

Conservation Dept. Names Area Officer

Promotion of Donald D. Bell from conservation officer, Clare County, to area conservation officer is announced by C. Troy Yoder, region II conservation department manager, Roscommon.

Bell will make his headquarters at East Tawas and will direct and coordinate conservation law enforcement in Iosco, Oscoda and Alcona Counties. He will assume his new duties February 4.

Bell, 45, is a graduate of Bay City Central High School and a veteran of World War II. He has been a conservation officer for 20 years and has served continuously in Clare County. He, his wife, Elizabeth, and family will reside in the Tawas area.

According to O. J. Bennett, region II law supervisor, the position of area conservation officer was created to provide more efficient conservation law enforcement. Each area officer will be a working supervisor who will direct and coordinate the work of three to five officers.

The plan is intended to provide adequate law enforcement to all areas at all times. "Present day problems call for prompt organized team action. Group patrols can now be established immediately to handle problems as soon as they arise," said Bennett.

Jury Awards Judgment to Leo V. Maki

A circuit court jury of six men and six women awarded damages of $12,500 to Leo V. Maki, 57, 500 Franklin Street, in his suit against the City of East Tawas.

Held before Circuit Judge Allan C. Miller during a three-day trial last week, the jury announced its decision last Thursday evening after deliberating about four hours.

Maki, who lost his left eye December 4, 1965, when an explosion occurred in a fire at the city dump, had sought damages of $150,000 in his petition.

He claimed that city employees had started a fire in refuse which discharged a bullet, shell or other explosive missile. A fragment struck him in the eye, causing destruction of the retina of his left eye.

He claimed that the city was negligent in failure to have its dump adequately and properly supervised, that it failed to erect signs warning and prohibiting patrons from discarding shells, bullets or other similar dangerous missiles.

He also claimed that the city was negligent in allowing patrons to enter the dump area at times when burning was taking place and failure to schedule burning hours at times when patrons would not be present at the dump.

Historical Society Plans General Meeting Feb. 8

Next meeting of the Iosco Historical Society is to be held Thursday, February 8, 8:00 p. m., at the Iosco County Building. Attempts are being made to secure a speaker representing the Michigan Historical Society.

At a meeting of the board of directors January 18, a committee was appointed to formulate a constitution for the organization.

Davenport Granted Leave of Absence to Work on Degree

Marvin Davenport, county extension agent, has been granted a three-week leave of absence by Michigan State University to work on his doctor degree at the University of Arizona, Tucson, January 26 through February 13. Davenport was the recipient of a scholarship through the Farm Foundation of Chicago, Illinois, to do some study work in beef handling and nutrition.

While in Arizona, he will visit the beef research station and several ranches that have modern up-to-date facilities for corraling and handling beef cattle.

Public Hearing Soon on New Planning Code

Public hearing on East Tawas' comprehensive community plan, plus its new zoning and subdivision ordinances, is to be held in approximately 30 days.

At a joint meeting Monday night of the council and planning commission, legal steps to be followed for adoption were outlined by Mayor James Campbell.

Following the public hearing called by the planning commission and its final recommendation to the city council, a second public hearing would be held by the council on the zoning and subdivision ordinances.

Developed by the planning commission and its consultant, Raymond W. Mills and Associates, Incorporated, Midland, preparation of the plan and ordinances was financially aided through a federal grant from the Urban Renewal Administration of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Baldwin Township's portion of the master plan was adopted last May.

Felix J. Galavage, chairman of the planning commission, said that the proposed plan would provide guidelines for an orderly development of the community over the next 20 or more years.

Hale Lions Sponsor First Safari-Races

First annual snowmobile safari and races sponsored by the Hale Lions Club will be held this Saturday and Sunday.

The safari is scheduled to start at 9:00 a. m. Saturday and a 30-mile round trip to the Silver Valley winter sports area is being planned. A pancake supper is to be held at Plainfield Township Hall starting at 4:30.

Sunday's events include a cross country race at 8:00 a. m. Afternoon events include track races, sprint, powder puff and other races starting at 1 o'clock.

Richard Pfahl, who is co-chairman with Robert Hunt, said the committee expects a good turnout for the first annual event, although it will be competing with other snowmobile races in North-eastern Michigan.

Proceeds are to go to help the blind, one of the principal objectives of the Lions Club.

Supervisors Adopt Gem Figures as New Tax Base

Total tax base of $93,538,800 was adopted Thursday by the Iosco Board of Supervisors, but not before a move was made to cut the total by 10 percent.

As the final vote stands on a new tax base, including $83,196,190 in real estate and $10,342,610 in personal property, the total is $33,454 higher than in 1967.

Following presentation of Gem Surveys appraisals by Henry Oates, county tax equalization director, a move was made to cut the county total—first by 20 percent and finally by 10 percent.

During discussion, L. S. Little of Grant Township, the board's finance chairman, stressed the point that schools of the county would lose considerable state aid because of a deductible millage factor favoring districts with low valuation.

Other supervisors argued, however, that the county was required by the state tax commission to assess at 50 percent of true cash value in order to adopt the state equalized valuation. Otherwise, it was pointed out, a factor would be added to each unit to bring the full 50 percent figure.

Little amended his first motion and asked that the state equalized valuation as recommended by the county's equalization committee be reduced by 10 percent. This was defeated by a nine to eight secret ballot. Vote on a resolution from the equalization committee calling for a full 50 percent assessment on true cash value was adopted by a 10 to seven secret ballot.

As a result of board action, the new state equalized valuation will be reflected on tax statements to be used this summer on city taxes and for county, school and township taxes to be assessed next December.

Supervisors point out that the amount of millage to be assessed on the new tax base will be determined by the county allocation board next spring, based on actual budgets submitted. Because of the increased tax base, receipts from the new state income tax and other revenue increases, it is expected that millage required to meet the county's budget will be lower than last year. Schools, however, may face a need for more operational millage than received in 1967, depending on the final state aid bill adopted by the legislature.

In the meantime, taxpayers will have the opportunity to view individual assessments during boards of review held in March. Totals for each unit are to remain as adopted, although assessments of individual property owners may be raised or lowered according to action of boards of review.

A complete breakdown by Oates of Gem appraisal totals revealed that the biggest change in assessments would come in timber cut-over and industrial categories.

Timber cut-over, a classification for hunting land, will reflect an over-all increase of 5.96 percent. On the other hand, industrial real estate will have a reduction of 7.29 percent.

Appraisal totals brought in by Gem Surveys were as follows: Agricultural, $13,466,870; commercial, $18,837,800; industrial, $14,251,940; residential, $104,023,430; timber cut-over, $15,812,340.

Drain Commissioner Submits Resignation

Resignation of Richard Miller of Oscoda as county drain commissioner was tabled last week by the Iosco Board of Supervisors.

A letter from Miller stated that he is now a registered surveyor and, according to a new law, this would result in a conflict of interest if he were to continue as drain commissioner.

The resignation is due effective January 31 and the board tabled action for 30 days, or until such time as a successor may be appointed. The board also discussed possible abolishment of the office and turning duties over to the road commission.

In other business, Otis Love gave a report for the county planning commission and urged the board of supervisors to take the first step in participating in the federal 701 planning program by submitting an application for funds. The board approved submitting the application.

Other annual reports were heard from the Iosco-Arenac Regional Library, sheriff's department, county clerk, county treasurer, register of deeds, tax department and social welfare department.

Notification was received that the United States Forestry Department had granted use of property on the south end of the proposed north-south runway at the county airport for clearance uses.

Action is to be taken to improve police protection in the western part of the county. It was reported that two deputy sheriffs had recently resigned and some remedial action was recommended. Representatives of Plainfield, Reno and Burleigh Townships are to meet in the near future to discuss possible formation of a joint township police patrol.

Sgt. Kenneth Rynard, district coordinator for Civil Defense, Bay City, addressed the board and discussed this county's participation in the program.

On recommendation of supervisors, Chairman Charles Smith appointed the following residents to an emergency planning group in case of enemy attack: Richard Samson, county director of economic stabilization; Edward Burgess, director of consumer rationing; Martin Wellna, director of price control; A. Don Anderson, director of rent control.

A report from the social services department stated that a new rate of $13 per day, plus medication, had been established for private patients at Iosco Medical Care Facility.

The board approved payment of $20,432.67 to Gem Surveys, Incorporated, for its work on reappraising the county. This represents all but $5,000 on its final bill, which was withheld subject to a performance bond.

Jesse Bolin and Nile Burger, operators of Old Orchard Park, submitted their bid of notice exercising an option as 1968 concessionaire at the county-operated park. Approval was given by the board.

Authorization was given to transfer $46,384 in federal funds for the new addition at the medical care facility to the new Iosco County public improvement and building fund.

The board approved purchase of a new electric typewriter for the register of deeds office and appropriated $1,000 to the East Michigan Tourist Association.

Employees at the county building, other than elected officials, submitted a request for a 10 percent cost of living increase on wages. The request was referred to committee.

A meeting is to be arranged at the next session to discuss a pension retirement program for county employees. A representative of the Michigan Municipal Retirement System, as well as local insurance agents, are to attend the meeting.

Officers Attend State Convention

Attending a state convention of county officers at Grand Rapids on Monday and Tuesday of this week were Keith Papas, Iosco County clerk; Edward Nelkie, Iosco County treasurer; Albert H. Buch, Iosco County register of deeds.

Newsman Speaker For Citizen of the Year Event

Tawas will honor its outstanding citizen of 1967 at the annual citizen of the year banquet to be held Saturday night at the Barnes Hotel.

A selection committee has already named the honoree from nominations submitted to the Tawas Chamber of Commerce and his or her name has been placed in the vault of the Tawas City office of Peoples State Bank until Saturday night.

This is the third annual award, and, judging from the response from the community, it may be the biggest event in its history, according to Mrs. T. M. O'Loughlin, chamber of commerce office manager.

"Applications for nominations have been greater than ever before," said Mrs. O'Loughlin. "All that is needed now is a good turnout of area residents to honor the 1967 recipient," states Gar Bassett, chamber president.

The first citizen of the year banquet in January 1966, when Ralph Western was recipient, drew 287 persons. A crowd of about 200 persons attended the January 1967 event at the Barnes Hotel when Robert W. Elliott received the honor.

The candidate may be a man or woman, a resident of the Tawas Area School District. The award is to be made for his or her outstanding work or contribution to the welfare of the area for 1967, but such effort is to be outside his everyday occupational activities.

Floyd Dye, banquet chairman, has scheduled an interesting program for the night. Elliott, last year's award recipient, is to be master of ceremonies.

Principal speaker for the program will be Donald Caughlin, sports and feature writer for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Cleveland, Ohio.

A native of Cleveland, Caughlin attended the University of Notre Dame and then entered military service. After a stint as a sports writer for a West Virginia newspaper, he returned to Cleveland.

where he joined the Plain Dealer sports staff.

Caughlin will draw on his long experience in covering the Cleveland Browns, the Indianapolis 500, along with other national and international racing events to entertain with a "light hearted" talk.

Dr. E. W. Phillips of East Tawas and Caughlin were high school classmates at Cleveland and Phillips made arrangements for his friend to appear here.

The Rev. Ernest Ferguson, pastor of First Baptist Church, Tawas City, will give the invocation and benediction.

Tickets are available at the chamber of commerce office.

Iosco Board Endorses Gill Net Control

A resolution petitioning the Michigan Department of Conservation to institute strict regulations controlling the use of gill nets in Saginaw Bay, originally adopted in October by the Arenac Board of Supervisors, has received support from the Iosco Board of Supervisors.

The Arenac resolution stated that the action was in response to "local complaints and grievances brought out by the current controversy over gill net fishing in the Great Lakes."

The Arenac board's conservation committee stated that the introduction of nylon twine made gill net fishing so efficient that it increased the amount of this type of fishing to such an extent that "it practically destroyed the population of perch and other game fish in Lake Erie and Lake Michigan, which resulted in overpopulation of scrap fish now littering and fouling branches of these lakes."

Gill net fishermen are converging upon Saginaw, stated the resolution, which, "according to a testimony of owners of tourist accommodations, boat renters, sports fishermen, is already creating a scarcity of perch in the Tawas and AuGres areas."

The resolution stated that perch fishing is not only a very popular form of recreation for local residents, but also serves as a great tourist attraction in this region.

Board Directs Instructors to Follow Policy

Shop instructors at Tawas Area High School were directed by the board of education last week to follow a school policy adopted nearly one year ago in regard to auto mechanics instruction.

On February 6, 1967, the board adopted a policy recommending the school architect limiting two automobiles at one time in the new shop building for safety reasons. It was also decided at that time to limit instruction to school owned cars, rather than to allow students to work on their own vehicles.

Following last week's open house event at the new shop, a special meeting was called January 17 to discuss the curriculum and questions raised as to auto mechanics policy.

It is expected that a general discussion on auto mechanics instruction and building policy will be held at the board of education meeting to be held Monday, January 29, 7:30 p. m.

Could Lose Service

Would Reorganize Blood Bank

Reorganization of the Iosco County Blood Bank, under sponsorship of the American Red Cross, is now being contemplated in order to prevent losing this valuable service to residents of the county.

A meeting is to be held January 31, 7:30 p. m., at the Iosco County Building to hear a report by Douglas Fishback, representing the regional blood bank at Lansing.

New area teams are to be organized at this meeting under Mrs. Clarence Eoff, Oscoda, and Mrs. Ernest W. Jordan Jr., Tawas City, co-chairmen for bloodmobile visits.

Next visits by the bloodmobile are set for February 26 at Oscoda, followed by a visit February 27 at the East Tawas Community Building and at Wurtsmith Air Force Base on February 28.

A spokesman for the blood bank said that the last visit of the bloodmobile saw only 120 pints of blood collected during the two-day visitation at East Tawas and Oscoda. Attempts are to be made to renew interest in this valuable service in order to broaden the donor base.

Mrs. David A. Fellows has been named blood bank chairman to replace John Allen of Oscoda. J. Richard Ernst is county Red Cross chairman.

PERCH FISHING through the ice of Tawas Bay was spotty over the week-end. Excellent catches were reported late Friday evening, but the fish just did not seem to cooperate with visiting fishermen on Saturday. The Upper Room

Read John 16:14-15

Thou dost show me the path of life; in thy presence there is fullness of joy. (Psalm 16:11, RSV)

My furlough year spent, I was returning to work in Korea. I was aboard the freighter, DeSoto, anchored outside the harbor of Pusan. Captain Hansen was waiting for the dense fog to lift. He invited me, the only passenger, to go with him to the bridge of the ship.

In the thick fog, he stood looking intently ahead. We could not see the bow nor the stern of the ship. After watching for several minutes, I asked, "Aren't you straining your eyes?" Laughingly, he answered, "I'm not looking, I'm listening for the sounds through the fog!"

Sometimes when we cannot see where we are going, we have to stop to listen for God's voice through the fog of our confusion. When we cannot see the way ahead, we can listen to Him who holds us constantly in His love and care.

PRAYER

Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for guiding us past the shoals and rocks which would destroy us. We thank Thee for Thy voice which comes when we stop to listen. Help us to look to Thee when we are confused by life's fog. We pray in the name of Jesus, our Pilot. Amen.

Survey of lands for the purpose of establishing a legal description so that it can be identified on the ground is a fascinating art. Every person who owns property depends upon a land survey to describe the land area he owns.

In our area, two methods of survey are generally used to identify property. Often small parcels are identified by a word description of the lines and angles around the property starting from a known point.

Forest Chats

which can be located in relationship to a point in Southern Michigan.

For example, you may know that East Tawas and part of Tawas City are located in Town 22 North, Range 8 East. If I were standing at that initial point of Southern Michigan, I could find East Tawas and Tawas City by going about 132 miles north and then about 48 miles east. I would pass within six miles of town.

Obviously, we would want to get closer to town than that so it becomes necessary to divide a township, which is six miles square, bounded by the town and range lines, into smaller parts. The survey system has done this by dividing the township into 36 parts which are each one mile square. Each of these square mile blocks are known as a section and are numbered from one to 36. To get even closer, the system divides a section into four equal parts and presto, we have a quarter-section worth 160 acres. Dividing further, if we break up that 160-acre quarter section into four equal parts, eureka, we have our "back 40." A "40," (a 40-acre square) can also be broken down smaller if it is necessary.

If your land were described in your deed as NW¹/₄NW¹/₄ of Section 16, Town 24 North, Range 8 East of the Michigan meridian, you would find your land in the north west 40 of the north west quarter section of section number 16 located in a six-mile square which is about 132 miles north and about 48 miles east of that initial point in Lower Michigan. You might want to draw that out on paper.

All of this is in the way of introducing our next two Forest Chat columns in which we want to tell you of the lads who about 130 years ago traversed our county with a measuring tape in one hand and a transit in the other establishing the corners and boundaries that we have today. So many people ask us about the various markers and corner posts found throughout the county that we will also describe them as well as some of the problems of land line location that commonly occur.

2 tablespoons orange juice 1 teaspoon lemon juice Blend all ingredients. Set aside. After baking a pound cake, cool for 10 minutes; remove from pan. Punch holes in top with a fork. Pour glaze, a little at a time, over the top.

STUFFED CELERY Place in blender: One three-ounce package of cream cheese, one tablespoon onion, one-fourth teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1/2 tablespoons heavy cream and two-thirds cup chopped, cooked shrimp. Blend well. Fill celery with mixture and garnish with paprika. Serve on chilled hors d'oeuvre tray.

CHUTNEY GRAVY Just add a touch of seasoning and you can have a savory creation. To each cup of beef gravy (fresh or leftover), add one-fourth cup of chutney. Pour over sliced roast beef.

FLOWER ARRANGING Container for a flower arrangement should complement, not dominate the design. Simple shapes in neutral colors lend themselves to a variety of compositions. In every home such basic shapes in bottles, jars, boxes and baskets can be found which can make ingenious flower containers.

MINTED SALAD Sprinkle a tablespoon of mint leaves on the top of a mixed vegetable salad for six servings. Add French dressing and toss lightly.

Medical Care Facility Busy; Expands Staff

Iosco Medical Care Facility physical therapy department has been operating for 1½ years with a steady increase of patients. This increase has warranted an additional physical therapist, Mrs. Janet Mott, RPT, who will work two days each week.

The local facility is fortunate to have two registered therapists as many similar facilities are not able to obtain qualified help.

In reviewing the cost of operating the department, the county board of social services felt the charge to patients was too low. A revised charge has been set according to time a treatment takes and the number of different types of treatment used on any one patient.

New charges which go into effect February 1 have been circulated to area doctors, hospital and air force base and will be posted at the facility.

Seventh Straight Braves Edge Dukes

A good defense aided Tawas Area Braves in their 58-52 win over Essexville Garber Friday night and kept them on top of the Northern B Conference with six wins and no losses.

The Braves traveled to Whittemore-Prescott Area Tuesday night (last night) for a nonconference game and are to travel to West Branch this Friday night for the second meeting between these two schools. A big game is scheduled for January 31 when the Braves play at Oscoda. The game had been postponed because of semester examinations.

Friday night's action saw the Braves with one big quarter, outscoring the visitors by 13 points, and that was exactly what was needed to win.

The two teams traded basket for basket in the opening quarter and ended in a 15-15 tie. Guard Dennis Krish meshed three long shots to lead his mates while Dan Nemode had 11 points to lead the visitors.

Tawas' big 21-point second quarter saw Gary Haglund mesh 11 points on five field goals and a foul shot. Aiding the cause was Bob Brugger, who pumped in two quick field goals and turned in a good defensive game. Krish popped a field goal and two foul shots, while Doak meshed a field goal. Nemode was on the bench for most of the second quarter because of fouls and Essexville garnered but eight points.

Sporting a 12-point lead at one time, the Braves were outscored in the second half by the visitors. Essexville held a 15-13 margin in the third quarter and then came back with a 14-9 edge in the final.

The visitors' press defense continued to give Tawas trouble during the night. The Braves were off on their shooting and it was not one of their better passing nights.

Essexville grabbed the lead at one point in the final quarter but fouls plagued the visitors in a closely called game. Tawas made but six field goals in the second half. Ten completions out of 19 foul shots kept the Braves on top.

Haglund's 15 points, followed by 13 for Krish, proved to be high scoring for Tawas. Nemode had 17 to top the visitors.

Tawas Junior Varsity took a 54-48 decision over the visiting Essexville Garber team. The visitors jumped off to a 13-12 lead in the first quarter but Tawas came back with a 20-11 scoring effort in the second quarter. The visitors cut the margin in the third with a 15-9 edge, but Tawas held a 13-9 margin in the fourth quarter.

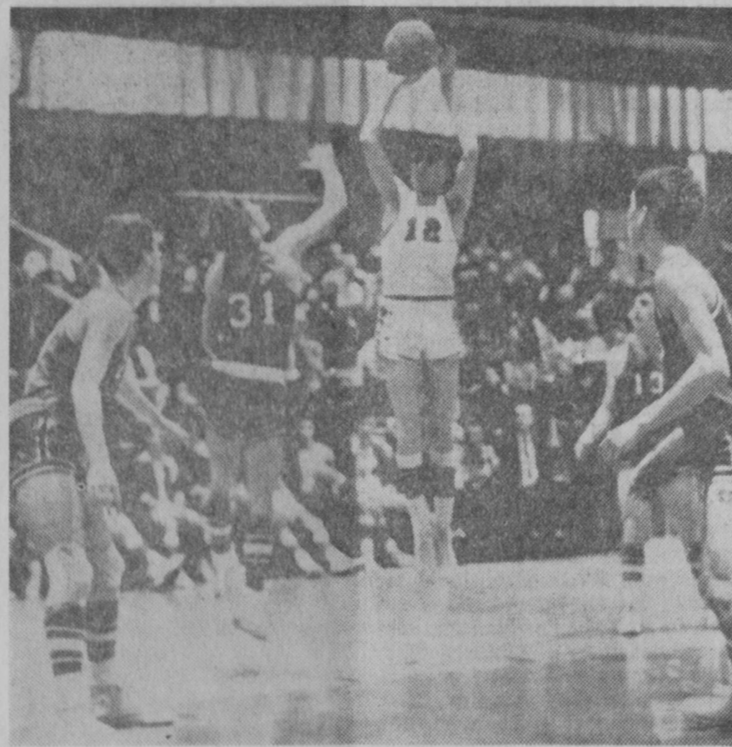

Lickfelt was top scorer with 23 points, followed by 15 for Baker. Libka and Look each scored four points, followed by three points each for Svenko and Sheldon. Mick had two points. Conlin led the visitors with 14.

Bandit Bolts Marshal; Free Only Two Hours

Grant Goddard Jr., 41, Montrose, facing up to 50 years in prison for the October 1965 bank robbery at Otisville, broke away from a United States marshal Monday in the United States District Court, Bay City. He was captured two hours later in a Bay City parking lot.

Goddard had just been convicted by a jury of conspiracy in the two bank holdups. Federal Judge Stephen J. Roth turned Goddard over to the marshal, who escorted the prisoner down a second floor hallway.

The prisoner bolted and was not captured until 6:15 p. m. in the parking lot of Sears and Roebuck Company by two Bay City policemen. Goddard was evidently looking for a car to make good his escape.

Roadblocks were thrown up around Bay County and Goddard's car, parked at a service station, was staked out but he made no effort to get to it. He had been free on bond prior to his conviction.

Goddard had been linked to the October 6, 1965, holdup of the Whittemore branch of Farmers and Merchants State Bank. Donald J. Sundberg, 40, held up the cashier and was arrested 1½ months later following the Otisville bank holdup. He was sentenced to a federal prison.

Announce Michigan Week Theme for 1968 Observance - 'Land of Hospitality'

A drawing of friendly people and an outline of the state accompanied by the theme "Michigan—Land of Hospitality" will be the emblem of the 1968 Michigan Week May 19-25.

An appeal to business firms, schools, organizations and individuals to begin displaying it everywhere early in the spring was made by Win Schuler of Marshall, general chairman of Michigan Week, in announcing the emblem.

Posters, placemats, lapel pins and other promotional materials bearing the emblem are being prepared by the state committee and will be as usual be sold at cost, but Chairman Schuler invites companies and groups of all kinds to make and display original posters and create their own version of the emblem, using the three elements: Friendly people, the map and the theme. It is still the emblem, with or without the dates of Michigan Week.

Of the materials offered by the state committee, the several sizes of posters carry the Michigan

Week dates but some items, as lapel pins and placemats are always prepared without the dates to be as useable the year around as in the springtime period leading up to Michigan Week when state promotion by Michigan citizens is at its height.

"Of course, we want everybody to take part vigorously in Michigan Week in May," Mr. Schuler said, "but the dates are incidental. Michigan Week is not a time of year. It is a great movement by Michigan people working as volunteers for the promotion and progress of their state. It goes on the year around and reaches a big, glorious climax in May."

This is the first year since Michigan Week began in 1954 that the emblem has not included a bird. For 12 years the robin, Michigan's official state bird, was always present, sometimes in a sailor's cap, sometimes in a drum major's attire, always jaunty. In 1966 and '67, the emblem showed three gulls soaring over the Mackinac Bridge.
