Road Group Dropped from Oscoda Suit

A summary judgment was granted in favor of Isosco Road Commission in regard to a suit brought by Kathleen D. Souci of Oscoda. The road commission had been named as defendant in a suit brought by Mrs. Souci against the Township of Oscoda, Cecil and Ebert Kennedy, grocery store owners. Mrs. Souci had been injured May 4, 1967, when she fell on a sidewalk at Oscoda. The judge denied a summary judgment asked by the township, but said there being no evidence at this juncture to indicate whether or not the township created and maintained the sidewalk or part of it, or whether the adjoining lot owner created or maintained the sidewalk, the court was without basis of drawing either a finding of fact or conclusion of law as to the possible responsibility.

Operational Millage Sought by School

TA Voters to Decide Three-Year Tax Levy

Taxpayers of Tawas Area School District will be asked to approve a special 3/4-mill operational tax levy for three years at the June 10 school election. This action was taken at Monday night's meeting of the board of education. Supt. Reynold Mick reported that his talks with various members of the Isosco Allocation Board indicated that county schools would receive from 9.75 to 10 mills of the 15-mill limitation to be split between the county, townships and schools. He emphasized to board of education members that, should schools receive the full 10-mill allocation, it would not be necessary to levy the additional one-quarter mill being voted upon as three mills, plus 10 mills allocated, would meet the 1968-1969 budget. Actually, the proposed levy plus building and site, would not increase millage over last year for school operation. Last year, the voted levy was 2.5 mills for operation, two mills for building and site, 1.569 for debt retirement. This was a total of 6.069 above the 15-mill limitation. Should the June 10 election prove successful, millage for 1968-1969 would be 3.25 for operation, 1.1 mills for debt retirement, for a total of 4.35 above the 15-mill limitation. Of 553 schools in the state, only 14 had less millage for operation than Tawas in 1967-1968. All other schools had more. Ten schools had a levy of 30 or more mills for operation. "We are in competition with these schools for personnel," said Mick. "If one wants to get the most competent teachers, then one must have the money with which to compete." Last year, the average pupil received $218.75 in state aid. Tawas Area received $207.88. For the year 1968-1969, Tawas will receive $184.58, due to the increased valuation and increased deductible millage. Some schools get as much as $50 more money per child from state aid for 1968-1969. Tawas Area will receive $23.30 less in state aid, causing this district to be in a less favorable position, in comparison with other schools, by $73.30 per child. The question will be asked, "What will 3/4 mills do to help alleviate this deficiency?" said Mick. During 1967-1968, the district will spend an estimated $125,000 more for operation than was received. This will leave a balance of about $46,000 in the general fund on June 30, 1968, as compared to $171,000 on June 30, 1967. Plans are to add another science teacher to the staff for 1968-1969 and to introduce an adult education program with assistance from the Mott Foundation. With these additions, it is estimated that including the proceeds from a 3/4-mill addition, this will leave the general fund with no balance in June 1969. If the proposal is not successful, the board of education would have to choose between several alternatives. One way would be a drastic curtailment of the program at the school. "This is not easy to accomplish as the time for dismissal of teachers is now past and, if we wish to hire good teachers, we must employ them now when they are available. Small savings can

Band Week Program Features Spring Concert

This is Tawas Area Band Week—May 12-18—highlighted by a tribute to its unique spring concert scheduled Saturday night at the high school auditorium. Mayors of the Tawas area have both issued proclamations urging participation by citizens in this program. Visitors began inspecting band facilities at the high school Monday and tours are expected to continue through Friday. Saturday is tag day on streets of the Tawas area and band members will be selling tags to help defray cost of the "Tawas" suite. Highlight of the week will be the premiere presentation of "Tawas," a suite for band in three parts by Lloyd Conley, during the spring concert program Saturday, 8:00 p. m. Taking part in the program will be the senior band and cadet band. The composer is to conduct his own work. First movement of the Conley work is entitled "1768—Brave Inspiration." Music reminiscent of the virgin pine forests and the Indians living in them will be the basic theme of this movement. A dominant solo flute shares this movement with drums and tympani. The second movement is "1868—Lore of the Pine." Lumber, lumberjacks and their vigorous, colorful music and scores are the backbone of this movement. A solo French horn replaces the flute of the first movement and is joined by a variety of instruments, paces and melodies. The final movement is "1968—Holiday." The all-season pursuit of pleasure is what is now primarily a recreational area is underlined by forceful trumpets rising from a tympani crescendo, announcing the motif of the movement. Mid way, a rest breaks the fast-moving, playing pace of the movement. The composer was born in Rogers City, received his bachelor of music degree from Central Michigan University in 1949 and his master degree from Michigan State University in 1950. He served three years with an

Trooper Struck While Flagging Down Truck

State Trooper Roger W. Bittell, who was to have been transferred from East Tawas to Ypsilanti effective May 12, received serious injuries Friday afternoon when struck by an automobile south of Oscoda. While working traffic on regular patrol, Bittell had flagged down one tractor-trailer unit and was attempting to stop two more units. An automobile driven by Marjorie Donaskowski, 40, Alpena, was traveling in front of the trucks and she slowed her vehicle when she saw the officer standing along side of the road. The Donaskowski vehicle was struck from the rear by a truck operated by Max Forke, 37, Three Oaks, St. Louis Freight Lines. The car skidded around, struck the officer and pinned him against the patrol car. He received a deep laceration and fracture of the right leg. Bittell was taken to Tawas Hospital for treatment. It is expected that he will not return to duty for about two months. The truck driver received a traffic summons for following too close to the Donaskowski vehicle.

Several revisions have been made, one being that the age limit has now been raised to 18 years through 60. If not married and under 21 years of age, a donor must have the written consent of parents. "Even though our last drive was a success, the need continues and we urgently ask your continued support in the most worthy cause to humanity," said Mrs. David A. Fellows, bloodmobile chairman, Isosco County Chapter, American Red Cross.

TV Program Gives Tribute to Missionaries

Today's Christian missionaries and service workers receive an overdue tribute on an ABC-TV color special scheduled for 10:00 p. m., Monday, May 20, titled "In the Name of God."

In contrast to the ancient picture of missionaries proselytizing and evangelizing, this documentary focuses on three Christians who solve the "earthly" problems of their parishioners.

A large portion of the documentary depicts Action for Food Production (AFPPD), a Protestant-Catholic priority program of agriculture production. Protestants support the program through Church World Service.

"In the Name of God" shows the cooperation of Protestant and Catholic missionaries in their day-to-day job of trying to alleviate starvation in overpopulated India. The AFPPD program concentrates on food production, the Christian missionaries teach the Indians new farming methods, supervise well-drilling and use of fertilizer on crops.

"These modern missionaries are such great men. What they do enables all mankind and everyone is richer because this dedicated group has chosen to remain poor," said John Secundari, producer of "In the Name of God." This special is part of the award-winning series, "Saga of Western Man," which Mr. Secundari has produced with Helen Jean Rogers.

The program also shows work of two more Catholic missionaries in the Western Carolines and Eastern Carolines Islands.

Missionary to Liberia Will Speak Here

The Rev. Karl W. Luyben, a missionary to Liberia, West Africa, for 21 years, will be speaking at Hemlock Road Baptist Church Sunday, May 19, 11:00 a. m., continuing nightly at 7:00 p. m. through Wednesday, May 22.

Mr. Luyben and his family have been associated with Baptist missions of Cleveland, Ohio, since 1946 and have enjoyed four terms of service in Liberia.

Vivid pictures and interesting curios are used to give a better understanding of the West African way of life. Years of experience with primitive tribes enables Mr. Luyben to explain the customs, superstitions and religious beliefs of these interesting people.

Liberia was founded by Americans who returned to Africa to establish a home of their own. Africa's first Negro republic, it was founded in 1847. In an area about the size of the State of Ohio lives

27 or more tribes each having its own physical characteristics, superstitions, customs, religion and language. As in the rest of Africa, Liberia is rapidly progressing and today one can see a mixture of the primitive and the cultured, the old and the new. The Rev. Walter Buck welcomes all who wish to attend these services.

Public Hearing to Designate Michigan Water Use Standards

The second in a series of public hearings to designate the specific water uses to be protected by Michigan's new standards of water quality for inland lakes and streams will be held in Saginaw on May 28. The State Water Resources Commission will conduct the hearing in the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Bancroft, beginning at 1:30 p. m., it was announced today by Loring F. Oeming, commission executive secretary.

Adopted January 4, these standards are similar to those adopted in June 1967 for interstate waters, including the Great Lakes, although some additional standards are included for application to inland lakes. The new standards are designed to maximize the usefulness of the state's water resource for all citizens.

This hearing will deal with waters in the lower Lake Huron drainage basin, Oeming said. Subsequent meetings at other locations will be concerned with the state's other inland lakes and streams.

Information on present and prospective future uses of the waters involved will be presented at the hearing. At a subsequent meeting, the commission will then designate the uses to be protected within the drainage basins of the AuGres, Black, Cass, Flint, Kawawlin, Pigeon, Pine, Pinnebog, Rifle, Saginaw, Sebawaing, Shiawassee, Tittabawassee and Willow Rivers and minor tributaries to lower Lake Huron.

Notification of the public hearing has been sent to municipalities and industries in the area as well as to interested organizations. In addition, the commission staff has reviewed the proposed water use designations with various planning entities and civic groups in the area.

Persons attending the hearing will be given an opportunity to express their views on the commission's proposals. Copies of the proposed water uses to be protected and the inland water quality standards are available upon request from the Water Resources Commission.

Board OK's Disposing of Old School

Authorization was given Monday night by Tawas Area Board of Education to return the former Laidlaw School property to the Laidlaw estate.

This school had been included in the reorganization of the Tawas Area School District 16 years ago. A reverter clause in the deed received by the school required that the property be returned to the Laidlaws when it was no longer needed for school purposes.

During recent weeks, 72 windows have been broken in the building. Two boys responsible for breaking 16 windows have been apprehended.

The building had been used as a community center in the Laidlawville area, but the group now intends to use the Tawas Township Hall for its meetings.

The board of education is to advertise for bids on the purchase of the building and remove it from the site. Materials still useful in classroom instruction are to be removed, but old school desks, a piano, blackboards and books would be sold on a bid basis in one lot.

TC Cemetery Readied for Memorial Day

Anticipating the annual Memorial Day pilgrimage to the Tawas City Cemetery, the cemetery staff is making every effort to beautify the grounds.

A recent inspection by members of the cemetery board revealed a large number of artificial flowers that have deteriorated and are unsightly. The board suggests that anyone desiring to salvage these flowers do so at once. This will facilitate mowing as well as adding to the general appearance of the area.

A number of flower pots have been sunk into the ground leaving holes when removed. This presents a hazard when mowing a grave. This practice is discouraged.

Individuals, who wish to discuss any matters pertaining to their grave sites, are welcome to appear at monthly meetings of the cemetery board which are held at 9:30 a. m. on the third Thursday of each month at the Tawas City Hall, according to Charles P. Eich, board chairman.

New 'Safety Bugs' Develop Safe Driving Habits in School

Bugs will be in every Tawas elementary school if "Mr. Safety" has his way. Furthermore, parents, teachers and neighbors will welcome them. They will be "Safety Bugs," members of a new club that makes safe motoring habits fun for youngsters.

Tawas Chamber of Commerce, Tawas Area High School and local car dealerships are sponsoring the "Safety Bug Club" locally by giving free membership badges to children who sign a pledge to "bug" themselves and other persons in the car to follow several sound safety rules. "Always buckle our safety belts before the car starts . . . Lock the car doors when we get in and after we get out . . . Get the SAFETY habit!"

The "Safety Bug Club" is one element in a new community traffic safety program that will be held throughout the year.

Traffic safety is a community responsibility. Accident reduction has to begin where accidents occur and four out of five accidents happen within 25 miles of the driver's home. Auto safety habits should be taught in the home, school and community. They should be learned in connection with the family car.

Theme for the year-round community traffic safety program is "Know, maintain and use your car's safety features." These include safety-related items in the car which are under the driver's control, such as brakes, steering, tires, lights, turn signals, safety belts, door locks and others. These should be kept in safe driving condition at all times. If properly maintained and used, they can prevent accidents.

Tawas Chamber of Commerce, in conjunction with Tawas Area High School, and local car dealerships, is happy to safety-check your car from bumper to bumper, explain what the safety features are and how to use them for maximum protection.

The safety check will be held at the foot of Newman Street at the light.

Safety checks will begin at 9:00 a. m. and continue to 4:00 p. m. on Wednesday, May 22, and from 1:00 to 8:00 p. m. Thursday, May 23.

Team Teaching

Term Saw Problems; See Improvement

Continuation of Tawas Area High School's utilization of team teaching methods for social studies classes has been authorized for another year.

Robert McDonald, who was appointed department head after the start of the program last fall, told board of education members Monday night that much had been learned concerning this type of instruction during the past several months.

Team teaching is a rather new educational concept whereby social studies (history, geography and government) are offered in one large class, rather than the traditional method of dividing the class into four or five sections, with one teacher handling the same subject throughout the day.

Classes are handled by teams of, from two to three teachers and, as a result, better utilization is made of individual teacher's talents and interests, as well as utilization of resources from a wide variety of areas.

McDonald said that one of the drawbacks to the program had been that proper facilities for such classes had been lacking at the start of the year, plus the fact that the room, converted from shop quarters, was often too hot for students and there was a lack of adequate blackout curtains. Some corrections have been made and others are to be made this year.

"We have been growing with the program and we are now at a point where we have the facilities which were needed when the program first started last fall," said McDonald.

The department head said there was a definite need for a room to hold weekly team meetings and a place to prepare lesson plans. Authorization was given to remove walls separating two small office areas in order to provide larger quarters.

While admitting there was still much to be desired in formation of school policy relative to team teaching, and this could be developed prior to the start of another term, McDonald felt that students derive many benefits from this type of instruction.

Some of the benefits include better prepared instructors by specialization in certain fields and more time for planning, more effective use of audio visual materials, coordination between junior high and high school instruction, elimination of duplication in instruction, more original lectures and more time to work with individual students.

It was felt that lecture classes of this type should not be offered at the seventh grade level because of the need for taking of notes by individual students. Instruction in the proper method of taking notes during classes has been started in the upper elementary grades.

While there have been some drawbacks to the program, McDonald said that most of the teachers involved have been favorable to this type of instruction.

Students—Chaperones—

Enjoy Greenfield Village Trip

Four busloads of eighth graders from Tawas Area School, teachers and chaperones enjoyed a day-long visit to Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, last Saturday.

After the last bus check at 5:30 a. m., buses left the school here on a five-hour trip to Dearborn. As the group neared its destination, the weatherman's Friday night forecast was found to be correct—"light rain and cool."

The class had been divided earlier into eight or nine students in a group by Mrs. Gordon Dunham, class teacher. These groups and chaperones began an interesting trek through Greenfield Village.

After visiting old homes and birthplaces of the famous—Noah Webster, Stephen Foster, George Washington Carver; looking into old-fashioned shops and visiting the Logan County Courthouse, where Abraham Lincoln got his start as a lawyer, the group hurried back to the buses for a sack lunch.

The afternoon was spent in the dry and warm Henry Ford Museum, amidst memories of this country since its beginning. Each student and chaperone had his or her favorite—antique firearms, autos, railroad locomotives and cars, household furniture and the comfort of benches strategically placed throughout the 14-acre museum.

Buses left at 4:00 p. m. after checking to see that all were present. The class stopped at two restaurants at Flint for the evening meal. While there, it was discovered that one bus had a flat tire and all the boys on that bus were transferred to the other three, in order to lighten the load for the remainder of the trip.

The trip began in good spirits and ended in good spirits with the class pulling into the Tawas Area School parking lot about 9:30 p. m., where parents were waiting to pick up students.

In summarizing the trip, teachers, students and chaperones found it a memorable event and were proud in their school community, parents and homes in the way students acted during the long day.

TA Golfers Lost Friday

Tawas Area High School golfers lost to Carrollton last Friday, 153-168.

Dennis Krish fired a 38 to lead his mates, but two 38s, a 37 and 40 proved to be a winner for Carrollton.

Tawas scores besides that carded by Krish were Mark Harris, 43; Ron Doak, 43; Clair Moore, 44; Mike Saunders, the fifth man, shot a 44.

STUDENTS enjoyed a visit to Sir John Bennett's clock shop, located at Greenfield Village, Dearborn.—Tawas Herald Photos.

Pearsall Receives Sea-Doo Delivery

Daniel Pearsall of D. D. Pearsall's Sentry Hardware, Hale, announces delivery of the Sea-Doo, the unique new aqua scooter developed and introduced by Bombardier, Limited, the company which pioneered snowmobiles and today is the largest manufacturer of this line.

Pearsall said that Sea-Doo is designed to bring to water the same safe, swift fun which the Ski-Doo snowmobile has brought to snow.

Sea-Doo's exciting streamlined styling enables it to skim over the water, carrying up to 250 pounds, as it is propelled and maneuvered by a water jet turbine powered by a Rotax air-cooled, two-cycle engine, which has long been tested in rugged snowmobile usage.

What an ache in the back spring housecleaning always was. Rather than go fishing with a guilty feeling, I stayed home and helped. ## Sets Eye on Brother's Record and Tops It

One of the ambitions of Shaun LaBlance, Tawas Area High School senior, has been to beat the high jump track record held by his brother, Joe. He not only put his name on the school record book May 7, but pushed himself into real contention for the NBC record.

Transferring here from Saginaw St. Paul Seminary this year, Shaun has had one eye on the high jump record of six feet, one inch, set by his brother back in 1963.

With the field narrowed down to four contenders in a triangular meet at Oscoda, Shaun eliminated the three other trackmen—Gary Haglund and Paul Beyer of the Braves and Maynard Crowley of the Owls—who faltered at five feet, 11 inches.

The bar was then moved to the six feet, one-quarter inch mark, which Shaun took in stride and then soared over the bar at six feet, two inches. On his last try at six feet, three inches, Shaun lost his footing and had to settle for his final mark of six feet, two inches.

Shaun, who stands five feet, 10 inches, will be shooting for an even higher mark in future meets this spring. The class B state record is six feet, five inches. The conference record is five feet, nine inches, which must be set at the annual NBC track meet.

TC Indies Drop Second Straight Game

Tawas City Indies suffered its second straight setback Sunday, losing to Roscommon, 6-0.

Bill Solomon of Tawas and Fuller of Roscommon hooked up in a good pitchers' duel for 4½ innings before the winners touched Solomon for three hits and one run in the bottom of the fifth inning. Tawas City collected seven hits during the day but was unable to find the right combination.

Roscommon scored five runs in the seventh inning on four hits, capped by a home run by Haines. Solomon struck out nine batters and walked one. Fuller struck out seven and did not issue a free pass.

Bob Gingerich and Ken Cadorette each had doubles for Tawas.

Homer Barrage Doomed Bears

Barton City, defending champion of the NEM League, rippled its muscles Sunday with an 8-4 victory over East Tawas and gave strong indication that it was the team to beat for 1968 honors.

The Bears jumped off to a one-run lead in the first inning on Duane Sanders' home run, but Barton City roared back in the bottom half of the inning with a pair of homers and four big runs. Hitting for the circuit were Schram and McGregor.

Dick Doak started for the Bears and was around long enough to yield four hits and four runs. Grant Mousseau came on and finished out the game.

Barton City collected two more runs in the second and East Tawas staged a three-run rally in the fifth. The Bears combined three of their five hits of the day off Burger in that inning, but the output just could not match that home run barrage of Barton City.

W. McGregor opened the seventh inning with a double and Schram, veteran third baseman, blasted his second homer of the day.

Certain Children May Qualify Under SS Law

Recent changes in the Social Security Act make monthly checks payable to certain children whose mothers have died. It was explained by John Carr, district manager, Bay City Social Security office.

Previously, when a working mother died, surviving children under 18 (to age 22 if in school) could receive monthly Social Security benefits only if the mother had worked about half of the three years preceding death or if she was the main support for the child or children. Now, beginning with February 1968, such a child gets benefits on the account of his deceased mother (including step mother and adopting mother) under the same rules as would apply in case of a father's death.

Mr. Carr further added, it is especially important in this day and age because such a large percentage of female workers are also mothers. The change in Social Security adds significantly to the total family insurance protection enjoyed by the parents of young families where the mother works, either part time or full time. This indicates a recognition of the important part a mother's earnings play in the total family support picture. The life insurance value in such a situation may range from $55 a month (minimum payable for one child) up to $322 a month for three or more children.

Such financial help would aid the father in meeting additional expenses usually encountered in making a home for motherless children. Although monthly benefits under this new rule did not begin until February, it applies in any case where the child is still under 18 or under 22 and attending school.

For instance, little six-year-old Nancy's mother was killed in an auto accident four years ago when Nancy was two. The mother had worked several years prior to Nancy's birth but none since then. Under the old law, only a lump-sum death payment could have been paid at the mother's death. The 1967 amendments make Nancy eligible for monthly checks on her mother's accounts.

Are Americans Well Fed?

Every time a ship sails from one of our ports, laden with grain for the hungry and impoverished in another country, we could get the impression that there is no malnutrition within our own borders.

There are more malnutrition and poor diets now than 10 years ago.

According to a 1965 USDA survey, 60 percent of households had good diets in 1955 as compared to 50 percent in 1965. The poor diets were below the recommended dietary allowance in intake of one or more nutrients.

Calcium, vitamin A and ascorbic acid (vitamin C) were the nutrients most often found to be low.

This is not to be interpreted that these households had persons suffering from malnutrition. However, these poor diets should be considered as in need of correction.

Tags on Clothes Good Clue To Care

Most tags on new clothes are wasted on the wastebasket, which neither can read nor wear clothes.

Consumers who wear and care for clothing tend to ignore the manufacturer's recommendations. The multitude of tags may be one of the reasons for this lack of interest.

Labels and tags accompany a garment from its fiber stage to its retail stage with new information added at each step in the process.

Fiber manufacturers want to be sure their product names are recognized and bought. The same holds true for the yarn and fabric manufacturers who use the fibers.

Retailers also want to project their store names and legislative requirements are placed on manufacturers for such things as fiber content of articles.

Most retailers simply add their own tags to the larger manufacturer's labels, because of the prestige and selling power added by nationally advertised trademarks.

Occasionally, a garment comes to the retailer with tags attached to it that contradict each other. The clothing industry is working on ways of eliminating such problems, but a few slip by.

A fiber by itself may be able to withstand any type of washing but not be made into a washable fabric. The spinner of the yarns may mix other fibers with it or the weaver or knitter may use a construction which will shrink or change shape in washing.

Dyes used in printing fabrics can transform a washable fabric into an article which is dry cleanable only. Trimming, lining, interfacings and other components also can have this same effect.

The fiber maker labels his fiber with instructions on caring for it, the finisher tells how to care for his particular dye or perhaps water repellent process and the garment maker changes the whole story by constructing an article which, to be safe, calls for a label that reads, "dry clean only."

Giant Quart? Would you say there was any difference between a quart and a giant quart? Most likely you would say what about 60 percent of the food shoppers who were actually asked this question said... "A quart is a quart is a quart." But what of the other 40 percent? They were confused... thought a giant quart might really be larger. Since that question was asked in Michigan several years ago, the laws have been changed to outlaw such qualifying terms as giant or super, when applied to a standard measure. Now, by law, a quart is a quart.

15 Years Ago—

May 15, 1953—C. Warren Wagner, vice president and general manager of Timco Corporation, announced Wednesday the immediate enlargement of the firm's plant on Oak Street, Tawas City, by 50 percent. The plant produces stampings and sheet metal fabrications and was established here in July 1952.

Marvin Davenport, 4-H Club agent for the past three years, has been appointed Iosco County agricultural agent to succeed Harold R. Clark, who resigned three weeks ago.

Arthur Anschuetz, Tawas Township farmer, has purchased the John Bryning sawmill near Miner's Grove. The mill will be moved to the Anschuetz farm on Youngs Road.

25 Years Ago—

May 14, 1943—A. J. Goulette of Oscoda was named chairman of the Iosco Tax Allocation Board.

A rainbow trout tagged at Guley Pond on April 15, 1941, was netted recently off Kingsville, Ontario, Canada, further buttressing the conservation department's belief that rainbows are accomplished travelers.

Lt. Sidat-Singh, former Syracuse University football star, lost his life when his pursuit plane from Oscoda Army Air Base caught fire and plunged into Lake Huron about three miles east of Tawas Point light. The plane circled over Tawas City and East Tawas and then headed out over the bay. A lookout at the coast guard station and several spectators say they saw smoke billowing from the plane and then a parachute opened and dropped into the water. The missing flier has not been found.

By act of the city council at Whittemore, all dogs and chickens must keep off the streets between April 1 and November 1 to save war gardens. Drastic action is to be taken if owners fail to abide with the ordinance.

35 Years Ago—

May 19, 1933—Review days for seventh and eighth graders, conducted by the county commissioner of schools, Miss Margaret Worden, saw the following winners: Marie Becker, seventh grade, and Harvey Rempert, eighth grade, arithmetic; Virginia Plakette, seventh grade, and Ida Nelen, eighth grade, grammar. Tawas City School was host to surrounding schools and a program was given by high school students under the direction of Miss Crosby and Miss Brothwell.

The Iosco County Tax Commission, which was in session Monday and Tuesday, allocated five mills of the 15-mill maximum tax rate to the county. The greatest difficulty met was to allocate each school district's share. Even though the maximum amount, in the judgment of the commissioners, was allowed, in most districts it will fall far short of raising the money asked for in budgets. It is thought that the legislature may supplement this with funds from proposed new taxes. Tawas City School asked for 24 mills and received 7.2, while East Tawas School asked for 22 mills and received 7.4. Township millage ranged from a high of 3.6 in Reno to a low of 1.1 in Burleigh.

Prof. Youngs Retires After Long Career

Prof. Stephen P. Youngs, a nationally-known figure in the field of psychometry at Lake Superior State College, Sault Ste. Marie, has announced his retirement after 40 years of service in the fields of teaching, school administration and vocational guidance counseling.

Professor Youngs has been associated with Lake Superior State College since 1947, when he joined the faculty with a psychometrist and vocational guidance counselor. He was promoted to the position of full professor and chairman of the vocational counseling department at LSSC, which is internationally recognized for its testing program.

Since 1947, Professor Youngs has maintained his personal goal of counseling over 20,000 people. Previous to joining the faculty at LSSC, he acted as superintendent and coach at Sterling High School. His first teaching assignment was instructor in social studies at Detroit Northern High School. Following his assignment, he was principal and coach at East Tawas Public School.

He received his degree in social studies and physical education at Michigan State University and his degree in education from Northern Michigan University. He has done post graduate work at Colgate, Wayne State and the University of Colorado.

Professor Youngs holds two master degrees from the University of Colorado, one in education administration and the other in counseling. While at this university, Professor Youngs first gained his inspiration and insight working with Doctor Unger of the University of Colorado, Doctor Kelly of Harvard, Doctor Dyde from England's Oxford University and the renowned psychotherapist, Dr. Carl Rogers.

One of the highlights of his career came in 1967 when he was listed among the top counselors in the nation during the American Personnel and Guidance Association Convention held in Dallas, Texas.

Professor Youngs and his wife, Edna, reside at 623 West Easterday Avenue in the Sault and are the parents of two sons, Philip C. Youngs, registered professional engineer in Ann Arbor, and Dr. Brian L. Youngs of Dearborn.

Professor Youngs will be honored at a retirement party given for him by the LSSC faculty May 22, 7:00 p. m., in Canusa Hall.

Concern Over Sea Lamprey Control Cut

Eighteen streams in the United States and six in Canada, all emptying into Lake Huron, will remain untreated for lamprey control at the end of fiscal 1969, according to a report heard at a recent meeting conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service.

Marvin Davenport, county extension natural resources agent, said that five members of the Iosco County Board of Supervisors, along with other interested persons, expressed concern over the loss of the lamprey control program for Lake Huron.

It is anticipated that $1,450,400 will be provided the Great Lakes Fishery Commission during 1969. This will permit treatment of 10 streams in Georgian Bay, Lake Huron, but will not allow resumption of the program in the main lake which is a year behind schedule.

It was stated that most of the 24 streams remaining untreated at the end of 1969 must be disposed of by the end of fiscal 1970, so that treatments can begin on streams treated early in 1966. These streams contain re-established larval populations which will begin to contribute to the lake in the fall of 1970.

Further delay in completing initial treatments and beginning retreatments on Lake Huron, it is said, will result in only partial control of the lamprey. Experience in other lakes suggests that restoration of the fishery could be handicapped.

Interested groups in Michigan are attempting to encourage the federal budget by $150,000, in order to provide sufficient funds for the Lake Huron control measure.

Chemical treatment of streams to control sea lamprey in the Great Lakes began on Lake Superior in 1953. All 113 of its lamprey streams have been treated once and 91 of these have now been treated to dispose of re-established larval populations.

The program was extended to Lake Michigan in 1960 and treatment moved to Lake Huron in 1967. Reduction of lamprey in Lake Michigan and Lake Superior has resulted in a marked improvement in rainbow trout fishing in those lakes. The unprecedented 40 percent return of planted coho salmon provides evidence of the effectiveness of lamprey control in Lake Michigan.

Cost of the program is shared 69-31 by the United States and Canada. Canada has invariably approved commission requests for funds, while the United States has not.
