Pulpwood Industry at Crucial Stage in Area

Forest management and timber harvest as an important contribution to this county's economy has reached a crucial point, according to a report by Loren Woerpel, Tawas District ranger for the United States Forest Service. Iosco County is presently at a long time low in pulpwood production, having produced only 2,000 cords during the first quarter of fiscal year 1967-1968. While 12,000 cords of pulpwood were harvested during 1966-1967, the market dropped sharply last year and has remained low for the paper and packaging industry. PROBLEMS facing this industry are to be discussed at the February 19 meeting of the Iosco Technical Action Panel. Attending will be a marketing specialist from Michigan State University, who will discuss problems with panel members including Jake Lake, Iosco Soil Conservation Service; June Scott, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; Marvin Davenport, county extension agent, and Woerpel, plus other civic leaders. The TAP meeting is to be held at the Federal Building, 10:00 a.m. IOSCO'S problem is not just a deep depression of the pulpwood market and lasting effects appear to be a probability. One of the market places for local wood production has been a pulp mill near Detroit. No official announcement has been made, but it appears that the firm will be purchasing processed pulpwood from Canada and contracts with local producers will be shut off as of this spring. The Detroit firm used a significant portion of the wood produced by the Ausable Forest Products Association and a replacement for this market will have to be found.

Reportedly, the firm lacked adequate space to construct a new waste disposal system necessary to eliminate water pollution and has resorted to purchase of processed wood pulp. THROUGH efforts of the local forest cooperative, Iosco was attractive for wood procurement because it was one of the few places in the Lower Peninsula where large contracts could be filled with organized labor woods forces. Woerpel said that the area has now lost much of its attraction for mill procurement. "Wood from our county is located in such a way as to be some of the most expensive for Michigan mills to buy," said Woerpel. "Due to the transportation cost, which is based on distance from the mills, we are the longest hauls in each of the procurement areas. This also includes Abitibi at Alpena, as they currently have sufficient sources of wood closer to their mill." Use of wastes from sawmills has become significant in the past several years, replacing the need for some round wood volume. As costs go up, it can be expected that mills will be drawing procurement activities closer to the mills. "To be very frank, that means there will be a tendency to pull out of this county. This is very evident during a low cyclic swing in the market," said Woerpel. The economic importance to this county of its timber harvest activities is something which has attracted little attention locally, probably because this activity crept up on the business scene slowly about 25 years ago. AS OF 1966, Iosco was harvesting 18,000 cords of pulpwood annually. This placed the county about 15th among 31 counties in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

This pulpwood harvest has resulted in from one-third to one-half million dollars of income into the county each year. INDUSTRY predictions are that paper should rise again by the last half of this year. However, many mills have converted to use of dense hardwoods and aspen, rather than jack pine, in order to utilize this tremendous growth closer to mills. One adverse effect is probably not apparent to most people. This area is currently in the most crucial rotation period (50-60 years) for stabilizing forest growth. "It is imperative that we maintain an orderly progression of timber harvest of jack pine and oak stands which have all matured at the same time," said Woerpel. "This is as important to the future stabilization of scenic, recreation and wildlife resources of the forest as it is to stabilize the available timber production. The last thing we need right now is a long drought of timber harvest. Adverse effects would be felt for another 60 years." The Tawas District ranger said that the area would have to take a critical look at what can be done. "We have the resources—the raw materials—that are an economic asset. We need to find something new to take the place of the old market, or some new angle that will make our wood competitive." He said that partial manufacturing by producing wood chips from round wood before shipping has been used in other areas. New markets for red pine and oak can be explored. With the help of Michigan State University, new wood using industries in the county might be developed or attracted.

Ballots - Booths Set for Primary Monday

An election board is waiting with ballots—candidates are awaiting the results—now it is up to the voters. Much will depend upon the weather and icy streets could have an adverse effect, but Tawas City's primary election Monday, February 19, is expected to bring out voters in far greater number than the primary in February 1965, first in city history. This year's election features three races for city ward posts on the Republican ticket. A primary was not required last year as not more than one candidate filed for a single office. There are two contests for posts of ward supervisors. In the First Ward, Ben Brewer and Dr. E. B. Cavell Jr. will vie for the supervisory vacancy caused by the recent reapportionment of wards, bring-

Says Historical Group Would Prove Benefit

Floyd R. Dain, assistant director of Clarke Historical Library, Central Michigan University, told members of the newly-formed Iosco Historical Society that such an organization could provide a valuable service to the community as well as to the state. Speaking before the first regular meeting Thursday night, Dain emphasized that anything a local historical group might accomplish in preserving documents and other historical materials would be appreciated by future historians. An assistant history professor at CMU, Dain pointed out that one of the best means of documenting history was to record on tape the reminiscences of those living today. He urged the local group to include a tape recording program in its projects. "You have launched a very significant enterprise and one that should intensify interest in local history," Dain told the 30 members attending the meeting. Formerly a teacher in Detroit schools before joining CMU, Dain has authored five books, including "Detroit," "The Story of Water," "Transportation," "Every House a Frontier" and "Education in the Wilderness." Meetings are to be held the second Thursday of each month and arrangements are now being made to secure speakers from universities and the Michigan Historical Society to present programs. In addition, local historical programs are to be presented. Miss Marion L. Jennings, secretary, announced that a future program, presently being planned for Michigan Week in May, would be given on Michigan Indians. Speakers would include Mrs. Hazel LaVoie and her mother, Mrs. John Silas, Oscoda. Monthly meetings are held in the supervisors' room of the Iosco County Building and it is expected that meeting sites will be alternated at various places around the county in order to encourage participation by all areas of Iosco.

Awarded Judgment in Alpena Court

Mrs. Terrance M. O'Loughlin of East Tawas, whose husband was killed in a train-automobile accident on October 3, 1963, was awarded $100,000 in a decision handed down last week by Circuit Judge Donald Monroe of Ontonagon County. Mrs. O'Loughlin sued the Detroit and Mackinac Railway for damages of $200,000. The nonjury trial was held at Alpena last September. The railway has 20 days to appeal Judge Monroe's decision. O'Loughlin, a liquor salesman, was killed when his car struck a north bound D&M freight train at the Ossineke crossing.

INVESTIGATE VANDALISM

Iosco Sheriff's Department and Tawas City police chief are investigating vandalism of a boat stored for the winter at the Tawas River mouth. Owned by Mrs. Florence Lingle of Tawas City, windows were broken in the boat's cabin, a hatch was pried open and several cans of oil were poured on cushions. It was the second time that the boat had been damaged by vandals.

Alpena Minister Named Pastor of Christ Episcopal

The Rev. Alfred W. Saulsbury, assistant rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Alpena, and vicar of the church's mission at Harrisville since 1961, has been appointed to Christ Church, East Tawas, effective March 1. During his ministry in the Alpena area, he served two years as president of the County Interfaith Association and on the staff of the Community High School of Religion. A native of London, England, he arrived in this country in 1947 and served as lay leader at St. Jude Church, Fenton. He later began studies for Holy Orders while serving the parish of Christ Church, Henrietta. In 1956, while serving St. Paul Church, Gladwin, he was ordained into the priesthood.

SAND LAKE was the site Saturday and Sunday for the first annual snowmobile safari and races sponsored by Grant Township Fire Department. The top photo shows contestants getting the starting flag. Drivers sprinted to machines and then zoomed across the ice. The temperature registered about 10 degrees below zero when the pictures were snapped.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Board Would Seek Millage, if Necessary

Members of Tawas Area Board of Education indicated Monday night that, if necessary, voters would be asked in late summer to approve special millage for school operation. The state of school financing for the 1968-1969 term is still unsettled and probably will remain so for some time after budgets are prepared, while awaiting action on a final state aid bill from the legislature. Regardless of the lack of information on available money, school districts must soon begin to prepare operational budgets and commence negotiations on teacher contracts. Supt. Reynold Mick was authorized to proceed with preparing a preliminary budget for an educational program similar to the current year. If a state aid bill is not clarified by April 1, Mick was authorized to select one which seems to have the best chance of passing the legislature and proceed from there. Expiring this year will be 2 1/2 mills of voted operating taxes which received voter approval last summer. In addition, two mills of taxes voted to complete the vocational training building expire this year. "This means that we will not be talking of raising new millage this year but to ask voters to continue a portion of the special millage received to 1967-1968," said Mick. The superintendent noted that the county equalization appraisal conducted by Gem Surveys, which increased Tawas Area School District's valuation by about 39 percent, would mean an increased tax load for some portions of the district. Other units within the district, which had been closer to the state figure, would not be boosted so heavily. Actually, Tawas Area School is in an enviable position as far as finances are concerned, despite the fact that it will receive less state aid in 1968-1969 because of its higher valuation. Total millage levied last year amounted to about $14.50 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, far below the state average. This included the special voted 2 1/2 mills for operation, two special voted mills for construction, 1.57 mills for debt retirement and 8 1/2 mills allocated.

Three Bids Accepted for Shop Ventilation

Total bids of $1,332.50 for installing ventilation equipment at Tawas Area High School's vocational training building were accepted Monday night by the board of education, subject to the inspection by the school's architect. Installation of a unit to vent four welding booths was awarded to Russel Anschuetz at a cost of $410. Two other contracts went to John Proctor, one for venting exhaust gases from mounted automobile engines at a cost of $507.50 and another to vent a metal foundry furnace at a cost of $415. The school architect was to check specifications Tuesday and contracts were to be awarded immediately if approved. The board of education also authorized purchase of two surplus government vehicles at a cost of $275 for use in the auto mechanics program. Until such time as school-owned cars are available for instruction, the administration is to contact local garages to determine if vehicles would be available for instructional purposes. Local garages would specify work to be completed by students and furnish necessary parts. John Alexander, curriculum coordinator, reported that the school had received no definite assurance from automobile manufacturing firms as to the possibility of securing new engines and other auto-

Receive Top Ratings at District IX Festival

Bandmen of Tawas Area High School turned in an outstanding performance Saturday in the District IX Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association solo and ensemble festival at Atlanta. With 21 entries and 34 bandmen participating, Tawas returned with 18 first division awards and three second division ratings. Gene Salamony, director, said that receiving 85 percent "T" awards was something out of the ordinary as the normal ratio at this school had been about 67 percent. This festival provides an individual student with the opportunity to prepare a musical work to a high level of achievement. Performance is rated "I" to "V" by an experienced adjudicator. Tawas had 12 solos, all of which received first division awards. The nine ensembles received six I and three II ratings. Solos performed included four piano, two bassoons, two cornets, one flute, one alto saxophone, one tuba and one string bass. Types of ensembles involved were saxophone quintet, percussion quartet, two clarinet trio, woodwind quintet, clarinet choir, brass quartet, French horn quartet and a bassoon quartet. Students from Arenac Eastern, Atlanta, Au Gres-Sims, Clare, Farwell, Gerrish-Higgins, Gladwin, Harrison, Houghton Lake, Oscoda, Pineconing, Standish - Sterling, Whittemore-Prentiss, West Branch and Tawas Area participated in the festival. Those receiving first division ratings are entitled to participate in state solo and ensemble festival.

RARITY—One of the few walleye pike taken in Tawas Bay in recent years was speared Sunday morning by Kenneth Thibault, Tawas City. The fish weighed five pounds and measured 24 inches. It was the first time that Thibault had ever speared a walleye in the bay. He reported that perch were hungry that morning and he returned home with a nice mess of fish.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Before the largest crowd ever to witness a game at Tawas Area, the Braves defeated Oscoda last night (Tuesday), 71-60, to extend their win streak to 12 games. Tawas held a three-point lead at the half and at the third quarter buzzer. The Braves outscored the Owls by eight in the final.

Play Panthers Friday

Braves Top Gs for 11th Victory

Tawas Area Braves rolled to their 11th straight victory Friday night over the visiting Gladwin Flying G's, 69-47, and put their undefeated record to the acid test this week with a game last night (Tuesday) with Oscoda Owls and then travel to Standish-Sterling Friday night.

After another cold first quarter, the Braves found themselves trailing Gladwin until about six minutes were gone in the second quarter.

Gladwin's young squad coolly outplayed Tawas in the first quarter with a good passing attack and defense. The Braves just could not find the range and were guilty of a number of bad passes. The visitors held a 16-15 edge at the whistle.

The visitors built up a five-point lead at one time but Tawas finally made its move as Center Paul Beyer hit the twine for four field goals and two foul shots and the Braves held a 33-29 lead at intermission.

Beyer continued as the scoring leader and meshed seven points in the third quarter as Tawas held a 15-10 edge.

The Braves continued to build up a lead and Coach Bill McIntosh pulled his entire first string out of the game midway in the final quarter and sent in his "shock" troops. Gene Kushion paced the Braves with two buckets and a charity toss.

Beyer's 21 point total was high for the night followed by 17 points for Dale Koepke, who turned in his usual outstanding floor game. Dicken and Wagar topped Gladwin with 10 points each.

The week should prove to be the toughest in the Braves 1967-1968 schedule. Tawas edged Oscoda by only one point two weeks ago and is taking on a Standish-Sterling team which has been gaining momentum in every game since losing to the Braves earlier in the season. The Panthers are always tough on their home floor and this will definitely be a game where the Braves will have to pull out all stops to win.

Some indication of what could be a future powerhouse at Gladwin was noted in the junior varsity game, won by the visitors, 49-42.

The outcome was settled in the first quarter when the Junior G's roared to a 16-6 lead. The two teams played on equal terms in the second quarter, but Gladwin held a 30-16 lead at intermission.

The Junior Braves came to life in the second half and cut the margin to 37-29 at the end of the third quarter. Tawas again battled back in the fourth quarter, cutting the margin to only four points at one time, but then fell back to a seven-point deficit at the final whistle.

Scoring for the Junior Braves saw Lickfelt leading the tribe with 17 points, followed by eight points each for Baker and Libka. Sheldon, Sventko, Reinke and Ulman meshed one bucket each while Harsch popped one charity toss.

New Worker in Seven CAP Office

John McCormack, director of Seven CAP, Incorporated, announced last week that Mrs. DeLores Grezeszak of Whittemore has been added to the staff.

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD

Common Kidney or Bladder Irritations make many men and women feel tense and nervous from frequent, burning or itching urination night and day. Secondly, you may lose sleep and have Headache, Backache and feel older, tired, depressed. In such cases, CYSTEX usually brings relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in acid urine and quickly easing pain. Get CYSTEX at drugists.

Mrs. Grezeszak's duties will be those of community outreach worker. Her duties will be to contact the low income citizens and help them to help themselves. This can be done by cooperating with the local service agencies and make referrals to them, supplying transportation for those who lack it and setting up self-help projects. The Whittemore office is located in the old high school building, telephone 756-3391.

In the past three articles, we have discussed the survey of lands in the county and most particularly on the national forest. The General Land Office surveys originally done in the 1830s and 1840s have largely been perpetuated through various means. The most substantial corner monuments available today are the brass cap, cement monuments maintained from the 1920s and early 1930 dependent resurveys.

Last week, we told how to identify what type of section corners and quarter corners you find and how you can tell who put the corner there.

Knowing who put the corner in place is important because to be absolutely sure you have located the proper corner and to know someone used the proper methods to establish a corner, you have to refer to his field notes. We have copies of the original notes from the General Land Office survey and we also have registered our records of corner restoration with

Feed Grain Base May be Set Under New Eligibility

A feed grain base may be established under the 1968 feed grain program for farms which did not plant feed grains in 1959 and/or 1960 that meet eligibility requirements, Grant Bessey of the Iosco County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today.

Interested producers should contact the County ASCS Office not later than February 29 and file an application, Mr. Bessey said.

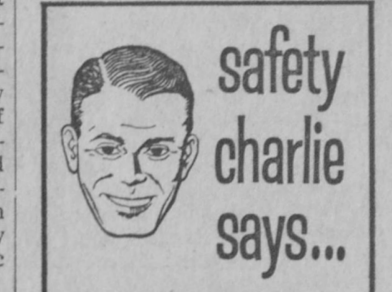

To be eligible for a new feed grain base, Mr. Bessey said the operator must expect to receive 50 percent or more of his livelihood in the current year from the production of agricultural commodities on the farm; must have had at least two years experience in the production of feed grains in the last five years; must have adequate equipment for the production of feed grains; the land must be suitable for the production of feed grains, and neither the owner nor the operator may have an interest in any other farm for which a feed grain base has been established.

All of what we have said in this series of articles is that land survey is very interesting art and science. It is a complex art requiring the skills and experience of a technician well versed in the rules of the game. Proper use of corners and property lines and care in determining property lines is important. Employing a qualified and experienced registered land surveyor is the best way to be sure you know where your land boundaries and corners are.

 AMBULANCE SERVICE

THE GETTYSBURG ADDRESS:

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure.

We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live.

It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate — we cannot consecrate — we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract.

The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here.

It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us — that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion — that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom — and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

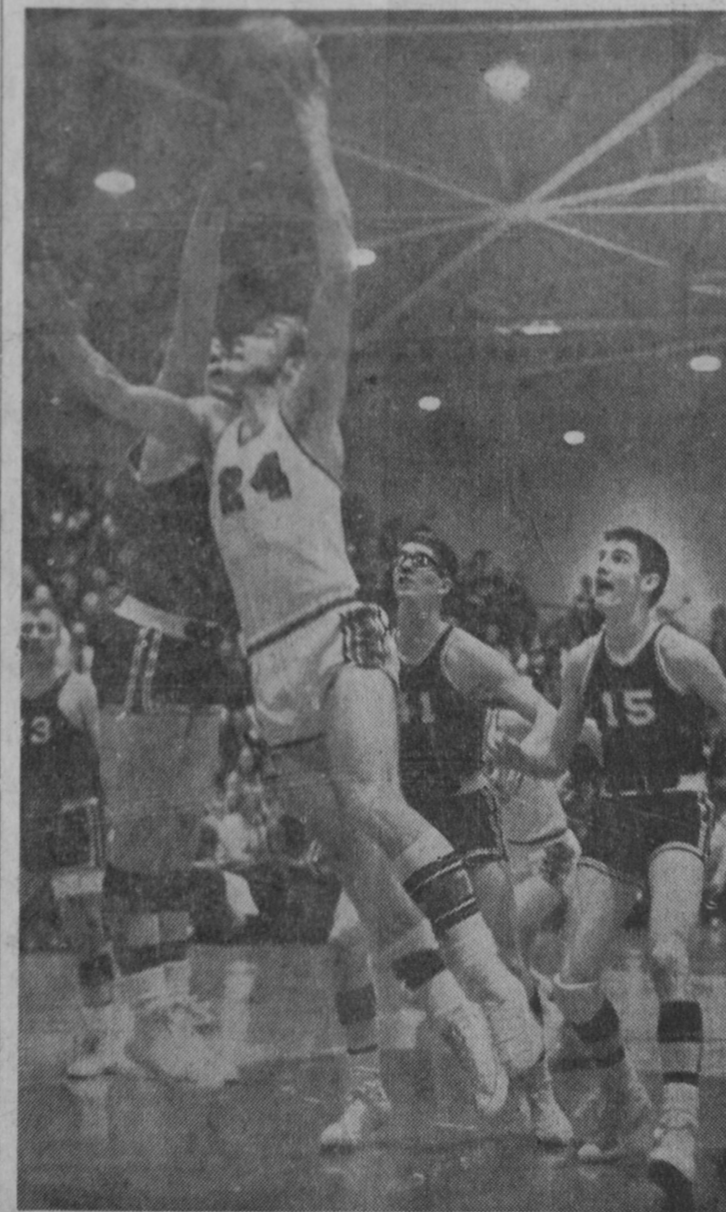

Abraham Lincoln once stated: "A little planning will defeat your worries." This still holds true. No financial worry can stand up against a carefully planned savings program. See us today!

RESOLUTION FOR THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
WHEREAS, the Michigan Prosecuting Attorneys' Association has adopted and published a list of recommended legislation for 1968 which includes, among other provisions, a recommendation for minimum salary standards for Prosecutors and state contribution thereto, a recommendation for reimbursement to counties of the cost of criminal appeals, a recommendation for increased funds for county law libraries, a recommendation that counties in which state penal or hospital facilities are located be reimbursed for the cost of prosecution of escapees and for crimes committed by escapees, and a recommendation that the state provide for the establishment of adequate probation facilities for misdemeanors;
NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Supervisors of the County of Washtenaw hereby supports and approves the following recommendations of the Michigan Prosecuting Attorneys' Association and urges the Michigan State Legislature to give prompt consideration to the adoption thereof:
1. That counties be reimbursed for the cost of criminal appeals;
2. That the state establish probation facilities for misdemeanors;
3. That increased funds be made available for county law libraries;
4. That the state make reimbursement to counties in which state penal or hospital facilities are located for the cost of prosecution of escapees and for crimes committed by escapees.

Schoolman Explains Occupational Training

By JOHN HELLENBERG

Vocational Education Coordinator Iosco Intermediate School District

The term, occupational training, raises many questions: What is it? If it is so good, why don't we have it? What does it cost?

Under a vocational-occupational training program, high school students receive special training in advanced skills directly related to an occupational area.

The college student receives his vocational or occupational training in his college program. We might say that all college or university education is vocational.

But what about those students who do not go on to college, the reason may vary, lack of money, no desire or ability.

Occupational training at the high school level now can play an important part of the educational process.

Occupational training at the high school level now can play an important part of the educational process. High school students may elect to take specific occupational programs in addition to their general education classes.

In looking at the occupational oriented high school program, students may elect prevocational or basic first level skill classes in the ninth and 10th grades.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this County Board of Supervisors does NOT concur with the Michigan Prosecuting Attorneys' Association in the establishment of minimum salaries for Prosecutors by the State Legislature as this is an inherent responsibility of the County Board of Supervisors and would in effect remove the prosecutors from local jurisdiction.
