Tawas Dist. Ranger Being Transferred

Loren Woerpel, Tawas District forest ranger since July 22, 1965, is being transferred to the Milwaukee regional office of the United States Forest Service as an information specialist.

Although he will be in the same division in which he served before coming here 3½ years ago, Woerpel will be in charge of the section on audio-visual materials which produces pamphlets, movies and exhibits.

"This is an extension of the work that I had been in before," said Woerpel. "However, the opportunities afforded me as a district ranger in the field have allowed me to become more in-involved and gain a greater understanding of this work."

Woerpel came to the Tawas district at the height of the fire season in 1965. Since then, he has had charge of fighting more than 50 forest fires.

"I guess I am getting out just in time. The forest fire season is right around the corner," he stated.

In addition to forest fire fighting and fire prevention, he has directed preliminary planning for re-amping of Lumbermen's Monument on the AuSable River, River Road is to be reconstructed by the state this spring at the monument and the federal project is to a point now where the forest service will develop plans this spring for improving facilities there.

"We have made some real progress on ongoing projects. This included carrying forward requests from local communities for cooperation from the forest service. Two of the projects included a land exchange with the Tawas Industrial Development Corporation and assistance to the Grant Township Fire Department in its organization," said Woerpel.

Woerpel has been active in community affairs since moving here. He is secretary of the East Tawas Lions Club and serves as vice chairman and member of the board of elders of Zion Lutheran Church.

Woerpel, his wife, Donna, and their four children plan to be moving to Milwaukee around April 6.

State Action Could Weaken Discipline

Alarmed over any action that might be taken at the state level to weaken the disciplinary structure of public schools, Tawas Area Board of Education Monday night adopted a resolution opposing guidelines proposed by the Michigan Civil Rights Commission.

The board's resolution stated that adoption of MCRC's proposed guideline, "The Parent-School-Student Relationship: the Rights and Responsibilities of the Respective Parties," would curtail effective operation of state public schools.

The resolutions, addressed to Dr. Peter Oppenwall, president of the state board of education, with copies to other schools and legislators, urged the state to hold regional public hearings involving students, parents, teachers, administrators, board of education members and other interested citizens in determining directions of school discipline.

"We would like to stress that reliance be placed on the local board of education and the local citizens in the school district as each district, by its very nature of size, location and community interest, is very different," stated the resolution.

Some provisions of the proposed guidelines include one that would allow a high school student, about to be suspended or expelled, to have the right to a hearing for which he could hire a lawyer and call witnesses.

Other provisions include one that would allow high school editors to publish uncensored newspapers that comment on decisions of principals and the quality of classes. Teachers and school administrators could be barred under some circumstances from searching a student's locker without a warrant.

In addition, school authorities would have to prove that short skirts or long haircuts were disruptive before they could be regulated. Spankings and other forms of corporal punishment would be abolished. Married students could take part in all extra-curricular activities unless school officials could prove that a particular activity would be harmful to student or school.

Some of the guidelines have long been in effect in some systems, but others, such as an uncensored student press, have been tried almost nowhere.

State officials have said that one section that would eliminate suspension or expulsion for smoking in school would be changed. "It pleased no one," said Kenneth Swanson, department of education staff member directing preparation of the guidelines.

Principals, who say guidelines have a way of becoming law, are worried that local control of schools would be undermined. Members of Tawas Area Board of Education agreed.

Prescott Mails Annual Survey

State Rep. George A. Prescott, Tawas City, this week again asked advice from his constituents in the 102nd district.

"In December of 1966," Prescott said, "I mailed a questionnaire throughout the district at my own expense. The response was very satisfying and the tabulated results helped me in voting during the 1967-1968 session."

Prescott this time has posed 15 questions to area residents on many of the controversial issues facing legislators at the current session.

"I hope," Prescott said, "that the people of my district will again be accommodating in letting me hear their thinking on these important problems upon which we must eventually vote."

Society Would Aid in Research

Iosco Historical Society will hold its regular meeting Thursday night, 8:00 p. m., at the 1650 County Building. All members and anyone interested is invited to attend.

Discussion is to be held on the possibility of conducting a program to encourage county historical research in Iosco's schools. Teachers of advanced English classes have been invited to attend and express their views.

One suggestion has been that the society offer cash prizes to students who prepare historically documented papers for classroom work which can be utilized in compilation of a county history.

School Officials Attend Class

Students who are always begrudging the fact that they have to go to school may be surprised to learn that school officials also attend classes.

Seven school administrators from this area have gone back to school, but not because they had to—they wanted to. They were part of the total of 290 participants in a program designed especially by Michigan State University.

Michigan State's department of administration and higher education for the past 11 years has sponsored an extern program for school superintendents, principals and counselors.

Attending from Iosco were John A. Alexander, curriculum coordinator, Tawas Area School, and Walter J. Ferdon, junior-senior high school principal, Whittemore-Prescott Area School.

Card Wrestlers are State Champions

Two Whittemore-Prescott Area School wrestlers were crowned state champions in the CD final held over the week-end at Lansing Sexton High School.

Tim Arndt won the state title in the 145-pound class while Tod Gillings won the state title in the 127-pound class. Both boys are seniors.

Four Cardinal wrestlers won the right to go to Lansing following competition in the regional tournament at Freeland. Dean Erickson, 120-pound class, and Doug Bergquist, 154-pound class, were eliminated in the first round at Lansing.

Arndt and Gillings wrestled four times at Lansing. Arndt won

Tawas Tube Strike Settled; Plant Resumes Production

A strike by employees of Tawas Tube Products, Incorporated, Tawas City, was settled March 4 and the plant on Ninth Avenue resumed production the following day.

The workers, all members of Local No. 6401, United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, went out on strike September 1.

C. H. Higgins, president of H and H Tube Manufacturing Company, Detroit, sent a letter of thanks to George W. Myles and members of the Tawas City Businessmen's Association for their assistance in helping management and labor to reach an agreement on the strike settlement.

"I am sure that the help you have given us and also the other men close to you and Tawas City have helped considerably to re-open our plant," said Higgins.

One of those who had taken an active part in helping the two parties to get together to discuss a settlement was Edward Lier of the Barnes Hotel, chairman of a special committee appointed by the Tawas City Businessmen's Association.

The men had walked out September 1 over wages, working conditions, unsafe and unhealthy conditions and fringe benefits." The United Steel Workers of America had been named as bargaining agent for employees following an election in February 1965.

The men accepted an offer of 31 cents per hour increase upon resumption of production. An additional two-cent increase would be effective April 1 and another two cents as of July 1. This would bring production rate to $2.50 per hour on July 1, which would bring gross pay to $100 per week for a 40-hour week.

In addition, the company agreed to increase life insurance and accidental death benefit from $1,000 to $1,500 and increase sick and accident insurance from $30 to $50 per week.

During the second year, the salary increase would be 10 cents per hour and the third year would be another 10 cents per hour, plus one paid holiday.

The company also agreed to a cost of living program to become effective in September 1969.

A final request that the company guarantee full credit of 40 hours per week against layoff or short work week toward the employees' vacation was resolved between the two parties.

A hearing had been scheduled earlier in the week by the National Labor Relations Board, but the settlement was reached before such action was necessary.

Legion Marks 50th Anniversary

Saturday, March 15, marks the 50th anniversary of the American Legion. The American Legion was organized on the above date at the American Club, 4 Rue Gabriel, Paris, France. Present at this meeting were WWI officers and enlisted men then on active duty overseas, four months and four days after the Armistice of November 11, 1918. At a second meeting two days later, the 36th Division's Major Maurice K. Gordon (a lawyer now in his 90s at Madisonville, Kentucky) moved to adopt the name "American Legion." This motion carried unanimously.

The first national convention was held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, November 10-12, 1919, exactly one year after the WWI Armistice. The convention resolved to pay back the $257,000 that 213 founders had spent or pledged to create the Legion. At Minneapolis, the American Legion Auxiliary was provided for in the constitution.

The preamble to the constitution of the American Legion has often been ranked among great American documents. Six men did "ELECTRICITY in the Home and on the Farm" is the topic of an open meeting to which the public is invited. It will be March 26 in the Home Economics room of Tawas Area High School, 8:00-10:00 p. m. This program is being presented by the Cooperative Extension Service and Consumers Power Company. Topics to be discussed include "Household Fusing and Wiring" by Maurice Rhoads (center) of Consumers Power.

After this general session, those attending will divide into special interest groups—electric heating with Mr. Rhoads and "New Developments in Kitchen Planning" with Marge Mielock (right) of Consumers Power. Helping with the plans are Mary Peters, home economist, seated at left, and Marvin Davenport, cooperative extension agent, standing at left.

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the republic for which it stands; one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

THE BIBLE
SPEAKS TO YOU

"Will God indeed dwell on the earth? behold, the heaven and heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house that I have builded?" This verse from I Kings is part of a Bible lesson-sermon titled "Substance" to be read this Sunday in all Christian Science churches.

One of the selections to be read from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, is the following: "The everlasting I AM is not bounded nor compressed within the narrow limits of physical humanity, nor can He be understood aright through mortal concepts. The precise form of God must be of small importance in comparison with the sublime question, What is infinite Mind or divine Love?"

Member of Mission Team to Speak at Methodist Church

A member of the pioneering Brazilian-American mission team, which launched social action programs in suburban Rio de Janeiro, will speak at Tawas United Methodist Church, West Parish, 327 Whittemore Street, Tawas City, Friday, March 14, 7:30 p. m. A coffee fellowship will follow the program.

Miss Mary E. Kraus of Garden City, Minnesota, has returned to the United States on completion of her three-year term of United Methodist missionary service.

She, four other Americans and four Brazilians — The Brazil Team—participated in an experimental mission program. Functioning as a community, the nine members devised their own discipline and worship and a variety of channels of service to a poor neighborhood of Caxias, a city of 500,000 just outside Rio de Janeiro.

Activities of the team included leadership training, youth programs, literacy classes, community development, social work, Christian education classes and library renovation.

The team is part of a new thrust in world mission which involves national churches in the planning and execution of projects. American missionaries serve at the request of the national church in partnership or servant roles.

Born in Mankato, Minnesota, Miss Kraus grew up in Lake Crystal. She was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1965.

TODAY'S Meditation from The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

Read Philippians 4:4-9

A man who is kind benefits himself, but a cruel man hurts himself. (Proverbs 11:17, RSV)
To give another person the benefit of the doubt usually implies withholding judgment which might be damaging. Actually, the one who refuses to speak an unkind word has given himself the first benefit of the doubt, just as he may have experienced the first injury had such questionable words been spoken.

Christ left us a good example of refraining from speaking, even when He was made to suffer. He gave the benefit of the doubt to others on a noble scale and His followers have the challenge of His self-mastery, the help of His purity of purpose and the guidance of His principles of conduct.
The fringe benefits which today are the rule for employees also play a great part in personal relationships. Our dealings with others provide opportunities to give and to receive.

We need to make it our practice to be compassionate in our comments about others. Instead of reaching conclusions on partial evidence, we need to evaluate all factors in a situation.

PRAYER
Our heavenly Father, help us to develop the habit of kindness, using it to make daily relationships more helpful and harmonious. In the spirit of Christ. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
I will be mindful of Christ in my speaking and doing.—Elmer Lennen (California)

DRIVING THROUGH Osceda's defenders in the first half is Dennis Krish of the Braves. Krish held his team in the game during the first half, but a zone defense by Osceda stopped him in the second half. Defender is Maynard Crowley of the Owls.—Tawas Herald Photo.

Osceda Owls, class B district basketball champions, proved to be just too much for the Tawas Area Braves in the semifinal game last Thursday night.

Possessing good height and speed, as well as exceptional passing, the Owls outgunned the Braves, 84-60.

The smaller Braves gave a good account of themselves in the game but could not match the Owls' scoring depth. Five Osceda players hit in double figures, led by Maynard Crowley and Denny McCollum with 22 points each.

Dennis Krish, sharp shooting guard of the Braves, led both teams with 25 points. Racking up 21 points in the first two quarters, Krish was able to drive through and around Osceda's man-for-man defense in the first half. An air tight zone defense used by the Owls in the second half was effective in stopping Krish with four points in the last two quarters.

McCollum opened Osceda's scoring fireworks in the first quarter when he meshed four straight jump shots. The Braves had several turnovers and found themselves trailing, 19-10, at the buzzer.

A hot second quarter by Krish, who scored 13 points, gave the Braves an even break with the Owls, each team scoring 20 points. However, Tawas lost the service of Craig Wilkins, who sprained his ankle, and the cause was hurt further when Gary Libka picked up his fourth personal foul.

Tawas stayed within striking distance in the third quarter, although Maynard Crowley shook off his first quarter "foultitis" and topped his team's 18-point effort with eight points. Chuck Peterson came off the bench to pace Tawas with six points and the Owls led, 56-44, at the buzzer.

The Owls finally unleashed their full capability in the fourth quarter, outscoring the Braves, 27-16. Some fancy passing, ball stealing and three field goals by Cliff Draper sparked in the Osceda attack. Forced to shoot from out front by the taller Osceda zone defense, Tom Brown meshed three field goals for the game Tawas lead.

This was the final game in the red and white for Krish and Brown, both seniors. Returning to the hardwood battles next season will be Wilkins, Libka and Peterson, all sophomores; Paul Becker and Mike Hearl, all of whom saw action in the season's final game.

Scoring was as follows: Tawas Area — Libka, 3-17; Wilkins, 0-0-0; Becker, 2-2-6; Brown, 3-1-7; Krish, 10-5-25; Hearl, 2-0-4; Peterson, 5-1-11. Osceda — Maynard Crowley, 11-0-22; Carl Sams, 3-4-10; E. Crowley, 3-6-12; McCollum, 10-2-22; Draper, 6-0-12; Errington, 3-0-6.

Cardinals Lose in 'C' Final to Standish-Sterling Central

By DORNACE BELLVILLE

Whittemore-Prescott Cardinals lost their bid in the district tournament Friday night, dropping a 72-69 squeaker to Standish-Sterling. The Cards had reached the finals with a 74-66 win over Alpena Catholic Central Tuesday night.

The Cards had a fairly easy time in their opening victory. After a close first quarter, they opened up a good lead in the second quarter and led the rest of the way. Mark Stahl and Jeff Fellows led with 22 and 21 points.

The Card-Panther game Friday night was a close one for the first three minutes, then the Cards suddenly went cold with Standish-Sterling scoring 13 straight points to take a good 23-12 margin at the end of the first quarter.

Fellows started hitting in the second quarter, collecting 10 points on three fielders and four charity tosses and the Cards trailed by five at halftime, 35-30.

Standish-Sterling took the third quarter, 19-15, and a nine-point lead. The Cards kept chipping away at the lead in the last quarter, getting it down to four at 67-63 with a little over two minutes to go.

Four straight points by the Panthers gave them an eight-point edge with time running out on the Cards. Coach Fox's boys had not given up yet. Two charity tosses by Fellows, a fielder by Tom Cromwell and another by Fellows and the Cards were within two points, 69-71, with over a minute to go.

Both teams missed good shots in the last minute, with the Panthers making the only point on a charity toss to win, 72-69.

Chelsea Riopelle led scoring with 24 points. Fellows topped the Cards with 19. Rick Gay had 16, followed by Cromwell and Stahl with 12 and 10 points, respectively.

Scoring was as follows: Whittemore - Prescott — Mike Cromwell, 5-2-12; Stahl, 2-6-10; Tom Cromwell, 4-0-8; Gay, 7-2-16; Fellows, 5-9-19; Survant, 2-0-4.

Standish - Sterling — Riopelle, 10-4-24; Bill Brown, 4-1-9; Bell, 7-3-17; Pestrue, 6-3-15; Chaltraw, 1-0-2; Templin, 2-1-5.

Issue Report Last Week on Josco's Outdoor Recreation Potential

Work was completed last week on Josco's outdoor recreational potentials by the Josco Soil Conservation District.

Published as a 59-page booklet, the information will be of help to groups and individuals in pointing out the potential for certain types of recreational enterprises and areas of the county.

Jack D. Lake, district conservationist for the United States Soil Conservation Service and chairman for this project, said the report may serve as a guide in evaluating the recreational possibilities for developing specific locations within the county. The report considers the county as a whole unit and no attempt has been made to appraise individual sites for recreational development.

The potential for 12 kinds of recreational development were examined separately. Each had different criteria for evaluation depending upon the requirements of activities involved.

The end result of this appraisal is a group of conclusions regarding the potentials for future development of the important kinds of recreational areas and enterprises in the county.

Information would be useful for long range planning programs for soil and water, county and township planning groups, soil conservationists.

The report would also be useful for publicizing and promoting outdoor recreation in the county, as well as to bankers and other lenders in evaluating financial needs and risks for recreational development.

March 17, 1944—One of the largest business changes in the community for some time occurred this week when Lyle D. Mooney purchased the Leaf Ben Franklin Store at East Tawas. HURON - MANISTEE NATIONAL FOREST

By LOREN S. WOERPEL, Ranger
Tawas Ranger District

An interesting twist in the speakers' circuit occurred several weeks ago at Grand Rapids during a technical session at a meeting of the Society of American Foresters. Gathered together for the morning session were professional foresters in education, research, government and private industry from Michigan and Wisconsin.

A good many of us had spent many hours giving talks at women's garden clubs and other women's groups, but now the table was turned and we had the privilege of hearing Mrs. William Sullivan, district director of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, tell us how American women look at foresters and forestry.

It may seem odd that foresters would be interested in what women think about forestry but when one looks at the impressive conservation program of the garden clubs of Michigan and the nation, you understand that we both stand in the arena of concern for resource management.

The main concern of the meeting was to discuss how foresters could better communicate with other groups about what they are doing in resource management. The problem has always been one of converting technical talk to everyday talk, a problem not too unfamiliar to doctors, lawyers and other specialized professions.

Mrs. Sullivan talked about this and how women might better understand us and how they do understand us.

How timber harvest fits into the management of the forest is a story that no matter how hard the forester tries, seems to be the most difficult to make understandable. The following is another attempt that is inspired by Mrs. Sullivan's talk at the society meeting.

The life cycle of a tree can be compared to the life cycle of a petunia, though the length is different. We can plant petunias in the spring and we expect them to be dead by fall. A lot happens in between.

The seed from the local market or those saved from last year are planted and quickly, with warm sunlight and water, germinates, sending roots down and stalk up. In time, the stalk strengthens, bears leaves and matures. Soon flowers are borne on strong stalks and the plants bush out, all maturing into a beautiful hedge in our garden. If we do not cut the buds, each flower matures to a pocket of seed.

Fall comes and with it frost. The petunia has lived its life and dies. We expect it to die. And if we are prudent gardeners, we rake the dead stalks and add it to our compost pile. A good gardener then prepares his soil for a new generation of petunias next year. New seed, new plants, new flowers, new compost, and so it goes.

Only in time does the life cycle of a tree differ from the petunia. But one very important difference and key to the needs of today's man is the structure of the plant called tree. Letting trees become compost is waste. We have learned to make thousands of uses of the fiber and solid structure of wood. As good stewards of our forest, we can anticipate the death of the tree and make good use of its stalk. This is conservation, the wise use of our forest resource.

Carrying the analogy of the garden further, we can grow a better forest garden if we take care of it as it grows. We weed, trim and protect it from insects and other things that can destroy our crop.

We may use an ax instead of a spade and a power saw instead of a hoe. And a well kept forest garden is a thing of beauty as it grows. But a living thing can live only so long. We can predict its fall of life. As good gardeners, we plan for a new generation. New seed, new plants, new flowers, new products for society and so it goes.

Our story is admittedly a simplification. Details are complex. But it always has been easier for me to color in a picture after I have outlined the scene in black. Thank Mrs. Sullivan, for the idea.

You read about it in The Tawas Herald.

Let Contract for New Bridge Over AuSable

John VonBargen forest supervisor of the Huron-Manistee National Forest, has announced that a contract has been awarded to construct a bridge across the AuSable River in Alcona County. Pam's Products, Incorporated, of Detroit was the successful bidder with a bid of $149,675.01.

The 200-foot steel structure will cross the river approximately four miles north of Alcona Dam pond. It will consist of three spans, two lanes wide, with a concrete deck. The sidewalks included will have aluminum railings. Construction is scheduled to start this spring with completion expected late this year.

VonBargen also stated that the new bridge is the only structure within a 40-mile length of the river that is designed to carry state highway loadings. The other two bridges with this capability are the M-33 and M-65 crossings at Mio and Five Channels Dam.

The new bridge will make for better accessibility in Alcona County for hunters, fishermen, land managers and other forest users.

Sibley Honored as American Taxidermist of the Year

Norman O. Sibley, now recuperating at his home in Tawas City after surgery, has been named the American taxidermist of the year by the American International Taxidermist Association.

In the February-March edition of the American Taxidermist, a cover photograph and feature story told of Sibley's work in this field, as well as his efforts to promote conservation among area youth.

Sibley began his taxidermy career 30 years ago as a hobby and has been semiprofessional, having been an employee of the department of conservation since 1938.

Modern aircraft spotting has taken over and fire towers have begun to die out. As a result, Sibley is no longer a tower man and, until his illness, worked in the recreational department.

Sibley had other ideas about seeing fire towers being doomed to oblivion: He purchased the old Hale fire tower and presented it to the county for a roadside park, so others could enjoy it. It will be used as an observation tower to help raise funds for 4-H clubs.

Sibley is also involved in research and banding operations of the monarch butterfly. His poem, "Meditation Upon a Butterfly," won him national acclaim.

The magazine, Defenders of Wildlife News, has published articles by Sibley on banding and research of the monarch butterfly. The Florida Naturalist has also published material by Sibley.

"Norman Othello Sibley—taxidermist, conservationist, naturalist, poet, artist, lecturer, author and humanitarian—the American taxidermist of the year award is hereby presented to you by this magazine for your contribution to your fellow man and your dedication to your country," stated the magazine's citation.

Sibley returned last week from University Hospital, Ann Arbor, where he had undergone surgery. He was first hospitalized September 27 and was transferred to Ann Arbor on December 1.

He will be recuperating for the next four to six months, according to Mrs. Sibley.
