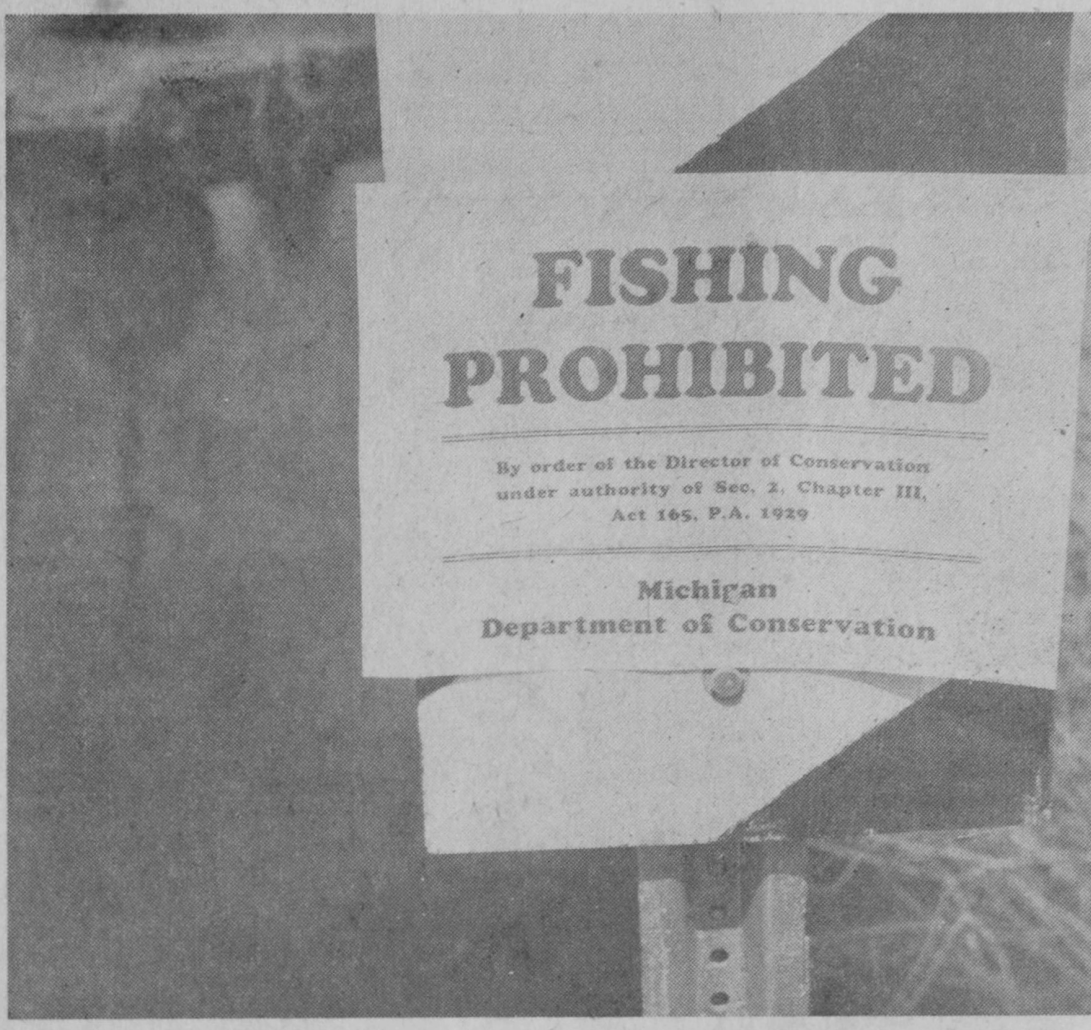

Coho lunacy in Michigan all started back in April 1966, when the Michigan Conservation Department planted four to six-inch fingerling coho salmon in the Big Manistee and Platte Rivers and Bear Creek. That fall, the first two to three-pound jacks (immature fish) made a false spawning run in the rivers. But, in August and September 1967, really big, mature salmon returned to the rivers on their spawning run—they had grown from fingerlings to 20-pounders in only 16 months.

Dozens of additional streams that feed into Lakes Michigan, Superior and Huron are scheduled to be stocked with salmon, not only in Michigan but also in Indiana and Wisconsin. Biologists live-trapped salmon in the fall of 1967 for re-planting in other Michigan streams, including the East Branch of the AuGres River.

Only last week, the first planting of coho smolt took place in the AuSable River below Foote Dam.

It is believed that alewives will make up the largest portion of diet for Michigan's cohos. As abundant as the food supply is, a new world record could come out of Lake Michigan during 1968. Sterling Deehr of Manistee took a 21-pounder last year, about one-half mile offshore and one-half mile south of the pier at Manistee—the largest reported to date.

There is no doubt about it, Lake Michigan holds some real giants and the same will soon hold true for Lake Huron.

SIGNS were posted along the Tawas River last week announcing that it would be off limits to all fishing effective today (Wednesday) noon. While a number of the signs have been torn down, residents and visitors are reminded that legal requirements have been met and that it is unlawful to fish in the river until the ban is removed. The Michigan Department of Conservation is to start planting one-half million coho salmon in Cold Creek today.—Herald Photo.

Pick Tawas A. for Proposed Vo. Tech. Site

Tawas area has definitely been designated by the department of public instruction as the site for an area vocational technical school, should other schools of Iosco Intermediate School District agree to cooperate in the program.

Long studied by Bay-Arenac and Iosco districts, the proposed vocational technical center would provide instruction to the upper two grades in seven educational areas, including home making, shop and commercial. A center would also be established to serve the Bay-Arenac area.

Supt. Reynold Mick told board of education members Monday night that 305 students from the four county schools comprising Iosco Intermediate District had indicated interest in vocational technical training. Arenac Eastern and AuGres-Sims have also expressed interest in the school.

Because of the lateness of final approval from Lansing on the site, no action would be taken this year on financing the one million dollar plant and equipment.

Depending upon discussion at other schools during the next two weeks—Oscoda Area, Hale Area and Whittemore-Prescott Area—the project could go before voters of the district next year.

Financing such a program would require a voted levy of 2½ mills, of which one-half mill would go toward financing cost of a building over a 15-year period and two mills would be for operation.

Mick said that the set up as studied over the past two years would require 12 instructors, two secretaries and custodial help.

School to Ask Voted Millage

With all of its voted millage expiring this year, coupled with increased operational costs and a reduction in state aid, Tawas Area School will ask voters to approve operational millage at the annual school election June 10. According to a timetable presented by Supt. Reynold Mick Monday night, board of education members are to arrive at a decision on the amount of millage to be voted upon by the May 13 meeting.

That additional millage would be necessary to carry on its educational program has been a foregone conclusion of board members for several months. It was emphasized, however, that the total amount of millage levied for school purposes would not exceed and probably would be slightly less than total millage levied in 1967-1968.

Expiring this year will be 4½ mills of additional taxes approved by voters. Included will be two mills for a pay-as-you-go program to finance construction of a shop and art addition, plus 2½ mills of operation.

Because of the over-all increase in county valuation, indications are that schools could receive 10 mills this year from the Iosco Allocation Board, rather than the 8½ mills allocated last year.

By utilizing $50,000 remaining in its treasury, built up over the years by the legal transfer of state aid funds, it would appear that three additional mills would be required to meet the school's budget this year.

Last year, Tawas Area School had total expenditures of $875,065. This was financed by $321,645 in local taxes, $371,346 in state aid and $109,861 from its surplus fund built up over the years.

Last week, the board presented a total budget of $977,462 for 1968-1969 operation to the allocation board. With state aid this year of $221,190, a reduction of $50,160 over the previous year, a total of $283,122 would be required in local taxes, plus the anticipated balance of $50,000 in surplus funds.

Debt retirement this year would be reduced from slightly over 1½ mills (1.569) to 1.1 mills. The loss in state aid this year is the equivalent of 1¼ mills.

"The only way that expenditures can be cut is by cuts in services to children and thereby short-change a child during his only chance for education," said Mick. "Fixed charges will remain constant, or increase, regardless of austerity programs."

The budget suggested for this year provides for application of the community school idea, in cooperation of the Mott Foundation Program. A man will be included to coordinate the adult education program and this will encourage greater use of school facilities. The Mott Foundation will partially reimburse this program.

Last year, the school program was enriched by addition of many subjects to the curriculum. Some of these are:

Art for more students, shop for junior high boys, home economics for junior high girls, foreign language for junior high students, office machines course for high school students, added second year typing for high school.

Additional auto mechanics courses, mechanical drawing course, course in machine tools, increased audio-visual education facilities and a person to take care of these facilities, teacher aide so that students may have more opportunity for written English and have this corrected and still leave the teacher available to handle more individual problems.

Additional physical education and health education classes in the high school, extended use of school facilities for students on Saturdays for physical education, five classes for all students, team teaching for social studies, continuation of

Welding Tank Pops; Tawas A. Shop Damaged

A freak explosion in Tawas Area School's new shop building sometime early last Friday morning added to the many problems encountered this term in the school's expanded vocational training program.

An unused acetylene tank exploded and the resulting fire, fed by pure oxygen from a nearby tank which blew its softplug, left the wood shop and main shop area completely covered with carbon.

Custodians spent the week-end cleaning the floor, but it no doubt will be necessary to completely wash interior walls of the shop and repaint them. As a result, classwork has again been curtailed.

This only adds to the trouble experienced with the school's newly expanded vocational training program. Classes were unable to use facilities until just before Christmas, due to construction lag.

A request has been made to the fire marshal's division of the Michigan State Police to make an immediate inspection in order to determine the cause of the explosion. Board of education members, with experience in welding, along with administrators, said Monday night that such an explosion was a complete mystery to them—unheard of before because the tanks had been delivered recently and, with a supply on hand, had not been used as yet.

Joseph Gracik, building custodian, entered the building around 7:00 a. m. Friday and found corridors in the shop and art wing covered with soot. Upon investigation, he found one tank still burning and he immediately notified the superintendent.

The fire caused considerable damage to electrical wiring in the building. Insurance adjusters were to inspect damage today (Wednesday).

Saturday AM Office Hours Set by Board

As a parting shot in its long April session, Iosco Board of Supervisors adopted a resolution calling for three county offices to remain open Saturday mornings during the months of May through September.

Officers effected would include county clerk, county treasurer and register of deeds. Persons working on Saturday would have a like number of hours off during the week.

Also recommended and accepted by the board was a new ruling that all fees collected by the county offices be turned into the county treasurer for deposit, thus eliminating "splitting" of fees between the county and officers. This would become effective January 1, 1969.

In addition to raising salaries of county officers from $6,500 to $7,200, department heads and other employees were given a one step salary increase effective January 1. Starting salaries are to be $3,025 for clerks, $3,450 for deputies. A ceiling on salaries of employees with 12 years of service was placed at $4,400 for clerks and $4,625 for deputies.

The Saturday schedule has met with disfavor from county officers and the subject is expected to be one of the principal topics at the May session of the board of supervisors.

Bert Stoll Member of Detroit Press Club

Bert Stoll of East Tawas, presently recuperating from his recent illness, was notified April 16 that he had received a special life membership in the Detroit Press Club.

Stoll said he had applied for a nonresident membership in the club. Because of the organization's bylaws, the application had to be refused. However, Stoddard White, membership chairman, said that a two-thirds vote by the membership granted a special life membership to the East Tawas outdoor columnist.

Northern Trails columns by Stoll are now appearing in the Alpena News and Midland Daily News. When the Detroit Free Press resumes publication, Stoll's columns will again appear in that newspaper.

Stoll has been an active member of the Michigan Outdoor Writers Press Club and he is to be congrat-

TERRY KINDELL

Grant Youth Burned When Gas Exploded

A 16-year-old Tawas Area High School sophomore is at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, with third degree burns over most of his body.

Terry Kindell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kindell of National City, was burned last Thursday when a stove he was lighting at a boy scout camp on the Rifle River exploded. He had been working at the camp three days when the accident occurred.

Mills Township Fire Chief Murray DeGuvera told West Branch state police that Kindell apparently left his bunk early in the morning and went to the next cabin to use a three-burner gas plate. Gas apparently had leaked from the burners, and when the youth struck a match, the stove exploded.

The blast burned most of Kindell's body except his feet and lower legs. The roof of the cabin was lifted out of position by the explosion.

The boy was first taken to Tol-free Hospital, West Branch, and then transferred to University Hospital.

This was the second accident to strike the Kindell family during the week. Early last Tuesday morning, Gerry Kindell, 18, brother of Terry, was injured in an automobile accident west of Tawas City.

Two Vacancies to be Filled at School Election

Candidates for Tawas Area Board of Education have until May 10 to present nomination petitions for the annual school election June 10.

Two three-year vacancies exist on the board of education. Term of Mrs. Helen Payea expires this year along with that of Earl B. Davis, who was named to fill the unexpired vacancy of Clyde Soper. Mrs. Payea presented her nominating petitions Monday night.

Those desiring to be a candidate in the election may obtain nominating petitions from the superintendent's office, East Tawas Elementary Building.

Clean House Seldom Burns is Reminder

A clean house seldom burns. That is a timely clean-up reminder for Tawas City's clean-up days starting today (Wednesday). Fire feeds on trash and rubbish. If your attic is a resting place for broken furniture and old mattresses, get rid of them. If your basement is a collection of paper, shavings, scrap, old paint cans and oily rags, get rid of them. If your closets are storing cast-off clothing, get them out.

TODAY'S Meditation

from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

Read Philippians 2:5-13

For our sake he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God. (II Corinthians 5:21, RSV)

A man I know went to visit a prosperous relative in the city. This relative, though not an extravagant person, always appeared well dressed.

On Sunday morning just before leaving the house to attend church, the host noticed the shabby topcoat his guest was wearing. He laid aside the much better coat he had intended to wear and put on an old one similar to that of the guest. As they sat together in the church, visible differences in the financial status of the two men were not evident.

Christ, the Son of God, with all the riches of heaven at His command, came to earth and for a time was clothed in the flesh of mankind. "For our sake, God made him one with the sinfulness of men, so that in him we might be made one with the goodness of God himself."

PRAYER

Dear Lord and Father, we thank Thee for the coming of Christ, Thy Son, whom Thou didst clothe in a body of flesh that He might walk with us and teach us Thy way. Forgive us our sins and guide us in becoming more like the Master. In His name we pray. Amen.

SPEAKS

"Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: We are not of the night, nor of darkness."

This verse from First Thessalonians is part of the responsive reading from the lesson-sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches Sunday. The subject is "Probation After Death."

Among passages included from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is the following: "The divine demand, 'Be ye therefore perfect,' is scientific, and the human footsteps leading to perfection are indispensable. Individuals are consistent, who, watching and praying, can 'run, and not be weary; . . . walk, and not faint,' who gain good rapidly and hold their position, or attain slowly and yield not to discouragement. God requires perfection, but not until the battle between Spirit and flesh is fought and the victory won."

KIT CARSON

Carson Enters Primary for House Post

Kit Carson of Standish announced today that he would enter the Republican primary, seeking nomination as the party's candidate for the house of representatives in the 102nd District. The district includes Arenac, Iosco and Ogemaw Counties and a portion of Bay County.

Head of the mathematics department and head basketball coach at Standish-Sterling Central High School for the past two years, Carson announced three weeks ago he was resigning at the end of the current school year. "I did not feel it would be fair to sign a contract to teach next year knowing I would be a candidate for the legislature," he said.

Carson, 29, has been teaching for seven years, the last five as a member of the SS Central staff. He was away from the school for one year while taking special work in mathematics at San Diego State College, California, on a National Science Foundation appointment.

In addition to his teaching and coaching duties, Carson has been president of the Teachers' Club, active in other school activities and in local and district politics. He is currently alternate delegate to the State Republican Convention from Arenac County.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed serving as a teacher and coach at Central," said Carson, "and through my coaching, have become well acquainted with people throughout this district. I have been most impressed with the character of the young people and their elders who live in this area. That is why I returned to Standish-Sterling and purchased a home following my year at school in California.

"One of the greatest contributions a person can make is to serve his home area in the legislature. I feel my experience as a teacher and coach coupled with a family background in a small town, privately-owned business makes me particularly well qualified to serve this area and serve it well. If elected, I will spend 100 percent of my time representing this district as a legislator."

Carson is married and has two children.

Meeting

Tawas City Baseball Club will hold its organizational meeting and practice Friday evening, 6 o'clock, at the baseball field, announces Matthew Hoag.

NEM Baseball League Has Growing Pains

Northeastern Michigan Baseball League still has its growing pains. At a meeting held at Standish Thursday, Frankenmuth's St. Paul Club was added to the 18 teams of last year's circuit. This team was placed in the southern division of the league and Mt. Forest, last year in the southern, was switched to the central where seven teams are now placed.

The new switch caused a change in the opening date of the schedule. The northern and southern divisions are to open May 5 with the central group action starting April 28. All divisions except the central will close the schedule August 11. The central division will catch up for a week later closing dates by placing double headers.

The northern section will be composed of Roscommon, Mikado, Mio, East Tawas, Barton City (last year's champion) and Tawas City. Central division teams will be Worth, Pinconning, Mt. Forest, Prescott, Au Gres, Melita and Meredith. The southern group will be composed of Frankenlust, Standish, Bentley, Crump, Pine River and Auburn.

Opening day schedules in the northern division May 5 include: Roscommon at Mikado, Mio at East Tawas and Barton City at Tawas City.

Piny Scored in Ninth Inning to Drop Braves

Tawas Area Braves lost to Pinconning Spartans Friday night, 6-5, in nine innings. Howard Rollin cracked two homers for the Braves.

Piny jumped off to a one run lead in the first inning, but Tawas bounced back in the third inning when Rollin slammed a three-run homer.

The Spartans tied the game in the bottom of the third on two hits, an error and a passed ball. The Braves again came from behind in the seventh inning when Rollin connected for a two-run homer. This lead was erased in the bottom of the seventh when a walk, double, single and an infield out accounted for two runs.

Piny broke the tie in the ninth inning when Steve Crisenberry loaded the bases with walks and an outfield fly scored the winning run. Koepke started for Tawas and pitched eight innings.

Tawas met Alpena Tuesday and will travel to Standish-Sterling Friday.

School Interviewing Candidates for 10 Teaching Vacancies

Administrators of Tawas Area Schools are now interviewing applicants to fill 10 teaching vacancies expected next fall.

High school vacancies include art, English, girls physical education, vocal music, science and basketball coach. Elementary vacancies include three second grade positions and one special education teacher.

Billy R. Wilder, high school principal, said that numerous applicants were now being interviewed and he was visiting the various colleges. Miss Clara Bolen, elementary supervisor, said there was still an extreme shortage of lower elementary teachers, although the school has several good prospects from wives of Wurtsmith Air Force Base personnel, who will be moving to the area.

The board of education Monday night granted a one-year leave of absence to Herman Rollin, who will return to Western Michigan University to work toward his master degree.

In other business, the board authorized Mrs. Mary Dunham to take a class of 158 eighth graders on a field trip to Greenfield Village and Ford Museum on May 11. Action on installation of natural gas heating equipment at the Tawas City Elementary Unit was tabled until additional information is received.

It was announced that American Motors, Incorporated, is to furnish an engine, transmission and steering wheel assembly for the school's auto mechanics program.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Love on NW Michigan Wedding Trip

Douglas Love and his bride, the former Marilyn Hosbach, will reside at 320 East River Street, Apartment Eight, Grand Ledge, following their return from a trip to Northwestern Michigan.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hosbach of Tawas City and the son of the Norman Loves of Grand Ledge exchanged nuptial vows Saturday, April 20, at Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, Tawas City. Nuptial High Mass was read by the Rev. Fr. Henry Eicholt. Yellow rosebuds and daisies decorated the altar.

For the double ring rites, the bride appeared in an imported Swiss organza gown, embellished with Venise flowers. Embroidered daisies enriched the neckline and bordered the skirt. The gown featured a matched embroidered daisy trim chapel length train. A bandeau of white daisies held the chapel length, English silk illusion mantilla. White orchids surrounded by daisies made up her bouquet.

Approaching the altar in floor length gowns of lime silk lined frosted with white Venise daisies were Kathy Hosbach, sister of the bride, maid of honor, and Norma Jean Love, sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaid. Silk linen bows trimmed with daisies fell from their hair and trailed the full length of their dresses. They carried yellow rosebuds surrounded by daisies.

Mr. Love chose his brother, Roger Love of Grand Ledge, as best man and Donald Gray of Grand Ledge, groomsmen. Guests were seated by Harold Olds of Grand Ledge, cousin of the bridegroom, and Charles Kebler of Grand Ledge.

For the wedding and brunch at the Barnes Hotel, Mrs. Hosbach was attired in a sky blue silk blend linen dress trimmed with Venise lace. A mint green lace over silk chiffon was Mrs. Love's choice. Their corsages were white orchids.

Guests were present from Grand Ledge, Essexville, Bay City, Jonesville, Oscoda and Bad Axe.

The new Mrs. Love is a graduate of Tawas Area High School and Northwestern School of Nursing, Traverse City. Mr. Love attended Grand Ledge High School and Lansing Community College.

Guest speaker was Sen. Robert Richardson who spoke on the subject, "Where Are We and Where Are We Going."

The Tawas group including Millie DeBeau, Lib Rosenberg, Carol Savage, Arlene Olson, Jan Ernst, Lutie O'Loughlin, Marti Penman, Hazel Crawford, Peg Conn, Lee Cecil, Mary Fidderson, Betty Miller, Nona Seifert and Helen Collier received an ovation for their attendance representing the Tawas.

April 30, 2:00 p. m., at the Iosco County Building, the club will hold an open meeting to complete plans for the May 16 breakfast honoring the state's Republican women. Breakfast is to be served at Tawas Golf and Country Club from 8:00-10:00 a. m. and a "fun day" will follow. Ely Peterson will be guest speaker.

EAST TAWAS

Dear Editor:
 I feel that many taxpayers of Iosco County are interested in what is happening to our real and personal property taxes within our county. Knowing you had representatives or you covered the Iosco County Board of Supervisors hearing with the Michigan Tax Commission representative, Mr. White, last week, I would like to outline various phases of the discussion at that meeting about which you said very little or nothing in the local newspapers. One wonders why. I will list various items separately in this letter.

1. The supervisors had the opportunity to accept the equalized figure for the county at $149,000,000, plus two or three million dollars to be assessed to the gypsum companies which were not included in this figure, or accept the Gem Surveys figures of $166,000,000. They chose to take the larger tax base figures knowing they were only required by law to accept the state equalized figure.

2. After some of the county supervisors had a chance to hear from their taxpayers and their local boards of review they asked for a review on farmlands only. They found the assessments to be in error by 10 percent and got approval to cut them back. Mr. White of the state tax commission was asked then if this could not apply to all property especially homes in our county. He stated that since the survey was taken there possibly is a trend of lower property prices in our county and that at the time the survey was taken homes were selling well because of the expansion within our county, especially the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company which had many employees buying homes. However, our local supervisors did not ask for a review at that time, but saw fit to use Gem Surveys figures evidently liking the higher tax base.

3. At this meeting, I pointed out several townships that had disregarded Gem Surveys figures and shifted property taxes as they saw fit. This shows they did not agree with Gem Surveys assessments. Also, one township took off the tax rolls some old barns which had some assessment placed on them by Gem Surveys. Taxpayers of other parts of the county did not receive this type of consideration. However, all tax units came up with the total equalized valuation of their townships by increasing some properties and lowering others. It would appear to me this was not the method originally agreed upon by the supervisors when they hired a survey and then do not accept their figures throughout the county. Realizing the supervisors wish to save face on the decision of Gem Surveys, it would seem to me that they would salvage some of the good parts that are in Gem's figures, and act in other ways in making studies of assessed properties. I know the supervisors have accepted the rolls "as is" for 1968 but unless there is something done to make them aware of this type of finagling we can expect much worse to come.

4. I also stated, that at this meeting I thought the Iosco County Board of Supervisors and the local school boards within our county should make a joint plea to the State of Michigan, namely to Rep. George Prescott and Sen. Robert Richardson, that a greater portion of Michigan's income tax paid now be returned to the counties so that all budgets can be met properly. This evidently fell on a deaf ear as they saw fit to meet this budget with a larger real and personal property tax. I bring this out only because I had discussions with representatives prior to the time the state income tax was enacted and was told definitely there would be real and personal property tax relief if the state income tax was passed. At this time, I do not see where we have had any real or personal property tax relief. Unless a strong plea is made for the income tax to come back to the counties in greater portion, it will be allocated in Lansing to various other departments which seem to be endless and which take out of the county more money than is returned.

I do believe more taxpayers will understand what I am talking about after they receive their next tax bills this winter.

Sincerely yours,
 Elmer Werth

Fire Chief Urges Family Escape Plan

Everybody takes a new lease on life when spring rolls around. And that lease on life—for you and your family—will be more certain if you have planned and practiced a family fire drill, reminds James Lansky, Tawas City fire chief.

"This is another kind of spring clean up action—cleaning up any misunderstandings about what to do if fire should strike your home," says Lansky. "National Fire Protection Association records show that more than eight of every 10 lives taken by home fires might have been saved if people had planned and rehearsed ways to escape."

1. Carefully figure out at least two routes to the outside from every room in the house, especially bedrooms. Allow for blocking of stairways or halls by fire.
2. Particularly for nighttime fires, remember that closed bedroom doors will hold back flame and smoke; allow extra time for escape or rescue.
3. For upper floor escape, use any available porch and garage roofs, ladders and trees as ways down to safety. Be sure exit windows work easily and that they are low and large enough to get through.
4. Pick an outside assembly point where the family will meet for a roll call and be sure everyone knows the rule once out—stay out.

Annual Meeting

IDC Names 3 New Directors; Hear Report

New directors named at the annual meeting of Tawas Area Industrial Development Corporation were William Smith, Paul Chevis and Michael Freel.

Smith is area manager for Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, Chevis operates Tawas Plating and Freel is an East Tawas attorney.

Officers for the past year have been Charles Schreck, president; K. Berkeley Smith, vice president; Kenneth Conn, secretary.

Gar Bassitt, 1968 president of the chamber of commerce, represents that group on the board of directors; Edward Goodman has been appointed to complete the term of William Pinkerton.

The IDC is presently negotiating the purchase of a 110-acre site in Section 14 of Baldwin Township, near the Iosco County Airport, as an industrial site. The property is presently owned by the United States Forest Service.

"Hopefully, the purchase price of this site will be within our reach," said the president. "Our 1967 membership drive, with a goal of $10,000, raised $3,000. These funds, presently in certificates of deposit, are available for a down payment, but we are concerned about a source of future development funds."

During a meeting between development experts of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company and representatives of the IDC, it was pointed out that keen competition exists in the search for new industry and that many communities offered facilities superior to the Tawas area.

Immediately following this meeting, representatives of the gas company and IDC toured the area to inspect available industrial sites. Past Pres. Henry Oates has been a firm proponent of site acquisition, but the IDC has been balked on site acquisition due to a lack of funds.

Ralph Western and James Campbell were named as a committee to review sites for industrial purposes and recommended consideration of one near the county airport, located on well-drained, sandy soil and can be served by rail, air and highway.

With the prospect of site purchases, the IDC has attempted to contact governing units of Alabaster, Baldwin, Tawas and Wilber Townships, along with councils of East Tawas and Tawas City, to request one-eighth of a mill for promotion of industrial development purposes.

To date, the IDC has met township boards of Alabaster, Baldwin and Tawas and the East Tawas Council. Conflicting commitments have been such that representatives have been unable to meet with other boards.

"The East Tawas Council has approved $1,000 for industrial development purposes and, hopefully, when our fund requirements become real and critical, other governmental units will participate," said Schreck.

The IDC has made contacts with five different industrial prospects during the past year, as well as answering inquiries from others.

"This meeting completes four years of organization for the IDC. I cannot include in this report names of newly-acquired industries, but I can report our activities this past year and hope you concur that we are moving in the right direction," said Schreck.

New Water Vehicle to Go on Display Here After May 1

A new propellorless, jet-powered water vehicle you ride on, rather than in—slaloming, jumping, spinning, racing at speeds to 25 miles an hour—brings to the water a brand new form of recreation.

Called Sea-Do, the unique new aqua scooter has been developed and introduced by Bombardier Limited, the company which pioneered snowmobiles and today is their largest manufacturer. Sea-Do is designed to bring to water the same safe, swift fun which the Ski-Do snowmobile has brought to snow and will go on display after May 1 at McKay Sales Company in Tawas City.

Sea-Do's exciting streamlined styling enables it to skim over the water, carrying up to 250 pounds, as it is propelled and maneuvered by a water-jet turbine powered by a 320 cc Rotax air-cooled, two-cycle engine, an exclusive Bombardier powerplant which has been long tested in rugged snowmobile usage.

"Sea-Do opens a broad vista of fun for the whole family, both young and old," pointed out Laurent Beaudoin, president of Bombardier Limited, at the introduction of the new water vehicle. "Sea-Do brings group fun to the water just as Ski-Do brought group fun to snow. Yet Sea-Do also is ideal for individual enjoyment, for the fisherman, for instance, who wants to put his tackle box aboard and thread his way up a shallow river to his favorite fishing spot."

Spring Fishing Season

ANNUAL spawning run of Saginaw Bay perch started last week and this was the scene Saturday morning as anglers tried their luck on the Michigan Waterways Commission Dock, East Tawas. Several hundred fishermen jammed the dock on Saturday and fishing success was fair. One of the largest crowds in recent years was in the Tawas Saturday night in anticipation of the smelt run, but only small catches were reported in Tawas River. Good success was reported at the Singing Bridge, where the usual large crowd of smelt dippers jammed the Whitney Drain. All local and visiting fishermen are reminded that the Tawas River is off limits to fishing for an indefinite period effective today (Wednesday), 12 o'clock noon. The Michigan Department of Conservation will be planting about one-half million coho salmon in the river. —Tawas Herald Photo.

Community Chorus Plans 10th Annual Concert April 28

Tawas Area Community Chorus will present its 10th anniversary concert, "A Decade of Song," Sunday, April 28, 3:00 p. m., at Tawas Area High School. Many old favorites will be enjoyed.

The chorus began in January 1958 after a committee, Mrs. Herbert Hertzler, Robert Richter and Harold Clark, had encouraged a group of local citizens to organize a singing group.

Objectives were to provide good music and give talented individuals an opportunity to sing. They also desire to send a Tawas Area School music student to summer music camp. Awarding a music scholarship has been continued since 1963.

Iosco Soil Conservation District Plans 16th Annual Meeting

Iosco County Soil Conservation District announces its 16th annual meeting to be held next Tuesday, April 30, 6:30 p. m., in the East Tawas Community Building.

Mr. Krueger urges anyone wishing to attend the supper to call or send reservations to the Iosco County Soil Conservation District, Federal Building, East Tawas 48730, by Friday, April 26.

5. This is one of the best engineered cars of all time. A test drive will prove it to you.
6. There is more comfort in the 1968 Cadillac than ever before. In the ride, in the seats, in the body, throughout the interiors.

Words For Waistline Watchers

Plain ice cream, ice milk and sherbet are surprisingly similar in caloric value. Here is the story for half cup servings:

Vanilla ice cream has 145 calories, ice milk sold at soft freeze stands has 143 calories and sherbet has 118 calories.

Though ice milk has much less milk fat (from two percent-seven percent) to give it a desirable flavor and quality, extra sugar and milk solids are usually added which raises the caloric count.

Sherbet contains one to two percent milk fat stabilizer but again requires fruit juices, sugar and milk products to give it body and flavor.

Do not lose the smooth, creamy quality you have purchased. Rush frozen dairy products home to the freezer before they soften. Refrozen products develop a coarse, grainy texture and become icy.

Keep partially used cartons tightly sealed to prevent evaporation or absorption of odors. As an added precaution, slip opened cartons into airtight plastic bags and seal.

Frozen dairy products may be stored satisfactorily in the average freezing compartment of a refrigerator-freezer combination for about two to three weeks; in a home freezer that maintains a temperature of 0 degrees Fahrenheit for two months.

Tips to the server: Frozen dairy foods are at their flavor peak when served at the "scooping" soft stage. When served at colder temperatures, the flavor is much weaker.

Allow plain ice creams to soften slightly for ease in dipping or slicing. To do this, hold the product at room temperature for about 10 minutes or in the refrigerator for about 30 minutes. Chocolate, fruit and nut ice creams do not become as hard and usually can be served directly from the freezer. Place the utensil used in dipping frozen dairy favorites into cold water between servings. Be sure to shake off excess water to prevent ice formation in the remaining frozen dairy product.

When combining with other ingredients, have frozen dairy products "stirring" soft. For greater success use a wooden spoon and chilled utensils and molds.

Floor Care

Are you getting ready to wax your hard surface floor today? You will be in a hurry to finish the job but do not fail to rinse the floor well after scrubbing and cleaning it. If any soap or detergent remains on the floor it gives a cloudy or streaked appearance to the wax, in some cases it is sticky and gummy. When applying the wax, remember that a thin coat will dry harder and be less slippery than a thick coat of wax. Perhaps you will want to apply a second layer of wax to a badly worn or scuffed floor. Wait until the first thin layer has dried—about four to six hours then add a second thin layer.

POSTER CONTEST

"Keep right both day and night and you will cut down your chances of being wrong" is the advice given by the Automobile Club of Michigan to all pedestrians in the state. "If you must walk on a highway, always walk on the left facing traffic since this allows you to cautiously observe the flow of oncoming traffic." To bring this message to Michigan youngsters, 17,000 copies of the award-winning poster are being distributed to schools throughout Michigan.

est, received word that arrangements had been made for transportation of 400 men next week from Camp Custer to Tawas. This is the first group of the 800 men who will be employed in the forest during the coming summer. Fenger states that the men will be allocated to four camps to be established at Gordon Creek, Bryant, McKinley and Luzerne. The camps will be constructed by the war department and the men will be under the complete supervision of that department. The men are enlisted for a period of six months at $30 per month and each man must agree to make an allotment of $25 per month to dependents. In addition to improving the national forest and increasing the tree plantations, this program, when completed, will make the forest more attractive for tourists, hunters and fishermen visiting this section of the state.

Plan Classes for Mothers-Homemakers

A program of two classes has been planned for mothers and homemakers of the area by the local health department, social services, county home extension economist and the local community action program, Seven CAP.

The higher cost of food and clothing has made it difficult for people with large families, young brides starting their first home-making experience and people on a fixed income to budget to get the most food and clothing for their money.

It was felt there is a need in this area for instruction on these points.

The agencies have obtained the services of Miss Margaret McCarthy, Michigan Health Department nutrition consultant from Lansing, who will present the first class, "How to Beat the High Cost of Eating." She will discuss and teach budgeting, wise buying and food preparation. The class will be conducted in the old Whittemore Elementary School, 9:30 a. m., and the Tawas City Baptist Church, 1:30 p. m., Thursday, May 2.

The second class will be instructed by Mrs. Clemma Lenehan, extension home economist, and will be concerned with "More Clothes for Your Money." She will also teach simple alterations of clothing. This will be held at the old Whittemore Elementary School, 9:30 a. m., and the Tawas City Baptist Church, 1:30 p. m., Thursday, May 16.

Refreshments will be served and several door prizes given. The general public is cordially invited to attend. There is no charge for admission.

'68 FINLEY'S the MAN for SHERIFF '68

How I Plan to Make Iosco County a Better Place to Live

1. I plan to organize approximately 80 men into a Self-Protection team consisting of volunteer firemen and citizen's band radio operators.
 2. This Self-Protection team would be used in case of Emergency such as bank robbery, motorcycle gangs, forest fires, etc.
 3. I plan to personally buy a citizen's band radio for the office.
 4. To get an Enterprise number for the people in the independent telephone area. If we have to pay $58,495 TAXES for Sheriff Department protection we shouldn't have to pay to call them at a total extra cost of only $4.00 per month.
 5. To use the airplane that has been offered in case of emergency; such as patrolling from the air motorcycle gangs, forest fires, bank holdups, etc.
 6. We will have a 24 hour patrol (not a deputy on call 24 hours).
 7. I'm personally going to check on these men to make sure they get out of these patrol cars and check laundromats, banks, gas stations, hardware—front and back doors.
 8. We have the men that can do the job, all we want is a chance to do it! Things are going to get worse not better, we have to be prepared for it.
- All I can say to you farmers is that if you don't wake up pretty soon you will be milking the county's cows in order to pay your taxes. Where are my funds coming from? My wife, children and I have decided to use the money that we had saved to finish our home for this work ahead. I would like to thank all of you people who have sent contributions and encouragement.

Bald Eagles Of Michigan Threatened, Says WSU Biologist

DETROIT — The American or bald eagle, proud symbol of the Nation, is declining in numbers in a State where it made one of its most determined stands for survival: Michigan.

The bald eagle.

Inroads from pesticides, encroaching civilization, vandals and other causes have biologists concerned that the big bird may be on its way out. Over the North American continent, the only continent where it is found, the bird is disappearing fast, says the National Audubon Society. There are probably no more than 1500 of them that nest south of the US-Canadian border and perhaps 3500 more that winter in the contiguous states but return to Canada or Alaska to nest.

The bird is protected by Federal law, but shooting through misidentification is only one of the menaces to its survival.

Prof. William L. Thompson, a Wayne State University biologist who has given years of study to Michigan bird life, emphasizes the menace of insecticides to the eagle's survival.

Pesticides used in the extensive vegetable and fruit growing areas along the Great Lakes shores find their way into the water and are ingested by fish. The eagles appear to suffer in some way after eating the fish.

Whatever the chemical effect the insecticides have on the big birds, the pairs which inhabit the Great Lakes shores are reproducing at a low rate, apparently lower than in the past, Dr. Thompson says.

This goes along with the belief of numerous biologists that certain of the chemical compounds used interfere seriously with the birds' reproductive processes.

Sergej Postupalsky, a Wayne alumnus who specializes in biology, has been studying bald eagles in Michigan since 1960.

After personally locating 92 pairs in the State during 1967, he estimates Michigan's population at between 100 and 110 pairs, about 70% residing in the Upper Peninsula. His research is being aided by the National Audubon Society and the Detroit Audubon Society.

The estimate would put Michigan third in eagle population, Alaska, which has the most eagles, is estimated to be the home of several thousand pairs. Florida is second.

The white headed eagle or bald eagle was chosen for our national bird on June 20, 1782, despite Benjamin Franklin's proposal that the turkey be the nation's bird. Earlier the eagle was the supreme totem of the Six Nations of Iroquois Indians.

Long ago Indians kept the eagle as a domestic pet. Up to 1900, these Indians would take the young eagles from their nests and raise them in cages or tied by thongs to rocks. They would then harvest eagle feathers for magical, medicinal or religious rites; also for arrows or mere decoration.

The early Indians' relationship to the eagle was a benign one. Present-day man's activities appear to be much more menacing to the bird's survival.

Tawas Golfers Win Opener Over Central

Tawas Area High School golfers won over Standish-Sterling Central in their first outing of the season.

Playing at Standish-Sterling, Dennis Krish fired a 44 to lead the five-man team which dropped the Central linkmen, 190-218.

Other Tawas players were Mike Hearl, 50; Clair Moore, 46; John Crisenbery, 50; Mark Harris, 51.

Low for Central was Rick Davidson, a freshman, who shot a nice 46. Other cards were Brent Chagnon, 48; Larry Raymond, 62; Dan LaPorte, 62.

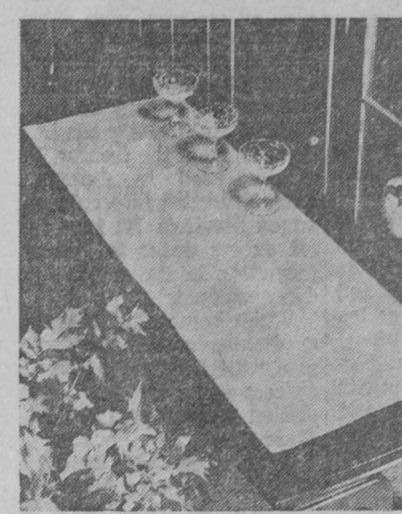

The first five golfers are to be determined on a week-to-week basis, announces Coach Charles Crowley, "and from a look at cards turned in by two of our boys who were not among the first five for the opener, someone is going to be pushed."

Among the other nine members of the squad were Dave Choiger, who turned in a 44 and Matt Polard, a 47. Scores of other boys were Mike Saunders, 50; Ron Doak, 51; Terry Grabow, 53; Randy Foco, 54; Dale Rapp, 55; Mike Briggs, 64; Joe Bouchard, 77.

Needlecraft News by Nancy Baxter

A TIMELESS SUPERLATIVE FOR A FUTURE HEIRLOOM. Only flattering phrases can be used to describe this fine linen runner. No matter how you furnish your home . . . in modern or period styles . . . you'll want to protect your table tops. More than protection, it will add to the attractiveness of your room.

YOU'VE HEARD IT SAID

So easy a child could do it and then found out the child would have to be older and more experienced than you are. This time it's true. The only stitches used are the back stitch, cross stitch, star eyelet and back stitch squares in "O.N.T." six strand embroidery floss. A bit of nature's own tracery comes inside, bringing with it the silvery colors of winter . . . white embroidery floss on a pale colored linen gives a very subtle effect. Serve under glass . . . on your coffee table, bookcase or buffet. You might even use it as a wall trapping. Picture arrangements with odd size components are very popular for decorating . . . hang it vertically or horizontally.

DON'T LET IT BE SAID . . . You stand on ceremony by bringing out this runner just for company. Your family appreciates nice things too. And after all, aren't they the most special people in your life. Centennial Across the Bay

Thumb's Port Crescent and Oscoda Had Close Ties During Lumbering Days

Port Crescent, the lumbering village that vanished toward the end of the nineteenth century, will celebrate its 100th anniversary this summer.

Though the only two business places in town now are Ken Ruth's Port Crescent Bar, adjacent store and "Dubby" Gottchalk's Old Homestead Restaurant, the centennial will not go unobserved. Both of these places as well as the Port Austin Library plan to have exhibits to commemorate the anniversary. A centennial history, "It Happened Here One Spring," will go on sale this season.

Port Crescent and Oscoda have a great deal in common since the lumbering company, Woods and Company of Port Crescent, sold its interests there and moved to Oscoda where operations had begun in 1878.

The big white house in Port Crescent, occupied by Mr. Pack, was the pride of the town. Built by Mark Carrington in 1873, it was renovated two years later for Mr. Pack and his new bride, when they also added a sprinkler system "a la city" by running a pipe from the mill so that they could water their nicely sodded lawn and yard.

George Prescott Seeks Re-Election to State House

State Rep. George A. Prescott, Tawas City Republican, announced last week that he would seek re-election to the 102nd District seat in the state house of representatives.

First elected in 1966, Prescott now serves all of Bay County (except Bay City and Bangor, Fraser and Kawawlin Townships), as well as Iosco, Arenac and Ogemaw Counties.

"My first term in the legislature has been a most interesting experience and a real challenge," Prescott said in announcing his decision.

"I represent 51 townships and a number of smaller cities. Only one or two other house members have the responsibility of representing that many townships. Since the district is 135 miles long from north to south, it has taken a great deal of time and effort to try to keep in touch with the problems of all areas of the district. I have found the past two years to be the most exciting and fulfilling of my life."

Prescott said the current session had been filled with highly charged emotional issues. "Decisions have been made that have far-reaching economic and social impact," he said.

No newcomer to government service, Prescott is a third generation member of his family to serve in the state legislature. A graduate of Michigan State University and former Iosco County clerk, Prescott is 55 and he and his wife have six children, five sons and one daughter.

FIRE—SCOURGE OF THE FOREST!

Millions of acres of timber destroyed every year—by carelessness!

After the Packs moved to Oscoda, their elegant mansion was occupied by subsequent mill owners until it burned down in 1886, when it caught fire from a spark from the mill chimney.

However, Mr. Pack's home in Oscoda built in 1878 (now the Pack House Inn) is still visited by residents of the Thumb who feel a kinship with that town. Of special interest to many are the ledger books on exhibit there in the hearth room—for these contain many familiar names, including those of their ancestors.

Among those who moved from Port Crescent to Oscoda were Arthur Pack and E. J. Holmes, other members of the firm. Another brother, Albert Pack, moved to Alpena, as did Doctor Eakins, long known as the Port Crescent doctor and later a member of the lumbering firm of Williamson, Eakins and Soule. Doctor Eakins also served in the house of representatives while living in Port Crescent.

In August of 1882, Arthur Pack came to Port Crescent to hire men for Pack, Woods and Company at Oscoda and many residents left. Among them were the Joseph West family, Elijah Rockwood, C. F. Hazen and George Hazen. Others like Ben Iseler went to work during the summers and came home in the winter. The Pete Causely family, Samuel Murtart and W. Wills moved to nearby towns of Standish and Alpena.

After Woods and Company left Port Crescent, the mill changed hands several times and salt wells were sunk beside the lumber mill. Also a coopeage, a salt block and brine tank were built. The Haskell mill across the river also carried on extensive business along these lines and keen rivalry ensued.

However, the great fires of 1871 and 1881 had taken their toll and with the decline of the lumber business, the salt industry soon ended as the by-products from the mill were used for fuel to evaporate the brine. In 1887, the company store closed and people again began moving away from the town, this time often moving their houses out or tearing them down to be rebuilt on new properties.

In November, 1890, the Huron County News announced: "The houses which constituted the Village of Port Crescent are being sold and torn down, so that in a short time there will be nothing left of Port Crescent but a dreary looking sand bank."

And another item describes the move as "the present tornado which is sweeping the houses out of Port Crescent."

In September of that year, the paper stated that the Huron Grindstone Company, which has bought all the quarries along the shore, has purchased the mill, salt block and dock of the Eakins and Soule plant at Port Crescent and will use whatever they can of it in establishing their business." Two weeks later, it was reported that they were tearing down the mill and moving it to Grindstone City.

With the mill gone and the final realization that the long hoped for railroad would never reach the little town at the mouth of the Pinnebog River, the residents knew that Port Crescent could not survive and most of them had moved out by the early 1890s and most of the buildings were gone.

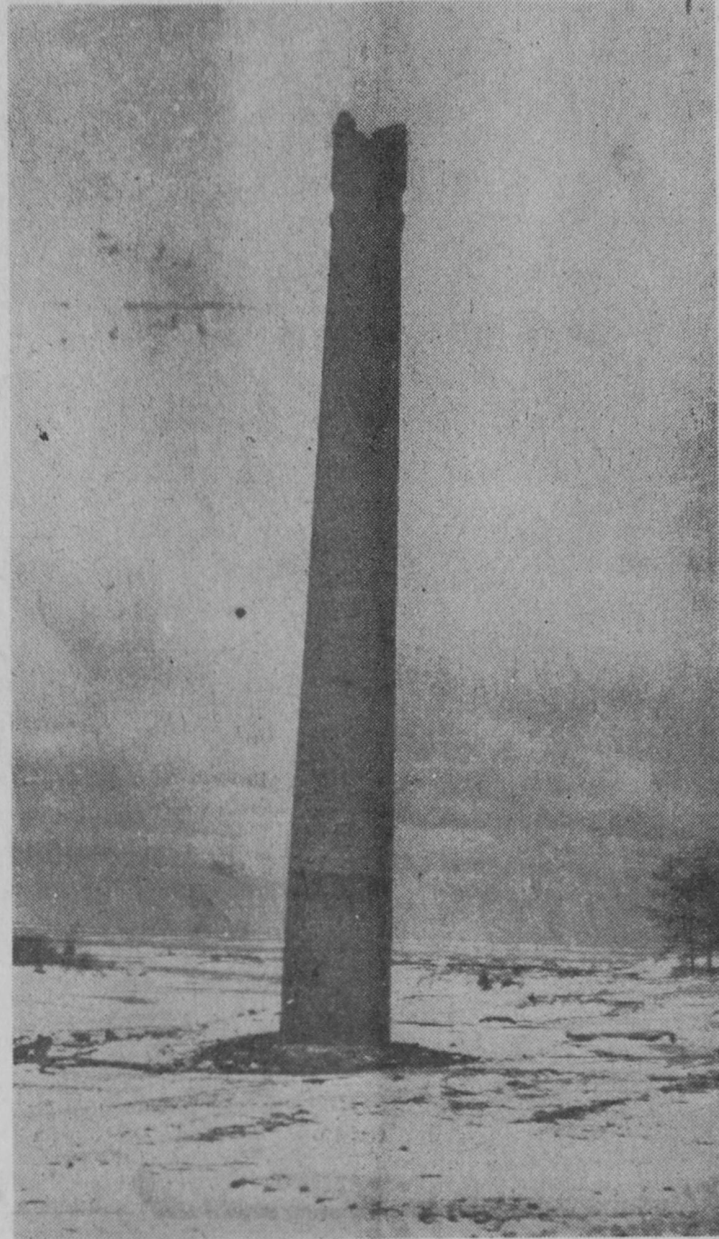

Although the "company" mill properties were deserted—marked only by the red brick chimney that stood for 90 years—the Haskell side of the river became the scene of a new industry. After the death of her father, Nathaniel Bennett Haskell, Elizabeth Haskell continued to ship sand, employing a crew to load it into a horse drawn cart to be taken to the stockpile at the end of the dock. Boats coming to the dock would blow their whistles as they went along the shore—a signal that more workers were needed for loading.

In 1918, Conley and Carey bought the Haskell property and operated the business until 1924 when they sold it to the Port Crescent Sand and Fuel Company which built a new dock farther west. After the company moved to Manistee in 1936, the dock, which was used by fishermen for many years, began breaking up in the fierce Lake Huron storms and finally disappeared.

For many years, the area settled into a peaceful Rip Van Winkle existence. While the tourist industry mushroomed along the shore in the 1940s and 1950s, the townsite remained unchanged. All evidence of the once prosperous village faded gradually into the wilderness it had been before the first white settlers arrived.

CHIMNEY of Woods and Company Mill, built in 1871 at Port Crescent, stood for 90 years.

It pays to be a Credit Union Family

Credit Unions are different. They are owned by their members — lock, stock and barrel. Because of this, credit union members enjoy benefits found nowhere else. SAVINGS benefits . . . BORROWING benefits . . . INSURANCE benefits.

ONLY IN A CREDIT UNION do all dividends go back to the members, with life insurance as an extra dividend on savings. Borrowers get a break, too, with loans insured at no extra cost, and often a year-end interest refund.

There are many other credit union advantages.

DO YOU KNOW that more than 1 1/2 million people in Michigan are now credit union members? Come in and find out why.

Contact the CU where you work — or the one in your parish or neighborhood — or write Michigan Credit Union League, 1600 North Michigan, Saginaw, Michigan 48602.
